

DYMOCK BROSE

ASTROLOGERS'

FORUM

MAY 1981 – DECEMBER 2004

The Forums came into being in 1981 in NSW because I felt there were a lot of good astrologers around who weren't getting their ideas and work into print, and I wanted to spread them out for the edification of all. They started as private communications, "Circular Letters", to a list of those astrologers who were known to me and the list grew bigger as others came to hear of it. Finally, having realized that the "Circular Letters" were filling a need, I changed the name to Astrologers' Forum and posted it to anyone who applied. Expenses grew, but subscribers were very willing to pay a small subscription and so the whole project developed. This continued for 23 years. Then, in April 2006, it became New Astrology Forum, on a Website, without any subscription and available to the whole world. This continues still and draws in many astrologers from foreign countries. What a good thing so many of them speak or write English!

Dymock Brose,
April 2010

DYMOCK BROSE

Contact Details:

Telephone: (08) 8336 1956

Email: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Website:

<http://members.ozemail.com.au/~dymock/>

The Astrologers' Forums on the following pages have been indexed under the following 'Categories'.

- Age Harmonics
- Australian Events
- Australian Politics
- British Politics
- Crime
- Crime / Missing Persons
- Fires
- Medical Astrology
- Miscellaneous
- People
- Plane Crashes
- Royal Family
- Sport
- Suicide
- Techniques – Astrological
- Twins
- USA Politics
- World Events

In addition to the indexed items the Forums contain many other articles and correspondences. They also include Tests, Astrological Problems, Questions and Answers, Rectification Challenges and Horary Charts. The Tests and Challenges were exercises designed to help in the development of astrological skill.

Dymock believes that the most useful thing he has done in astrology is bringing the great advantages of Age Harmonics to the attention of astrologers. 'Age Harmonics' is a constant theme throughout the articles and discussions in the Forums.

Contributors to the discussion in the Forums included astrologers from all over Australia, and internationally. Very regular correspondents included esteemed astrologers, Olivia Barclay, of the United Kingdom, and Alexander Marr, of Germany.

Adelaide's Astrological Treasure – Dymock Brose by Helen Bowering

Those of us who are relatively new to the astrological community in Adelaide may not be familiar with Dymock Brose or his work.

If this is the case, he is a wonderful discovery, a scholarly, practical, meticulous, organised helpful teacher and communicator with 60 years of knowledge and experience. With his Ascendant, Mercury and Sun in Virgo, it is not surprising that the focus of his work is the practical application of astrology¹.

Dymock first became interested in astrology in 1933 when as a young boy of 15 he came across a book by Alan Leo, “What is a Horoscope and How is it Cast?” He was immediately fascinated by the subject spending most of his pocket money on astrology books. He contacted June Marsden, an American astrologer of the time and received encouragement from her. Books remained his most important learning tool, and good texts by authors such as Isabelle Pagan and Vivien Robson were his teachers and his motivation.

When Dymock started everything was done by hand and charts had to be drawn up from scratch. A great excitement for him was getting his first calculator and he believes the best thing to happen in astrology is technology. After the calculator came the computer and best of all the Solar Fire program which he describes as “unbelievably wonderful. I can’t imagine how I would manage as a professional astrologer without it.” he says. He became a professional astrologer in 1976 when he felt sufficiently competent and confident to start charging for his work. Now in his nineties, he continues to work as a consultant and teacher.

Dymock believes that the most significant thing that he has done in astrology is bringing the great advantages of Age Harmonics to the attention of astrologers. In fact he regards Age Harmonics, looking at the age of a person as a harmonic, as the most significant advance in astrology in the past 100 years or more. Dymock first used this technique for fine-tuning the birth time when forecasting. He says that one of the difficulties in forecasting, especially for political figures, is uncertainty about the birth time. For example, there are at least two different birth times for John Howard’s time of birth. In this situation Dymock uses Age Harmonics, “the sovereign method of rectification”. He demonstrates this in the June 2004 edition of Astrology Forum by finding birth times for Mary Donaldson and Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark. Once he has a birth time he can then forecast.

Dymock’s work ethic and commitment to practical astrology are an inspiration to all astrologers. He is not only a very effective teacher and a meticulous researcher, but is also generous and approachable, and a fount of sound advice:

“After a while you can’t learn from books. They all go to a certain standard and then you’re on your own. They don’t go far enough. After a while you let them go and do your own work. Theory is fine, but it must be tested. There is no substitute for practical research and experience. Astrologers should work on prediction – the great weakness at present. Certainly mistakes will be made, but that is the only way to develop accuracy.”

¹ Birth date: 9 September 1918 5:50:02am ACST -9:30 Adelaide. Ascendant 00Virgo37, MC12Gemini10

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1983 Oct	027	Age Harmonics	Age Harmonics
1983 Nov	028	Harmonics	Age Harmonics
1983 Dec	029	Harmonic Charts	Age Harmonics
1984 Jan	030	Age Harmonics	Age Harmonics
1984 Feb	031	Age Harmonics – twins; Elvis Presley’s still-born brother	Age Harmonics
1984 Feb	031	Age Harmonics – adoption of baby boy	Age Harmonics
1984 Feb	031	Age Harmonics – Ronald Reagan Chart	Age Harmonics
1984 May	034	Age Harmonics	Age Harmonics
1984 Aug	037	Application of Harmonics to Transits	Age Harmonics
1985 Feb	043	Age Harmonics : Tropical or Sidereal?	Age Harmonics
1985 Mar	044	Age Harmonics	Age Harmonics
1986 Sep	062	Rectification by Age Harmonics (Bob Hawke)	Age Harmonics
1986 Oct	063	Age Harmonics in practice (Bob Hawke)	Age Harmonics
1987 Feb	066	Harmonics in Astrology	Age Harmonics
1988 May	082	Queen Elizabeth II – Harmonic Chart 21, 25 and 27	Age Harmonics
1988 Jun/Jul	083/084	Comparison with Rectification by Angular Progression, Age Harmonics, etc	Age Harmonics
1998 Oct	087	How to Calculate a Harmonic Chart	Age Harmonics
1999 Jul	216	Death shown by Harmonic Chart	Age Harmonics
1999 Jul	216	Neurological Defect in Baby’s Chart	Age Harmonics
2001 May	238	Introduction to Age Harmonics	Age Harmonics
2002 Jan	246	Hints on Interpreting Age Harmonics	Age Harmonics
2002 Apr	249	Hints on Working the Tests	Age Harmonics
2004 Nov	279	Workings of Fate	Age Harmonics
1986 Jul	060	Chambers and Barlow – execution Malaysia 1986	Australian Events
1987 Jul	072	Research into Chart for the Federation of Australia in 1901	Australian Events
1988 Jan	078	Australian 1988 (Bicentennial Year) - Jupiter/Neptune Conjunction and 4 th Harmonic - Federation Chart and 87 th Harmonic	Australian Events
1989 Sep	098	The Pilots’ Strike (Australia)	Australian Events
1989 Oct	099	The Pilots’ Strike (Australia)	Australian Events
1992 Jun	131	FAA International Conference 1994	Australian Events
1994 Mar	152	Sydney Declared a City, 1842	Australian Events
1994 Aug	157/158	The Blue Mountain’s Crossing (Gregory Blaxland, William Lawson, William Wentworth, May 1913)	Australian Events
1994 Dec	161	Australian Foundation Chart – 1994 reviewed	Australian Events
1999 Dec	221	Train Collision – Blue Mountains, NSW, 2 December 1999	Australian Events

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
2002 Oct	255	Australia's Real Estate Boom	Australian Events
2003 Jan	258	Refugee Riots (New South Wales, South Australia, West Australia)	Australian Events
2003 Mar	260	Waterfall Rail Tragedy (Sydney, Port Kembla)	Australian Events
2003 Sep	266	Australia – Forecast for January 2004	Australian Events
2004 Jul	275	The 8 th Sydney International Piano Competition	Australian Events
2004 Aug	276	Sydney Piano Competition – Result	Australian Events
1983 Feb	019	Jeff Kennett	Australian Politics
1983 Mar	020	Bob Hawke Wins Federal Election	Australian Politics
1983 Oct	027	Bob Hawke	Australian Politics
1984 Apr	033	Bob Hawke – birth data	Australian Politics
1984 Oct	039	Australian Federal Election 1/12/1984	Australian Politics
1986 Sep	062	Prime Minister Bob Hawke – Rectified Chart and Synodic Returns	Australian Politics
1986 Oct	063	The Queensland Election	Australian Politics
1986 Nov	064	A Win for Astrology (re-election of Joh Bjelke-Petersen) - birth chart; cyclic charts	Australian Politics
1987 May	070	Australian Federal Election	Australian Politics
1987 Jun	071	Australian Federal Election	Australian Politics
1987 Jul	072	Federal Election Result	Australian Politics
1987 Dec	077	Exit Sir Joh (Bjelke-Petersen)	Australian Politics
1988 Feb	079	NSW Parliamentary Election 19 March 1988	Australian Politics
1988 Mar	080	Liberals Win: NSW Election 19 March 1988	Australian Politics
1988 Apr	081	NSW Government – two charts	Australian Politics
1988 Oct	087	Premier Nick Greiner's Chart	Australian Politics
1989 Feb/Mar	091/092	The West Australian Election	Australian Politics
1990 Feb	103	Federal Election 24 March 1990	Australian Politics
1990 Mar	104	Hawke Wins the Election: An Investigation	Australian Politics
1992 Jul	132/133	Forthcoming Election in Victoria	Australian Politics
1992 Dec	137	P M Paul Keating's Chart	Australian Politics
1993 Jan	138	The Federal Election, 13 March 1993	Australian Politics
1993 Jan	138	Chart of Dr John Hewson – 46 th Harmonic & Solar Return Charts	Australian Politics
1993 Jan	138	West Australian Election February 1993	Australian Politics

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1993 Feb	139	Labour Wins the Election - P.M. Paul Keating's Chart - Keating's Solar Return - Keating's Age Harmonic Chart - Solar Eclipse Chart - Aries Ingress Chart	Australian Politics
1993 Feb	139	A Different View of House Rulerships	Australian Politics
1993 Mar	140	Federal Election Post-Mortem	Australian Politics
1993 Mar	140	Horary Chart for the Election	Australian Politics
1993 Apr	141	The Federal Election Again	Australian Politics
1993 May	142/143	More on the Federal Election	Australian Politics
1995 Jan	162	The Future of John Howard	Australian Politics
1995 Feb	163	NSW Election Forecast - Bob Carr's Chart - John Fahey's Chart	Australian Politics
1995 Mar	164	Premier Bob Carr - Standard and Progressive - Solar Returns - Progressions	Australian Politics
1995 Apr	165	The Republic Question	Australian Politics
1995 Apr	165	Prime Minister Keating – new, rectified chart	Australian Politics
1995 May	166/167	PM Paul Keating – Birth Time?	Australian Politics
1995 Jul	168/169	Paul Keating's Birth Time	Australian Politics
1996 Feb	175	Australian Federal Election, 2 March 1996	Australian Politics
1996 Mar	176	Postscript to the Election, 2 March 1996	Australian Politics
1996 Dec	185	Closing of the Polls – revised chart	Australian Politics
1997 Dec	197	Cheryl Kernot	Australian Politics
1998 Jan	198	Australia in 1998 - Foundation Chart - Harmonic for 1998	Australian Politics
1998 Feb	199	The Canberra Scene	Australian Politics
1998 Feb	199	PM John Howard's Birth Chart	Australian Politics
1998 Feb	199	Australia's National Chart	Australian Politics
1998 Mar	200	Controversial Politician, Pauline Hanson	Australian Politics
1998 May	202	Australia's Water-Front Dispute	Australian Politics
1998 May	202	Astrology Foretells Government's Course	Australian Politics
1998 Aug	205	The Hanson Phenomenon	Australian Politics
1998 Sep	206	Federal Election 3 October 1998 – Howard, Beasley, Hanson	Australian Politics
1998 Nov	208	New Chart for PM John Howard	Australian Politics
1998 Nov	208	Post Election Reflections	Australian Politics

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1998 Nov	208	Election Result as Predicted	Australian Politics
1999 Nov	220	A Republic for Australia?	Australian Politics
1999 Dec	221	The Referendum and its Aftermath - closing of the polls chart	Australian politics
2001 Apr	237	Senator Natasha Stott Despoja	Australian Politics
2001 Nov	244	John Howard to Win November Election	Australian Politics
2001 Nov	244	Kym Beazley's Chart and Harmonic	Australian Politics
2001 Dec	245	PM John Howard – The Year Ahead	Australian Politics
2001 Dec	245	Australia Federation Chart – Revised	Australian Politics
2002 Jan	246	Australia in 2002	Australian Politics
2002 Feb	247	South Australia – Election 9 February 2002	Australian Politics
2002 Sep	254	Democrats Debacle	Australian Politics
2004 Feb	270	Mark Latham, Leader of the Labor Party	Australian Politics
2004 Feb	270	Federal Election – When?	Australian Politics
2004 Feb	270	John Howard, Prime Minister	Australian Politics
2004 Sep	277	Federal Election 2004	Australian Politics
2004 Oct	278	John Howard Wins!	Australian Politics
2004 Nov	279	Election Comment	Australian Politics
1984 Nov	040	Prime Minister Thatcher	British Politics
1990 Oct	111	PM Thatcher Resigns – Thatcher's Synodic Return	British Politics
1990 Oct	111	The British Conservative Party	British Politics
1990 Nov/Dec	112/113	Margaret Thatcher: Birth Chart	British Politics
1990 Nov/Dec	112/113	The British Conservative Party	British Politics
1990 Nov/Dec	112/113	John Major – new British PM	British Politics
1991 Jan	114/115	Prime Minister John Major – a different chart	British Politics
1991 Mar	116	Prime Minister John Major – Horoscope – result of rectification	British Politics
1991 Apr	117	Prime Minister John Major – The Rectification	British Politics
1992 Apr	129	The Tories Win!	British Politics
1992 May	130	The U K Election – Revised Chart	British Politics
1996 Jun	179	The Future of Tony Blair	British Politics
1997 Jan	186	Tony Blair – next Prime Minister of the UK?	British Politics
1997 Mar	188	John Major's Birth Data	British Politics
1997 Apr	189	Ex-Prime Minister John Major – Birth Chart and Cycles	British Politics
1997 Aug	193	The Career of Tony Blair	British Politics
2001 Apr	237	Prime Minister Tony Blair	British Politics

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
2001 Jun	239	Blair to Win	British Politics
2003 Jul	264	The Future of Tony Blair	British Politics
1982 Dec	017	Lindy Chamberlain	Crime
1983 Jan	018	Lindy Chamberlain	Crime
1983 Feb	019	Lindy Chamberlain	Crime
1983 Mar	020	Lindy Chamberlain	Crime
1983 Apr	021	Lindy Chamberlain	Crime
1983 Sep	026	Frank's Release	Crime
1983 Oct	027	Frank's Release	Crime
1983 Nov	028	Frank's release	Crime
1983 Dec	029	Frank's release	Crime
1984 Apr	033	Lindy Chamberlain	Crime
1984 Jun	035	Lindy Chamberlain	Crime
1985 Mar	044	New Predictions on Frank's Release	Crime
1986 Sep	062	Horary – Disappearance of Samantha Knight	Crime
1987 Jul	072	Birth chart Anita Cobby – murder victim – information provided by Anita's mother to Dymock Brose	Crime
1987 Aug	073	The Anita Cobby Murder	Crime
1993 Sep	146/147	Fatal Journey – Simone Schmidl (Backpacker Murders)	Crime
1995 Jul	168/169	D'Jango O'Hara (murder suspect)	Crime
1996 Jan	174	The O J Simpson Drama – Nicole and O J	Crime
1996 Oct	183	O J Simpson – The second round; etc	Crime
1996 Dec	185	A Warning – Frederick West – Book Review	Crime
1997 Jan	186	O J Simpson Drama Concluded	Crime
1997 May	190	Did the Two Nurses murder Yvonne Gilford? Horary chart	Crime
1997 Jun	191	Fatal Journey (Schmidl – backpacker murders) - horizon chart for fatal journey	Crime
1997 Jun	191	The Two Nurses (Yvonne Gilford)	Crime
1997 Jul	192	Crime / Missing Persons : Jaidyn Leskie	Crime
1997 Aug	193	Fashion-Designer Versace and Killer–Playboy Cunanan	Crime
1997 Aug	193	Arrest in the Jaidyn Leskie Abduction	Crime
2000 May	226	The Jon Benet Mystery – A Guilty Mother?	Crime
2000 Jul	228	Jon Benet Ramsey – Another Horary Diagnosis	Crime
1995 Sep	170/171	What did happen to Heidi?	Crime / Missing Persons
1996 Apr	177	Mystery Disappearance of Tabbatha Hodge - birth horoscope	Crime / Missing Persons

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1996 May	178	Analysis of the Tabbatha Hodge Mystery	Crime / Missing Persons
1996 Jun	179	More on Missing Tabbatha Hodge	Crime / Missing Persons
1997 Apr	189	An Abducted Child	Crime / Missing Persons
1997 Sep	194	Disappearance of Mrs Kerry Whelan; abduction chart	Crime / Missing Persons
1998 Apr	201	Tabbatha Mystery Solved !	Crime / Missing Persons
1999 Nov	220	A Strange Disappearance – Jessica Gaudie - Qld	Crime / Missing Persons
2001 Mar	236	Disappearance of Samantha Knight	Crime / Missing Persons
2001 Jul	240	Disappearance of Chandra Ann Levy - Horary chart; birth chart; age harmonic	Crime / Missing Persons
2001 Sep	242	The Abduction at Barrow Creek (Peter Falconio, Joanne Lees)	Crime / Missing Persons
2002 Nov	256	Disappearance of Kerry Whelan	Crime / Missing Persons
1983 Apr	021	Australian Bushfires	Fires
1993 Sep	146/147	Fire Death	Fires
1993 Dec	149/150	The Bushfires	Fires
1998 Apr	201	After Tragedy – What Direction? Jan van Der Velde (death of wife and daughters, Netherlands)	Fires
1998 May	202	Response to Jan van Der Velde (request for life direction, death of wife and daughters, Netherlands)	Fires
1998 Jun	203	Where are the Warnings of Fire? - Jan van Der Velde	Fires
1998 Jul	204	The Warnings of Fire - Jan van Der Velde	Fires
2002 Jan	246	The Australian Bushfires	Fires
2002 Jul	252	Bushfires in the USA	Fires
2003 Oct	267	The USA Fire Storms (California)	Fires
2004 Aug	276	Paraguay Fire Calamity	Fires
1982 Nov	016	Medical Astrology; Jupiter in Death Charts	Medical Astrology
1984 Apr	033	Health Problem (collapsed upper left lobe)	Medical Astrology
1984 Aug	037	Chest Infections	Medical Astrology
1987 Jun	071	Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome	Medical Astrology
1994 Aug	157/158	A Personal Calamity (brain haemorrhage)	Medical Astrology
1995 May	166/167	Skin Disorders	Medical Astrology
1996 Nov	184	Downs Syndrome	Medical Astrology
1997 Dec	197	A Case of Neo-natal Death	Medical Astrology
1999 May	214	Horary Chart re Blood Test	Medical Astrology
2003 Jan	258	Crises and Charts (Tumour, Surgery, Horary)	Medical Astrology
2003 Jun	264	Overview of an Illness	Medical Astrology
1979 Aug	002	FAA Journal discussion	Miscellaneous

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1979 Sep	003	FAA Journal discussion	Miscellaneous
1980 Oct	004	FAA Journal discussion	Miscellaneous
1982 Jan	006	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1982 Mar	008	"Astrology just a load of old Taurus" – article by Des Colquhoun in Adelaide Advertiser	Miscellaneous
1982 Apr	009	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1982 Aug	013	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1982 Nov	016	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1982 Dec	017	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1983 Jan	018	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1983 May	022	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1983 Jun	023	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1983 Jul	024	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1983 Aug	025	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1983 Sep	026	Heavy Rains in Queensland	Miscellaneous
1983 Dec	029	Discussion on Truth and Falsity in Astrology	Miscellaneous
1984 Apr	033	Astrological Counselling	Miscellaneous
1984 May	034	Interview with Alexander Marr (German Astrologer)	Miscellaneous
1984 May	034	Astrological Counselling	Miscellaneous
1988 Feb	079	Horoscope of the Nativity - proposed chart of the Nativity - Solar Return for the Crucifixion	Miscellaneous
1990 Nov/Dec	112/113	Astrology and Scientists – Book Excerpt – The Message of Astrology by Peter Roberts	Miscellaneous
1996 Jan	174	A Time for Planting	Miscellaneous
2000 Jan	222	Hijacking of Indian Airbus IC – 814	Miscellaneous
2000 Apr	225	Pluto! (damage to computer)	Miscellaneous
2000 Jul	228	Sex Change	Miscellaneous
1982 Jan	006	Winston Churchill	People
1982 Feb	007	Death of William Holden	People
1982 Mar	008	Death time of William Holden	People
1982 Apr	009	Adolf Eichmann	People
1982 Sep	014	Death of Princess Grace	People
1982 Oct	015	Death of Princess Grace	People
1982 Nov	016	Death of Princess Grace	People
1982 Dec	017	Birth data for John Laws and Grahame Bond (Aunty Jack)	People
1982 Dec	017	Winston Churchill	People

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1982 Dec	017	Death of Princess Grace	People
1983 Apr	021	Death of Princess Grace	People
1983 Jun	023	Death of Princess Grace; including Chart Rectification	People
1983 Jul	024	Death of Princess Grace; Primary Directions; Retrograde Planets	People
1983 Aug	025	Death of Princess Grace	People
1983 Sep	026	Death of Princess Grace; Birth Chart Prince Rainier	People
1984 Oct	039	Pluto and Marilyn Munro's Death	People
1985 Mar	044	Ronald Reagan: Alternative Natal Chart	People
1985 Nov	052	The Astrology of William Lilly - Birth chart; normal and precessed solar returns at death; prenatal, progressive and synodic returns, at death	People
1989 Aug	097	PM David Lange Resigns (NZ)	People
1991 May	118/119	Birth Data : General Norman Schwarzkopf – Neil Kinnock – Bob Carr – Premier Nick Greiner	People
1991 Jul	120	The Assassination in Retrospect (Rajiv Ghandi)	People
1991 Aug	121	Vale Michel Gauquelin	People
1991 Sep	122	Boris Yeltsin	People
1991 Oct	123	Mikhail Gorbachev – Rectification	People
1991 Nov	124	Terry Waite Released	People
1992 Dec	137	The Future of Boris Yeltsin	People
1993 Apr	141	Richard Nixon's Marriage	People
1993 Dec	149/150	The Pope and the Vatican	People
1994 Jun	155/156	Jacqueline Onassis - marriage to J F Kennedy - assassination of Kennedy - marriage to Aristotle Onassis - death	People
1994 Jun	155/156	Madonna & Michael Jackson	People
1996 Jul	180	Hitler's Horoscope	People
1997 Jan	186	Madonna's triumph	People
1999 May	214	Slobodan Milosevic – forecast	People
1999 Jun	215	Which chart for Milosevic?	People
1999 Nov	220	Boris Yeltsin	People
2000 Aug	229	Vladimir Putin	People
2000 Aug	229	New Chart for Putin	People
2000 Sep	230	Further Comments on Putin	People
2000 Oct	231	Mr Milosevic Bows Out	People

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
2000 Oct	231	Ian Thorpe – Birth Chart	People
2001 Jun	239	Olivia Barclay's Death	People
2001 Jun	239	Anastasia – Mystery Resolved	People
2002 Mar	248	Governor-General Peter Hollingworth	People
2003 Mar	260	Saddam Hussein – What Now?	People
2003 Apr	261	Saddam Hussein : Solar Month Chart 28 May 2003	People
2003 Aug	265	Saddam Hussein's Birth Data in Question	People
2003 Nov	268	Princess Grace of Monaco	People
2004 Jan	269	Saddam Hussein	People
2004 Mar	271	Portrait of a Prophet – Karl Marx	People
2004 Jun	274	Mary Donaldson and Crown Prince Frederik	People
2004 Jun	274	More about Karl Marx	People
2004 Jul	275	Marlon Brando	People
1983 Sep	026	Korean Jumbo Jet Disaster	Plane Crashes
1983 Oct	027	Korean Jumbo Jet Disaster	Plane Crashes
1983 Nov	028	(Korean) Jumbo Jet Tragedy	Plane Crashes
1984 Jan	030	Korean Jet Disaster / Plane Disasters	Plane Crashes
1985Jul	048	Two Jumbo Jet Flights – Disaster and Near-Disaster	Plane Crashes
1985 Sep	049	Another Jumbo Jet Tragedy (Tokyo)	Plane Crashes
1985 Dec	053	The Gander Air Disaster (Gander Airport Newfoundland) - event chart, solar eclipse and Libran Ingress for above	Plane Crashes
1985 Dec	053	The Manchester Air Crash - event chart, solar eclipse and Cancer Ingress for above	Plane Crashes
1996 Jul	180	Crashed Boeing Flight 800 – Chart	Plane Crashes
1997 Feb	187	Helicopter Disaster (Black Hawk incident, Qld)	Plane Crashes
1997 Jun	191	Avoidance of Plane Crashes - horizon chart for air crash	Plane Crashes
1999 Aug	217	Lessons from the Kennedy Tragedy (John, Jnr) - departure chart - birth chart John Kennedy Jnr - birth chart Carolyn Besset Kennedy	Plane Crashes
1999 Nov	220	The Lear Jet Crash – Florida 25 October 1999	Plane Crashes
1999 Nov	220	Boeing 767 Crashes – New York – 31 October 1999	Plane Crashes
2000 Feb	223	Kenya Airlines Flight AB 310	Plane Crashes
2000 Jun	227	Whyalla Plane Crash (31 May 2000)	Plane Crashes
2000 Sep	230	Concorde Crash – Could It Have Been Foreseen?	Plane Crashes
2001 Dec	245	Airbus Flight 587 New York	Plane Crashes
2001 Dec	245	Warning to Holiday Makers	Plane Crashes

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
2002 Aug	253	Ukraine Air Disaster	Plane Crashes
1982 Aug	013	Charles & Diana	Royal Family
1987 Aug	073	Prince Charles and Lady Diana	Royal Family
1987 Sep	074	Princess Diana: Birth Chart - Diana's Standard Solar Return and Harmonic Chart for age 20 - Progressive Precessed Solar Return age 20	Royal Family
1987 Oct/Nov	075/076	Charles and Diana: Prenatal Relationship Chart	Royal Family
1988 Mar	080	Prince Charles and the Avalanche	Royal Family
1988 Sep	086	Fixed Stars in Lady Diana's Chart	Royal Family
1989 Sep	098	The Royal Marriage Break-up	Royal Family
1992 May	130	Spotlight on the Royal Family Chart of Queen Elizabeth II	Royal Family
1992 Jun	131	Pluto and the Royal Family - Lady Diana's Birth Chart - Lady Diana's Progressed Chart - Prince Charles' Birth Chart	Royal Family
1992 Dec	137	Princess Anne Marries Again - progressed chart at marriage, age harmonic and solar return	Royal Family
1993 Jan	138	The English Monarchy	Royal Family
1993 Jan	138	Chart of Duchess Sarah Ferguson	Royal Family
1993 Jul	144/145	Which Chart for Elizabeth II?	Royal Family
1993 Sep	146/147	HRH The Queen Mother	Royal Family
1993 Dec	149/150	The Queen Mother : Birth Details	Royal Family
1994 Feb	151	Queen Elizabeth II : Validating the Official Birth Time	Royal Family
1997 Sep	194	Princess Diana – accident; death; synodic chart at date of accident	Royal Family
1997 Oct	195	Diana and the Life-Span Revolution ; Solar Eclipse; Primary Directions, etc.	Royal Family
1997 Nov	196	Profile of a Prince – Prince William	Royal Family
1997 Nov	196	Princess Diana's Chart – the Fame?	Royal Family
1999 Jul	216	Prince Edward Marries Sophie	Royal Family
2000 Feb	223	Future of the English Royal Family – Lunar Eclipse 21 January 2000	Royal Family
2000 Mar	224	Errata re Royals	Royal Family
2004 Jan	269	Lady Diana, Princess of Wales	Royal Family
1984 Aug	037	Cosmic Vibrations and the Olympic Marathon	Sport
1985 Apr	045	Horse Racing – Koch Cusps?	Sport
1985 Jun	047	The Bradford and Brussels Football Tragedies	Sport
1985 Jul	048	More on Horse Racing Charts	Sport

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1986 Jan	054	The 1985 Melbourne Cup	Sport
1986 Aug	061	Boris Becker, Tennis Phenomenon - synodic return	Sport
1986 Aug	061	World Boxing Championship (Witherspoon / Bruno)	Sport
1986 Sep	062	The Witherspoon / Bruno Chart (World Title Fight)	Sport
1989 Sep	098	Astrology and Horse-Racing	Sport
1989 Oct	099	Prix De L'Arc de Triomphe	Sport
1989 Nov	100	An Astrological Win on the Melbourne Cup	Sport
1989 Dec	101	More on Astrology and Racing - An Easy Win!	Sport
1991 Jul	120	Horse Racing – Koch Cusps?	Sport
1991 Oct	123	Metropolitan Horse Race 1991	Sport
1991 Oct	123	1991 Melbourne Cup	Sport
1991 Nov	124	Melbourne Cup Chart	Sport
1991 Dec	125	More on the Melbourne Cup	Sport
1992 Oct	135	The Melbourne Cup Chart	Sport
1992 Nov	136	Aftermath of the Melbourne Cup	Sport
1993 Apr	141	The Grand National Debacle	Sport
1993 Nov	148	Melbourne Cup	Sport
1993 Dec	149/150	Games of Chance (Melbourne Cup, Caulfield Cup)	Sport
1994 Oct	159/160	The 1994 Melbourne Cup	Sport
1995 Sep	170/171	The 1995 Melbourne Cup	Sport
1995 Nov	172/173	The Melbourne Cup in Retrospect	Sport
1996 Nov	184	1996 Melbourne Cup	Sport
1997 Dec	197	1997 Melbourne Cup	Sport
1998 Dec	209	Winning on the Races – Melbourne Cup 1998	Sport
1999 Jan	210	Yachting Disaster – Sydney to Hobart 26 Dec 1998	Sport
1999 Jan	210	Circumnavigating the Globe (Jesse Martin)	Sport
2000 Nov	232	The Melbourne Cup 2000	Sport
2002 Jan	246	Sporting Debacle	Sport
2004 Aug	276	The Olympic Games	Sport
1987 Mar	068	Analysis of 62 Suicides	Suicide
1987 Apr	069	Suicides : continued (follow up article to item in issue 68)	Suicide
1987 Apr	069	Analysis of a Male Suicide	Suicide
1987 May	070	Suicide : Directions, progressions, cyclic charts etc (follow up article to item in issue 68)	Suicide
1987 Jun	071	Suicide : analysis of 62 cases (follow on article from Issue 68)	Suicide

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1981 Nov	005	Rectification; Primary Directions	Techniques - Astrological
1982 Mar	008	Directions to the Horoscope	Techniques - Astrological
1982 May	010	Rectification; Queen Elizabeth II;	Techniques - Astrological
1982 Jun	011	Progressions and Directions	Techniques - Astrological
1982 Jul	012	Astrological Prediction	Techniques - Astrological
1982 Aug	013	Prediction; Progressions; Converse Progressions	Techniques - Astrological
1983 Feb	019	Saturn-Pluto Conjunction; Ascendant rather than Sun Sign; Ascendant Aspects; Positive and Negative Polarities; Direct to Retrograde Progressions	Techniques - Astrological
1983 Mar	020	Chart Interpretation / Life Events from the Birth Chart / The Psychic Factor	Techniques - Astrological
1983 Mar	020	Astrological Twins	Techniques - Astrological
1983 Apr	021	Retrogradation	Techniques - Astrological
1983 May	022	Deformed baby birth chart	Techniques - Astrological
1983 May	022	Retrograde Progressions	Techniques - Astrological
1983 Jun	023	Retrograde Progressions	Techniques - Astrological
1983 Jun	023	House Boundaries	Techniques - Astrological
1983 Aug	025	Rectification; Prenatal Epoch	Techniques - Astrological
1983 Aug	025	Prenatal Epoch	Techniques - Astrological
1983 Dec	029	Progressions and Directions	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Jan	030	Multiple births and polarity; Twins (Elvis Presley); Tropical and Sidereal; Harmonics; Frank's Release	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Feb	031	Indian Astrology; Flight times	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Mar	032	Horary Astrology; Prenatal Epoch; Secondary Lunar Horoscope; Age Harmonics; Pre-natal Return; Pre-natal Transits; Directions	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Apr	033	Mars Retrograde in Female Charts	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Apr	033	Prenatal Solar Returns; Prenatal Charts and Transits; Prenatal Lunar Returns; Harmonics; Retrogradation	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Apr	033	Astrologer and Sceptic: A Dialogue	Techniques - Astrological
1984 May	034	Liverpool Sextuplets	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Jun	035	Death in the horoscope	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Jun	035	Mars Retrograde in Female Charts	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Jul	036	Pluto	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Jul	036	Chiron	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Jul	036	Topocentric Primary Directions	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Jul	036	Death in the Horoscope	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Jul	036	Bonds between Brothers	Techniques - Astrological

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1984 Aug	037	Mundane Astrology – Eclipses and Lunations	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Aug	037	Financial Crash – Topocentric Primary Directions	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Aug	037	Heart Transplant – Cosmobiology	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Aug	037	The Prenatal Epoch	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Sep	038	More on Pluto	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Sep	038	Seattle Astrologer's Challenge : Joanna Ashmun	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Oct	039	Joanna Ashmun's Challenge; and her "definite and memorable event"	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Oct	039	Earthquake and Eclipse Chart	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Oct	039	The Prenatal Epoch	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Nov	040	Practical Prediction	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Nov	040	PEA and Topocentric Primary Directions	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Nov	040	Converse Motion	Techniques - Astrological
1984 Nov	040	Solution to Joanna Ashmun's Challenge	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Jan	041/042	Zodiacal and Mundane, Prenatal Charts? Concept of Time	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Jan	041/042	Solar and Lunar Eclipses	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Jan	041/042	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Feb	043	Contra Converse Techniques and Post-Event Analysis	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Feb	043	Planetary Cycles	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Feb	043	News from "Frank"	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Feb	043	Joanna Ashmun's Challenge in Retrospect	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Mar	044	MDO Equation	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Mar	044	Car Crash Victim	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Mar	044	The Saturn Return	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Mar	044	Transpluto and Chiron	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Apr	045	Mikhail S Gorbachev: A Spectacular Chart and Supporting Lunar Charts	Techniques - Astrological
1985 May	046	Solar Returns and Natal Midpoints	Techniques - Astrological
1985 May	046	Koch – Wrong Again	Techniques - Astrological
1985 May	046	Amendment to Gorbachev's Chart	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Jun	047	Cusps in High Latitudes	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Jun	047	Ingress Charts and Political Elections	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Jul	048	Ingress Charts	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Sep	049	Comparison of Solar Return Charts	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Sep	049	Finding a Lost Cat (horary question)	Techniques - Astrological

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1985 Sep	050	Comparison of Solar Returns (concluding part) - finding the best Solar Return by the Solar Eclipse - using the transiting Nodes for the same purpose - the Vertex, likewise	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Oct	051	The Quarterly Sidereal Solar Return	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Nov	052	Prison for Peter? (horary question)	Techniques - Astrological
1985 Dec	053	Prison for Peter – outcome (horary question result)	Techniques - Astrological
1986 Jan	054	Horary Chart for Air Travel	Techniques - Astrological
1986 Jan	054	P E A (primary event analysis) Directions for William Lilly's Death	Techniques - Astrological
1986 Feb	055	"Frank's Release" – result of horary question asked 2 years previously	Techniques - Astrological
1986 Feb	055	The 1983 Vernon Clark Experiment (extroversion, emotional stability in the birth chart)	Techniques - Astrological
1986 Mar	056	The Quarterly Precessed Solar Return (Queen Elizabeth II)	Techniques - Astrological
1986 May	058	The Weighting of Aspects	Techniques - Astrological
1986 May	058	House Rulerships	Techniques - Astrological
1986 Jun	059	Alexander Marr's 'Prediction III'	Techniques - Astrological
1986 Jun	059	Making Practical Use of Astrology	Techniques - Astrological
1986 Aug	061	Aspects and Events	Techniques - Astrological
1986 Oct	063	12 th House Planets (Judy Garland; Henry Kissinger)	Techniques - Astrological
1987 Feb	066	Notes on Predictive Technique	Techniques - Astrological
1987 Feb	067	A 4 th House (horary) Question	Techniques - Astrological
1987 Feb	067	The GOH (Koch "birthplace") Domification System	Techniques - Astrological
1987 Feb	067	The Real Business of Astrology (Horary)	Techniques - Astrological
1987 Mar	068	Predictive Technique	Techniques - Astrological
1987 Jul	072	The Progressed Midheaven	Techniques - Astrological
1987 Sep	074	Those Annual Charts (Solar Return)	Techniques - Astrological
1987 Oct/Nov	075/076	Hindu Sahamas (Arabian Parts) - tables of Arabian Parts - horary chart on the Hindu system	Techniques - Astrological
1988 Apr	081	President John Kennedy – Birth Chart; Cyclic Charts	Techniques - Astrological
1988 May	082	Rectification – including rectified birth chart of Queen Elizabeth II	Techniques - Astrological
1988 May	082	The Houses in Ancient Times	Techniques - Astrological
1988 Jun/Jul	083/084	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1988 Jun/Jul	083/084	Further Analysis Using the Prenatal Epoch	Techniques - Astrological
1988 Aug	085	The Planetoid Chiron	Techniques - Astrological
1988 Sep	086	Post-Mortem Analysis, or Reasoned Prediction?	Techniques - Astrological

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1988 Sep	086	Chiron Aspects	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Feb/Mar	091/092	How to Calculate the Synodic Return	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Feb/Mar	091/092	An Analysis of the Neptune / Saturn Conjunction	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Apr	093	The Saturn / Neptune Conjunction (cont)	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Jul	096	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Jul	096	Cyclic Charts – Birth Place or Re-located	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Aug	097	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Sep	098	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Oct	099	The San Francisco Earthquake – can earthquakes be predicted?	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Oct	099	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Oct	099	Unaspected Planets	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Nov	100	Astrological Prediction of Earthquakes	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Dec	101	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1989 Dec	101	Watch Celestial Latitude!	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Jan	102	Celestial Latitude May be Vital!	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Jan	102	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Feb	103	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Mar	104	Predicting Election Results	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Apr	105	New Method for Finding Unknown Birth Time	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Apr	105	Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1990 May	106	Chart Rectification	Techniques - Astrological
1990 May	106	The Question of Longevity	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Jun	107	Horary Chart Warns of Loss (in business venture)	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Jul/Aug	108/109	Method to find an Unknown Birth Time	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Sep	110	Using Progressed Solar Aspects to Find an Unknown Birth Time	Techniques - Astrological
1990 Oct	111	Use of the Minor Aspects	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Jan	114/115	Predicting Elections	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Apr	117	The USA – New Chart	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Jul	120	The Life-Span Revolution	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Aug	121	The Life-Span Revolution	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Aug	121	When a Conjunction is not a Conjunction (latitude/longitude)	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Aug	121	Celestial Latitude and Aspect Orbs	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Sep	122	A New Technique in Synastry	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Sep	122	Extension of the Life-Span Revolution	Techniques - Astrological

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1991 Oct	123	Do Progressions always Act?	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Oct	123	Australian Hospitals – Latitudes / Longitudes	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Dec	125	The Life Span Revolution, Part 1	Techniques - Astrological
1991 Dec	125	The Question of Re-location	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Jan	126	Contemporary Events and Historical Charts (Karl Marx, Vladimir Lenin, Berlin Wall, Gorbachev)	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Jan	126	The Life-Span Revolution - John F Kennedy's Chart - Theodore Roosevelt's Chart	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Feb	127	The Life-Span Revolution (cont) - John F Kennedy's Chart - Theodore Roosevelt's Chart	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Feb	127	Prince Charles and the Life-Span Revolution	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Feb	127	Comment on Re-location	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Mar	128	Addendum to The Life-Span Revolution	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Mar	128	Relocated Charts	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Mar	128	Horary Chart – Property Buy	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Apr	129	The Horizon Chart and Relocation Astrology	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Apr	129	By-Election Astrology	Techniques - Astrological
1992 May	130	Annual Birthday Chart (Solar Return)	Techniques - Astrological
1992 May	130	Rectification – a quick method	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Jun	131	A Near-drowning, and relocation	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Jul	132/133	The Life Span Revolution Revisited	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Jul	132/133	Angles and Cadents in the Solar Return	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Sep	134	Predictions for the USA Presidential Elections, and Victorian and Queensland State Elections	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Sep	134	Comment on Solar Returns of President Bush and Lady Diana	Techniques - Astrological
1992 Nov	136	Lady Diana's Marriage – Hindu System	Techniques - Astrological
1993 Feb	139	Horary : Can a small lion be tamed?	Techniques - Astrological
1993 Mar	140	Provisional Rectification: Paul Keating	Techniques - Astrological
1993 Apr	141	Standard and Precressed Returns	Techniques - Astrological
1993 May	142/143	Comparison of Cyclic Charts (Prince Charles, Accident, Klosters, Major Hugh Lindsay)	Techniques - Astrological
1993 Jul	144/145	Murder and the Lunar Eclipse	Techniques - Astrological
1993 Sep	146/147	A Rectification Method	Techniques - Astrological
1993 Sep	146/147	Controversial Points (house systems, progression, zodiac, Lunar Node, latitude, planetary positions)	Techniques - Astrological
1993 Nov	148	More Controversial Points (solar, lunar progressions)	Techniques - Astrological

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1994 Mar	152	Horary Question – Should I Join a Group Practice?	Techniques - Astrological
1994 Apr	153	The Pluto–Node Conjunction	Techniques - Astrological
1994 May	154	The Power of Pluto	Techniques - Astrological
1994 Jun	155/156	Match the Chart to the Job	Techniques - Astrological
1994 Aug	157/158	The Moon’s Nodes	Techniques - Astrological
1994 Aug	157/158	What are Directions?	Techniques - Astrological
1994 Oct	159/160	Planetary Periods	Techniques - Astrological
1994 Oct	159/160	Lunar–Node Contacts	Techniques - Astrological
1994 Dec	161	Personal Predictions for 1995 (using New Year’s Day chart)	Techniques - Astrological
1995 Jan	162	Political Forecasting	Techniques - Astrological
1995 Jan	162	The Japanese Earthquake and Johndro Horoscopes	Techniques - Astrological
1995 Jan	162	A Case of Accidental Death	Techniques - Astrological
1995 Feb	163	Lost Rings, Horary Chart, Lunar Return	Techniques - Astrological
1995 May	166/167	American and Hindu Astrology	Techniques - Astrological
1995 Jul	168/169	Ascertaining the influence of Fixed Stars	Techniques - Astrological
1995 Jul	168/169	Horary: Am I Pregnant?	Techniques - Astrological
1995 Jul	170/171	Planetary Aspects	Techniques - Astrological
1995 Nov	172/173	Mary’s Lottery Win (Uranian Astrology)	Techniques - Astrological
1995 Nov	172/173	Planetary Aspects	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Jan	174	Horary Astrology – Place and Time – Will my son move? Will he marry?	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Mar	176	Could Fellow-Worker’s Death be Foreseen?	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Mar	176	Astrology and Homeopathy	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Apr	177	A Fright from Neptune	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Apr	177	The Power of Pluto	Techniques - Astrological
1996 May	178	More about Pluto; and Pluto Again	Techniques - Astrological
1996 May	178	Neptune and Water	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Jul	180	Pluto and Jupiter – a Personal Odyssey	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Jul	180	Virgo – Realistic, not Perfectionist!	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Jul	180	The Nodes of the Planets	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Aug	181	Where are the keys? Develop your skill in Horary Astrology	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Sep	182	Lost Keys – Horary Chart Reading	Techniques - Astrological
1996 Dec	185	Horary questions - Will my trip be a good one? - Should I return to Australia? - Should I move house? - Should I separate from my husband?	Techniques - Astrological

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1997 Mar	188	Planets' Stations	Techniques - Astrological
1997 Apr	189	A Pluto Transit	Techniques - Astrological
1997 Nov	196	Solving Mysteries with the Event Chart	Techniques - Astrological
1998 Jan	198	Indications of Early Death - Horizon Chart	Techniques - Astrological
1998 Mar	200	Again – House Cusps !	Techniques - Astrological
1998 Mar	200	Another Win for Astrology! (Kofi Annan, United Nations)	Techniques - Astrological
1998 Jun	203	Observation of the Moon's Nodes, Eclipses and Chiron in personal relationships	Techniques - Astrological
1998 Jul	204	Shark Attack! An Extraordinary Chart	Techniques - Astrological
1998 Dec	209	House Cusps Compared	Techniques - Astrological
1999 Sep	218	Solving with a Horary Chart	Techniques - Astrological
1999 Sep	218	Unaspected Planets	Techniques - Astrological
2000 Feb	223	Venus Conjunct Mars in Virgo?	Techniques - Astrological
2000 Mar	224	Venus conjunct Mars in Virgo	Techniques - Astrological
2000 Sep	230	The Timing of Events	Techniques - Astrological
2000 Nov	232	Fixed Stars	Techniques - Astrological
2001 Feb	235	Dusty Springfield and the Fixed Stars	Techniques - Astrological
2001 Feb	235	Bus Accident	Techniques - Astrological
2001 Jun	239	Progressions, Directions & Cyclic Charts	Techniques - Astrological
2001 Aug	241	A Note on Progression of the Angles	Techniques - Astrological
2002 Feb	247	The State of Astrology	Techniques - Astrological
2002 Apr	249	Cyclic Charts (Lunar Return, Solar Return etc) – Precessed or Standard?	Techniques - Astrological
2002 May	250	When Did She Marry?	Techniques - Astrological
2002 Jun	251	Progressions, Directions and Cyclic Charts	Techniques - Astrological
2002 Jul	252	Transiting Aspects	Techniques - Astrological
2002 Aug	253	Predicting Elections	Techniques - Astrological
2002 Sep	254	"Certainty" in Astrology, and Other Matters	Techniques - Astrological
2002 Nov	256	The Predictive Art	Techniques - Astrological
2002 Dec	257	Solar Eclipse 4 December 2002	Techniques - Astrological
2002 Dec	257	Horary Analysis – an example of	Techniques - Astrological
2003 Feb	259	Strange Win of a Cadillac	Techniques - Astrological
2003 May	262	A Success Story – Horary Astrology	Techniques - Astrological
2003 May	262	Numbers and Planets (United Kingdom, Lottery, 3 May 2003)	Techniques - Astrological
2003 Jun	263	Day Charts and Lunar Returns	Techniques - Astrological
2003 Jun	263	Neptune Adverse Mercury	Techniques - Astrological

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
2003 Jun	263	Solar Eclipse, 24 November 2003 (terrorism)	Techniques - Astrological
2003 Jul	264	Missing Watch	Techniques - Astrological
2003 Sep	266	Tradition versus Experience	Techniques - Astrological
2003 Nov	268	Mars Opposition Jupiter	Techniques - Astrological
2004 Jan	269	Virgo – Realistic, Not Perfectionist	Techniques - Astrological
2004 May	273	Lotteries, Planets & Numbers	Techniques - Astrological
2004 Sep	277	Horary Astrology – Is the report true?	Techniques - Astrological
1982 Nov	016	Twins	Twins
1983 Jan	018	Twins	Twins
1983 Feb	019	Twins	Twins
1983 Mar	020	Siamese Twins	Twins
1983 Apr	021	Twins	Twins
1983 May	022	Twins	Twins
1984 Jul	036	Twins	Twins
1985 May	046	One Horoscope – Two Destinies (twins; suicide)	Twins
1985 Jun	047	Responses to “One Horoscope – Two Destinies”: The Vertex as the Distinguishing Factor; Twins Distinguished by Harmonics	Twins
1989 Aug	097	Russian Siamese Twins	Twins
2001 Aug	241	A Case of Twins	Twins
1984 Sep	038	Walter Mondale’s Prospects	USA Politics
1985 Jan	041/042	President Reagan : Inauguration Chart	USA Politics
1985 Oct	051	President John F Kennedy : horoscope; tropical solar return 29/5/1963; precessed solar return 30/5/1963; synodic return for his 46 th year	USA Politics
1986 Dec	065	Eyes on the USA - USA National Horoscope - Which chart for Ronald Reagan	USA Politics
1988 Oct	087	George Bush: Presidential Candidate	USA Politics
1998 Nov/Dec	088/089	George Bush Wins - Provisional Rectification	USA Politics
1989 Jan	090	George Bush – Harmonic 64	USA Politics
1989 Feb/Mar	091/092	President George Bush - Birth Chart - Synodic Return - and the USA Independence Chart	USA Politics
1991 May	118/119	The USA Chart	USA Politics
1992 Sep	134	USA Election	USA Politics
1992 Oct	135	The USA Presidential Election	USA Politics

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1992 Oct	135	New Birth Chart for George Bush	USA Politics
1992 Oct	135	Birth Charts of Clinton and Perot and Solar Returns of all Candidates	USA Politics
1996 May	178	Bob Dole – Presidential Candidate	USA Politics
1996 Jun	179	Bob Dole's chart – best rectification yet! - Three harmonic charts for Bob Dole	USA Politics
1996 Sep	182	President Bill Clinton - Claim for an Authentic Birth Time - Two age-harmonics	USA Politics
1996 Nov	184	The USA Presidential Election	USA Politics
1998 Feb	199	Will President Clinton Survive?	USA Politics
1998 Aug	205	President Bill Clinton – The Moment of Truth?	USA Politics
1998 Sep	206	The Clinton / Starr Connection	USA Politics
1998 Oct	207	A Nation Falters	USA Politics
1998 Oct	207	USA Independence Chart	USA Politics
1998 Oct	207	USA Progressed Chart 4 July 1998	USA Politics
1998 Oct	207	Kenneth Starr, Independent Counsellor	USA Politics
1999 Feb	211	Hillary Clinton – Candidate for Honours	USA Politics
1999 Feb	211	President Bill Clinton - Divorce and Political Demise - Impeachment Trial	USA Politics
1999 Mar	212	Hillary Clinton – Birth time confirmed	USA Politics
1999 Mar	212	Chelsea Clinton – Brief Forecast	USA Politics
1999 Apr	213	President Clinton and Ken Starr – Answers from the Inner Planets	USA Politics
2000 Aug	229	USA Presidential Election – 7 November 2000	USA Politics
2000 Nov	232	The USA Presidential Election	USA Politics
2000 Dec	233	President George W Bush, Chart, etc	USA Politics
2000 Dec	233	Forecast for George W Bush	USA Politics
2000 Dec	233	The United States - What Now?	USA Politics
2001 Jan	234	President Bush – Amendment to Forecast	USA Politics
2003 Apr	261	USA Independence Charts	USA Politics
2003 May	262	War and the New Century Chart	USA Politics
2004 Mar	271	John Kerry, Next USA President?	USA Politics
2004 May	273	Prisoner Abuse Exposed (George Bush, terrorism)	USA Politics
2004 Nov	279	George W Bush defeats John Kerry	USA Politics
2004 Dec	280	Peril for President George W Bush	USA Politics

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1984 Sep	038	Earthquake in Wales	World Events
1984 Nov	040	Assassination of Indira Gandhi	World Events
1984 Nov	040	More on the British Eclipse Chart	World Events
1985 Jan	041/042	The Bhopal Gas Tragedy - Chart for India's Independence - More on Indira Gandhi - Indira Gandhi's Progressed Chart	World Events
1985 Feb	043	More on Bhopal Disaster	World Events
1985 Jul	048	Israel Radix	World Events
1985 Sep	049	Superpower Summit – a failure? (Ronald Reagan trip to West Germany; Mikhail Gorbachev; nuclear arms reduction)	World Events
1985 Sep	050	Hiroshima Remembered	World Events
1985 Sep	050	Republic of South Africa – Inceptional Chart; Solar Return Chart 1985	World Events
1986 Jan	054	Election in the Philippines – Solar Eclipse 12/11/85	World Events
1986 Feb	055	Space Shuttle Challenger Explodes	World Events
1986 Feb	055	The Philippines Election	World Events
1986 Mar	056	More on Challenger	World Events
1986 Mar	056	Sweden and Singapore, and the Solar Eclipse of 12/11/1985 (Olaf Palme Assassination; Tourist Hotel Collapse)	World Events
1986	057	Olaf Palme Assassination (Norway)	World Events
1986 Apr	057	Air Strike on Libya	World Events
1986 Apr	057	Data on Victims of the Space Shuttle Disaster (Challenger)	World Events
1986 May	058	The Chernobyl Nuclear Accident	World Events
1986 May	058	USSR : Tentative Horoscope	World Events
1986 Jun	059	The South African Crisis	World Events
1986 Jul	060	Republic of Argentina – Rectification of Chart	World Events
1986 Jul	060	Synodic Chart for the Falklands War: Solar Return Chart for the Falklands War	World Events
1987 Feb	067	Terry Waite, Envoy	World Events
1987 Mar	068	The Terry Waite Horary Chart	World Events
1987 Mar	068	English Channel Ferry Disaster	World Events
1987 Dec	077	The Stock Market Crash	World Events
1988 Jan	078	Stock Market Warning	World Events
1988 Sep	086	North Sea Oil-Rig Explosion	World Events
1989 Jan	090	The Armenian Earthquake	World Events

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1989 Apr	093	The Salmon Rushdie Affair - Rushdie's Birth Horoscope - Age Harmonic 41 - Synodic return 41	World Events
1989 May/Jun	094/095	The Chinese Horror - Birth Chart of the Chinese Republic - Progressions etc for China - Secondary Quotidian for the Massacre on June 3, 1989 - Synodic Return No 39 (China)	World Events
1989 Sep	098	Spotlight on Poland	World Events
1989 Sep	098	Treatment of AIDS	World Events
1989 Nov	100	The Berlin Wall - East Germany and the Jupiter/Saturn Conjunction - Chart for East Berlin - The Berlin Wall and the Saturn Cycle	World Events
1989 Dec	101	Romania in Turmoil Chart for Romania's Independence	World Events
1989 Dec	101	Horoscope of the German Democratic Republic	World Events
1990 Jan	102	The Gorbachev Phenomenon	World Events
1990 Jan	102	General Manuel Noriega	World Events
1990 Mar	104	Gorbachev and Raisa	World Events
1990 Mar	104	Which Chart for Noriega?	World Events
1990 May	106	Romania – Synodic Chart	World Events
1990 Jun	107	The Iranian Earthquake	World Events
1990 Jun	107	Castro and the Future of Cuba	World Events
1990 Jul/Aug	108/109	The Middle East Crisis - Chart for the Iraq Republic - Iraq's Synodic, Age Harmonic and Solar Return Charts - Kuwait's Independence Chart - Kuwait's Progressed Chart - President Saddam Hussein	World Events
1990 09	110	German Re-unification	World Events
1990 Sep	110	The Third Reich	World Events
1990 Oct	111	The Middle East Situation	World Events
1990 Oct	111	Saddam: Monthly Synodic Chart for December 1990; January 1991 - Iraq: Monthly Synodic Chart - Solar Eclipse 15 January 1991	World Events
1990 Nov/Dec	112/113	War Against Iraq: - Saddam Hussein: Birth Chart - Solar Eclipse 15/1/91 on Saddam's Chart	World Events
1990 Nov/Dec	112/113	German Reunification – revised chart	World Events
1991 Jan	114/115	The China Story	World Events

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1991 Mar	116	Victory in the Gulf	World Events
1991 Mar	116	Civil Strife in Yugoslavia – chart – Communist regime	World Events
1991 May	118/119	Assassination of Rajiv Gandhi	World Events
1991 May	118/119	Events in India	World Events
1991 May	118/119	Ebenezer Sibley's Comments on the American Revolution - Sibley's Chart for the USA - Aries Ingress March 1776	World Events
1991 Sep	122	The Russian Scene	World Events
1992 Mar	128	Further Comments on the Russian Scene	World Events
1992 Nov	136	Tragedy in Yugoslavia	World Events
1993 Jul	144/145	Berlin Wall Revisited	World Events
1993 Jul	144/145	The Indian Earthquake	World Events
1993 Sep	146/147	Israel – PLO Peace Accord	World Events
1993 Nov	148	The Italian Crisis (Victor Emmanuel, Corruption)	World Events
1993 Dec	149/150	The Los Angeles Earthquake	World Events
1994 Feb	151	The State of California : Validating the Chart by Historical Events	World Events
1994 Mar	152	Spotlight on South Africa	World Events
1994 May	154	Genocide in Rwanda	World Events
1994 May	154	The Future of South Africa	World Events
1994 Aug	157/158	The Russian Scene	World Events
1994 Dec	161	Peace in Northern Ireland	World Events
1995 Jul	168/169	A Further Look at Yugoslavia	World Events
1996 Aug	181	The Games and the Bomb – Can Astrology Help?	World Events
1996 Aug	181	Russian Update	World Events
1996 Sep	182	Russian Update (cont) - Natal Chart of Alexander Lebed	World Events
1997 Jan	186	The Future of China	World Events
1997 Feb	187	The Future of Hong Kong	World Events
1997 Feb	187	Crisis in New Guinea – Latest Developments	World Events
1997 Nov	196	Date of the New Millennium	World Events
1998 Apr	201	A New Look at Northern Ireland	World Events
1998 May	202	History Made in Ireland	World Events
1999 Jan	210	Launch of the Euro - Jupiter / Saturn Conjunction 28 May 2000	World Events
1999 Apr	213	Nato vs The Serbs	World Events
1999 Jun	215	Milosevic and Nato Bombing Scare	World Events
1999 Jul	216	The Chart for the 21 st Century	World Events

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
1999 Oct	219	East Timor – Time of Terror	World Events
2000 Jan	222	Vladimir Putin – Russia’s New Master	World Events
2000 Feb	223	Vladimir Putin – Prediction	World Events
2000 Mar	224	Looking Back – Yugoslavia	World Events
2000 Apr	225	The Ugandan Horror	World Events
2000 Jun	227	The Enigma of China	World Events
2000 Jun	227	The Fijian Crisis	World Events
2000 Oct	231	“The Best Olympics Ever”	World Events
2001 Jan	234	The Third Millennium and the Shape of Things to Come (collapse of the Berlin Wall)	World Events
2001 Feb	235	Ariel Sharon Takes the Reigns	World Events
2001 Feb	235	Palestine and Ariel Sharon	World Events
2001 Mar	236	The Chart for the 20 th Century	World Events
2001 Mar	236	Slaughter of the Animals	World Events
2001 Apr	237	No – No War in the Middle East	World Events
2001 May	238	The Austrian Tunnel Disaster 11 November 2000	World Events
2001 Jul	240	Unfinished Business – 21 st Century Chart	World Events
2001 Sep	242	The Second Millennium	World Events
2001 Oct	243	Mayhem and Destruction in the USA (World Trade Centre, Pentagon, Terrorism, 9/11)	World Events
2001 Oct	243	USA Chart – Evidence for 5:10:17 pm EST	World Events
2001 Oct	243	First Strike on the World Trade Centre (9/11)	World Events
2001 Nov	244	Australia and New York	World Events
2001 Nov	244	Gallant Victim of the World Trade Centre Collapse	World Events
2002 Mar	248	The Future of Russia	World Events
2002 Apr	249	Comment on The Future of Russia	World Events
2002 May	250	The Israel – Palestine Conflict	World Events
2002 May	250	Israel’s Amended Chart	World Events
2002 Jun	251	The Last Bastion – North Korea	World Events
2002 Jun	251	Israel’s Chart – Correction	World Events
2002 Sep	254	A Nation in Crisis – Papua New Guinea	World Events
2003 Feb	259	The Future of Terrorism	World Events
2003 Feb	259	Space Shuttle Disaster	World Events
2003 Apr	261	The Iraq War	World Events
2003 May	262	Hindsight – Iraq War	World Events

CLICK HERE TO 'LINK' TO THE ISSUE

Year/Month	Issue	Title	Category
2003 Aug	265	Combating Terrorism (United Nations, Headquarters, Bus Jerusalem, 19 August 2003)	World Events
2003 Aug	265	Indonesia (Terrorism, Marriott Hotel, August 5 2003)	World Events
2003 Oct	267	Saudi Arabia – terrorist attacks	World Events
2003 Nov	268	Terrorism in Turkey	World Events
2003 Nov	268	A New Look at China	World Events
2004 Mar	271	Slaughter in Iraq	World Events
2004 Apr	272	Madrid's Tragedy (terrorism, bombing, trains)	World Events
2004 Apr	272	Terror in London	World Events
2004 May	273	The European Union	World Events
2004 Jul	275	Iraq Sovereignty Transferred	World Events
2004 Dec	280	Tsunami Horror and Destruction - Banda Aceh and the Tsunami	World Events

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A25 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Now in its 24th Year: Issue 280 December 2004

FINAL ISSUE

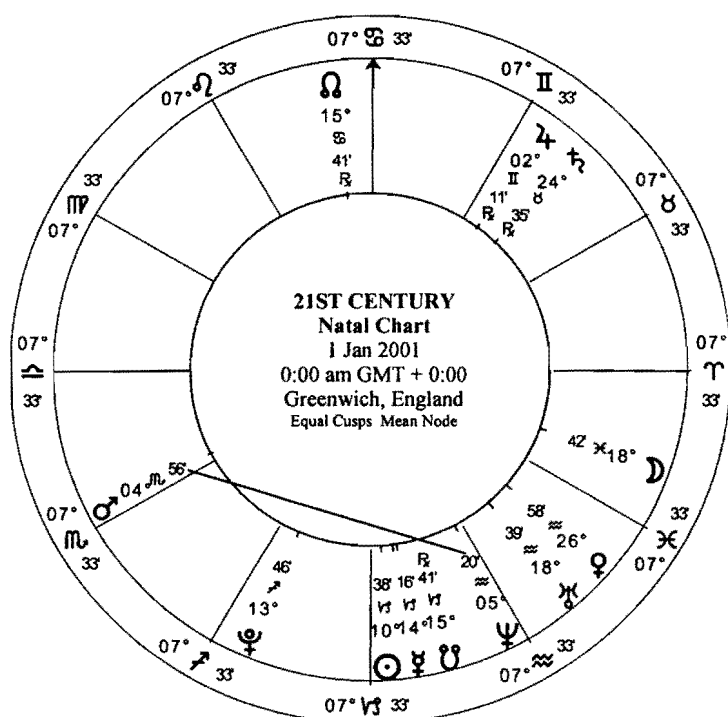

TSUNAMI HORROR AND DESTRUCTION

The earthquake on December 26 2004 that sped across the Indian Ocean at incredible speed brought havoc and tragedy on an unprecedented scale to 12 countries bordering the eastern Indian Ocean. Never could we have imagined such overwhelming and destructive force from the ocean that has fed and nourished whole populations since the dawn of time. The latest estimate is 150,000 dead and millions homeless. The task of burying the dead, attending to the injured, feeding and housing the starving population and cleaning up the unending piles of debris is immense.

How do we deal astrologically with an event as cataclysmic as this? The tsunami was triggered by an earthquake at about 0h59m GMT (26 Dec) but it is useless setting up a Chart for the time of the occurrence. That will give us only a further opportunity to wonder at the intimate relationship between things celestial and things terrestrial.

What we want is a Chart that will give us fore-warning, not just something that we can analyze after the event. We need a starting point—a valid figure from which we can derive subsidiary charts plus Progressions and Directions.

Pondering this question I decided to look at the Chart for the 21st Century—1 Jan 2001, 0:00 GMT Greenwich, England.

Only the planets and the Moon's Nodes are shown not the Vertex, Part of Fortune and Equatorial Ascendant

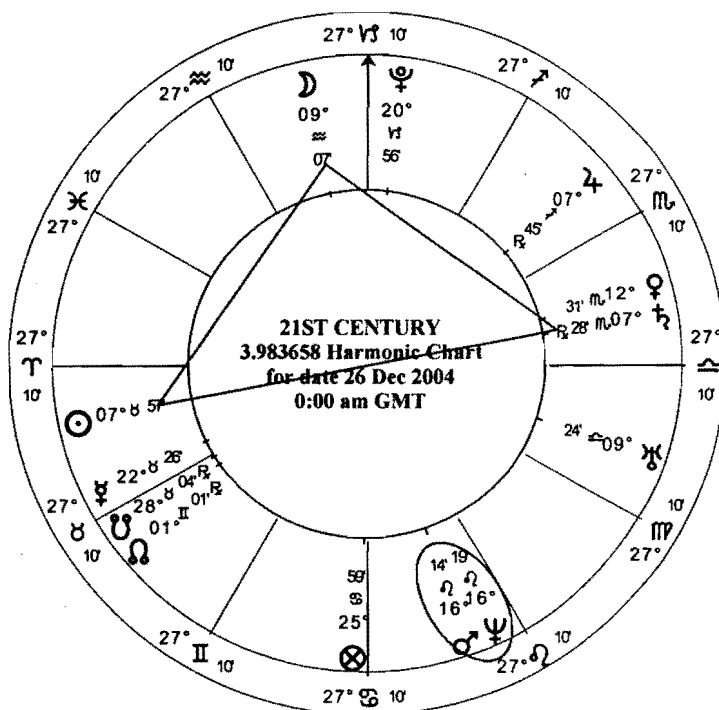

In This Issue...

	Page
Tsunami Horror and Destruction.....	1
Banda Aceh and the Tsunami.....	2
Peril for President George W. Bush.....	3
Test 95—Report.....	3
Astrologers' Forum closes.....	4 which vary with latitude because this Chart purports to reflect the fortunes of the whole world, not a particular country or region. It is set for Greenwich which lies on the First Meridian.

The closest planetary connection in the Chart is the square from Mars to Neptune—injury from water.

The Age Harmonic Chart (3.983658) for the date of the earthquake and consequent tsunami (26 Dec 2004) amazingly depicts these same energies active and amplified by the very close conjunction of Mars and Neptune.

It will be noted that Mars here rules the 1st and 8th Houses (peoples of the world and deaths) and the point is driven home by the opposition of Angular Saturn to the rising Sun in T-Square with the Moon!

This electrifying use of Progression by Age Harmonics is made possible by the new Solar Fire Deluxe Program of Esoteric Technologies whose creators have recognized the great importance of Age Harmonics and have made a marvellous addition to their Solar Fire Version 5, already arguably the best astrological program available.

The world-shaking calamity of the Tsunami is pinpointed to the very day by the Age Harmonic Progressions. They are listed in the Solar Fire Deluxe Program as follows:

☉ ♈	AH-AH	25 Dec 2004	07°♈21'	07°♍21'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	25 Dec 2004	16°♏03'	16°♏03'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	29 Dec 2004	12°♏14'	12°♏14'
♀ ♏	AH-AH	7 Jan 2005	23°♍22'	23°♏22'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	14 Jan 2005	27°♏40'	27°♌40'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	19 Jan 2005	00°♍26'	00°♏26'
♀ ♏	AH-AH	20 Jan 2005	12°♏02'	12°♏02'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	25 Jan 2005	12°♏00'	12°♏00'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	25 Jan 2005	12°♏05'	12°♏05'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	27 Jan 2005	13°♏12'	13°♏12'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	27 Jan 2005	13°♏13'	13°♏13'
♀ ♏	AH-AH	29 Jan 2005	13°♏40'	13°♏40'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	30 Jan 2005	12°♏44'	12°♏44'
♂ ♈	AH-AH	31 Jan 2005	13°♏57'	13°♏57'

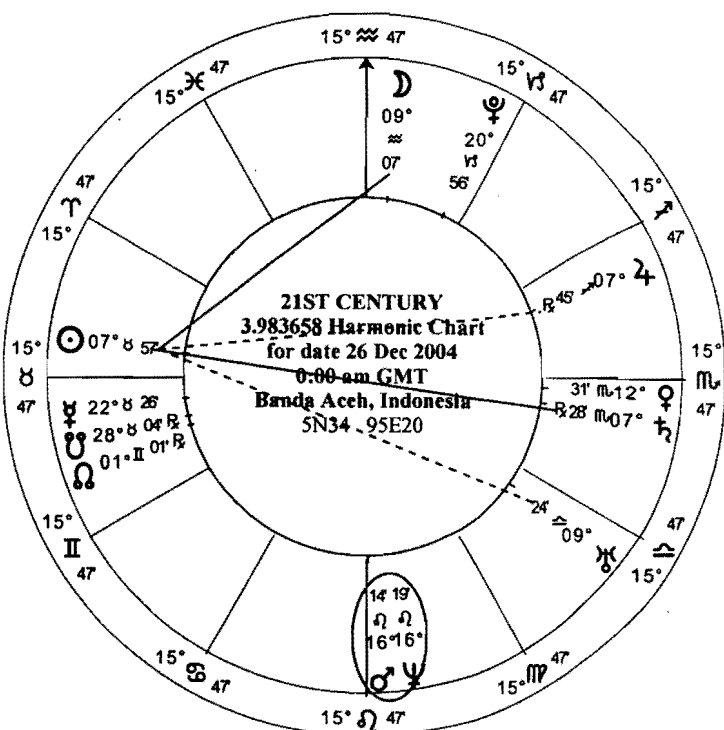

Though many countries have suffered terribly from the earthquake and the destructive tsunami that followed, probably the hardest hit (12,000 dead) was Banda Aceh in Indonesia. If now we use the geographical coordinates of Banda Aceh in the 21st Century Chart we come up with the following Figure:

There are significant changes! The planets of course retain their Zodiacal positions but occupy different Houses.

- The Sun on the Ascendant ruling the House of Death is now conjunct Mercury ruling the House of Sickness. What comes to the Ascendant fulfills its promises—in this case death and sickness.
- The Neptune/Mars square now involves the 4th Cusp—terminations and graves.

Taking matters a step further, we can derive the Harmonic Figure for 26 December 2004 at Aceh:

- There are more significant and appropriate changes:
- The Mars/Neptune conjunction now dominates the Chart from the 4th Cusp—watery graves.
 - Saturn's opposition to the Sun, Lord of the 4th House, speaks eloquently of endings.
 - The Moon's square to the Sun—multiple endings.
 - The Sun's quincunx to Jupiter, Lord of the 8th—deaths.
 - The Sun's quincunx to Uranus—sudden shock.

Harking back to the List of AH Progressions in the adjacent column some of those coming up in January are a pointer to possible consequences anticipated and feared by all involved in the disaster, for instance:

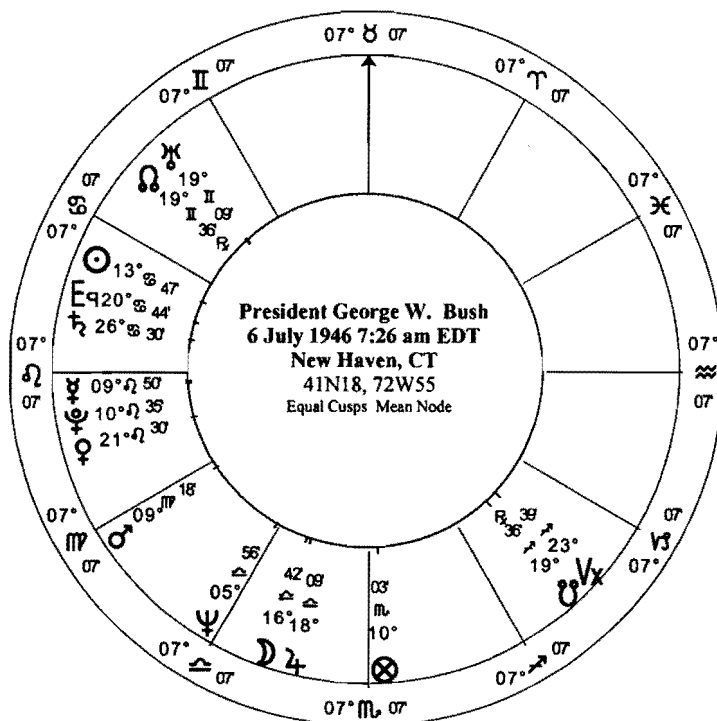

- ♂ ♈ 25 Jan 2005. Massive increase in deaths (possibly from typhoid or cholera).
- ♀ ♏ 27 Jan 2005. Outbreak and rampant growth of infections among the populace (e.g., measles).

I am not aware of any other astrological procedure that can give us such precise warning of an impending calamity affecting the world in general. Working with the Century Chart the astrologer has to examine the list of Age Harmonic Progressions and interpret them. This, of course, is never easy and is best done by setting up a Chart for any Aspects of major significance. The Program allows us to do this instantly without any tedious entering of data.

Other methods of Progressing and Directing the Chart are singularly poor in comparison with the AH Progressions. Those I have tried are Secondary Progressions (with Transits), Directions by Solar-Arc, Ascendant-Arc, Vertex-Arc and Primary Mundane Directions. The advent of Age Harmonic Progressions has far-reaching significance. They are going to revolutionize Astrology.

A COMING TIME OF PERIL for
PRESIDENT GEORGE W. BUSH

Applying Age Harmonic Progressions for 2005 to the Geniture of President George W. Bush I came across the following menacing conjunction in May:

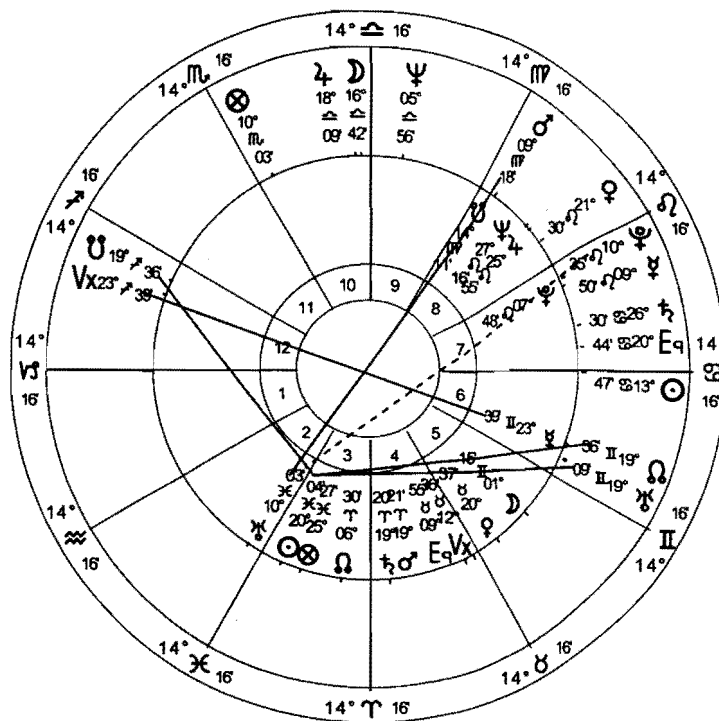

Mars conjunct Saturn 21 May 2005

Here it is shown in the Chart for that date:

This Chart looks particularly ominous for the President. The Mars/Saturn conjunction occupies the 4th House (terminations) and is just a few degrees from the I.C. which adds to its power. Further, Saturn rules the Ascendant, so has particular reference to the person of the President, and Mars is Lord of the 4th House.

Inner Wheel. George W Bush: 58.876 Harmonic Age Chart for 21 May 2005
Outer Wheel. George W. Bush, Natal Chart 6 Jul 1946 New Haven CT.

The situation looks worse if we put the Natal Figure around the Age Harmonic:

- The Sun (8th House Lord) squares n.Uranus and the n.Nodal Axis.
- Uranus is quincunx n.Pluto.
- Uranus opposes n.Mars.
- Mercury (Lord of the 6th House) opposes n.Vertex.
- Pluto will be transiting the n.Vertex.

It will be a fateful time for the President, a time of peril. He may well fall victim to an assassin's bullet.

Keep your guard up, Mr President!

TEST 95—REPORT

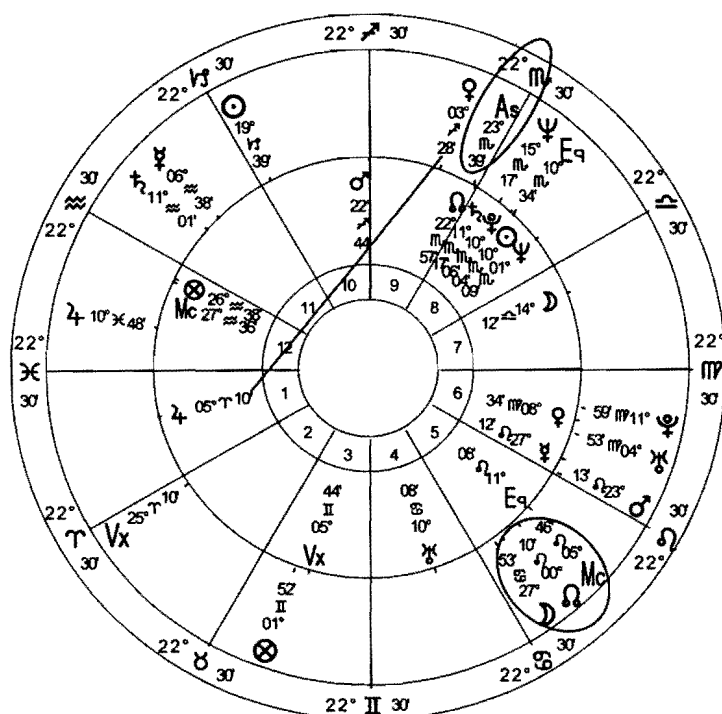

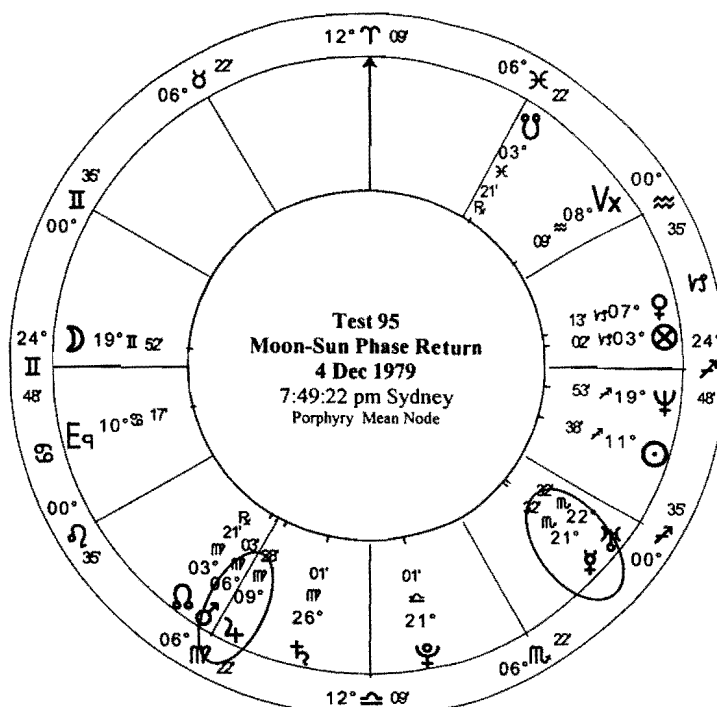

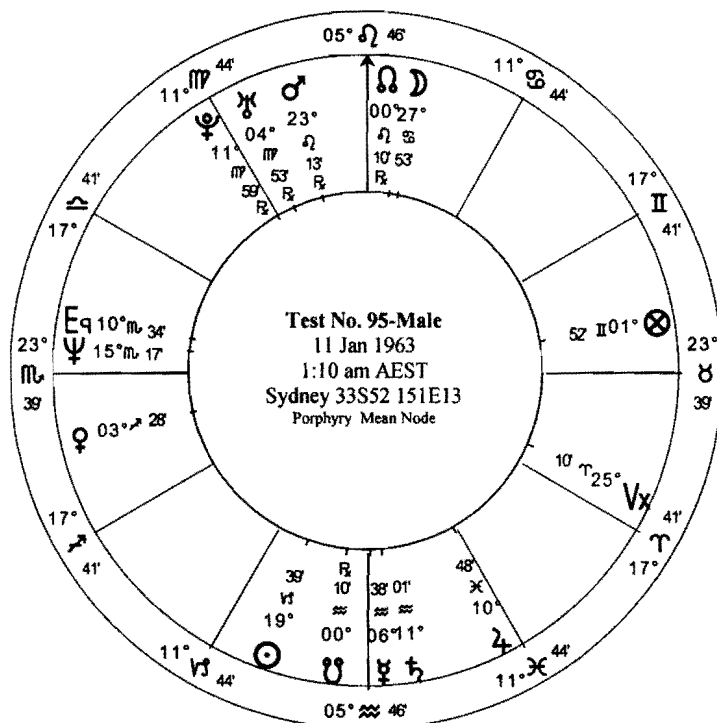

Test No. 95 concerned a male born on 11 January 1963 at 1:10 am in Sydney, Australia (see Chart next page). The Test was to determine which one of the following possible events was the one that actually occurred in his life on 11 December 1979, after he had finished school at the end of that year. His father had left the family home a year before.

1. He received his University Entrance marks qualifying him to attend university.
2. He left on an overseas holiday.
3. He bought a car to refit.
4. He moved interstate with his family.
5. He was accepted into Drama School.

The correct answer was No. 2, he left on an overseas holiday.

There were 28 participants but none was successful at the first attempt. Four succeeded with a second try. The question was readily answered by the Age Harmonic 16.9167 with the Birth Figure superimposed around it (see BiWheel next page).

- Pisces rises and Ruler Jupiter in the 1st House trines n.Venus (pleasure) in the 9th (travel).

- The n.Asc is on the 9th Cusp strengthened by the ah.Node which is squared by n.Mars, Lord of the House of Travel.
- n.Moon, Node and MC in the 5th House put the emphasis on holiday rather than interstate removal (no emphasis on the 4th House).

The Lunar Phase Chart is another useful figure for reaching a decision or confirming one's judgement (see next column).

- Gemini rises and Ruler Mercury conjoins Uranus (change).
- The 3rd House (trips) has Mars conjunct Jupiter, Mars Lord of the 5th House (pleasure) and Jupiter Lord of the 9th (trips).

This is the final Issue of Astrologers' Forum but the Tests will be continued by e-mail, once or twice monthly. Anyone who has access to the Internet is welcome to participate. Just notify me that you would like your name added to the List of recipients. There are no costs.

It is with mixed feelings that I contemplate the closing of Astrologers' Forum. It has been a labour of love, my care and pleasure and a source of instruction to myself over a period of 23 and a half years. As an editor constantly searching for new and interesting material to present to readers each month it has in effect assumed the role of a benign taskmaster obliging me to look into matters astrological that would normally perhaps have passed me by. It has been a continuing and exciting revelation of the orderliness of the Universe despite all surface impressions to the contrary. My enthusiasm for Astrology and "belief" in it has never waned but only grown stronger with the passing of the years and the continual demonstration of occult laws at work.

It has been my privilege through Astrology to make numerous friends not only in Australia but also in overseas countries. This has been greatly extended through the advent of the Internet which meant easy and instant contact with places and people on the opposite side of the world.

My new task, as most of you know, will be the assembling and presentation in book form of the knowledge I have gained over more than fifty years of immersing myself in our beloved Art. I hope it will be a guide and help to many now practising and to the new generation of astrologers rising among us.

So it is not for me a farewell to Astrology, either here or hereafter, but simply that, in common parlance, I am moving on.

Au revoir my friends!

Dymock Brose, Adelaide, 6 Jan 2005.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A25 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.
Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au
Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 279 November 2004

A red sticker here means your subscription is due.

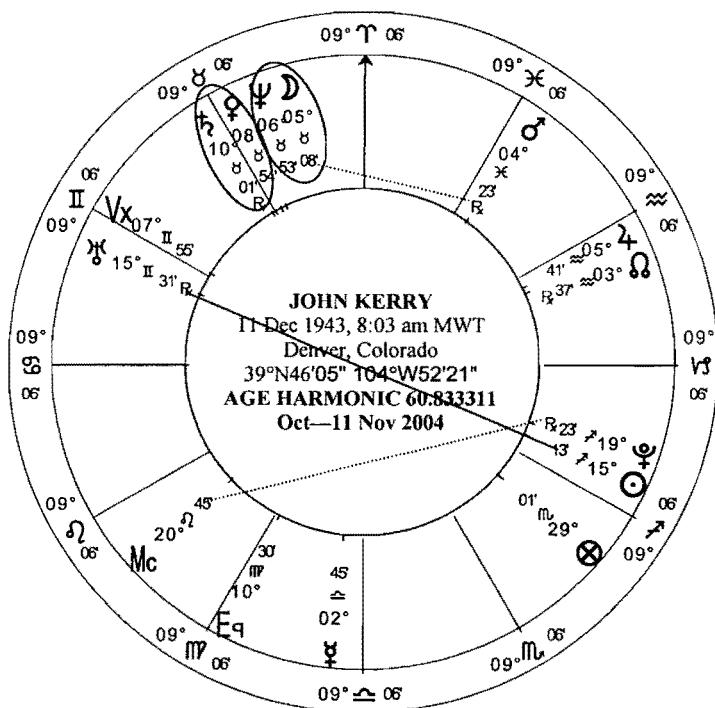

GEORGE W. BUSH DEFEATS JOHN KERRY!

On November 2, the Americans voted in unprecedented numbers to give George W. Bush a second four-year term in Office. The Democratic Candidate who I predicted eight months ago would win the Election has been decisively beaten.

Can it be that the Age Harmonic Charts, uniformly successful in the past are unreliable? Or is it (far more likely) that my interpretation was faulty?

Now that I review the Charts and read them again with less enthusiasm and more discretion it is plain that I should have come to a different conclusion.

Here is John Kerry's Harmonic Chart from Issue 271 (March 2004) on which I based my decision:

The most important feature of the Chart is the opposition of the Sun to Uranus, because of its narrow orb and the power of both the Sun and the Opposition Aspect (second only to the Conjunction).

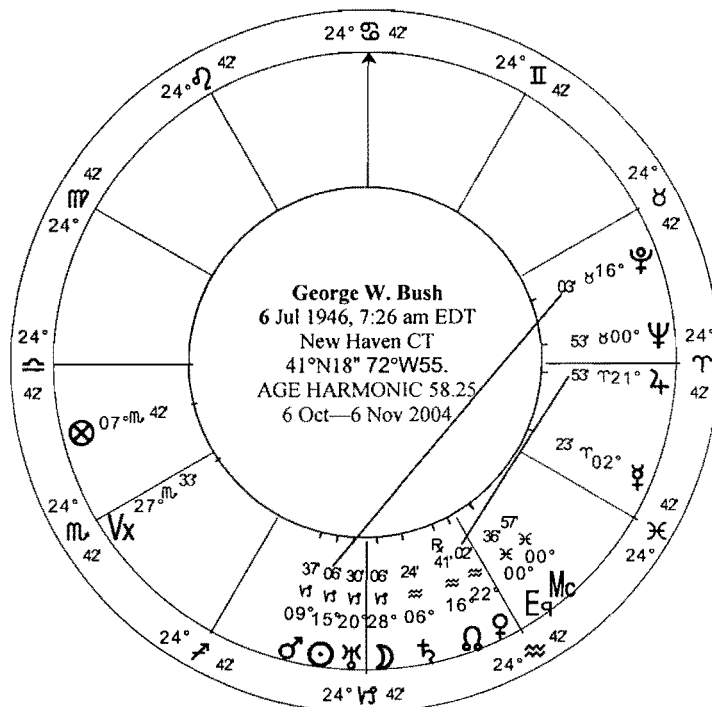

Sun opposite Uranus should have been read as a portent of ill, and potentially catastrophic. Further, the Moon conjunct Neptune is the signature of disappointment while Saturn conjunct Venus in the 11th House spells disappointed hopes.

In contrast, the favourable Pluto trine the floating MC, and the Moon sextile Mars ruling the Ascendant and MC are much less effective.

So far as the Harmonic Chart 58.25 (next column) for George W. Bush is concerned, I should have paid more attention to Pluto trine the Sun. As the Sun rules the 11th House (fulfilment of hopes), Bush was

In This Issue...

	Page
George w. Bush Defeats John Kerry.....	1
Election Comment.....	2
Test No. 94—Report.....	2
Workings of Fate.....	3
Test 95—Male.....	4

about to see his wish and ambition massively fulfilled beyond his expectations. I paid the penalty, also for ignoring the close Aspect Jupiter sextile Venus ruling the Ascendant (good fortune!).

So there it is. I am happy to see that the Charts did not lie. Age Harmonics did not let me down. I let them down. I should have been more objective and not allowed wishful thinking to cloud my judgement. A useful lesson. Live and learn.

ELECTION COMMENT

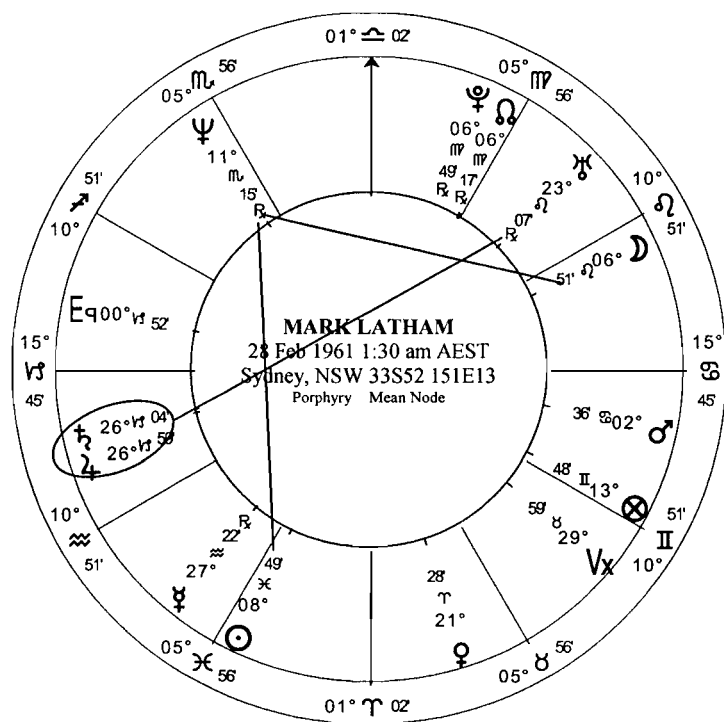

by Allan Johnson

[Allan here is referring not the to USA Presidential Election but to the Australian Federal Election on 9th October—one that was accurately predicted by Age Harmonics. See Astrologers' Forum Issue 277 of September 2004.]

I was struck by the wide variety of approaches to predicting elections. Some use the chart for the day of the elections. Others use the chart for National Federation and its variations. The FAA Journal gave four predictions and every one proved wrong. So the Election day was a bad day for astrologers generally (but not for Dymock).

I think the main difficulty has been the great variety of charts being used. My approach is to reduce it to one chart. Just forget the rest. The contender for the Prime Ministership was Mark Latham, and the one question is : Will he make it? My answer was NO.

The first thing you notice in Latham's Chart is the Sun in Pisces. Not a good Sign for a political figure. Good for musicians and poets, but not for politicians. Great visions but not hard realities! The Sun is trine to Neptune but this only makes the situation worse. It all looks too easy.

Added to this we have the Moon squaring Neptune. So Neptune is his undoing. On the positive side he does have Saturn/Jupiter in Capricorn in the 1st House. But these two planets make the quincunx to Uranus in the 8th. (New beginnings, sudden ends.) There is not much to stabilize his career.

So he didn't make it. He suffered a catastrophic defeat. And no astrologer predicted that! Add to this that Uranus has been very close to his Sun in the lead-up to the Election on October 9. Unexpected happenings!. Can be up or down.

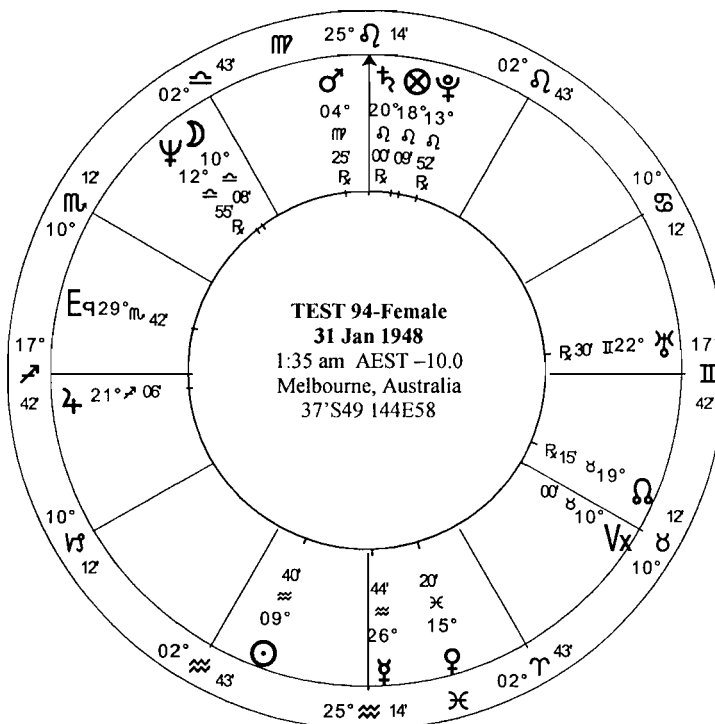

So pinning things down to one Chart does work.

TEST NO. 94—REPORT

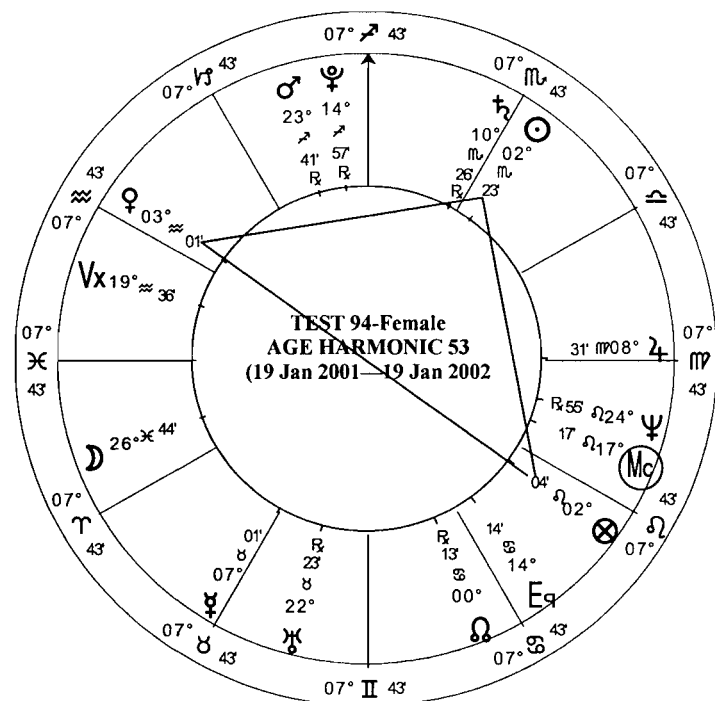

The question was to find which of the following five suggestions was an event that actually occurred on 21 Dec 2001 in the life of the woman whose Birth Chart appears in the next column:

1. She received a proposal of marriage.
2. She got a job.
3. She received an inheritance.
4. She became a grandmother.
5. Her son married.

The correct answer is the woman got a job. It can be seen in the 53rd Age Harmonic (below) that relates to the year 19 Jan 2001—19 Jan 2002.

- ♦ To start with, a pointer comes from the linking of the 1st House with the 10th by the Rulership of Jupiter, which is Angular, (the woman and her occupation).
- ♦ The closest configuration in the Chart is the T-Square involving the Sun, Lord of the 6th (job) with Venus and Fortuna (also 6th House, not 5th).
- ♦ That in effect decides the answer, but support comes also from the floating MC occupying the 6th House (work), and from —
- ♦ Neptune, Co-Ruler of the Ascendant closely trine Mars in the 10th.

The Monthly Harmonics 53.8333 (19 Nov—19 Dec 01) and 53.9167 (19 Dec 01—19 Jan 02) also give the solution but are rather more involved as they need to be surrounded by the Radix to make the answer clear.

There were 33 participants and 7 were correct. Many of the others were close to the mark with an appropriate chart to interpret but did not see the relative importance of different factors, so failed to make the right interpretation.

Five participants used Horary Charts set for different dates and places. The interesting thing is that all but one of these Charts show the right answer (getting a job) but only one participant interpreted the Chart correctly.

Congratulations to all who participated and had the courage to commit themselves to a definite answer.

WORKINGS OF FATE

Above is the Geniture of a woman whom we shall call Marjorie. Marjorie has given me permission to use major events in her life to illustrate how they were shown astrologically.

The first such major event was highly traumatic—the loss in 1998 of her beloved partner with whom she had enjoyed an idyllic relationship. He was killed in a car accident on 21st October 1998 when Marjorie was 50.

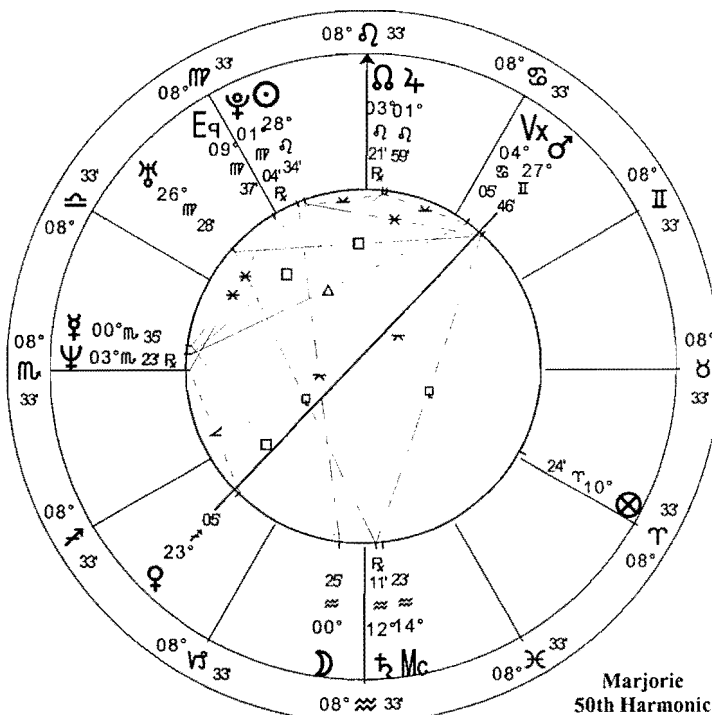

The possibility of just such a calamity is clearly visible in the Birth Figure. Three powerful factors are:

- Neptune rising in opposition to the Sun occupying the House of Marriage (and committed one-one relationships).
- Mars, Lord of the Marriage House, afflicted by both Saturn and Pluto.
- Saturn, Lord of the 4th House (the Home; and Endings) closely squaring the Moon's Node in the House of Deaths.
- Jupiter and Mercury (3rd and 9th Hses—roads) in a T-Square with Uranus (accidents).

The subsidiary charts at the time (October 1998) gave warning that these factors of the Natal Chart were about to be precipitated.

The charts I have found most useful in forecasting are the Age Harmonic derived from the Natal Figure and the Cyclic Precessed Solar Return, set for the place of residence at the time of the event.

The 50th Age Harmonic Chart (above) relevant to the year 7 April 1998—7 April 1999 is rich in planetary connections, all foreboding ill:

- Rising Neptune in Scorpio (loss) conjunct Mercury ruling the 8th House (death) is obvious warning of an impending tragedy.
- Neptune's malign influence is enhanced by the square from the Node at the Midheaven.
- Mercury's implication of death as the 8th House Ruler is emphasized by the close sextile from Pluto, co-Ruler of the Ascendant.
- Ascendant Ruler, Mars, in the 8th House squares Uranus (accident) and opposes Venus ruling the 7th House (the partner).
- Saturn, in and ruling the terminal 8th House forms a Yod with Mars and Uranus in square.
- Saturn at 12Aq11 closely opposes natal Pluto at 12Le37 (violence).
- Venus at 23Sg05 closely opposes natal Uranus at 22Ge44 (loss of partner).

As with Age Harmonic Charts generally, nearly always the defining Aspects are within an orb of 1°

The precessed Solar Return (next column) for the same period is not as rich in close Aspects as the Age Harmonic Chart but does have a close-knit Yod between the Moon/Node, Saturn and Pluto. This effectively connects Marjorie (Ascendant ruled by the Moon), the partner (7th House, ruled by Saturn) and Pluto (the Destroyer). The Moon's Node, involved with all three Significators, plays its usual role of emphasizing the configuration.

A further malefic combination is Uranus conjunct the Vertex on the Cusp of Death (sudden stroke of Destiny).

The usual practice of relating the Radix to the Solar Return Chart gives further warning of the impending tragedy:

Natal Pluto and Saturn now straddle the 2nd-8th Axis and closely oppose SR Uranus (formula for a fatal accident).

Inner Wheel: Marjorie's Solar Return Precessed 8 Apr 1998
12:40:09 pm AEST -10:00 Lithgow, Australia, 33S29 150E09
Outer Wheel: Marjorie, Natal Chart 7 Apr 1948 5 pm AEST
Porphyry Mean Node

I put the Radical Chart outside the Cyclic Chart where the House positions are unmistakably more relevant than the alternative placement (Cyclic Chart outside the Radix).

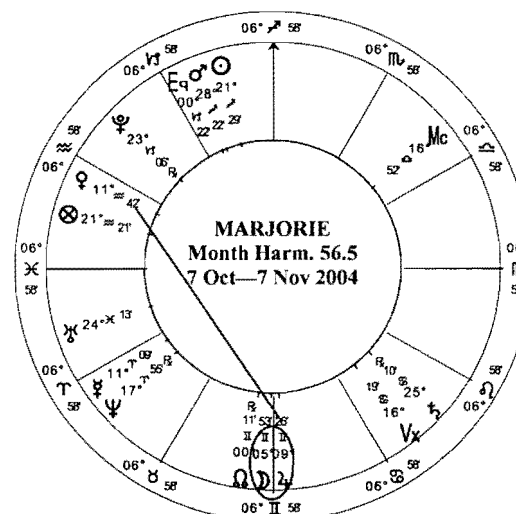

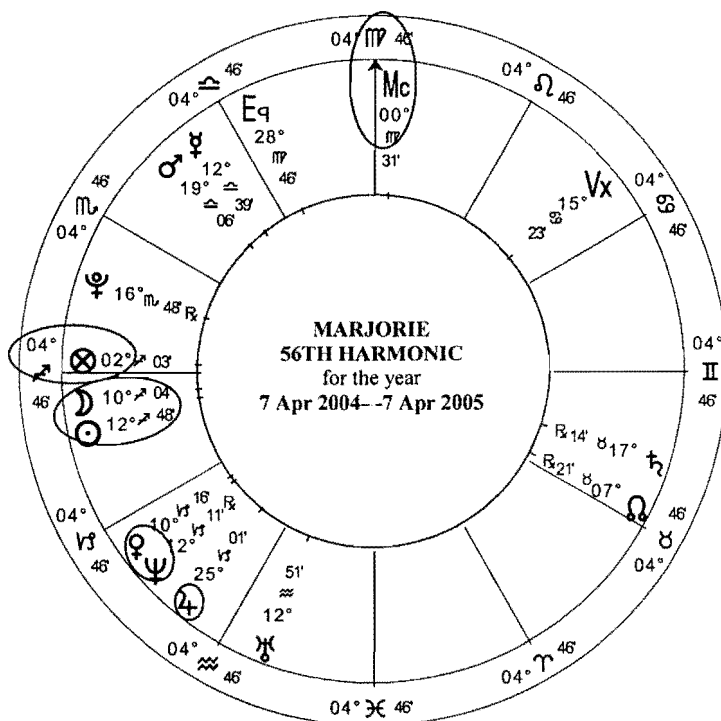

Fate is not always unkind. In the next column is Marjorie's 56th Harmonic Chart for the current year, 7 Apr 2004—7 Apr 2005. This has been very fortunate for Marjorie in that she has finally obtained justice in a long battle to assert her right to share in the deceased estate of her father, a matter of some hundreds of thousands of dollars. Relatives had conspired to deny her claim. Negotiations and Court proceedings stretched over three years.

Factors indicative of her good fortune are:

- ♦ Moon conjunct the Sun in the 1st House, ruling the 9th (legal proceedings) and the 8th (Settlement money)
- ♦ Floating MC conjunct the Harm. MC (victory).
- ♦ Fortuna on the Ascendant (good fortune).
- ♦ Ruler of the Chart, Jupiter in the 2nd House, unimpeded, and more especially Venus there conjunct Neptune (large increase of money or assets).

Monthly Harmonic Charts are also useful. See the 2nd Chart in the next column, AH 56.5 for the month 7 Oct—7 Nov, 2004, when Marjorie bought a home for herself.

There is not room to discuss the Chart in detail, but what could be more obvious or apposite than the

Moon
conjunct
Jupiter in the 4th House and Venus in trine Aspect to Jupiter!

TEST 95—MALE

Test 95 concerns a man born in Sydney (33S52, 151E13) on 11 Jan 1963 at 1:10 am AEST -10:00. Asc 23Sc39, MC 5Le46, Moon 27Cn53.

A significant event occurred in his life on 11 December 1979, just after he had finished school at the end of 1979. His father had left the family home a year before. The event was one of the following:

1. He received his University Entrance marks.
2. He left on an overseas holiday.
3. He bought a car to refit.
4. He moved interstate with his family.
5. He was accepted into Drama School.

The Test is to determine which one of the above five events was the one that actually occurred. Use the astrological method of your choice and send your answer to me giving its astrological basis by 28th November. All respondents will get a personal reply. Correct responses will be detailed in the Report that will be posted to every participant as soon as possible after the closure date.

My kind regards to all,

Dymock. 7th Nov 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
Annual Subscription: $A20 in Australia and New Zealand, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A20 worldwide.
Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au
Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 278, October 2004

A red sticker here means your subscription is due.

JOHN HOWARD WINS!

It is gratifying to see that Astrology again accurately predicted the outcome of the Federal Election held four days ago (9th October). After all the speculation and contrary opinions expressed in the last two months by political pundits, journalists and supporters of either Party, the result could after all be seen clearly from the Genitures of the two main protagonists.

On 2nd September last I wrote in this Journal, "The date of the coming Election, 9 October 2004, is covered by the Prime Minister's Age Harmonic 65.1667 which applies to the month 26 Sep—26 Oct 2004." [See Chart next column.]

"...It is noteworthy that Jupiter rules both the Ascendant and the Midheaven of this Harmonic Chart making it singularly appropriate to the business in hand. It is very fortunate for John Howard that Jupiter is closely trined by Pluto, giving him achievement of power and leadership. In the absence of anything more compelling in the Age Harmonic Chart of his rival this signifies victory for him in the Election."

And again, "...It is apparent that the Leader of the Opposition must wait for another Election to enjoy the thrill of victory. The only forecast I find possible is that John Howard will win on 9th October."

The technique of Age Harmonics is proving itself without peer in the matter of prediction. It clearly and without qualification successfully predicted both Australian, United Kingdom and American Elections.

A further test of the Technique will be the USA Presidential Election on November 2 next, for which, using Age Harmonics, I predicted in this Journal five months ago (5 March 2004) that John Kerry will win and George W. Bush will lose.

A useful fall-out from last Saturday's Election is that the Rectified Chart I used for John Howard (with a rectified birth time of 2:11 am—as in the adjacent column) is proving its worth as a reliable Geniture.

And what of the vanquished Mark Latham? Defeated but not disgraced, a redoubtable warrior he waged a strong campaign. He will have his chance again. Another Federal Election is due in three years, that is 2007 when Mark will be 46 years old (Birth Figure on the next page).

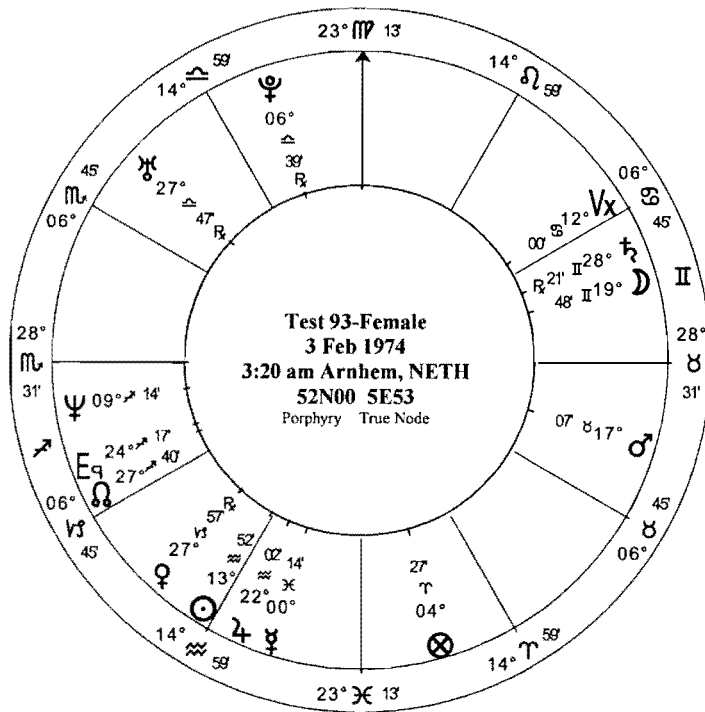

There is some flexibility as to when the Election can be held. The date is at the Prime Minister's discretion, within limits. But if it is held when Mark is 46 and before his 47th birthday on 28 Feb 2008 Mark Latham will certainly win! I make this prediction

In This Issue

	Page
John Howard Wins!.....	1
(Mark Latham's coming Success; John Howard's Swan Song; Peter Costello must still wait).
Test 93—Report.....	3
Test 94.....	4

now on the basis of his 46th Age Harmonic! (See next page.)

Probably the most indicative Chart is the Age Harmonic 29.0833 for the month 3 Mar—3 Apr 2003.

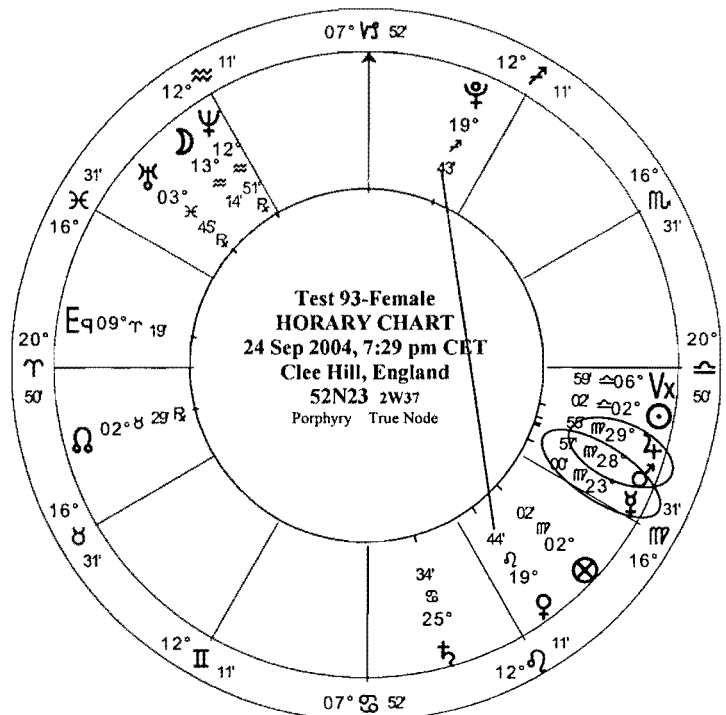

- ♦ The immediate clue is ♃ Δ ♄ (the dominant Aspect), relating to Houses 10, 6, 9, 3, and 12. Houses 6 and 12 can be eliminated as they have no connection with any of the listed events. That leaves Houses 10, 9 and 3. Houses 9 and 3 = travel or e-mail, House 10 (♃) = fulfilment).
- ♦ Looking to the other close planetary connections (not to Zodiacal points) we have ♃ ♂ ♀, involving Houses 11, 7 and 9 = a bringing together of friends (House 11) into a relationship (House 7) from a distance (House 9).
- ♦ ♀ ♂ ♀ (intense relationship) involves by Rulership or Sympathy Houses 5 (love affair), 11 (friends) and 4 (home).

♦ ♃ Δ ♄: Ascendant Ruler—House 7 = personal relationship with a novel twist, (♄).

So the woman met her email boyfriend and fell in love.

One of the participants used the Horary Chart

below but just missed the right interpretation:

- ♦ ♂ ♂ ♃, ruling 1st and 9th Houses, means either travel or email.
- ♦ ♀ in the 5th Δ ♀ in the 9th, and
- ♦ ♂ ♂ ♄ ruling the 3rd House, swing the answer in favour of love resulting from email.

Test No. 94-Female

Test 94 concerns a woman born on 31 Jan 1948, at 1:35 am AEST (-10) in Melbourne, Australia (37S49, 144E58). Asc 17Sg42, MC 25Le14, Moon10Li08.

On 21 Dec 2001, one of the following events occurred in her life, while still in Melbourne.

1. She received a proposal of marriage.
2. Her application for a job was accepted.
3. She received an inheritance.
4. She became a grandmother.
5. Her son married.

What was the event?

Please send me your solution by 25th October, giving the astrological basis for it. Preferably state only the single most important factor in your answer.

You can use any Astrological technique, including Horary Charts. If you want to adopt this method it is important to think well about the question and make the time only after the matter is firmly in your mind.

Doing these Tests is one of the best means of improving your predictive skill.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock, 13th Oct, 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 in Australia and New Zealand, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A20 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 277 September 2004

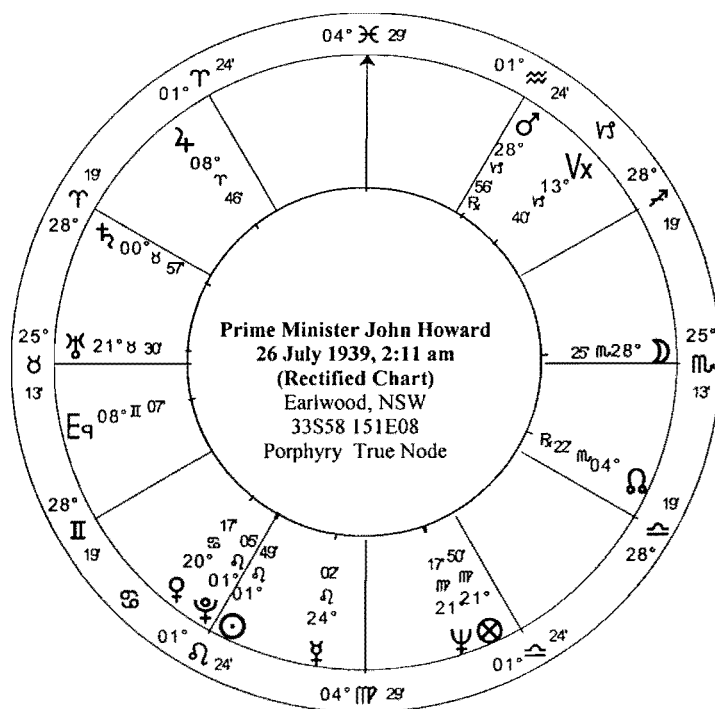

A red sticker here means
your subscription is due.

FEDERAL ELECTION 2004

Prime Minister John Howard has at last made the long awaited announcement of the date for the Federal Election. It will be held on 9th October next. Six months ago, on February 8, I had predicted 13 November would be the date, based principally on the planetary activity in the 3rd House of Cyclic Charts. This is something to look into with hindsight (see page 2), but for now the dominating question is, will John Howard (Liberal) or Mark Latham (Labor) be victorious in the Election on 9th October?

To answer this question I prefer Age Harmonic Charts. They have served me well in the past in forecasting results of elections in Australia, Britain and the USA. But first, here are the Genitures of both protagonists.

The Natus of John Howard below is the rectified Chart described in Issue 244 (November 2001).

The Geniture of Mark Latham, Leader of the Labor Opposition, appears in the next column.

It is interesting that both Leaders have a strong Plutonian influence signifying strength and toughness—a conjunction in the John Howard's Chart, and an opposition in Mark Latham's. John Howard would find it easier than his rival to handle the disturbing vibrations of Pluto.

The date of the coming Election, 9 October 2004, is covered by the Prime Minister's Age Harmonic 65.1667 which applies to the month 26 Sep—26 Oct 2004. This Chart appears in the next column.

In This Issue

	Page
Federal Election 2004.....	1
(Chances of the protagonists; finding the date, etc.)
Horary Astrology—is the report true?.....	3
Test 92—Report.....	4
Test 93.....	4

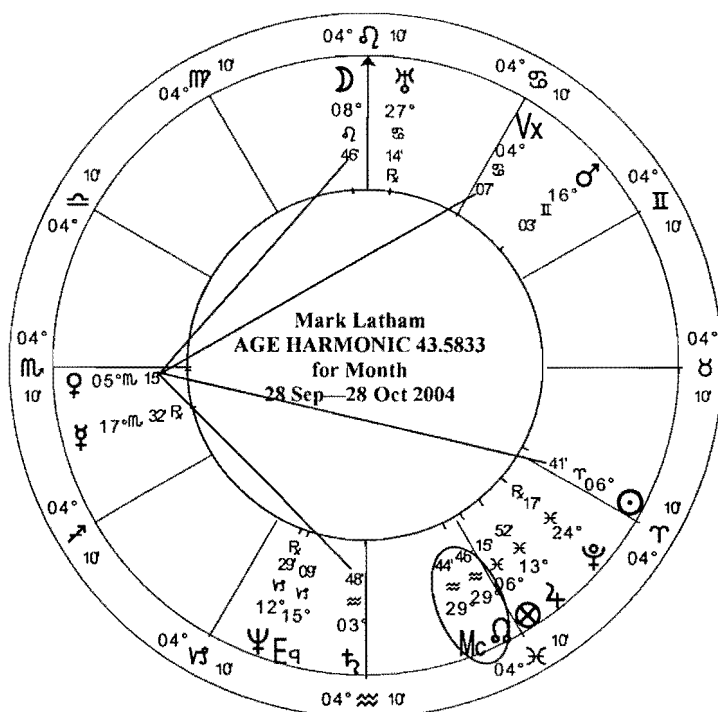

It is noteworthy that Jupiter rules both the Ascendant and the Midheaven of this Harmonic Chart making it singularly appropriate to the business in hand. It is very fortunate for John Howard that Jupiter is closely trined by Pluto, giving him achievement of power and leadership. In the absence of anything more compelling in the Age Harmonic Chart of his rival this signifies victory for him in the Election.

Neptune on the Ascendant is not a cause for misgiving: It is true that Neptune is frequently associated with disappointment and loss, but at other times and according to the context it operates like a benefic Venus. This is certainly the case here: In the Prime Minister's Geniture it is a Benefic, Co-Ruler of the Midheaven and conjunct the Part of Fortune and trine to Uranus.

The Age Harmonic Chart (No. 43.5833) for Mark Latham appropriate to the Month 28 Sept—28 Oct 2004 appears below.

Venus on the Ascendant looks promising but it rules the unfortunate 12th House and is squared by an Angular Saturn and the Moon. The trine to the Vertex makes the signification more important but does nothing to making it more fortunate. Similarly, the trine to Fortuna on the 5th Cusp denotes the favour of his adherents but does not help him to the Crown.

The Sun, ruling the 10th House, does not have any significant good Aspect. The quincunx to Venus will rather spoil his luck than add to it.

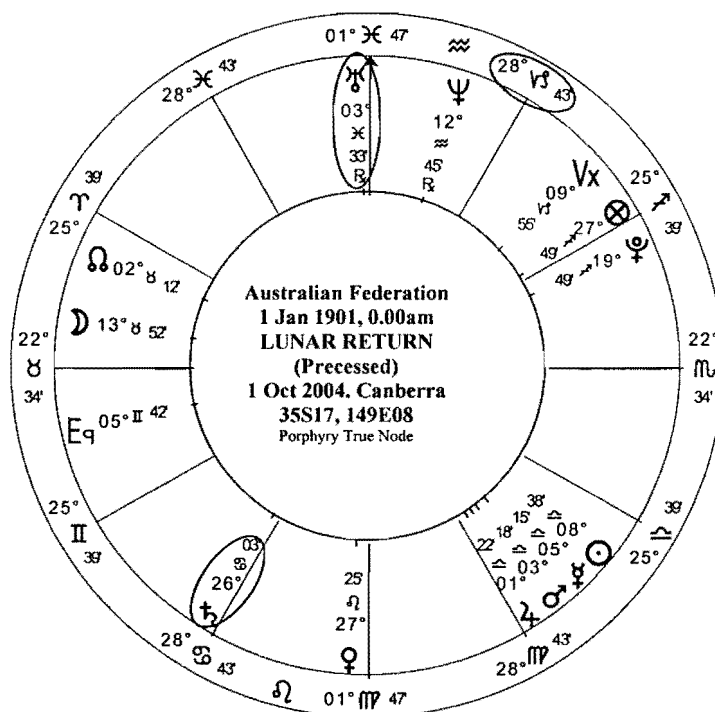

The only other Significator of importance is the "floating" MC. This is conjunct the Moon's North Node, which speaks volumes for Mark's sense of community but again does not bring victory.

It is apparent that the Leader of the Opposition must wait for another Election to enjoy the thrill of victory. The only forecast I find possible is that John Howard will win on 9th October.

Returning now to the question of how to find the date that a Prime Minister will set for an Election, though I predicted (wrongly) 13 November instead of 9th October for this 2004 Election, that does not invalidate the method I initiated (see Issue No. 270, Feb 2004).

Here is the precessed Lunar Return for the month Oct 1—28, 2004, drawn as before from the Australian Federation Chart.

It is obvious that I dismissed this Chart too soon. It has powerful indications for the Poll date according to the very criteria that I established: The weighty Saturn (politics) is not only conjunct the 3rd Cusp but also rules the 9th—its polar opposite—which I had also found to be significant.

The task still remains to determine the particular Saturday in the month that is most likely to be chosen by the Prime Minister for the Election. Of course we know now that Saturday the 9th was his choice. When we look at the PM's Day Chart for 9 Oct we see why:

The Sun, ruling the Ascendant is right on the 3rd

Cusp (Porphyry) conjunct Mercury. This is as clear an indication of polling as one could hope to find.

So this method of discovering an unknown polling day is thus far validated and worthy of further trials.

—Dymock.

HORARY ASTROLOGY Is the Report True?

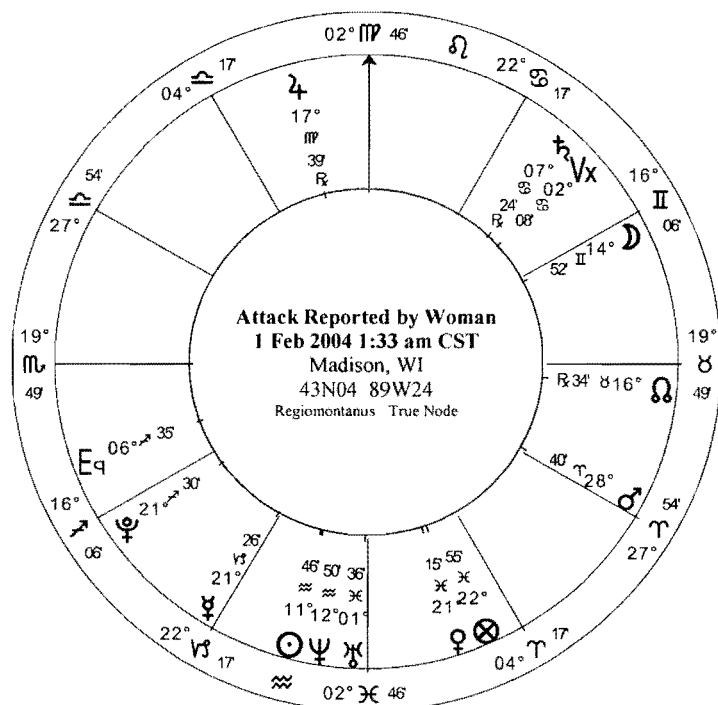

by Lee Miller

There are signatures in charts that we can use to determine the truth of a report.

When you are looking to see if the news, report, evidence or testimony is true or accurate the 3rd House is of prime importance.

- ♦ An intercepted Sign here may show something hidden that will come to light at a later time.
- ♦ Pisces on the Cusp of the 3rd House, or Neptune positioned in the House may indicate confusion on the part of a witness or inaccuracies in a report, deception or untruths from the person making the report.
- ♦ When Neptune is in an Angular House it tells us that we do not have all the facts in the situation.
- ♦ A Mutable Sign on the 3rd House Cusp can indicate a change in the report.
- ♦ A late degree on the 3rd House Cusp tells us that the energy it expresses will soon change its nature.
- ♦ When a planet in or ruling the 3rd House is Retrograde there may be information withheld or a change in the report.

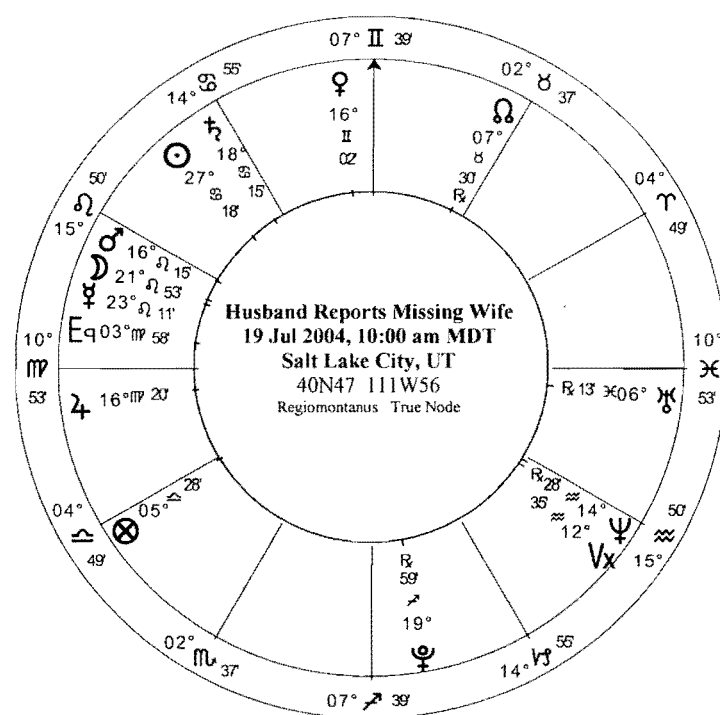

The following are two examples where the report was of a questionable nature. In the first, a young woman reported being attacked by an unknown assailant after leaving a party where she had difficulties with her boy friend.

This Chart has several strong indicators that the report she gave was not true. After she staged her own kidnapping it came out that the first reported attack was a lie to get attention from her boyfriend.

- ♦ We have the malefic degree Serpentis (19 Scorpio) on the Ascendant with Mars the Cusp Ruler in the 6th House position of distress to its Scorpio Cusp. This could be a signature indicating the person making the report is not to be fully believed.
- ♦ The Sign Aquarius is intercepted in the 3rd House but its energies (accuracy and truthfulness) are not manifesting as the Sign does not connect to the Cusps.
- ♦ Neptune, the planet of deception, is positioned in the 3rd House. This could mean a false report or inaccurate information.
- ♦ Uranus, the Unexpected, conjunct the 4th Cusp (Conclusions) on its dark side, could indicate the emergence of something unexpected or surprising.
- ♦ Mercury is on the dark side of the 3rd Cusp and square to Mars (Ascendant Ruler), a possible indicator that the woman's testimony is false and will bring her misfortune.
- ♦ The Moon in Gemini could indicate a change in her report or in the stated facts at a later time.

The next example is a missing person case, set for the time that the husband looking for his wife first called friends. The police have arrested the husband and are still searching for her body.

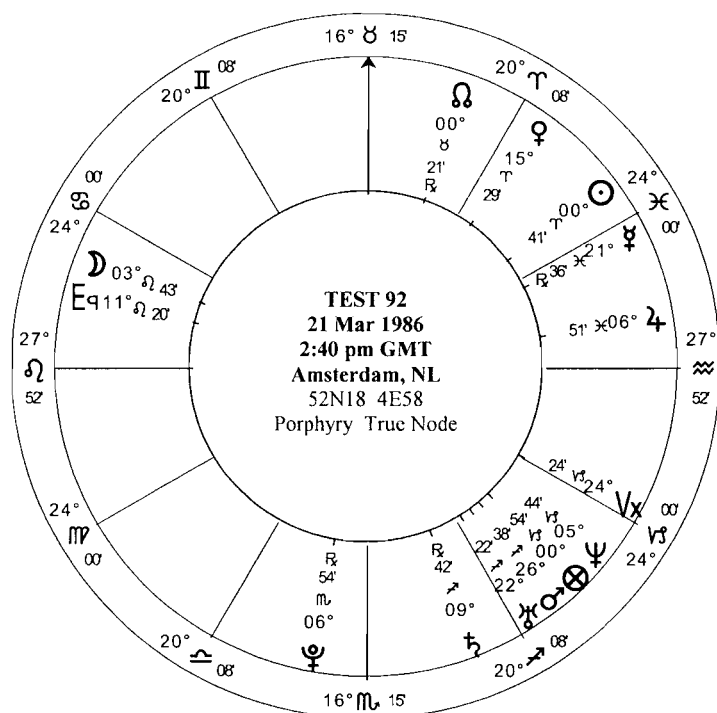

- ♦ The 1st-House Ruler Mercury is positioned in the secretive 12th House: The person making the report or statements is behind the scenes and not clearly seen.
- ♦ Mercury will soon move to the dark side of the 1st House, indicating that he may in some way bring about his own misfortune.
- ♦ The Moon, ruler of changes, is applying to a conjunction with Mercury, natural ruler of reports and news, indicating a change in the husband's story.
- ♦ The 3rd House has Mute Scorpio on the Cusp with its Significator Pluto in retrograde motion, possibly withholding information.

- ♦ Mars, Ruler of Scorpio, is positioned in the House of secrets (12th).
- ♦ Neptune, representative of lies and deceptions directly opposes Mars, Ruler of the 3rd House. At 10:39 am the husband called the police to report his wife missing. □

TEST 92—REPORT

Test No. 92 concerned a young man born on March 21, 1986 in Amsterdam. His parents being divorced he lives with his father. Here is his Birth Chart:

The exercise was to determine which of the following five events was the one that actually occurred in his life on 10 January 2004.

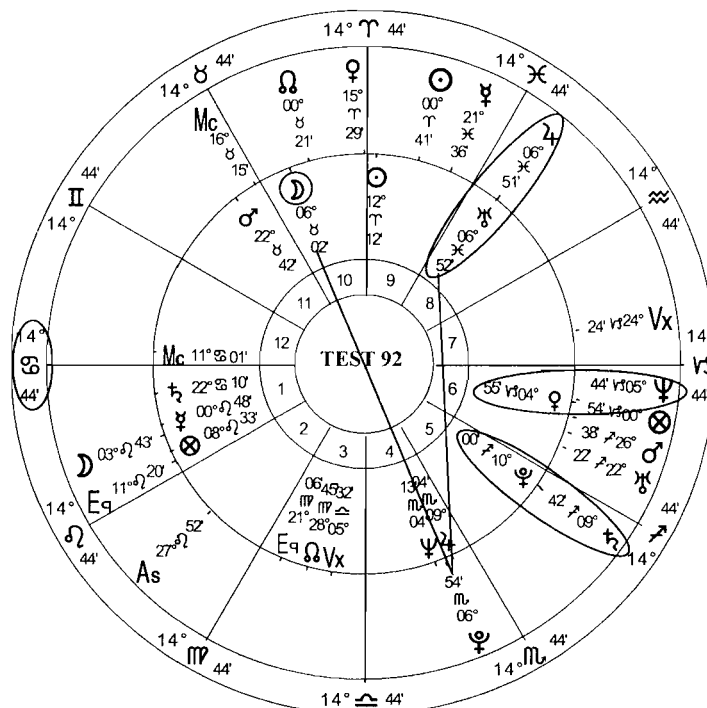

1. He went on a holiday with his father.
2. He fell in love.
3. He successfully finished high school.
4. His mother became seriously ill.
5. His father evicted him from the house.

The correct answer is No.5: His father evicted him from the house.

There were 37 respondents, of whom 12 were correct. Various charts and methods were employed. Probably the clearest answer was in the BiWheel of the Age Harmonic Chart surrounded by the Birth Chart, as in the adjacent column.

- ♦ Ruler the Moon (the home) is closely opposed by Natal Pluto in the 4th House (fundamental change).
- ♦ Pluto is closely conjunct Natal Jupiter ruling the 9th House (break with the father).
- ♦ Pluto is conjunct Natal Saturn (break-up of structure).
- ♦ Uranus is trine Natal Pluto (rebellion).

The Moon also signifies the mother. However, here it must be the home and not the mother that is involved because of the overwhelming weight of evidence. The 10th House (the mother) has the Sun and Natal Venus (two Benefics) in conjunction on the Cusp. Moreover,

Inner Wheel: Test 92:—Age Harmonic 17.75.

Outer Wheel: Test 92: 21 Mar 1986, 2:40 pm Amsterdam, NL

Mars (in both Wheels) ruling the 10th House is not afflicted in any way.

Solving these Tests is principally a matter of determining what are the most significant features in any relevant chart. This is a highly productive exercise for all branches of Astrology and doing these Tests gives one first-class practice.

My suggestion is to look first for planetary conjunctions and Aspects with a 1° orb, both within a relevant chart and inter-chart, between a subsidiary figure and the Radix. Then look for planets on Angles, the Ruler of the chart, and the preponderance of influence in the Houses.

Having found your answer, check that it eliminates all the other suggested possibilities.

TEST 93—Female

Test 93 concerns a woman born in Arnhem, Holland, (52N00, 5E53) on 3rd February 1974 at 3:20 am CET. Asc 28Sc31, MC 23Vi13, Moon19Ge48.

One of the following five events occurred in her life on 25 March 2003, while still in Arnhem.

1. She started her first job as a teacher.
2. She met her e-mail boy friend and fell in love.
3. Her first child was born.
4. She received a large amount of money
5. She went on a trip for two months.

Which event was it?

Please send your answer to me with its astrological basis before September 25. Make a single choice and give the most important factor in your diagnosis even though you may have used several charts or many Aspects in your workings.

All respondents will receive a personal reply showing at least one method of solving the problem and listing all the correct answers received.

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 2 Sep 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 276 August 2004

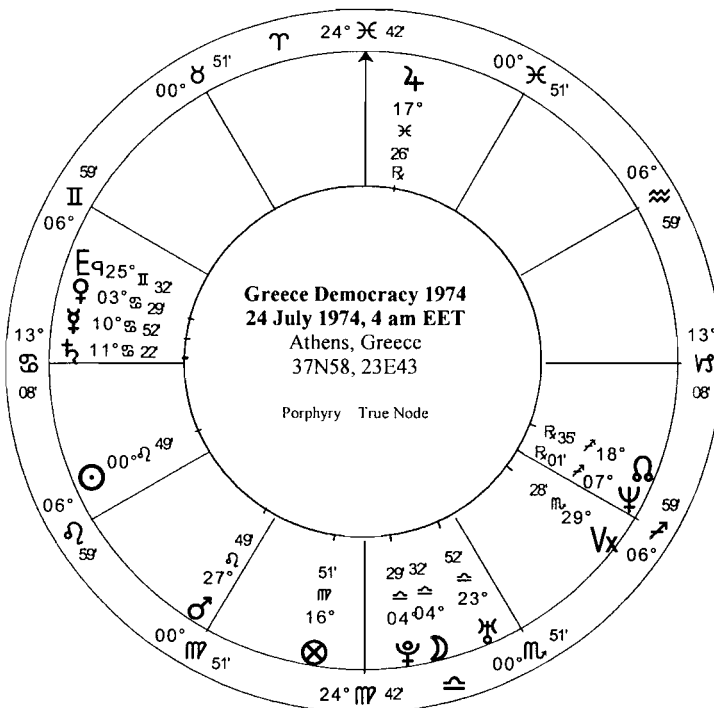

A red sticker here means
your subscription is due.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES

The 2004 Olympic Games open in Athens on 13 August and continue to the closing ceremony on the 29th.

What is exercising the minds of all interested parties—competitors, spectators, officials and participating nations generally is the big question: Will terrorists disrupt this magnificent event with bombs, kidnappings, threats, etc. It is just the type of occasion they aim for—a large number of people and the elite of many nations gathered together in one place where they could hope to achieve maximum casualties and the greatest possible damage. It is hardly credible at this stage of human evolution that such a catastrophe could be the ambition of anybody, let alone a large portion of the world's population, but nevertheless it is so and we must be realistic about it.

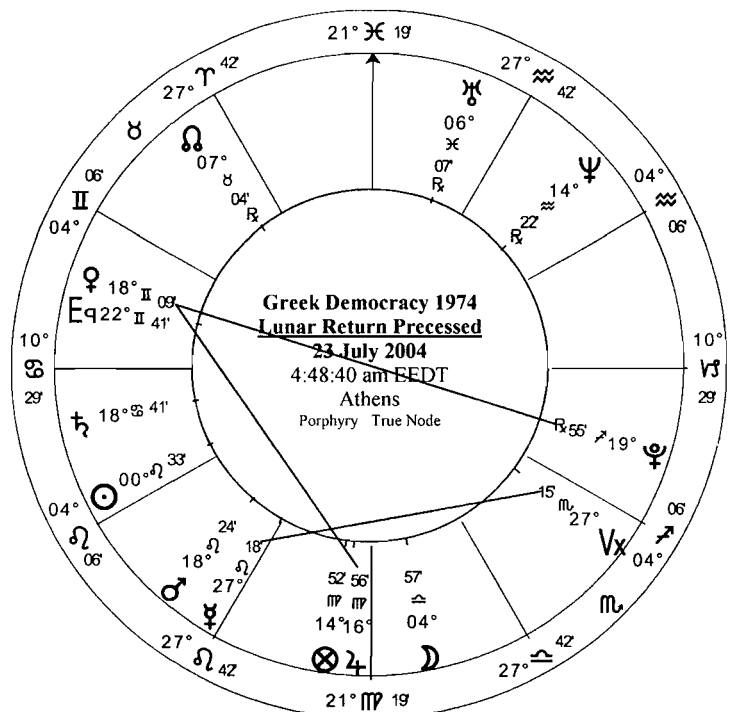

To assess the situation astrologically we need to examine the Natal Chart of Greece when it became a democracy in 1974. Thanks to Nicholas Campion (The Book of World Horoscopes) here is the Chart of 24 July 1974 when, immediately following the collapse of the military dictatorship, Constantine Karamanlis was sworn in as Prime Minister. The event took place at 4:00 am in Athens:

I examined two Lunar Return Charts (precessed) for the above Radix that cover the period of the Games (August 13–29). The first one relates to the period 23 July —19 Aug 2004 (next column) and it does contain the dangerous linking of the planets Pluto, Saturn and Mars. However, their angular

In This Issue

	Page
The Olympic Games	1
Test 91 Report	2
Any Questions? —BiWheels	3
Paraguay Fire Calamity	3
Test 92	4
Sydney Piano Competition—Result	4

relationships are not the strongest (a quincunx, trine and semi-sextile). Moreover, the Ascendant, the Sun or Moon is not directly threatened. So it is relatively harmless.

However, other features of the Chart are matters of concern: Mercury on the 3rd Cusp is closely square to the Vertex. Mercury rules the 12th House (Secret Enemies), its 3rd House position indicates active thinking and conspiring, and its square to the Vertex implies that whatever work of violence is being concocted, if successful, would have the major impact of a thunderclap.

What is also significant is that the planet Venus occupies the 12th House. It's opposition to Pluto indicates that women (young women) are involved in the secret machinations. Venus being in a multiple Sign and square to Jupiter (the Expander) signifies that not just one or two women are involved but a large number of them. They are driven by moral and religious concepts (Jupiter) however mistaken in our view.

A further deduction from Pluto opposing Venus is something else we can apprehend—kidnapping, a weapon that is becoming ever more popular among terrorists. Venus rules the 5th House (competitive sports) so we may assume that the terrorists have female competitors particularly in mind.

A situation of enhanced danger applies from the 17–18 August when by daily progression of the Chart the planets have advanced to a more threatening posture. (See Figure above.)

We now have Mars, Moon and Mercury all in conjunction and all opposed by Uranus. Mars, ruling the 5th House is now closely trine the Moon's North Node, showing that the intent, if not the actual achievement, is violence and disruption of the Games.

The Games are scheduled to finish on August 29. The Lunar Return Chart of 19 August (below) covers after 19th August that the danger declines. The first days are the worst.

In my estimation, August 17–21 is the most dangerous period of the whole month. The utmost vigilance is called for to avoid a catastrophe.

We have to rely on the extensive security measures taken by Greece, which is reported to be spending vast amounts for this purpose, and also on the individual measures of competing nations to protect their own contestants. □

TEST 91 REPORT

Test 91 concerned the man whose Birth Chart appears below:

The question was to determine which one of the following events actually occurred in his life (the other four are fictitious):

1. He won a chess tournament.
2. He refurnished his home.
3. He bought a car.
4. He bought a movie camera.
5. He joined a social group.

At the time of the event he was living at Nieuw-Vennep (52N16, 4E38).

The correct answer is that he bought a car.

This Test caused a lot of difficulty for a lot of respondents—only three correct answers from 32 respondents. If you have the right subsidiary Chart in front of you, the solution is easy. The answer can be seen in any of the following charts, though some are clearer than others:

1. The standard Progression of the Natal Chart.
2. The precessed Lunar Return Chart.
3. The precessed Solar Return Chart.
4. The Age Harmonic Chart.
5. The Solar Month Chart.

this remaining period. The terrorist threat is still obvious: Mercury conjunct Mars on the 12th Cusp (Hidden Enemies) opposed by Uranus (sudden, violence). It appears from the movement of the planets

All the above Charts have been analysed in the Test Report sent to all participants in the Test. Here, I am reproducing just the precessed Lunar Return Chart, which is a generally reliable Figure for diagnosis (see Chart). It is set for the change of location to Nieuw-Vennep in accordance with normal practice but works equally well for the birth place Zwolle which is not far away.

The dominant feature of the Chart is the opposition of the Sun and Moon across the Horizon, the two Lights pouring their energies into Mars in the House of Roads and Transport. This immediately suggests the car option, which is the correct answer.

Another possibility is Option 5—joined a social group, which is suggested by Jupiter ruling the 11th House trine to the Moon's Node. It is outweighed, however, by the dominance of the Sun-Moon-Mars T-Square and is not linked in any way to a Personal Point (1st House, Ruler, Sun, Moon).

Option 4, refurbishing the home (because of Node on the 4th Cusp), can be similarly rejected.

Option 2, the movie camera, does not come into contention because of no significant connection with Neptune (filming), the 3rd House (shopping) and a Personal Point.

Option 1, the chess tournament, is ruled out as the 5th House is not emphasized in any way.

Congratulations to all who worked on this exercise and did not flinch from putting their answers in writing. □

ANY QUESTIONS?

A correspondent asks a question in relation to BiWheels: I notice that sometimes in the Astrologers' Forum, the Inner Wheel is the Natal Chart and the other chart is the Outer Wheel but sometimes it is the other way around. Does one try out both ways to check for Aspects to the MC, Asc, etc., or is it the Houses that are the telling factor? I never know whether to have the Natal Chart as the Inner wheel or not.

I answered that my standard practice is to put the Age Harmonic or cyclic chart Solar or Lunar Return, Phase Angle Return, etc. INSIDE the BiWheel, an arrangement that I find gives the best indications from House positions and Rulerships. Occasionally I reverse the procedure to see how it compares.

I do the same with Progressed Charts. With the Natal Chart on the outside you get a very good idea of the Progression of the natal planets to the Angles, etc.

When I am looking at Transits I put them on the outside of the calculated chart (as in Test 90). However, if the Transits are in a DAY Chart they give useful indications when inside the natal figure. A Day Chart is one calculated for the time of birth, the current date and relocation). □

PARAGUAY FIRE CALAMITY

The supermarket fire in Asuncion on August 1 has been described as the most disastrous in Paraguay's history. As at this date (August 5) over 640 bodies have been recovered, and the search is not over. Survivors reported that an explosion was heard just before the fire commenced.

Could Astrology have forewarned of the peril?

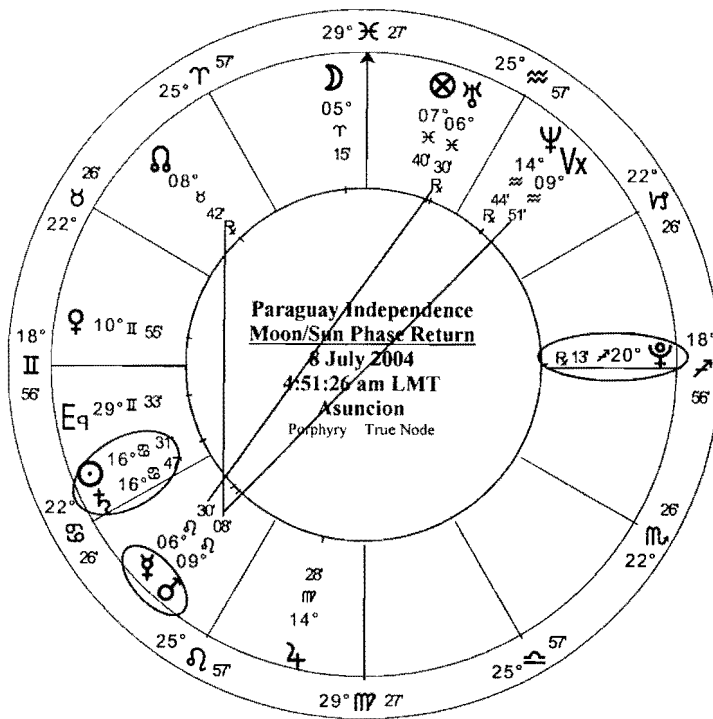

The above Radix for Paraguay is from Nick Campion's The Book of World Horoscopes. It is based on a bloodless coup on the night of 14-15 May 1811 when a group of creole military leaders took power from the last Spanish governor.

Though various dates are given for the Paraguayan declaration of independence from Spain, Campion writes that revolutionary events provide the basis for a national horoscope.

The Radix above is supported by the Moon/Sun Phase Return Chart of 8 July 2004. This Chart (next page) relates to the period 8 July—7 Aug 2004.

Any astrologer working in the national interest could see from this Chart the imminence of a major disaster.

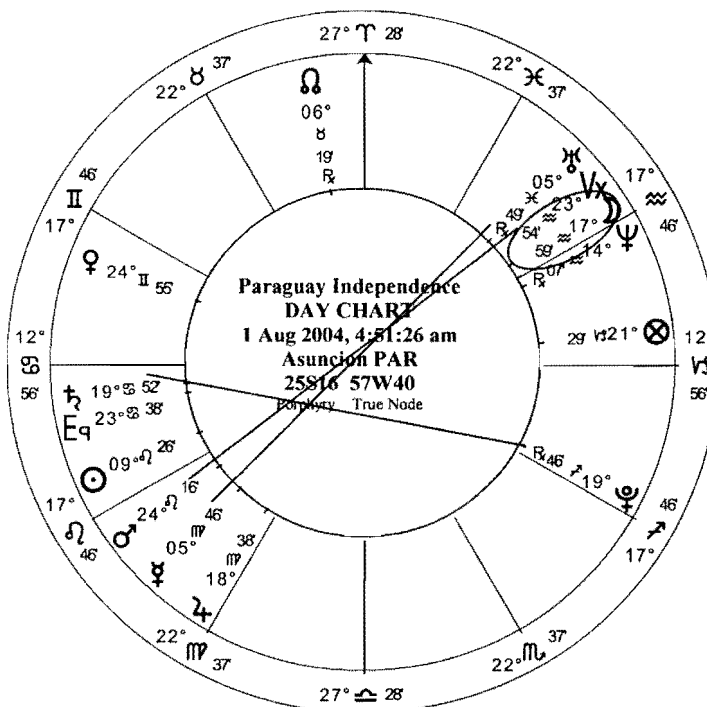

- The rising degree is afflicted by the opposition of Pluto (death and destruction).

- Mercury, ruling the Ascendant, is conjunct Mars (fires) and quincunx Uranus (shock and injury).
- Mars is in a T-Square with the Vertex and the Node (a Mars event of unusual significance and affecting many people).
- Sun and Saturn closely conjunct, ruling House 3 (shopping precincts) and House 8 (deaths).

So though the Chart gives ample warning of a looming disaster, it still remains to narrow down the probable date within the month and find the area where it would be located.

One method for finding the date is by inspecting the Day Charts for the month, using the time of the Cyclic Chart, in this case 4:51:26 am, instead of the time of the Radix.

The Day Chart for August 1, 2004, the day of the fire is in the previous column. It's significance is immediately apparent:

1. Saturn, rising and ruling the 8th House (Deaths), is now exactly quincunx Pluto (death/destruction).
2. Uranus in the 8th House is now exactly opposite Mercury ruling the 3rd House (shopping precincts) and the 12th (sorrows and suffering).
3. The Vertex in the 8th House opposes Mars (fateful day of a Mars nature).
4. The Moon now right on the 8th Cusp is conjunct Neptune (deaths and losses).

It still remains to determine the locale that would be affected. This is a task that challenges astrologers. It probably means finding what particular geographic coordinates are most affected by adverse indicators in the relevant chart. Can some computer program be devised with large scale maps that would help us in this matter? □

TEST 92-MALE

Test 92 concerns a young man born in Amsterdam, 52N18, 4E58, on 21st March 1986 at 2:40 pm GMT.

Ascendant 27Leo52, MC 16Ta15, Moon 3Le43.

His parents being divorced. He was living with his father in Utrecht (52N13, 5E01).

One of the following five events occurred in the life of this man on 10 January 2004. Which one was it?

1. He went on a holiday with his father
2. He fell in love.
3. He successfully finished high school.
4. His mother became seriously ill.
5. His father evicted him from the house.

The events of life are not all high drama. The five listed above are typical of what mostly happens in people's lives. If you are successful in differentiating between them you can widen the scope of astrology by relating it to everyday practical affairs. This is a good counter to the general tendency of astrologers to be sensational in their interpretation of Zodiacal phenomena.

Please send your answer to me, with its astrological basis, on or before August 25. Make a single choice and give only the most important factor in your diagnosis, even though you may have used several Charts or many Aspects in your search. If your answer is wrong, all the supporting evidence will not make it right.

All respondents will receive a personal reply showing a correct method and listing all the correct answers received.

Sydney Piano Competition

For those who tried to pick the result of the Sydney Piano Competition from the contestants shown in last month's Issue, the winner was John Chen of NZ (from Malaysian parentage). My own choice was Rem Urasin of Russia, who came second (although first by public choice). Not having the birth times of the contestants was the chief difficulty in judging.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 6 August 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.
Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au
Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 275 July 2004

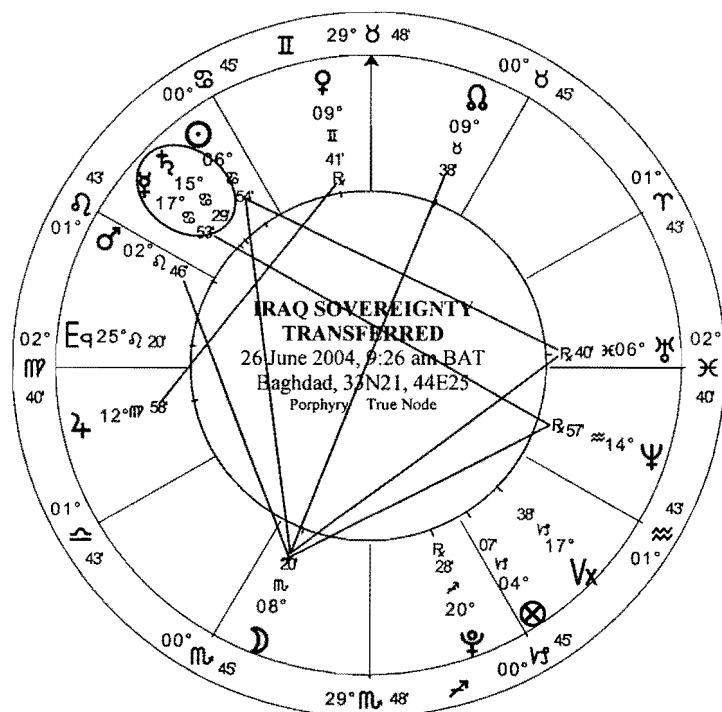

A red sticker here means
your subscription is due.

IRAQ SOVEREIGNTY TRANSFERRED

Strife-torn Iraq now has a Government of its own nationals, subject to over-riding power of the USA in security matters. Sovereignty was transferred to the Iraqis on June 28. This Interim Government will itself be superseded by a democratic Government to be elected on January 2, 2005.

The Chart for the Transfer of Sovereignty appears below. From it we can read the prospects for the Interim Government during its brief life.

The Chart does not give either the Iraqis or the Western Coalition anything very much to cheer about. Sure, Jupiter rises, but is detrimented in Virgo and squares Venus in the Midheaven. Venus is Significator of the Interim Government and its interception in Gemini shows that its powers are circumscribed. Venus rules also the 2nd House (National Assets). The square from Jupiter therefore signifies loss or waste of the country's resources. Uranus square to Venus has a disruptive effect on the Government and may unexpectedly shorten its life.

Virgo on the Ascendant makes Mercury Ruler of the Chart and it has two significant Aspects: A conjunction with Saturn and an opposition to the Vertex. The first means worry and the second signifies a critical juncture in the Nation's history.

That there is plenty for the Interim Government to worry about is shown by the Moon in Scorpio disposing Mercury, Saturn and the Sun. The Moon is opposed by its North Node and squared by Mars and

In This Issue

	Page
Iraq Sovereignty Transferred	1
Marlon Brando	2
The 8th Sydney International Piano Competition	4
Test 90—Report	4
Test 91	4

Neptune, so here we have disaffection of a sizeable portion of the populace and, what is patently obvious from the 12th House position of Mars, terrorist ambushes and attacks.

On the positive side we note the splendid trine between the Sun and the Moon, indicating that the Iraqi Prime Minister, Iyad Allawi, has the support of the greater part of the populace. The trines of Uranus to the Sun and Moon signify the progressive nature of the move to a new administration.

Discomforting as are the negative indications, the picture becomes still grimmer when we relate the Interim Government Chart to that of the Iraq Republic when the monarchy was overthrown in 1958. See the Biwheel below.

From the Outer Wheel, Pluto on the Ascendant and Neptune square Mars ruling the 8th House emphasise insurgency and increase the deaths from terrorism. Mercury in the 12th House, closely opposed by Neptune indicate plots and schemes.

Saturn conjunct Pluto and both opposing Venus

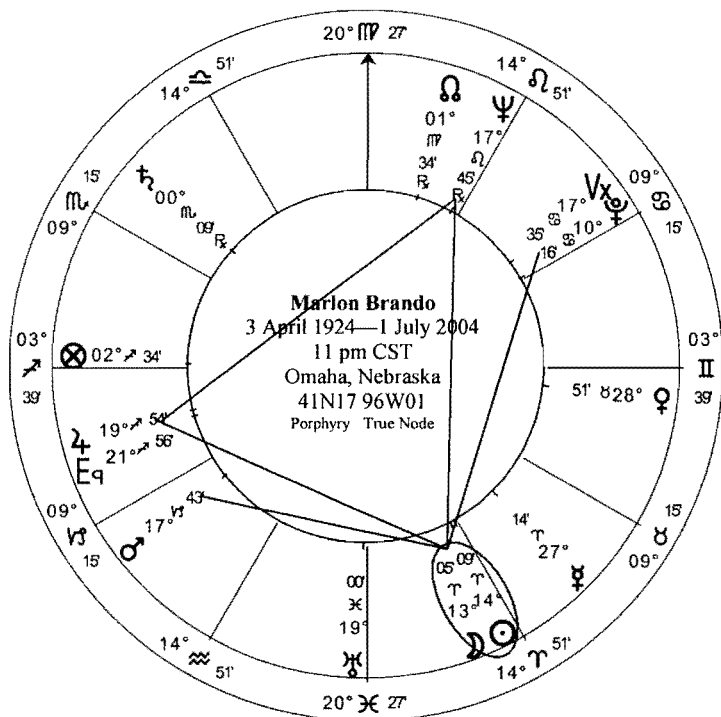

Inner Wheel: Iraq Sovereignty Transferred, 28 Jun 2004 Baghdad.
Outer Wheel: Iraq Republic, 14 Jul 1958, 5:00 am Baghdad.
Porphyry Houses True Node ruling the MC signify determined effort to unseat the Government.

The regime faces an uncertain and violent future. It may well collapse before its appointed end on January 2, 2005. □

MARLON BRANDO

Young, handsome and a lady killer

Marlon Brando died last week, aged 80—an unusual man with an unusual Chart. His great talent (some said genius) as an actor made him famous. From 1950 Marlo made a series of landmark films, earning huge salaries in the process but nevertheless dying heavily in debt.

The most striking feature of his Horoscope is the close conjunction of the Sun and Moon on the 5th Cusp forming a Grand Trine with Jupiter (Ruler) and Neptune. This concentration of energy in the area of entertainments linked to the 1st House and the Ruling Planet determined where his good fortune lay—in the entertainment industry. This is emphasized by the 5th House position of Mercury, Ruler of the MC.

The signs of affluence are also convincing, in particular the trine between Jupiter and Neptune, the signature for easily acquired wealth. Pars Fortuna reinforces the emphasis on wealth through its position right on the Ascendant.

Marlon Brando was very self-willed and rebellious (Sun and Moon in Aries squared by Mars), and had a deeply compassionate feeling (Jupiter—Neptune) for the disadvantaged American Indians whose cause he espoused. Though a celebrity through his acting prowess he eschewed society and as far as possible lived a secluded life—a typical effect of Pluto square the Sun and Moon which tends to remove one from the mainstream.

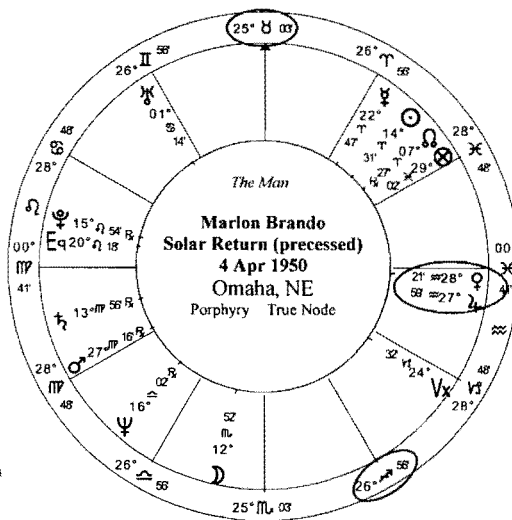

The Godfather

Like the famous painter Gauguin, he found content and happiness in Tahiti where he married twice and fathered two more children, making nine in all (Sun and Moon in 5th House trine Jupiter and Neptune). One daughter suicided in 1995 (Pluto in the 8th House square the Moon in the 5th and ruling the 8th).

Apparently, Marlon Brando was irresistible to the female sex in any country and he enjoyed many love affairs, including those with leading female film stars of the day—another facet of the 5th House, plus Venus in the magnetic and sensual Sign Taurus.

The self-willed Brando refused to memorize his lines and worked from cue cards (Mercury ruling the House of Career opposed by Saturn ruling the House of Communication). His film career really took off in 1950 with the first of his most memorable films. "The Man".

The importance of this film in his career is shown in the accompanying Solar Return (precessed). The dominant feature is Venus conjunct Jupiter, Angular, Venus ruling the Career House and Jupiter the Entertainments House.

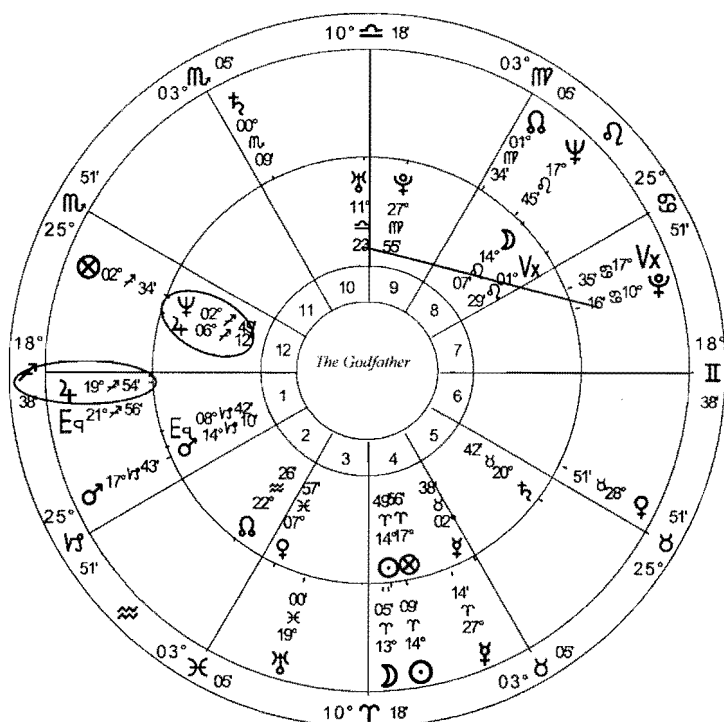

This was followed the next year by the landmark film, "A Streetcar Named Desire", again aptly depicted in the precessed Solar Return:

Marking the success of this film is Jupiter conjuncting Venus in the 5th House, and The Sun ruling the Career House trining Pluto at the Midheaven.

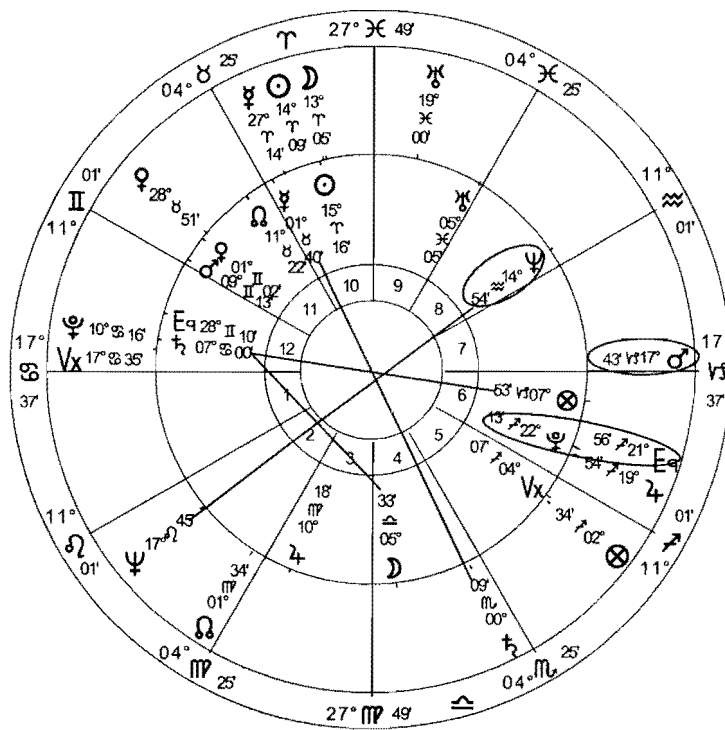

After a series of unremarkable movies in the 1960's, Brando produced what is probably his greatest performance in the starring role of "The Godfather", the film for which he is chiefly remembered. The relevant Solar Return is shown on the next page in a BiWheel with the Natal Chart.

Natal Jupiter, his chief benefactor, conjuncts the Ascendant. SR Jupiter and Neptune combine to realize the success and good fortune promised in the Grand

Inner Wheel: Marlon Brando, Solar Return (precessed) 5 April 1971 at birth place, Omaha, NE, 41N17, 96W01

Outer Wheel: Marlon Brando, Natal Chart, Omaha, NE.
Porphyry True Node

Inner Wheel: Marlon Brando, Solar Return (precessed) 4 April 2004 at birth place, Omaha, NE, 41N17, 96W01

Outer Wheel: Marlon Brando, Natal Chart, Omaha, NE.
Porphyry True Node

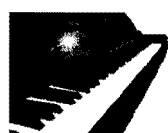

Trine of the Birth Figure.

Uranus at the Midheaven square natal Pluto depicts the innovative and exciting change in Brando's professional life after his undistinguished films during the 1960's.

When Marlo's worldly sojourn came to an end on 1st July 2004 through congestion of the lungs, the precessed Solar Return again told the story. It appears in the next column in a BiWheel with the natal Figure. Natal Mars closely opposing the Rising Degree is the chief actor in the last scene of all that ends this strange, eventful history... Neptune on the 8th Cusp points specifically to the lungs as the cause of death, a diagnosis confirmed by the opposition of natal Neptune.

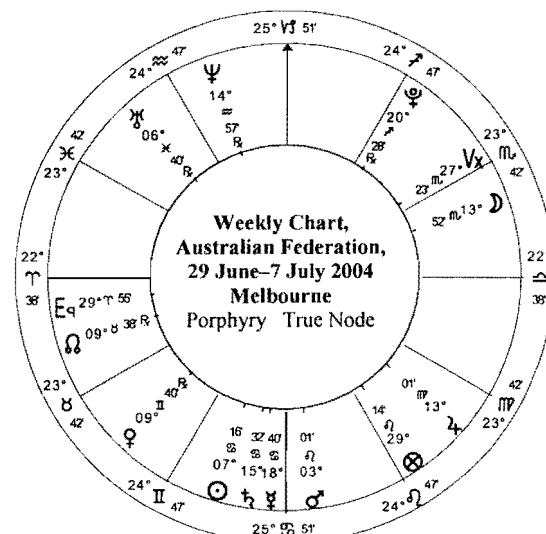

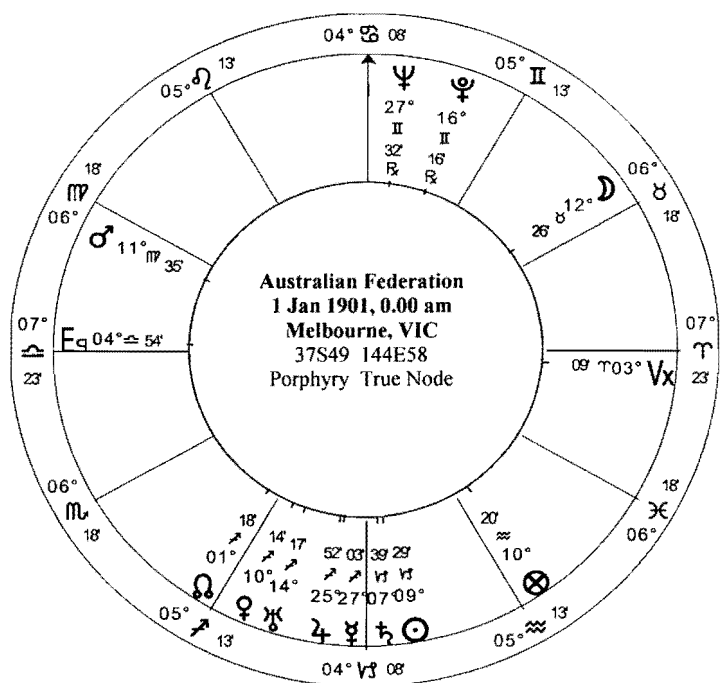

Saturn ruling the House of Death is closely square the Moon, and obviously no luck is associated with the planet as it is directly opposed by the Part of Fortune. As if to emphasize the point, natal Saturn in the outer circle opposes S.R. Mercury (respiratory function). □

THE 8TH SYDNEY INTERNATIONAL PIANO COMPETITION 2004

A piano competition that is held only every four years and attracts scores of brilliant performers from all over the world is an event of considerable importance in the history of the country that hosts it. The 8th Sydney International Piano Competition now in being is just such an event and I was intrigued to see whether it would show in the Australian Federation Chart. It does, indeed! In the next column is the Federation Chart and below it the derived Weekly Chart that covers the start of the competition (June 20, 2004).

The Weekly Chart is indeed apposite: Aries, rises, appropriate for a Competition, and Ruler Mars gains importance through being Angular.

For a national event it is appropriate also that the Ruler should occupy the 4th House.

The 5th House relates to the nature of the event (entertainment; artistic creation). Pars Fortuna in the 5th is a happy placement, especially as it trines the Equatorial Ascendant. Another splendid augury is Jupiter, bringer of good things, also in the 5th, closely sextile the Moon (the competitors). Jupiter rules the 9th House, emphasizing the international nature of the Competition. Of the 36 entrants selected by world-wide auditions from the original 250 applicants, only four are Australian.

The Sun is Ruler of the 5th House. Its close trine from Uranus announces the innovative nature of the Competition.

The Moon trine Saturn ruling the Upper Meridian signifies the competitors striving to win. The square from Neptune Co-Ruler of the House of Sorrows to the Moon relates to the illness of one competitor who, though doing very well in the Competition, had to withdraw on medical advice.

The Competition has now reached the Finals, with only six entrants left to tackle the last stage when each one plays two concertos with an orchestra.

Prize money totals more than A$120,000. The winners will be announced on Saturday, July 17.

Here are the finalists in alphabetical order by their first names, with their birth dates and places of birth.

With this limited data, can you pick the winner astrologically? Send your answer to me before 17 July.

Alexander Lubiantsev, 27 Dec 1986,
St Petersburg, Russia. 57°N 55°E 30°15'

Ayano Shimada, 1 Oct 1978,
Kanagawa, Japan. 34°N 51°E
Kanagawa 133°E 49'

Chu-Fang
Huang,
20 June 1982,
Shenyang,
China. 41°N 124°E

Daniel Hill,
8 Jan 1981,
Melbourne,
Australia. 37°S 49°E
144°E 58'

John Chen,
10 June 1986,
Kuala Lumpur,
Malaysia. 3°N 101°E 42'

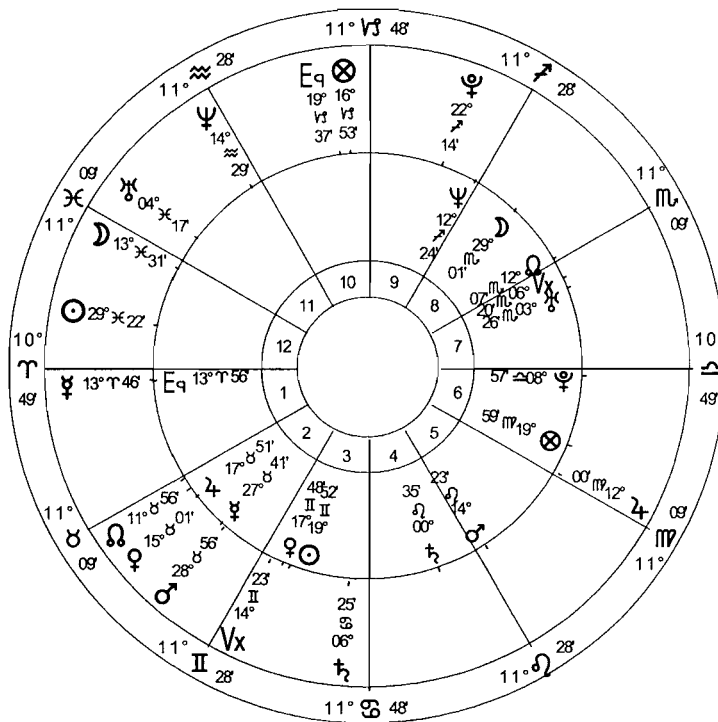

Rem Urasin, 55°N 49°E
15 May 1976, 41°E 05'
Kazan, Russia. 72°E

TEST 90 REPORT

Test No. 90 concerned a woman born in Sydney on 11 June 1976 at 1:30 am AEST.

The problem was to find the date in March, 2004 when her boy-friend proposed marriage to her (and was accepted). The required date was 20th March 2004.

The Problem can be solved by Transits alone. The Inner Wheel: Test 90-Female. Birth Figure 11 June 1976. 1:30 am AEST, Sydney, Australia. 33°S 52', 151°E 13'. Porphyry, True Node.

Outer Wheel: Transits, 20 March 2004.

significant factors are—

- A proposal = Mercury.
- Boy friend = Mars (in the House of Romance in the Birth Figure above).

In March, 2004 Mercury travelled in its orbit from 7Pi25 (March 1) to 28Ar 54 (March 31). It came to 13Ar46, the trine of Mars, on 20 March 2004. (BiWheel above.)

There were 29 respondents to the Test from around the world. Five were correct within one day. No one actually found the exact date—20th March.

Congratulations to all who worked on this exercise. The object is to develop astrological skill and precision. Most of these Tests can be solved by the simplest means. Keep in mind that I am not out to trick you.

TEST 91- MALE

This Test concerns a man born in Zwolle, Holland, on 6 Sep 1969 at 8:30 am CET (-1:00) 52°N 31', 6°E 06. Asc 9Li37, MC12Cn43, Moon12Cn09.

One of the following events occurred in his life on 10 Jan 2004. All the others are fictitious. He was living at Nieuw-Vennep (52°N 16', 4°E 38') at the time. Can you determine which event actually occurred?

1. He won a chess tournament.
2. He refurbished his home.
3. He bought a car.
4. He bought a movie camera.
5. He joined a social group.

Please let me have your answer, with its astrological basis on or before 25th July. Make one single choice and give only the most important factor in your diagnosis, not all the supporting evidence.

All respondents will receive a personal reply listing all the correct answers.

My kind regards to all,

Dymock, 11 July 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 274 June 2004

A red sticker here means
your subscription is due.

MARY DONALDSON AND CROWN PRINCE FREDERIK

The eyes of the world have been fastened on the fairy-tale story of Mary Donaldson from Tasmania, and Crown Prince Frederik of Denmark. It invites comparison with a similar "fairy-tale" romance of Diana and Prince Charles on 19 July 1981. But the resemblance is only superficial. Mary, as a mature, poised woman of 32 is a world away from the 20-year old Diana, shy and naive, and subsequently, when the marriage foundered, an agonized soul desperately seeking love. Mary, now Crown Princess Mary, is too well-balanced to suffer the same tortured emotions. Even if the marriage did not prosper, she would have a practical outlook and maintain her balance. Her strength of character is such that she would not suffer the extreme pain and distress that was the lot of Princess Diana.

The Royal Marriage being a topic of such universal interest, an astrologer is eager to see what are the astrological implications. As is often the case, however, the only birth data available was the date and place of birth of Mary Donaldson and of the Crown Prince. Mary Donaldson was born on February 5, 1972, in Hobart, Tasmania (a location almost certainly new to the great majority of the Wedding guests). Crown Prince Frederik was born in Copenhagen on May 26, 1968.

Only a limited amount of information regarding the couple and their prospects can be gained astrologically without having the time of birth, so I decided to attempt a Rectification.

Working first on the Natus of Mary Donaldson, as a tentative effort I put Aquarius on the Ascendant of her Chart, because of her appearance and demeanour throughout the marriage proceedings. What distinguished her was her relative calmness. In contrast with the crowd pressing around her (and the ebullient enthusiasm of the Danish populace) the new Crown Princess seemed almost withdrawn, as if she were observing with kindly interest a play involving strangers. This is a keynote of the Sign Aquarius—friendly but detached, though with good will to all.

Other points in favour of this Ascendant are physical handsomeness—comely, but not a raving beauty—and the fact that an Aquarian Ascendant puts Leo on the 7th Cusp, indicative of her marriage into royalty.

The next step was to find a birth time using Age Harmonics, which is the sovereign method for rectification. Mary's age on 14th May 2004, the date of her marriage to Frederik, was 32.25 years, relating to the month 5 May—5 June 2004.

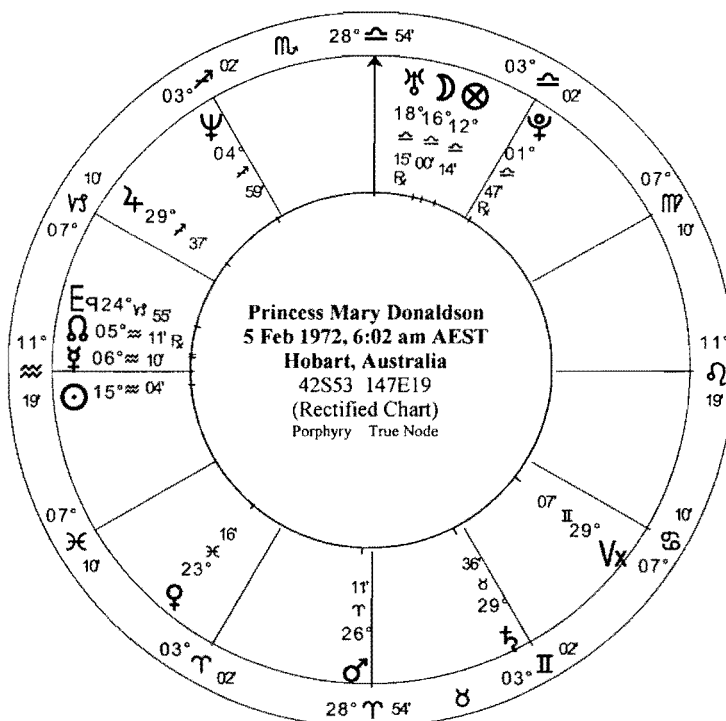

This Age Harmonic has to produce a Chart from the Birth Figure that is consonant with the marriage event. If it does not do so the preliminary Birth Figure

In This Issue

	Page
Mary Donaldson and Crown Prince Frederik.....	1
Composite Chart, Frederik & Mary	3
More about Karl Marx.....	3
Test 89—Report.....	4
Test 90.....	4

has to be changed continually until it does produce such a Chart. This part of the procedure can be a tedious business, hardly practicable without a computer and a Program such as Solar Fire.

However, suffice it to say that after a few tries I came up with the following Birth Chart, which does fulfil the requirements:

The Marriage Chart produced by the Age Harmonic 32.25 from the above Birth Figure appears on the next page. It is distinctively a Chart of marriage to royalty. The principal significations are:

1. Leo on the Marriage Cusp is ruled by the Sun on the Cusp of the 5th House (Pomp and Circumstance) and conjunct the Part of Fortune.
2. Venus, the Marriage Planet, is at the Midheaven and rules the 9th (Legalizing Ceremonies), and also is trine to the Vertex (events of major significance).
3. The Moon on the 9th Cusp is very closely trine the Sun ruling the House of Marriage.
4. Saturn, ruling the Ascendant is conjunct both Mars, ruling the 10th House and the Moon's North Node (passionate union).

Further correspondences can be found, both in this Chart and its relation to the Birth Figure.

Two other important dates in Mary's life were 15 September 2000 when the future Princess met Frederik, her consort to be, at the opening of the Olympic Games in Sydney, and 8 October 2003 when Denmark's Queen Margrethe officially approved the marriage and the Wedding Date was set. Both these dates have appropriate Age Harmonic Charts (see below) derived from the Rectified Birth Figure.

The Age Harmonic for the meeting on 15 Sep 2000 is 28.5833 applying to the month 5 Sep—5 Oct 2000. Here it is:

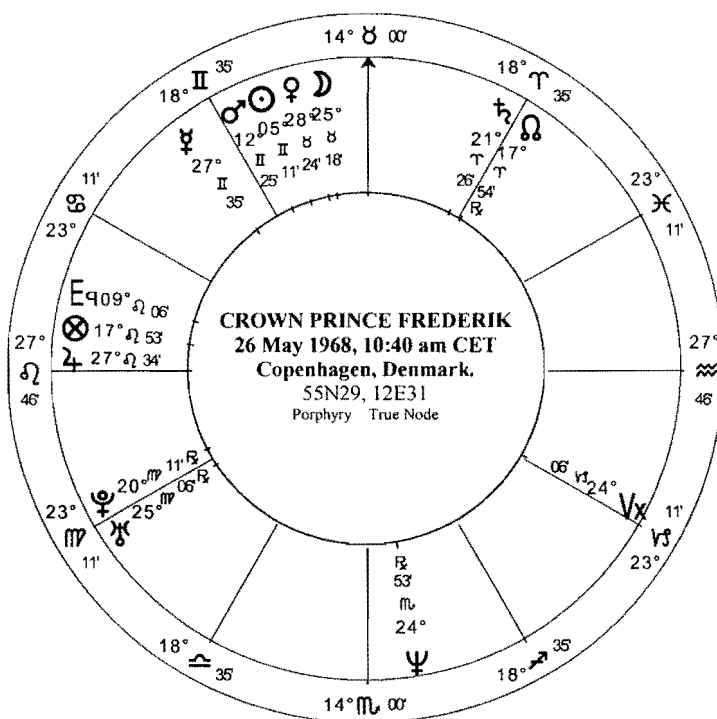

In this Chart, the factors relating to the encounter are:

1. Ruler Jupiter in the 9th House, trine to Mars and the Vertex in the 5th House (romantic and significant encounter with a male at a sporting event).

2. Jupiter trine Uranus in the 1st House (sudden fortunate turn).
3. Moon in the 11th House trine the Node in the 7th (a new friend).
4. The fact that the Node is in Gemini is significant since Prince Frederik has his Sun, Mars and Mercury in that Sign.

The next task was to find a suitable Geniture for Crown Prince Frederik. For a starting point, I took Leo as an Ascendant Sign both because of his royal birth and because the 7th Cusp would then lie in Aquarius (his wife's Sun Sign).

Here, again, the Birth Figure has to yield an Age Harmonic Chart that is indicative of the marriage. The Prince's age on 14 May 2004 was 35.9167 years. I made a number of trial Birth Figures, back and forth in time, before I found one that fulfilled the requirements of Age Harmonic 35.9167. This final Chart has 27Leo46 on the Ascendant (see below).

Here is the Age Harmonic Chart 35.9167 derived from the above Birth Figure and relating to the Prince's marriage. The factors signifying marriage are:

1. The Sun right on the MC, in Libra, and trine to Venus (planet of marriage), Ruler of the MC and the House of Romance.
2. The Moon ruling the House of Marriage, at the Midheaven, and conjunct the Sun.
3. The "Floating" MC trine to Jupiter (status change).

When Prince Frederik met Mary at the Olympic Games on 15 Sep 2003 his Age Harmonic was 32.25, which produces the Chart below for the month 26 Aug—26 Sep 2000.

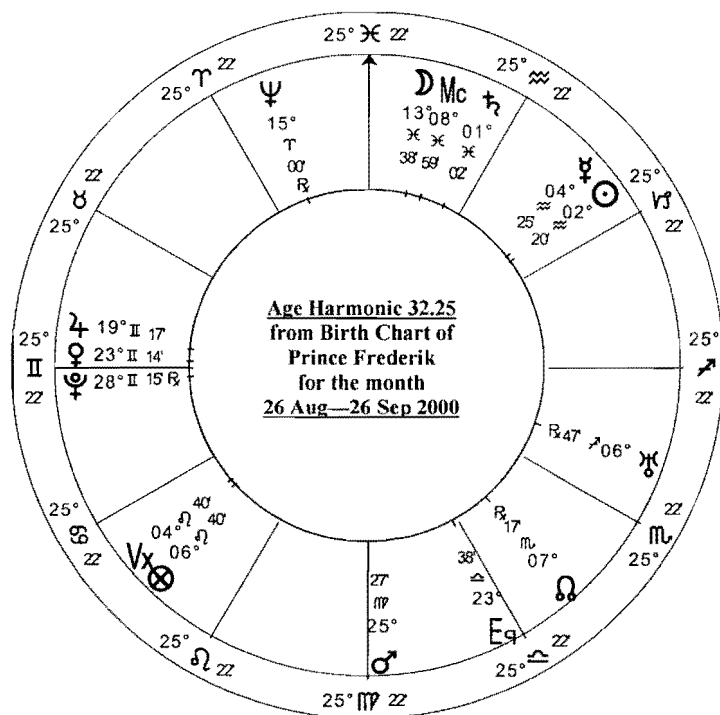

Chart factors highly relevant to the meeting are:

1. Venus (marriage planet) is right on the Ascendant, ruling the House of Romance, and is conjunct Pluto and Jupiter (a new development bringing joy). (There was a quick rapport between the two people).
2. The Harmonic Equatorial Ascendant is on the 5th Cusp and trine to Venus rising (romantic attraction).
3. Mars on the lower Meridian is square to Venus (sexual magnetism).
4. The "Floating" MC is trine to the Moon's North Node, indicating the venue of the meeting (Olympic Games Opening Ceremony).

I have found that the Age Harmonic Charts for other significant events in both the Prince's and Mary's life are equally indicative. There is no room, or need, to reproduce them here. All in all, I am happy that the Birth Figures above for the royal couple can be relied on to indicate further developments and the course of their future lives.

Composite Chart

The Composite Chart for Frederik and Mary is symbolic of the union. It appears in the next column. This type of chart is one of the many subsidiary charts supplied by Solar Fire and is a combination of the two Birth Figures.

Briefly interpreted, here are the principal features:

- ♦ Jupiter rises in Libra: Fortune smiles on them.
- ♦ The Moon trine the Sun: An harmonious and fruitful alliance.
- ♦ Venus opposite Jupiter and quincunx Pluto: An abundance of love and physical attraction between them.

- ♦ Moon in the 10th House trine the Sun ruling the 10th: Their popularity with the public will continue.
- ♦ The Sun disposing the dominant Moon: Princess Mary is largely in control but Frederik can overrule her.
- ♦ Jupiter on the Ascendant and Lord of the 5th House which holds the Moon's Node sextile Saturn: Children will be born. How many? Jupiter is fruitful but Saturn restricts. I forecast two, the first in March 2005 (when Jupiter sextiles Mercury by Primary Direction).
- ♦ The Moon ruling the 9th House squared by Saturn: Mary's travels will be restricted. Royal protocol is something of a burden for her.
- ♦ Neptune on Cusp 2 sextile Pluto: There are some obscure and complicated arrangements regarding the finances of the couple.
- ♦ The Sun ruling the MC and opposed by Uranus: Frederik when King will introduce changes. He is self-willed and inclined to be contrary.
- ♦ The Moon sextile Uranus: Mary is open-minded and keeps her independence of thought. □

MORE ABOUT KARL MARX

by Allan Johnson

This article is a follow up from my previous one on Karl Marx. In that article I referred to Marxism as primarily a religion rather than a political doctrine. So in setting up a chart for a religion the usual thing is to use the birth date of the prophet who is the father figure. This has been done in the case of Jesus Christ and Christianity. But I don't think a lot of research has been done on that case. In using Marx's own Chart for the future of Marxism it is easy to see that Transits would continue to operate long after the person's actual death. And this has been the case. Marxism is still with us today more than a century after his death. So it is possible to correlate Transits to Marx's Chart with major events in the 20th Century. and they are all world-shaking events. The one that stands out the most is, of course, the collapse of Communism itself at the end of 1989. This certainly was world-shattering. And the key Transit for that sort of thing is Pluto. Pluto was in Marx's 8th House and in opposition to the Sun and Moon—"Endings and new Beginnings." Highly dramatic.

Inner Wheel: Test 89, Age Harmonic 67.6667.

Outer Wheel: Test 89, Radix, 5 Aug 1936, 10:30 am, Sydney.

Another highly dramatic event was the Russian revolution itself in 1917. Pluto was not involved this time but that other planet connected with dramatic events, Uranus. This was right on the 7th Cusp. Heavy Transits exactly on an Angle can be a major event. Another major event occurred in 1953 with that same Cusp. This time it was Pluto back into the picture again. It was the death of Stalin. Looking at things on a wider world scale there was another world shattering event when the communists seized power in China. This synchronised with the Mars/Pluto conjunction making the square to Marx's Sun/Moon conjunction. It is possible there could be other link-ups with 20th Century events and Marx's Chart. Bringing things right up to date in the 21st Century we can see that Pluto is now in conjunction with Marx's disciples, but it is doubtful if they could achieve the importance they once had. □

Test No. 89—Report

Test No. 89 concerned a woman born on 5 August 1936 in Sydney, Australia (Asc 2Sc50, MC 20Cn26, Moon7Pi08). She is divorced, not working and in a stable relationship.

The Test was to determine which one of the following five events was not fictitious but actually occurred in her life on 7th April 2004 while she was living in Melbourne.

1. She started learning the Italian language.
2. She undertook an extensive health check.
3. She began house renovations.
4. She went on a sailing holiday.
5. She bought another car.

The correct answer is that the woman went on a sailing holiday. The solution can be seen in the Age

Harmonic 67.6667 for the month 5 April—5 May 2004, surrounded by the Birth Figure (above).

The most powerful feature of this BiWheel is the very close conjunction of the Moon and the Natal Sun in the 5th House (pleasures). This conjunction is sufficient on its own to distinguish "sailing holiday" from all the other options, but there is plenty of backup evidence if one wants confirmation—Sun and Moon trine to Jupiter in Sagittarius in the 9th House (travels); Natal Venus (pleasure) in the 5th House trine Neptune (the sea); Venus trine Pluto (pleasure intensified); Mercury ruling the 3rd House (short trips) trine Jupiter ruling the 9th (travel).

There were 40 respondents and four found the solution at the first attempt. This type of Test teaches how to distinguish between different possibilities, all apparently indicated by the relevant chart. It was not easy. Congratulations to all who attempted it.

Test No. 90

Test No. 90 concerns a 27 year old woman born in Sydney (33S52, 151E13) on 11 June 1976 at 1:30 am AEST (-10).

On a certain date in March 2004 her boy-friend proposed marriage to her and she accepted. Can you determine what was the day?

Use any astrological technique to arrive at your answer and send it to me before 20th June. State the astrological reason for your choice—only the single most important factor, not supporting evidence that you may have considered before making your decision.

All respondents will receive a personal reply stating whether they were right or wrong, and later the Report listing all the correct answers received and a model answer.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock. 2 June 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

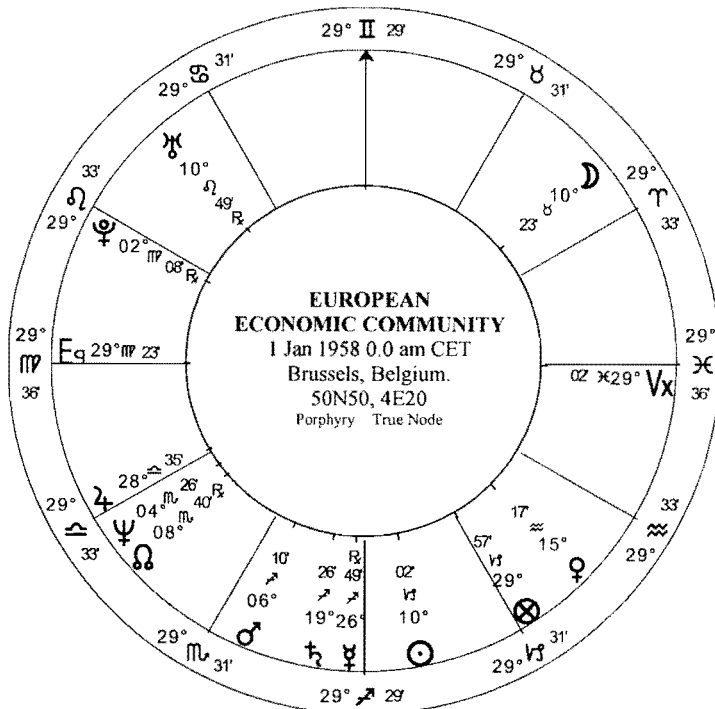

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 273 May 2004

A red sticker here means
your subscription is due.

THE EUROPEAN UNION

From a political point of view, the most significant event so far this year has been the accession on 1 May 2004 of ten new members to the European Union.

The Treaty of Rome (25 March 1957) provided the groundwork for the European Economic Community which came into existence on 1st January 1958, with Brussels the administrative capital (see Chart above).

The EEC became The European Union on 1 November 1993 implementing the 1992 Treaty of Maastricht. The original six members of the EEC have now grown to 25, and further enlargements are contemplated.

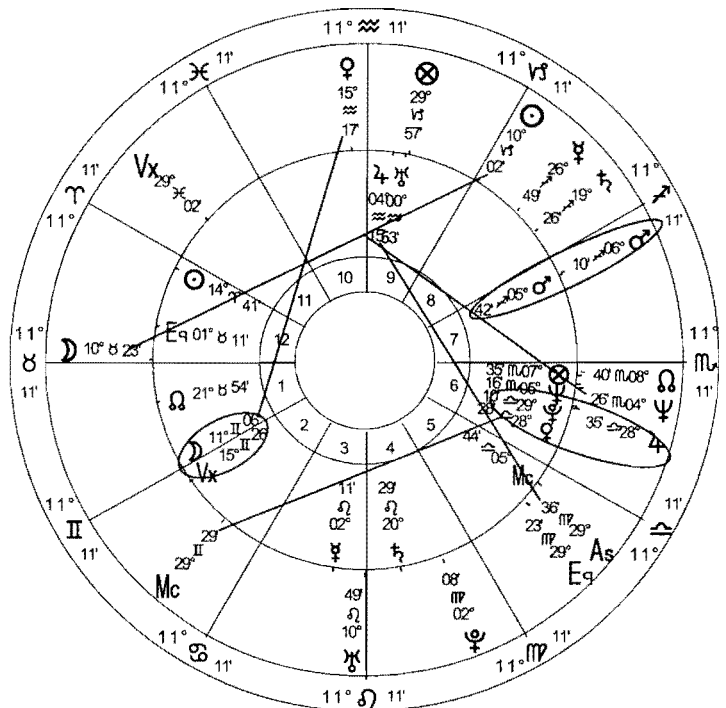

The ten new members of 1 May greeted their admittance with wild enthusiasm, seeing it as opening for them an expanded world of economic advantage and political security, which indeed it does. From a higher viewpoint, it must be regarded as a step forward towards the Brotherhood of Man and the achievement of universal peace and love, surely the ultimate goal of mankind.

It is instructive to observe the correlation of astrological factors with the new influx of member countries. One Chart of interest is the Age Harmonic, surrounded by the Radix, for the month May 1—June 1, 2004, in the next column.

The Harmonic Chart has a particularly valuable characteristic—it is not anchored to the position of the Radical Sun or Moon, as in Solar and Lunar Returns, nor to the angle between the two luminaries,

In This Issue

	Page
The European Union.....	1
Prisoner Abuse Exposed.....	2
Test No. 88—Solution & Report.....	3
Test No. 89.....	4
Lotteries, Planets & Numbers.....	4

Inner Wheel. Harmonic 46.3333 for the month 1 May—1 June 2004,

European Economic Community 1 Jan 1958

Outer Wheel. Radix: European Economic Community, 1 Jan 1958, Brussels.

as in Lunar Phase Returns. This release frees the Significators from an astrological bondage and gives them the capacity to provide extra information not otherwise possible.

A further great advantage of the Harmonic Chart is its unequalled richness in Aspects—configurations that would not be possible in a normal horoscope, such as the Sun opposite Mercury or Venus. This attribute may frighten away some astrologers who do not want to cope with a greater profusion of factors than they have in, say, a Progressed or Cyclic Figure. But once this frailty of the flesh has been mastered, the Harmonic Chart will open up a new world of discovery to the earnest astrologer.

I repeat my declaration of years ago that the Age Harmonic Chart is the greatest advance in Astrology since the beginning of last Century (and possibly much longer).

Well, what has the current Age Harmonic to tell us about the European Union following the admission of ten new nations on May 1, 2004?

Firstly, it is apparent that the current influx is favourable: The Ruler, Venus (from the Radix), is perched high in the Midheaven trine to the Vertex and the Moon. Aspects to the Vertex imply an occurrence of more than usual significance, while the trine to the Moon indicates a fruitful addition to the membership. This is supported by the Radical Moon right on the Ascendant trine to the Radical Sun. The Sun sextile to Ascendant Venus is a unifying and harmonizing factor.

Looking further we see Venus, Pluto and Radical Jupiter closely conjunct in Libra, signifying "joy and happiness over the beginning of a new development" (Rules For Planetary Pictures by Witte-Lefeldt). Not only that, but all three Significators are closely trine to the Radical MC—a very favourable configuration pointing to the furtherance of the aims and purposes of the EEC.

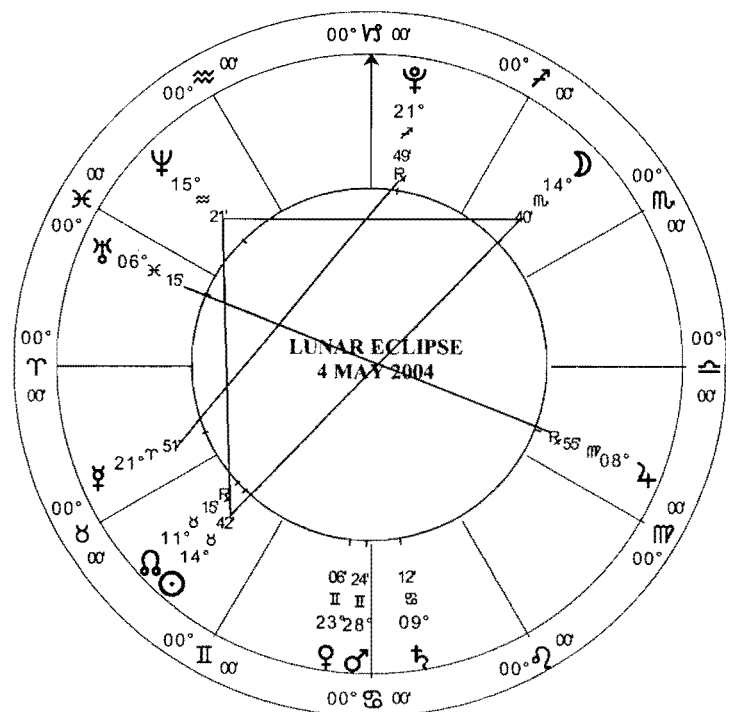

Harmonic and Radical Mars in a tight conjunction signify a great access of energy from the new members. Radical Uranus on the Lower Meridian shows the change in status of the body politic.

The only other Aspect worthy of note is the square between Harmonic Jupiter and Radical Neptune, a reflection of the euphoria prevalent among the new member nations.

All-in-all it's a wonderful addition to the European Union and a great boost to the attainment of its objectives.

PRISONER ABUSE EXPOSED

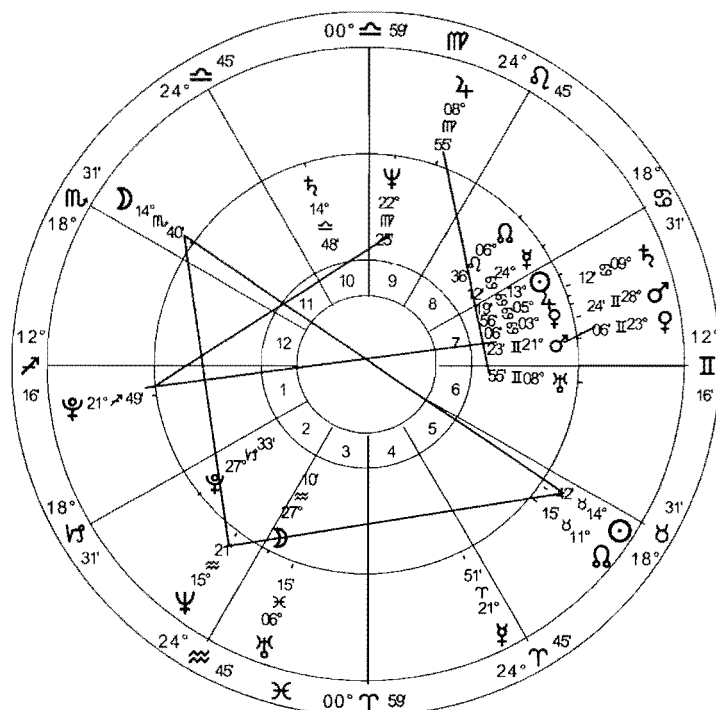

The grim and horrifying revelations of the maltreatment and abuse of prisoners held by the American and British soldiers is coincident with the Lunar Eclipse of 4 May 2004. Here is the Chart:

Analysing this Figure in a general way, the Sun and Moon in opposition is disturbing and unsettling. It indicates a culmination—matters come to a head and must be attended to. Neptune square to both Lights introduces error, lies, deception or denial, amplified because the Moon is eclipsed and in the Sign Scorpio.

To judge the significance in relation to any particular country or nation, the Eclipse Chart has to be set around the national chart in a BiWheel. Here is the Eclipse applied to the USA Independence Radix:

Inner Wheel. USA Independence, 4 July 1776, 5:10:37 pm EST, Philadelphia, PA, 40N00°24', 75W08°05'.

Outer Wheel. Lunar Eclipse, 4 May 2004.

Now the Moon-Sun opposition lies along the 12th-6th axis (Porphyry), so the secrecy aspect is emphasized by the 12th House. The Sun is now in the 6th House (not the 5th!) which in mundane astrology rules the army and the police. The Moon rules the 8th House (deaths and privations) while the Sun rules the 9th House (the legislative body). This pretty much tells the story: The cover-up, the involvement of the armed forces and the war of words in the USA Congress. Further evidence of the cover-up is Pluto rising square Neptune, from Eclipse Chart to Radix.

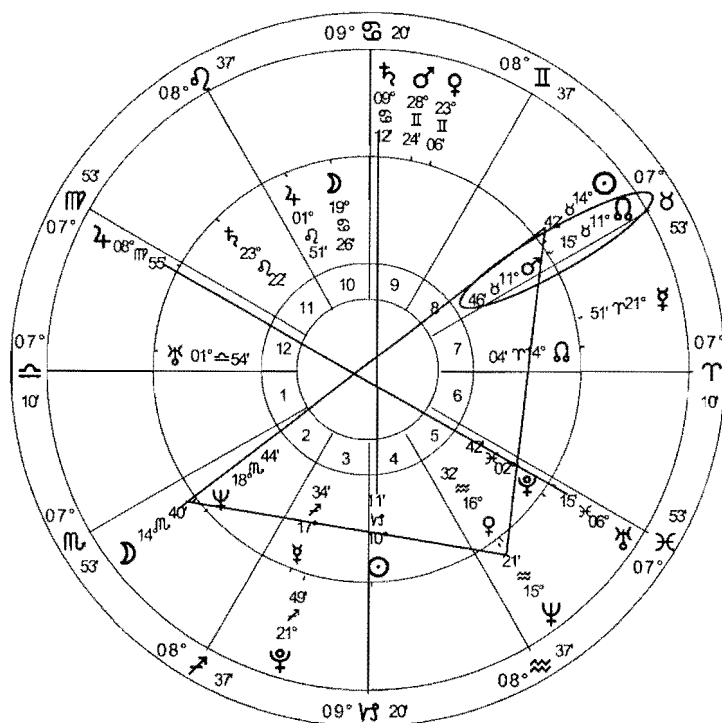

Radical Uranus square the Eclipse-Chart Jupiter (exact to the minute) signifies startling revelations.

Pluto opposing Mars and Venus across the Chart, and ruling the 12th and 10th Houses, indicates a bitter war going on behind the scenes in the USA Governmental circles. Heads will roll! It is a further nail in the coffin of President Bush. I predicted three months ago in the March Issue of this Journal that George W. Bush will be replaced by John Kerry in November.

When we apply the Eclipse Chart to the Radix of the United Kingdom (see next column) the consequences are hardly less pernicious for the Government: Eclipse Saturn is right on the Upper Meridian and closely opposed by the Radix Sun—a double emphasis on the Prime Minister, and a decidedly adverse one.

Venus, ruling the Libran Ascendant (the Nation and its people), is closely conjunct Eclipse Neptune, signifying the illusion of the public that their soldiers were operating in a totally honourable fashion.

Eclipse Uranus on the 6th Cusp (the Armed Forces) opposes Jupiter in the 12th—startling revelations

Inner Wheel: Radix, United Kingdom, 1 Jan 1801, 0.00 am LMT, Westminster, England, 51N30, 00W07.

Outer Wheel: Lunar Eclipse 4 May 2004.

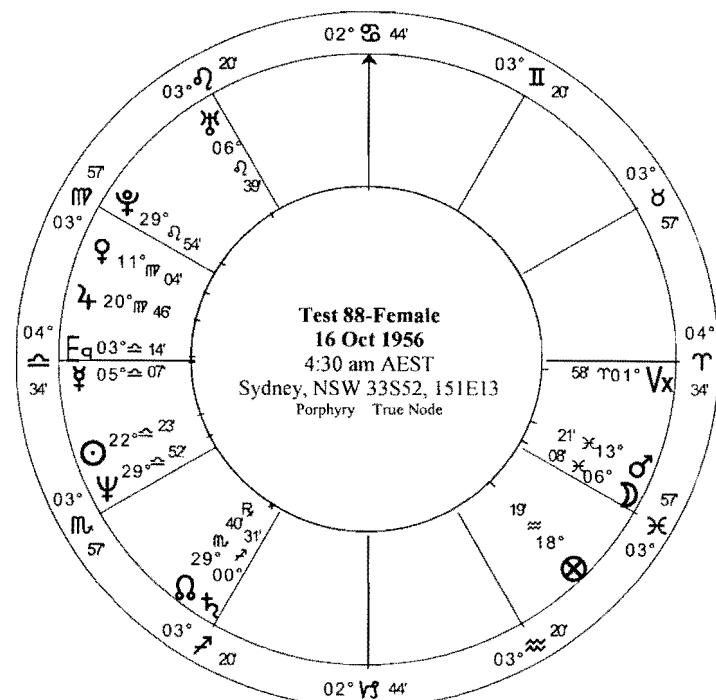

emerging from secrecy, as with the USA.

Radix Mars conjunct Eclipse Node in the 8th House signifies many deaths and privations reacting politically on the Government as both these Significators oppose the Moon ruling the 10th House.

Prime Minister Tony Blair's Government continues to be shaken. I forbear to make any prediction about its fate until I have the date of the next UK Election.

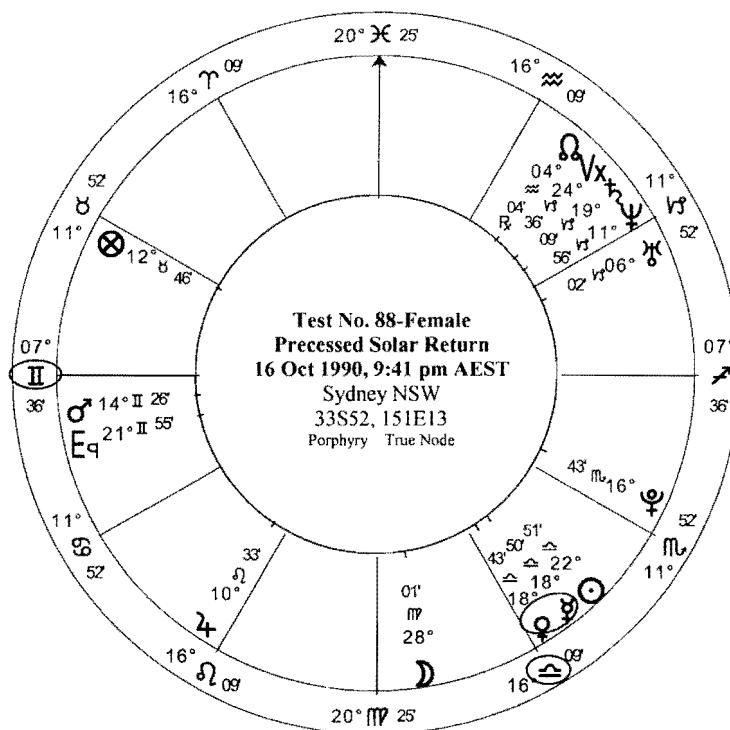

TEST NO. 88—REPORT

Test No. 88 was an exercise to discover what happened on 26 June 1991 in the life of a woman born in Sydney, Australia, on 16 October 1956. The woman was a Primary School Teacher, living in Sydney. Answer—the occurrence was the woman gave birth (a son).

I told participants that the answer could be seen in the Precessed Solar Return Chart of 16 October 1990, which appears below:

What strikes the eye immediately is the very close conjunction of Venus and Mercury in the House of Children, Venus ruling that House and Mercury ruling the Ascendant. What could be more indicative of a birth?

There were 37 respondents and seven of them found the solution at the first attempt. One of them, Shirley Gray (Michigan, USA), used a Horary Chart (below):

The birth is shown by the Jupiter, Ruler of the 5th

House (Births) in the Ascendant trine the NNode, and the Moon trine Pluto (birth) on the 5th (Porphyry) Cusp.

The object of the "Tests" is to help astrologers improve their results and develop predictive ability. These down-to-earth practical exercises are what is wanted above everything else in the pursuit of astrological expertise. Among astrologers there is a vast amount of theory and conjecture about the effects of this or that configuration. To my mind this is largely wasted time which would be far better spent on DOING astrology than in speculating about it. Practical exercises will soon show you what works and what doesn't.

Keep in mind, if you want to be an expert astrologer, that your degree of success with these types of predictive Tests is a measure of how well you can provide useful forecasts for a client. All the theory boils down to this—how good are you in practical forecasting?

TEST NO. 89

Test No. 89 concerns a woman ^{on 5 Aug. 1936} born in Sydney, Australia (33S52, 151E13) at 10:30 am AEST (-10:00). She is divorced, not working and in a stable relationship.

Which one of the following five events occurred in her life on 7th April 2004 while she was living in Melbourne (37S49, 144E58)? Only one event actually occurred. the other four are fictional.

1. She started learning the Italian language.
2. She undertook an extensive health check.
3. She began house renovations.
4. She went on a sailing holiday.
5. She bought another car.

Use any astrological technique to arrive at your answer and send it to me before 20th May. State the astrological reason for your choice—only the single most important factor, not supporting evidence that you may have considered before making your decision. If your answer is wrong the supporting evidence will not make it right.

One technique that works well is Age Harmonics. The answer is revealed in Harmonic 67.6667 (for the month 5 April—5 May 2004), surrounded by the Birth Figure.

If you prefer a Horary Chart (the last Test was solved with one) quote the date, time and place of the chart together with the determining factor.

All respondents will receive a personal reply stating whether they were right or wrong. The correct answer will be notified in the next Issue, but all who send a written solution will earlier have the Test Report listing all the correct answers received and a model answer.

These "Tests" are designed to help astrologers develop further insight and skills. They are particularly helpful for predictive work. As many astrologers all over the world have found, applying themselves to these Tests is one of the most fruitful ways of allotting your astrological study time.

More Material Wanted!

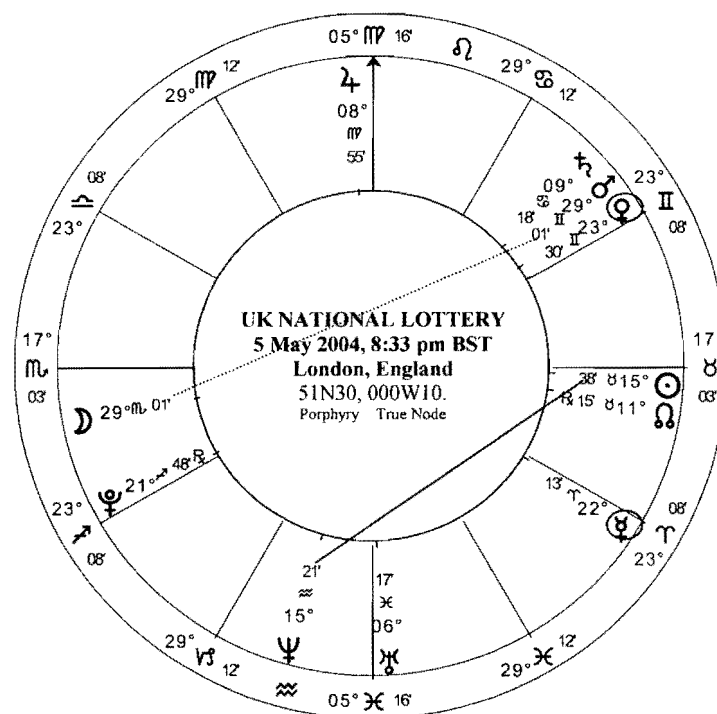

A continuous supply of data is required to maintain these Tests. What is wanted is an accurate birth time for the subject and the date of an important occurrence in his/her life, preferably something of cheerful import (not death or disaster) e.g., a win of some sort, gaining an award, getting a job, meeting one's future spouse, birth of a child, a holiday, a pleasure cruise or tour, a reunion of long-lost friends or relatives, undertaking a course of study, a happy discovery, patenting of an invention, establishing a home, buying a prized object, becoming computer-literate, gaining one's freedom, release from prison, etc., etc. (The identity of the person concerned will not be revealed without express permission.)

By making the effort to contribute something along these lines you are helping to maintain a valuable and unique assistance to astrologers world-wide.

LOTTERIES, PLANETS & NUMBERS

I have previously (Issue No. 263) drawn attention to the guidance provided by the UK National Lottery in assessing the power of planets in a horoscope. Here is another recent example, the UK National Lottery No. 873 drawn about 8:33 pm in London on 5 May 2004:

The winning six numbers are drawn from numbers up to 49. Those drawn were 45, 43, 33, 23, 32, 42, in that order, followed by 4, (a "bonus"). 45 and 4 are ♂ numbers—4 and 9, (45 reduced by addition). Why is ♂ the winner in the above Chart? Because it is ♀ (exactly to the minute). Here is a very useful hint for assessing planetary values in a particular Chart.

The next number drawn was 43, = ♀ (7). Why? Because ♀ is ☉, close to exact.

Next came 33, and later, 42. Both = ♀ (6). ♀ is right on a Porphyry Cusp! Then came 23 and 32, both ♀ (5), and ♀ is right on another Porphyry Cusp! Surely there is a lesson in this! (Results of UK National Lotto's are available on the Internet straight after the drawing.)

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock 9 May 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

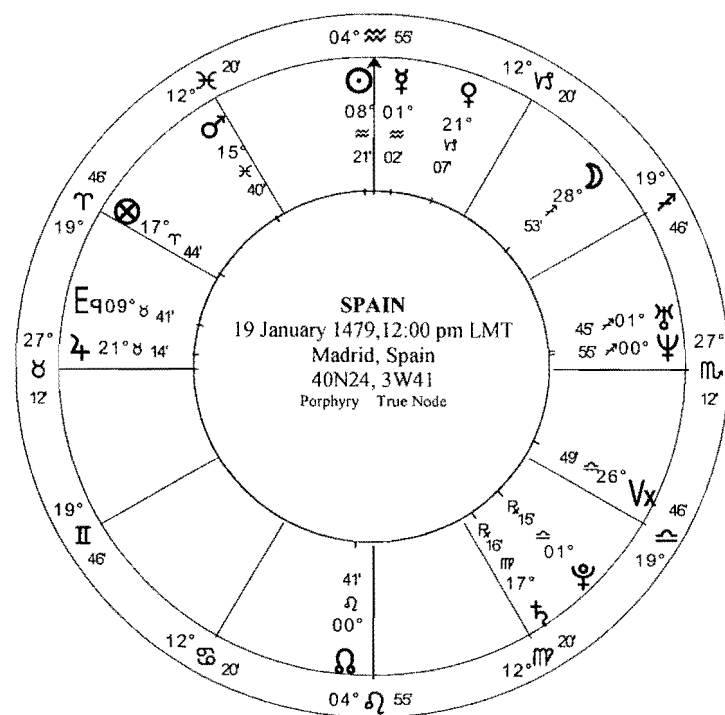

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 272 April 2004

A red sticker here means
your subscription is due

MADRID'S TRAGEDY

The terrorist bombing of crowded trains in Madrid on March 11, 2004, is appalling and tragic. It demonstrates once again the ruthless cruelty and brutality of the Al-Qaeda organization. As astrologers, we can only look into the relevant charts and try to see how to anticipate and forestall such devastation. Having learned the planetary factors that accompany these attacks we can perhaps anticipate and avoid them in the future.

A starting point is the Chart for Spain. Nicholas Campion (The Book of World Horoscopes) writes "The creation of Spain was effected by the marriage of Prince Ferdinand of Aragon to Princess Isabella of Castile, and the subsequent succession of each to their respective thrones. The effective union took place on the day that Juan II of Aragon died on 19 January 1479, and the Horoscope given here is set for that date, and, in the absence of accurate information, for 12:00 noon Local Mean Time. The Chart is set for Madrid, the Capital of Castile, which was to become the Capital of the united State."

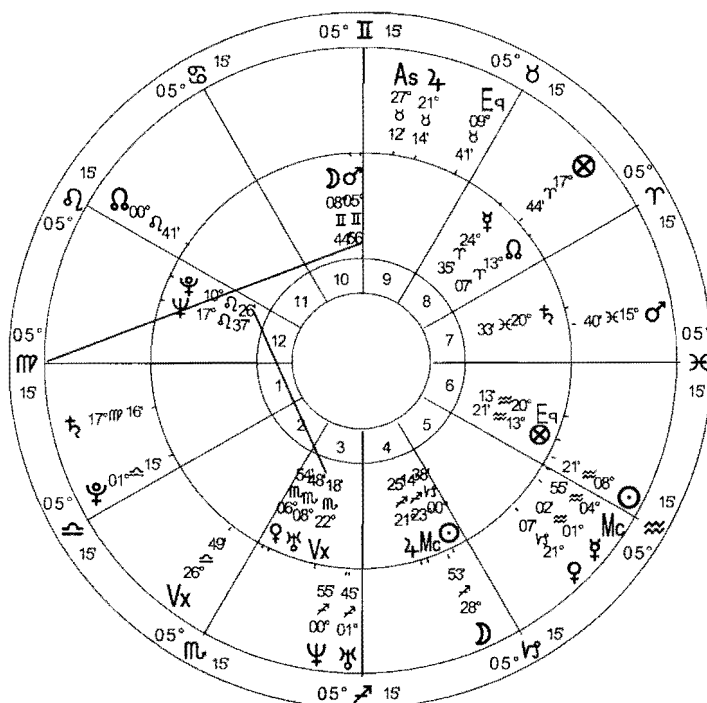

Surprisingly, the time of 12 Noon appears to be amazingly accurate, as shown by the Age Harmonic for the month when the trains in Madrid were bombed (next column).

Considering that the multiplication factor involved in the Harmonic is over 525, the very close and malefic Aspects are truly remarkable. The Inner

In This Issue

	Page
Madrid's Tragedy.....	1
Terror in London.....	2
Test No. 87—Report.....	3
Test No. 88.....	4
Test Material Wanted.....	5

Inner Wheel Spain, Age Harmonic 525.0833 relating to the month
19 February—19 March 2004

Outer Wheel Spain Radix 19 Jan 1479, 12 pm LMT, Madrid.

Wheel has many afflictions including the first two Aspects below, which have very small orbs and actually define the situation:

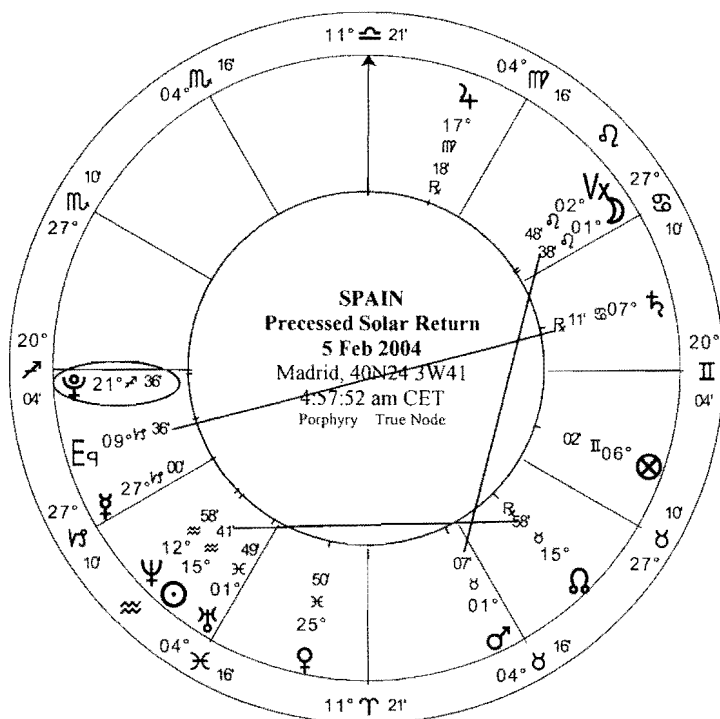

1. $\text{♂} \square \text{Asc}$, orb $0^{\circ}41'$. (♂ is the prime mover in explosions and here rules the Deaths House).
2. $\text{♂} \square \text{♀}$, orb $1^{\circ}38'$ (havoc caused by a violent act).
3. $\text{♂} \text{♂} \text{♂}$ at the MC, orb $2^{\circ}49'$, and ruling Cusp 8 (deaths of many people).
4. $\text{♂} \triangle \text{♀}/\text{♀}$, orb $0^{\circ}54'$ (♂ in the 8th House, $\text{♀}/\text{♀}$ in the 12th = multiple deaths and much suffering).

The picture is still more devastating when the Radix is superimposed. Aspects from the Harmonic to the Radix:

1. $\text{♂} \square \odot$, orb $0^{\circ}26'$ (Shock).
2. $\text{♀} \text{♂} \odot$, orb $2^{\circ}05'$ (deaths; physical suffering).
3. $\text{♀} \square \text{♂}$ forms a T- \square with the Radical Eq.Asc (acts of destructive violence).

The above are more than sufficient to depict the horrific results of the terrorist activity but a detailed inspection of the BiWheel would discover still more.

The Solar Return of 5 February 2004 (precessed) also graphically depicts the event.

1. ♀ rises almost exactly conjunct the Ascendant (death and destruction).
2. The ☿ on the Cusp of the 8th House is squared by ♂, orb 0°31' (violent deaths of people).
3. The ☼, Co-Ruler of the 8th House squares the ♀, orb 0°17' (many deaths).
4. ♄ opposes the Eq.Asc orb, 2°25' (injuries by crushing).

The above are the principal afflictions but others can be found interacting with the Radix and also some drastic ones involving the Midpoints.

The precessed Solar Return above is clearly superior to the standard Solar Return below. The paucity of adverse and appropriate Aspects in the latter speaks for itself. This is a telling example of the vital importance of precession, amplified here by the long period (525 years) between the Radix and the event dates.

There are no appropriate Aspects to depict the horrific Terrorist outrage on Madrid railways on March 11, 2004.

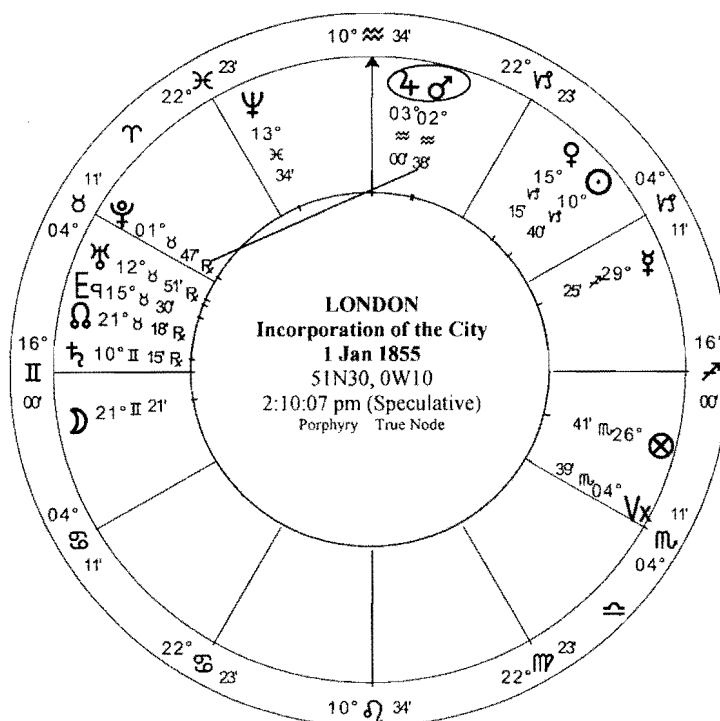

The vital importance of Precession can be gauged by comparing this Chart with the one above.

So we have seen the type of planetary configurations that accompany acts of terrorist violence and, so far as is practicable, we should watch for a recurrence of these in the cyclic charts of threatened nations and cities. This means continual effort and vigilance while the terrorist threats exists—possibly fifty years or more. It is part of the price we pay for living in a western democracy with its freedom and all other blessings.

TERROR IN LONDON

A chart of a different—and most welcome kind—is that which accompanied the forestalling of a major catastrophe in London where on March 31 eight men were arrested after the police discovered and seized a large quantity of ammonium nitrate, which is a common fertiliser but can be mixed with fuel oil to make a powerful explosive. It was a chief ingredient used in the Bali bombings that killed 192 tourists. The amount discovered in London was even larger than that used in Bali.

London was incorporated as a City on January 1, 1855. I do not have a time but as London is known to be under the Sign Gemini I used a speculative Ascendant of 16° Gemini. Here is the Chart:

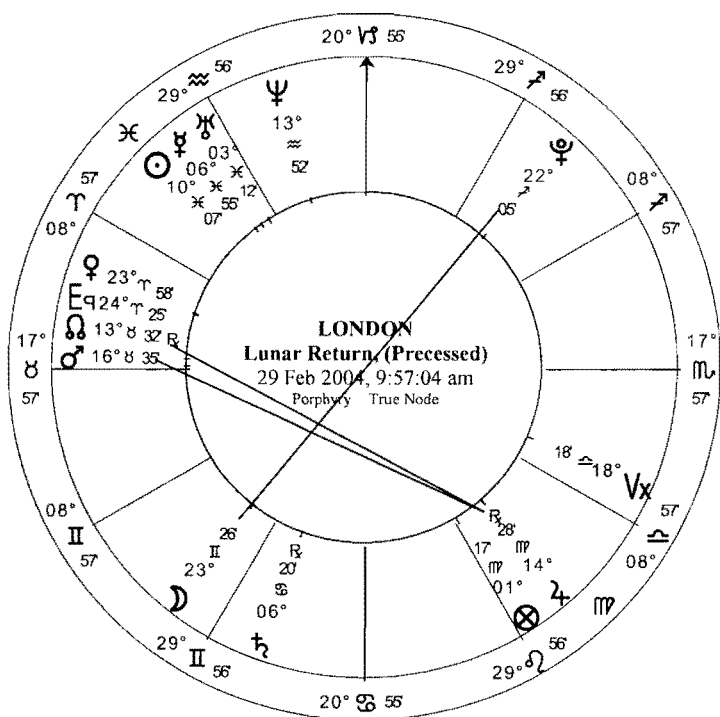

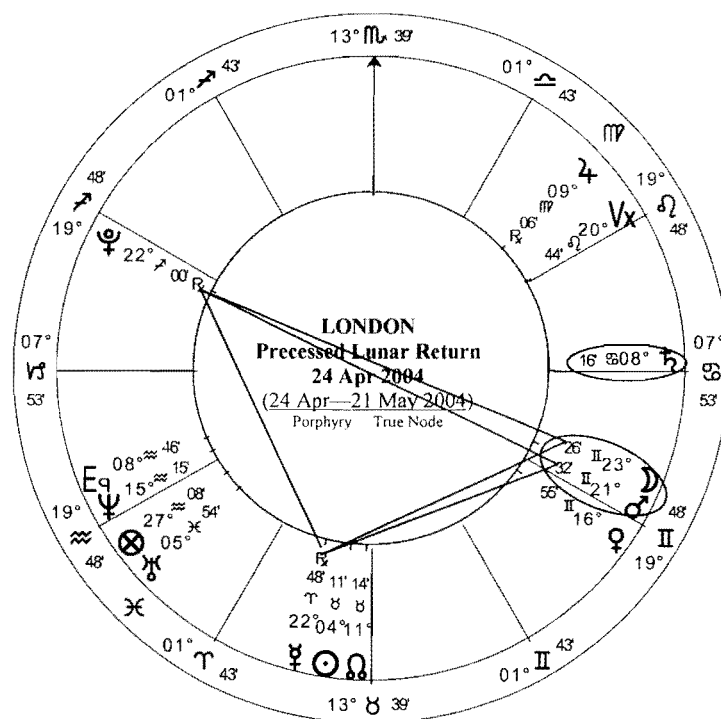

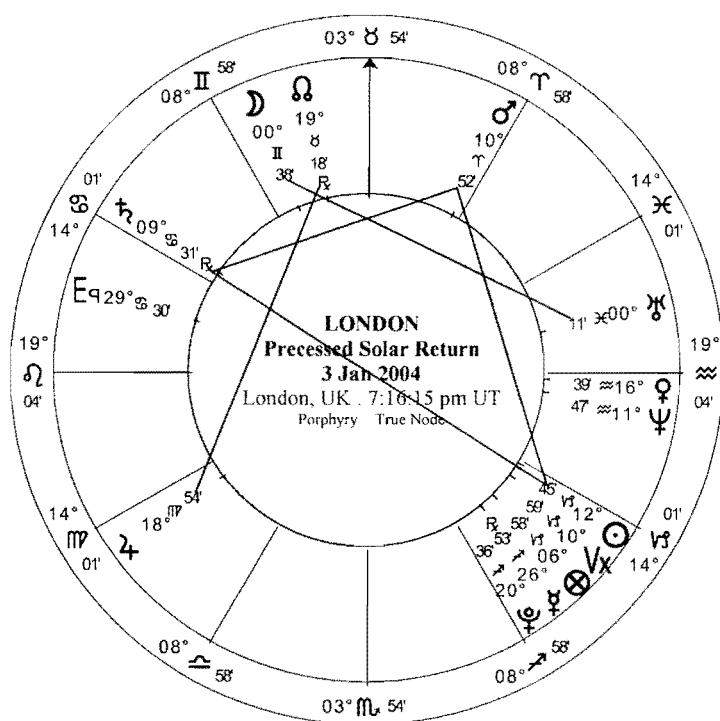

The configuration of ♂ ♂ ♄ ☐ ♀ is a dire warning that vigilance should never be relaxed.

The time selected for the Radix was evidently a happy choice as the Precessed Solar Return drawn from it shows most appropriate House positions for the foiled plot (Chart next page).

The T-☐, ☉-♄-♂ tells the story. The ♀ on the Ascendant is ruled by the ☉ so the afflictions from ♄ and ♂ depict a plot to inflict death and damage on the City and its people. The shock of the discovered conspiracy is shown by ♄ ☐ ☿ ruling the 12th House (hidden things).

What saved the City and its people? Jupiter (the Preserver) in close trine to the Node in the 10th House must have had a good deal to do with it, and also the conjunction of Neptune with Venus ruling the MC.

The current precessed Lunar Return (29 Feb—27 Mar 2004) also shows the crisis of March 11, and thereby further supports the validity of the selected time for the Radix: σ , planet of violence, is right on the Ascendant, threatening the City, and an elevated ψ closely opposes the \mathcal{D} (the population).

Again, \mathcal{L} appears as the saviour, by its Δ to the Ω on the Ascendant (protection for the people) and its Δ to σ , breaking down the dominant energy of that planet.

What are the dangerous times for London in the near future? I have examined all the precessed Lunar Returns until the end of 2004. In all these Cyclic Charts ψ , due to its slow motion, is directly opposed to the \mathcal{D} so it is a very hazardous period. One of the most alarming Charts, where the danger is compounded by other malefic configurations, is the Return of 24th April next (above): Not only is the \mathcal{D} opposed by ψ along the 12th/6th axis but it is also afflicted by the conjunction of σ , while \mathcal{L} is opposed to the Rising degree. London will need to be most attentively alert during the next two months.

TEST NO. 87 REPORT

Test No. 87 was an exercise to discover which of five events was the one that actually occurred in the life of a schoolboy born 18 December 2003 at 2:49 pm ACDT in Adelaide, South Australia (Chart above). He was living at Hervey Bay (25S18, 152E54) at the time of the event.

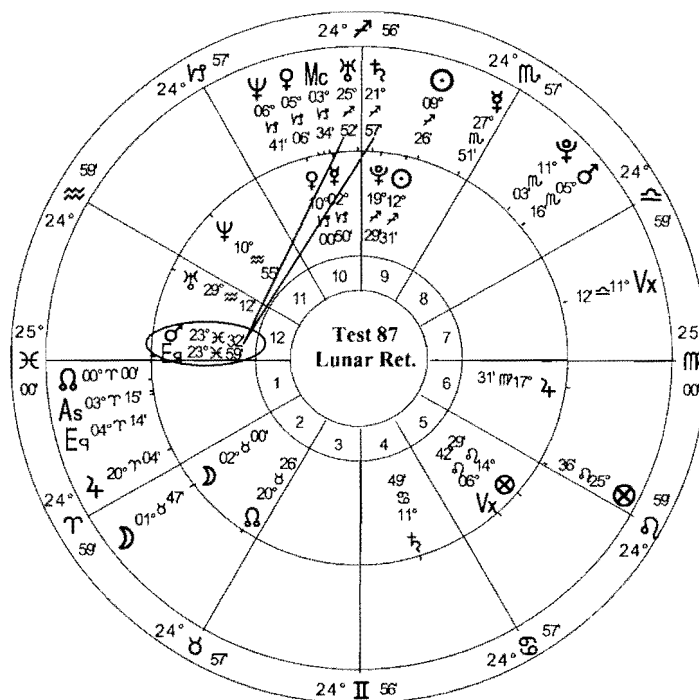

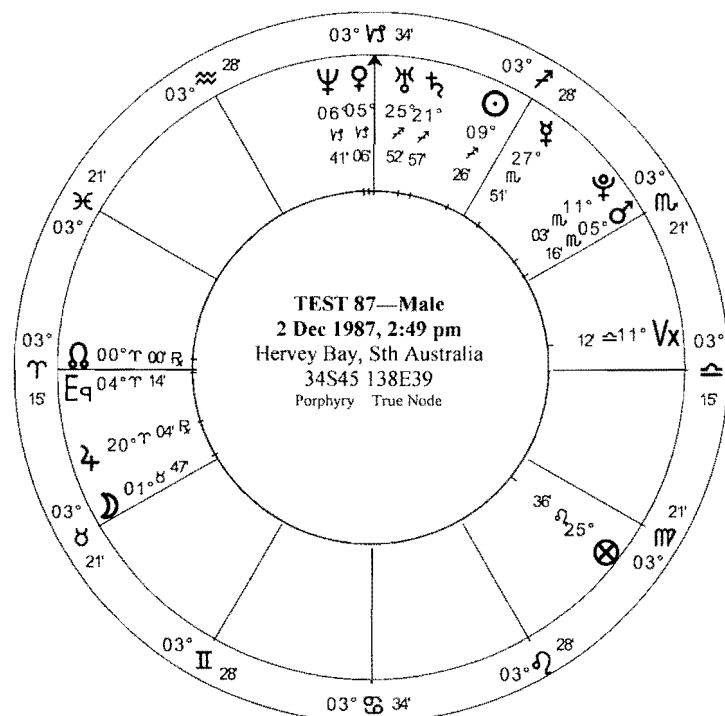

The five events (four are fictional) are the following:

1. He quarrelled with a school friend.
2. He failed an examination.
3. He was in trouble for truancy.
4. He broke his wrist in play.
5. His mother became ill.

The answer is No. 4, he broke his wrist in play. There were 31 respondents to the Test and ten found the solution at the first attempt.

Age Harmonic 16 (next page) gives an immediate answer. $\sigma\sigma\mathcal{L}$ is in the House of Illness, both planets being $\square\psi\square\mathcal{L}$. This clearly signifies the accident to the wrists. Additionally, \mathcal{L} (falls) opposes the Ascendant and is $\square\mathcal{L}$ (out of luck). Important in reading Harmonic Charts is to look for conjunctions and Aspects with very close orbs (about 1°) which often give a quick answer. The only other close Aspect in this Chart is $\mathcal{Q}\Delta\mathcal{L}$, which obviously has no relation to this event or any of the other four.

The next best Chart is the precessed Lunar Return (relocated). It appears on the next page, surrounded by the Radix. σ is σ the Equatorial Asc, $\square\psi$ (and also \square natal \mathcal{L} and \mathcal{L}). This grouping of malefics is also typical of an accident and breakages.

Inner Wheel: Test 87, Precressed Lunar Return 5 Dec 2003, 12:32:20 pm

Hervey Bay, Qld. 25S18, 152E54.

Outer Wheel: Test 87, Radix

Again, congratulations to all who worked on this "Test" and courageously sent in an answer. Their reward is the extra knowledge and insight gained from making the attempt.

TEST No. 88

This Test concerns a woman born in Sydney, Australia (33S52, 151E13) at 4:30 am AEST (-10) on 16 October 1956. The Ascendant is 4Li34, MC 2Cn44, Moon 6Pi08.

She was a primary school teacher, married, and living in Sydney at the time. The question is, What occurred in her life on 29 June 1991?

This time you are not given a number of events from which to choose so it is more like an actual forecast for a client. Here is a hint to make the diagnosis easier: The answer can be seen in the Precressed Solar Return of 19 Oct 1990. However, you can use any other astrological technique of your choice. Please let me have your answer by 20th May with its astrological basis. Give only the most important factor, not supporting or confirming evidence that you may have examined before making your decision.

If you prefer a Horary Chart quote the date, time and place of the Chart together with the determining factor.

The solution to the problem will be published in the May Issue but anyone able to correspond on email will receive an answer soon after sending an answer.

TEST MATERIAL WANTED

To keep up the monthly "Tests" which have proved so popular both in Australia and overseas I need a constant input from serious astrologers of suitable material. The essentials are accurate data for the chart (date, time and place) something that has actually happened and the outcome known. The subject person will not be identified.

Up to date the greater part of the material has been supplied by a relatively few zealous astrologers but there must be scores of others who could also assist in this work. I ask them please to contribute material.

To my knowledge, this monthly series of Tests is unique to Astrologers' Forum and it is one of the very best means of becoming proficient in Astrology, as many participants will attest.

It will take some effort for you to supply the wanted material, but nothing like the effort I put into producing this Journal each month.

My kind regards to all,

Dymock, 4 April 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 271 March 2004

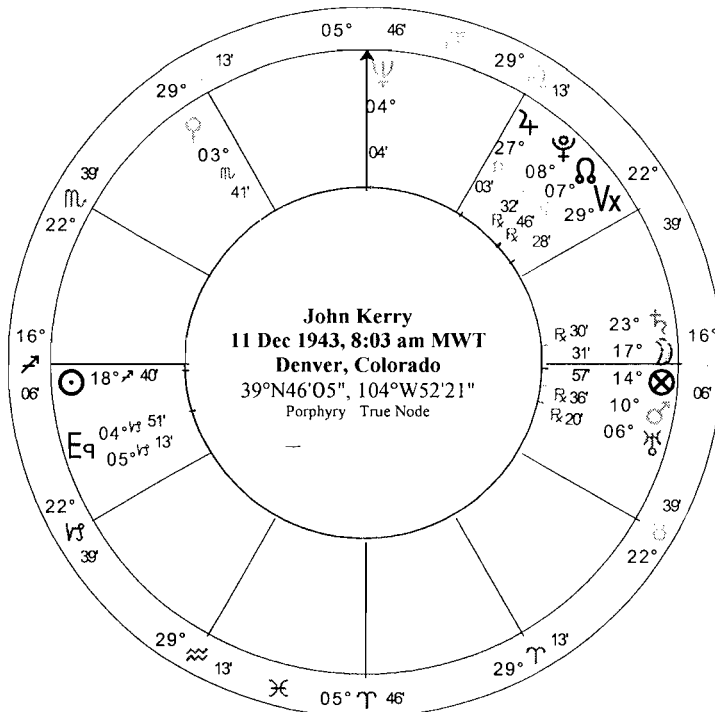

A red sticker here means
your subscription is due.

JOHN KERRY — NEXT USA PRESIDENT!

The next Presidential Election in the USA is timed for 2nd November, 2004. Though eight months away the outcome can still be judged by astrological means between the incumbent Republican President, George W. Bush and the Democratic challenger, Senator John Kerry.

John Kerry will win!

Here is the Senator's Natal Figure. The time of 8:03 am was obtained from the Senator himself in 1996.

The Natal Figure of President George W. Bush appears in the next column.

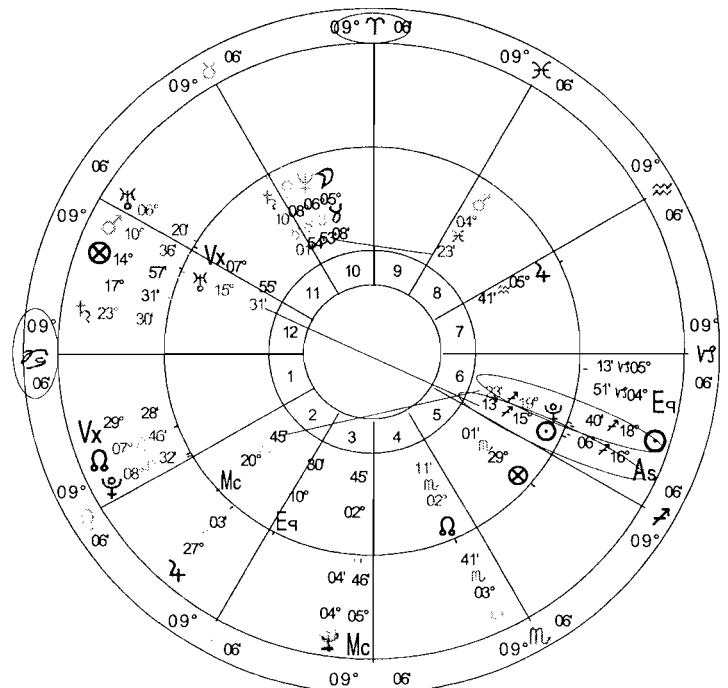

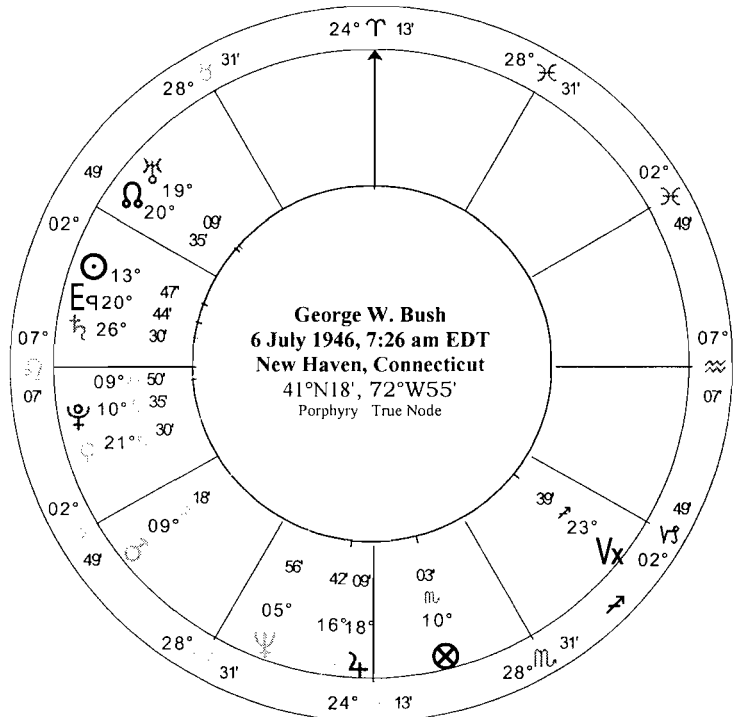

The outcome of the Election on November 2 is revealed by the relevant Age Harmonics of the two contenders—the same method that was successful in forecasting George W. Bush's win over Al Gore in the last Presidential Election.

In the adjacent column is the Age Harmonic of John Kerry covering the month 11 Oct—11 Nov 2004. The vital Aspects in regard to the Election are:

1. Pluto conjunct Natal & AH-Sun (acquisition of power).
2. Pluto trine 'floating' MC (status of power and authority).
3. The Moon, ruling the Ascendant, sextile Mars ruling the MC (receiving and exercising the power of leadership).
4. Uranus opposite the Sun (radical change of Office).

In This Issue

	Page
John Kerry—Next USA President!.....	1
Portrait of a Prophet.....	2
Test No. 86—Report.....	3
Slaughter in Iraq.....	4
Test No. 87.....	4
Termination of Astrologers' Forum	4

Inner Circle: John Kerry: Age Harmonic 60.8333, 11 Oct—12 Nov 2004

Outer Circle: John Kerry: Birth Figure. Cusps from Age Harmonic.

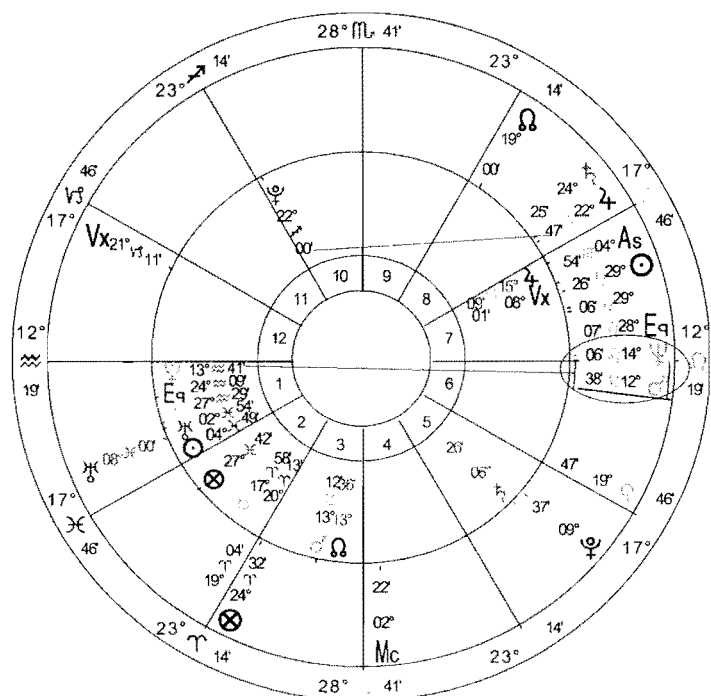

Inner Circle: Test 86, Lunar Return (precessed) 29 July 2003.

Outer Circle: Test 86, Natal Chart

SLAUGHTER IN IRAQ

The continuing savagery of the random bombings in Iraq has come to be accepted as a terrible but unavoidable fact of life that attracts no special interest outside the country concerned. However, the massive slaughter on Tuesday, March 2 compels world-wide attention through its unprecedented horror and brutality. The reports are that in one 24-hour period massive suicide bombings in the cities of Bagdad and Karbala killed 182 people and wounded at least 550 others. A national catastrophe on this level must surely stand out as a special though horrible feature in the cyclic Charts. And it does. Here is the precessed Lunar Return Chart for the Kingdom of Iraq, surrounded by the National Chart. Neptune right on the Ascendant opposes Mars and Neptune (violence and injuries by stealth); Pluto on a Cusp (Porphyry) is square natal Jupiter and Saturn in the 8th House (many deaths).

Inner Circle: Precessed Lunar Return 24 Feb 2004 Baghdad, Outer Circle: Radix of Iraq Kingdom, 23 Aug 1921, 6 am BAT Baghdad. 33N21,44E25. Porphyry

TEST NO. 87

Test No. 87 is another exercise to differentiate between several possible events any one of which may appear to be indicated. Close scrutiny is needed to distinguish between them and select the right one—an invaluable exercise for honing your predictive skills.

The Test concerns a schoolboy born at 2:49 pm ACDT (-10:30) on 2nd December 1987 in Elizabeth, South Australia (34S45, 138E39). Ascendant 3Ar15, MC 3Cp34, Moon1 Ta47. (Tropical Zodiac).

The question is, which of the following five events occurred in the life of this schoolboy on 18 December 2003? He was living at Hervey Bay (25S18, 152E54) at the time. Only one event occurred, the other four are fictitious.

1. He quarrelled with a school friend.
2. He failed an examination.
3. He was in trouble for truancy.
4. He broke his wrist in play.
5. His mother became ill.

This is a Test of your Astrology and working on it will increase your insight and further your abilities. You should not be too concerned if you don't find the answer—most respondents don't. The real gain is in making your Astrology of practical use by learning how to apply it to everyday affairs.

For the most gain, rather than simply working on it at home, send a written answer to me (by e-mail or letter—address as on page 1) before 20th March. This makes your judgement more precise. Give only the most important factor in your solution, not all supporting evidence that you may have discovered.

A worked answer will be published in the next Issue of this Journal.

Termination of Astrologers' Forum

I shall be terminating Astrologers' Forum in December 2004, after 23 years of monthly publication. I plan to give myself more leisure to enjoy life with Marguerite, though continuing my private work and possibly writing a book, My Findings in 50 years of Astrology. The Monthly "Tests" will be continued indefinitely on the Internet and available to all astrologers who want to continue their education with this invaluable means of developing their practical abilities.

In accordance with the notice in Issue 269 (page 4), one month is added to the term of all subscriptions. Those whose subscriptions expire in mid-year will be individually notified of a proportionate amount to carry the term through to December. Those whose subscriptions expire in 2005 will be compensated for the unexpired portion of their term.

My kind regards to all,

Dymock, 5 March 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

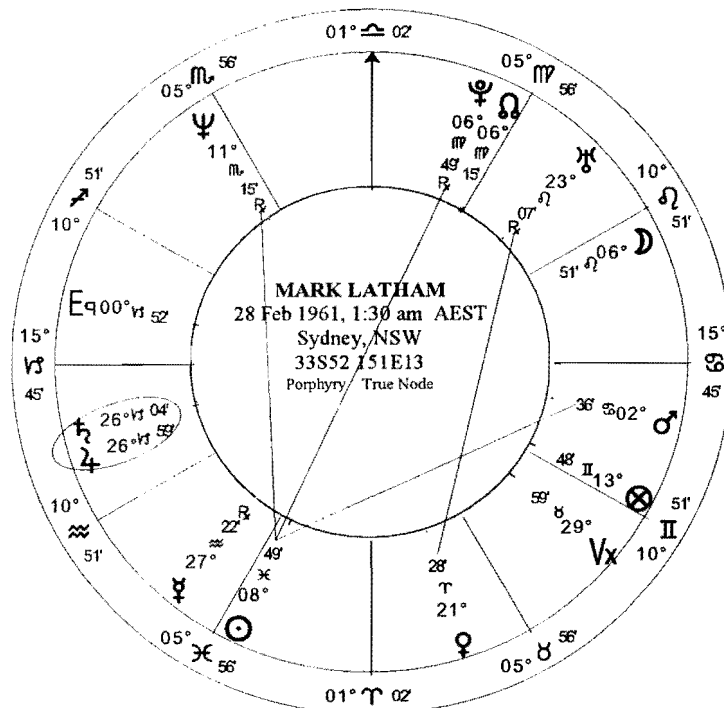

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au
 Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 270 February 2004

A red sticker here means
 your subscription is due.

Mark Latham, Leader of the Labor Party

Federal politics in Australia have received a significant boost from the advent on the scene of Mark Latham, new Leader of the Labor Party. He is inspiring fresh hope in the Laborites who have been languishing on the Opposition benches since 1986.

Here is his Birth Chart, courtesy of Esoteric Technologies:

Capricorn rises with Ruler Saturn very closely conjunct Jupiter in the 1st House. From this strong emphasis on Capricorn it is apparent that Mark has high aspirations and is capable of unremitting effort in the pursuit of them. He is earnest and devoted to his tasks, with a strong sense of duty and the determination to do well. Conservative and conventional in thought and method he is nevertheless ambitious and persevering. He does not necessarily need to make great leaps forward but is content with steady if unspectacular progress in pursuit of his aims, the accumulation of small gains over a long period being sufficient.

The second decanate of Capricorn is ruled by Mars (Chaldean system) and denotes enthusiasm, forcefulness, assertiveness and intense ambition combined with much energy. He could be tough and inflexible and is capable of securing honours and fame, but may suffer reversals through lack of moderation in his conduct. He will have many rivals assailing his reputation and position but will also have numerous powerful friends bestowing benefits.

In This Issue

	Page
Mark Latham, Leader of the Labor Party.....	1
Federal Election—When?.....	1
P.M. John Howard.....	3
Test No. 85—Report.....	4
New Test No. 86.....	4

The opposition from Pluto indicates power and authority, concentration on goals, serious involvements in complicated situations and fateful events that become turning points, re-directing his aims and energies. This destiny of fundamental changes is emphasized by the trine of Uranus to Venus ruling the Midheaven.

The Sun's trine to Mars signifies vitality and energy, the capacity to make decisions and implement them with vigour.

Sensitivity and compassion are indicated in Mark's Geniture by the Piscean Sun, accentuated by the trine to Neptune. The personal evolutionary path of those born under Capricorn was mapped out in 1911 by Isabelle Pagan (From Pioneer to Poet): It is unceasing hard work in the social or political sphere or through the development of the diplomatic ability and of the tendency to be all things to all men.

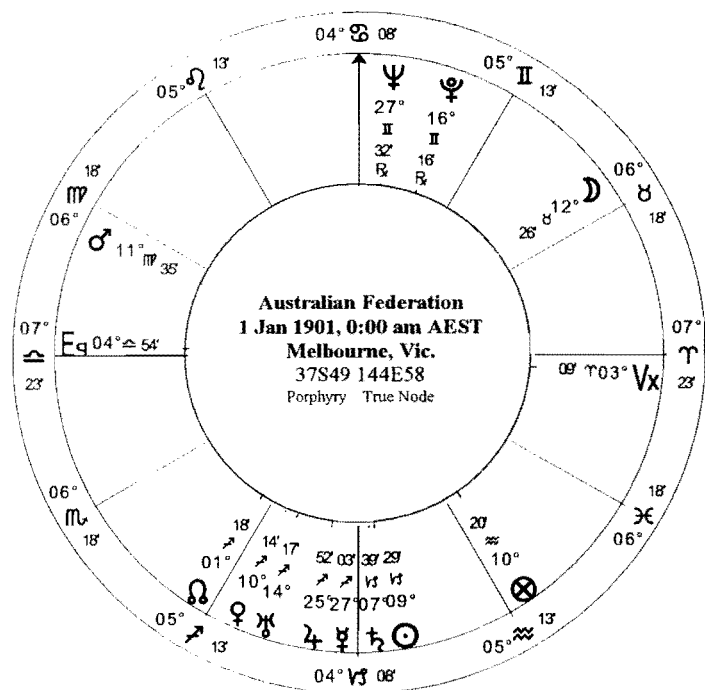

Mark is a visionary who wants to make the world a better place.

FEDERAL ELECTION—WHEN?

A Federal Election is due in Australia this year, dependent on the will of John Howard who as Prime Minister has the privilege of choosing the time. The Labor and Liberal Parties have already started their electioneering campaign, but the big question is, what will be Poll Day?

In the past, astrologers have applied themselves to predicting the outcome of Elections once the date has been announced. This has been achieved with varying success by various methods. On the present occasion I thought to try predicting the date when the poll will be held. I have not seen this attempted before but have never minded, as an astrologer, putting my name on the line.

But where to start? The Federation Chart seemed likely to yield clues: January 1, 1901, 0:00 am, Melbourne (the time and place when the legislation creating the Federation was legally implemented). This Chart appears on the next page. I inspected the Lunar Return Figures for the last eleven Federal Elections (13 Dec 1975—10 Nov 2001). What to look for? Maybe emphasis on the 10th House (the Government), or on the 11th House (Parliament), or (most likely) the 3rd House (polling). In fact, it was the last-named that gave the information. All the Monthly Charts, either alone or with the Radix circumscribed, showed a marked emphasis on the 3rd House—the Polling House, whether by the presence of the Moon, a stellium of planets or by conjunctions with and Aspects to the Ruler of the 3rd. Its polar opposite, the 9th, was sometimes emphasized also. The Significators were often coupled to the Ascendant or Midheaven by close Aspect.

Space does not allow reproduction of all eleven Charts, but here are the last four (27 Feb 1993, 24 Feb 1996, 10 Sep 1998, and 2 Nov 2001). These Lunar-Return Figures are drawn from the Federation Chart of Australia above, (Porphyry Cusps and True Node). They are set for Canberra, the Capital City, and are all precessed, though the standard (non-precessed) Figures usually gave similar indications, if not quite as compelling. The Radix is circumscribed for easy observation of the inter-Chart Aspects.

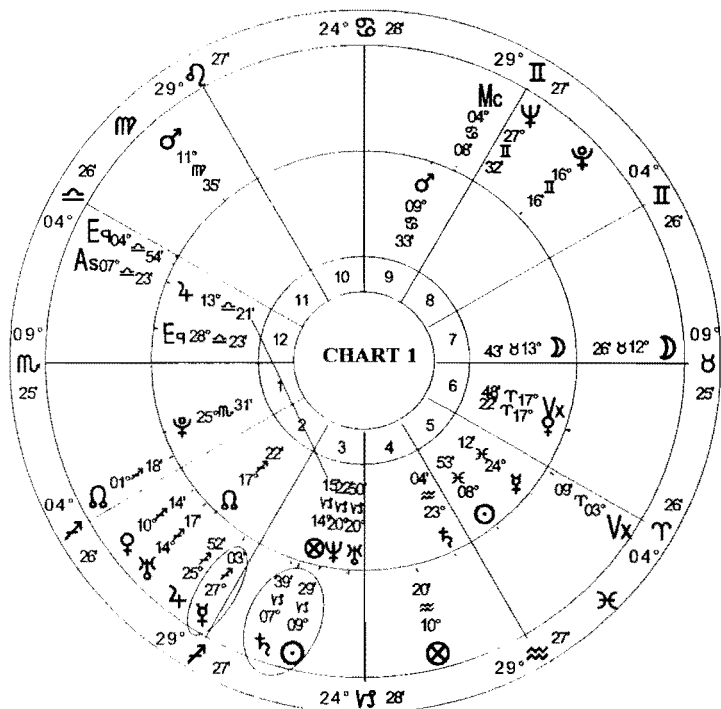

CHART 1 (LR 27 Feb 1993 for Federal Election 13 Mar 1993) has Fortuna in the Polls House in square Aspect to Jupiter, Ruler of the House. Radix Sun and Saturn are conjunct in the 3rd House. Radix Mercury is conjunct the 3rd Cusp.

CHART 2 (LR 24 Feb 1996 for Federal Election 2 Mar 1996) has Fortuna on the 3rd Cusp, quincunx Radix Pluto in the 10th. Mars, Ruler of the House is conjunct the Sun. The Moon in the polar opposite House is linked to Fortuna by opposition Aspect.

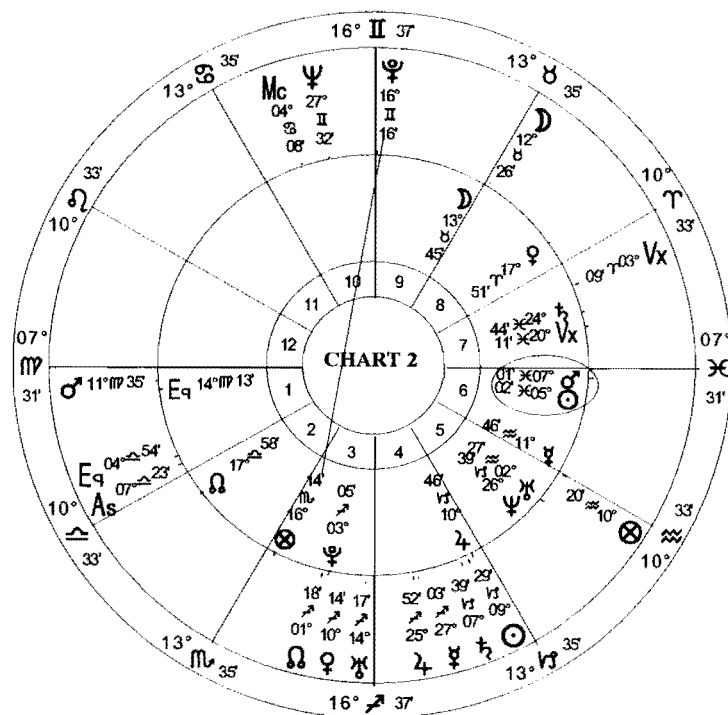

CHART 3 (10 Sep 1998 for Federal Election 3 October 1998) has Mars in the 3rd House closely squaring the Moon ruling the House. The Moon is trine Fortuna.

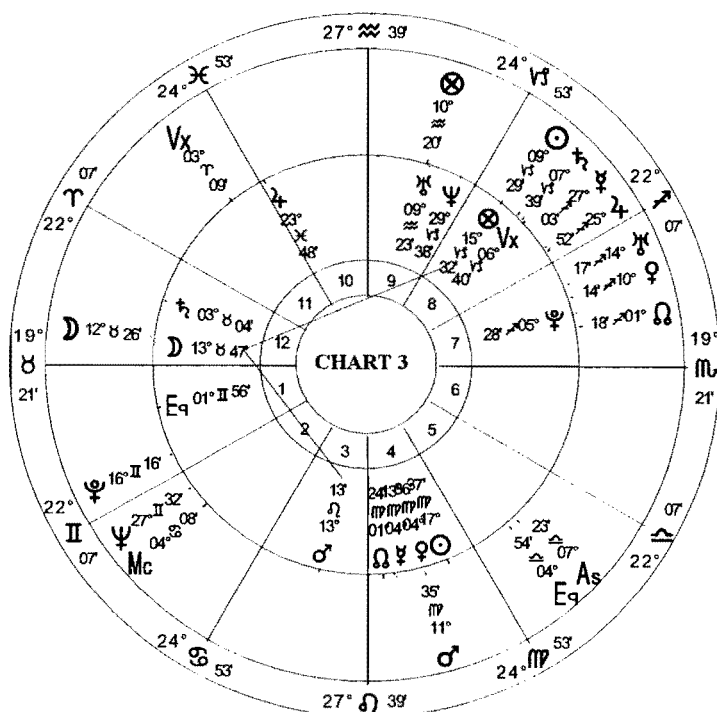

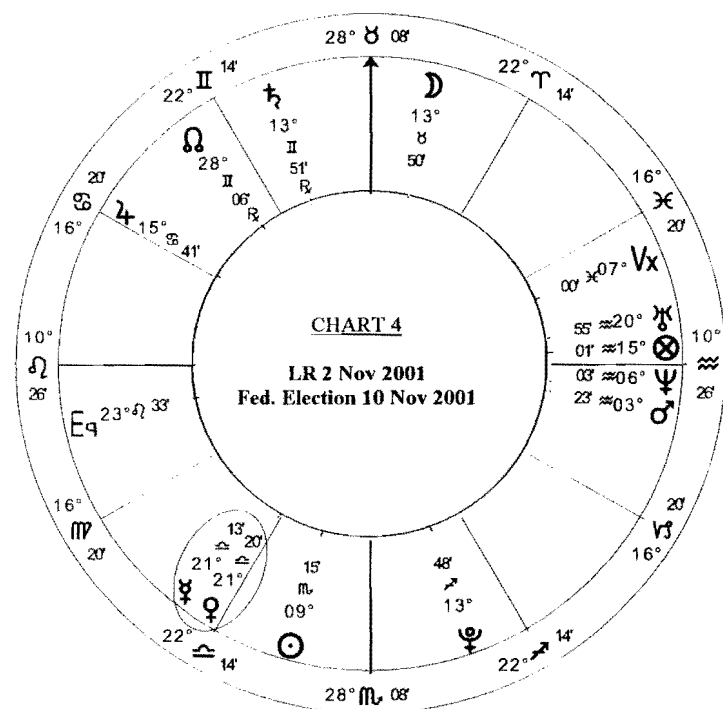

CHART 4 (LR 2 Nov 2001 for Federal Election 10 Nov 2001) has sufficient indications on its own without relating it to the Radix: Venus is closely conjunct Mercury on the Pollings Cusp. Venus also rules this House and the 10th. Mercury is the planetary equivalent of the 3rd House and Polls.

My research having yielded this information, I now looked for similar clues in the Monthly Charts of the Federation during the current year. Several came up for consideration: I eliminated the precessed Lunar Return of Jan 30—Feb 25, 2004 (which does have the election criteria) because a poll will be held in the State of Queensland on Feb. 7, and also it is now too late for the Prime Minister to declare a Federal Election in this period.

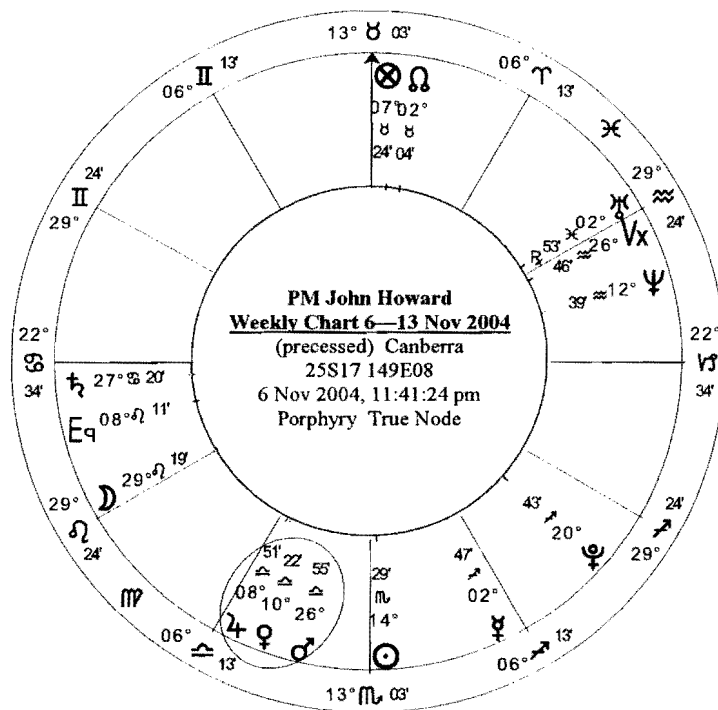

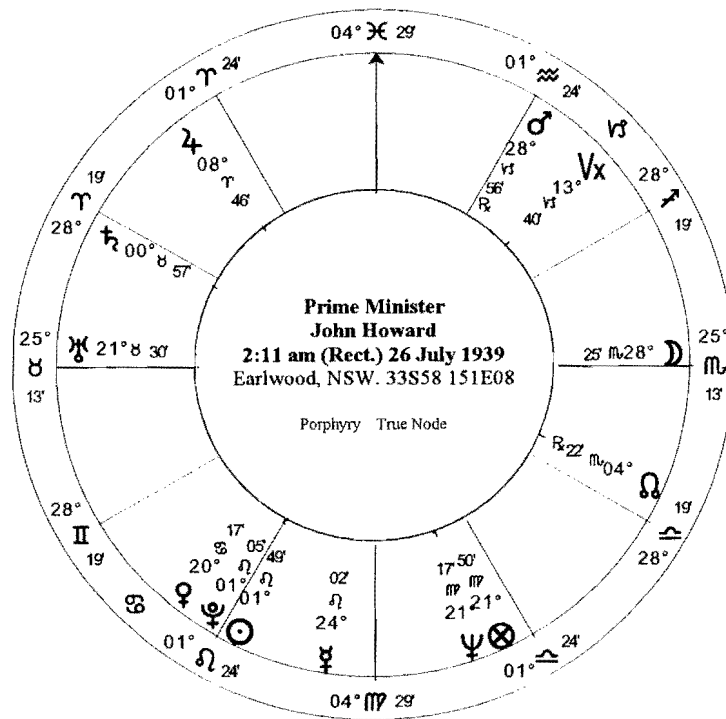

The task now becomes one of finding which Chart will indicate a Federal Election and not a State or a By-Election (as when a sitting member of Parliament resigns or dies).

Four Charts in 2004 to be considered are the Lunar Returns of July 11—Aug 7, Aug 8—Sep 4, Oct 1—Oct 28, and Nov 25—Dec 20. One of these probably refers to an Election in the Australian Capital Territory which is also due to be held this year.

The Chart (not displayed) that draws most attention is the precessed Lunar Return of 29 Oct—25 Nov 2004. When the Radix of the Federation is superimposed on this the conjunction of the Sun and Saturn are right on the 3rd Cusp, and the Sun rules the Midheaven. This certainly looks sufficiently weighty for a Nation-wide poll.

As the Prime Minister has the prerogative of appointing the Polling Date we may now be able to refine the search by reference to his Birth Chart (next column). This Horoscope of John Howard is for the rectified time discussed in Issue 244 (November 2001).

A perusal of the PM's four Weekly Charts in the month 29 Oct—25 Nov 2004 (Oct 30, Nov 6, 13 and 19) discovers the highly indicative Chart November 6—13 (next column). Jupiter, Venus and Mars occupy the Polls House, and Venus rules both this House and the Midheaven. We are not likely to get any better indication than this. The Election has to be on a Saturday—but which Saturday? There are two in the above period—6 November and 13 November.

Here the choice can be made by reference to the PM's Progressed Aspects.

On Nov. 6, Mars squares Sun/Neptune by converse Solar-Arc. On Nov. 12 the Sun trines Jupiter/Pluto by Secondary Progression. Both these Midpoint Aspects engage the PM's 3rd House, which is occupied and ruled by the Sun, but the second also involves Pluto in the 3rd House and Jupiter which rules the Midheaven.

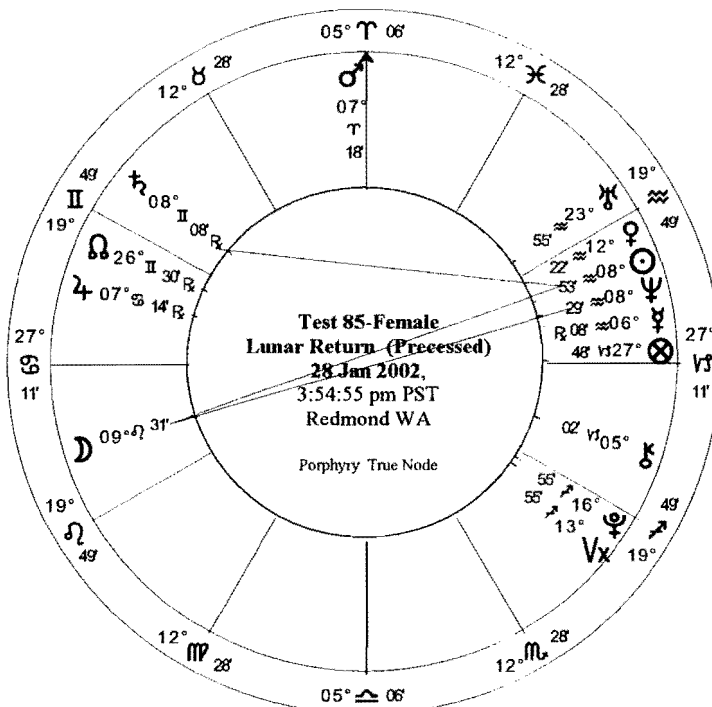

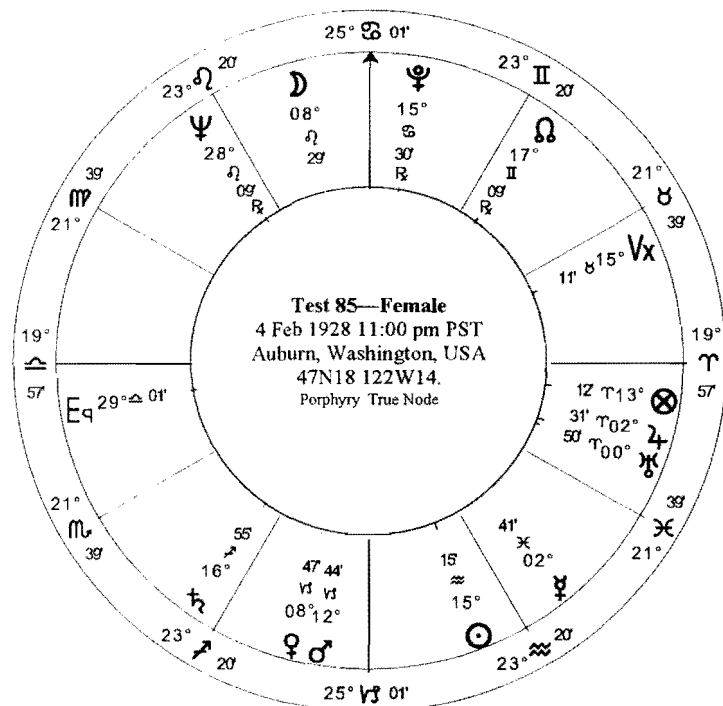

It is therefore the date of choice, and Saturday, November 13, is my prediction of the Election day. Time will tell. Prime Minister John Howard will announce the date at least a month beforehand.

This is my first attempt at this type of prediction, nor have I seen it done elsewhere. If the prediction is wrong the method may be flawed and I shall look for an improved technique.

— Dymock.

TEST 85—REPORT

Test 85 concerned a woman born on 4th Feb 1928 in Auburn, Washington. Here is her Birth Figure:
The question was to determine which one of the following five events occurred in her life on 23 Feb 2002 while she was living at Redmond, Washington (The other four events are fictitious).

1. She moved into a new house.
2. She went on a pleasure cruise.
3. She received an inheritance.
4. She fell and broke her hip.
5. She died.

The correct answer is that the woman died.

There were 41 respondents and 8 of them solved the problem correctly. 18 opted for "broken hip", 8 for "pleasure cruise", 4 for "new house", and 3 for "inheritance".

Two Charts that give the answer are the Lunar Return (precessed) of 28 Jan 2002 and the Age Harmonic 74. They appear in the next column.

Lunar Return: Death is shown by the Moon rising opposing the Sun and Neptune in close conjunction; Saturn ruling the House of Death closely trine the Sun and Neptune.

Age Harmonic: Pluto in the House of Death, sextile to Jupiter ruling that House; both planets in a Yod with the Rising Degree.

Congratulations to all respondents for making the attempt, whether successful or not.

TEST NO. 86-MALE

This new Test concerns a man born on 17th Jan 1957 at 8 am NZT in Christchurch, New Zealand. (43S32, 172E38); Asc 28Aq12, MC 21Sc03, Moon 4Le34.

The Test is to find which one of the following five events occurred in his life on 16 August 2003 in Canberra, Australia Capital Territory (35S17, 149E08) where he was living at the time. Only one of the events occurred.

1. He won a motorcycle race.
2. He fell off the roof and broke his leg.
3. His father died.
4. He bought a new house.
5. His wife gave birth to a son.

Please send your answers to me by 20th February, giving its astrological basis (the most important factor only). All respondents will receive a personal reply. A single, unequivocal answer is required, not alternatives. This is to develop accuracy in distinguishing between "possibles"—very necessary for predictive work.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 8 February, 2004.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com

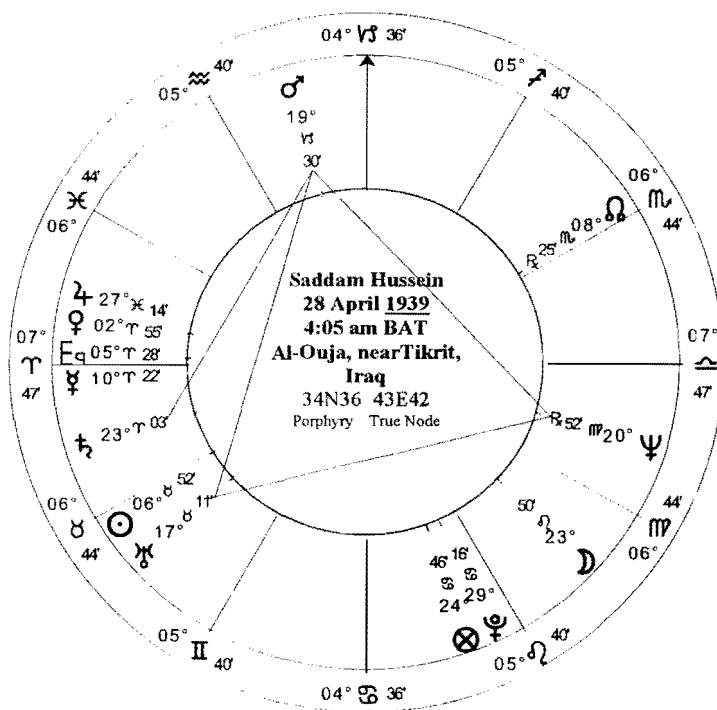

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 269 January 2004

A red sticker here means
your subscription is due

THE CHART FOR SADDAM HUSSEIN

The capture of Saddam Hussein on 13th December 2003 has produced a spate of commentary and analysis on the Internet. In my view, however, they are all using the wrong birth date for him—28 April 1937. Readers of this Journal will recall the information in Issue 265 (August) where it is explained that Saddam was actually born in 1939 but changed it to 1937 because he was marrying a woman born in that year and it was not considered the right thing in Iraq for the man to be younger than the woman.

Here is the revised Chart from the July Issue:

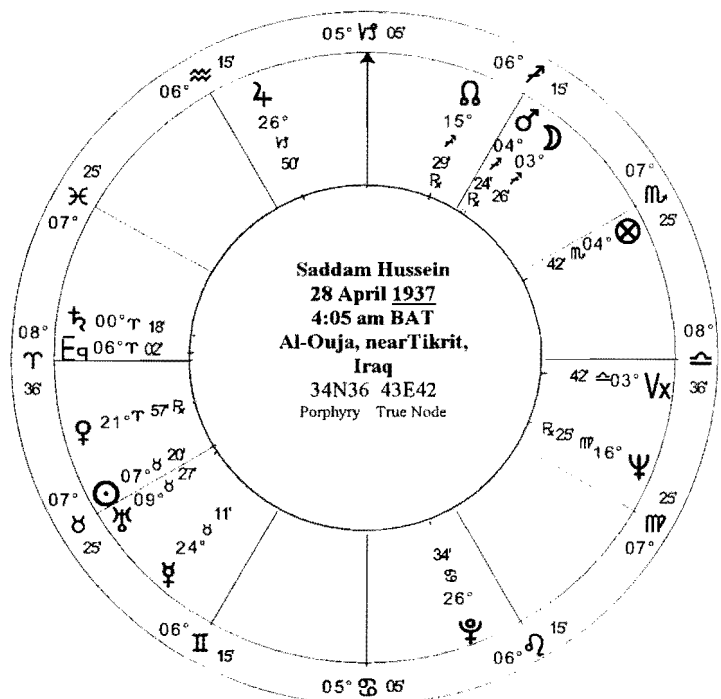

Aries rises and the Ruler Mars is isolated and stands high in the Chart in the very compatible Sign Capricorn. Thus it has scope for the full expression of its powers. That the powers expressed will mostly, if not entirely, be the adverse ones is evident from the connection with Saturn, Uranus and Neptune. Saturn is linked to Mars by Mutual Reception and a powerful square, Uranus and Neptune by a Grand Trine with small orbs. Together they signify cruelty, ruthlessness and scheming, for all of which Hussein's personal history has provided ample evidence.

For comparison, the 1937 Chart (the commonly used but wrong one) is printed in the next column

The time of birth, 4:05am, used for both Charts, is taken from the same source as the date, 1939. It is substantiated by the Harmonic Charts for two crucial events in Hussein's life: (1) The Coalition's attack on

In This Issue

	Page
The Chart for Saddam Hussein.....	1
Virgo—Realistic, Not Perfectionist.....	3
Test No. 84.....	3
Test No. 85.....	4
Lady Diana, Princess of Wales.....	4

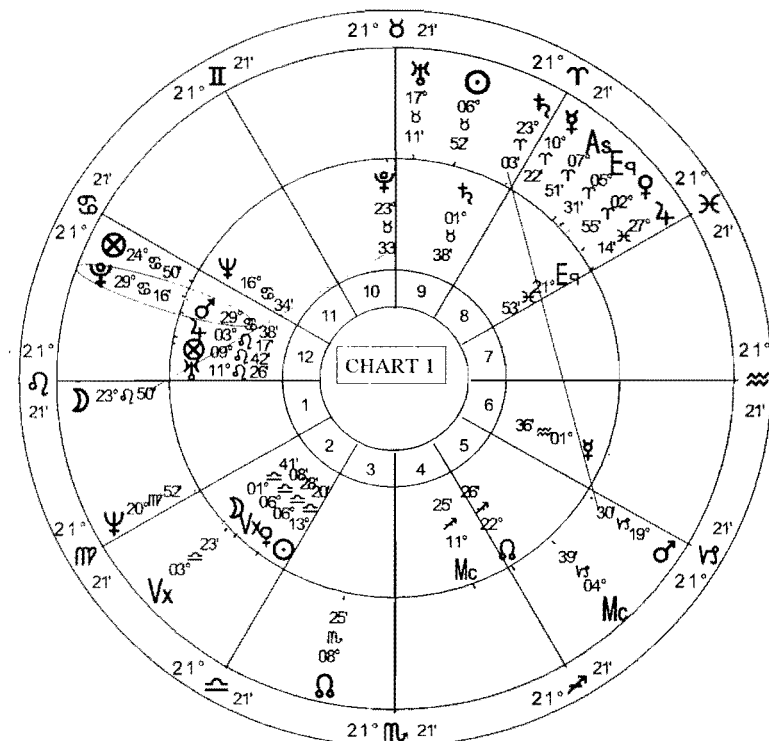

him on 20th March 2003, and (2) his capture 9 months later on 13 December 2003. The relative Charts, in Biwheels with the two Radices, can be examined on the next page. They are another example of the supreme utility of the Age Harmonic technique.

The upper two Biwheels (1 and 2, next page) relate to the Birth Date 23 April 1939. The lower couple of Biwheels (3 and 4) relate to the Birth Date 23 April 1937. The birth time for all OFigures is 4:05 am.

Comparison of the upper set with the lower set shows immediately that 1939 is much superior to 1937 as the date of Saddam Hussein's birth.

CHART 1 (1939—Coalition's attack) has Pluto on the Midheaven exactly square to Natal Moon on the Ascendant (subjection to superior force); Mars in the 12th House exactly conjunct natal Pluto (violent assault); and Natal Saturn and Mars in square from the 9th House (damage from a foreign source).

CHART 2 (1937), for the same period, has Saturn square the MC; Neptune square Natal Mars; and the Natal Jupiter/Pluto opposition along the Meridian. These are not favourable factors but they don't signify violence. On the contrary, Venus, ruling the Ascendant is conjunct the Natal Eq (peace).

Inner Wheel & Cusps: Saddam Hussein/1939—63.8333 Harmonic Chart, 28 Feb—28 Mar 2003.
Coalition Attack 20 Mar 2003

Inner Wheel & Cusps: Saddam Hussein/1939—64.5833 Harmonic Chart, 28 Nov—28 Dec 2003.
Hussein captured 20 Mar 2003

Inner Wheel & Cusps: Saddam Hussein/1937—65.8333 Harmonic Chart, 28 Feb—28 Mar 2003
Coalition Attack 20 Mar 2003

Inner Wheel & Cusps: Saddam Hussein/1937—65.8333 Harmonic Chart, 28 Nov—28 Dec 2003
Hussein captured 13 Dec 2003

For the second event, the capture of Hussein on 13 Dec 2003, the two relevant Biwheels are equally distinct in their significations:

CHART 3 (1939) has Pluto on the Ascendant conjunct Natal Moon, square Neptune and opposite the Vertex, signifying a fateful event, arrest and forceful change of residence.

CHART 4 (1937), for the same event, has contrary indications: The Sun ruling the MC is conjunct Jupiter (protection and prosperity), with Natal Fortuna on the Ascendant! Neptune square the Moon suggests illness but is not a threat of violence.

In my view, the above comparison removes any doubt that 1939, not 1937, is Saddam Hussein's birth date. This unique tool provided by Age Harmonics is of immense service in distinguishing the true from the false.

Hussein has some heavy afflictions coming up later in 2004—the outer planets at their Stations combining with their counterparts and the Angles in the Radix:

1. Saturn Square the Ascendant, 7 Mar 2004
2. Pluto square Neptune, 24 Mar 2004
3. Neptune square Saturn, 17 May 2004
4. Pluto square Neptune, 30 Aug 2003
5. Saturn conjunct Pluto, 8 Nov 2004.

However, planets need scope to exert their influence. Dire as these appear it is difficult to see how they can change Hussein's situation in any significant way while he remains a prisoner of the Coalition. He is a spent force, unable to take advantage of any planetary vibrations. At present the Allies are mainly concerned with what useful information they can gain from their captive and what, in the interest of all parties, should be the Court that tries him for his crimes. □

VIRGO—REALISTIC, NOT PERFECTIONIST!

by Barbara Banfield (USA)

(Reprinted from Issue 180, July 1996)

I want to share some thoughts about Virgo. I have Sun/Jupiter conjunct in Virgo and have done a lot of thinking and, yes!, analysing this Sign. A very common description of Virgo is "perfectionistic". Yet, the most accurate thing I ever read about Virgo was by Liz Greene.

She says Virgo is an Earth Sign and hence it is realistic. Perfection is an ideal state, and thus much more associated with Air Signs. Now, Virgos will be the first to tell you that we aren't perfect, we know we never will be, and aren't really trying to be. I am going to do a little Virgoan hair-splitting here and try to be more specific about what Virgo really is all about. Virgo is a mutable Earth Sign. Mutable Signs are primarily concerned with gathering information, learning, and making use of that learning. Therefore, since Virgo is in Earth, it is especially tuned into material reality. It is very good at discerning details and patterns and understanding how this material world (including our bodies) fits together and works. It is interested in using this knowledge to make things and fix things and do things and generally improve things here on the Earth plane. It has a natural talent for noticing when and how things are not as they should or could be. Yes, Virgo is EXACTING. Virgo strives for EXCELLENCE. But this is a very grounded kind of exactness. It knows what degree of exactness is possible to attain for any given task and once it has reached that, it says Great! Good enough! and cheerfully lets go.

It is my observation of people who are weak in Virgo or heavy in Air Signs that they are in fact perfectionists. I used to own a business and had the interesting task of training and supervising others. My perfectionist employees had a very hard time finishing something. It was NEVER good enough. I would finally look it over and say—great, this is fine, this is good enough! Virgo is eminently practical and knows when something is good enough for its intended purpose. Here is the use of the Virgo discernment. It is not only used to find endless faults but also used to determine what level of exactitude is necessary for every task and to know when something has reached that state.

The other thing I noticed is that my heavy Air or Water-Sign people had no idea whether something was accomplished properly. Several employees had the idea that something should be clean because they "cleaned" it—but paid absolutely no attention to whether they had actually gotten it clean! Or something should be finished because they had spent X amount of time on it and that is about how long it should take, regardless of whether they had effectively accomplished the task.

I think that all the other Signs look at Virgo's natural ease and skill at working with the material world, her ability to achieve excellent outcomes, her keen eye for detail and pattern, her relentless realism, and cry "Perfectionist!" because it is not nearly so easy or so natural to the other Signs to operate in that fashion. When they attempt to achieve excellent results they often DO resort to perfectionism and frequently have a hard time knowing when something is "good enough".

This is why so many people with heavy Virgo have sloppy houses, messy kitchens, and do NOT spend endless hours house-cleaning. Virgo discerns what level of excellence is needed and necessary for every endeavour. A super-clean house is often not on the priority list. Remember, Virgo is a realist, and if she knows that she only has 24 hours in the day and if she is truly going to achieve excellence in the things that matter most to her she happily tolerates disorder and sloppiness in the areas of life that are less important to her. Yet, if she is a Virgo-Moon in the 4th House, that house-cleaning may just be at the top of the list!

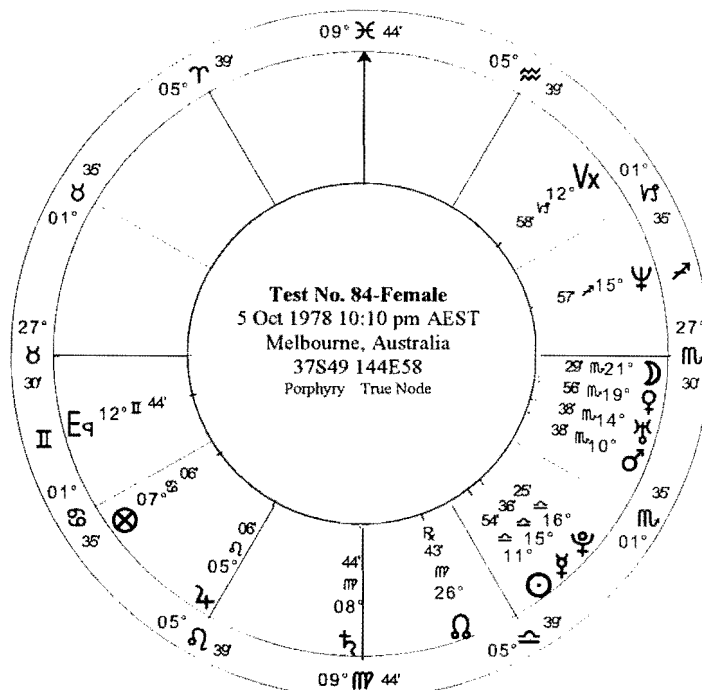

So, yes, Virgo is exacting, she strives for excellence, she notices all the details, and even though she is aware of the imperfections, she knows when something is good enough. It is just that the level of excellence she is capable of attaining often looks and feels like perfection to others. But she knows it's not, because she can still see the remaining flaws!

There—I have had my hair-splitting, nitpicky, analytical say.

If you want something done right, do it yourself—or hire a Virgo! □

Test No. 84—Report

Test 84 related to the woman whose Birth Chart appears below.

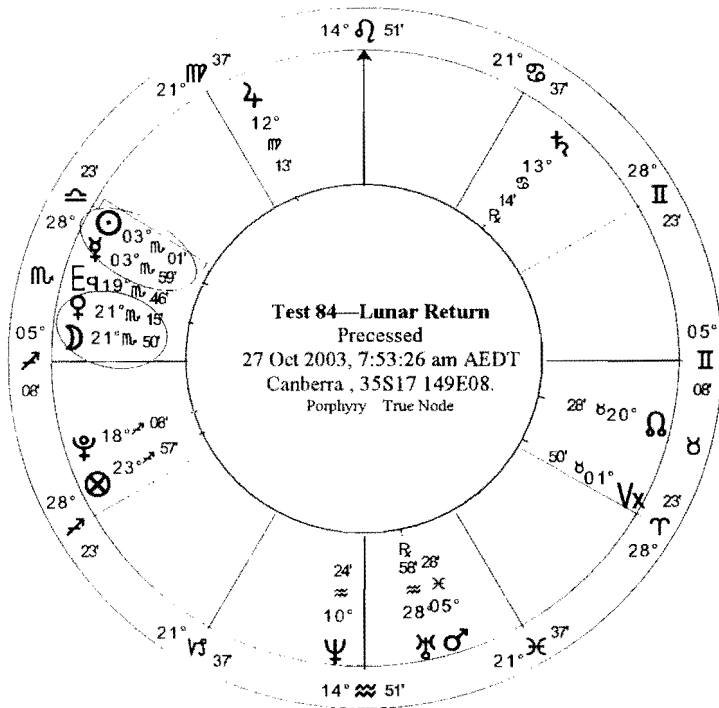

The question was to determine which one of the following five events occurred in her life on 8 Nov 2003, while she was living in Canberra, A.C.T.

1. She married.
2. She gave birth to a child.
3. She bought a house.
4. She crashed her car.
5. Her mother died.

The answer is that the woman married. There were 42 respondents and 7 were correct.

Probably, the quickest answer is in the precessed Lunar Return Chart of 27 Oct 2003 (for Canberra). See next page.

There are two close conjunctions in the Chart:

1. The Moon conjunct Venus, which could mean either a birth or a marriage.
2. The Sun conjunct Mercury, ruling respectively the House of Status and the House of Marriage, which settles that it was a marriage and not a birth.

There are no indications pointing to any of the other three events. The standard Lunar Return Chart, though not quite so specific, also gives the answer.

Test No. 85

Test 85 concerns a woman born on 4th Feb 1928 in Auburn, Washington, USA (47N18, 122W14) at 11 pm PST. The Asc is 19Li57, MC 25Ca01, Moon 8Le29.

The question is to determine which one of the following five events occurred in her life on 23 Feb 2002 while she was living at Redmond, Washington (47N40, 122W07). (The other four events are fictitious).

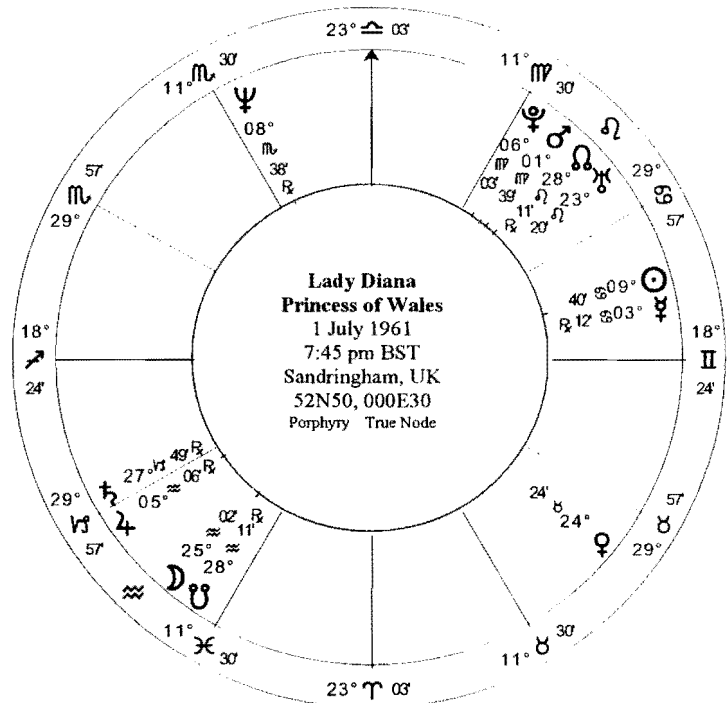

1. She moved into a new house.
2. She went on a pleasure cruise.
3. She received an inheritance.
4. She fell and broke her hip.
5. She died.

Exercises such as this are; indispensable for learning how to distinguish between different possibilities that may all seem to be indicated by the disposition of the planets. You must cultivate this skill if you want to do predictive work.

Please send your answer to me, with its astrological basis, by 20th January. Give only the single most important indication, not supportive or confirming analysis that you might make for helping to arrive at your decision. A single unequivocal answer is required not alternatives. All participants will receive a personal reply. □

LADY DIANA, PRINCESS OF WALES

It is interesting to learn that, more than seven years after the event, an inquest will be opened in England into the death on 31st August 1997 of Lady Diana. Evidently, France has been responsible for the long delay by refusing to supply England with all necessary information. Here is Lady Diana's Birth Chart:

Diana's sudden death in a car crash was for some astrologers a difficult task to account for astrologically. It was, however, exactly portrayed in the Chart for her Age Harmonic (36) coupled with the Birth Figure (See Astrologers' Forum Issue 193 (August 1997)).

But what were the astrological factors connected with her undoubted world-wide popularity and fame? I have never seen any attempt on the part of astrologers to account for this facet of Diana's life.

Fame, in astrological parlance, is usually associated with the 10th House, the Sun and Jupiter.

In Diana's Chart the 10th House is unoccupied (I place Neptune in the 11th, not the 10th) but its Ruler, Venus, aspects the MC, the Sun, the Moon and Uranus, with an orb less than 2°. Jupiter is quincunx Pluto and has minor Aspects to the Ascendant, Vertex and Fortuna with less than 2° orb.

This is some indication of what we are looking for but hardly sufficient to account for the degree of fame that Diana enjoyed. But there is another factor — the main one — the Nodes of the planets:

Jupiter's Ascending Node is at 10Cn00—within 20' of the Sun (9Cn40)! This outweighs all the above factors in importance and accounts for Lady Diana's fame. Nodes act with the force of planets. □

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 4th Jan 2004.

This Issue, No. 269, January 2004, follows No. 268, November, 2003. Astrologers' Forum was not published in December 2003. Subscribers will be compensated by having an extra month added to the term of their subscription. —Ed.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

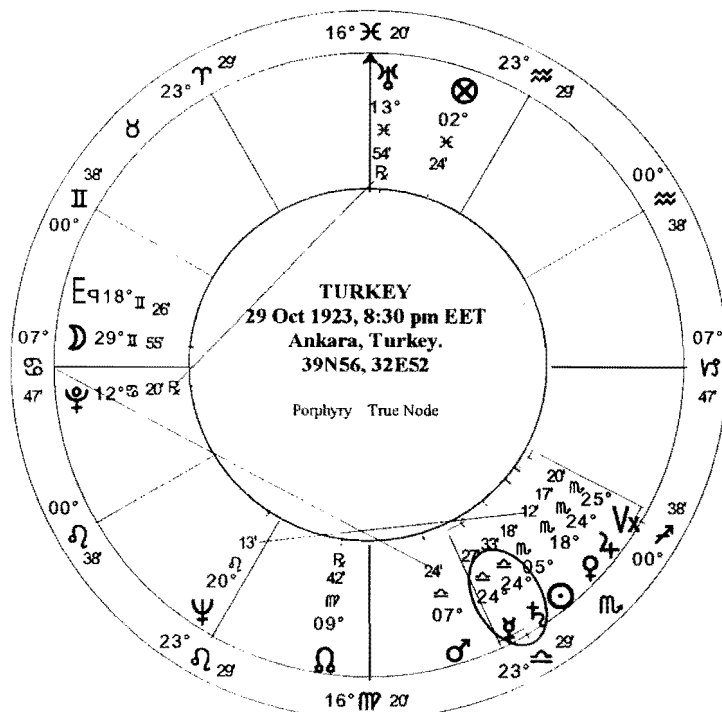

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com
 Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 268 November 2003

A red sticker here means your subscription is due.

TERRORISM IN TURKEY

Turkey is the latest victim of mass terrorism. On November 15 suicide attacks on two Istanbul synagogues by Turkish Islamic militants killed 23 people and the two suicide bombers, then on the 21st explosions shattered the Turkish headquarters of the London-based HSBC Bank and the British Consulate in downtown Istanbul. At least 30 people were killed or subsequently died of wounds and 450 were injured. These crimes rank among the most horrific and deadly of terrorist outrages. What is difficult to accept is that this killing and maiming is a deliberate policy of fellow human beings—a modern and horrible phenomenon never before seen on such a scale in the history of mankind.

Below is the Chart of Turkey as given by Nicolas Campion in the Book of World Charts.

The Chart is not a happy or peaceful one. The powerful Angular square between Uranus and Pluto plus the close square of Mars to the rising degree ensure an almost perpetual state of unrest and insurrection. The restive Kurdish minority (5th House) has been hassled and oppressed for many years. Its discontent is plain from the conjunction of Mercury and Saturn on the 5th Cusp and the square of Neptune to Venus in and ruling the House.

In the next column is the current Solar Return (precessed) for Turkey. The opposition of the Moon to Saturn accenting the 8th House does not give hope of a happy change. Quite the contrary, and putting the

In This Issue

	Page
Terrorism in Turkey.....	1
Mars Opposite Jupiter.....	2
Test No. 83—Report; Test No. 84.....	3
Princess Grace of Monaco.....	3
A New Look at China.....	4

Inner Wheel and Cusps: Solar Return (Precessed), 30 Oct 2003, 8:35:40 am, Outer Wheel: Radix, Turkey, 29 Oct 1923, 8:30 pm EET (-2:00)
 Both Charts drawn for the Capital, Ankara, Turkey, 39N56, 32E52
 Porphyry True Node

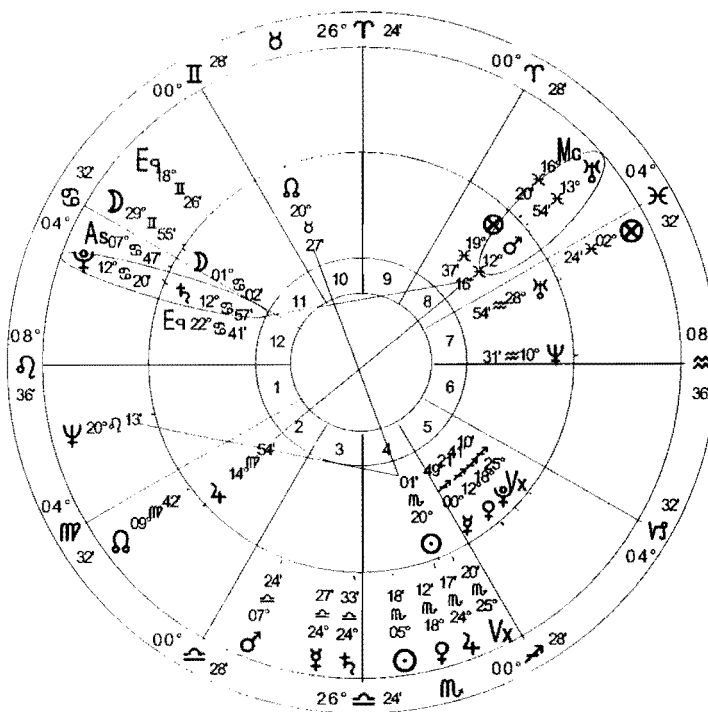

Radix around the Figure brings Pluto forcibly into the picture on the 8th Cusp, where it portends further death and destruction.

However, Jupiter's close applying trine to the Moon gives a measure of protection to the populace as Jupiter is the Ascendant Ruler. It will probably result in some terrorist attacks being thwarted as a result of vigilance and antiterrorist operations on the part of the Government.

December 15 was a particularly disastrous day for Turkey as Saturn was retrograding at 12Cn51, right on natal Pluto, and Mars at 13Pi29 was right on natal Uranus, precipitating the attack.

On December 21, Saturn in its slow retrograde motion was still in close contact with Pluto; Mars was exactly on the natal Midheaven, triggering the second attack.

An opposition in the sky of Mars to Jupiter has been a troublesome factor in charts all over the world. It was exact on November 20, and on that date it lay directly on the Meridian of Turkey's Radix, so Inner Wheel and Cusps: Turkey, Lunar Return (precessed) 12 Nov 2003.

10:15:54 pm. EET. Istanbul, Turkey, 41N01, 28E58.

Outer Wheel: Turkey, Natal Chart, 29 Oct 1923, 8:30 pm EET, Ankara, Turkey.
39N56, 32E52. Porphyry, True Node was at least partially responsible for the consequences we have just noted.

Transiting Saturn remains within a one-degree orb of Pluto until December 12, thus the period until then must be regarded as one of risk.

The Lunar Return, precessed, of 12 November 2003 (above) is set for Istanbul where the terrorists struck. Set inside the Radix, this Chart gives ample evidence of the scale and ferocity of the attacks:

- Mars in the House of Deaths is conjunct natal Uranus and opposed by Jupiter.
- Saturn in the House of Suffering is closely conjunct Pluto and trine Mars.
- The Sun, ruling the Ascendant, opposes the N.Node (conjunct the South Node) and is square Natal Neptune.

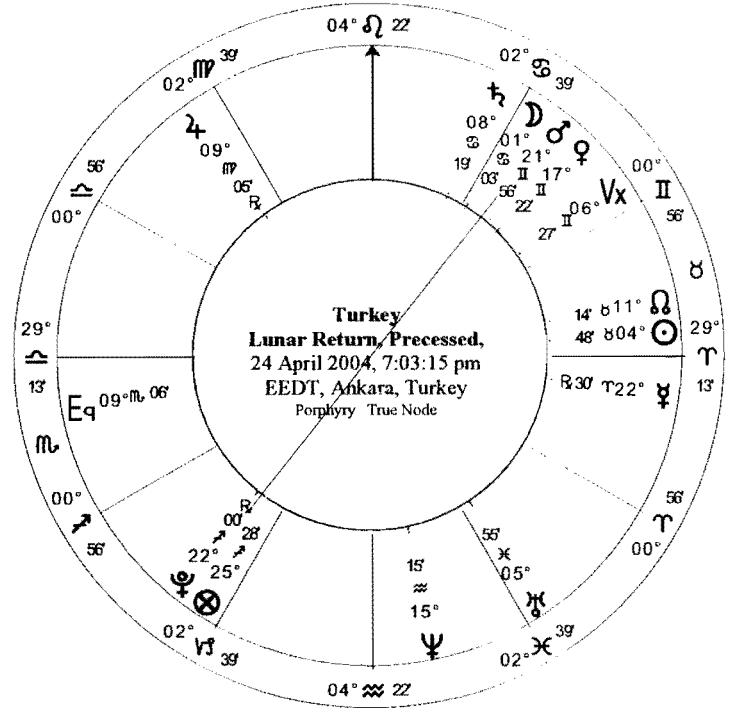

Mars, Uranus, Jupiter = sudden attack, explosion bloodshed.

Saturn, Pluto, Mars = large scale violence and destruction.

Sun, Node, Neptune = widespread subversion and conspiracy.

In view of the current Solar Return (page 1) with its potential for further disasters in the coming months, Turkey needs to be ever watchful and prepared against further attacks. The Lunar Returns give reliable indications of danger periods. About the worst of these in the next six months is the Figure (precessed) for 24 April 2004 (see next column) where Mars, ruling the House of Enemies, closely opposes Pluto (terrorists). Relating the Lunar Return to the Radix discloses another very adverse feature—Saturn conjunct the natal Ascendant (suffering of the people).

Danger spots are also revealed by the Tertiary Progressions. In times of military warfare the “minor” Progressions involving the malefics assume much greater significance than normal. On November 15, the date of the major strike, the Moon’s Node was exactly conjunct Pluto. A search of the Tertiary Progressions reveals these further danger points:

- 22 Jan 2004, Sun square Pluto.
- 12–15 Feb 2004, Mars square Saturn and Mars square Mercury.
- 1 May 2004, Sun square Pluto Prgd.

The Tertiary-Progressed Sun conjuncts natal Saturn in the 5th House on 24 Dec 2004. This I interpret as Governmental action against the Kurdish minority, rather than terrorist attacks against the Government.

MARS OPPOSITE JUPITER

I referred earlier to the troubles all over the world coincident with a Mars-Jupiter Opposition such as occurred in November 2003, exact on Nov. 20 (Mars 16 Pisces, Jupiter 16 Virgo). In personal charts, if the energies are kept under control, beneficial effects can follow, e.g., it arouses enthusiasm and an impulse to work and achieve. Life can be joyously active if one observes due moderation.

However, the Opposition is the second most powerful Aspect and its energies are difficult to contain. The native is assertive and tends to be impulsive, extreme in speech and action and arousing hostility through a lack of tact.

When lying across the Horizon in personal charts, Mars opposite Jupiter engenders breaks in personal relations, splits in partnerships and marriage, and generally a lack of consideration for others. Health is affected—cerebral stroke threatened if Mars is on the Eastern side. If Jupiter is there it is more likely to be disorders of the liver.

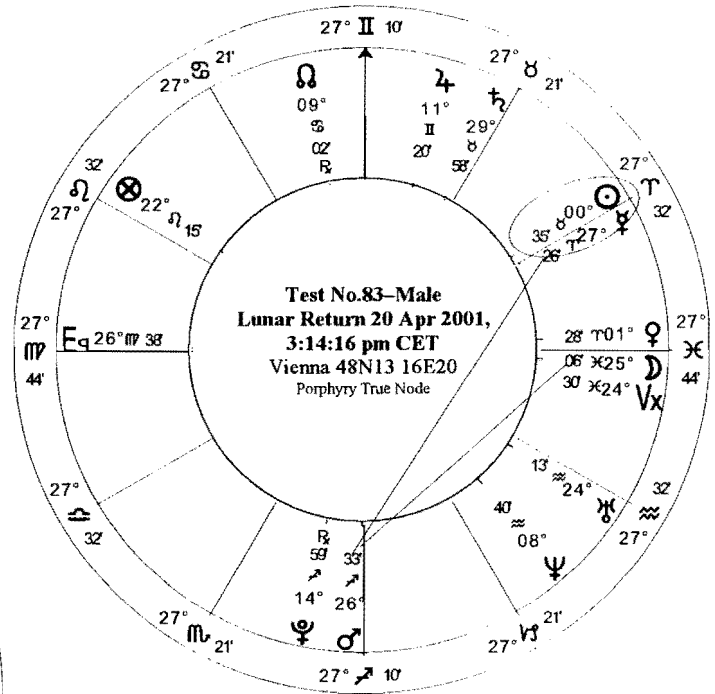

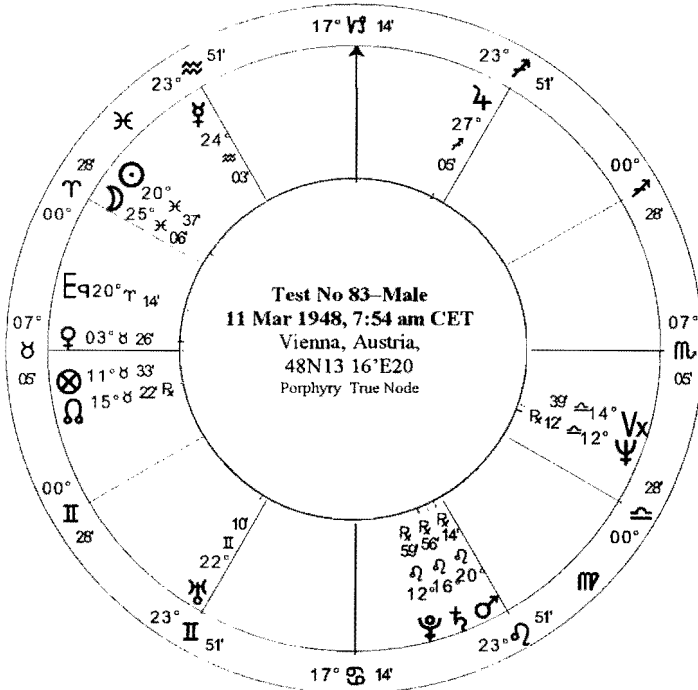

If the Opposition is more or less coincident with the Meridian, Mars being near the MC, the native experiences difficulties and altercations with superiors, impatience with the job and frequent change of jobs. On the 2nd/8th axis the Opposition induces extravagant spending and conflict over settlements; on the 3rd/9th axis, legal troubles and difficulties in foreign travel (e.g., loss of baggage).

In Mundane Charts a Mars-Jupiter Opposition coincides with fires, gunshot wounds, explosions, rebellion and insurgency, mostly on a grand scale.

When this Aspect is prominent in the sky much can be learned of its action over a wide field by scanning the daily papers and news reports on the Internet.

TEST NO. 83—REPORT

Test No. 83 concerned a male born on 11th March 1948 at 7:54 am CET in Vienna. (48N13, 16E200).

Please send me your solution by 15 December, giving its astrological basis. You should state only the most important single factor that determined your answer. All participants will receive a personal reply and a copy of the final Report quoting the most important feature of all correct solutions.

Remember, there is no better way to get to grips with practical Astrology than by giving time and thought to these exercises. I continually receive confirmation of their value from participants around the Globe.

The question was what occurred in his life on 17 May 2001. It was one of the following events:

1. He changed his job.
2. He went on an overseas trip.
3. He discontinued a course of advanced study.
4. He had a surgical operation.
5. He sold his house.

The answer is that the man had a surgical operation (to remove a cancer from his right eye).

There were 35 attempts from astrologers all over the world. Ten were successful in finding the solution.

The problem is solved quickly by the (Standard) Lunar Return Chart of 20th April 2001, Vienna. (next column): Mars on the Lower Meridian rules the House of Surgery and squares the Moon. This single Aspect distinguishes it from all the other four possibilities, apart from the supporting Sun and Mercury in the House of Surgery trine to Mars.

TEST NO. 84—FEMALE

Test No. 84 concerns a woman born on 5 October 1978 at 10:10 pm AEST (-10:00) in Melbourne, Australia (37S49, 144E58). Asc 27Ta30, MC 9Pi44, Moon 21Sc29.

The woman is an office worker, single, living in Canberra, Australian Capital Territory (35S17, 149E08) where the event occurred.

The question is which of the following five events actually occurred in her life on 8 Nov 2003?

1. She married.
2. She gave birth to a child.
3. She bought a house.
4. She crashed her car.
5. Her mother died.

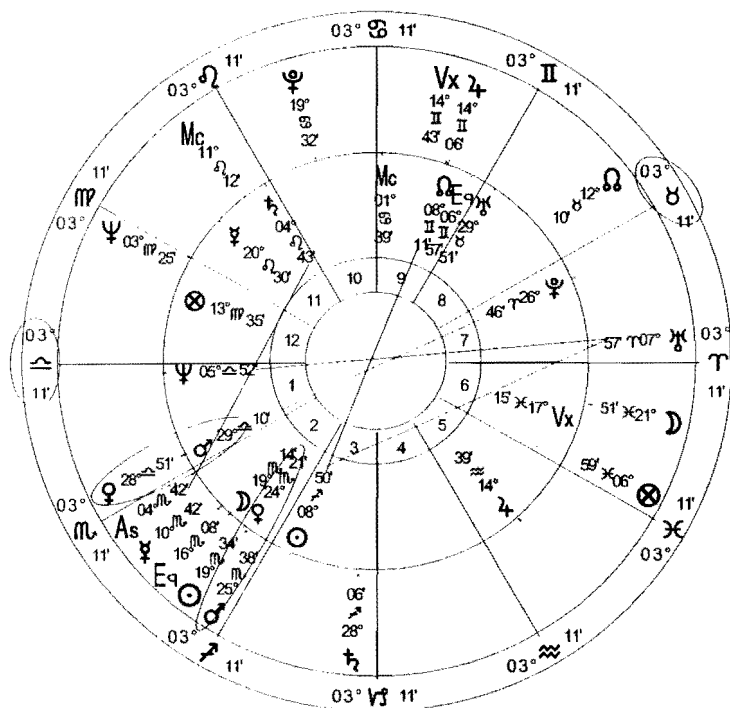

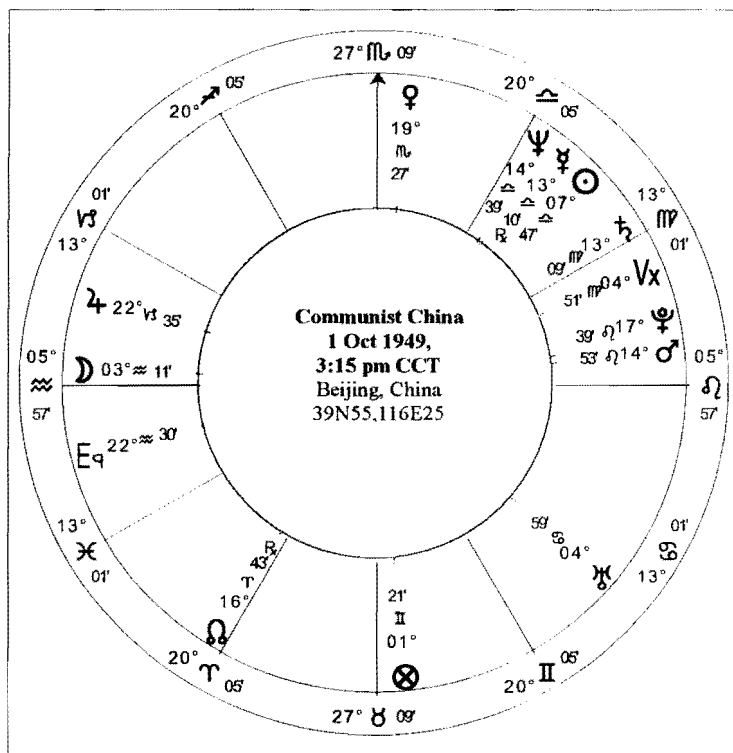

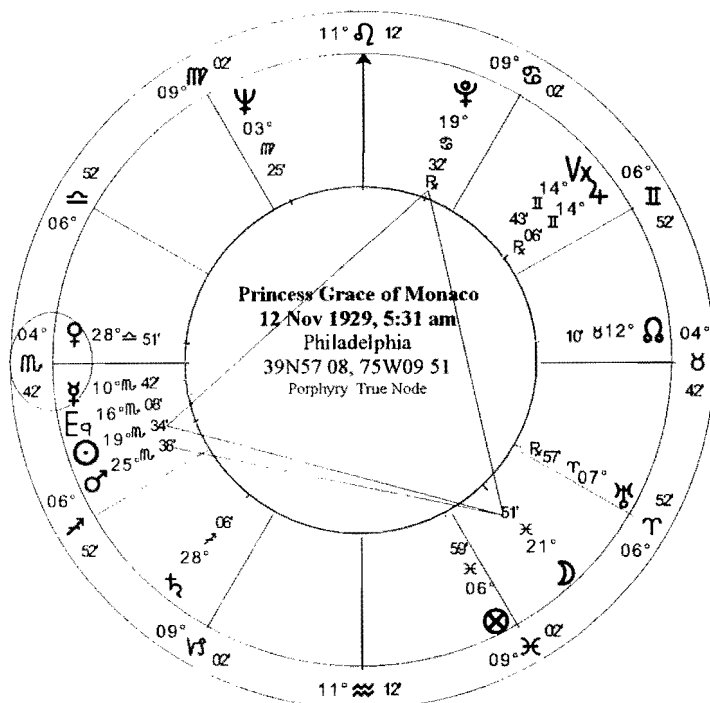

PRINCESS GRACE OF MONACO Flashback to the Past

A recent television programme has re-created interest in the life and early death of famous film actress, Grace Kelly, who became Princess Grace of Monaco. Her birth data is authentic, having been taken from her birth certificate. See her Horoscope on the next page. It originally appeared in this Journal on 19 September 1982. The Princess died on 14 Sep 1982 when she suffered a brain haemorrhage while driving in Monaco with her second daughter, Stephanie. The car crashed, killing the Princess and injuring Stephanie.

The Princess was, perhaps, the most famous beauty of her day, intense, magnetic and passionate (Sun, Mars, Mercury and Ascendant in Scorpio) and serenely charming (Asc 4Sc42 conjunct Venus/Mercury 4Sc47). She enjoyed love affairs with the leading male film stars—Clark Gable, Cary Grant, Ray Milland, William Holden and Jean-Pierre Aumont (Moon in Pisces in the 5th House, trine the Sun and Pluto; Mars trine Moon). As a protégé of film director, Alfred Hitchcock, she acted in several top-class thrillers, including Dial M for Murder, Rear Window, and To Catch a Thief.

Grace Kelly's death on 14 Sep 1982 is graphically portrayed in the Age Harmonic Chart for the month 12 Sep—12 Oct 1982. It appears on the next page, surrounded by the Birth Figure.

1. Libra rises with Taurus on the 8th, so Ruler Venus, couples the Houses of Life and Death.
2. Mars is opposed by Pluto (Lord of Death) and conjunct natal Venus (ruling Asc).
3. Saturn, ruling the House of Endings squares the natal Asc (orb 1') (termination).
4. Ruler, Venus conjunct natal Mars (death or injury).
5. The Sun in the House of Transport opposite N.Node and trine Natal Uranus (road accident).
6. Neptune conjunct the Ascendant opposite natal Uranus (loss of consciousness).

Inner Wheel & Cusps: Grace Kelly, Age Harm. 52.8333, Sep 12—Oct 12, 1982.
Outer Wheel: Grace Kelly, Natal Chart, 12 Nov 1929, Philadelphia.

A NEW LOOK AT CHINA

by Allan Johnson

China is back in the news in recent weeks because of two major events. The first is the election of a new President (Hu Jintao) and the second is the big commercial agreement between Australia and China. So it is interesting to have another look at the Chinese Chart at this time. The Chart for 1st October, 1949, 3:15 pm Beijing, is the one considered the most reliable by Nicholas Campion in his Book of World Horoscopes. China has had many upheavals and changes of direction since 1949 but the power structure at the top has held together. So it is still officially the Communist State. It is ruled by a Central Committee rather than a dictatorial figure.

In this Chart the Sun is in Libra, with Mercury and Neptune, and it is a strong point with Librans that they can always keep a balance with a foot in many camps. Recently a millionaire was appointed to the Central Committee. And of course an Aquarius Ascendant can link with sudden and unexpected departures, plus Sun square Uranus and Moon in Aquarius. But the big thing about this Chart is the close conjunction of Mars and Pluto in the 7th House, ruling relationships with other countries. So this Mars/Pluto will always be a major focal point when considering China's relationship with the rest of the world.

Now to look at the future. In doing predictive work I always like to keep it simple by relying on Secondary Progressions and Transits. First the Progressed Sun: Right now it is just over the Cusp into Sagittarius and I think this is very significant for the big financial deal with Australia. It shows an expansive and favourable relationship, a Jupiterian situation. It could also mean that the new President is likely to explore better relationships with other countries. It is essentially an expansive and cooperative turn of events. If we look at the Transits, Pluto and Uranus are not playing a big part at the moment—but Neptune is. Right through the next couple of years Neptune will be in opposition to the natal Mars/Pluto conjunction in the 7th House. So the emphasis is on international relationships of a benign kind. Neptune is for harmony rather than drastic action or violence. So the new Leader is not likely to rock the boat.

To sum up we could say that all this is very much in line with what I have been predicting for the new Century. We are moving into calmer waters in accord with the Chart for the 21st Century. China is one of the major world powers and all indications are that she is more interested in working out her own internal industrial affairs than in empire building. The same applies to Russia. The days of massive conflicts are gone. □

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock.
29 November, 2003.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

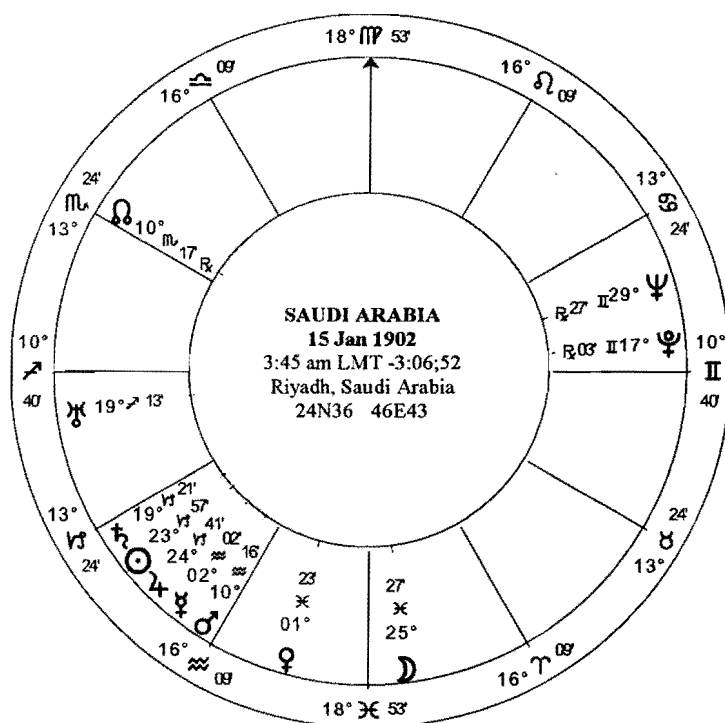

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com
 Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 267 October 2003

A red sticker here means
your subscription is due.

SAUDI ARABIA—TERRORIST ATTACKS

Recent warnings of imminent terrorist threats against Saudi Arabia have aroused interest in the Chart of this Arab Kingdom. Nicolas Campion (The Book of World Horoscopes) offers a horoscope set for 15 January 1902 when Riyadh, the capital city, was captured by the Sultanate of Nejd, "the event quoted widely as that for the foundation of the Kingdom and the beginning of the modern Saudi Empire. The Horoscope is set for 3:45 am LMT a time 'derived from research by Michael Baigent but solar charts set for either 00.00hrs or dawn would be appropriate."

Here is the Chart set for 3:45 am LMT:

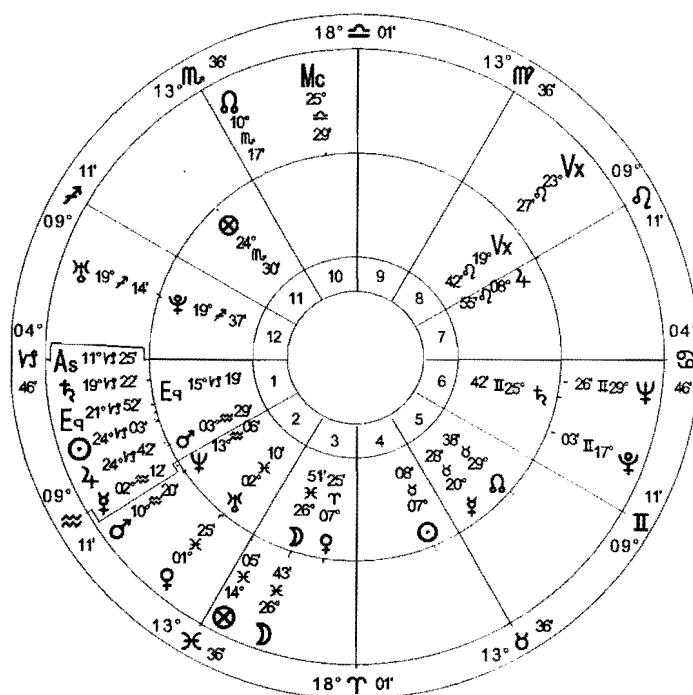

Across the Chart the opposition of Pluto to rising Uranus almost guarantees to keep the Kingdom in a state of turmoil and revolutionary upheaval. The Moon square Neptune signifies a large subversive element while Mars ruling the 12th House and square the Node therein indicates numerous plots against the Government. Even as I write this (27 Oct 2003) news has come of a rocket attack against the main Hotel in Riyadh in which a number of personnel were killed and injured.

As a test for the validity of this Chart we can use the terrorist outrage in Riyadh on 12th May 2003—a date long after Campion published his book (1988). In that bombing 35 people were killed, including 9 Americans.

The date is covered by the precessed Lunar Return of 27 April 2003 in the next column. The BiWheel above comprises the Lunar Return (precessed) of 27 April

In This Issue

	Page
Saudi Arabia—Terrorist Attacks	1
Test No. 82—Report	3
Test 83	4
The USA Fire Storms	4

Inner Wheel: Lunar Return (precessed) 27 April 2003 Riyadh, Saudi Arabia.
Outer Wheel: Radix, Saudi Arabia, 15 Jan 1902, 3:45 am LMT Riyadh

2003 for Saudi Arabia, surrounded by the Radix as in the adjacent column. This Chart covers the date 12 May 2003 when a terrorist attack in Riyadh killed 35 people.

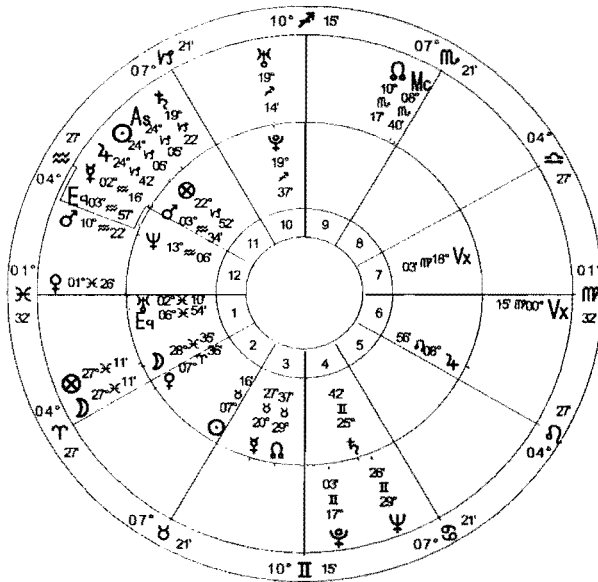

This Chart lends support to the timing of the Radix (3:45 am LMT) as it is highly descriptive of the attack. Most striking is the conjunction of Pluto with Natal Uranus, the two planets whose opposition in the Radix spell out the perpetual unrest and revolutionary crises in the Kingdom.

Next in importance is the condition of the 2nd-8th axis (with its implication of deaths) and adverse planets clustered around it:

- Mars conjunct Natal Mercury (human aggression),
- Neptune conjunct Natal Mars (secret enemies; sneak attacks),
- Ruler Saturn square Natal Moon, (hurts, injuries)
- The Sun ruling 8th House square Mars/Jupiter 6Sc12 (Death through violence),
- Jupiter almost exactly on the 8th Cusp, ruling the 12th House, opposite the Mars/Neptune Midpoint orb 38' (deaths through sneak attack),
- The Moon opposite Mercury/Mars 26Pi59 (human malice).

If we set the Chart for either dawn or 00.00 hours as suggested by Campion some of the planetary configurations are similar to those in the discussed Lunar Return but other placements make the Charts entirely inappropriate.

Here is the Lunar Return (precessed) drawn from the Dawn Chart, in a BiWheel with the Dawn Radix.

The planetary placements are entirely inappropriate for a terrorist attack: Natal Venus is right on the Ascendant! The 2nd-8th axis has only favourable influences (Venus ruling the 8th Cusp is conjunct the Moon).

Similarly, for the 0-hours Radix (below). The BiWheel is again inappropriate. Jupiter at the Midheaven presides over the Chart, in trine to Venus (happiness!) The Uranus/Pluto conjunction is in the House of Finances, conjunct Fortuna (no relation to death and destruction). Natal Mars is square to the Natal Node on the Ascendant, but neither the 8th House (deaths) nor the 12th (hidden enemies) is involved.

In summary, we may legitimately accept that the Radix time of 3:45 am has some validity, enough at least to justify forecasting future danger periods.

So what of the immediate future? We know there will be further attacks by terrorists but can we pinpoint the times? To do this, at our present stage of knowledge I think it is necessary to monitor the following:

1. The Progressions and Directions, particularly those to the Midpoints where "malefic" planets are factors.
2. The Cyclic Charts, mainly the Lunar and Solar Returns, whether standard or precessed, Sun/Moon Phase Returns and Age Harmonics.
3. The Stations of the planets.

Regarding No. 1 above, I mention the importance of the Midpoints as they involve three factors. When these are, for instance, Mars, Saturn and Uranus or something of a like nature, they are obviously of first importance.

To be as comprehensive as possible we need Directions by Ascendant-Arc and Vertex-Arc as well as Solar-Arc. (For the lucky computer owners, these are all available in the Program Solar Fire.)

If the time of birth is not accurate, Directions of the Angles, Equatorial Ascendant, Vertex and Fortuna will not be reliable. If the time is widely out the dates of Progressed Aspects of the Luminaries and the inner planets will be wrong.

The cyclic charts can be either standard or precessed. I have usually found the latter to be the more indicative—but not always. When the choice is dubious, I set up both of them. I have found the one that is the best for interpretation is the one that has planets close to the Cusps—not just the Angles.

The planets at their Stations are by far the most important Transits. The outer planets are also effective when closely approaching or leaving their Stations as their speed is slower than normal.

The attack of 13 May 2003 was shown in the Saudi Chart by three factors (Directions and a Station):

1. ♄*♂/♄ (the quintessential terrorist signature), a Vertex-Arc Direction on 10 May 2003.
2. ♄sextile ♀/Asc, a converse Vertex-Arc Direction on 14 May 2003.
3. ♄Stationary at 13Aq11 ♂♂ (10Aq16) on 16 May 2003.

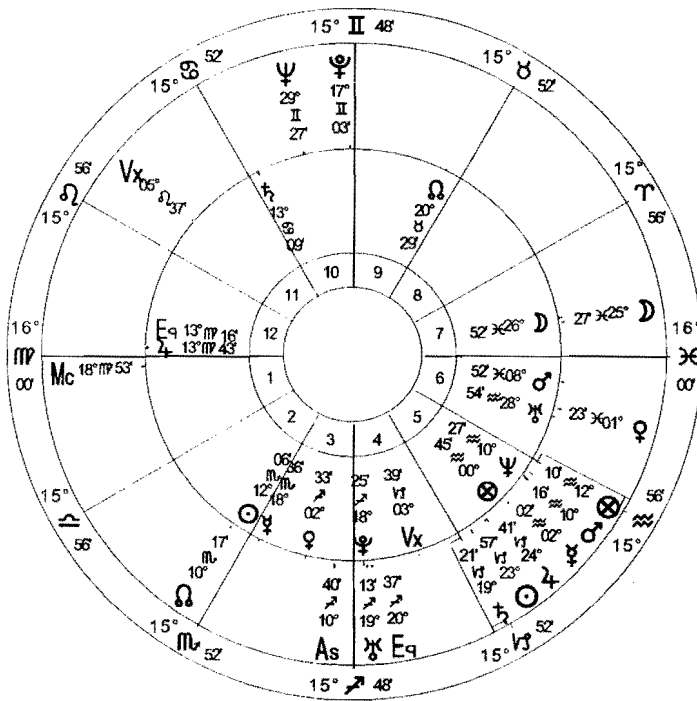

And we have already seen the context in the precessed Lunar Return of 27 April 2003.

The minor attack on 27 October 2003 coincided with

- ♄ Stationary on 26 Oct at 13Cn14 conjunct Cusp 8, 13Cn24 (Porphyry), and
- ♄ Stationary on 23 Oct at 10Aq24 ♂♂ at 10Aq16.

Looking ahead, we see ♄♄♄/♄ by Asc-Arc Direction on 7 Nov 2003 and ♄sextile ♄/♄ by converse Solar-Arc Direction on Nov 30.

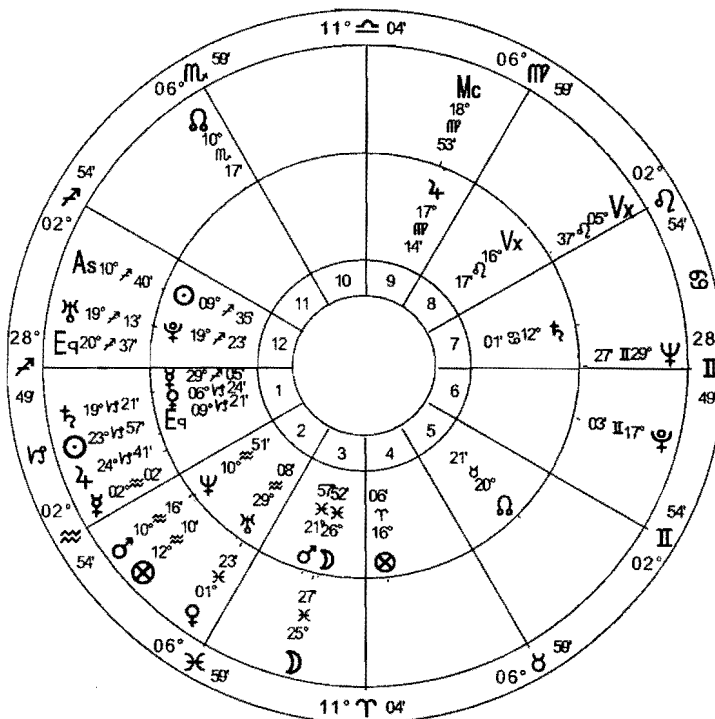

The precessed Lunar Return of 5 Nov—2 Dec 2003 (next column) shows this is a danger period but the portents do not appear to be sufficiently drastic to mean deaths and injury through terrorism. The worst feature is ♄♄♄ on the IC♄n.♄ on the Meridian and square n.MC on the Ascendant. This is bad enough for the Ruler (danger of insurrection) but so far as loss of life is concerned it is not particularly threatening. More so is Neptune conjunct n.Mars, as the 7th and 8th Houses are involved but will this lead to bloodshed?

Inner Wheel: Lunar Return (precessed) Saudi Arabia, Riyadh, 5 Nov 2003.
Outer Wheel: Radix, Saudi Arabia, 15 Jan 1902.

Perhaps plotting only—the 2nd-8th axis is clear of malefics. We need experience in assessing these Charts drawn from the radix of a nation.

The next Lunar period, 2—29 Dec 2003 has a Chart (below) that also holds elements of danger:

Inner Wheel: Precessed Lunar Return 2 Dec 2003, Riyadh.
Outer Wheel: Radix Saudi Arabia, 15 Jan 1902, 3:45 am LMT.

Pluto is still conjunct n.Uranus. Pluto is so slow-moving it will remain in contact with Uranus until the end of September 2004, perpetuating a climate of danger to the Saudi Kingdom all that time.

Aside from that, several factors in this Chart make it more ominous than the preceding one:

- Mercury rises conjunct the Ascendant and opposes Neptune in the 7th House (which Mercury rules). This gives a double emphasis to the 7th House matters and may be interpreted as treacherous enemies engaged in plots and subversive activities.

- Ruler of the Chart, Jupiter, is afflicted by a very close square to n.Pluto (heavy losses). As Jupiter also contacts the n.MC these will be losses affecting the rulership of the Kingdom.
- Neptune is conjunct n.Mars, however Neptune is gathering speed and will soon be out of the 1° orb.
- The Sun rules the House of Deaths and is posited with the n.Ascendant in the House of Sorrows. Jupiter disposes the Sun and is square to n.Pluto. This combination of factors certainly points to numerous deaths through violence.
- The Moon conjoins Mars (violence and injury to the populace).

Critical points by Direction of the Radix are—

- Dec 15, when $\text{♂♂♂} \text{D}/\Psi$ (conv Asc-Arc).
- Dec 23, when $\text{♀} \square \text{D}/\text{♂}$ (Asc-Arc).
- Dec 25, when $\text{♀} \Delta \Psi$ Asc (conv Prgn).
- Dec 29, when the $\text{D} \square \text{♂} \Psi$ (Prgn).

TEST NO. 82 — REPORT

TEST 82 concerned a woman born 14 Nov 1923, 10:00 am AEST [-10:00], Melbourne, Australia, whose Natus appears below:

The question was which of the following five events occurred in her life on 26 July 2003?

1. She had a heart attack.
2. She moved into a nursing home.
3. Her eldest daughter moved in to care for her.
4. She was diagnosed with cancer.
5. She died.

The correct answer was the woman died. Thirteen of the 30 respondents solved the problem using quite a variety of astrological techniques.

The answer is clear immediately from the precessed Weekly Chart shown on the next page (described as "4th Harmonic Lunar Return" in the computer Program Solar Fire): Saturn right on the Ascendant is not only square to the Moon, Ruler of the Chart, but also rules the House of Death. Additional supporting factors can be found but this is enough.

Congratulations to all who ventured to test their methods by attempting to find the answer. It is pleasing that many respondents write their appreciation of the Tests and the opportunity given them to use and develop their techniques.

TEST NO. 83

Test No. 83 concerns a male born on 11th March 1948 at 7:54 am CET in Vienna, Austria (48N13, 16E200). Asc 7Ta05, MC17Cp14, Moon 25Pi06.

The question is, what occurred in his life on 17 May 2001. It was one of the following events:

1. He changed his job.
2. He went on an overseas trip.
3. He discontinued a course of advanced study.
4. He had a surgical operation.
5. He sold his house.

Use any astrological technique and please post or email your solution to me by 15 November 2003.

Give the astrological basis for your answer—only the most important factor, not all the supporting evidence.

Remember these "Tests" are not competitions but learning exercises designed to help you develop more insight and skill in Astrology. By spending time trying to find the answer you will gain more expertise than by any amount of desultory reading of texts.

All who send in an answer will receive a personal reply, giving the correct solution and later a copy of the Test Report.

THE USA FIRE STORMS

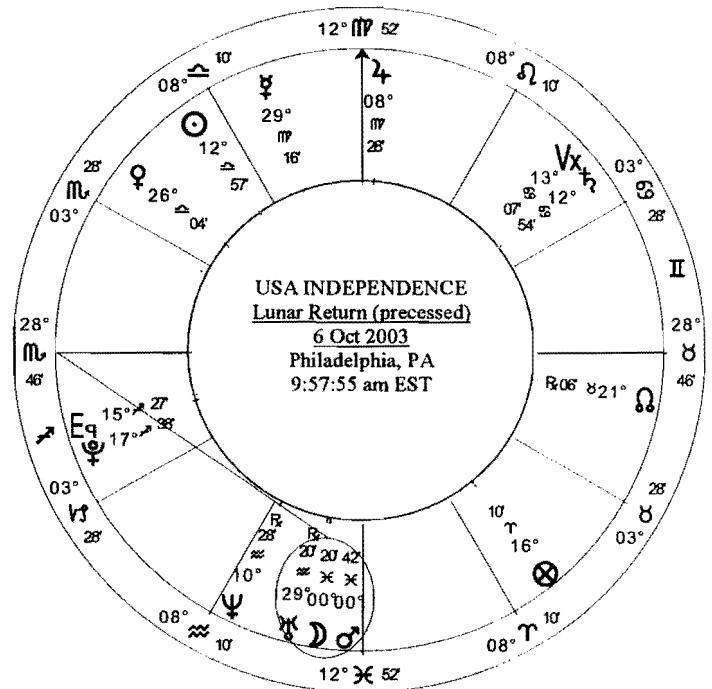

The horrific fires that have been devastating California for the past weeks are reflected in the Lunar Return Chart (precessed) drawn from the USA

Re 'Tradition versus Experience'

Jenifer Pommerin (W.A.) writes: I quite agree, especially about the belief some astrologers have that 'nothing can happen to an individual that is not depicted in the Birth Horoscope'.

Many times, I have seen an event depicted in a Return or Harmonic Chart. What is strange (to me) is that Transits so often fail to depict an event.

Anyway, your article shows that Astrology is an evolving Art, and not a static diagnostic tool solely reliant on "authority" (whether right or wrong).

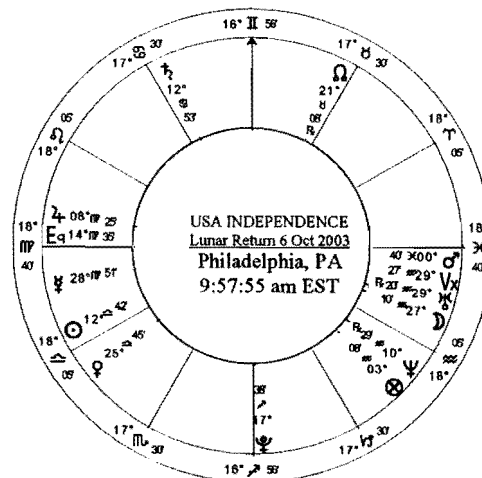

Independence Chart (4 July 1776, 5:10:17 pm EST; Asc 12Sg16, MC 00Li59).

The prominent feature, of course, is the close conjunction of the Moon with Mars and Uranus, all square to the Ascendant which is ruled by Mars.

For interest's sake here also is the standard Lunar Return (not precessed) which is not as graphic as the precessed Figure in its representation of the fires. It has Pluto on the IC and the Moon in a looser conjunction with Uranus, Vertex and Mars.

There is no involvement with the Ascendant. This is typical of the difference between the standard and precessed figures (with occasional exceptions).

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock.

31 October, 2003

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A30 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

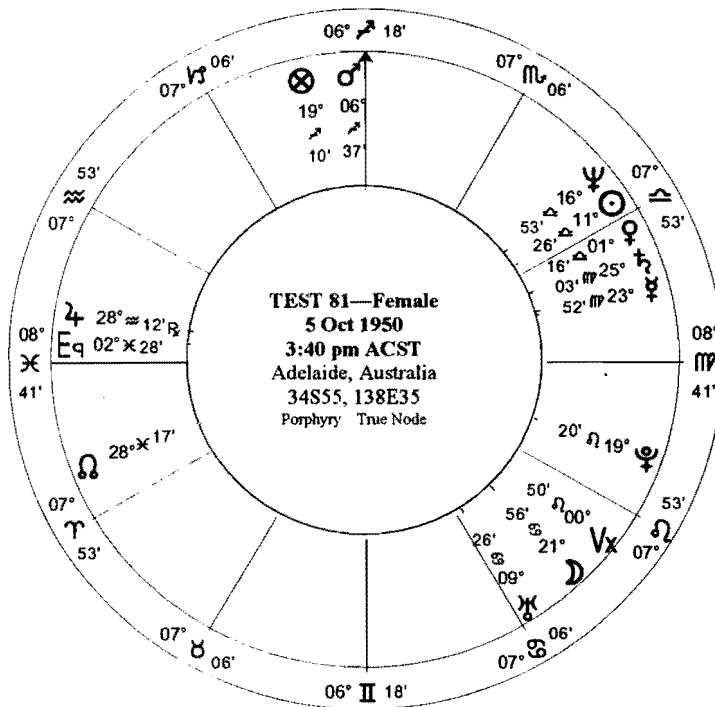

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 266 September 2003

A red sticker here means your subscription is due.

TEST 81—REPORT & COMPARISON OF CHARTS

This Test was an exercise in matching dates with events. There were three important events in the life of a woman whose Birth Chart appears below:

The three important events in her life were:

1. She started a business.
2. She travelled to India and had a joyous love affair.
3. Her grandmother died.

The dates of the events were 4 August 1995, 25 July 2000, and 26 November 1990.

The correct matching is:

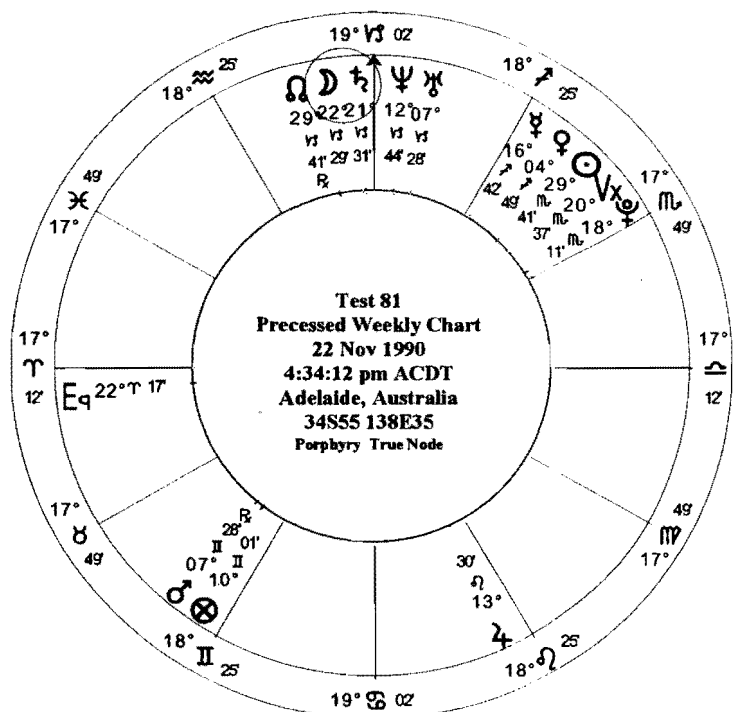

1. She started a business, 26 November 1990.
2. She travelled to India and had a joyous love affair, 25 July 2000.
3. Her grandmother died, 4 August 1995.

There were 32 participants in this Test. Eight of them were right.

A quick and reliable method for Western Astrologers to get the correct matching is to set up either the Weekly Chart or the Age Harmonic for each of the three dates. It then becomes obvious which date to allot to each event. Weekly Charts were described in Issue 263 (pages 1-2).

In This Issue...

	Page
Test 81—Report & Comparison of Charts.....	1
Evil Eye.....	3
Test 82.....	3
Tradition versus Experience.....	4
Australia—Forecast for January 2004.....	4

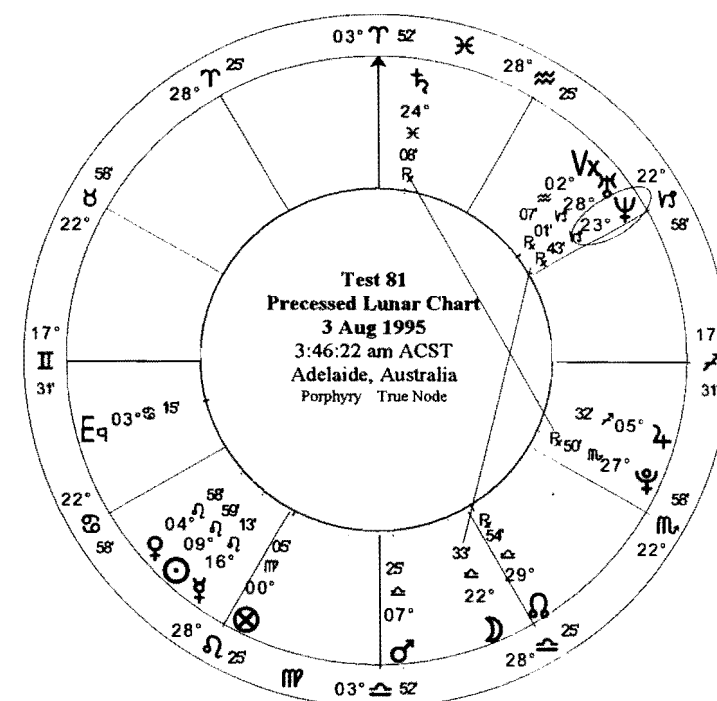

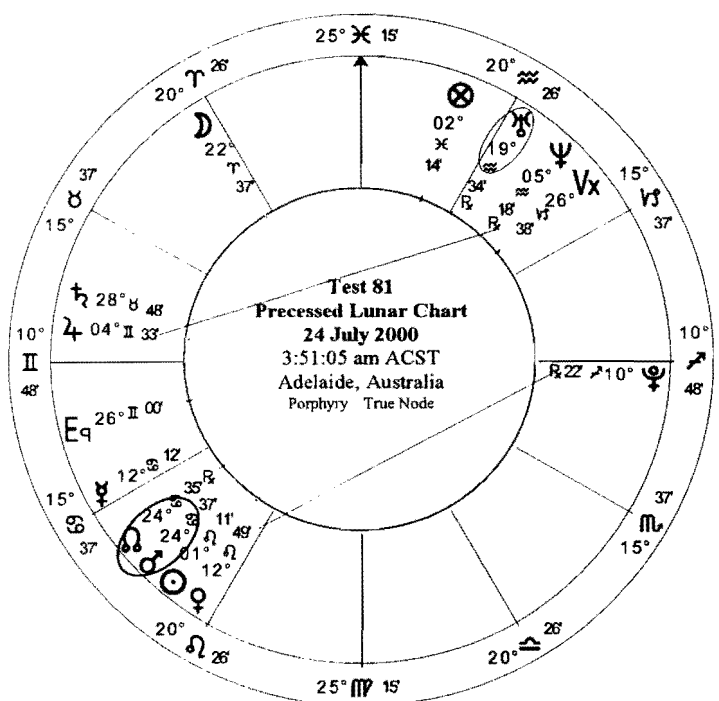

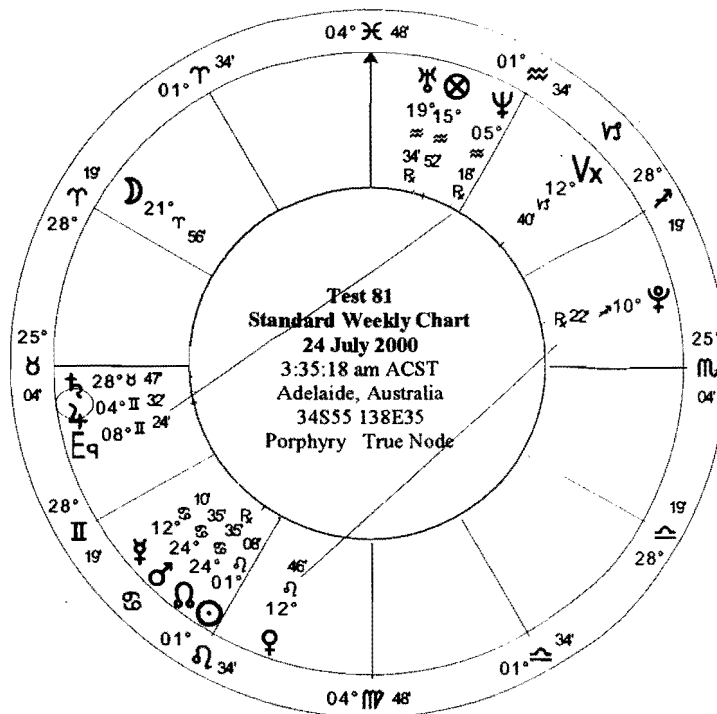

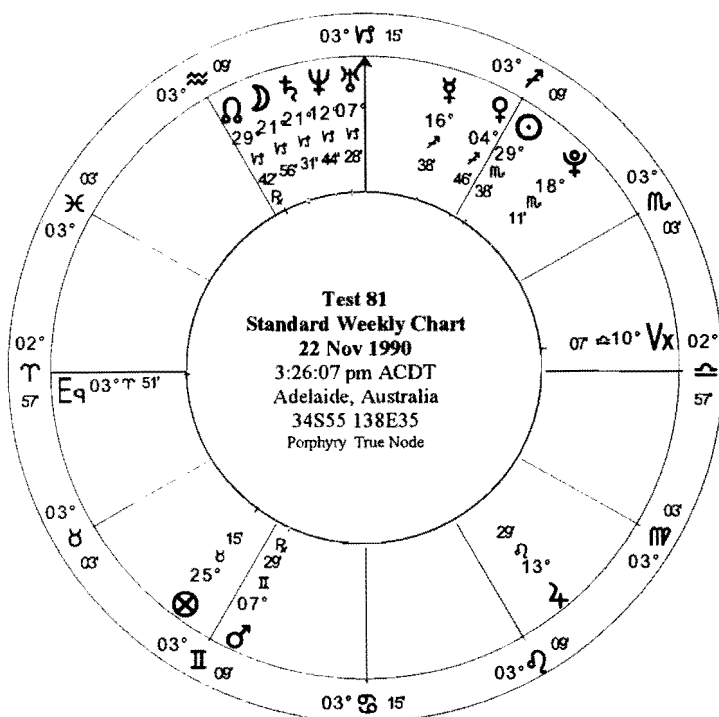

I am printing the Weekly Charts covering each of the above dates. As this Journal is dedicated to the improvement of Astrological practice I am taking the opportunity to display both the Precessed and the standard (non-precessed) charts for each event so as to give readers the opportunity to make comparisons.

She started a business on 26 Nov 1990

The Moon conjunct Saturn in the 10th House in Capricorn is the most powerful configuration in the precessed Chart (above) and is an immediate pointer to a business. If you want confirming evidence, circumscribe the Natal Chart. Natal Mercury in the 6th House of the Weekly Chart (shop goods) is trine to the Moon/Saturn conjunction.

The standard (non-precessed) Weekly Chart is on the next page. The accumulation of planets in the 10th House would lead one to diagnosing the start of a business, but the Sun and Venus in conjunction and straddling the 9th Cusp would also suggest the travel and love affair. This would be wrong. There is no such ambiguity about the precessed Return, so it must be adjudged superior in this instance.

She travelled to India on July 25, 2000, and had a joyous love affair.

This Precessed Weekly Chart for 24 July 2000 is easily allotted to the travel to India and subsequent love affair: Uranus is on the 9th Cusp (air travel). Venus rules the House of Love and Romance and is trine to Pluto, powerfully placed on the 7th Cusp (intense love); Mars is conjunct the North Node (passionate union).

In the Standard Weekly Chart (next column) travel is shown by Jupiter rising trine Neptune in the 9th House. The love affair is again signified by Venus trine Pluto in the 7th, and Mars conjunct the Node.

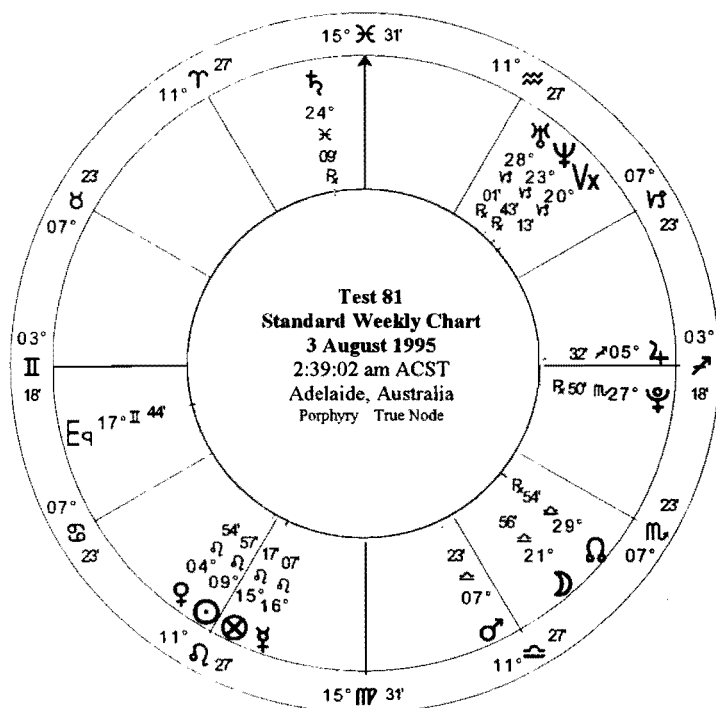

These two Charts are about equal in their signification though the Precessed Chart is a little stronger, Uranus being right on the 9th Cusp and Pluto right on the 7th.

Her grandmother died on August 4th 1995

The precessed Weekly Chart for 3 Aug 1995 (above) has Neptune on the Cusp of the 8th House square to the Moon (death of a woman), while Uranus in the 8th is square to the Moon's Node in the 5th House (breaking of a love-link). Additionally, Saturn (aged persons) is trine to Pluto (death).

In the Standard Weekly Chart (next column) the same Aspects apply but they are less powerful (and less obvious) through being further removed from the Cusp.

You can always check your answers by trying each Chart for any indications of the other alternatives. For the three precessed Charts above, none of the alternatives could reasonably be allotted to any of them.

Generally, I start with the precessed Weekly Charts as I usually find them the more indicative, but if no clear answer emerges (even with the Birth Chart circumscribed) I also inspect the standard (non-precessed) charts or the Monthly Age Harmonics. The latter are a little more trouble to set up but are sometimes the best.

Anyone else who would like to see how important events in their life are reflected in the Charts is invited to send the data to me.

— Dymock.

TEST 82

This month's Test concerns a woman born 14 Nov 1923, 10:00 am AEST [-10:00], Melbourne, Australia, 37S49, 144E58.

Asc 1Aq08, MC18Li28 Moon, 3Aq34 (Tropical Zodiac). She is a widow with six children by two marriages and is in poor health. Which of the following five events actually occurred in her life on 26 July 2003?

1. She had a heart attack.
2. She moved into a nursing home.
3. Her eldest daughter moved in with her to care for her.
4. She was diagnosed with cancer.
5. She died.

Please e-mail or post your response to me by 15 October, giving the astrological basis for it—just the critical factor—Aspect, configuration, House position, etc. As an example, the critical factors in each of the three precessed Charts above are: (1) Moon conjunct Saturn in the 10th House; (2) Uranus conjunct Cusp 9, and Venus trine Pluto (two events); (3) Neptune on the 8th Cusp square the Moon.

Further supporting factors are not required. Additional digging and study may be desirable for you, the participant, as it is a learning process, but it adds to my task of checking the work, and if your answer is wrong, no amount of additional evidence will persuade me otherwise.

Tests such as this are valuable as they teach the finer points of differentiation between events that appear to be equally possible. Accurate differentiation is one of the great difficulties in Astrology.

— Dymock.

EVIL EYE

Here is the Chart of the date and time a young woman claimed the experience of receiving The Evil Eye from one of her co-workers. What are your thoughts about it? Give it some consideration before reading mine below (inverted).

Strange things do happen. Putting a "hex" (Evil Eye) on some one has passed into the language. I can think of no more appropriate Aspect for it than Pluto square Mercury, here with the tiny orb of 0°5'. So perhaps the young woman was right. She suffered no physical damage but was conscious of jealousy and vindictive-ness directed against her.

— Dymock.

Price Rise in January!

The price of Astrologers' Forum (for renewals and new subscribers) will increase in January, 2004. Electronic transmission in Portable Document Format will be $A20 a year to any place in the world. Hard copies will be $25 a year in Australia, $A35 a year elsewhere. The popular monthly Tests, e-mailed to any country, will remain free.

TRADITION VERSUS EXPERIENCE

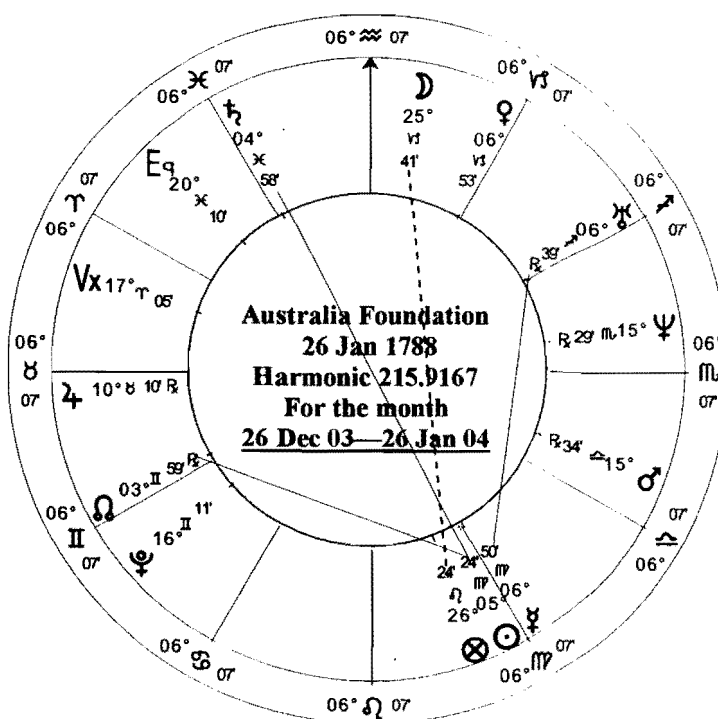

Astrologers as a body are held to be generally under the influence of the planet Uranus—liberated thinkers with independent views, freedom-loving, eccentric, unsocial, non-mixers and non-joiners, etc. Yet one finds plenty of them are bound by tradition—astrological tradition. Today there are group lists of members communicating by e-mail where the answers to any questions, interpretations, horary charts, etc. are expected to be couched in terms of "Traditional Astrology", as though any new material coming after the 17th Century has no real value. Every answer has to be arrived at using only the tools available to the "ancients". Reference to the more recently discovered planets—Uranus, Neptune and Pluto is frowned upon, as if what the "ancients" used held the key to all mysteries without any further addition. There is actually a "Horary" List where any member who interprets a Chart is more or less expected to justify his/her answer by quoting authority from the horary "Bible"—Williams Lilly's Christian Astrology (1647). Members do not see this as a needless restriction that simply makes delineation, prediction and problem-solving more difficult. This attitude has permeated the ranks of astrologers, many of whom seek answers to all their astrological problems from published books, whether ancient or modern. If it's not in a book it can't be right or have any value. They rarely or never think to challenge the assumptions of the past and use their own knowledge and experience to arrive possibly at a different conclusion. These assumptions have come to be viewed reverentially because they are repeated, parrot fashion, by teachers and exponents of the art who have simply accepted them without question as a received truth.

One such is the assertion, frequently encountered, and even repeated like a mantra, that nothing can happen to an individual that is not depicted in the Birth Horoscope. This is so obviously wrong that it casts doubt on the mental processes of the persons proclaiming it. They are not unintelligent but only hypnotised and inhibited by the enormity of challenging the written or spoken word of some revered teacher. Certainly everything that is shown in the Natus will quite likely happen to the person, if he lives long enough, but many other things can happen too, things that are not shown in the Natus. You need only cast the Cyclic Charts (Solar and Lunar Returns, Sun-Moon Phase Returns) and Age Harmonic Charts to see this for yourself. To what degree the potentials of these Charts are exploited depends on the individual—how vigorous he is in breaking free from the restrictions of the birth chart and exercising his free will and initiative. Not to do so is a denial of his birth right and implies little or no evolutionary progress at all for that individual. He will die with practically the same chart as the one with which he was born.

Happily, however, there are also plenty of astrologers who hold the opposite view and make full use of modern discoveries and new astrological tools. These are the ones who, though respecting Tradition are not chained by it. They are extending the boundaries of our Art into realms unimagined before. My plea to all astrologers is to be in this vanguard—test the conventional tenets of Astrology, look into new methods, and try out things for yourself. Maybe some innovations will not be accepted but at least give yourself the chance to profit from the new ideas and discoveries of modern astrologers. — Dymock.

AUSTRALIA—FORECAST FOR JANUARY 2004

Above is Australia's Age Harmonic Chart for the month 26 Dec 2003 — 26 Jan 2004. It is based on the Radix 26 Jan 1788, 11:00 am LMT, Sydney Cove, Australia, 33S51'54", 151E12'30".

The Chart draws attention because of the strong Aspects — Saturn opposite the Sun and Mercury, the Moon quincunx the North Node, Uranus square Mercury, the Node square the Sun.

As Saturn rules the 10th House (the Government) and opposes the Sun (also the Government) It appears that Prime Minister John Howard will have some problems. He will be facing a loss of support and delay in getting the Party's legislation through Parliament (Saturn ruling 9th House).

Business will take a downturn (Saturn opposite Mercury) and property values will decline (the Sun ruling the 4th House)—the long expected fall in the inflated prices of the last year.

Saturn opposing the Sun points also to collapse of buildings, walls, scaffoldings, etc., and accidents are likely where workmen have to be rescued.

There will be rebellion from dissatisfied members of the teaching profession and more disturbing reports of child-abuse (Uranus square Mercury).

Fortunately, the Chart does not show evidence of terrorist outrages.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock.
28 Sept 2003.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A25 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com
 Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 265, August 2003

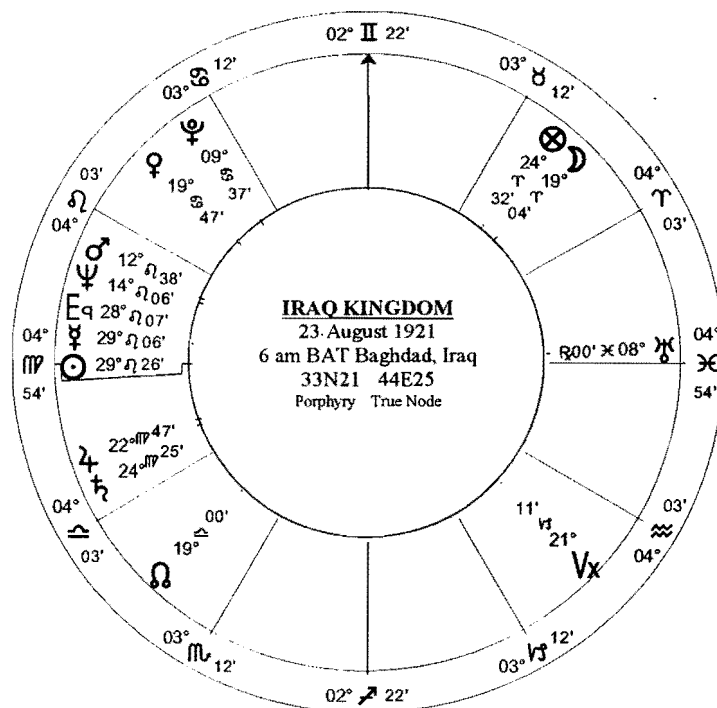

A red sticker here means your subscription is due.

COMBATING TERRORISM

The latest appalling acts of terrorism, the bombing of the United Nations Headquarters in Baghdad and the crowded bus in Jerusalem, both on 19 August, 2003, are further evidence of a remorseless and demonic foe. The loss of life and long list of wounded is horrendous. One wonders can we ever overcome the malignity in human nature.

Our chances of forestalling the perpetration of such monstrous acts appear to lie, astrologically, in a close monitoring of the cyclic charts drawn from the genitures of the nations deemed to be at risk. This is a big task, probably requiring the combined efforts of a group of astrologers, but still the best approach to the problem that we have at present.

Here is the Radix of Iraq. The Chart is taken from Campion's The Book of World Horoscopes.

In the next column is the precessed Lunar Return Chart of 17th August 2003 in a Biwheel with the Radix. This is just two days before the bombing. It gives grim warning of this latest attack—malefic conjunctions with small orbs on Cusps:

- Mars conjunct natal Uranus (explosion);
- Saturn conjunct natal Pluto just above the Ascendant (massive destruction);
- Neptune on the 8th Cusp opposite natal Mars (concealed attack).

In This Issue...

	Page
Combating Terrorism.....	1
Saddam Hussein's Birth Data in Question.....	3
Test No. 80—Report.....	3
Test No. 81.....	3
Indonesia.....	4

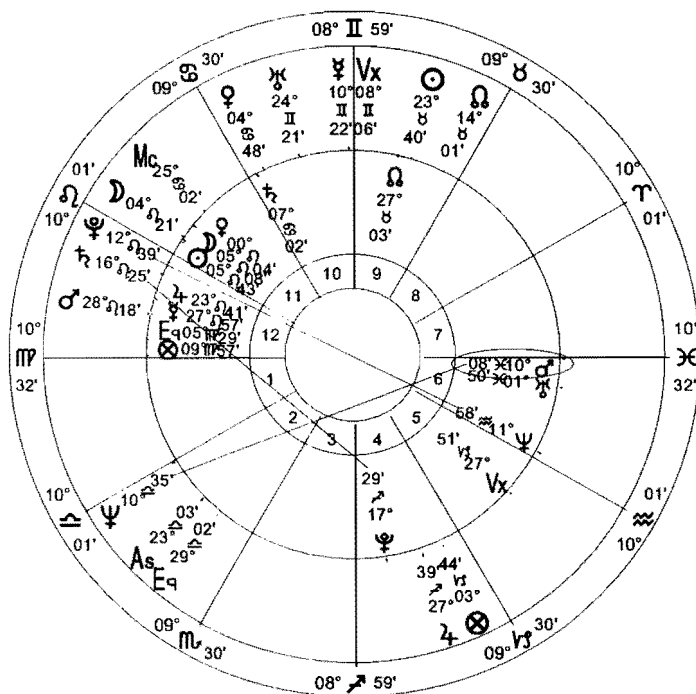

Outer Wheel: Radix Iraq Kingdom, 23 Aug 1921, Baghdad.

The Radix of Israel above is from The Book of World Horoscopes. Here is the Biwheel (Lunar Return and Radix) covering the date of the bombing. It, too, gives the cusps. Applying this idea to the Radix of Iraq, we have the Biwheel printed below.

Inner Wheel and Cusps: Israel, Lunar Return (precessed), 29 July 2003, Jerusalem, Israel.
Outer Wheel: Radix Israel, 14 May 1948, Tel Aviv, Israel.

Inner Wheel and Cusps: Iraq-Kingdom, 23 Aug 1921, 6 am, Baghdad.
Outer Wheel: Iraq's Day Chart (Transits) 19 Aug 2003 adequate warning:

- Mars (ruling both the House of Death and the House of Vehicles) directly opposite the Rising Degree (violence against the people).
- Mars trine natal Neptune (stealthy attack).
- Neptune opposite natal Pluto (hidden enemy).
- Pluto trine natal Saturn (massive damage).

So the Lunar Returns have a very useful function in identifying danger periods. But it still remains to define the date more precisely and to narrow down the location where it is to be expected. To find the date, utilize the Weekly Charts described in the July Issue of this Journal, pages 1-2.

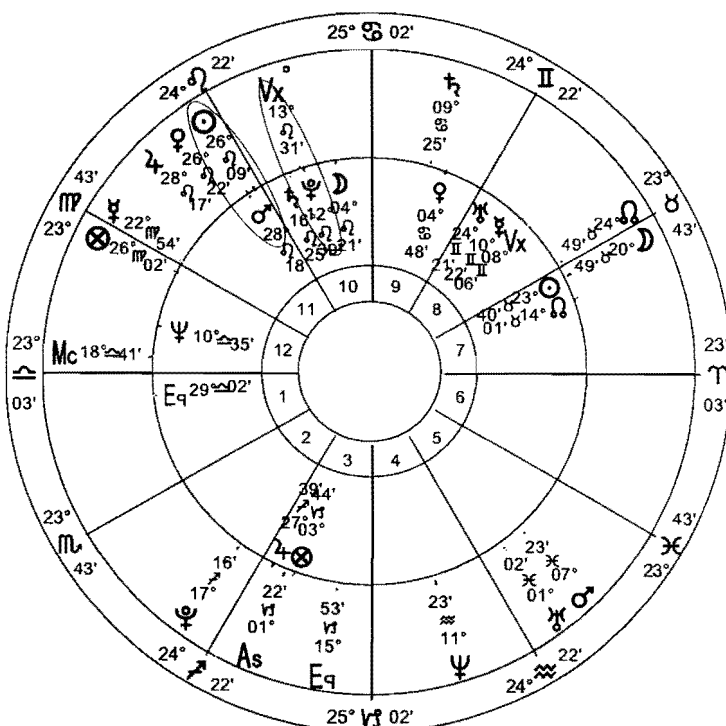

Progressions or Directions will sometimes lead us directly to a danger period. Directions (by Solar-Arc, Ascendant-Arc or Vertex-Arc) are usually more helpful than Secondary Progressions because of the greater number of Aspects formed by the heavy planets. Primary Directions to single factors are too uncertain in their timing but Primary Directions to Midpoints are often accurate to the day when calculated by the Solar Fire Program.

Generally, I have found the precessed Return to be more indicative than the standard, non-precessed, figure but it is a good plan to look at both and work from the one that has the most powerful positions (mostly, malefic planets conjunct the cusps).

Estimating the exact date is tricky but make use of Day Charts as described in the July Issue. In the Biwheel, alternately put the Day Chart inside and outside the Radix. Putting it around the Radix shows the Transits. Look specifically for conjunctions near

The Transit of Mars, closely applying to the conjunction of natal Uranus on the Descendant is a strong indication that this is the day of greatest danger in the limited period being reviewed. Transiting Saturn conjunct Pluto, and Transiting Neptune opposite Mars are characteristic of the whole dangerous period but of no use for ascertaining the exact date as they are slow-moving and will retain their malefic positions for weeks.

The Biwheel for Israel (Radix and Day Chart) on Inner Wheel and Cusps: Israel Radix 14 May 1948, Tel Aviv, 32N04 34E46.

Outer Wheel: Israel's Day Chart (Transits) 19 Aug 2003

19th August (above) shows only the Sun transiting Mars (7th House Ruler) and the Vertex transiting natal Pluto but these are sufficient to distinguish 19 August as the danger day. The Vertex position is only appropriate because it is derived from the Day Chart and based on the TIME of the Radix. The ponderous Transits of Saturn square natal Neptune, Pluto trine natal Saturn, are useless for identifying the day. They refer to a period of weeks, as in the Biwheel for Iraq.

So keeping track of the danger periods for threatened nations is a lengthy and demanding business requiring both dedication and expertise. It would hardly be possible in the manner described above without the aid of computers. — Dymock.

SADDAM HUSSEIN'S BIRTH DATA IN QUESTION

Nicholas Sutherland of San Antonio, Texas, sends the following important information:

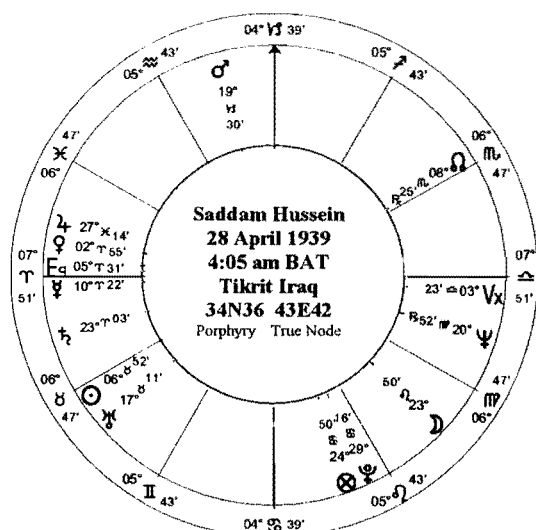

Con Coughlin, Executive Editor for London's Sunday Telegraph and one the world's leading authorities on the Middle East, spent three years researching his latest book, Saddam—King of Terror.

He first points out that Saddam was born in the village of Al-Ouja, eight kilometers south of Tikrit—not in Tikrit. Al-Ouja was then a collection of mud huts and houses where peasants lived in abject poverty. At this time it was the custom of authorities to give all peasant children the nominal birth date of July 1, and there is a certificate in one of Saddam's official biographies that gives July, 1939 as his date of birth.

Saddam acquired his "official" birth date, which was made a National Holiday in 1980, by simply taking the birthday from his friend and future co-conspirator Abdul Karim al-Shaikly. This friend from a well-established Baghdad family possessed an authentic birth date.

Apparently Saddam wanted to also be older than he was so he changed his year of birth from 1939 to 1937. His wife was born in 1937 and in Arab society it is frowned upon to marry an older woman. Also, appearing older probably helped his rapid ascent through the ranks of the Baath Party.

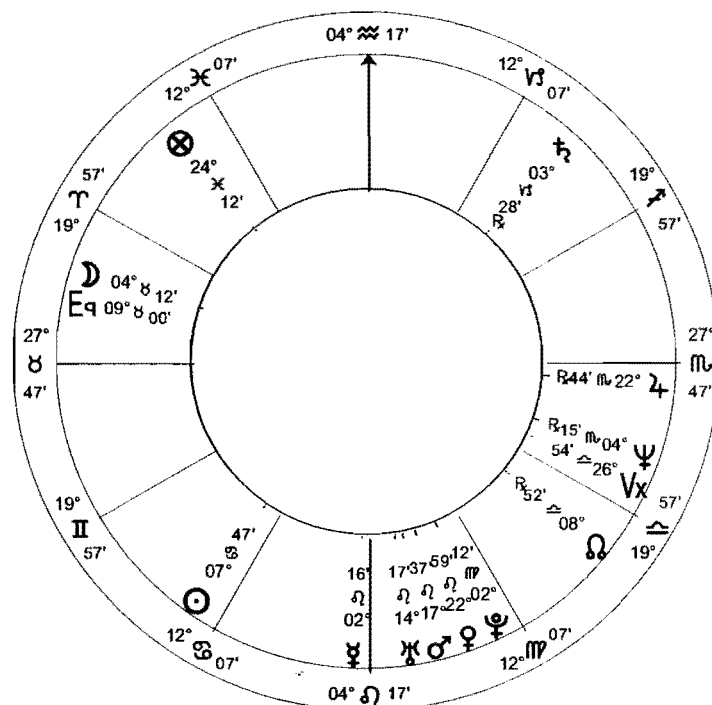

Here is Saddam Hussein's Natal Chart set for 1939 instead of 1937: It is offered as a project for further research. The Ascendant is still Aries, and Ruler Mars is square Saturn, trine Uranus and trine Neptune.

Test No. 80—Report

Test No. 80 concerned a woman born on June 30, 1959 at 2:41 am EST at Watervliet, Michigan, 42N11, 86W16. Here is the Figure:

On a certain date in the year 2000 her home in Grand Ledge, Michigan, 42N45, 84W45 was struck by lightning and destroyed in the fire that followed. The Test was to find that date.

It was 22nd August 2000.

A quick way to the answer was recognize that Mars + Uranus signifies a lightning strike (and the fire that follows). Then look at the Transits and observe that Mars transited Natal Uranus in the House of the Home on 22nd August in the year 2000.

Congratulations to all who attempted this Test. It involved time and effort but all the Tests are a useful learning exercise and will certainly advance your astrological skills.

TEST NO. 81

This month's Test is an exercise in matching dates with events. It concerns a woman born in Adelaide, Australia (34S55, 138E35) on 5 Oct 1950 at 3:40 pm ACST (Ascendant 8Pi41, MC 6Sg18, Moon 21Cn56).

Three important events in her life were:

1. She started a business.
2. She travelled to India and had a joyous love affair.
3. Her grandmother died.

The dates of the events were

4 August 1995,
25 July 2000,
26 November 1990.

Can you match each event with its date?

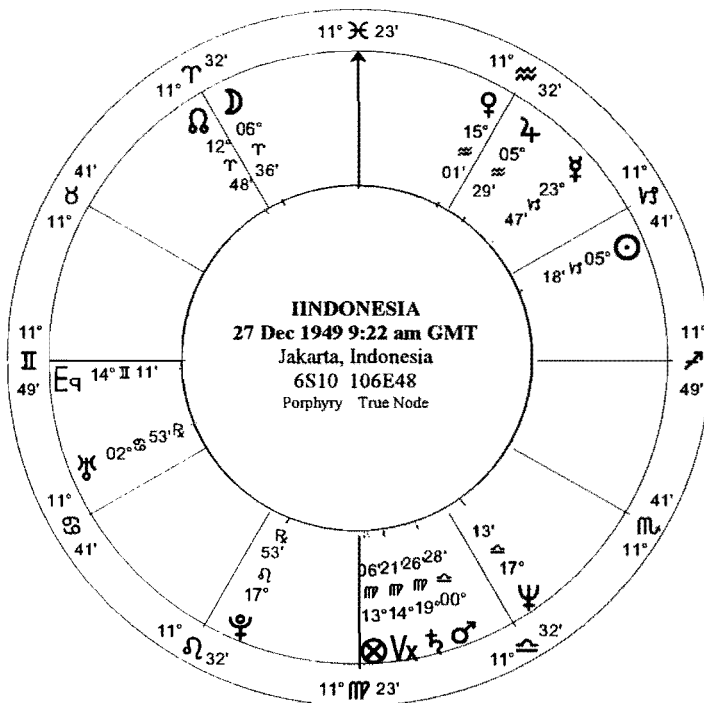

Please send your answer to me with its astrological basis by September 15. The correct matching will be published in the September Journal, but all participants will receive the answer individually and also the final Report listing all correct answers with the methods used. (Please give only your principal method. Supporting evidence from other techniques will not enhance your answer.) — Dymock.

INDONESIA

Indonesia is also suffering from terrorist activity including the bombing of the Marriott Hotel on August 5. Here is the Radix of Indonesia as given by Campion (The Book of World Horoscopes):

At the time of the bombing the (precessed) Lunar

Return (below) had Mars conjunct the Ascendant, Neptune opposite Mercury, Pluto sesquare Saturn, the Moon in a T-Square with the Vertex and Saturn—all very appropriate for the event.

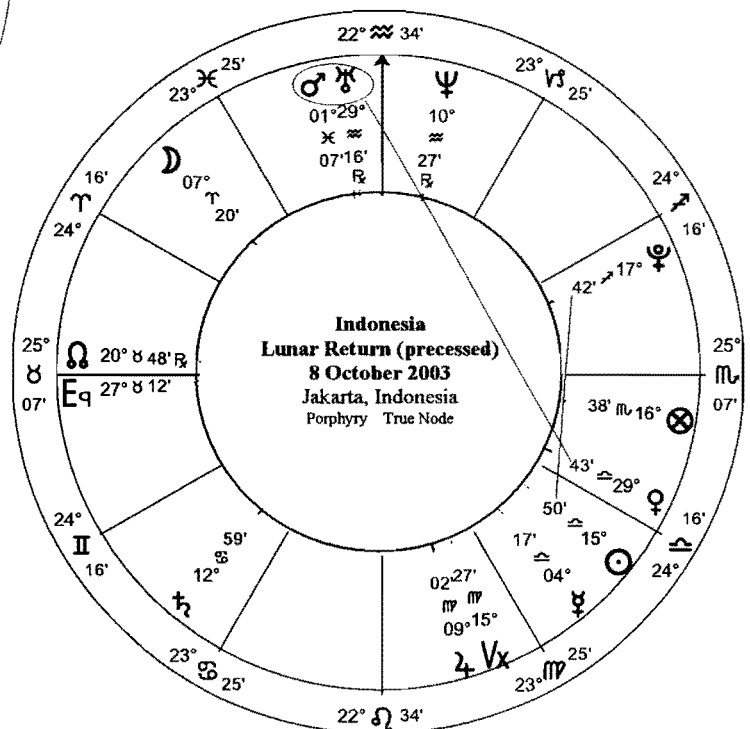

The powers that be in Jakarta are anticipating further terrorist attacks.

The Lunar Return of 12 September has a conjunction of Mars and Uranus which is not by any means peaceful but its position away from the Cusps and unconnected with a major Significator does not suggest a terrorist attack. Mercury in the 9th House square Pluto in the 12th certainly indicates subversive plotting against the Government from abroad or by foreign nationals.

The October Return is more threatening. The conjunction of Mars and Uranus now occupies the 10th House and trines the Ruler, Venus, while Pluto sextiles the Sun. The malefic planets are here in contact with important Significators. Another disturbing feature is Pluto in very close square to the Midpoint Mercury/Mars which is characteristic of violent assaults from malefactors.

The Jakarta police need to be specially vigilant in the week October 24–31. The weekly Chart for this period shows Saturn on the Meridian in a T-Square with the natal Ascendant and Nodal Axis plus some adverse connections of Mars.

My kind regards to all. — Dymock.
25 August 2003.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $A20 by ordinary mail in Australia, $A25 overseas. By e-mail $A15 worldwide.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 264 July 2003

A red sticker here means your subscription is due.

Dear Readers,

If I did not know it before then it has become very clear with Dymock's recent life-threatening illness that we are truly an astrological family. All your good wishes have been a great help for us during this difficult time. We thank you deeply.

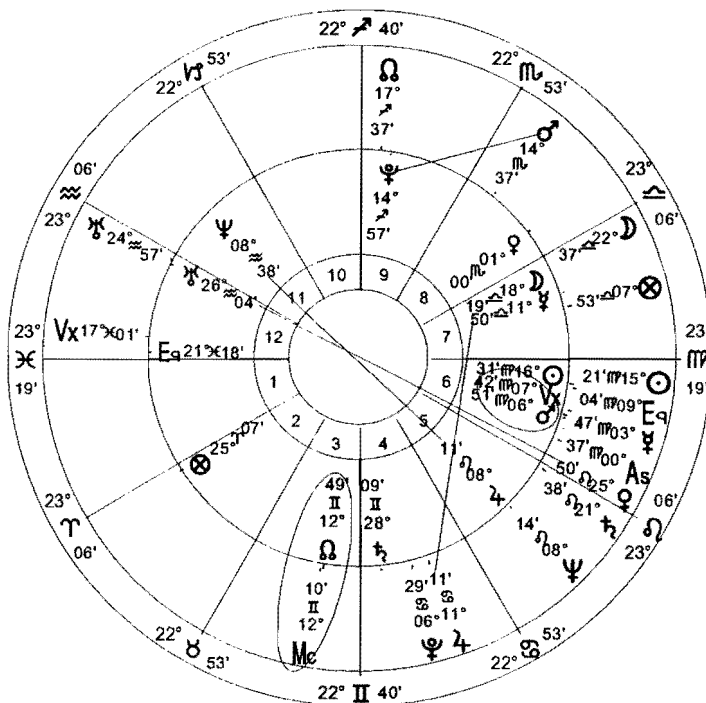

— Marguerite.

OVERVIEW OF AN ILLNESS

July has been an eventful month for your Editor. I suffered a subdural hematoma (bleeding onto the lining of the brain) and had emergency surgery on Sunday the 5th. That is why the Journal is late this month. Fortunately the operation was successful and I am now recovering my strength. The Charts relating to the illness are indicative and interesting.

An early intimation of possibly serious health trouble was given in the Solar Returns of 8/9 Sep 2002, both Standard and Precessed. Here is the Precessed Chart, surrounded by the Birth Figure.

Pisces rises (not a strong Sign) and Ruler Jupiter

Inner Wheel and Cusps: Dymock Brose, Precessed Solar Return, 9 Sep 2002. 6:30:45 pm ACST, Adelaide, 34S55, 138E35.

Outer Wheel: Natal Chart, 9 Sep 1918, 5:50 am ACST, Adelaide. Porphyry. True Node.

also rules the House of Career. The close opposition from Neptune is separative in effect and suggests the temporary loss of professional activity. SR-Mercury square Natal Jupiter also implies difficulties. The accent is on work and career with the Moon's Node conjunct the Natal MC.

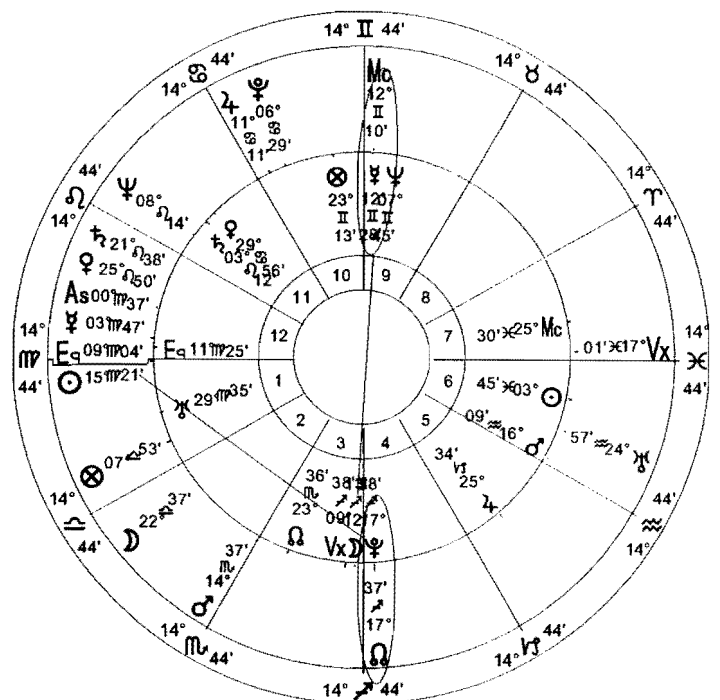

In This Issue...

	Page
Overview of an Illness.....	1
Test 79—Report.....	2
Missing Watch.....	3
The Future of Tony Blair.....	4
Test No. 80.....	4

The 6th House (Health) is emphasized by the accumulation of many factors, both Solar Return and Natal. It is further accented by the Natal Venus/Uranus Opposition lying along the 6th/12th axis.

S/R Mars and the Vertex in conjunction is an indication of surgery, as also SR Pluto 30° from Natal Mars.

A more precise indication is given by the Age Harmonic for the Month 9 June—9 July 2003. (Admission to hospital was on 4th July.)

Inner Wheel and Cusps: Dymock Brose, Month Harmonic (84.75) for period 9 June—9 July 2003.

Outer Wheel: Natal Chart, 9 Sep 1918, 5:50 am ACST, Adelaide. Equal Houses. True Node.

The Ruler, Mercury, is placed on the upper Meridian conjunct the Natal MC. Its opposition to the Moon shows the suspension of professional activities.

The Age Harmonic goes deeper than the Solar Return as Pluto conjuncts the n.Node and squares the Natal Sun. The implications here are crisis and drama, a new phase of experience and revival of old contacts. All these have indeed eventuated.

The Weekly Lunar Chart even more closely defines the event. This Chart is a figure drawn from the

the event. This Chart is a figure drawn from the normal Lunar Return each quarter after the Return date. So in a month there are four charts, each operating for about 7 days. In each successive Chart the Moon holds the same degree and minute as in the monthly Lunar Figure but is three Signs further on.

These Charts are useful for defining the events of a short period of time. For convenience they are referred to in the computer Program Solar Fire as 4th-Harmonic Lunar Returns though of course they are not truly harmonic Charts.

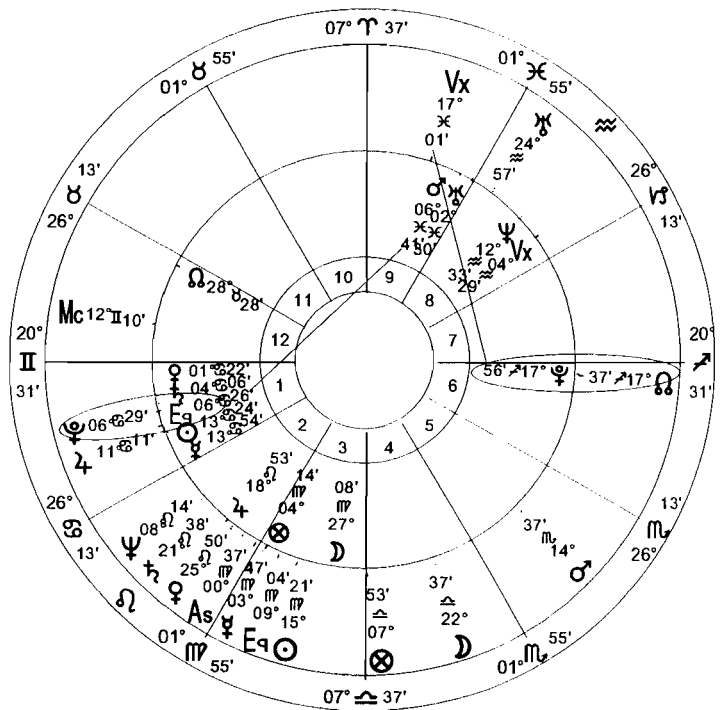

In the present instance the basic Lunar Return occurred on 10 June 2003 with the Moon at its Natal position, 22Li37. The subsequent Weekly Chart closest to the hospital admission date (4 July 03) occurred on 1 July 2003, with the Moon at 22Cn37.

In the above Weekly Chart the Sign Leo rises and Ruler Sun is conjunct Saturn, straddling the 12th Cusp (confinement, hospital). Mercury conjuncts Saturn ruling the 6th House (illness) and trines Mars and Uranus on the 8th Cusp (surgery).

The Chart for 6th July 2003, the day of the operation, (see next column) when considered in relation to the Radix, pinpoints the event. The relative Aspects are easily found by looking for the VERY CLOSE ones (usually within 1°). In this Day Chart the EP (Equatorial Ascendant)—which functions like a second Ascendant—shows surgery by its trine to Mars and its conjunction with Natal Pluto, plus Pluto's conjunction with the Natal Node and square to the Natal Vertex. All these Aspects have an orb of less than 1°.

To conclude the astrological overview, here are the Progressed Aspects and Directions that signalled the daily stages.

4 July 2003. Neptune square Mercury (Asc-Arc Direction): Losing physical balance, unable to type Inner Wheel and Cusps: Dymock Brose, Day Chart, 6 July 2003, 5:50 am ACST, Adelaide, 34S55, 138E35.

Outer Wheel: Natal Chart, 9 Sep 1918, 5:50 am ACST, Adelaide. Porphyry. True Node.

accurately. Admitted to hospital.

5 July. Pluto square Sun/Jupiter (Vertex-Arc Direction) & Saturn square Sun/Neptune (Primary Direction) Condition worsening; commencing paralysis of right arm.

5 July. Mercury sextile Mars/Pluto (Vertex-Arc Direction): Emergency surgery on 6 July.

11 July. Pluto trine Sun/Jupiter (Asc-Arc Direction); Marked improvement from time of operation. No paralysis.

If you want a comprehensive list of the Progressions and Directions you do need to include the Asc-Arc and Vertex-Arc as well as the Solar-Arc Directions. Directions to Midpoints are also needed for a more detailed account. For computer users, all are readily available in Solar Fire.

TEST 79—REPORT

This Test concerned a woman born on 28 December 1946 at 6:31 am ACST in Adelaide, S.A. See the Radix on the next page.

The exercise was to determine which of the following events occurred in her life on 24th March 2003.

She won a substantial sum in a lottery.

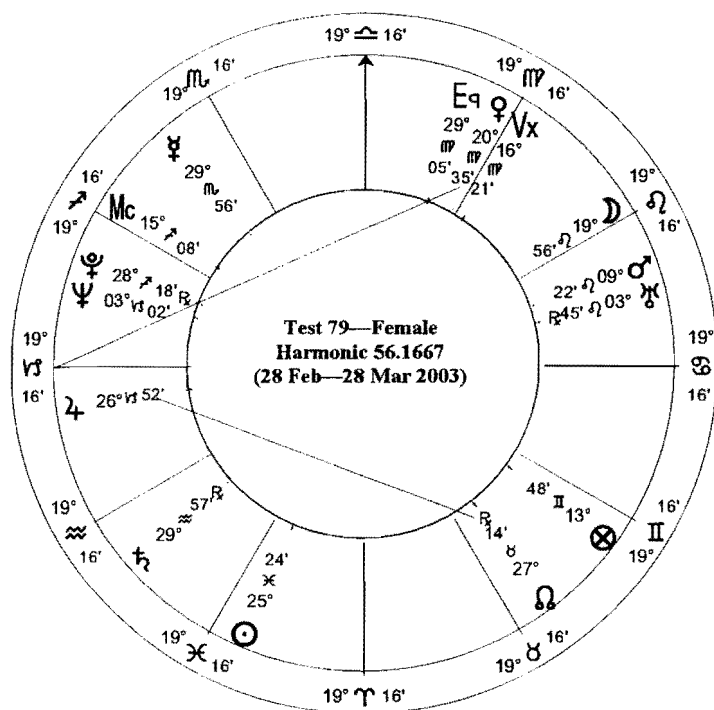

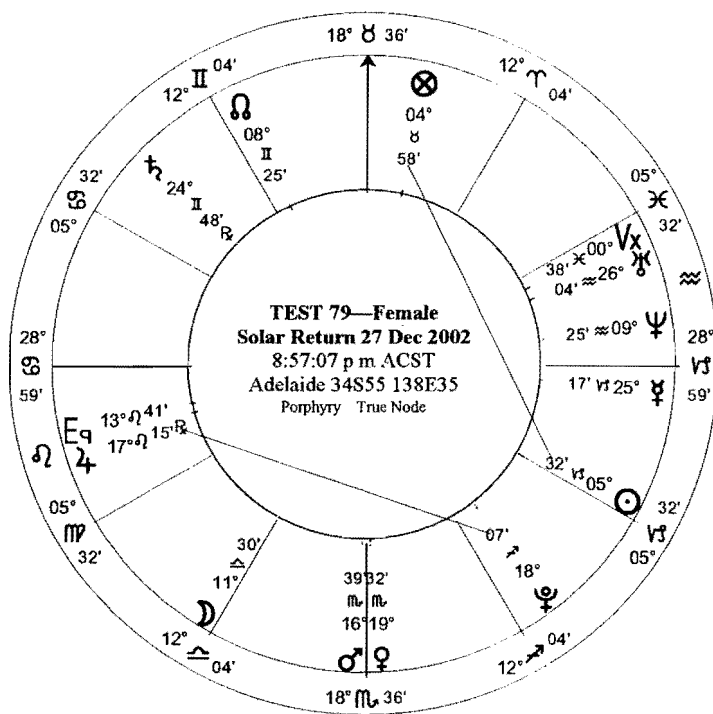

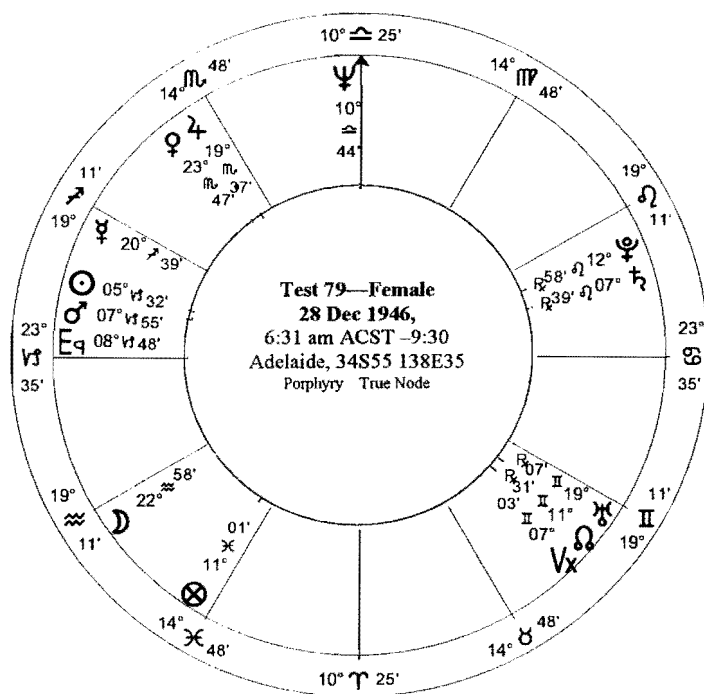

Her application to receive a redundancy package was accepted.

A court case over an inheritance was settled in her favour.

She paid a deposit to build a new house.

She received news that a previous husband had lung cancer.

The correct answer is No. 1—she won a substantial sum in a lottery.

The answer could be found from the Age Harmonic for the month (56.1667):

Jupiter rises, trine to the Moon's Node in the House of Lotteries and both are sextile to the Sun. Venus, ruling the 5th House (Lotteries) is trine to the rising degree.

The Standard Solar Return of 27 Dec 2002 (next column) has Jupiter rising, ruling the 5th House, closely trine to the occupant, Pluto—a classic situation emphasizing the House of Lotteries. Jupiter trine Pluto = a substantial win. A confirming factor is The Sun trine to the Part of Fortune.

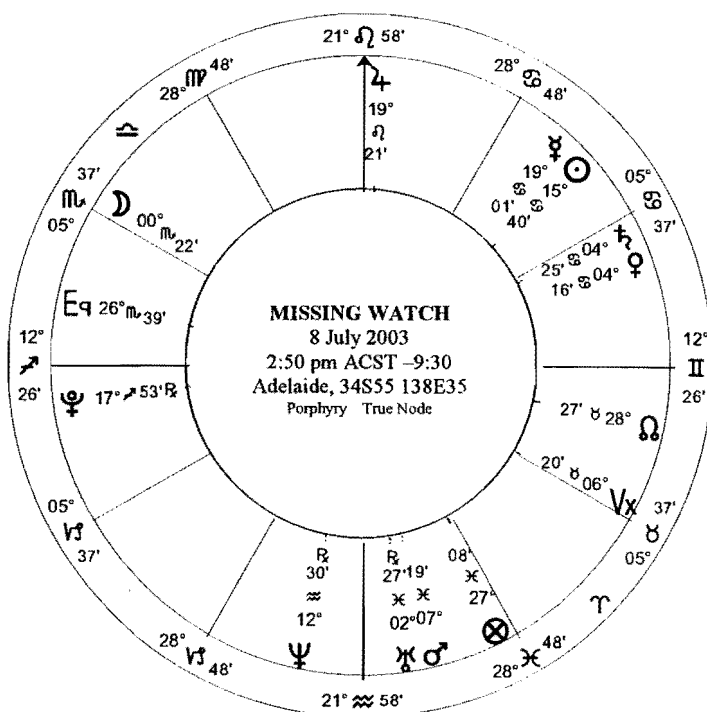

There are other methods for deducing the answer. Another way is by a process of elimination. For example, in the Age Harmonic Chart shown above:

1. There is no indication of a redundancy package (8th House). The Moon there is not connected with Jupiter or Venus.
2. The 9th House with Venus trine to the Ascendant is not indicative of a court battle.
3. The 4th House does not indicate building a new home: Ruler Mars is conjunct Uranus; Uranus quincunx Neptune.
4. The 3rd House does not suggest news of lung cancer but something beneficial with the Sun sextile Jupiter. Mercury (news) is square Saturn but not connected with "previous husband"—7th House.

MISSING WATCH

Below is a Horary Chart for a missing watch. Was it found? See the answer in the inverted paragraph at the foot of the next page.

THE FUTURE OF TONY BLAIR

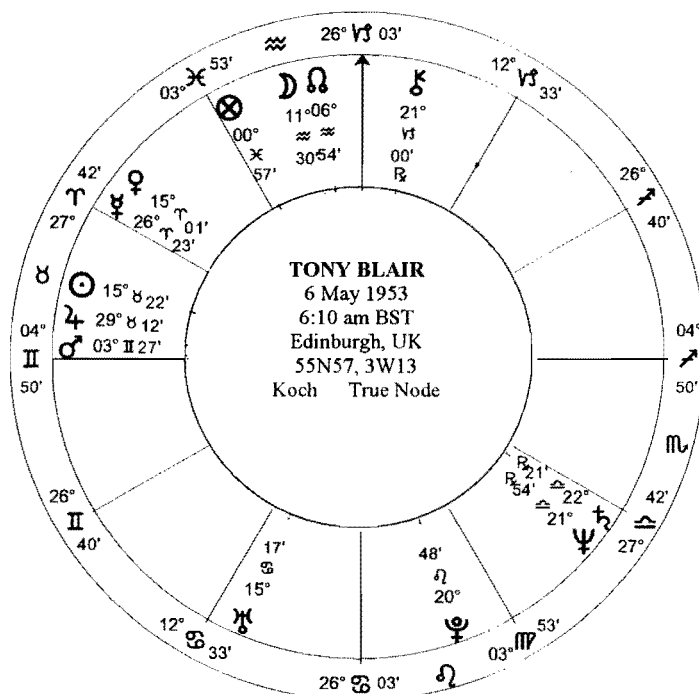

by Allan Johnson

The reason I have been looking at Tony Blair's Chart recently is that I have been doing a bit of research on the "Chiron Return" and its 50 years' cycle, and I have recently seen a news report of his 50th birthday. Here we have a very useful case. So what has been happening in his "Chiron Return"? He has certainly been in the news and living under tremendous pressure for his support for George W. Bush and the recent War. Chiron was only discovered in 1977, and there has been a lot of speculation as to its meaning. Many astrologers have found difficulties in its practical use. One way I have been using it is to see if its Transits line up with any major configuration in the Chart. This gives it great emphasis at that time. It is a fact of life that the 50th year can often be something of a milestone for a lot of people. And certainly this is applicable in Tony Blair's case.

In Blair's Chart Natal Chiron is also part of the major pattern. Chiron is making a very close T-Square with Mercury, Saturn, Neptune; with a little wider orb we could take in Uranus too for a Cardinal Grand Cross. All this can make for a very challenging and dramatic style of life. And the very close conjunction of Saturn/Neptune can be very revealing, right on the "Chiron Return". It all figures. Tony Blair has been going through a very severe crisis in his life. His whole position in his own Party is under threat. The Labour Party has been split down the centre due to the War—and with an Election coming up in 2004. In addition to this planetary pattern his Natal Chiron is very close to his M.C. He was born in Scotland and it has always been the practice in Scotland to put the time of birth on the birth certificate. So it is an accurate Chart.

It is worth noting that his Sun is in the 12th House, which is not good for political figures. However, this is offset by Jupiter and Mars being conjunct the Ascendant. His Sun in Taurus has given him the stubbornness to stand up to criticism and the Sun is exactly sextile Uranus. The quick ending of the War has been to his advantage. So he is holding his own. But that is not the whole story. Transiting Uranus is now moving into Pisces and is coming to the square of his Mars/Ascendant all through 2004. So it is not going to be a good year for him. Transiting Chiron reaches the exact position of Natal Chiron in February 2004, and comes back to the same position in August, being within close orb throughout that year, the very same period that Uranus will be squaring his Ascendant/Mars. Both Chiron and Uranus will be Stationary during October/ November. This is a time when his whole future will be in the balance. But of course other things could be happening in the next twelve months. So "Chiron Returns" are worth watching. □

Yes, the watch was found the next day. Saturn, Ruler of the 2nd House (missing objects) is conjunct Venus. The Moon applies by trine to Venus and Saturn. The other benefic, Jupiter, dominates the Chart, while both "Lights" are above the Horizon (fortunate).

TEST NO. 80

Test No. 80 concerns a woman born on June 30, 1959 at 2:41 am EST at Watervliet, Michigan, 42N11, 86W16. (Ascendant 27Ta47, MC 4Aq17, Moon 4Ta12.

On a certain date in the year 2000 her home in Grand Ledge, Michigan, 42N45, 84W45 was struck by lightning and destroyed in the fire that followed.

Can you find that date in the year 2000?

This is a variation on the usual multi-choice problems of past Issues. It will help your Astrology by necessitating a different approach. If the date you find is within ten days of the of the exact date it will be counted as correct. But, as I have mentioned before, the real value of the exercise lies in the work you put into it whether or not your answer is correct. The Tests will uncover for you your strengths and weaknesses.

Please send your answers to me, with their astrological justification, by August 10. My postal and e-mail address appear on the first page. As this Journal is late because of circumstances previously explained I shall endeavour to make up time with the August Issue.

The Moon's Node—True and Mean

Readers may have noticed that over the years I have swung between using the Moon's Mean Node and its True Node. There has been much support for the Mean as against the True, notably from the late German Astrologer, Alexander Marr.

From using the Mean Node for the last two or three years I have now reverted to the True Node which appears to be the more indicative of the two. I have not made a definitive study of the problem but simply as a result of observation I have decided to change.

Kind regards and best wishes to all,

— Dymock, 26 July 2003.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies by ordinary mail $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com

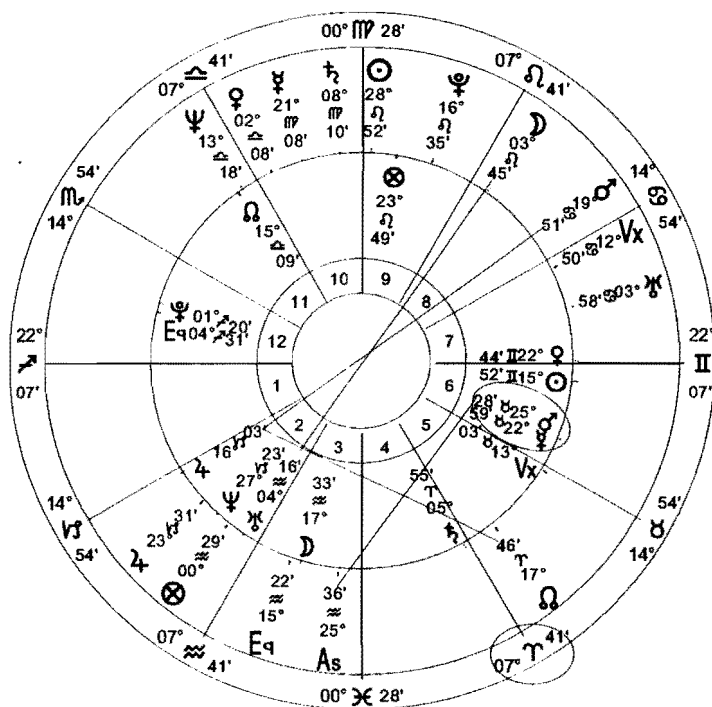

Now in its 23rd Year: Issue 263 June 2003

A red sticker here means your subscription is due.

DAY CHARTS AND LUNAR RETURNS

When for any reason it is necessary or desirable to focus on a particular day in a person's life, the Day Chart will usually give the most explicit reading of the influences and events of that day. It is set for the time of birth and for the place where the person concerned is residing at the time. Usually, the Day Chart alone is sufficient for the reading but by placing the Natal Chart around it, or putting it around the Natal Chart, very often other important factors come to light or they will simply sharpen the focus. With either Biwheel it is very significant if planets straddle an Angle or even an intermediate Cusp.

Here is an instance of a very significant day in the life of a man born on 22nd August 1949. The Birth Figure is in the outer wheel.

Perhaps you would first like to attempt a reading of the Biwheel yourself to discover what occurred on that day (6th June 1996). The important clues are:

- ♦ Mercury is conjunct Mars in the 6th House, Mars squares the natal Ascendant.
- ♦ Sagittarius rises. Ruler, Jupiter, opposes natal Mars ruling the 5th House.
- ♦ Jupiter squares the Moon's Nodes on the 5th/11th axis.
- ♦ The Moon ruling House 8 opposes natal Pluto.
- ♦ Uranus opposes natal Moon.

The answer (inverted) is in the next column.

In This Issue...

	Page
Day Charts and Lunar Returns.....	1
Neptune Adverse Mercury.....	2
Solar Eclipse, 24 November 2003.....	2
Test 78—Report. Test 79.....	3, 4
Numbers & Planets	4

George Lucas, surfing at a local beach, was attacked by a three-metre shark that bit his surf board in two. Miraculously, George managed to reach shore with only a nick to his right knee. His saviour was Natal Jupiter trine the Day Mercury/Mars conjunction.

It is clear from Mars conjunct Mercury square the n.Ascendant that George was likely to suffer some injury while engaged on a sporting activity (Mars ruling the 5th House; Sagittarius rising; Jupiter square the South Node in the 5th House.)

Uranus opposite the natal Moon signifies suddenness and shock.

The Moon ruling the 8th House and opposing natal Pluto signifies danger of death.

One would have to be psychically gifted to forecast that the impending danger would be from a shark attack. One can read only that it was some sporting activity, but this would be enough to warn of the particular danger if surfing was the known sport of the person concerned.

For those who want to do further research, here is the birth data of the man involved: George Lucas, born 22 August 1949 at 5:30 pm, AEST, Caulfield South, Victoria, Australia (37S03, 145E05. Ascendant 25Aqu36, MC20Sc16). The shark attack occurred at Point Leo, Victoria (38S26, 145E05).

By reading the monthly Lunar Return Charts you can determine the good fortune or ill-fortune of the period concerned. Planetary links and placements show when different activities are helped or hindered, when you will be lucky or when luck will desert you or, as in the above case, when there is risk and danger whether on the road, in sporting activities or in the home.

This sort of information is very useful in everyday living when you have some special objective. Choose a period and a day when the planetary configurations and House placements favour the activity you have in mind.

Either standard or precessed Lunar Returns can fulfil this function, though I have usually had the best indications from the precessed figure.

The precessed Lunar Return for George Lucas prior to his attack by a shark gives a clear warning of danger. See the Chart below:

Warning factors are:

- ♦ The Sun high in the Chart and directly opposite Pluto: "Exposed to great physical danger: physical suffering" (Reinhold Ebertin).
- ♦ The Moon opposed by Pluto across the horizon: Suddenness and shock.
- ♦ Mars conjunct Mercury on the Upper Meridian: Danger of injury.

Here is another instance where a warning was present in the Lunar Return Chart of a young woman. This time it is a Standard (non-processed) Return. Have a guess at what it might imply before reading the interpretation.

The prominent factors are the clues:

- ♦ Mars conjunct the Sun, both opposed by Uranus and the Part of Fortune.
- ♦ Saturn in the Midheaven square to Ascendant Ruler, Mercury.
- ♦ Jupiter opposite the Moon.
- ♦ Pluto opposite the N.Node.

The woman concerned broke her ankle. Mars, Sun and Uranus from the 12th to the 6th House indicate an injury; Saturn square Mercury, a fall; Jupiter opposite Mercury, possible lack of sufficient care. The ankle is ruled by Aquarius on the 6th Cusp (bodily health) and is further indicated by the Moon, Neptune Uranus and Fortuna all occupying Aquarius. A broken ankle is nasty enough, but had this been a Progressed or an Annual Chart, the effects would likely have been much more serious. Keep in mind that a monthly chart is proportionately less severe.

NEPTUNE ADVERSE MERCURY

The recent Transiting Aspect Mercury square Neptune has had much more impact than normally because Mercury has been at its Station and therefore moving very slowly over a period of about two weeks. From 11—29 May the Aspect has been within 1° of exact. The Neptunian influence has also been augmented by the continuing opposition of Jupiter to Neptune.

Adverse effects that have been noticeable from this planetary activity are an unprecedented number of mistakes in numbers, dates, and accounts; difficulties in getting reliable information; mail stalled in the Post Office and not delivered; missed or incoherent messages; mental confusion; mental derangement; undermining of position or reputation; mobile phones damaged or malfunctioning; goldfish tank accumulating fungus; false testimony; massive cheating reported among under-graduates.

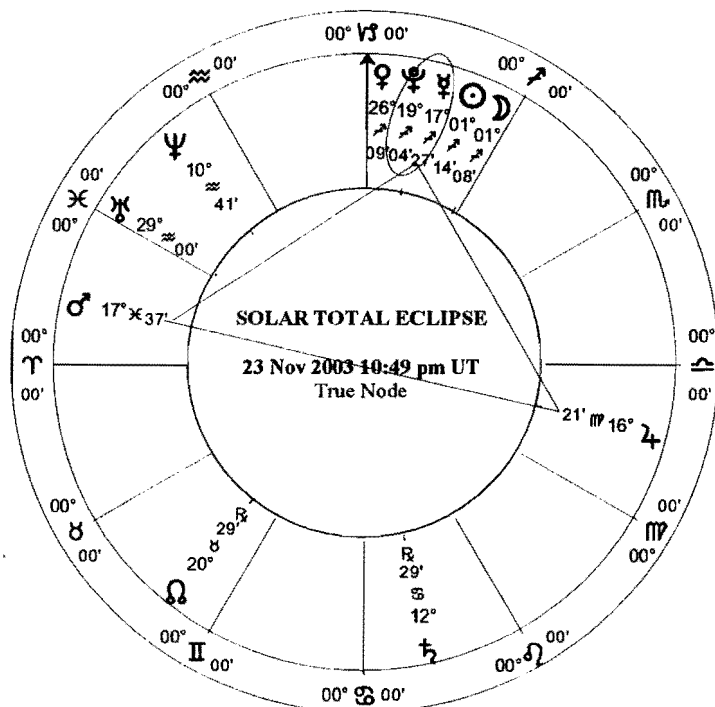

Everyone was liable to be affected to some extent, but the Aspect would have impinged most strongly on those who had it prominent in their current Solar Return, Lunar Return, or Moon/Sun Phase-Angle Chart. The Aspect is prominent if the planets are Angular or on an intermediate Cusp (Porphyry recommended).

SOLAR ECLIPSE, 24 Nov 2003

The Annular Eclipse of the Sun on 31 May has been mentioned warningly in astrological circles lately but what will have greater impact world-wide is the total Solar Eclipse on 24 November 2003 (see next column).

This Chart is drawn for UT (GMT) but not set for any particular locality, hence 0° Aries on the Ascendant, and the use of Equal Houses. To make it applicable to any place in the world all you need do is use the geographic coordinates of that place and whichever domification system you prefer. (Be careful to retain the UT time!)

Be it noted that we don't have to wait for November to see the impact of this Eclipse. It is well-established that Solar Eclipses operate BEFORE as well as after their actual date.

The Chart is a powerful one. So what will be its effects? Most noteworthy is the conjunction of Mercury with Pluto, the opposition of Mars to Jupiter and both these planets involved in a T-Square with Mercury and Pluto.

Though the conjunction is elevated in the above Chart of course it will not necessarily be in that position at any particular location. If the Chart is set for New York, Pluto and Mercury are just below the Descendant; at London they are close to the 5th Cusp; at Baghdad in the 3rd House; at Sydney near the 12th Cusp.

The T-Square is a portent of violence!

- Pluto—Mars/Jupiter is a signature for massive explosions.
- Mercury conjunct Pluto, square Mars/Jupiter = fanaticism.

The likelihood of intensified terrorist activities is obvious. It should be the serious endeavour of all experienced astrologers to determine NOW what will be the locations affected and when! Perhaps then the violence apprehended may be forestalled or diminished. I shall make my contribution but the determined efforts of competent astrologers worldwide is required. Help if you can.

— Dymock.

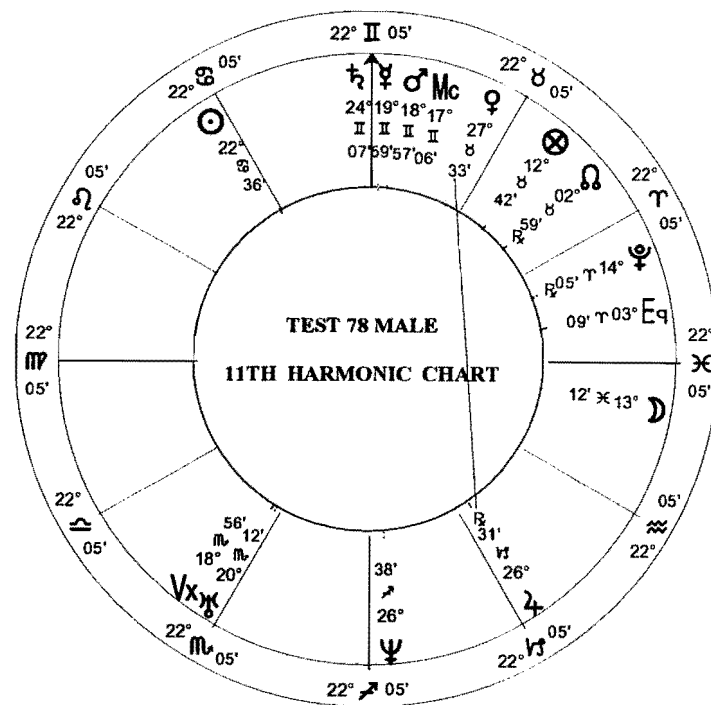

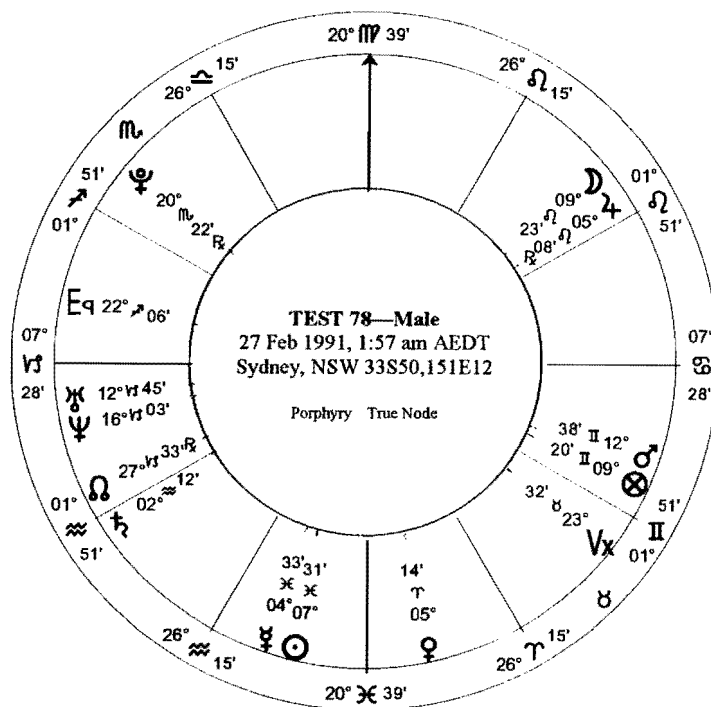

TEST 78—REPORT

Test No. 78 concerned a young man born on 27 February 1991 at 1:57 am AEDT in Sydney NSW, with the Horoscope printed in the next column.

The exercise was to find which of the following five events occurred in his life on 25 Feb 2003.

1. He won an important sporting event.
2. He left on an overseas trip with his father.
3. He underwent surgery.
4. He started at a new school.
5. His mother died.

The correct answer was No. 2—he left on an overseas trip with his father.

The boy was eleven years old, and the solution is clear from the 11th Harmonic Chart (above). The close trine between Venus and Jupiter links the 9th, 5th and 4th Houses (Jupiter's Rulership)—overseas countries, pleasure and the father.

(The MC at the midpoint of the Saturn and Mercury conjunction has also been established by Uranian astrologers as indicative of sudden travel.)

The Chart excludes the other possibilities: Winning an important sporting event—Mars not linked with the 5th House. Surgery—no emphasis on 8th or 6th Houses. New school—The Moon or Uranus not linked with the 5th House.

Death of mother—8th House not linked with 10th or 4th or the Moon.

An alternative Harmonic Chart that also gave the answer is Harmonic 11.9167 for the month 27 Jan—27 Feb 2003. Here it is, concentric with the Radix:

Venus rises, ruling the 5th House, and is closely trine natal Saturn ruling the 9th (pleasure and travel). Additionally, Uranus is conjunct Natal Moon and Jupiter in the 3rd House (sudden travel).

There were 46 respondents to the Test from around the world. Seven found the correct solution at the first attempt. Methods used are listed below, the figures in brackets being the number successful:

Vedic Astrology, 20 (2). Progressions and Transits, 13 (2). Profections and Firdaria, 4 (2). Uranian, 1 (1). Other, 8 (0).

The List should not be taken as reflecting the relative value of the different techniques as it does not take into account the competency or experience of the respondents concerned. A number are beginners.

TEST 79

This Test comes from Anne-Elisabeth, professional astrologer in South Australia. It concerns a woman born on 28 December 1946 at 6:31 am ACST in Adelaide, S.A.

(Asc 23Cp35, MC 10Li25, Moon 22Aqu58).

An important event occurred in her life on 24th March 2003. It was one of the following:

1. She won a substantial sum in a lottery.
2. Her application to receive a redundancy package was accepted.
3. A court case over an inheritance was settled in her favour.
4. She paid a deposit to build a new house.
5. She received news that a previous husband had lung cancer.

Please send your solutions to me on or before June 27 giving the method you used. The correct solution will be published in the July Issue of this Journal but all participants will receive an individual reply citing all the correct answers received. This gives you the opportunity to compare your methods with those of the successful entrants.

NUMBERS & PLANETS

Last month I drew attention to the connection between planets and numbers as shown by a chart set for the time and place of the United Kingdom Lottery in London.

Here is another illustration from the Lottery drawn last Saturday, 7 June 2003. The aim is to select the seven numbers that will be drawn from a total of 49.

The winning numbers this time were 2, 5, 6, 17, 18, 30 and 29. They correlate with the planets:

2 and 29 (reducing to 2) are numbers of the Moon, strong in this Chart because elevated and empowered by a square from the Sun.

5 and 6 are the numbers respectively of Mercury and Venus, prominent by their conjunction in Taurus.

17, reducing to 8, is a Saturn number, here Angular and gaining from disposition by the powerful Moon.

18, reducing to 9, is a number of Mars, emphasized by the 3rd Cusp.

30 is a number of Jupiter here ruling the Ascendant and gaining from disposition by the Sun.

It is an anomaly, however, that none of the Sun numbers (1, 10, 19, 28, 37, 46) appear. Is the Sun weakened by the Aspects from Pluto and Neptune?

So this is not an easy path to riches. However, the Lotteries are astrologically educative by showing a method of assessing the relative power of planets in a particular chart. Some of the old teachings on this subject may go by the board.

My kind regards to all. — Dymock. 8 June 2003.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com
 Issue 262 May 2003

A red sticker here means
 your subscription is due.

WAR AND THE NEW CENTURY CHART

By Allan Johnson

In my previous article I emphasized the enormous difference between the Charts of the 20th Century and the 21st Century. The first is so highly dramatic and it certainly correlated with the highly dramatic events that unfolded during that Century. But the 21st Century is quite the reverse. So a lot of astrologers have found it hard to get a clear picture of what it is all about, especially in regard to the future of warfare.

In regard to the Iraq War it is interesting to note that the newspapers have reported it as "the strangest war in all history", one fought with the intention of not killing people, and it ended up with a ridiculously low casualty list on the part of the U.S. I predicted it would be no big deal—and I was right! It started off with a lot of dire possibilities being predicted, "another Vietnam" and so on, but they were never realized. It was all over in a matter of a few weeks. Is this a preview of wars in the New Century? Can we correlate this with the Chart for the New Century? Are wars on the grand scale like the First and Second World Wars now a thing of the past?

The world does have the power to produce nuclear weapons of massive destruction, but can they be used without incurring equally self-destruction? That is the big question. So far they have not been used for that reason. The great empire builders, the power seekers like Hitler and Stalin are no longer on the world stage. We are in a different world from the one where millions were slaughtered. This was the world of the 20th Century. I don't think the vision of The Third World War now hangs over us. The world has moved on.

I think this is the message of the New Century Chart. I don't say we are entering an age of universal peace. Human nature being what it is, and the multitude of factors throughout the world making for conflict, there will always be wars and revolutions—but on a much smaller scale, more individualistic.

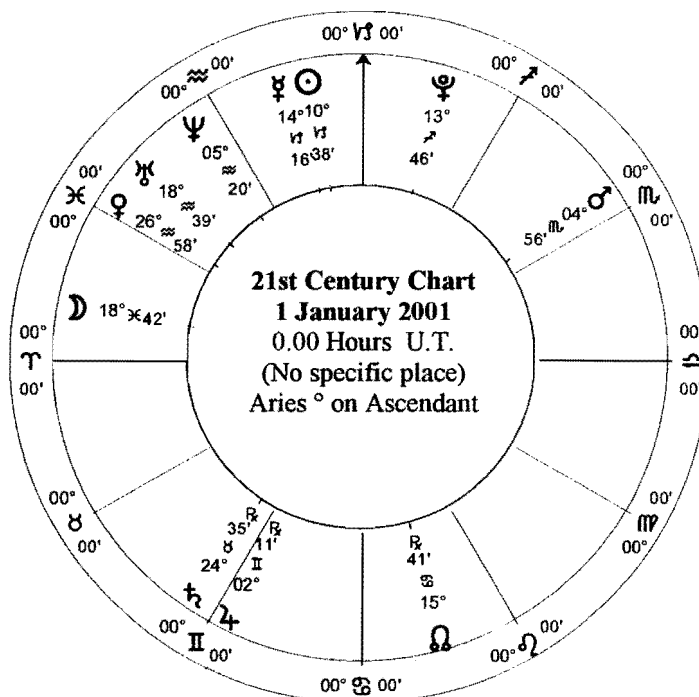

Tribal wars in Africa will continue, and in other parts of the world where there is race hatred. But there will be no Armageddon, which a lot of people have been influenced by. I think that's out! I would say the Iraq War is symptomatic of a change in direction in world history.

If you apply Progressions and Transits to the New Century Chart you won't get any big dramas over the next few years. I don't see any big increase in terrorism that some are predicting. So I think the Chart for the New Century is worth watching. □

[See Chart next column—not drawn for a specific place, so Ascendant, MC, Vertex, East Point and Fortuna are omitted.]

In This Issue...

	Page
War and the New Century Chart	1
Hindsight—Iraq War	2
A Success Story—Horary Astrology	3
Test No. 77—Report; Test No. 78.....	3
Numbers and Planets	4

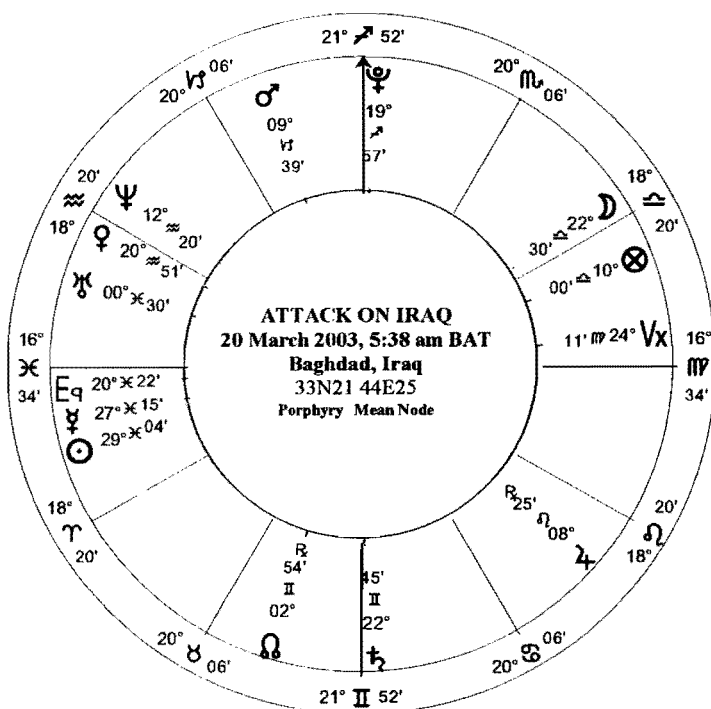

HINDSIGHT—IRAQ WAR

Now it is apparent that the duration of the Iraq War could be judged from the Chart for the first "Surgical Strike" given in the last Issue. (See Chart next page).

The East side of this Chart represents the Coalition, who initiated hostilities, while the West side (and its derived Houses) represents the Iraqi forces.

On 10 April, the Sun in the 1st House, powerful Significator of the Coalition, arrived at 19Ar21, where it exactly trined Pluto in the Midheaven. This is clearly a symbol of victory for the Coalition, particularly as Jupiter rules the Midheaven and is in Mutual Reception with the Sun. It marked the end of the major hostilities—just 21 days after their commencement. So here, ready to hand, was an easy method of estimating the duration of the War. Experienta docet!

Minor encounters of the opposing forces still continue, of course, and it will be interesting to see whether this terminates and peace prevails in the third week of June, the date I originally forecast as likely to see the end of all hostilities. — Dymock.

A SUCCESS STORY

One area of life in which great practical use can be made of Astrology is in deciding on what date to start an enterprise, a business, a particular activity, have an important meeting, inaugurate a change, etc.

My wife, Marguerite, is an artist and has for the past 30 years been studying and working intensively on various forms of paintings: oils, acrylics, water-colours, pastels, drawings, collages, etc. One of the aims of every artist is to win a prize or sell a painting in a Competition.

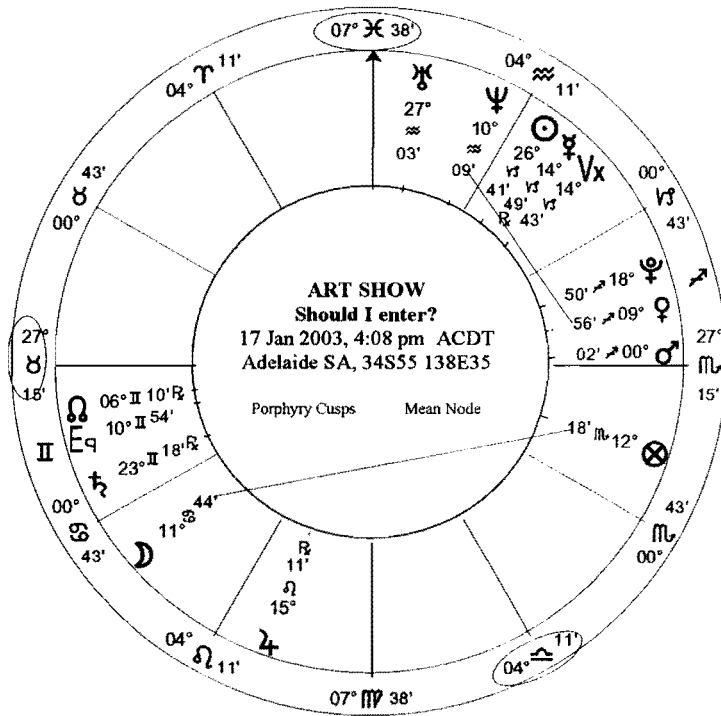

To do this, of course, it is necessary to enter a competition—but which one and when? There is a good deal of effort involved—packing the selected work, having it transported to the site, doing the required paper work and (mostly) picking up the unsuccessful work later. So the time and effort required make one careful in undertaking to exhibit. Over a long period I have found that reliable guidance about whether to exhibit or not is given by a horary chart when the thought of entering a particular competition/exhibition is being seriously considered.

On many past occasions Marguerite has been considering entering an art competition and has asked me to do such a chart to help her decide. Marguerite is herself an astrologer but prefers to rely on my judgement. For the past five years all such charts have returned a negative answer—until recently.

On 17th January Marguerite received an invitation to compete in an Art Competition and Exhibition to be held by the City of Campbelltown & Rotary Club of Campbelltown on the 30th April following.

For once the Chart was satisfactory, giving promise of a favourable outcome. It appears in the next column.

Marguerite is represented by the Ascendant (Taurus) and its Ruler, Venus, which also rules the 5th House (Creativity and Art). This dual Rulership plus the fact that Marguerite's natal Venus occupies the Sign Taurus establishes the "Radicality" of the Figure.

Venus is closely sextile to Neptune (Art) which rules the Midheaven (Success). Additionally, the Moon, the Querent's second Significator occupies the House of income and is closely trine Fortuna, giving promise of material reward. An artist needs no further assurance of success to enter a competition.

The astrologer, however, might want to see confirmation from other astrological factors.

When I have an accurate birth time (as in this case) the first Chart I like to do is the Age Harmonic which is usually more informative than the Solar or Lunar Returns. Here is Marguerite's Age Harmonic with the Birth Chart around it, for the month 17 April—17

May 2003, which includes the date of the Exhibition: The Inner Wheel is the Month Harmonic 68.8333, The Cusps are those of the Harmonic Chart.

As can be easily seen this BiWheel confirms the promise of the Horary Chart:

1. Natal Jupiter and Ascendant straddle the h.MC (professional success, honour); together with Harmonic Neptune and Vertex (significant success associated with art).
2. Natal Venus, strong in its own Sign, conjunct the 5th Cusp (creative art).
3. Harmonic Venus, Ruling the 5th House, sextile Fortuna (promise of material reward).
4. Harmonic Sun closely sextile the MC—a further portent of success.

[Other Charts, such as the Lunar Return, the Moon/Sun Phase Angle Return, the Day Chart, can also be calculated for confirmation purposes, if needed.]

Well, the upshot was that Marguerite did indeed win a major prize in the Exhibition—Best Resident Artist—which involved a sizeable monetary reward.

HORARY ASTROLOGY

The above is a success story to stimulate all astrologers to use their skill and select dates for their important ventures. A horary chart will show whether the matter being considered will or will not have a good ending.

The essential thing to obtain a revealing chart is to cast it for the time when the matter is seriously being considered (not when a casual thought occurs to you). Then apply the "considerations before judgement" to make sure the chart is "Radical" (fit to be judged). It must show connection to the querent (the person asking the question) and/or the matter being asked about.

Even if this is a new field for you don't be daunted. Horary Astrology is the most practical and useful branch of our art. I have used it with great success over a period of about 50 years. Applied to important and significant areas of your life it will save you time, worry and expense. Among other things it will show —

- ♦ where to direct your energies,
- ♦ whether you will make a successful union with a particular person,
- ♦ what your prospects are in a branch of work or study,
- ♦ whether you should go ahead with the removal or the travel you are thinking about,
- ♦ whether to start a particular business,
- ♦ whether to undertake some health regimen, go to a health farm, etc.
- ♦ whether to upgrade your computer or by some particular expensive object,
- ♦ whether or not to split with your partner,
- ♦ whether you should follow the plan of your financial adviser.

The essentials of the Horary Art are

1. that you should have a SPECIFIC question to ask—not one of merely general interest,

2. that the question is important for you (or the person asking the question—the querent),
3. that you have set it for the date, time and place when it was strongly on your mind,
4. that the chart you draw up has connection to the person who asked it and/or the subject matter.

There are other refinements, peculiar to the art of Horary, but the above is sufficient for you to get started and will answer all but the most complex questions. You will often find that the Horary Chart confirms your own intuitive feeling about the matter in hand, which will give confidence and firmness in your actions relating to it.

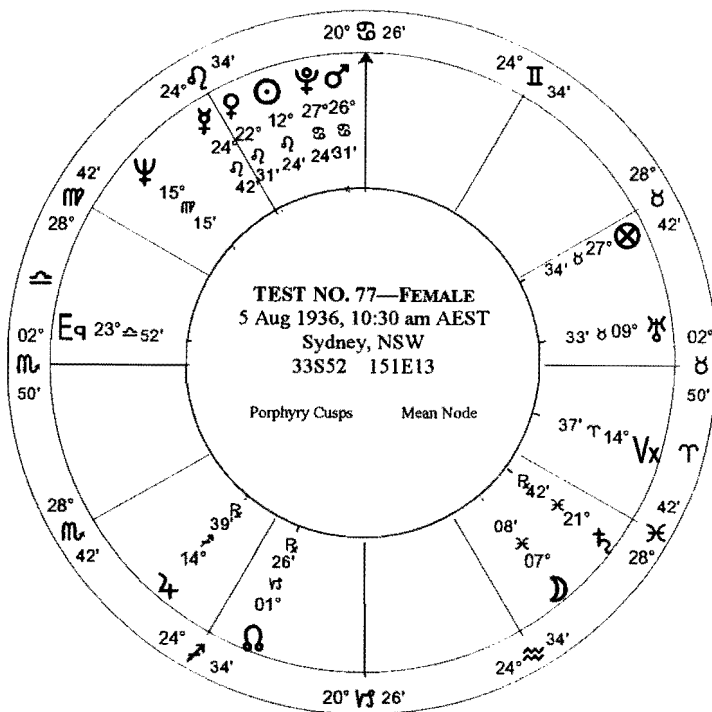

— Dymock.

TEST NO. 77—REPORT

This was an exercise to decide which of the following events occurred on 18 July 2000 in the life of a woman whose Chart appears below:

1. She was accepted as a mature-age student to do a Fine Arts Degree.
2. Her first painting exhibition opened.
3. She began work in a private Art Gallery.
4. Her childhood boy friend proposed.
5. She left Australia for a month's painting holiday in Tuscany.

The correct answer is that the woman opened her first painting exhibition. Ten respondents found the correct solution at the first attempt, and a number were successful on the second try.

There were 40 replies from a large variety of countries—Netherlands (8), USA (7), Australia (6), Canada (5), Germany (3), Portugal (2), Thailand (2), India (2), France (1), Italy (1), Czechoslovakia (1), Argentina (1), Malaysia (1).

A variety of methods were used, including a mixture of techniques, but here is a rough analysis of the principal method in each case:

Vedic (16), Progressions and Transits (6), Profecions and Firdaria (5), Uranian (2), Progressions and Solar-Arc Directions (1), Solar Return and Solar-Arc Direction (1), Solar and Lunar Returns (1), Tertiary Progressions and Transits (1), Age Harmonic (1), Midpoints and Transits (1), Transits only (1).

Respondents generally seem to have overlooked the easy solution by Transits. This is possible in a case like the present one where the Test is simply a multiple-choice type and not one that has no guide at all as to what happened.

A cause of the wrong answer in some cases was the failure to correctly interpret the Chart that did hold the solution.

A quick solution was by using the Age Harmonic No. 63:

The Moon conjunct the MC and trine the "floating" MC gives the answer immediately.

My congratulations to all who made an attempt at solving the problem, whether their answers were right or wrong. Doing these Tests every month quickly extends one's astrological knowledge and insight as well as uncovering deficiencies.

TEST NO 78—MALE

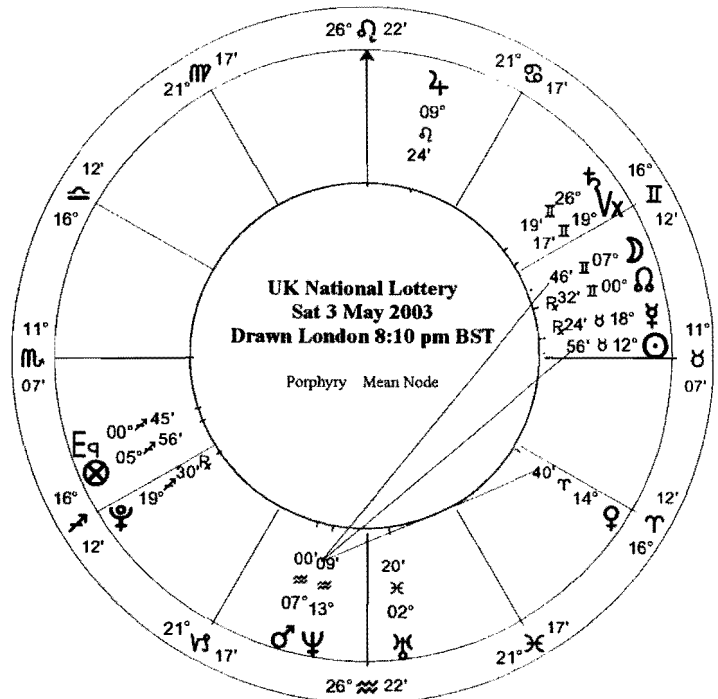

Test No. 78 comes from Ross Harvey (NSW) and concerns a young man born on 27 February 1991 at 1:57 am AEDT in Sydney NSW (33S50, 51E12). The Ascendant is 7Cp28, MC 20Vi39, Moon 9Le23.

An event of importance occurred in his life on 25 Feb 2003. Can you pick by astrological means which of the five events listed below is the one that did actually occur?

1. He won an important sporting event.
2. He left on an overseas trip with his father.
3. He underwent surgery.
4. He started at a new school.
5. His mother died.

These Tests are offered as a useful exercise to try your skills and possibly improve them. Please send your solutions to me, on or before May 20, giving the method used. The solution will be published in the next Issue (June) of Astrologers' Forum. Apart from that, an individual reply and a full Report citing all correct answers will be sent to everyone who encloses a 50c stamp (if ordinary mail is used). — Dymock.

NUMBERS AND PLANETS

Above is the Chart of the United Kingdom Lottery drawn in London last Saturday, 3 May 2003, at 8:10 pm BST. The results of these Lotteries are reported regularly every week on the Internet.

The winning numbers on this occasion were 3, 6, 7, 29, 46, 49, 37.

(Numbers higher than 49 are excluded from the Lottery.)

An astrologer can learn quite a lot from this and similar Charts by observation of the winning numbers in relation to the planetary positions and Aspects.

The planets emphasized in the above Chart are:

- The Sun on the 7th Cusp, square Neptune (lotteries): 46, 37, which reduce (by addition) to 1, the Sun number.
- The Moon, Angular and closely trine Neptune: 29, reducing to 2, the Moon number.
- Jupiter, elevated and ruling the 5th House (Lotteries): 3, the number of Jupiter.
- Venus on the 6th Cusp (Porphyry), sextile Neptune: 6, the number of Venus.
- Mars, closely trine the Moon: 49, reducing to 4, Mars.
- Neptune, trine the Sun: 7, the Neptune number.

There is an interesting field for research here. A list of past results is available on the Internet at <http://lottery.merseyworld.com/>

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 5 May 2003.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com
 Issue 261 April 2003

A red sticker here means
 Your subscription is due.

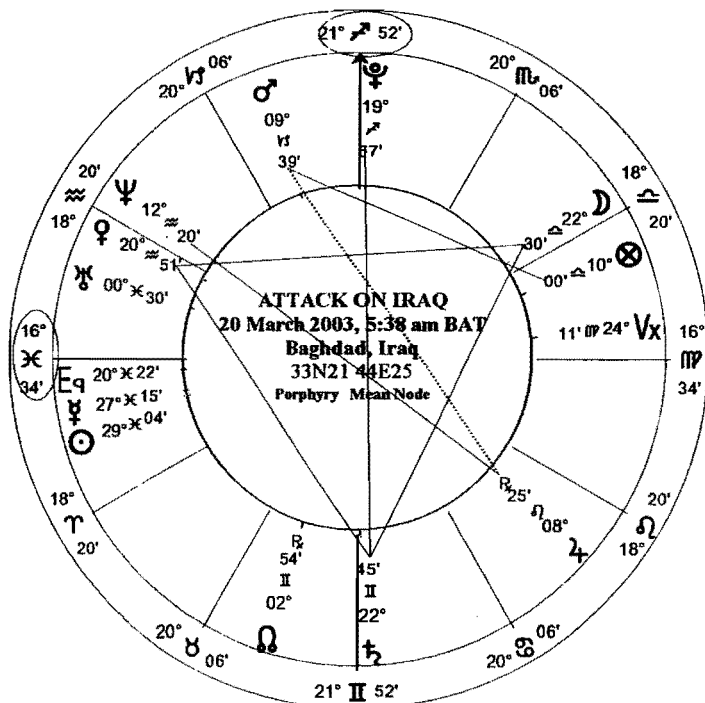

THE IRAQ WAR

On March 20 the Coalition Forces led by the USA made the anticipated attack on Iraq with a "surgical strike" against its leader, Saddam Hussein. The Dictator's dire peril was portrayed in his Age Harmonic Chart for the month 28 Feb—28 March, as published in the March Issue. The strike did not eliminate him though he was evidently injured: It was reported that he had been carried out on a stretcher from the rubble of his destroyed palace. The loss of consciousness suggested by the Age Harmonic may have been correct.

Lawmakers briefed by Vice President Dick Cheney and National Security Adviser Condoleezza Rice late last week say that the White House did not rule out the possibility that Saddam was dead or gravely injured. A U.S. intelligence official says that early Thursday morning, electronic intercepts picked up frantic calls for medical assistance from someone at the bombing site, though there was no indication which Iraqi leaders had been hit. Three days after the strike, U.S. strategists still didn't know exactly who had been taken out, but they were certain, says an intelligence official, that "we got somebody".

I had estimated that calamity would descend on Hussein on March 23 when Stationary Pluto was transiting the Midpoints Mars/MC and Moon/MC in his Birth Chart. This was three days out but gives some credence to the accuracy of his Birth Chart as printed in the last Issue.

The war on Iraq started with the bombing of Baghdad early in the morning of Thursday, March 20,

In This Issue...

	Page
The Iraq War.....	1
Saddam Hussein: Solar Month Chart, 28 May 2003	2
USA Independence Chart (Sibley)	3
Charts: Solar Month 4Jun03; Lunar Weekly 19Jun03.....	3
Test No. 76—Report; Test No. 77	4

2003. The best information I have is that they struck Baghdad at 5:38 am, local time.

The Coalition (USA, Great Britain and Australia) being the initiator, is represented by the 1st House, while Iraq is represented by the 7th. Characteristically, the Ascendant is a dual Sign, standing for more than one participant.

The fortunate planet Jupiter rules both the Ascendant (Pisces) and the Midheaven (Sagittarius) which is a piece of good luck for the Coalition, suggesting victory. However, Jupiter is Retrograde, which retards its action, so victory will not be so forthcoming as was anticipated. Further, Mars is in a close quincunx to Jupiter, which means strong military resistance, particularly as Mars is elevated in the Chart and strong in its Exaltation Sign, Capricorn. Again, Jupiter is opposed by Neptune, planet of deception, indicating that the Coalition forces will be up against artful and deceptive tactics.

The opposition of Pluto to Saturn signifies the massive bombardment to which Iraq is being subjected.

Mars rules the Coalition's 2nd House (resources) and its close square to Fortuna indicates the huge expenditure that will be necessary to finance the War.

The Moon is leaving the trine of Venus and applying to the trine of Saturn in the 4th House (terminations). I read this "transference of light" as finally bringing peace (Venus) and stability (Saturn) to Iraq.

Iraq's chief Significator is Mercury, Ruler of the 7th Cusp. Mercury suffers from being in its Detriment in Pisces and, even worse, in the House of the Coalition, showing that it is dominated by the power and authority of its enemy. This is accentuated by Mercury's close conjunction to the Sun. In Horary parlance, it is "combust" or burned up and overwhelmed by the Sun (Coalition Significator).

Iraq has hidden resources. The 8th House of the Chart is the derived 2nd for Iraq—its finances. The Moon in the 8th is trined by its Ruler, Venus, in the 12th (hidden and secret things) and also by Saturn, Ruler of the 12th. These are concealed funds, and the Grand Trine means they are considerable, and ensures that they will not be lost to Iraq even if temporarily inaccessible.

The question now on everybody's mind is how long will the War last? Prediction is the most difficult will the War last? Prediction is the most difficult branch of Astrology which is why it is seldom practised, and as historian Geoffrey Blainey wrote, "In human behaviour few events are more difficult to predict than the course and duration of a war." Nevertheless, my belief is that, as astrologers, we should at least make the attempt. The fact that very few astrologers do this is one reason why the success rate is not staggeringly good.

In thinking about this question I cast and examined some 20–25 charts that I thought might have relevance. Five of these are now presented for your interest. I decided that a logical place to start would be with the Attack on Iraq Figure, just analyzed. If this yields fruit then I could look for some sort of confirmation in the Cyclic Charts of Saddam Hussein and the USA.

Looking first, then, at the Attack on Iraq, the dominant feature is the Pluto–Saturn opposition along the Meridian. It is close to 3° from perfect so (utilizing Horary methods) a reasonable guess is that the War would last about three months.

With this as a starting point I examined the derived Lunar-Return Charts of 16 April, 14 May, 10 June and 7 July, 2003, to see whether any of them suggested an end to the conflict.

The Lunar Return Chart of 10 June set inside the Inner Wheel: Lunar Return, Attack on Iraq, 10 June, 2003. 12:18:44 pm BAT.

Outer Wheel: Radix, Attack on Iraq, March 20, 2003, 5:38 am BAT

Radix does have indications of finality:

The n.Saturn-Pluto opposition lies along the Meridian, LR-Sun is closely opposite n.Pluto. Pluto and the opposition Aspects are consonant with a regime change. Mercury, ruling the Ascendant occupies the 9th House together with the North Node and Venus, suggesting the legalities of a peace treaty.

Now to seek supporting factors: Saddam Hussein's Natus was printed in the last Issue. It is interesting to note that Neptune in his Birth Figure is at 16Vi25, Inner Wheel: Solar Month Chart for Saddam Hussein, 29 May–29 June 2003.

Outer Wheel: Radix of Saddam Hussein, 28 Apr 1937, 4:05 am BAT, Tikrit, Iraq.
34N36 43E42.

which is exactly on the Descendant of the Attack on Iraq Chart. Hussein's Uranus at 9Tau27 is trine the Event Chart's Mars at 9Cp39. These two Aspects aptly symbolize what must have been Hussein's shock and confusion at the initial strike. They are also factors confirming the validity of the Event Chart.

The BiWheel above is Hussein's Solar Month Chart for the period 29 May–29 June, 2003, surrounded by the Birth Figure. It is apparent that this is a difficult period for Hussein. Mars on the Upper Meridian squares the Part of Fortune (loss of assets) while Uranus in the 10th House is squared by natal Mars and the Moon (loss of status and danger of personal injury). An elevated Neptune squares Mercury, the Ascendant Ruler (mental confusion and uncertainty). The accumulation of signifiers in the 12th House suggests that Hussein may be going into hiding. If so, he has looked well after his own comfort (Venus conjunct the Moon and Mercury). It is notable that on 7 June 2003 transiting Uranus is Stationary at 2Pi49 where it squares Hussein's natal Mars and the Moon. This may indeed signal the eclipse of his position and fortunes, Mars being his Natal Ruler and the Moon Ruler of his 4th House—home and base.

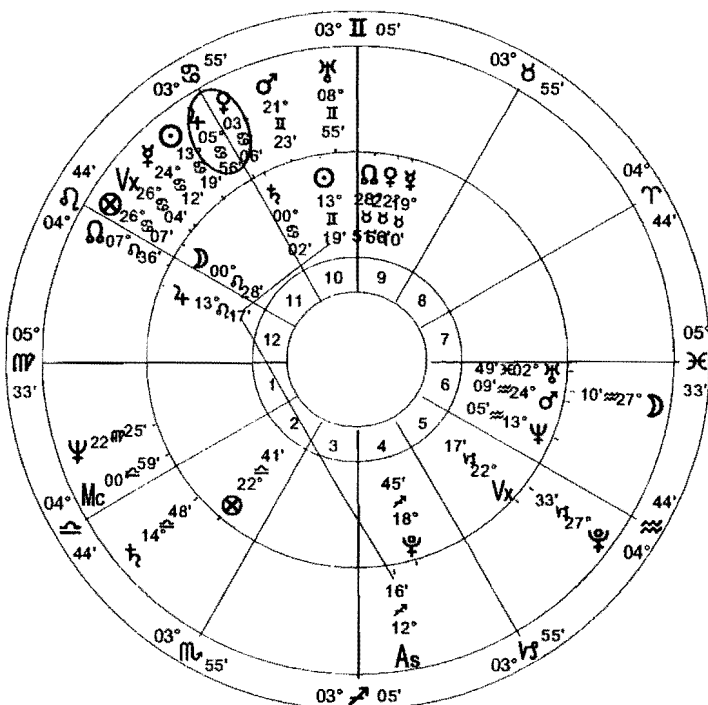

Now to look at the situation from the USA's point of view: Sibley's Chart for American Independence (next column) has been validated by the tragic events of September 11, 2001. Below it is the Solar Month Chart for the period 4 June–4 July 2003, set for Baghdad and surrounded by the Radix.

This Chart for the USA is almost the antithesis of the foregoing one for Saddam Hussein. Virgo rises, and Ruler, Mercury, rules also the 10th House, linking the Nation with its status and achievements. A fortunate augury is Mercury conjunct Venus and trine n.Neptune (peace and relaxation). The Sun in the 10th House is closely sextile Jupiter (success and achievement), while Jupiter ruling the 4th House (endings) is trine the n.Ascendant in the 4th (a closely trine the Sun (general success). Mercury is conjunct Venus right on the Ascendant, the conjunction being strengthened by the trine to the Part Of Fortune (peace and relaxation). Saturn is trine to the Midpoint Mars/Uranus (sudden stop to warfare).

So it remains to be seen whether the duration of a war can be judged by this (or any other astrological method). If it can, then astrologers have a huge advantage over those whose forecasts are based purely on military, political and economic considerations. In 1939 astrologers (along with everybody else) failed dismally in their attempts to predict the duration of the First World War. Can we now be more successful, equipped with computers and better techniques?

— Dymock.

TEST NO. 76—REPORT

Test No. 76 concerned a woman whose Birth Chart appears on the next page:

The Test was to find which of the following five events was the one that actually occurred in her life on 24 Dec 2002.

1. Her mother was diagnosed with terminal cancer.
2. She suffered a financial loss.
3. She moved house.
4. Her elder daughter left her husband.
5. Her house was damaged in a fire.

The correct answer is her mother was diagnosed with terminal cancer.

The solution could be found from the 50th Harmonic (corresponding with the woman's age). See the Chart on the next page:

The Moon and Mars are in the 4th House (parent—in this case, the mother, because of the Moon being there). The Moon rules the 6th House (health/ successful termination). Natal Venus and Jupiter are brought into prominence by straddling the 11th (Porphyry) Cusp (achievement of aims and ambitions).

The foregoing analysis does therefore give reasonable grounds for inferring that the Iraq War will run a course of about three months, into June 2003. Taking matters a step further would be to make a closer approximation of the actual date. A likely period is 19–26 June, indicated by the weekly Lunar Chart for the USA, set for Baghdad.

Briefly, the Moon in the House of Achievement is skills to a practical test and find out just what are one's strengths—and deficiencies. If Astrology is not brought down to earth and applied to the common situations of humanity it remains simply an intellectual exercise.

TEST NO. 77

Test 77 concerns a woman born in Sydney, Australia, on 5 August 1936 at 10:30 am. Here is her Birth Chart:

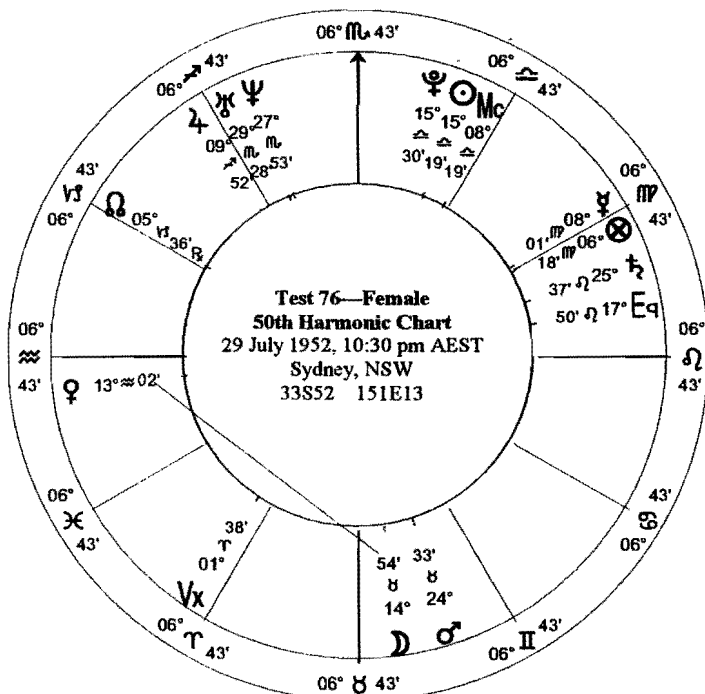

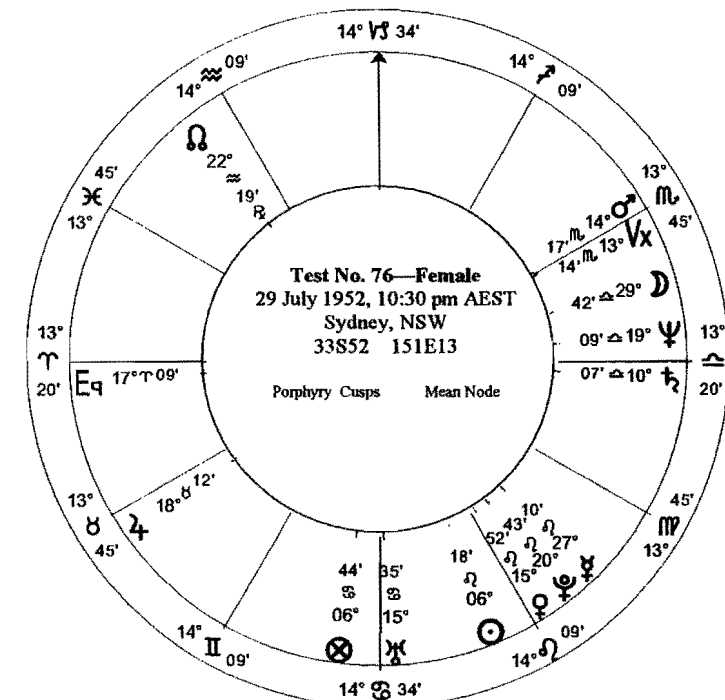

This woman (who is divorced) was living in Melbourne when an important event occurred in her life on 18 July 2002. It was one of the following five events. Can you identify by astrological means which one it was?

1. She was accepted as a mature-age student to do a Fine Arts Degree.
2. Her first painting exhibition opened.
3. She began work in a private art gallery.
4. Her childhood boyfriend proposed.
5. She left Australia for a month's painting holiday in Tuscany.

Please send your answer to me with its astrological basis by 20th April. All respondents will receive a personal reply plus the full text of all correct solutions received. This gives you the chance to compare your method and reasoning with that of others.

HORARY CHARTS FOR PUBLICATION

Any reader who has a Horary or Event Chart of special interest is invited to send it to the Editor for possible publication. Identities will not be disclosed if so desired.

sickness). The Moon is closely square Venus in the Ascendant and ruling the 4th—a double emphasis—indicating sickness of the mother.

That is really enough to identify the correct event from the five given but, additionally, Pluto is closely conjunct the Sun, quincunx the Moon and trine Venus (4th Ruler). And if you put the Natal Chart around the 50th Harmonic you see n.Mars at 14Sc17 directly opposite the h.Moon (14Ta54).

There were 28 participants in this exercise, from around the world, and five found the correct solution at the first attempt. My congratulations not only to the above respondents but to all who worked on the exercise and put themselves on the line with a written response. One can talk and theorize about Astrology indefinitely but it is far more valuable to apply one's

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

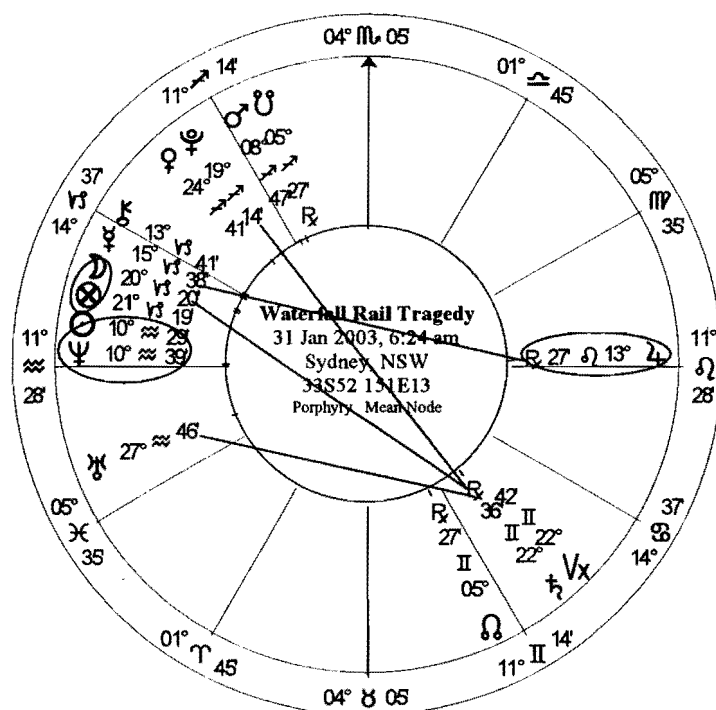

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com
Issue 260 March 2003

A red sticker here means
Your subscription is due.

WATERFALL RAIL TRAGEDY

By Rob Polglase

Tragedy can be predicted. I have used the event chart for a journey, using the techniques so brilliantly outlined in English, by William Lilly in his massive "Christian Astrology", published in 1647. The event chosen here is the departure of a train making a routine journey from Sydney, capital of NSW, Australia, on a daily intercity journey to Port Kembla, an industrial port city south of Sydney. The train left Central, Sydney, at 6.24 am, on the 31st of January, 2003. It was tragically derailed at 7.14 am, at Waterfall, in a cutting where there were speed restrictions. Some passengers claimed that just before the derailment the train suddenly surged forward. There were seven deaths and 42 injured. A close friend of my sister lost her husband in the accident. She is still in hospital, 24th Feb, 2003. Cause of the accident has still to be declared.

I have used Regiomontanus Cusps, taken the ASC and Moon as the train, 2nd and 2-Lord as the Passengers. The 8-Lord is the Lord of Death in these matters.

For those not familiar with the term "Peregrine" this is a planet without any dignity of Rulership, Triplicity, Terms and Faces, is without power, cannot act. I use Egyptian Terms, as per Bob Zoller, rather than Ptolemy. Arabic Parts or Lots, are those calculated

In This Issue...

	Page
Waterfall Rail Tragedy.....	1
Test No. 75—Report.....	2
Test No. 76.....	3
Saddam Hussein.....	4
What Now?.....	4

with the Solar Fire computer Program.

The Train, ASC and Moon

The condition of the Ascendant is perilous. The Sun, 7-Lord, conjunct the ASC is combustion enough. Lilly on "Whether one shall return from...dangerous voyage" p.367, gives no help to the ASC, Moon, or ASC-ruler. The conjunction to Neptune is a worry, especially as de Vore lists the ASC degree being that of Neptune's South Node, and a Fixed Star, Armus, giving amongst other traits, instability.

The Sun and Neptune form a midpoint structure on the ASC. Ebertin, in dealing with Neptune, is a little dire at times, but ASC/Sun/Neptune ... "negatively inclined environment,... association with weak or sick persons", is not good. Neptune is not surprisingly conjunct the Part of Imprisonment (11Aqu18).

Also striking is the opposition from Jupiter to the ASC. In the House of Open Enemies, Cuspal, in fiery Leo, and Retrograde, the power of the opposition is from a benefic, weakly dignified by Triplicity and Face; it must still be considered accidentally malefic. Heart failure of the driver, (the Captain).

ASC-Lord is Saturn, 23Ge45, Rx, 5th House He is in a good House, is weakly dignified by Triplicity, and Term, but is Retrograde, and so limited by this. With this, the affliction of the opposition from Pluto, Lord of the Underworld, in 11th Hse, would seem to turn Saturn into an increased malefic state. Saturn is also connected to Uranus by trine, certainly raising unexpected outcomes, electrical failure issues. Saturn conjunct fixed star Capella (21Gem36) has been described as "Death in prison", and Phact (22Gem13) "To quest adventure". Recklessness?

The Moon is "Void of Course", can form no further Aspect within the Sign, "nothing will come of the matter", the journey will not be completed.

A significant Aspect to Saturn is the quincunx from the Moon and Pars Fortuna. As the Moon is in the House of Imprisonment, and is in Capricorn, is conjunct to Pars Fortuna, with poor rating, it suggests dangerous factors, hidden from us, both the passengers and the Public. Train maintenance? Black Box?

No relief comes to the ASC through the sextile from Mars, peregrine, highest planet, and conjunct the exalted malefic South Node.

The ASC is conjunct the Part of Treachery (11Aqu39). This raises the spectre of sabotage, braking defect, or simply some impediment to the safe operation of the "Dead Man's Handle"

Uranus, whose Principle is Suddenness, Revolution and Change, posited in the 1st House, argues sudden outbursts of energy, being a troublemaker, tendency to exaggerate. (There were reports of sudden increase of speed.) He receives the energy of disposition from malefic Saturn, and by trine and by sextile from 11th-House Venus, which is peregrine. Venus is conjunct Pluto, 5 degrees, - potential damage is there.

Midpoint trees to Uranus are Sat/MC (28Le21) and Pluto/MC (26Sc40)—crisis, bereavement, sudden contact with irresistible power. As well as this, Uranus is conjunct the Part of Catastrophe (28Aqu46).

In short, with this devastated ASC and First House, the train would not be expected to complete its journey without danger to itself, and the Passengers therein.

The Passengers, 2-Ruler Jupiter

Following Barclay, Horary Rediscovered, re Space Shuttle, p.235, the House contains no planets, so to the 2-Lord Jupiter. As seen above, the condition of Jupiter, very closely linked by opposition to the ASC, Neptune and the Sun, raises hackles to the head of this observer. Especially when the quincunx to the 8-Ruler, the Lord of Death is observed. The passengers are in peril.

Mercury, also peregrine, on the Cusp of the House of Imprisonment, Confinement, is quincunx Jupiter. This describes the possible fate of the Passengers (imprisoned in the wreckage). Mercury, "author of subtility, tricks, devices, perjury" etc., (Lilly Christian Astrology p.77), conjunct Fixed Star Wega, (Vega) (15Cap21). Mercury conjunct Chiron, could suggest a heart attack on the driver's part, on discovering the possible failure of the driving and controlling mechanism of the train. Ballast on the line has also been brought forward for the derailment, but so could an increase in speed on that particular curve. The family of the deceased driver have been "protected" from the Press; more deception? We shall have to wait for more information.

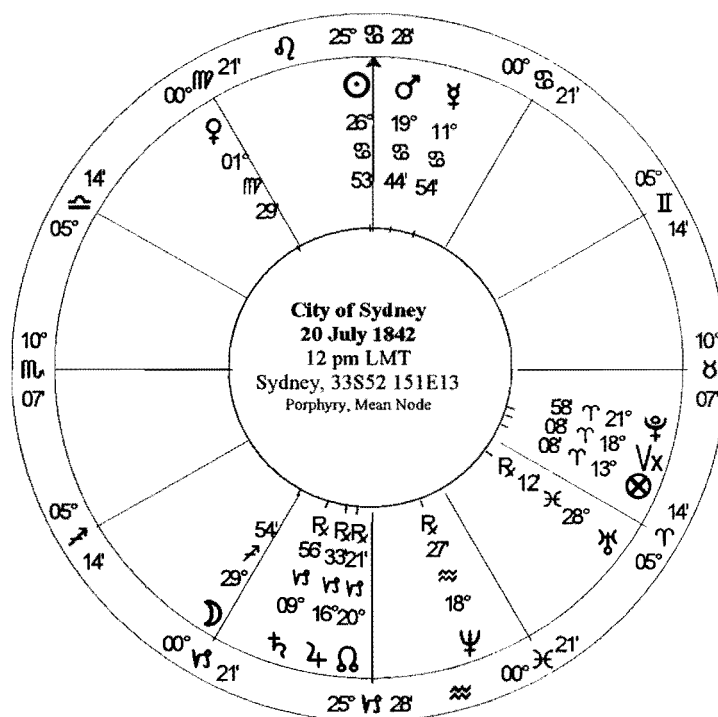

Departure Chart and Foundation of City of Sydney

[See Chart next column]

Further investigation of the Foundation Chart for City of Sydney, (Chart from Marie Casey, Astrological Monthly Review April 1995) yields the Moon (in the Rail Tragedy Chart) conjunct the Nodal Axis, opposite Mars, the Sun, and MC, conjunct Jupiter, square Pluto.

Quincunxes again: t.Pluto quincunx n.Mars, quincunx the Moon's South Node. T.Saturn quincunx the Moon's North Node. Topping it off t.Chiron opposite n.Mars, conjunct n.Jupiter, n.Saturn. With the Election of the NSW Parliament coming up our political leaders must be concerned about the outcome.

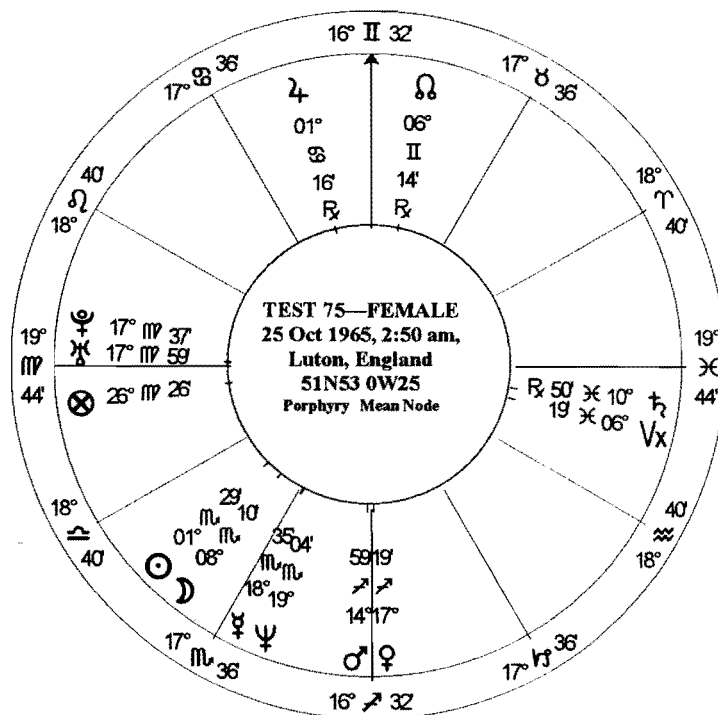

Finally, my use of so many features may be regarded as excessive, but it does show how a chart reverberates with information. It was a good argument for great consideration—that train on that day and at that time going to Port Kembla from Central! □

TEST NO. 75—REPORT

Test 75 was an exercise relating to a woman whose Chart appears below: The test was to match the following three events in her life with the appropriate date from the three dates listed:

1. She was bitten by a snake.
2. She had a serious back operation.
3. Her husband left her.

The dates:

9 July 2001, 25 Dec 2002, 3 Jan 2003.

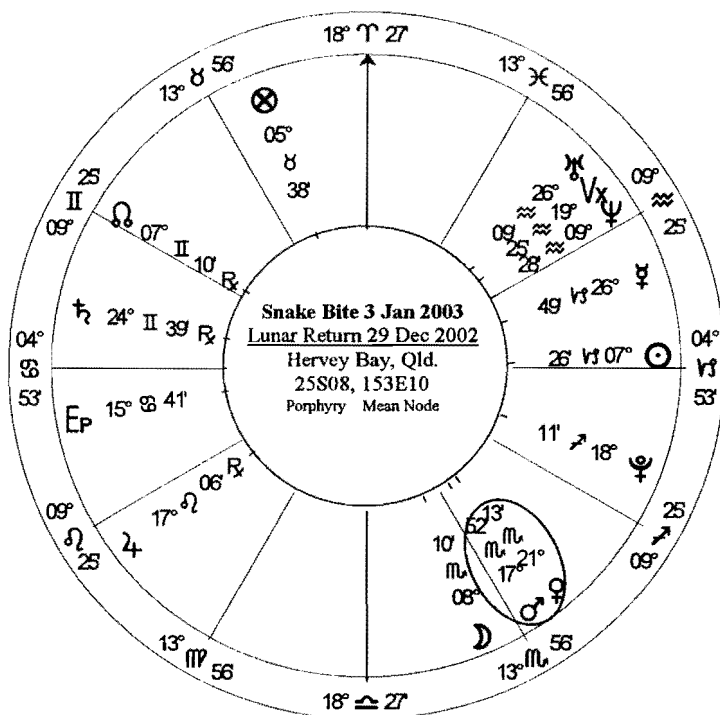

9 July 2001, 25 Dec 2002, 3 Jan 2003 .

The correct matching is —

Snake bite, 3 Jan 2003.
Back Surgery, 9 July 2001
Husband left, 25 Dec 2002

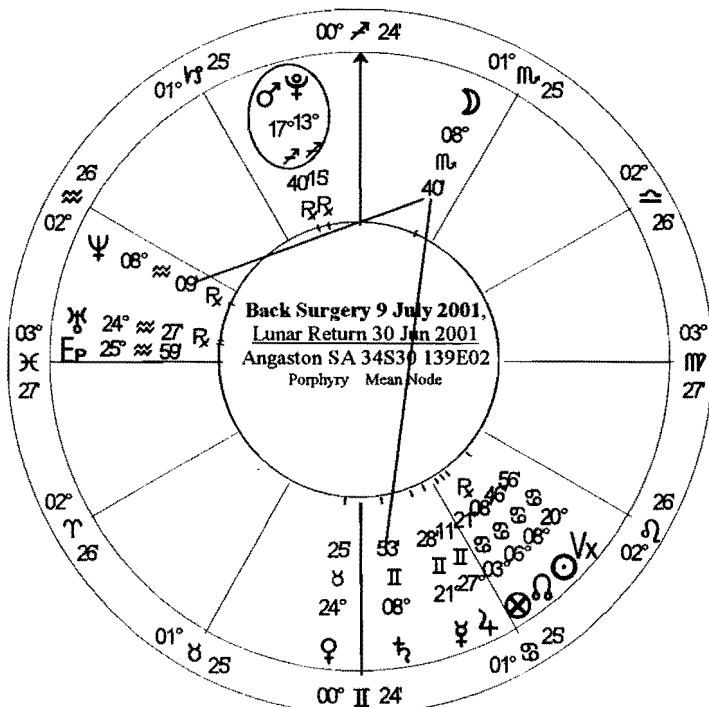

There were 32 answers (seven correct) to this Test. The appropriate date for each event can be seen from the Lunar Return Charts, either standard or precessed.

1. Snake Bite, 3 Jan 2003 (at Hervey Bay Town, Qld):

Lunar Ret. 29 Dec 2002

That 3 Jan 2003 is the date of the snake bite is evident from the conjunction of Mars and Venus in Scorpio (poisonous creatures) square Jupiter and the Vertex. This is sufficient indication even without Ascendant-Ruler Moon square Neptune in the 8th House (dangerous experiences).

2. Back Surgery, 9 July 2001. Precessed Lunar Return Chart 30 June 2001 (at Angaston, S.A.) (Chart below, left).

Mars conjunct Pluto (surgery) is elevated. The Sun (the back) rules the 6th House (health) and occupies the 5th (the back) together with other Significators. The Moon squares Neptune in the 12th House (hospitalization) and is quincunx Saturn (the bony structure).

3. Husband left 25 Dec 2002. Precessed Lunar

Return Chart 2 Dec 2002 (Hervey Bay Town, Qld.)

The Sun opposite the Moon's North Node along the Meridian decides this date for the husband's leaving (opposition = separation, Sun = husband). Mercury ruling the House of Marriage conjunct Pluto (destruction) is merely supporting.

Congratulations to all who participated and sent a written answer, whether it was correct or otherwise. It is principally a learning exercise, and often much more is learned from a wrong answer than from a correct one. □

TEST NO. 76

Test No. 76 concerns a woman born in Sydney (33S53, 151E13) on 29 July 1952 at 10:30 pm AEST. Asc 13Ar20, MC 14Cp34, Moon 29Li42.

An important event occurred in her life on 24 Dec 2002. It was one of the following. The Test is to determine WHICH ONE.

1. Her mother was diagnosed with terminal cancer.
2. She suffered a financial loss.
3. She moved house.

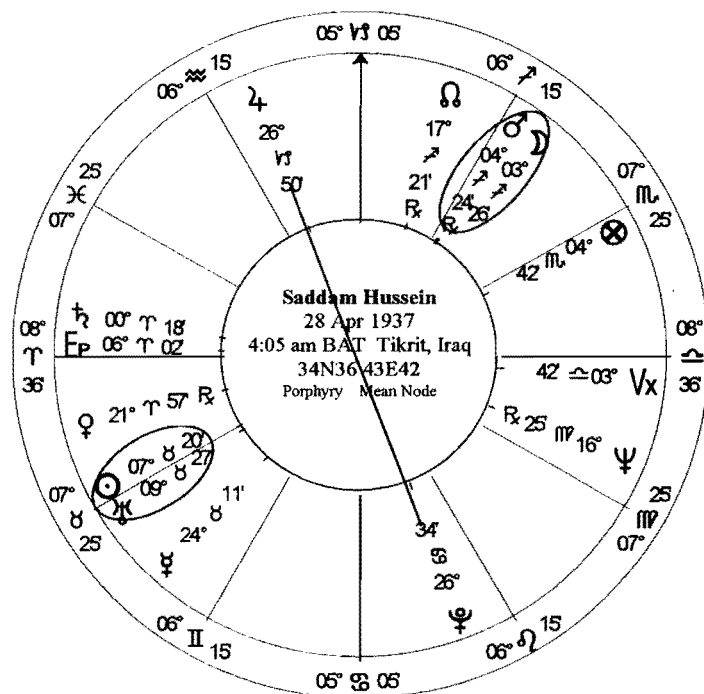

5. Her house was damaged in a fire.

Any readers who want to test their astrological techniques can send a solution, with its astrological basis (before 20th March, please). All who do so will be personally apprised of the correct answer before it is published in the April Issue of this Journal.

HINT: Any astrological technique may be used but the solution can be found readily in the Age Harmonic Chart. □

SADDAM HUSSEIN

What appears to be a reliable Chart for the Iraqi Dictator Saddam Hussein has come to light through the Internet. Here it is:

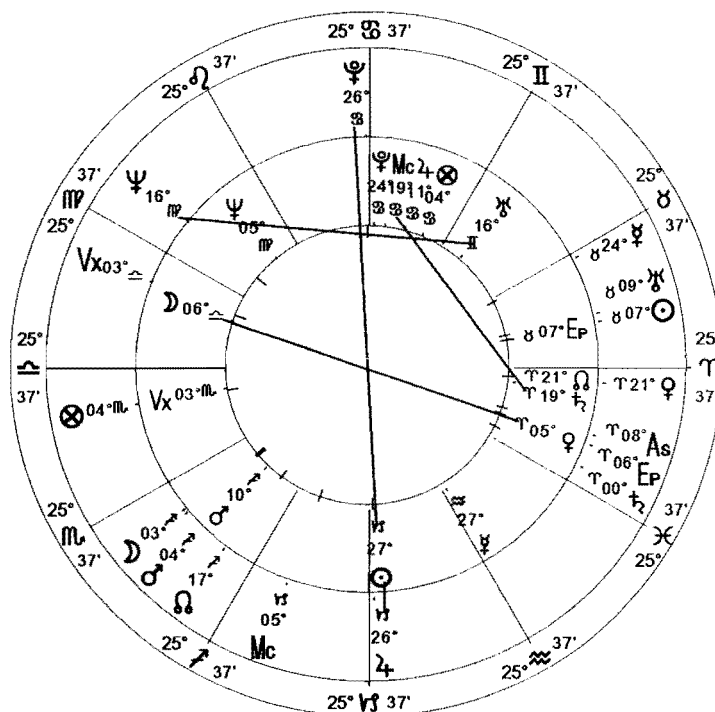

The most striking feature of the Chart is the Angular and very close opposition of Jupiter and Pluto (the desire for power; the pursuit of fanatical aims; loss of everything—Reinhold Ebertin).

Determination to be at the head of things, fanaticism and ruthlessness are the product of Aries rising with Ruler Mars conjunct the Moon in Sagittarius, the Sign associated with overweening self-confidence.

Implacable ambition comes from Capricorn at the Midheaven trine to the Sun and Uranus which are conjunct in Taurus. They also betoken self-will, self-indulgence and a contradictory nature given to acting erratically on a whim or impulse.

What Now?

With this Chart I feel reasonably confident in venturing a prediction re the immediate future of this tyrannical Ruler. The USA is on the brink of going to war to oust him and destroy his stock of weapons of mass destruction (chemical, biological, and nuclear). In Issue 257 of December last, in my comments on the Solar Eclipse of 4th Dec. 2002 I noted the strong and adverse factors pointing to hostilities in January, February and March, though I forecast no immediate war. It looks like the USA is now poised for an early

Outer Wheel: Saddam Hussein, Natus 28 Apr 1937, 4:05 am BAT Tikrit, Iraq, 34N36, 43E42

invasion of Iraq.

In this critical situation, Saddam Hussein's current Monthly Chart discloses his prospects. Printed out above is his Harmonic Chart for the period 27 February—27 March 2003 with the Birth Figure in the outer wheel.

This BiWheel is plainly disastrous for Saddam. The natal opposition of Pluto and Jupiter lies along the Meridian, with Pluto the elevated planet. It signals the loss of his power and status. Confirmation comes from several other factors: The AH-Sun is also opposed by Pluto (great danger), the AH-Pluto is conjunct the MC (fall from the top), Saturn squares the "floating" MC (ambitions halted), and the Moon (MC-Ruler) is opposite the Asc-Ruler, Venus (loss of position). That Venus also rules the House of Death is another bad omen for Saddam, particularly with Uranus square n.Neptune (the elimination of the waking consciousness—Ebertin).

I anticipate this calamity will descend on Saddam Hussein around March 23 when Stationary Pluto at 19Sg57 conjuncts the midpoints Mars/MC (19Sg45) and Moon/MC (19Sg16) in his Birth Chart.

Saddam could either voluntarily abdicate from his position of power or be forced out. Either way the Iraqi people and the world would be freed from a cruel and ruthless dictator. This would be the best outcome, without the misery of a general war or even that of a "surgical strike" to eliminate a bloody tyrant.

— Dymock, 5 March 2003.

The Future of Terrorism: This article in the last Issue, No. 259, is the work of Allan Johnson. Unfortunately in most copies of the Journal the by-line "by Allan Johnson" did not appear - Ed.

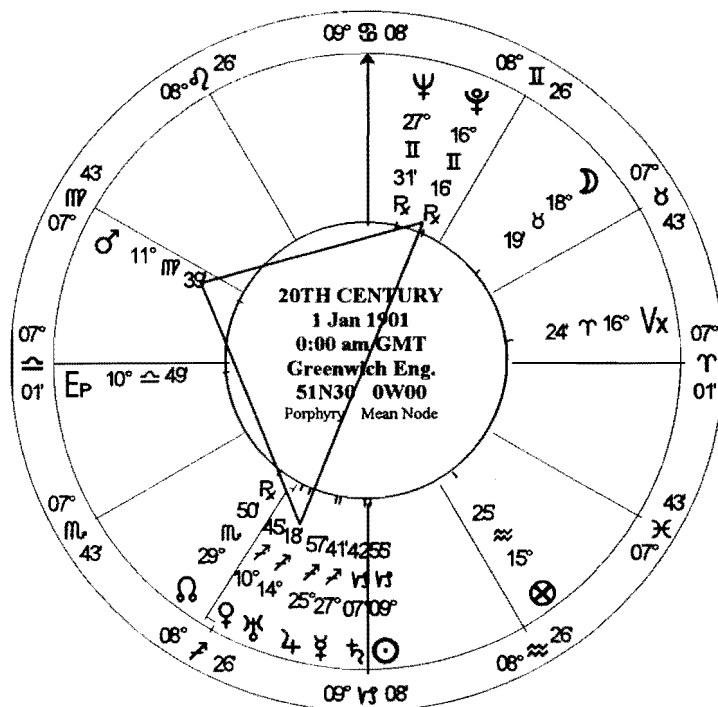

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com
 Issue 259 February 2003

A red sticker here means
 Your subscription is due.

THE FUTURE OF TERRORISM

A lot of people are getting very worried about terrorism and wondering where this is leading the world. And what does Astrology have to say about this? For wars and revolutions we do have a starting point to give us a chart to work with, but we don't get this where terrorism is concerned. Charts for actual bombings like the New York case don't give us any clues about the future. A chart for terrorism itself is hard to pin down. It is all so very dispersed. I think the best approach to this question could be through charts for the centuries. In previous articles I have dealt with the Charts for the 20th and 21st Centuries and these could be looked at again. The Chart for the 20th Century was a very valid Chart with a powerful T-Square pattern Linking Pluto/Mars/Uranus. All these planets have been linked with violence, and all the planets in the Chart are linked with dramatic configurations. So very appropriately we got the most dramatic and violent century in history. Two world wars and violent revolutions in China and Russia. Also with seven planets in Mutable Signs we got fluctuations from one crisis to the next.

Then we look at the Chart for the 21st Century (1st January, 2001, 0 hours, Greenwich) and what a contrast! More emphasis on Fixed Signs. No heavily dramatic configurations. Francis Fukuyama, writing a preview of the 21 Century calls it The End of History. This book was written in the early 1990's. By

In This Issue...

	Page
The Future of Terrorism.....	1
Strange Win of a Cadillac.....	2
Test No. 74—Report.....	3
Test No. 75.....	4
Space Shuttle Disaster.....	4

"history" he meant a particular type of history, the rise and falls of empires, massive wars and heavy drama, etc. So he rules out World Wars in the 21st Century. And I am inclined to agree with him astrologically. So I would say that, despite terrorism, we won't get any massive violence involving millions. The newspapers are looking at the possibility of the Third World War starting in the Middle East—but their minds are still fixed on the past. I predict that the upheaval in Iraq won't really be such a big deal. If there is fighting it will be more at the level of the Gulf War. The Middle East nations have no great unity or leadership or background resources. They are in a state of decline and doing their best to migrate elsewhere. A world war needs heavy resources on both sides.

Of course George Bush's Chart has some relevance. But he is a Cancer Sun and Cancers are usually cautious. At the time of writing transiting Neptune is opposite his natal Mercury in the Ascendant. There will be some mental confusion and uncertainty. I don't see the role of terrorism being enhanced in the immediate future.

This brings us to the overall picture as we move into the 21st Century, and the over-riding factor in the century ahead is that we are now emerging more firmly into the Aquarian Age. Aquarius marks the decline of religious hatreds. The Watchword for Aquarius is "Live and Let Live!". We will see more of religious tolerance. Terrorism won't end abruptly but will more likely go into a gradual decline. □

STRANGE WIN OF A CADILLAC!

A correspondent ("CarLee") from USA writes on the Internet about his lucky win of a Cadillac car. I have his permission to reproduce it here:

"I have been a student of Astrology for more than 35 years but I am really stumped on this one! In 1978 I won a brand new 1978 Cadillac Coupe De Ville. If this is not enough, I of course sold it and the person that bought it ended up being the person that had actually ordered the car in the first place!

"I have searched my Horoscope and other than a midpoint being activated, I can't—nor can other astrology friends—find out why this happened. I have the strong feeling that this sort of thing is about to happen again, but am not sure if it is just wishful thinking.

"Oh, also I should say that I had an audible premonition that I was going to win this vehicle and that is what prompted me to call into the radio station to enter in the first place. Whenever I have had one of these audible premonitions it has always come true—usually when I was facing very steep odds as in winning this car.

"I was born December 16, 1950, 1:27 am, La Porte, Indiana."

CarLee writes further—

"I was driving my car into work in Cincinnati, Ohio on Tuesday morning, October 10th. While I was driving I heard on the radio that they were going to give away the Cadillac on Wednesday and that they were going to register every fifth caller. I was "told" that I was going to win the car and so I went into work and called. Much to my surprise I got through! The next day at 6:30 pm my name was drawn from the registered people."

This is an interesting situation. With such a remarkable win of a Cadillac we would expect to see fairly obvious signs in the Birth Chart (next column). The Signs are there but have to be uncovered:

Firstly, and most immediately apparent, is Venus sextile Jupiter with the small orb of 21'. This Aspect is well-known to signify good luck and strokes of good fortune.

Then we see that Venus is the Chart Ruler and Jupiter occupies the House of Chances and Gambles. Further, Venus is in the House of Roads and Vehicles while Jupiter is the Ruler of that House. It is a classic example of emphasis by a planet in a House being Aspected by the Ruler of the House.

From this we are justified in inferring that at some time the native would benefit from a stroke of luck connected with vehicles or transport. The Part of Fortune (15Cp09) conjunct Mercury (14Cp10) in the same House supports this view.

But more is needed, and closer inspection brings the following corroborative factors to light::

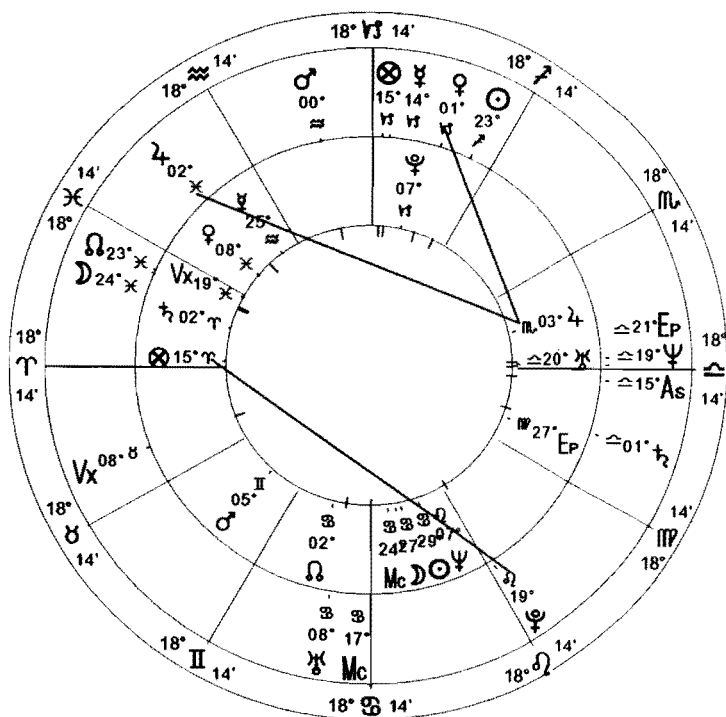

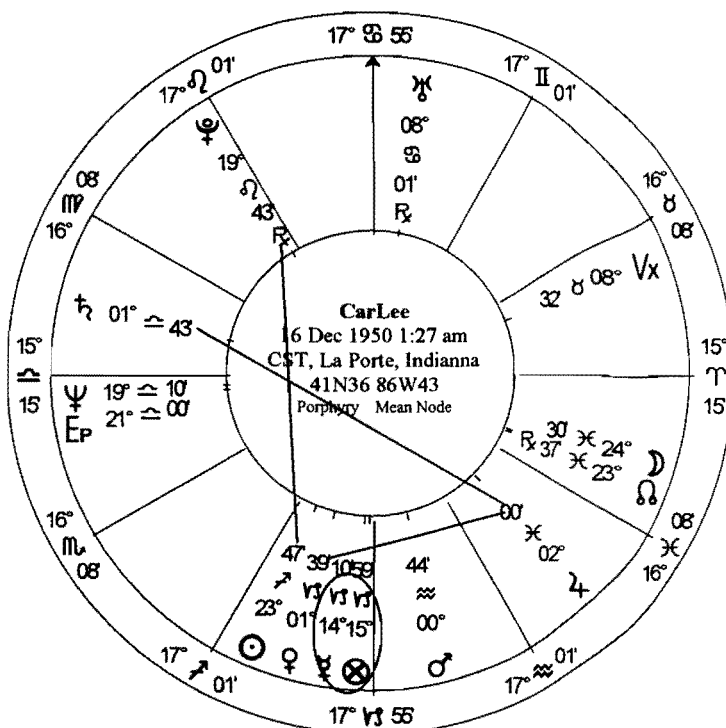

1. Jupiter and Venus both have high scores on the Ptolemy Essential Dignities Table, Jupiter +5 and Venus +7, adding greatly to their effectiveness.
2. The Moon is linked to Jupiter by an exact arc of 22° 30', so the benefits of Jupiter splash over into everyday life, particularly as the Moon rules the MC.
3. Saturn, Ruler and Almuten* of the 5th House, is Exalted in Libra and has the very high score of +11. Saturn is connected to Jupiter in the 5th by quincunx (orb 17') (solid benefits).
4. Hopes and Wishes are gratified through Pluto on the 11th Cusp trine to the Sun ruling the 11th Cusp.

The correspondent's receptiveness, in clairaudient fashion, I attribute to Neptune on the Ascendant closely sextile Pluto (orb 33') and square Mercury.

In sum, the above factors are certainly enough to foreshadow a "lucky" win—and more will come!

On the date (10 Oct 1958) when the Cadillac was won the Age Harmonic Chart (27.75, coupled with the Radix) and the (precessed) Solar Month Chart both declare this was a lucky period for him:

The Age Harmonic Chart (next column) has the Part of Fortune on the Ascendant and trine to natal Pluto (19Le53) right on the 5th

Inner Circle. Car Lee, Harmonic 27.75 (16 Sep—16 Oct 1978)

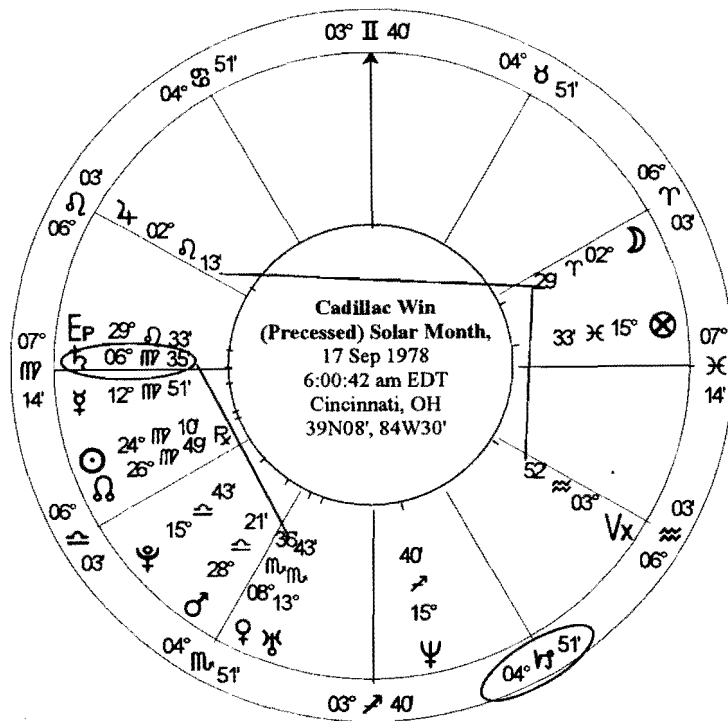

Outer Circle. CarLee, Birth Chart, 16 Dec 1950, 1:27 am CST, La Porte, Indiana.

Cusp. Jupiter is trine to natal Jupiter and sextile natal Venus.

The Solar Month Chart (17 Sep 1978, at Cincinnati) on the next page has the Moon very closely trine Jupiter. Saturn (beneficent, as above) rules the House of Gambles and is right on the Ascendant where it sextiles Lady Luck, Venus, in the House of Roads and Vehicles.

Transits complete the picture with the important factors, Ascendant, Saturn and Venus, being linked by the Midpoint Transit Venus/Saturn conjunct Asc on 9 Oct 1978. □

Almuten: An Almuten is the planet of chief influence in a Chart or House. Its strength is estimated from its intrinsic nature, Accidental or Essential Dignity, Aspects from other Significators, and Elevation.

TEST NO. 74—REPORT

The solution to last month's Test is —

1. The woman started a new job as a nurse in a cancer ward on 14 Dec 1999.
2. She underwent surgery for the removal of a uterine tumour on 26 April 1999.
3. Her husband left her suddenly on 17 Oct 1992.

The answers could be found relatively quickly from the precessed Lunar Returns:

Started new job. LR Chart, 25 Nov 1990: Uranus, Neptune, Mars at MC; Moon trine Pluto; Venus and Vertex at Cusp 6.

Surgery. LR Chart, 21 Apr 1999: Mars, Saturn, Neptune and Vertex in a Grand Cross.

Husband left. LR Chart, 20 Sep 1992 (next page): Uranus, Neptune and EP opposite the Moon in the 7th House; Mars in 7th square the Part of Fortune.

The correct answers could also be picked from the Month Age Harmonics. These Charts are not reproduced but here are the principal factors in each one:

Started new job. A.H. 50.0833 (10 Dec 1999—10 Jan 2000):

Natal Mars on MC; Mercury ruling MC square Mars and the "floating" MC; Sun on Ascendant sextile Moon and POF. (All Aspects less than one degree).

Surgery. AH 49.4167 (10 Apr—10 May 1999):

Mars and Venus conjunct on the 6th Cusp; Jupiter on 6th Cusp trine the N. Node.

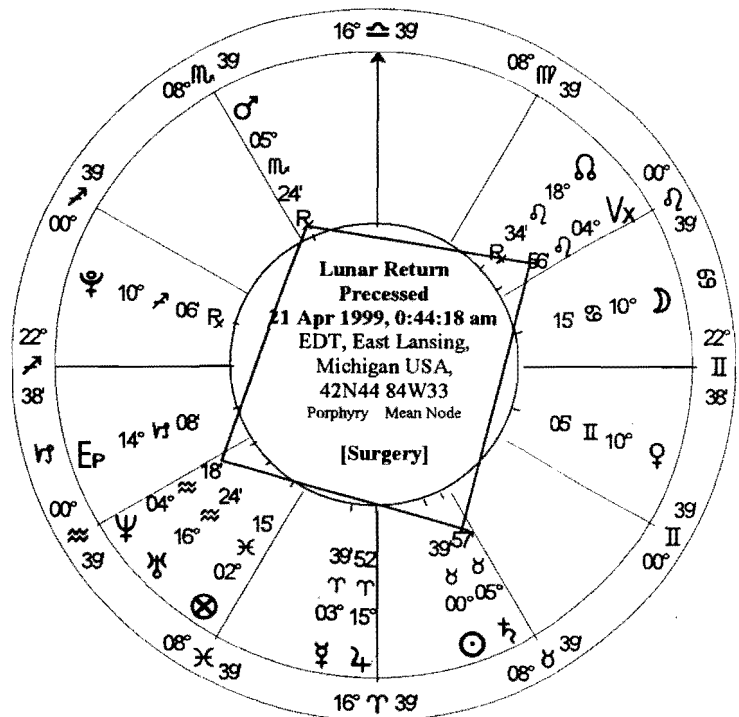

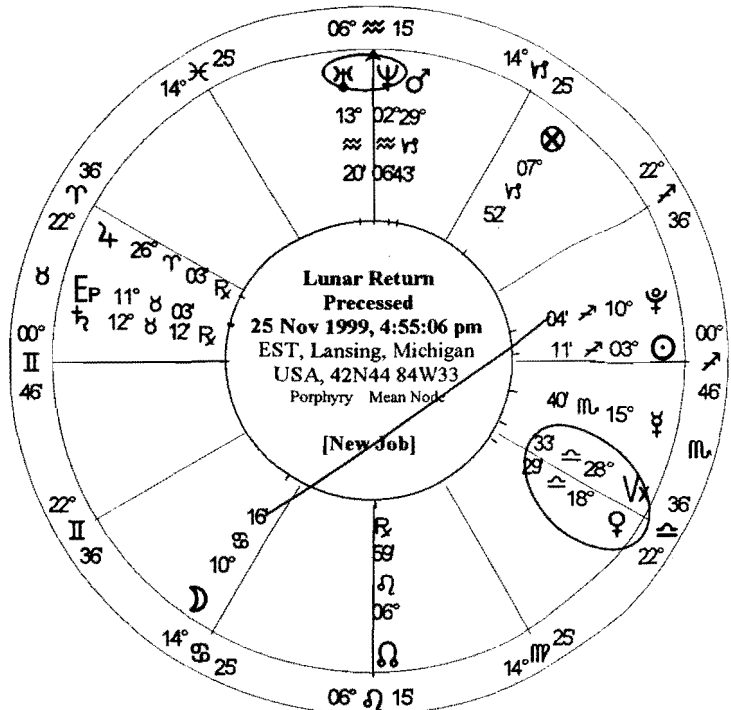

Husband left. AH 42.9167 (10 Oct—10 Nov 1992):

Mars in 7th House opposite Mercury, both at 2°; Sun square Neptune.

There were five correct answers from 43 respondents around the world. Fourteen respondents used Vedic Astrology, and three found the correct dates this way. Traditional methods (Progressions, Directions, Transits, Cyclic Charts) were used by nine respondents, producing two correct answers. A minority employed Profections, Firdaria or Uranian methods though without success.

My congratulations to all who attempted this problem and sent in a solution, regardless of their results. □

TEST NO. 75-FEMALE

Here is another Test along the same lines as the last one. The subject is a woman born 25 October 1965 at 2:50 am GMT in Luton, England (51N53, 0W25). The Ascendant is 19Vi44, MC16Ge32, Moon 8Sc10.

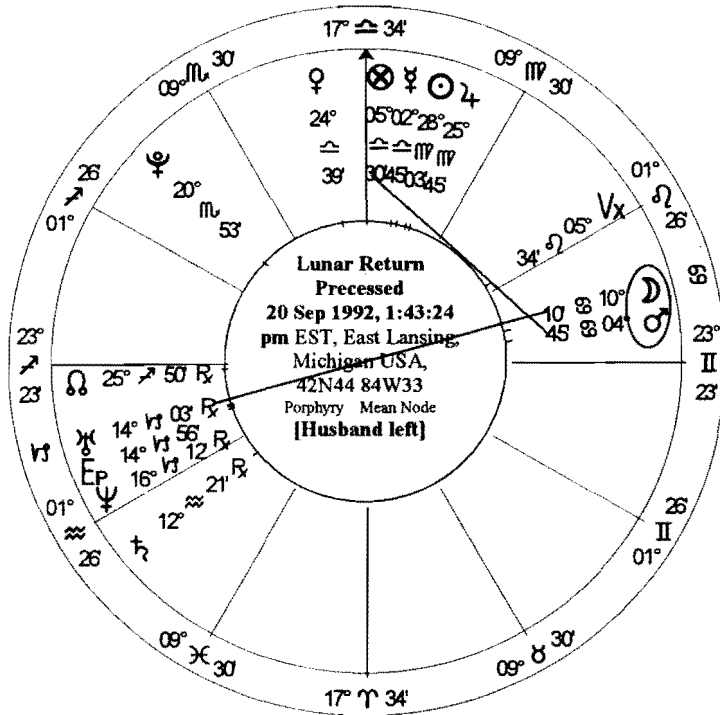

Three events in her life are the following:

1. She was bitten by a snake.
2. She had a serious back operation.
3. Her husband left her.

Each of these events occurred on one of the following dates.

1. 9 July 2001
2. 25 Dec 2002
3. 3 Jan 2003

The woman was living at her birth place (Angaston, S.A.) until 20 Sep 2002 when she moved to Hervey Bay, Qld (25S08, 153E10).

Can you match the date to the event?

Use any astrological method of your choice. Please send your answers to me by post or e-mail, with their astrological basis, by 20th February. All respondents will receive an individual reply.

SPACE SHUTTLE DISASTER

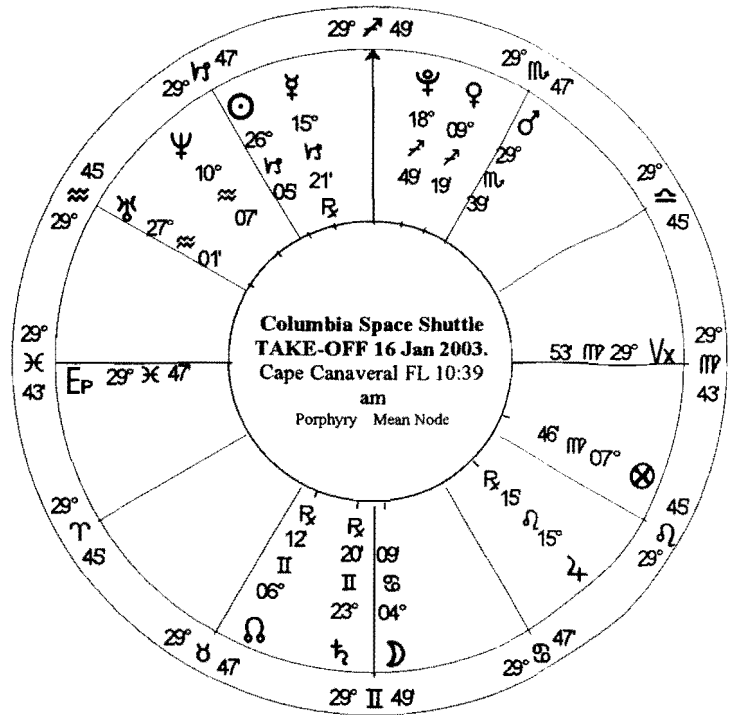

There are many tragedies in the world, both here in Australia and elsewhere, but for the moment attention is diverted to the loss of the brave men and women who died when the Columbia Space Shuttle crashed to earth in Texas three days ago, February 1. The sight of the Shuttle breaking-up after its re-entry into the earth's atmosphere will long be remembered by those who saw it on television.

Astrologers have been analyzing the Chart for the break-up of the Shuttle (9 am, 1 Feb 2003 over Texas) and also the Shuttle's Take-Off from Cape Canaveral, Florida, at 10:39 am on 16 January 2003 (next column). Though the Break-up Chart is of some interest, it is of more practical use to see how the USA might have been forewarned about the danger.

Putting the Take-Off Chart around the USA National Chart gives a clear warning. Numerous inter-chart factors point to disaster. From the Shuttle Chart to the USA Chart we have:

- ♦ The Sun conjunct Pluto (destruction).
- ♦ Uranus conjunct the Moon (break-up).
- ♦ Pluto opposing Mars across the Chart (mechanical failure).
- ♦ Saturn conjunct Mars (accident, injury).
- ♦ Part of Fortune square Uranus (misfortune).
- ♦ The opposition of the Vertex to the Ascendant and EP along the Meridian with Mars forming a T-square (adverse stroke of Fate).

Any single one of these factors is enough to justify postponing till a more propitious time any journey or venture, let alone something as huge, dangerous and expensive as the launch of a space vehicle with seven astronauts on board.

Unhealthy features of the above Chart are Mars square Uranus, Pluto opposing Saturn, and the last degrees of the Sign on the Ascendant. Placing this Chart around the USA Chart gives a dire warning!

Inner Circle: USA National Chart, 4 July 1776, 5:10:17 pm, EST, [translated from LMT] Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 40N00°24", 75W08°05".
Outer Circle: Columbia Space Shuttle Take-Off, 16 Jan 2003, 10:39 am EST. Cape Canaveral, FL, 28N23°33", 80W36°52"
 Porphiry Cusps (from Inner Circle) Mean Node.

In a better day to come, scientists and engineers will appreciate the unique help that Astrology can give them. That will be a major step forward in our evolution.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock.
 4 Jan 2003.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

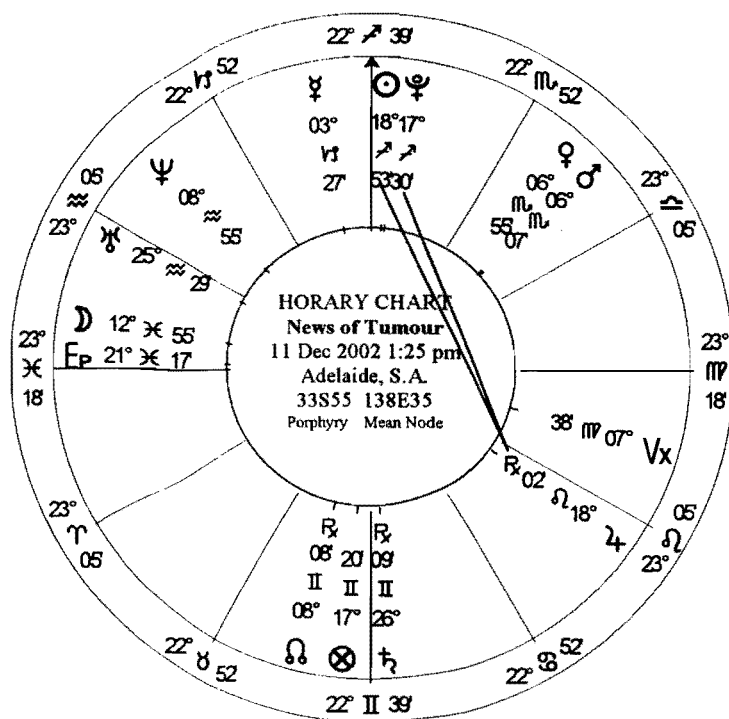

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au
 Issue 258 January 2003

CRISES AND CHARTS

It has been the astrological practice when an important issue arises in a person's life to search for a suitable day to implement an idea, initiate a project or simply make it happen. In this way, it is hoped that the event will occur in the most favourable circumstances and have the best outcome. This technique has been applied to proposed marriages, conception of children, the launching of businesses, dates for hospitalization, starting a course of study or training, commencing a new job, buying a house, etc, etc.

Sometimes the matter is out of our hands, as for instance, in a sudden medical crisis where immediate attention is necessary. Strangely enough, the unalterable date or time for this type of event is often the best one that could be selected, as if it were arranged by some highly competent astrologer.

An event of this nature occurred recently: A long-time friend of ours was suddenly and unexpectedly diagnosed with a large tumour of the brain. She was hospitalized immediately and an operation to remove it was scheduled for Saturday, 14 December 2002. On receipt of the bad news (11 Dec 2002) I immediately cast a Horary Chart to see what the prospects were for our friend. Here it is:

Pisces rises; Ruler, Jupiter, is at the Cusp of the 6th House (Health & Illness) in a close trine to both Pluto (surgery) and an elevated Sun, Ruler of the 6th House. This is a powerful and beneficial relationship.

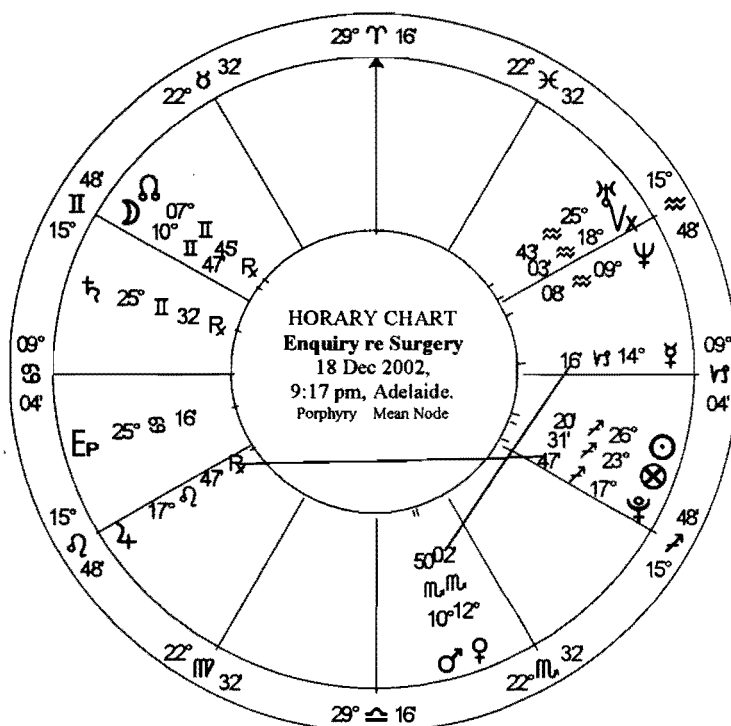

In This Issue ...

	Page
Crises and Charts	1
Test No. 73—Report.....	3
Test No. 74.....	4
Refugee Riots.....	4
Reader Survey—Results.....	4

Moreover, Jupiter and the Sun are in Mutual Reception (each being in the other's Sign), which considerably strengthens their beneficial effect. The "trine" Aspect itself is the most favourable of them all. So the welcome news I could impart to our friend was that she was in good hands, with a top-class surgeon, and that the operation itself would be as near perfect as could be achieved in these medical situations. Naturally, this was a great comfort to her.

Though the date for surgery had been set for December 14 it had to be postponed as the patient developed a high temperature due to the powerful drugs that were administered to her. When these were stopped a few days later her temperature returned to normal and the surgery was scheduled for Monday, December 23. However, the full complement of the surgical team was not available on that day so it was re-scheduled for the following day, December 24.

On December 18 I had consulted another Horary Chart (below) to enquire how the patient would fare with the surgery procedures.

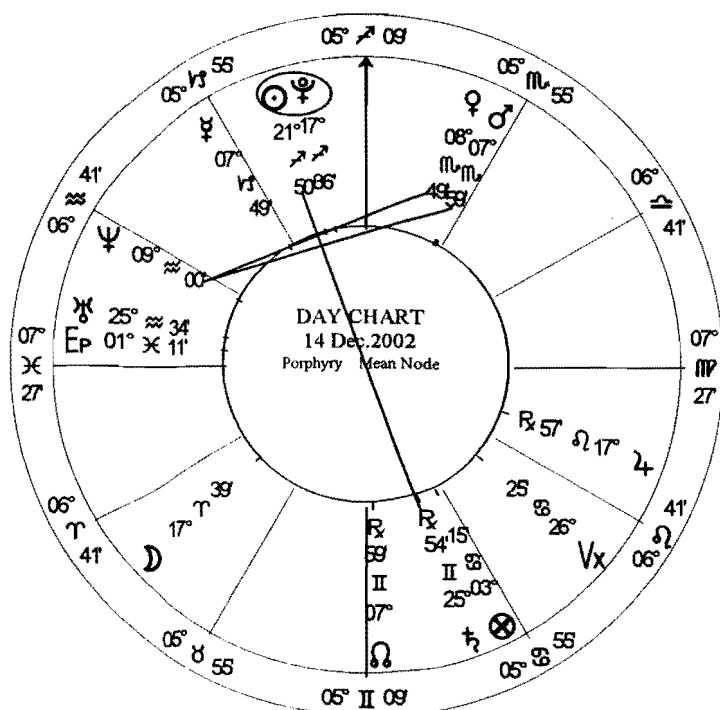

The remarkable thing about this Chart is the planet Pluto (surgery) on the Cusp of the 6th House in a trine with Jupiter, exact to the degree and minute—a rare occurrence. The 6th House also holds the Sun in conjunction with the Part of Fortune. The Chart is most favourable and bears out the promise of the earlier Horary Figure. What most concerned the patient (a highly intelligent and articulate woman) was that she would not suffer a loss of faculty—a possibility as the tumour was lying very close to a part of the brain that controls the functions of thought and speech. From the sextile of Venus (ruling the 4th House—the outcome) to Mercury (intellect) in this Chart I judged that there would not be any loss of function notwithstanding the highly delicate operation. This was naturally a great relief to the patient and strengthened her confidence and courage—the best possible psychological preparation.

In the event, after six hours of surgery, the operation was a splendid success, the surgeon having successfully removed 98% of the tumour—attempting to remove it entirely would have risked the patient's faculties. Though, of course, subject to the normal after-effects of anaesthesia and the violence necessarily inflicted on her body she progressed well through High Dependency and Intensive Care and after a further four days was allowed to return home to the care of her partner and children.

From the astrological point of view, a highly interesting point is that, even given the opportunity, I could not have chosen a better date (an "Election") for the surgery than the one on which it actually occurred (bearing in mind, of course, that it was a matter of urgency and had a limited time frame).

On the first scheduled date, December 14, the patient's DAY CHART* (below) has Pluto conjunct the Sun, Ruler of the 6th House, the Sun opposing Saturn, and Neptune in the House of Misfortunes square Mars and Venus—three distinctly adverse combinations.

On the 2nd scheduled date, December 23, The Moon (a very important significator in regard to a woman's health) is in close opposition to Neptune and square to Mars—a likely indicator of surgery gone wrong.

How much better was the actual date of the surgery, December 24! (below). The Moon conjoins Jupiter ("The Preserver") in the 6th House, is well past the square of Mars, and is in favouring sextile to Saturn (which happens to be the Ruler of the patient's natal Ascendant).

There is a Destiny that shapes our ends...

*DAY CHART: A chart calculated for a particular day, using the same time as the person's birth but the current place of residence.

The above three Day Charts are all calculated for the place where the surgery was performed, Nepean Hospital, Penrith, NSW, Australia (33S45, 150E42) and for the birth time of the patient. □

TEST NO. 73—REPORT

Thirty-nine astrologers from around the world accepted the challenge of Test 73. Whatever their results they deserve to be commended for putting themselves on the line with their answers.

The date of the father's death was 30th March 1996. Any date within ten days was counted as correct—and there were three, with two others only fifteen days away.

The correct answers came from —

Pingo Mutombo (Czechoslovakia) — 26 March, 1996,
Sjakkie Govers (Netherlands) — 20 March, 1996,
Paul Langeveld (Netherlands) — 10 April, 1996 (11 days out but close enough).

Almost as good were —

Nicholas Francis (Australia) and Robert (Germany) who both arrived at 15 March, 1996 (15 days out).

Pingo Mutombo based his answer on the Sidereal Lunar Return of March 14, 1996, which had the conjunction of the Sun, Saturn and Mars in the 8th House. (Apparently Transits decided the choice of 20 March 1996.)

Sjakkie Govers decided first that the 38th Harmonic, covering the period from 14th March 1996—14th March 1997 revealed the death. The date 20 March 1996 was determined from the Solar Return Chart by Directing the MC (17Ge31) to the square of Sun, Mars and Saturn at the rate of 1° = 1 day.

Paul Langeveld decided on the year 14 March 1996—14 March 1997 from the Age Harmonic, then looked at the Lunar Returns and chose the date 10 April 1996, from the Lunar Return of that date which had a number of relevant Aspects.

Nicholas and Robert both used Vedic Astrology. Nicholas found Mars closing in on the natal Sun on 15 March 1996. Robert found Transits in the Dasha Period suggesting 15th March 1996.

Methods used by the 39 respondents were: Vedic 12, Uranian 4, Chinese 2, Profecions 2. The others used conventional Western methods (Secondary and/or Tertiary Progressions and Transits) mostly with an admixture of Solar Returns, Lunar Returns, Age Harmonics, Lunations or Eclipses. The method was not stated in 2 cases.

Countries represented were Thailand 5, Netherlands 4, France 4, Germany 3, Canada 3, Australia 3, USA 2, Czechoslovakia 2, UK 1, Singapore 1, New Zealand 1, Italy 1, Belgium 1, Portugal 1, Croatia 1, Slovenia 1, Taiwan 1. Others were not stated.

A quick method of finding the answer, apparently not used by any of the respondents, was by listing the Solar Return Directions for the year 1 May 1995—1 May 1996. Here they are:

MC	Sqr	Ura	26 May 1995	07°Ta59'	07°Le59'
Mar	Tri	Nep	12 Jun 1995	04°Pi25'	04°Sc25'
EqA	Cnj	Ura	10 Aug 1995	07°Le59'	07°Le59'
PF	Tri	Mon	28 Aug 1995	12°Ta50'	12°Cp50'
Asc	Tri	Sun	28 Aug 1995	23°Cn01'	23°Pi01'
Mer	Sqr	Ven	16 Jan 1996	10°Ta01'	10°Aq01'
Sat	Sxt	Mer	31 Jan 1996	02°Aq41'	02°Ar41'
Jup	Tri	Ura	11 Feb 1996	07°Sg59'	07°Le59'
Plu	Sxt	Ura	27 Feb 1996	07°Li59'	07°Le59'
Sun	Tri	Plu	31 Mar 1996	00°Ta32'	00°Vi32'

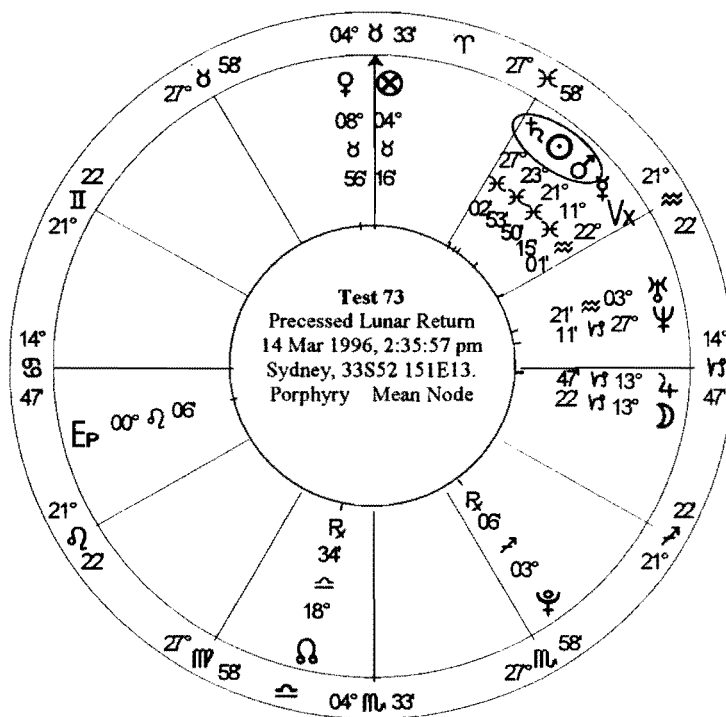

Sun Opp Jup 16 Apr 1996

00°Ta35'

00°Sc35'

The Sun's trine to Pluto on March 31, 1996 is an obvious clue (Sun = father; Pluto = death). It is confirmed by the precessed Lunar Return of 14th March 1996, below:

The accumulation of planets in the House of Death and the Sun conjunct Mars and Saturn is ample confirmation. The transiting Midpoint of these two afflicting malefics was exactly conjunct the natal MC (1Ar17) on 29 March, 1996. (The father's death occurred on 30th March 1996.) Pin-pointing a date by transiting midpoints can be tedious but was not required for the Test. Anyone who simply gave the date of the Direction Sun trine Pluto would have been close enough and accounted correct.

TEST NO. 74

This is an exercise of a different nature: You are given three major events in a person's life, each one of which occurs on one of three dates also given. The Test is to match the event with the correct date.

The events occurred in the life of a woman born in Lansing, Michigan, on 10 Nov. 1949 at 6:51 am EST (Asc 10Sc36, MC 20Le06, Moon 9Cn34).

The three events are —

1. She started a new job as a nurse in a cancer ward.
2. She had surgery to remove a uterine tumour.
3. Her husband left her suddenly.

The three dates are —

- ♦ 26 April 1999
- ♦ 17 October 1992
- ♦ 14 December 1999.

Can you match the dates to the events?

Please send your answers to me by January 20, indicating how you matched the different factors. The solution will be published in the February Issue but meantime all respondents will receive a personal reply with the answer.

REFUGEE RIOTS

In the last week (since 27 December 2002) three Australian States—New South Wales, South Australia and West Australia.—have suffered a rash of destructive fires in Refugee Holding Centres. The repair costs are estimated at around 8 million dollars. The fires have been lit by the asylum seekers themselves, evidently as a misguided protest about their detention.

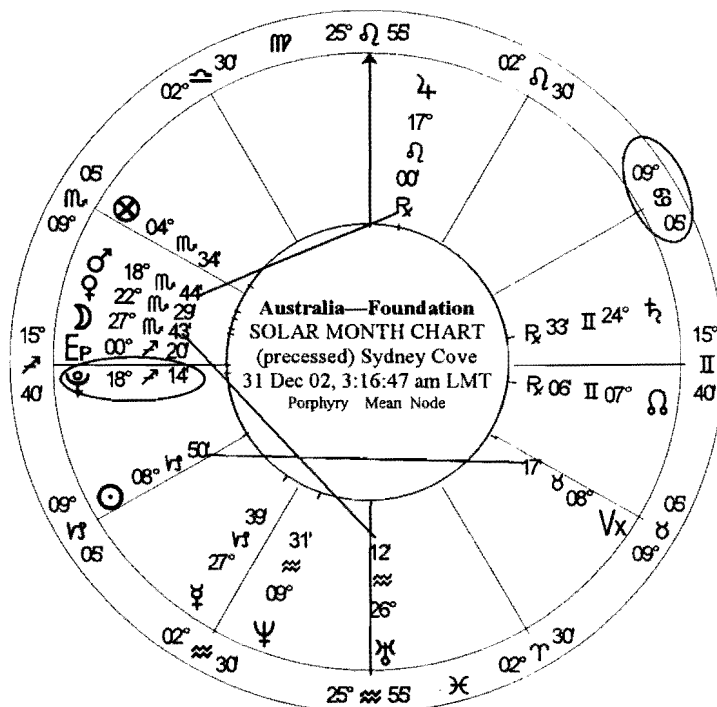

My search for the astrological context of these outbreaks led me to the Solar Month Chart drawn from the Foundation Chart of Australia (below):

The Solar Month Chart (next column) relates to the month 31 Dec 2002—29 Jan 2003 and is, indeed, quite descriptive of the events:

The 12th House (the Detention Centres) is emphasized and contains Mars, planet of fire, ruling the Cusp of the House and square to Jupiter (arson). Pluto on the Ascendant, in a close semisextile with Mars equates to vandalism.

The destruction of property is shown by the Scorpio Moon in the 12th House square to Uranus in the 4th—buildings and property. The Moon, moreover, rules the 8th House (costs incurred by the destruction). The malcontents (Mars) are now facing the Law (Mars square Jupiter). Jupiter being in the House of Overseas Travel suggests that their deportation is a distinct possibility, especially as the Sun, ruling the 9th and 10th Houses, is closely trine the Vertex, indicating that the Government is much concerned with this issue.

RESULTS OF READER SURVEY

My thanks to the sixteen readers who have responded to the Survey regarding the features of this Journal. Though it was only a partial response it gives a guide to readers' preferences. In summary, there was strong support for Articles and Charts on Topical Events, Horary Charts, The "Tests", Charts and Articles illustrating Different Techniques and Predictive Articles. Horary Astrology was ranked among the most important features. A number who don't actually do the "Tests" for lack of time still rated them highly for future attention.

Transiting Aspects for the Month were generally less favoured though strongly supported by some.

Some specific comments were—"I feel very strongly about the work you do with the Forum...it rates very high in my book...there is so much guff around that the clarity, expertise and size/pungency are very valuable...thank you yet again for your Forum... My wish list includes Vedic Astrology".

"We, the readers, are so appreciative of the Astrologers' Forum, 'improving' it seems quite unnecessary...Here is my view: The best liked is the sharing of knowledge (as in your Mission statement). This includes your own experience and comments which I always enjoy reading. A wish list: Some more articles on natal chart interpretation. Some articles on birth time rectification."

"I think the Forum is right at the top in all categories. I don't attempt the Tests, due to an astrological overload in my everyday life...[but] they are a great learning guide...I do follow them and the resulting explanations and find them very interesting."

Items requested by readers will be introduced into Astrologers' Forum as opportunity offers. Meantime I wish you all a happy and fulfilling 2003.

—Dymock.

5 January 2003.

* Foundation Chart of Australia: This Chart is not universally accepted but has stood up to my tests.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au.
Issue 257 December 2002

A red sticker means your Subscription is due.

SOLAR ECLIPSE 4 DEC 2002

The Total Solar Eclipse occurring on 4th December has aroused much interest in South Australia where it will be visible and watched by many thousands in a small town on the West coast. From an astrological view-point its particular interest lies in its incidence on the National Map of the United States of America.

The BiWheel below shows that the Eclipse falls right on the Ascendant of the Chart—the one with 12° Sagittarius rising, that was powerfully vindicated by the September, 2001 terrorist attack.

Eclipses have long been held to coincide with all manner of significant events ranging from the rise and fall of great leaders to the beginning of great enterprises, battles, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, tidal waves, etc. This view is not universally held, however. For instance, the Church of Light said "After conducting a great deal of research it was found that an eclipse of the Sun or Moon falling on...[any natal factor] is of no more significance than a heavy transit".

Inner Wheel: USA National Chart, 4 Jul 1776, 5:09:45 pm LMT, Philadelphia 40N00°24' 75W08°05". Porphyry, Mean Node.
 Outer Wheel: Solar Total Eclipse, 4 Dec 2002, 2:31 am EST, Philadelphia.

It will therefore be interesting to watch the effect of the present Eclipse on the Chart of the USA, where it falls directly on the Ascendant. A point to be borne in mind is that an eclipse can produce effects weeks or even months after its actual date and even, in fact, before its occurrence when a planet transits the position of the subsequent eclipse.

The Ascendant of a National Chart relates to the country and its people as a whole. In my view the presence of the Sun (even an eclipsed Sun) and the Moon here will energize it and

In This Issue...

	Page
Solar Eclipse 4 December 2002.....	1
An example of Horary Analysis	1
Transiting Aspects, Dec. 11, 02—Jan 10, 03...	3
Test No. 72—Report.....	4
Test No. 73.....	4

add to the already dominant influence of the USA in world affairs. This effect is heightened by the position of the Eclipse planets Pluto and Mercury just under the Ascendant. I see this as continuing pressure being brought to bear on foreign countries (the Sun ruling the 9th House), more especially Iraq, of course, which is already having to submit to the demands of the United Nations, following the initiatives of President Bush.

However, though the situation remains grim (Eclipse Ascendant conjunct radical Saturn) I do not see it as leading to war: Peaceful Venus in the Eclipse Chart conjoins and pacifies the planet of war, Mars, and is also trine radical Venus. Aircraft monitoring and enforcement of the "no-fly" zone will continue (Eclipse Uranus conjunct the radical Moon and Eclipse Node conjunct radical Uranus).

In January 2003 the USA National Chart is subject to the Primary Directions of the Moon conjunct Uranus and Mars square Jupiter which suggests heightened tension and increased military activity. Consonant with this is the Monthly Harmonic 226.5 (4 January—4 February 2003) which has Mars conjunct Pluto but trine to the floating MC and radical Saturn. I read this as not showing all-out war but maintenance of a precarious peace, Saturn exercising a moderating influence on Government policy.

The risk is still present in February with transiting Saturn Stationary on Mars and the Sun square Pluto by Primary Direction. This last looks like a further development in President Bush's policy, bringing even more pressure to bear on Iraq.

There is no let-up in March when Mars opposes the Sun by Primary Direction and transiting Pluto is Stationary opposing Mars. Stationary Transits have the power of Primary Directions.

The prospect is not heartening. A glimpse into the Annual Charts for the next three years does not, unfortunately, show any promise of the world becoming a peaceful place. □

AN EXAMPLE OF HORARY ANALYSIS

Many readers of this Journal know about Horary Astrology but yet do not fully realize its utility and potentials. By way of example, here is how a question is answered by USA expert, Lee Miller, who conducts a Horary Course on the Internet:

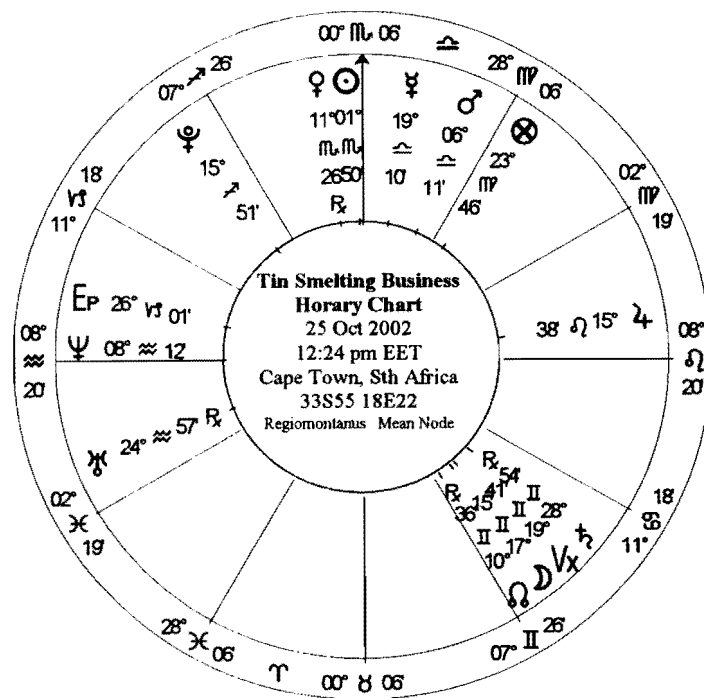

The question concerns a tin smelting business in Cape Town, South Africa. This is how Lee handles the inquiry. (References are to Simplified Horary Astrology by Ivy Jacobson):

His question: "Will the business work with an injection of money from the bank?"

The first step in reading a horary chart is to find the focus of the question. "Will the business work", tells us that it is the future of the business that he is concerned with. "Money from the bank" directs us toward whom he is asking that will connect with the business and in what manner.

From the background information we know that he has invested his own money into the business and become a partner. As such it is understood that he has an unspoken focus as to his continued participation in the business venture. He will be the partner that approaches the bank for a loan to put into the business, which puts him into the Chart as the party to connect the business and the bank.

His actions, 5th House, and the bank, 8th House, are connected by the fact that Mercury rules both Houses. The bank's turned 2nd House (resources and future) also has Mercury as its House Ruler.

The Moon, the planet that shows the action in the matter as well as any changes in the current situation, will form a trine to Mercury from the 5th to the turned 2nd House of the bank. This indicates that his actions will bring the bank's resources into the situation.

Now we look to the people involved in the business.

7th House (Partners, Ruler Sun, is in the 10th House (business) but unable to do much to improve the business since the Sun is weak and Peregrine by condition. Co-significator Jupiter is trine Pluto in the business's 2nd House, bringing some benefit to the partners after a turning point has been reached in the business's future. Ruler Saturn of the 1st House (the Querent) is Retrograde by motion and squares the Part of Fortune. His co-significator is Uranus, which is rising in the Chart, indicating that he may detach from the situation in some fashion. Neptune conjunct the Ascendant shows his confusion and lack of information (Pisces, 3rd House). Jupiter, Ruler of his money (2nd House) is in the 7th (partnership) and Co-Ruler Neptune in the 12th (disappointment and grief). Neptune receives the partnership Ruler, the Sun, into its Detriment.

The bank, 8th House, and its 2nd House (resources) are both ruled by Mercury, which disposes the POF in Virgo. Mars, Ruler of the business, is positioned in the bank's 2nd House (possessions). Mars is in Libra the Sign of its Detriment. Co-significators are the Sun and Venus. From Ptolemy's Table of Essential Dignities, the Sun scores -5 and is Peregrine; Venus scores +5 but is in the Sign of its Detriment and Retrograde in motion.

The focus of the question is the business, 10th House, and its future, 11th House. To read the focal House we turn the Chart placing the 10th House cusp on the Ascendant. With the turned Chart we look to see the strength of its Ruler/Almuten*/planets in the derived Houses.

The Turned Asc. for business is 0°Scorpio 06'. Mars' score is +1 with Mars being afflicted by position in the Sign of its Detriment.

The Sun's score is -5 and Peregrine in condition (going nowhere).

Venus score is +5 but it is in the Sign of its Detriment and Retrograde in motion.

Venus is square to the other benefic, Jupiter, which is the Querent's money and co-significator of the partnership. So Venus may have no good way out since its mutual reception with Mars would put it into the business's 12th House which rules disappointment and coming to grief.

The turned 2nd House of the business (radical 11th), represents its moneys and resources. Ruler Jupiter is in the 7th House (partners) in a Fixed Sign. They have the assets and resources from the business and are going to keep them (Fixed Sign).

Pluto may indicate complications or a turning point that could happen in the near future with Pluto in the business's turned 2nd House. This position is the 5th House of the partners (radical 11th) and represents the actions, gambles and hazards undertaken by the partnership. Look to this area to describe the problems that need to be corrected.

The turned 3rd House of the business (radical 12th) has Capricorn on the Cusp with Ruler Saturn Retrograde: Communication and/or shipping may be hindered in some way that is not readily apparent. Mars, Almuten* of the turned 3rd House, is placed in the business's 12th (unseen matters and secret enemies). The 3rd House relates to matters that are contingent on other things happening. Neptune is in a Critical Degree and is positioned in the business's 3rd House directing us to Pisces which is on the business's 6th House (labour, or workers in the business). This signature is a strong indication that the main problem may be tied to the work force. Pisces is on the workers' 1st and their 12th saying that they have brought the problem upon themselves.

The turned 4th House (radical 1st), the end of the matter for the business, is ruled by Saturn Retrograde and holds Uranus Retrograde. Uranus indicates an unexpected and vexatious turn of events and unpredictable, precipitous action that disrupts plans and dissolves bonds. Uranus cripples the person or case (Simplified Horary Astrology, Ivy Jacobson).

The Part of Fortune sits in the radical 8th House which Ivy tells us acts as misfortune. Since this question involves 8th House matters we need to look more closely into what the POF is indicating. I do not follow Ivy in this case but feel that it will act in a dual function by bringing the fortune to the bank, 8th House, instead of to the Querent in full measure.

It may be that when the POF falls into one of the Houses where Ivy would change it into the Part of Misfortune we need to think of it as dual in function rather than as total misfortune and look more closely into what fortune the Houses involved might reasonably expect from it. We could look to the planet (Cusp Ruler and Almuten) that the POF receives by Dignity to tell which of the Houses would receive the maximum benefit. Also by looking to see if one of the House rulers or Almutens would dispossit the POF and receive its benefits in that fashion.

In this Chart we would look to see if the Querent, or the bank will receive the fortune. The POF receives Saturn, the Querent's Ruler/Almuten, by Term only but it receives Mercury, the Ruler/Almuten of the 8th House (the bank) by Rulership, Exaltation and Face giving it more connection to the bank through the essential Dignities. Additionally, the POF is in Virgo and is disposed by Mercury, the Ruler/Almuten of the bank.

Now to answer the question: Mars, Ruler of the business, is positioned in the 2nd House (resources) of the bank. We see from the POF that the bank will benefit from its involvement with the business more than will the Querent.

The Querent's Ruler, Saturn, disposes Mercury, Ruler of the bank. The Querent's 5th House (actions) holds the Moon, which indicates a change in his actions. Saturn positioned in the 5th indicates restricted or hindered actions. Both planets and Cusp are in the Sign of Gemini which relates to agreements or deals. The Moon in Gemini is a change in the deal. Saturn in Gemini conjunct the Moon is a change of authority in the deal.

This looks like the Querent will not continue forward with his connection in the partnership and that there will be a change in authority. On the other hand his resources, shown by the 2nd House Ruler Jupiter, are in the partnership 7th and will stay there as shown by the Fixed Sign Leo.

The 4th House shows the end of the matter and has Venus in Retrograde motion positioned in the House of the business. Venus is the general ruler of money and the Retrograde condition may indicate a partial return, reorganizing or re-doing of something.

My advice is that the Querent should not put more of his resources into the business.

Conclusion: The Querent heard from the bank on October 29th that they would not loan him the money but were interested in taking over his interest in the company. This means that he will regain only part of the money that he put into the business. Note that he is ruled by Saturn afflicted by Retrograde condition and his business partners who are weakened by a Peregrine Ruler do have benefic Jupiter positioned in their House. The bank will offer to allow the partners to stay on and have the job of running the business.

Note: The querent heard from the bank four days after the question was asked:

POF squares Saturn, 1st House Ruler, 4 degrees 8 minutes.

POF opposes 3rd House Cusp (news or messages) 4 degrees 20 minutes.

1st House Uranus, Querent, quincunx (adjustment related to sacrifice or service) the 9th Cusp (turned 3rd House of 7th) news relating to the partnership, 4 degrees 9 minutes. □

Almuten: An Almuten is the planet of chief influence in a Chart or House. Its strength is estimated from its intrinsic nature, Accidental or Essential Dignity, Aspects from other Significators, and Elevation.

TRANSITING ASPECTS

Dec 11 2002—Jan 10 2003

[These Aspects are timed for 150° Eastern Longitude (GMT + 10 hours). Readers in Western longitudes should expect them as occurring up to a day later.]

December 2002

Dec. 14. Venus square Neptune: You are vulnerable in your feelings and rather easily hurt, or someone in your circle may be likewise affected. Try to maintain inner balance and indulge your sensitivity in relation to art, music, poetry and tales of romance.

Dec. 14. Mercury sextile Mars: This Aspect adds to your mental and physical dexterity so use it for a task that involves either your mind or your hands.

Dec. 14. Mercury sextile Venus: Smooths social relations and makes conversation fluent and easy.

Dec. 15. Mars square Neptune: Watch that you are not directing your energy into unfruitful channels. Your immune system may be down so avoid sources of possible infection.

Dec. 16. Sun semisquare Neptune: Your view of affairs may be clouded today so don't make any decisions until you have a clear perception of what is real and not fictional.

Dec. 16. Saturn trine Uranus: This slow-moving Aspect changes the structure of life to some extent and could bring a desirable variation over a period. Perceive what changes are possible and beneficial.

Dec. 17. Sun opposite Saturn: Keep to routine and fulfill your obligations. If you essay new undertakings at this time you will be up against all sorts of delays and obstacles.

Dec. 17. Sun sextile Uranus: Though you may be feeling restless and independent don't break out while the Sun/Saturn Aspect is still in force.

Dec. 18. Moon conjunct the N.Node favours association with people and groups. Join and participate.

Dec. 18. Jupiter trine Pluto: This Aspect holds the stage for months. In general it means a fortunate development. Look at its position in your Lunar Return Chart to see in what specific areas you may benefit—career, finances, group activities, travel, home life, etc.

Dec. 19. Moon conjunct Saturn may bring minor difficulties, troubles and delays. Keep to routine, don't push too hard, and guard against cold and chills.

Dec. 21. Sun semisquare Venus tends to a lack of harmony in personal contacts. Be forbearing and tactful so as not to spoil a good relationship.

Dec. 24. Sun sesquare Jupiter: Beware of excess in food or drink in this Christmas season—they will bring their penalty later.

Dec. 25. Venus square Jupiter induces a mood of relaxation and self-indulgence that is appropriate to the holiday. Enjoy yourself.

Dec. 28. Mars square Jupiter: Beware of ill-considered action on the spur of the moment. The tendency is to be rash and hasty, leading to over-spending or trouble with authorities.

Dec. 30. Moon conjunct Mars: Be aware that this conjunction tends to emotional upsets, altercations and conflict. Watch that you do not needlessly bring upset on yourself and others.

Dec. 30. Moon conjunct Venus: If relationships have been strained this is the best vibration to bring them back to a state of harmony.... in thy right hand carry gentle peace.

Dec. 30. Saturn sesquare Neptune: Disregard vague fears and worries. "Press on, regardless!"

January 2003

Jan. 1. Moon conjunct Pluto: Restlessness or emotional stress may induce you to make changes that are not in your best interests. Watch your diet as you are susceptible to gastric derangement.

Jan. 2. Sun semisquare Uranus: Variety adds interest to life but be restrained rather than self-willed and eccentric.

Jan. 3. Mercury Stationary at 28Cp28, turning Retrograde: Your thinking and mode of expression tend to assume the nature of whatever planet Mercury contacts in your Horoscope. While Mercury is Retrograde (until Jan. 24) take extra care in all matters relating to communication, documents and short trips.

Jan. 3. Moon conjunct Sun: Good for a new beginning or a new contact.

Jan. 4. Venus Square Uranus: An "affair" or flirtation can be wildly exciting—while it lasts.

Jan. 4. Moon conjunct Mercury: Good for mental applications, making new acquaintances and informing yourself about what is happening around you.

Jan. 5. Moon conjunct Neptune: Day-dreaming can be a relief from dull routine but keep your feet on the ground.

Jan. 5. Mercury sextile Venus: You can charm others with your gracious speech and manners.

Jan. 6. Moon conjunct Uranus: Enjoy something "different" but be moderate in your need for sensation.

Jan. 7. Sun quincunx Jupiter: Not the best time to approach superiors and ask for favours.

Jan. 8. Mars quincunx Saturn: Unexpected obstacles in your work and routine should be met with a calm, thoughtful approach.

Jan. 9. Mercury sextile Mars: Your mind is active and sharp, your hands dexterous. What constructive application can you find for them?

Jan. 10. Mercury quincunx Saturn: Take especial care to avoid misunderstandings, also falls, knocks and bruises. Remember Murphy's Law: What can go wrong will go wrong. □

TEST NO. 72—REPORT

Test 72 related to a woman born on 21 June 1960 at 11:15 pm AEST IN Burnie, Tasmania. The problem was to find which of the following five events occurred in her life on 27 July 2002.

1. She was married.
2. She had a baby.
3. She lost her job.
4. Her boy friend left her.
5. She travelled overseas.

The correct answer is that her boy friend left her.

There were 6 correct answers from 31 entries around the globe. Here are the techniques used by those who solved the problem together with the most determining factor in their responses:

Shirley Gray (Michigan, USA): Saturn+Asc-Cupido (Uranian planetary picture for separation).

Mark Gemmill (Canada): Profected Year of the 7th House (partnerships); Ruler, Mercury, in 5th (romantic associations).

Hughes Goh (Singapore): Chinese Dipper system: Diagnosis unclear.

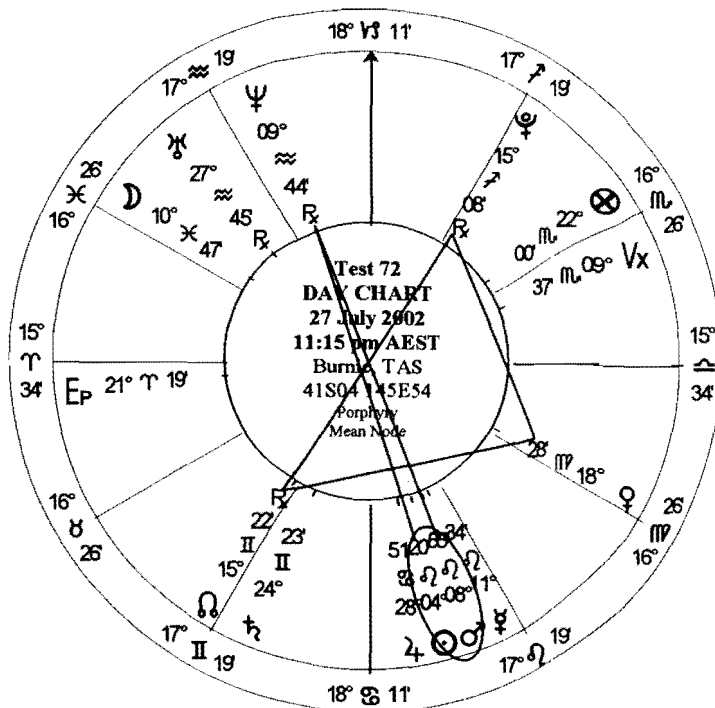

Nicholas (Australia). Vedic: Loaded 6th House (12th House from 7th) on the date, suggesting end of partnerships Tavaphon (Thailand). Uranian: Moon/Hades = Venus = Sun (worries caused by love of a man).

Paramesvaran (Thailand). Uranian: Solar-Arc Directed Venus = Sun = Hades (love worries).

The native's Day Chart (next column) for July 27, 2002, also provides the answer:

The Ruler, Mars, conjoins the Sun ruling the House of Love and Romance, and both are opposed by Neptune (disappointment, loss). Venus, ruling the 7th House, is in a T-Square with Pluto and the Node (destruction of a relationship).

Congratulations to all readers who attempted this Test and made a written response, whether or not they found the right answer. The real value of the exercise is in the work and effort needed to arrive at a conclusion.

TEST 73—MALE

In this exercise an event is given and the Test is to find the date on which it occurred. It concerns a man born on 14 March 1958, 12:35 pm AEST at Sydney, Australia, (33S52, 151E13). Ascendant 16Ge04, MC 1AR17, Moon 12Cp50.

In the year 1 May 1995—1 May 1996 the subject's father died of cancer. Can you find the actual date within that year?

Any astrological method may be used. Please send your response to me, with its astrological basis, by 20th December 2002. A lengthy analysis is not required but add some clarification if it is an obscure procedure. If you can, isolate the most significant factor that determined your answer.

The solution will appear in the next Issue, but meantime all respondents will receive a personal reply.

Future Issues of Astrologers' Forum

Here is a quiz your replies to which will help me in the composition of this Journal: On a score of 1—5 (with 5 as the highest score) how do you rate the following features of Astrologers' Forum?

- ◆ Articles and charts on topical events.
- ◆ Horary Charts (Charts answering specific questions).
- ◆ The "Tests".
- ◆ Charts and articles illustrating different techniques.
- ◆ Predictive articles.
- ◆ Transiting Aspects for the month.

Your answers will help me decide on the future composition of Astrologers' Forum.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock Brose,
5 December 2002.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au.
Issue 256 November 2002

A red sticker means yours
Subscription is due.

THE PREDICTIVE ART

By Allan Johnston

If anyone wants to do professional Astrology prediction is a must. That's what most clients want, and to survive we have to give them that. At the same time we are faced with such a big array of different systems and Dymock tries to keep up with them in this Journal. But this can be a bit off-putting for some people. Is there a limit to this type of thing? A few days ago a student submitted to me that it gives her the urge to give up astrology altogether. It does seem to be the case of fitting the system to the chart rather than fitting the chart to the system. And it looks to be impossible for an astrologer to keep up with all the systems on offer. And of course there is the time element of how much one can spend on a case.

When I first went into professional Astrology I found this was something I would have to live with. I don't think there is such a thing as the perfect predictive system, and I never promised it to anyone. I decided to limit myself to just a few systems, but keep in touch with what was going on in Astrology generally. It is very hard to find a system that would get close to universal support. I think the closest you would get to that ideal would be Transits. There is not much controversy about the value of Transits but in recent years the discovery of Chiron has been a bit controversial. I had not bothered to look at Chiron Transits but now I have come to the conclusion that these could be well worth study. I have found them very effective in looking back over my own lifetime. Of course we all get the absolutely "spot on" Transits. I had one experience when Jupiter was exactly opposite my natal Sun, right to the degree and minute, and I went to my mail box and there was a big cheque from Saudi Arabia, of all places, (very Jupiter). You don't get that type of exactitude all the time, but it gives you a boost when it does happen.

I think Secondary Progressions will stand up in a lot of cases but we could still get cases where they don't seem to be all that effective. I think this applies to every system—and why there are so many systems. They will all let you down on occasion. And I think what we are looking at here is just how far the synchronization of planetary movements and human affairs does really go. I have heard people say, 'There is no such thing as an accident. It is all in our stars'. But I don't believe that. There is certainly a relationship—but it is not all that perfect or complete. Fate can play a big part, but it is not the whole story. Life on this earth is very complex. So in doing professional work I was not all that worried about gaps in the system I was using. But I did like to keep close to the Ephemeris, which you do in

In This Issue...

	Page
The Predictive Art	1
Comment on The Predictive Art	1
Disappearance of Kerry Whelan	2
Transiting Aspects, Nov. 11—Dec. 10, 2002 . . .	3
Test No. 71—Report	3
Test No. 72	4

Transits and Secondary Progressions, rather than purely symbolical Directions like Solar-Arc. I was happy with a reasonable degree of accuracy in prediction—and so were my clients. As a final point I

'If anyone wants to do professional Astrology prediction is a must.'

would like to say that there can be quite a difference between lining up astronomical phenomena after the event and in doing the prediction. □

COMMENT BY THE EDITOR

I heartily endorse Allan Johnson's statement that if anyone wants to do professional Astrology he must be able to predict. Delineation of character and personality from the Birth Figure certainly has its value but clients engaging a professional expect to hear what the coming year or two years will be like for them as regards work and career and other personal issues—relationships, finances, health, travel, etc. Yet this is mostly avoided in schools of Astrology, no doubt because it is by far the most difficult branch of the subject. I had to smile at Allan's mild observation, "...there can be quite a difference between lining up astronomical phenomena after the event and in doing the prediction." The difference is, in fact, enormous, as anyone who tries it will soon discover. However, it is indeed necessary to study as many past events as possible to see what were the astrological factors that pointed to it. This lays the groundwork for successful prediction.

To predict you must acquire some techniques first, learn how to apply them, and practice, practice, practice... Try your skills on every situation that presents itself, from international events down to personal issues—will the USA attack Iraq next year? Who will win the Turkish Election? How long will the present Prime Minister remain in Office? Will peace be maintained between Pakistan and India? When will be the next major terrorist strike?; and, on personal issues, When will the baby arrive? Will they get a Housing Trust home? Will Ms. X gain University Entrance? Will Mr. Y find a job this year? etc., etc.

If you are serious in your wish to become a predictive astrologer then acquire a modern computer as soon as you can and an astrological Program such as Solar Fire. It will not only open a whole new world to you and extend your techniques beyond anything you could have envisaged previously but will also vastly increase the speed of your astrological workings.

Adverting to Allan Johnson's remarks on the numerous astrological techniques now practised, this is not a reason for giving up Astrology altogether but rather for rejoicing in its versatility. We can choose from many paths, all of them fascinating and any of them able to reveal to us the wonderful correlation between things terrestrial and things celestial. We do not have to become masters of them all but can choose whichever suit our purpose and are the most congenial to our abilities and temperament. □

THE DISAPPEARANCE OF KERRY WHELAN

By Lyla Williams

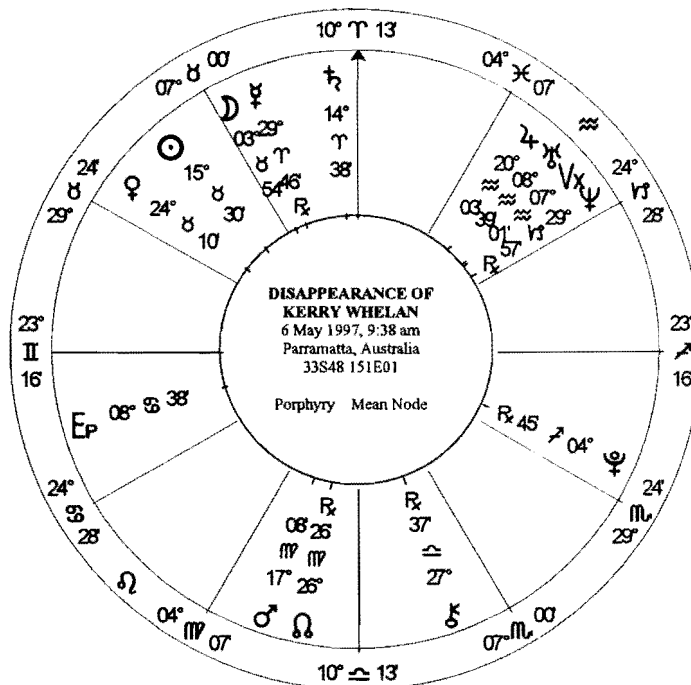

Astrologers are rarely given the opportunity to construct a timed chart for a criminal act—usually such a luxury is reserved for a violent natural occurrence such as an earthquake or explosion. However, when Mrs. Kerry Whelan disappeared from the car park of a Sydney hotel on the 6th of May 1997 we can see a time on the security camera—9:38 am. I drew up a rough chart at that time, but since the arrest of the suspected abductor I thought the Chart might be worth a more detailed look. Here are my findings:

The Shape of the Chart is a BUCKET with Mars as the handle in the 3rd House, ruled by MERCURY from the 10th House—the public face of an event.. A Bucket Chart contains a group of planets opposing a single planet—the handle—acting as a focus, or release. Since Mars is the handle this release will be violent!

The Signature is FIXED EARTH, suggesting a lack of rational thought in favour of practical action, and eight planets lie in the Southern Hemisphere—the section of the Chart involving the subject with other people. Having left her car she was now in the hands of others.

Two planets are in anaretic degrees, which Sackoian and Acker label a degree of Fate, or Karma, — Mercury at 29Ar46, Retrograde (siblings, neighbours, health) and Neptune at 29Cp57 Retrograde. For this planet they suggest the keywords crisis, secret affairs and psychosis! Mercury has Mars as its Ruler, putting Mars and Mercury in Mutual Reception, signifying the likelihood of violence in words or deeds.

Neptune has Saturn as its Ruler (from Aries!) which combines the malefic influence of these two planets—covert activity. Like Critical Degrees, the suggestion for anaretic degrees is for heightened emphasis.

Gemini rises, suggesting two or more people were involved in the disappearance—perhaps the victim and her abductor had arranged to meet in Sydney, or a third party intervened.

The Chart has a “spiky” look. I often find this in charts relating to acts of violence—with Neptune making six aspects, including one to Chiron which opposes the anaretic Mercury, suggesting once again a matter of Fate, something from the past needed to be resolved.

The Sun and Venus square Jupiter—a poor outcome to a matter of love or affection—both trine Mars, bringing passion (heat, energy) into the equation.

The Moon squares Neptune and makes a very close quincunx aspect to Pluto, suggesting emotional deception, illusionary and clouded judgement.

Saturn (karmic judgement) sits on the MC AND BOTH THE Sun and Moon square Uranus, the classic pattern for an unexpected, physical or emotional event.

Pluto is retrograde in the 6th House (adverse for health). Pluto and Mars, Rulers of the 8th House (death) are both at Critical Degrees.

There are three Fixed Stars in the Chart, all problematic and likely to cause death or danger, according to Ebertin: Sirrah conjunct Saturn, El Sheratain conjunct the Moon; Benetnash conjunct the N.Node.

There are a number of pertinent Midpoints:

- ♦ Uranus = AC/Nodes (sudden experiences with one's associates);
- ♦ Uranus = Saturn/Pluto (sudden acts of violence);
- ♦ Uranus = Pluto/MC (turning about—sudden changes of mind);
- ♦ Uranus = Jupiter/Neptune (sudden recognition of a difficult situation; sudden collapse);
- ♦ Mars = Moon/Neptune (secret activity of a woman);
- ♦ Mars = Jupiter/Saturn (the desire to enforce a change of circumstances and conditions in life; the act of separation); act of separation);

- ♦ Mercury = Sun/Saturn (thinking of separation);
- ♦ Saturn = Uranus/Ascendant (separating suddenly from others).

[The above interpretations are taken from Witte-Lefeldt, Rules for Planetary Pictures, and Reinhold Ebertin, The Combination of Stellar Influences.]

Kerry Whelan traveled to the hotel by car (Mars at 17°Virgo in the 3rd House (short trips). The Sun and Venus in the 11th House (friends and acquaintances) suggests the abductor was well known to her. The Moon in Taurus (emotions and property) conjunct anaretic Mercury in Aries (quick and ill-considered action) suggests to me that what happened may not have been planned but was rather a spur-of-the-moment event with terrible but unforeseen consequences..

I look forward to reading the comments of other subscribers based on this very exciting Chart! □

TRANSITING ASPECTS

Nov 11—Dec 10, 2002

[These aspects are timed for Eastern Longitude, GMT + 10 hours. Readers in Western longitude should reckon on them occurring up to a day later.]

November 2002

Nov. 11. Moon conjunct Neptune: Good for creative, imaginative work and for enjoyment of music, art, fantasy, films, plays, television.

Nov. 11. Mercury square Jupiter: This configuration stimulates ideas and talk; watch that you don't inadvertently giving away confidential information.

Nov. 12. Mars sextile Jupiter: Take the initiative and start enterprises or undertakings that you have been contemplating or planning.

Nov. 12. Moon conjunct Uranus: Be different—surprise yourself with some new activity or line of thought. Be compliant rather than contrary when in the company of friends.

Nov. 14. Sun conjunct Mercury: Attend to important matters documents or writings connected with your central interests.

Nov. 16. Mercury square Uranus: Your plans may be spoiled but keep your calm and remain unruffled.

Nov. 17. Sun square Uranus: Things may go wrong but it could open your eyes to something valuable or useful of which you were previously unaware.

Nov. 20. Eclipse of the Moon at 27Ta33: As the Sun is now directly opposite the Moon there will be a state of tension and a separative tendency between any significators that they contact in your Chart. Regulate your conduct accordingly, knowing how the land lies.

Nov. 21. Venus Stationary at 0Sc03. The harmonizing and unifying influence of Venus can be brought to bear in relation to any significators it contacts in your Chart.

Nov. 22. The Moon conjunct Saturn tends to shake your confidence and depress your spirits but just carry on, do what you have to do and wait for the influence to pass. Avoid chills.

Nov. 24. Mars trine Uranus: A useful aspect that supplies extra energy for decisions and constructive changes.

Nov. 25. Mercury sextile Neptune: Enhances your understanding of difficult concepts as well as attracting to imaginative and poetical literature.

Nov. 25. Mars opposite the Node: May awaken amorous feelings but also tends to set the scene for a quarrel or disagreement. Take care.

Nov. 26. The Moon conjunct Jupiter: Raises your spirits and may bring a gift or benefit.

Nov. 27. Mars trine Saturn: Strengthens your determination and supplies the energy to attack the jobs you have to do.

Nov. 30. Mercury conjunct Pluto: Helps with matters requiring intensive mental application and perhaps the uncovering basic issues.

December 2002

Dec. 1. Neptune trine Node: Look around for unusual, artistic or imaginative things and people.

Dec 1. Sun conjunct the Moon's South Node: Apt to disturb your associations and personal contacts so take care with what you say and do.

Dec. 1. Sun sextile Neptune: Enhances your sensitivity, intuition and idealistic tendencies. Tends to fantasy and day-dreaming (which is O.K.).

Dec. 1. Mercury trine Jupiter: Favourable for reading writing, and intellectual activities, dealing with legal documents and negotiating with others.

Dec. 1. Moon conjunct Mars: Brings excitement and energy. Be tactful so as not to cause unnecessary friction with those around you.

Dec. 2. Moon conjunct Venus: Helps to restore good relations where they have suffered through neglect or worse. Helps in making good purchases of clothing or jewellery.

Dec. 4. Moon conjunct the Sun: Good influence for starting anew on something.

Dec. 4. Jupiter Stationary at 18Le.06; Good news for those with a significator at this point—advantage, benefit, gain, fulfillment.

Dec. 5. Moon conjunct Pluto: In an emotionally charged atmosphere avoid extremes. Helps you to concentrate on the job in hand.

Dec. 5. Moon conjunct Mercury: Helps you in social interaction with free and easy communication.

Dec. 6. Mercury sextile Uranus: Quickens your mental processes and alerts you to innovations. Helps you to understand technical matters.

Dec. 7. Mercury opposite Saturn: Attend to necessary if tedious jobs. Watch for mistakes in letters and documents. Take care to avoid knocks and falls.

Dec. 8. Moon conjunct Neptune: You may tend to be 'other-worldly' today, or day-dreaming and lethargic. Enjoy films, T.V. and music.

Dec. 10. Sun conjunct Pluto: Empowers you and increases your effectiveness in whatever sphere you are operating.

Dec. 10. Moon conjunct Uranus: Take advantage of a change or innovation to break the usual routine. Be harmonious rather than 'difficult' when in company.

Dec. 10. Sun trine Jupiter: An excellent time to talk or negotiate with superiors, to apply for a position or arrange your holiday times, ask favours, etc. □

TEST 71—REPORT

Test No. 71 related to a Man born on 22 Sep. 1971 at 1:55 am IST (-5:30) in New Delhi, India (28N36, 77E12). Ascendant 2Le26, MC 25Ar22, Moon 22Li32.

The exercise was to find what was the significant occurrence in his life on 19 August 1991 (while he was still at his birth place). It was one of the following five events. Which one was it?

1. He found good employment.
2. He fell in love.
3. His father died.
4. He started a course of study.
5. He lost a considerable sum of money.

The correct answer is that his father died.

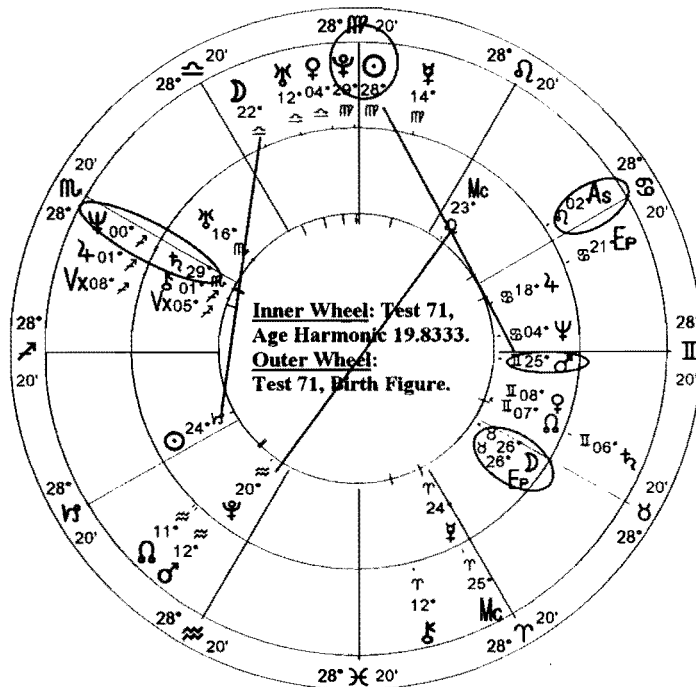

There were 37 respondents and 17 of them found the correct answer on the first attempt. Where possible, I have tried to deduce from the correct responses what was the single, most significant factor that determine-d the answer in each case:

Debbie Perry (Australia)	Solar-Return Sun in 8 th House.
Blake Elliot (Canada)	Profections: Saturn in the 4 th House, Neptune in the 10 th , Sun in the 8 th .
Mark Gemmill (Canada)	Profections: Ruler of the 8 th House (Saturn) is in the 4 th House of the year (the father).
Harit Kashemsanta (Thailand)	Sidereal Nirayana System: Accent on 12 th , 8 th and 4 th Houses.
Francis Foo (Singapore)	The Maraka (death-inflicting) indicator for father is Mars afflicted by Rahu.
Ross Harvey (Australia)	Solar Return has MC conjunct n.Neptune, Asc conjunct n.Mars, the Sun and Venus conjunct the 8 th Cusp
Maddalena Cecchinato (Italy)	Vedic: On the date of the event, t.Saturn in the 9 th H. (the father) closely aspected the degree of the Asc.
"Area51MOA" (Thailand)	Uranian Picture: By Solar-Arc Drn. Sun = Mars + Saturn - Kronos.
Sander Littel (Netherlands)	p.MC sesquare Pluto/p.Pluto (Ruler 5 = 8 th from 4).
Sjakkie Govers (Netherlands)	MC in Age Harmonic 19.8333. conjunct n.Sun and Pluto.
Margarita (Belgium)	Directed Nodes = n.Uranus/Neptune = "destruction of connection".
Lee Miller (Texas)	Horary Chart (not available).
Hughs Goh (Singapore)	Chinese Astrology "Dipper" System
Ron Day (Australia)	Vedic: Five t.planets Aspect 8 th H.
Paul Langeveld (Neth'lands)	S.R. Sun conjunct n.Pluto in 8 th H.
Tavaphon Ratnakorn (Thailand)	Directed Sun = Saturn/Neptune.
Sontaya Pruenglambo (Thailand)	Age Harmonic 19.8333: Moon (Ruling H.8) opposite Saturn and n.Neptune.

The Age Harmonic Chart 19.8333 (next column) for the period 22 July—22 August 1991 gives a quick and obvious indication that the father died.

The Natal Sun and Pluto in conjunction on the Meridian are sufficient indication alone, singling out "death of father" from all the other four options but a number of other supporting factors can be seen in the BiWheel:

- ♦ Mars on the Descendant Cusp square the n.Sun.
- ♦ Natal Ascendant on the "Deaths" Cusp.
- ♦ Saturn on the 12th Cusp conjunct n.Neptune.
- ♦ Pluto opposite the Floating MC.
- ♦ The Sun square the n.Moon.

The answer is also apparent in —

- The Moon/Sun Phase-Return Chart of 12 August 1991 (n.Saturn on the 8th Cusp opposing n.Ascendant).
- The (Standard) Solar Return of 21 Sep 1990 (Sun conjunct Pluto in the 8th House; n.Mars on the Ascendant; Saturn on the 12th [Porphyry] Cusp trine Venus ruling the 4th House).
- The (Standard) Lunar Return of 14 August 1991 (Pluto Angular square the Sun in the 4th House).

My congratulations to all who responded to this challenge.

TEST NO. 72

This new Test concerns a woman born 21 June 1960 at 11:15 pm AEST in Burnie, Tasmania. (41S04, 145E54); Ascendant 17Pi40, MC 15Sg37, Moon 1Ge45.

A significant event occurred in her life on 27 July 2002. It was one of the five listed below. Which one was it?

1. She was married.
2. She had a baby.
3. She lost her job.
4. Her boy friend left her.
5. She travelled overseas

Use any astrological procedure of your choice to select ONE of the above. Please send your answer to me by 20th November together with its astrological basis. Add any necessary explanation to your submission but not other supporting astrological procedures. If you can, pick out from your answer the SINGLE MOST IMPORTANT FACTOR that determined your choice.

Every participant will receive a personal answer but on this occasion it will not be until after December 6 as my wife and I will be travelling until that date.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock Brose
6 Nov. 2002

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

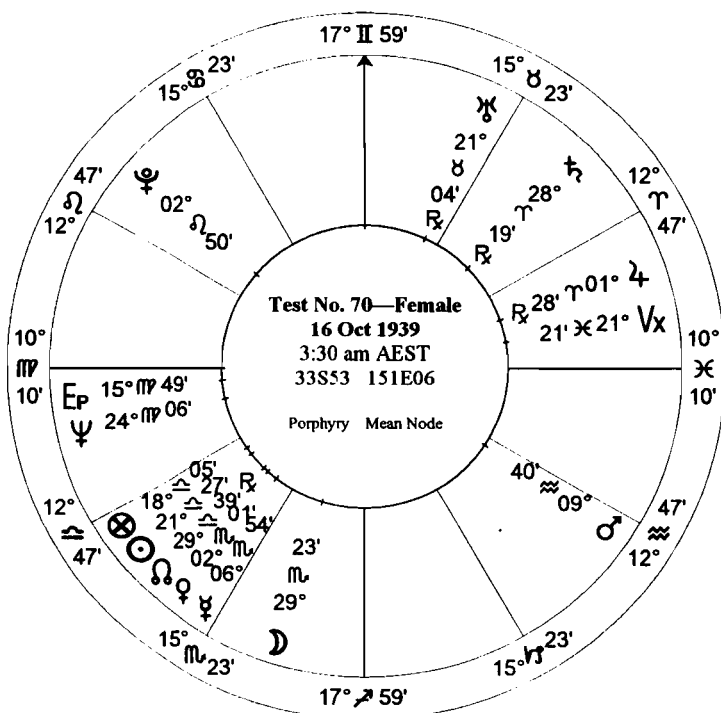

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker means your Subscription is due.

Issue 255 October 2002

TEST 70 — REPORT

Test No. 70 concerned a woman born on 16th October 1939 in a suburb of Sydney, Australia, (33S53, 151E06) at 3:30 am. Here is the Chart:

The question is: Which of the five possible events listed below occurred in her life on 27th July 2002?

1. Her brother died.
2. She was hospitalized with a serious illness.
3. She bought a new house.
4. She remarried.
5. She left on an overseas trip.

The correct answer is the woman bought a new house.

This Test was the most difficult so far and it is not surprising that only one out of forty respondents found the correct answer. What made it difficult is that the methods commonly used by the participants did not serve in this case or the charts, etc., were hard to interpret correctly.

The correct answer came from "Area51Mao" (Thailand) who gave as his reason, simply, Mc v1=Ju+Sa-Me. To most Western astrologers this is a most cryptic expression and I tried to have "Area51Mao" expand it. I elicited from him that Mc v1 means Direction [to 27 July 2002] of the Natal MC by Solar Arc; but still the equation did not seem to be a valid one even on the 90° Dial. No further elucidation came from the respondent.

However, Shirley Gray of Michigan has clarified the situation and I have slightly adapted her explanation to make it as comprehensible as possible for non-Uranians. In the 90° Dial (next column) Directions are by Solar-Arc to 27 July 2002; d. = Directed; n. = Natal:

In the Cardinal Sector of the Dial, d.Mercury is at 10°06'; the Midpoint of d.Saturn(1°31') and n.Jupiter (1°28') is 1°30'. The Midpoint of 10°6' and 1°30' is 5°48'.

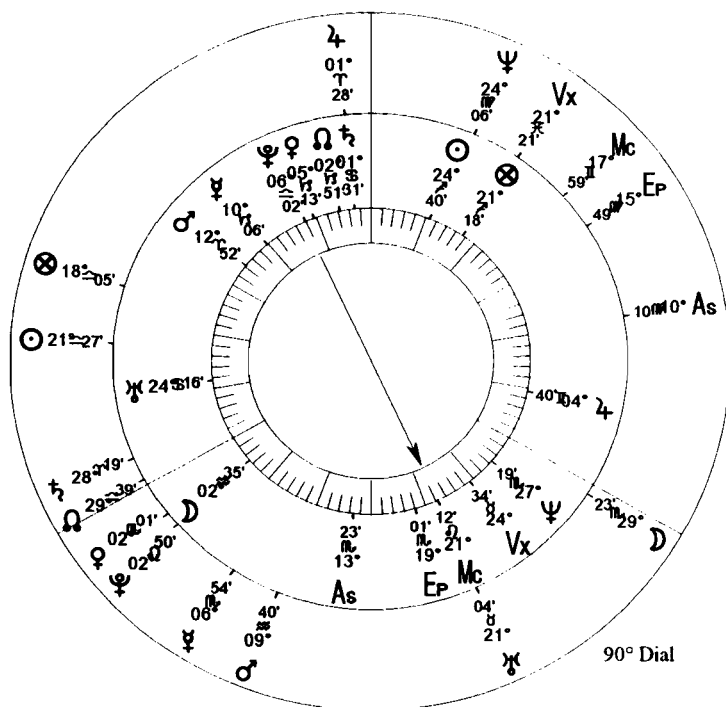

With the arrow of the Dial on d.MC (21°Le12') the other end of the

In This Issue ...

	Page
Test No. 70 – Report: 90° Dial & Phase-Return &	1
Vedic Solution	2
Test No. 71 – Male.....	2
Transiting Aspects 1 Oct—10 Nov 2002	3
Australia's Real Estate Boom	3
National Chart & Solar Returns	4

axis is at 6°3' where it contacts the Midpoint 5°48'. This creates the pattern MC = Jupiter + Saturn – Mercury.

One of the meanings attributed to this pattern by Witte-Lefeldt in Rules for Planetary-Pictures is "house-hunting".

Additionally, in the Natal Chart Jupiter rules the 4th House (property and buildings), and Saturn is also a Significator of these things.

Six other participants used Uranian Astrology though without success. Here is a summary of the methods used: Uranian Astrology, 7; Vedic Astrology, 7; Progressions and Transits, 6; Belgium, Spain, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Croatia Transits, 6; Solar-Arc Directions and Transits, 5; Transits (with or without Asteroids, 4; Profections 3; Solar Return and/or Age Harmonic, 3; Diurnal Chart, 2; 1° per Year Directions, 1; Lunar Return, 1.

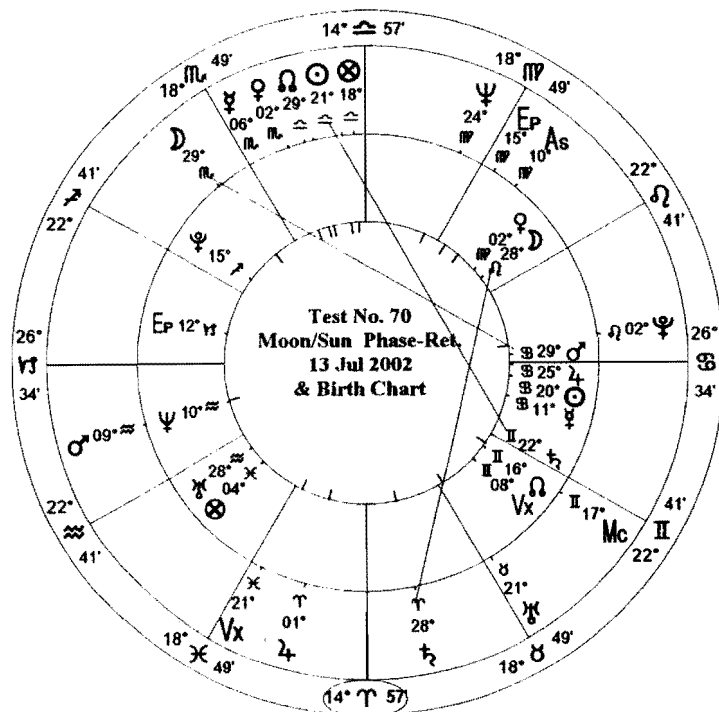

Countries of the respondents were: USA 8, Netherlands 6, Thailand 5, Australia 4, Germany 3, and 1 each from Canada, Belgium, Spain, Brazil, Czechoslovakia, Croatia, Norway, and Taiwan. Countries of 6 other respondents were not stated.

Hints of the correct answer can be found in the Age Harmonic, Solar Return, Lunar Return, etc., but the Chart that in my opinion is clearest on this occasion is the Moon/Sun Phase-Return Chart for the Month 13 July—12 August 2002 in a BiWheel with the Radix (see Chart next page).

I am aware that comparatively few astrologers make use of this type of chart, though I had mentioned it in Issue 251 (June 2002) of Astrologers' Forum as sometimes filling a useful gap where other techniques are not decisive for interpretation.

The factors of the Phase-Return Chart combined with those of the Natal Chart surrounding it give a definite indication that of the five options in the question the one most emphasized is that relating to the house:

Inner Wheel: Moon/Sun Phase-Return, 13 July 2002, 5:26:38 pm AEST 33853, 151E06. Porphyry; Mean Node. (Cusps from this Wheel).

Outer Wheel: Test No. 70—Female, Natal Chart, 16 Oct 1939, 3:30 am AEST

- Capricorn rises and natal Saturn occupies the 4th Sector (Property and Houses) in very close trine to the Phase-Return Moon (which is also concerned with the home).
- Mars, ruling the 4th Sector is Angular and trine to the Natal Moon.
- Phase-Return Saturn is emphasized by being on a Cusp and is trine to the Natal Sun.

On the other hand none of the other options attracts attention:

1. She left on an overseas trip? Neither the Sign Sagittarius nor the 9th House is emphasized to any extent.
2. Her brother died? 3rd House and 8th have contrary indications.
3. Hospitalized with a serious illness? No indications from the 12th House.
5. She re-married? Closer than the others because of Jupiter on the Cusp and Mars there trine the Moon, but not sufficiently indicative with Venus out of the picture.

In view of the interest taken by Vedic astrologers in these Tests I am presenting the explanation by Maddalena Cecchinato (Italy) of how the answer to Test No. 70 could be found by Vedic Astrology. Maddalena discussed the Test with astrologers on the Satva List and received helpful feedback. She gives credit particularly to Mrs. Sandy Crowther (USA), who helped with a thorough analysis. The Satva list is about Systems' Approach, which is a system of Vedic Astrology founded by Prof. V.K. Choudry (India).

Analyses are based on:

1. Natal chart (strength and positions of planets).
2. "Divisional" charts (which are like harmonic charts, although not all of them are calculated harmonically. Each chart has its own meaning).
3. Dasas (planetary periods, a bit like Progressions).
4. Transits on sensitive points in the natal charts.

In Vedic Astrology the Sidereal Zodiac is used and extensive use is made of House rulerships. Outer planets are not used and Aspects are different from Western Aspects. The originality of Systems Approach in comparison with traditional Vedic Astrology is found, among other things, in the use of the "most effective points of Houses", which correspond to the degree of the Ascendant, and in the use of close orbs for Conjunctions and Aspects.

In Test No. 70, 'buying a house' is the only choice where all four of the "tools" for analysis consistently point to the result:

1. In this Chart, natal Significators for purchase of property are Mars, Venus, the 2nd House and its Lord, the Moon, in the 4th House.
2. The appropriate Divisional Chart is D-4, where the operating planetary periods indicate a favourable result.
3. The planetary sub-period is Mercury (main periods are years long) and the sub-sub period is Venus.
4. Transits on natal Chart:

- The sub-period Mercury is Lord of the 2nd House which, among other things, rules accumulated wealth and is transiting the most effective point (same degree as Ascendant) of the 12th House (Expenditure).
- Transit Mercury is also conjunct transiting Mars and aspected by Exalted natal Mars one of the general Significators for property. Mars is also Ruler of the 9th House and is therefore very favourable.
- Venus as the other general Significator for property is strong in Transit.
- The Moon in the 4th House, though natally weak due to Debilitation, receives strong benefic aspects from both natal and transiting Jupiter. The Moon is also the Ruler of the 12th House (Expenditure again) and placed in the 4th House (Property).
- There were no afflictions by Transit.

Maddalena writes, "In fact, my own choice for 'death of brother' was wrong because of lack of Transit afflictions. But never mind, every test is a great chance to learn more".

The material for this Test was provided by Ross Harvey, the Australian Astrologer who introduced Age Harmonics, developed from Addey's Harmonics, in the 1980's. It was a client of Ross's whose situation prompted this question. Ross himself found the purchase of the new house was very appropriately timed by the PEA Primary Directions: Venus trine the Asc and Jupiter sextile the Moon.

PEA Directions were developed by Wim van Dam in Holland and brought to Australia by his countryman Rudolf Smit in the early 1980's. They are a unique form of Primary Directions but are not generally known because the Program has not yet been adopted by Esoteric Technologies, Matrix, Astrolabe, etc. Possibly copyright is involved.

Well, this Test was a difficult one and I hope none of the participants has been discouraged by not finding the answer. I'll look for something easier in future. The main purpose of the exercise will, however, be accomplished if the work involved has led to more insight and expertise.

TEST NO. 71— MALE

Here is another Test to exercise your skills.

Test No. 71 relates to a Man born on 22 Sep. 1971 at 1:55 am IST (-5:30) in New Delhi, India (28N36, 77E12).

Ascendant 2Le26, MC 25Ar22, Moon 22Li32.

There was a significant occurrence in his life on 19 August 1991 (while he was still at his birth place). It was one of the following five events. Which one was it?

1. He found good employment.
2. He fell in love.
3. His father died.
4. He started a course of study.
5. He lost a considerable sum of money.

Use any astrological procedure of your choice to select one of the above. Please send your answer to me by 20th October together with the crucial Aspect, planetary picture, or other evidence that determined your choice. Add any necessary explanation to your evidence but not other supporting astrological procedures. (E-mail address: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Postal address on front page.)

All participants will be informed quickly if their answer is right or wrong; and after the 20th Oct. will be sent a detailed Report with one or more worked methods for finding the solution. This will appear also a few weeks later in the November Issue.

TRANSITING ASPECTS

1 OCT—10 Nov 2002

(Aspects from 1—14 October are repeated from the last Issue for the convenience of readers)

October 2002

- Oct. 1. Venus sesquare Saturn: A relationship trouble could leave you disturbed and unhappy. It is just one of life's little hurdles. Time smoothes it out.
- Oct. 2. The Sun trine Neptune sensitizes you so that you are highly aware and receptive to all impressions. It helps greatly with inspiration in any form of creative work. It could be an idyllic period when sought-after goals are attained.
- Oct. 4. The Sun sesquare Uranus: Keep your equanimity even in the face of a minor disruptive element. You may learn something useful.
- Oct. 4. Mercury square Saturn: Allow for difficulties or delays in communication. Watch for mistakes in documents and mind how you move so as to avoid falls, knocks and bruises.
- Oct. 5. The Sun trine the N.Node could bring you an agreeable new contact. It is a favourable Aspect for fellowship, establishing good relations and joint cooperative ventures.
- Oct. 5. Mars sesquare Neptune often signifies misdirected energy. Take a close look at what you are doing.
- Oct. 6. The Sun sextile Jupiter brings you rewards for previous efforts—achievement, success, recognition, etc. It can also bring opportunities for exhibiting generosity of spirit and deed.
- Oct. 7. Mercury Stationary at 28Vi20, turning Direct: If Mercury at this point contacts a Significator in a chart it will induce thought, talk and effort about the matters relating to the Significator. As Mercury is turning Direct, matters that were held up may now go forward.
- Oct. 8. Mars quincunx Uranus: Avoid little mishaps by being careful and deliberate, not impulsive and sudden in what you are doing.
- Oct. 9. Sun sextile Pluto: This increases your feeling of inner strength and effectiveness so that you tend towards leadership and dominance.
- Oct. 10. Mercury square Saturn: See Oct. 4 above.
- Oct. 11. Venus Stationary at 15Sc36, turning Retrograde brings warmth of feeling to any Significator it contacts. Conjoint the Sun or Moon it often heralds a love affair.
- Oct. 11. Saturn Stationary at 29Ge05, turning Retrograde, brings a serious, responsible attitude towards matters ruled by the Significator that it affects.
- Oct. 14. Mars square Saturn though usually associated with toil and difficulties has the benefit of inducing precision in work.
- Oct. 14. Mars semisquare Jupiter tends to exuberant feelings that give zest to life. Just avoid being over-impulsive.
- Oct. 18. Venus square Jupiter puts you in the mood for happy self-indulgence in the things you like, combined with distaste for work. You may need to watch expenditure.
- Oct. 18. Mercury trine Neptune: You are impressionable and receptive, able to absorb ideas readily and inclined to imaginative literature or art, films, TV, etc.
- Oct. 19. Sun trine Uranus is apt to bring a nice surprise in the form of a new friend, a renewed contact, a change of work or a different path to explore.
- Oct. 20. Mercury trine the Moon's Node favours contact with articulate people exchanging ideas and sharing common interests.
- Oct. 20. Neptune is Stationary at 8Aq12, turning Direct: In contact with a Significator it tends to softness, subtlety, illusion and unfounded fears. In adverse Aspect it brings a loss or disappointment.
- Oct. 22. Sun trine Saturn: Accept responsibility, attend to serious matters, organize your affairs and stabilize your life.
- Oct. 23. Mercury sextile Jupiter: A good day for attending to studies, writings, documents and business or other transactions.
- Oct. 23. Mercury sextile Pluto: Speech and writings are very much to the point and have a persuasive quality.
- Oct. 28. Jupiter trine Pluto: A very helpful Aspect for launching big undertakings. As a Progression in a person's chart it signals a major favourable development.
- Oct. 29. Mars trine Neptune: Favourable for engaging in promotional activities that aim at big effects.
- Oct. 29. Mercury trine Uranus: Be alive to new methods and insights. Good for learning about technological matters, operating the computer, etc.

Oct. 31. Venus square Neptune: A lost love can be painful but there are other beautiful things in life. Find comfort in music, art, dancing, films, etc.

Oct. 31. Mercury trine Saturn: Use this Aspect to organize your paper-work, write that report or assignment and attend to any tedious details that you have been postponing.

Oct. 31. Sun conjunct Venus: This conjunction is great for a festive occasion or a happy get-together with friends or for pursuing artistic interests. It also induces amorous feelings and enhances your personal attractiveness.

Nov. 1. Mars trine the Moon's N.Node: A good influence for physical associations, teamwork and joint application to tasks.

Nov. 1. The Sun square Neptune: Under this influence don't take anything at face value, it may be misrepresented, knowingly or otherwise. Avoid making commitments at present.

Nov. 4. Uranus Stationary at 24Aq54, turning Direct: Uranus tends to disrupt things relating to any Significator that it contacts, especially if in "hard" Aspect. On the other hand it may also open a new line of thought or activity for you.

Nov. 4. Mercury conjunct Venus: This marks a happy time for enjoying the company of friends, for conversations, telephone calls, get-togethers, talking and merriment.

Nov. 6. Mercury square Neptune: Take care to avoid mistakes or misunderstanding in communications. With this inharmonious Aspect mysterious things may happen to small items, documents, letters, etc.

Nov. 10. The Sun square Jupiter: Go carefully in the presence of authority. Be attentive and fulfil your obligations. This is not the time to ask a favour of the boss.

Nov. 10. Mars sextile Pluto: This adds to your concentration and drive, so you can accomplish tasks with speed and efficiency.

AUSTRALIA'S REAL ESTATE BOOM

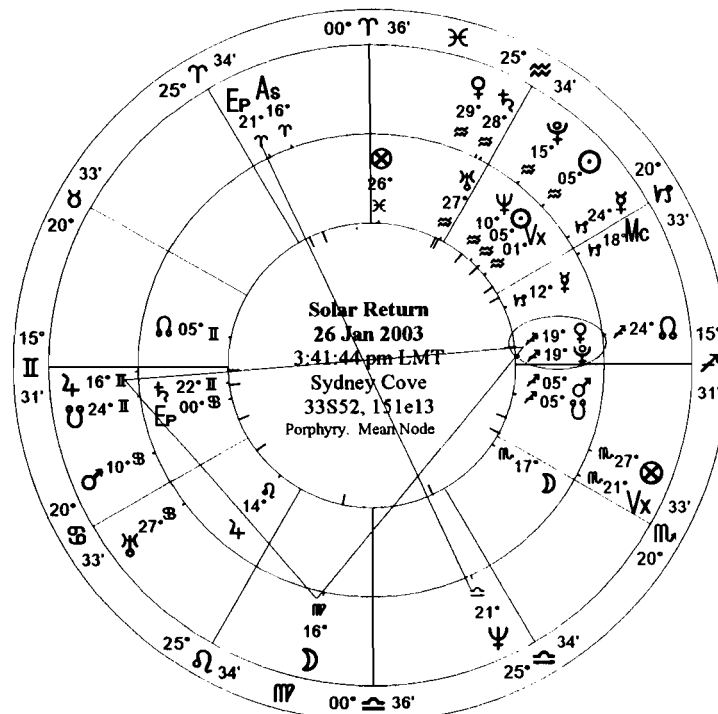

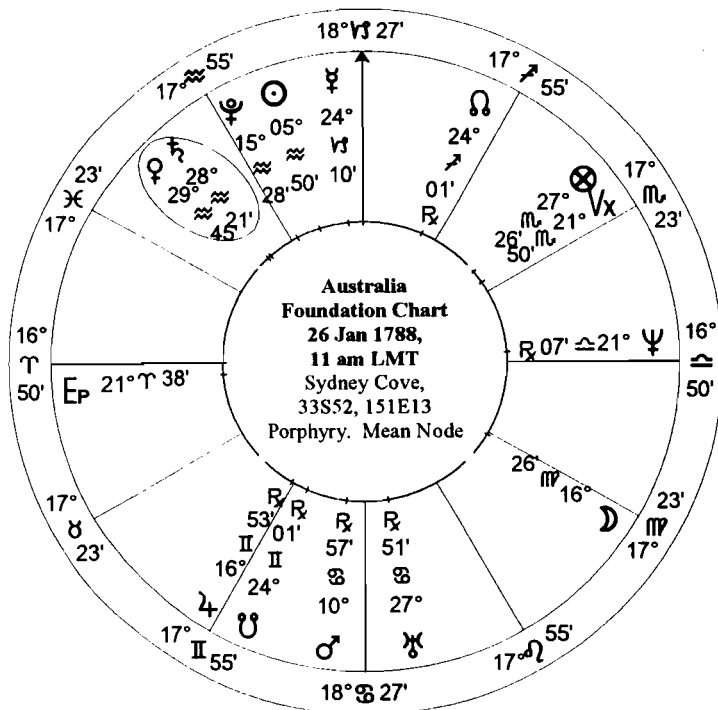

Australia, particularly in the Eastern States, is in the grip of a real estate boom. Both developers and private buyers are rushing to buy up land as if their lives depended on it. The boom started about March this year and is shown by Direction in the National Chart of Australia (next page).

As can be seen, Saturn (Land & Buildings) is closely conjoined with Venus which, very appropriately, was Directed by converse Vertical-Arc to the exact trine of Saturn on 27 March 2002: 28Ge21—28Aq21.

By the same Vertex Arc Jupiter trines Pluto in the National Chart just a few days later (April 1st). This augments the boom as it relates very much to the handling of big projects such as large property developments in an "over-heated" market.

The situation is depicted in amplified fashion in the current Solar Return (next page):

Jupiter in the House of Properties is squared by Mars from the 1st House. Mars also rules this House which relates to the Nation and its people as a whole. Mars square Jupiter in the 4th House is very pertinent to an enlargement of the property market.

Furthermore, it can be seen that this is mostly for investment purposes as Mars sextiles the Sun ruling the 5th House (Investments).

The conjunction of Venus and Neptune, so close to the Sun in the House of Hopes and Wishes shows that there is a good deal of illusion and wishful thinking here. If the market goes flat or even down, a lot of people will lose a lot of money—not so much the

Inner Wheel: Solar Return, 26 Jan 2003 3:41:44pm LMT at Birth Place
Outer Wheel: Australia, 26 Jan 1788, 11:00 am LMT, Sydney Cove, Australia.

Mundane Direction using the Natal Solar Rate.) This will do nothing towards moderating the buying splurge. Quite the contrary, in fact. The Sun rules the House of Investments. Jupiter (which enlarges) occupies the House of Land and Properties.

However, the next (Standard) Solar Return for the year 26 January 2003—26 January 2004 shows there will be a downturn next year. The Chart is above, with the Radix surrounding it.

What is obvious immediately is the conjunction of Venus and Pluto opposed by Radical Jupiter across the Horizon—a powerful placement—while the natal Moon completes a T-Square. Venus rules the House of Properties and also the House of Disappointments and Self-undoing. Pluto destroys. This is sufficient to demolish the hopes of many an optimistic investor who paid too much for what seemed so desirable. But there is more bad news: Neptune on the Cusp of the Investments House very closely opposes the Natal Equatorial Ascendant (EP). Neptune is a prime producer of disappointment and loss.

The next question is, when can we expect the collapse or downturn?

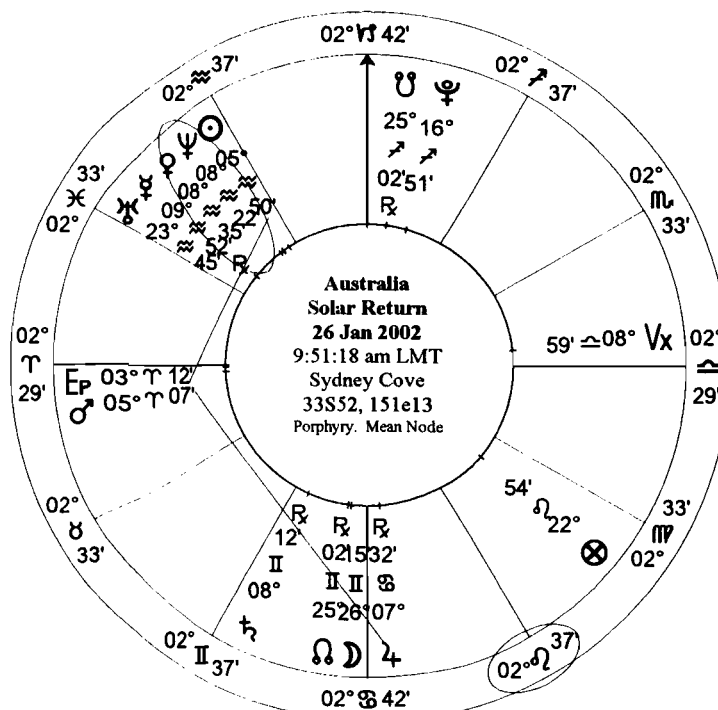

Further investigation of the Directions and Progressions reveals that March and April next year is a likely period.

On 14th March 2003 Jupiter in the National Chart Progresses to the square of Neptune (21Cn07—21Li07). At 21Cn07 Jupiter is practically on the 4th Cusp (land values) and its square to Neptune indicates collapse of prices and financial loss.

A month later, on 17th April 2003, Jupiter squares Saturn by Vertex-Arc Direction compounding the downturn. Jupiter and Saturn together signify real estate. The adverse link between them can only have an unhappy outcome. □

My kind regards to all,

Dymock, 5 October 2002.

developers as those ordinary home-owners who thought they sensed a great bargain. Unbelievable prices have been paid for some properties.

What then are the market prospects? Looking further at the Directions and Progressions I see that next month the Sun is conjunct Jupiter by Primary Direction on 22nd October) (Solar Fire Primary

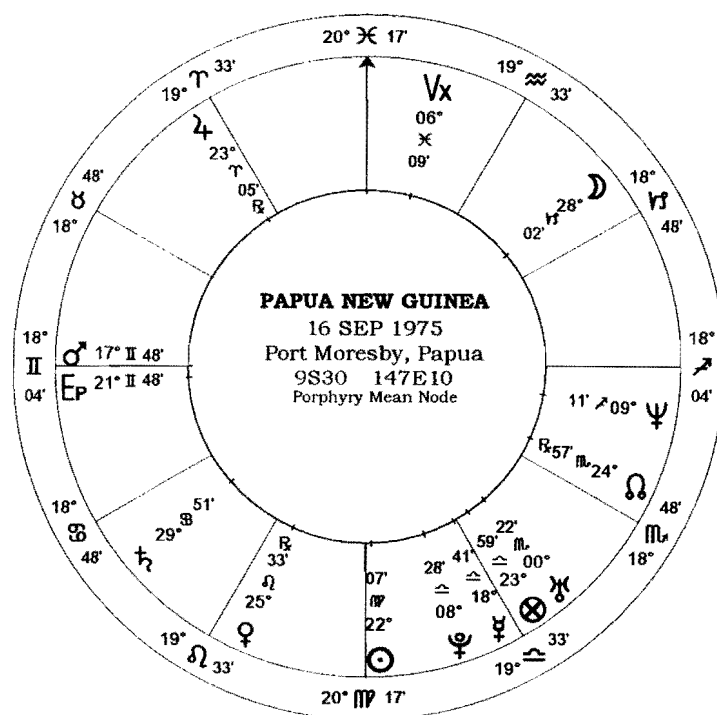

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au.
 Issue 254 September 2002

A NATION IN CRISIS

By Allan Johnson

The Nation in question, according to the latest news, is Papua New Guinea (PNG) the former Australian colony which has been an independent Nation since 1975. It is now said to be very near collapse from within. It has no external enemies. It has now called on Michael Somare who was the original founding father 27 years ago to take over the corrupted economy. Can he succeed? I don't have any birth details for Somare but Nicholas Campion does give the PNG Chart in his World Book of Horoscopes. So at this time it is worth looking at it. It is for 16th September 1975, 0.0 hours at the Capital, Port Moresby.

The first thing to notice about this Chart is that Mars at 17°48' is right on the Ascendant in Gemini and that transiting Pluto has been right on the Opposition degree earlier this year, showing how "spot on" astrology can be. In addition natal Mars makes the square to the Sun in the 4th House. So this set-up will continue till Pluto squares the natal Sun in 2004. There will be no immediate solutions. But seeing that Mars is in Gemini we should expect a "war of words" rather than any great amount of violence. And Natal Mars does make the trine to Mercury.

Looking at the Chart as a whole we see Pisces on the MC and Mutable Angles, so the new Nation was destined for fluctuating fortunes and its weakness has been corruption in financial matters. But can a

In This Issue...

	Page
A Nation in Crisis.....	1
Test 69.....	1
"Certainty" in Astrology, and Other Matters	2
Transiting Aspects 12 Sep—15 Oct 2002.....	3
Test 70.....	4
Democrats Debacle.....	4

whole nation really go bankrupt? The main configuration is the Grand Cross, with Saturn, Jupiter, Moon, Uranus, and it is in the financial Houses. Saturn in the 2nd House is very close to an exact square to Uranus. This is not good in any body's chart! As well as corruption there has been a lot of mismanagement. On the other hand the Grand Cross can make for stability. The original Constitution was set up on the Westminster model and this has been retained. There has been no slide into dictatorship as happens in a lot of new countries. Pisces on the MC shows the high ideals and visionary attitudes the founders had, but Pisces is not noted for its practicality. Mars on the Ascendant can equate with very sudden and dramatic changes of policy. Never a dull moment.

Looking at the Progressions we find The Sun conjunct Natal Mercury. Again we get the accent on talk and communication rather than violence. Also, Progressed Mars makes the quincunx to the Moon in the 8th House. All very appropriate for the ending of a chapter and of course this is confirmed by the Transits of Pluto over Mars and the Sun. This must mark a very big transformation, but it is not being done by some hot-headed dictator. Rather it is being done by a former Prime Minister and some of his associates are also men of experience. So it is an appeal to the past—very Plutonic. I don't see a lot of violence resulting from Pluto transiting Mars, but rather a lot of emphasis on discipline in the army and the police. This has been where the Country has been most vulnerable. □

TEST 69 – REPORT

TEST 69 concerned a woman born in Sydney, Australia, (33S52, 151E13) on 9th October 1961, at 1:20 am. (Asc 20Cn57, MC 10Ta39, Moon 2Li10). The Test was to determine which of the following five events was the one that actually occurred in her life on November 19, 2001.

1. She became engaged.
2. She was married.
3. She had a baby.
4. She signed a contract for a house.
5. She joined a computer firm.

The answer is No. 3—the woman had a baby. (It was a boy.)

There were thirty-four respondents (eighteen women, sixteen men) of whom nine found the correct answer at the first attempt. It is interesting that all but one of these were women. Most of the men opted for the house. Does this say anything about the dominant interests/concerns of women and men?

Of the others, nine settled for No. 4 (house), six for No. 1 (engaged), five for No. 2 (marriage) and five for No. 5 (computer firm).

Methods used by those successful at the first attempt were the following:

The Age Harmonic was used by Mignon Halford (NSW, Australia), Sontaya Pruenglampoo (Thailand) Shirley Gray (Michigan, USA) and Donna May (Wisconsin).

(See Harmonic Chart in adjacent column.)

The 45° Dial was used by Gesine Edding (Germany) who noted the determining Transit on 19th November of Venus/Pluto = Moon/Jupiter.

Shamira (South Australia) found the answer from the Annual Profected Chart which put the 5th House (birth) on the Ascendant.

Here is a note on Profections from information supplied by silvamom@senet.com.au:

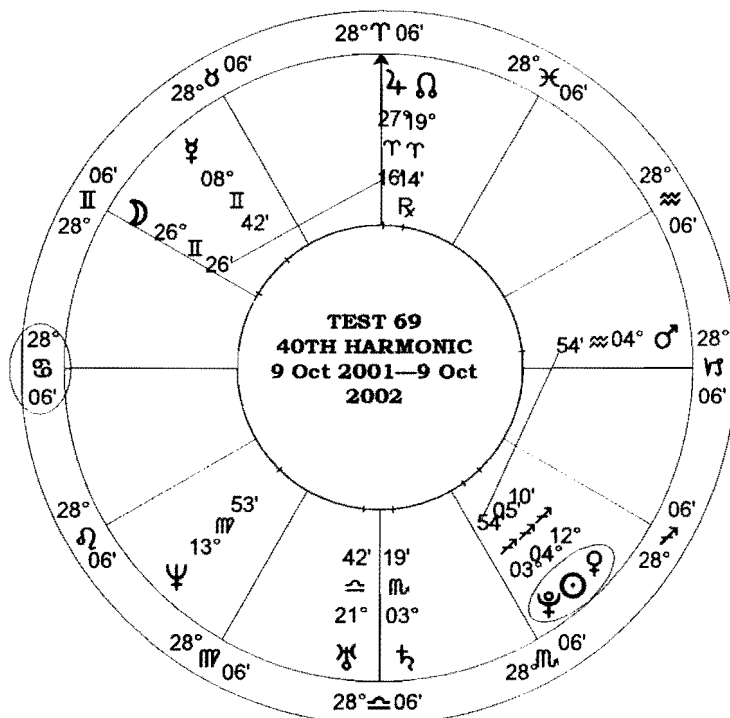

In the Profection System, the Ascendant advances by one Sign for each successive Solar Year (birthday to birthday) in the subject's life. For example at age 5, five Houses added to the 1st House bring the 6th House to the Ascendant and matters pertinent to that House will be featured in the following 12 months. For adult years, say age 40, as in the present Test, subtract the highest multiple of 12 included in 40 and add the balance to House 1. Thus, 40–36 = 4. 4 added to House 1 gives the 5th House. Birth, a 5th House matter, was the correct answer.

Vedic Astrology provided the correct answer for Fenneke Monchen (Holland), Ron Day (Qld, Australia) and Birgit Daub (Germany).

Congratulations to all who attempted the exercise, whether successful or not. They have demonstrated their willingness to put their techniques to the test and learn much in the process. Those who weren't immediately successful should remember that much more is learned from failing than from succeeding.

In the 40th Harmonic Chart (next column) that the event was a birth is decided even without the addition of the Radix:

- Pluto, the Sun and Venus in the 5th House (children, births) immediately draws attention.
- Cancer rises (children, births).
- Ruler, the Moon, sextiles Jupiter at the MC (fruitfulness, productivity).
- Mars, Ruler of the 5th House sextile Pluto in that House (birth). □

"CERTAINTY" IN ASTROLOGY and Other Matters

One of the regular participants in these Astrologers' Forum Tests has written asking if a good astrologer can be absolutely sure of his solution; and on what grounds; and what would be his/her method of operating.

An astrologer may feel absolutely sure he/she is right, because of the available evidence, and yet be wrong. One can only draw on one's experience and knowledge of techniques to arrive at reasonable certainty in any situation. Even the most well-informed and skilful of astrologers can be mistaken on occasion for any of a variety of reasons. The percentage of errors decreases as experience increases. The same applies to every other field of human endeavour—science, medicine, finance, meteorology, archaeology, politics, economics, etc. Astrology as a science and art can be reckoned at least as successful and generally much more so than the other fields mentioned.

My impression from conducting these "Tests" over a number of years is that many errors arise through the astrologer not identifying the most important features of a chart but getting sidetracked by numerous subsidiary factors that don't have the power to affect the main issue.

My own experience has led me to the conclusion that an orb of NOT MORE THAN ONE DEGREE between any two factors in a chart is of first importance. It nearly always outweighs all other considerations. Simply looking in the first place for conjunctions and Aspects between planets or between planets and Cusps with these minimum orbs will frequently give a direct line on the answer.

The question arises here, what system of Cusps to use? As there is still no consensus on this matter each must investigate the problem for himself—whether to use Placidus (a general favourite), Regiomontanus (used by William Lilly), Topocentric (introduced last Century by Polich and Page), Koch (once hailed as the answer), Equal House (for those who have given up the struggle), Alcabitius, Campanus, Meridian, Morinus, etc.

My own choice after years of comparing charts drawn by different systems is Porphyry, though I favour also Alcabitius which is a close runner. My only criterion for judging the comparative value of the different systems is HOW CLOSE do the relevant Significators come to the Cusps (not just the Angles). This is the only factor I have found to be worth bothering about and not whether you have a certain planet in this House or that House. The door is not yet closed but until I find an improvement on Porphyry that is where I stand.

It should be mentioned there are those who don't use House Cusps at all (e.g., cosmobiologists and Uranians). This I see as imposing an unnecessary handicap on oneself.

There are those also who don't use the "modern" planets Uranus, Neptune and Pluto, in the apparent belief that the Astrology of the Ancients supplied all that is necessary. I see this, too, as naïve and another unnecessary handicap.

At the other end of the scale, there are the eight so-called "hypothetical" planets introduced by the Uranians. But, far more complicated, there are literally hundreds of Asteroids that asteroid enthusiasts employ in reading Charts. Asteroids have on one or two occasions been used successfully in finding the correct answer to the Tests. It is a question of balance—do the results justify the complications?

I am prepared to withstand the howls of wrath and explosive indignation that my remarks may provoke. I believe it right to express my views after 60 years of Astrology and allow others to tear at them if they will.

The questioner also asked, in effect, what is the best methodology for finding the answer to the Tests?

Is there a "best" one? The experience of the Tests has shown that correct answers can be found from a variety of methods. The skill of the practitioner in any particular technique is probably the dominant factor.

However, my experience is that in general the most useful and reliable technique is Age Harmonics, to which I was introduced by Ross Harvey (Australian astrologer) nearly two decades ago. I still regard it as the greatest advance in Astrology of the last Century, yet it is largely ignored by or unknown to modern practitioners despite continued demonstrations of its efficacy in the pages of this Journal. At my instigation, numerous astrologers have investigated it and have been astonished at the results, the Harmonic Charts often showing events not otherwise accounted for astrologically. Age Harmonics are not the same as the simple Harmonics about which John Addey wrote in 1976 but are a development from them of great practical utility.

I suggest to all that if you have an accurate birth time, apply Harmonics to your own Chart for significant years of your life, and judge for yourself. Write or e-mail me if you want further information and I shall be happy to supply it. The Harmonic Chart is viewed on its own and also in conjunction with the Birth Figure, just like a Solar Return. □

TRANSITING ASPECTS

15 SEP—15 OCT 2002

(For Aspects before September 15 see the August Issue.)

September 2002

Sep. 16. The Sun is sesquare (135°) to Neptune, which may account for some missed pleasure or little disappointment that you may suffer.

Sep. 18. The Sun is semisquare Jupiter, so tread carefully when contacting officialdom or the boss. Mercury trines the North Node and Mars squares it within two hours of each other. Exchange ideas and share common interests but beware of disputes and domestic upsets.

Sep. 19. Sun quincunx Uranus: Be adaptable to a change and see how it adds interest to the daily routine.

Sep. 20. Venus square Neptune: The pangs of unrequited love should urge you to look around at other desirable contacts. Your immune system will be down so guard against infection.

Sep. 21. Mercury sesquare Uranus may bring unwelcome news or some small matter that goes wrong. Perhaps there is something to learn from it.

Sep. 22. A trio of significant Aspects come to exactitude today: Mercury sextile Jupiter helps your intellectual grasp and the smooth flowing of speech and writing. The Sun square Saturn tests your patience as it seems to frustrate your best efforts.

Mars square Pluto gives extra drive and energy but adds a propensity to accidents, so take care.

Sep. 24. Mercury trine Neptune encourages flights of fancy and enhances your receptivity for imaginative literature and films.

Sep. 24. Venus square Jupiter brings a relaxed, self-indulgent mood and the urge for enjoyment. Perhaps you deserve it, but fulfil your obligations as well as satisfying your hedonistic desires.

Sep. 27. Venus quincunx the Node is apt to introduce disharmony into groups or with some special person. Being aware of it you may be able to divert the adverse energies.

Sep. 28. The Sun conjunct Mercury will help you get rid of any backlog of paperwork, writing assignments, correspondence or overdue phone calls. It is a favourable time for talks, lectures, discussions and study.

Sep. 30. Jupiter sextile the N.Node is fortunate generally, bringing advantage in your business or work, a new friendship or beneficial contact, and often financial gain.

October 2002

Oct. 1. Venus sesquare Saturn: A relationship trouble could leave you disturbed and unhappy. It is just one of life's little hurdles. Time smoothes it out.

Oct. 2. The Sun trine Neptune sensitises you so that you are highly aware and receptive to all impressions. It helps greatly with inspiration in any form of creative work. It could be an idyllic period when sought-after goals are attained.

Oct. 4. The Sun sesquare Uranus: Keep your equanimity even in the face of a minor disruptive element. You may learn something useful.

Mercury square Saturn: Difficulties or delays in communication can be a trouble. Watch for mistakes in documents and watch how you move so as to avoid falls, knocks and bruises.

Oct. 5. The Sun trine the N.Node could bring you a new agreeable contact. It is a favourable Aspect for fellowship, establishing good relations and joining in cooperative ventures.

Mars sesquare Neptune often signifies misdirected energy. Take a close look at what you are doing.

Oct. 6. The Sun sextile Jupiter brings you rewards for previous efforts—achievement, success, recognition, etc. It can also bring opportunities for exhibiting generosity of spirit and deed.

Oct. 7. Mercury Stationary at 28Vi20. If Mercury at this point contacts a Significator in a chart it will induce thought, talk and effort about the matters relating to the Significator. Mercury is now turning Direct from being Retrograde, so matters that were held up may now go forward.

Oct. 8. Mars quincunx Uranus: Avoid little mishaps by being careful and deliberate, not impulsive and sudden in what you are doing.

Oct. 9. Sun sextile Pluto: This increases your feeling of inner strength and effectiveness so that you tend towards leadership and dominance.

Oct. 10. Mercury square Saturn: See Oct. 4 above.

Oct. 11. Venus Stationary at 15Sc36 brings warmth of feeling to any Significator it contacts. Conjunct the Sun or Moon it often heralds a love affair.

Saturn Stationary at 29Ge05 brings a serious, responsible attitude to matters that it affects.

Oct. 14. Mars square Saturn though usually associated with toil and difficulties has the benefit of inducing precision in work.

Mars semisquare Jupiter tends to exuberant feelings which give zest to life. Just avoid being precipitate. □

TEST NO. 70

Astrologers world-wide are finding out that each of these monthly exercises are a valuable learning experience.

Test No. 70 concerns a woman born on 16th October 1939 in a suburb of Sydney, Australia, (33S53, 151E06) at 3:30 am. (Asc 10Vi10, MC 17Ge59, Moon 29Sc23.)

The question is: Which of the five possible events listed below occurred in her life on 27th July 2002?

1. She left on an overseas trip.
2. Her brother died.
3. She was hospitalised with a serious illness.
4. She bought a new house.
5. She remarried.

Please send your answers to me not later than 20th September with the astrological basis for your decision—the crucial Aspect, Half-Sum, Planetary Picture, etc., that determined your answer. Extensive supporting analysis is not required.

Post to The Editor, Astrologers' Forum, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor 5073 Australia, or E-mail to dymock@ozemail.com.au.

The correct answer will be published in next month's Issue (October), but everyone who posts an attempt at the Test will receive a personal reply.

DEMOCRATS' DEBACLE

The Australian Democrats, a small but significant Party in National Politics has come into a critical time. Dissension in the ranks has split the Party and led to the resignation of its Leader, Senator Natasha Stott Despoja. Many are wondering if the Party is finished as a significant force in Australian politics.

By courtesy of Esoteric Technologies we have the Figure below for the genesis of the Party:

A striking feature of the Chart is Neptune rising, in exact-to-the-minute trine to the Culminating Degree. This accords well with the idealistic aims of the Party. Unfortunately, however, the Sun ruling the 10th House is in close opposition to Uranus and square to an elevated Saturn, signalling leadership troubles. Most Australians will remember the shock that threw the Party into turmoil when the Party Leader, Cheryl Kernot, defected to the Labor Party in October 1997.

The present debacle is astrologically documented by Pluto Stationary at 14Sg54 right on the MC of the Radix. The situation is still more graphically and powerfully portrayed by the Harmonic Chart 25.25 (month July 29—Aug. 29, 2002) where the Radical Sun—Uranus opposition lies exactly across the Horizon of the Chart and the Moon closely conjoins Pluto, both in 20° of Virgo.

So what of the future? I envisage an unsettled period for the next two months: In September the Node opposes the Sun by Vertex-Arc Direction. In October Stationary Saturn squares Mars and Stationary Neptune squares the Sun. In November the Harmonic Chart shows the Floating MC conjunct Pluto and r.Uranus. But a new phase of leadership will commence about 16 December when Jupiter conjuncts Mercury by Asc-Arc Direction and the Month-Harmonic has the Floating MC conjunct Jupiter and Pluto in Scorpio.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock.

1 September 2002.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.
 Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $A20 in Australia, $A25 overseas.
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Phone: [61 08] 8336 1956, E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au.
 Issue 253 August 2002

PREDICTING ELECTIONS

Predicting the outcome of national elections is popular among astrologers though not always attended by success. Most of those who attempt it have their preferred methods but these are often restricted by the available data. One method that stands up well is by referring to the current Progressions, Directions and Cyclic Charts of the main protagonists. Unfortunately, more often than not accurate birth data are not available and then one has the task of attempting in short time to rectify the Birth Chart and base a prediction on it. Obviously, the success of this method is highly dependent on the astrologer's skill in rectification as well as in predicting.

Another method is by casting a Horary Chart and taking the 1st House as that of the incumbent Office bearer and the 7th House as that of the opposing party. The 10th and 4th Houses relate respectively to the success of the incumbent and of the opposing party. Unlike other Horary Charts, the querent (the astrologer) stands aside and is not represented in the Chart. This method is highly dependent on the astrologer's ability to grasp the right moment for setting the Chart—when it has taken hold in his mind after a good deal of thinking and involvement in the issue at hand. The method is not to be scorned. It is often used very successfully.

Another method again is to set the chart for the capital city of the country and the time of either the opening or the closing of the polls. Both methods have been used with success though in the past I have found the time for the closing of the polls to be the more indicative. A disadvantage of this method is that the times can vary by hours in a big country. In Australia, for instance, there is a two-hour variation between the standard times of the East and West Coasts. In the USA the times vary by as much as three hours. Which time is one to choose? A way around this difficulty is to use the time of the polls opening and closing in the nation's capital city. Another way is to select that state or district of the country that experience has shown is the deciding factor in the result. Thus, in the USA the fate of an election is mostly determined on the voting of the Eastern States. A decisive result there is not likely to be upset by contrary trends in the other States.

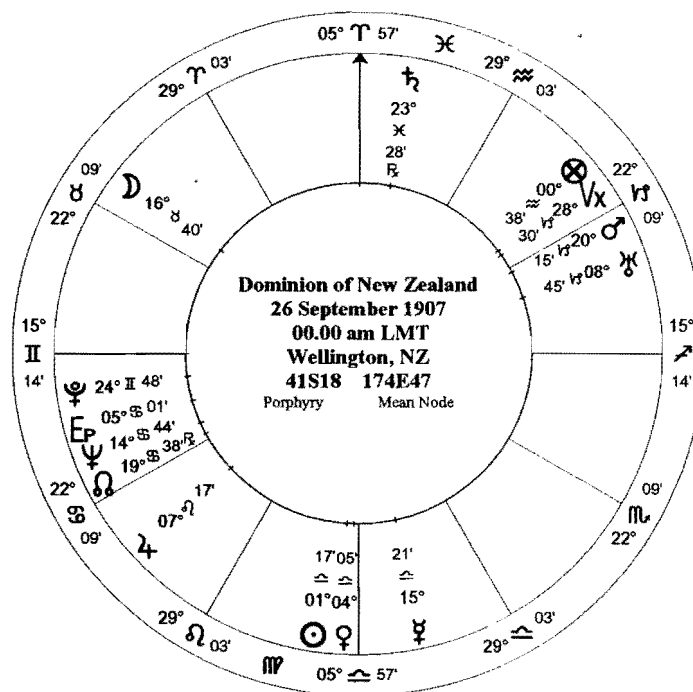

Still another approach to finding the result of a national election is to use the country's birth chart and judge whether the prevailing astrological factors suggest a stable government or a change. This method is dependent on having a reliable Radix to start with, which may present a problem, such as in the USA where opinions still differ widely as to what is the best Figure for the Country as a whole. I have made my own choice in the matter as readers will

In This Issue...

	Page
Predicting Elections.....	1
Ukraine Air Disaster.....	2
Test 68 — Report.....	3
Transiting Aspects 12 Aug—15 Sep 2002.....	4
Test 69.....	4

know and do not intend to go further into that at the moment.

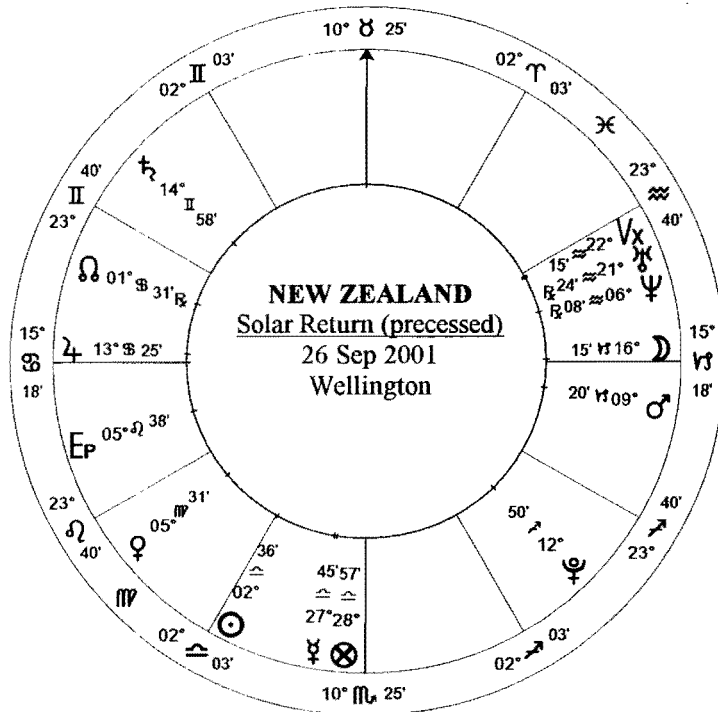

A case in point is the National Election in New Zealand on 27th July where the issue is already clear. We are again indebted to Nicholas Campion's The Book of World Horoscopes for the Radix of New Zealand—the date when it became an independent Nation by the granting of Dominion status within the British Empire at 00.00 hrs on 26 September 1907. Here it is:

The background to the Election is this: The New Zealand Prime Minister, Helen Clark, has held Office for three years and was hoping with this Election to increase her vote so that her Party (Labour) could govern in its own right without having to form a Coalition. In the outcome, Helen Clark is indeed returned for a second three-year term and the main Opposition Party has lost ground. Nevertheless the Prime Minister is without the absolute majority she wanted and is still obliged to seek the support of one of the minor Parties.

The precessed Solar Return of 26 Sep 2001—26 Sep 2002) portrays this situation very well:

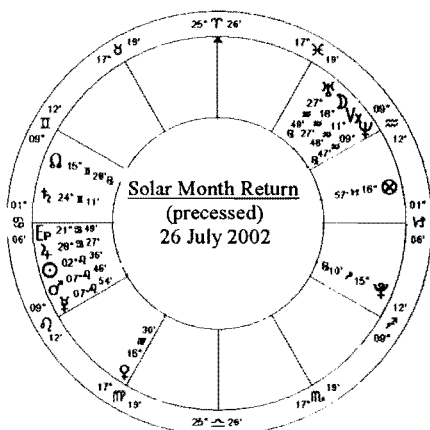

It is clear that the established Government will win (Jupiter in its Exaltation conjunct the Ascendant).

That the Opposition Party will lose is confirmed by the Moon on 7th Cusp opposed by Jupiter (out of favour with the electors, and the 7th-Cusp Ruler, Saturn, is opposed by destructive Pluto).

On the other hand a disadvantage for the Government (1st House) is that its Ruler, the Moon, occupies the 7th House and is in its Fall, which implies that the Government is to some extent under the authority of and dependent on another Party to form Government).

The outcome of the Election is shown again in the Solar Month Return (below):

The Sun conjunct Jupiter and Mars rising is a clear indication of victory for the Government.

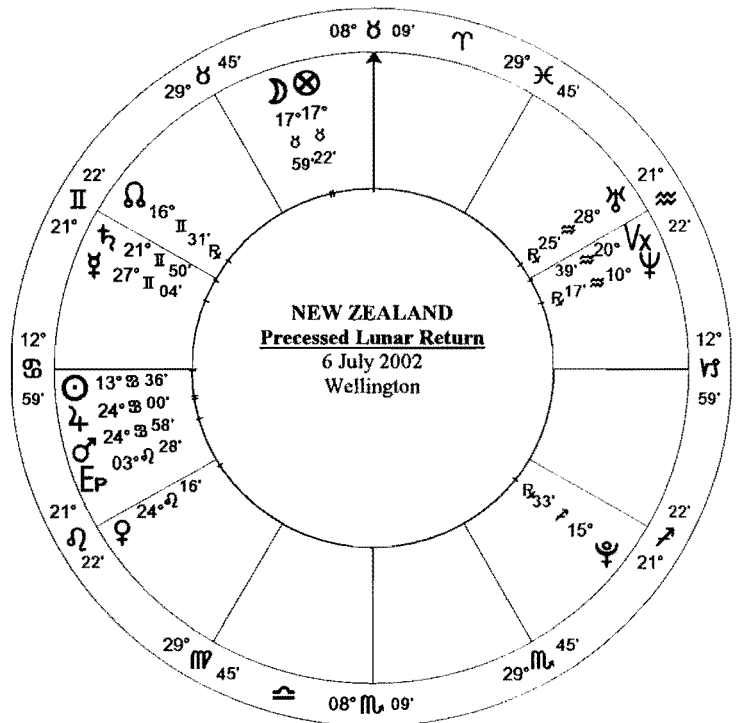

Lunar Return

(Chart next column)
Victory for the Government is even more clearly depicted in the precessed Lunar Return of 6 July 2002 not only with the Sun, Jupiter and Mars rising but also the Moon Ruling the Ascendant closely conjoined with Fortuna in the 10th House, while Saturn, ruling the 7th House (the Opposition Party), is right on the Cusp of the House of Misfortunes.

So it seems that the Cyclic Charts of a Nation can also be a guide to the fortunes of the government at election times.

Carrying this idea further we might apply it to major events in the daily life of a country, for instance the appalling disaster at the aerial display in Lviv, Ukraine, on 27th July. An aircraft out of control plunged into the the ground killing 83 spectators and injuring about 100 others.

Ukraine declared its Independence from Russia on 1st December 1991. This would be its Birth Chart set for 0.0 Hrs. at the capital, Kiev:

A DAY CHART for the aircraft tragedy at Lviv (Lvov) on 27th July appears on the next page. A review of the important Aspects reveals that this was one of the worst possible days that could be selected for an aerial display: Mars is closely opposed by Neptune and rules both the Ascendant and the House of Deaths. This is clearly a situation of loss (Neptune) and deaths of people (Mars, 1st and 8th Houses).

Just as bad, or worse, is the Pluto-Node opposition on the 9th-3rd axis (travel and movement). Ebertin The Combination of Stellar Influences hit the nail right on the head here with his interpretation: A common and tragic destiny shared with other persons.

Still another adverse portent is Uranus (aircraft) closely square Fortuna in the House of Deaths.

So this method may be used in a limited way for prediction as, for instance, when a special day is coming up for a fair, a parade, a spectacle, etc., the planetary dispositions on the day in relation to the national chart will indicate whether the prospects are good or bad for the occasion. □

TEST 68—REPORT

Test No. 68 concerned a man born in Holland on

22nd July 1964, 2:30 pm CET, at Scheveningen (52N06, 4E170). (Birth Chart above)

The question was which of the following events occurred in his life on the 8th of May 1983:

1. He was involved in a serious traffic accident.
2. His father died.
3. He won a table-tennis tournament.
4. He went on a trip around the world.
5. He met the woman whom he eventually married.

At the time of the event he was living in Oudelande, 51N25, 3E51.

Correct answer: He was involved in a serious traffic accident. He and some friends were driving home from a party. They all had drunk too much and the subject's older brother who was driving lost control. The car ended up in a ditch and the subject was thrown out and badly injured. He was unconscious for about six weeks. It took him years to recover slowly.

There were thirty two responses from countries around the world – USA, Canada, United Kingdom, Netherlands, Thailand, Germany, Belgium, Romania, Slovenia, Czechoslovakia, Israel, India, Butan(?), Singapore and Australia. Thirteen respondents found the correct answer at the first attempt. The principal techniques they used were:

Age Harmonic – Mignon Halford (NSW, Australia), Sjakkie Govers (Netherlands), Ross Harvey (NSW, Australia), Sontaya Pruenglampoo (Thailand).

Transits – Srecko Slavec (Yugoslavia), Pingo (Czechoslovakia), Gary McKenzie (Qld), Shamira Shakira (SA, Australia).

Vedic Astrology: Hughes Goh (Singapore), Ron Day (Qld, Australia), Margarita (Belgium).

Tertiary Progressions: Christopher Kevill (Canada).

Planetary Pictures: (90° Dial) Teresa Linek (Ohio).

Congratulations to all who attempted the Test and sent a response whether or not they found the correct answer.

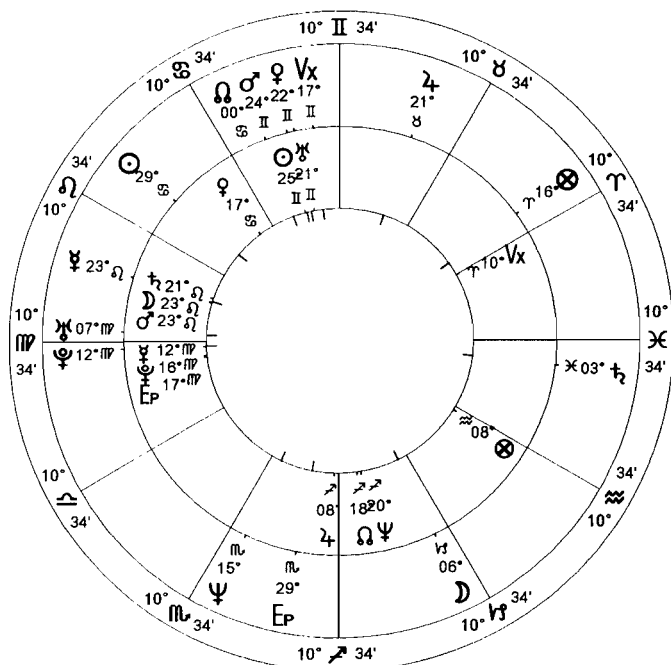

Probably the most graphic representation of the traffic accident is in the Chart (on the next page) of the Age Harmonic 18.75 (for the month 22nd April—22nd May, 1983. It is depicted by —

- Mercury ruling the Ascendant (physical body) conjunct Pluto.
- Mars (ruling the 3rd Cusp, Roads and Transport) conjunct Moon and Saturn.
- Uranus conjunct the Sun opposite Neptune (shock and loss of consciousness).

The stay in hospital is shown by the adverse conjunction in the 12th House and the afflicted Sun ruling that House. Saturn in the 12th House rules the 6th (health and illness).

The above is more than sufficient, but further powerful indications are apparent if you put the Birth Figure around the Age Harmonic:

- h.Ascendant conjunct N.Uranus and Pluto;
- h.Mars, Moon and Saturn conjunct N.Mercury;
- h.POF on the Health & Illness Cusp square N. Ascendant on the Cusp of Roads and Traffic. □

Inner Wheel: Test 68-Male, Age Harmonic 18.75 (22nd April—22nd May, 1983) (Porphyry Mean Node)

Outer Wheel: Test 68, Birth Chart, 22 July 1964

TRANSITING ASPECTS 16 AUG—15 SEP 2002

August 2002

Aug 16. Mercury square Pluto: Very suitable for intense mental work and investigation. Improves your concentration.

Aug 16. Venus trine Neptune: Fosters appreciation of art and music and helps you to be more keenly aware of subtleties in love or life.

Aug. 20. Sun sextile Saturn: This is a steadying and stabilizing influence. Attend to obligations, duties or jobs that you may have neglected. An appropriate time also to sort, clean, discard, and organize.

Aug. 21. Saturn trine Uranus: Take what opportunity offers to vary the routine of life and make it more interesting. Be alive to innovations, new ways of doing things, etc.

Aug. 22. Venus sextile Pluto: This heightens emotional expression and makes relationships more intense. It also stimulates artistic sensibilities so that you could very much enjoy a dramatic play or film. Working with computers goes smoothly.

Aug. 24. Mars opposite Uranus: The energy stirred up by this Aspect should be directed into a constructive channel. It might otherwise result in conflict, verbal or otherwise. Use all care to avoid accidents or mishaps on the road, and with machinery, electric appliances, etc.

Aug. 24. Mercury square Saturn: Plan and organize; establish a routine; and attend to paper-work, correspondence, notebooks, reports, etc. Make yourself do the unattractive or tedious matters in your life that need to be done.

Aug. 25. Mars sextile Saturn: Steady work brings benefits and the satisfaction of gaining practical results. Use your energy for jobs that require patience and persistence.

Aug. 26. Pluto Stationary at 14Sag54, turning Direct. If in your personal Chart you have any Significator around 15° of Sagittarius, Gemini, Virgo or Pisces this will be a significant turning point for you. Prepare to find a matter relating to your Significator and the position it holds in your Horoscope being altered irrevocably or even passing out of your life altogether. This is a step in your personal development. It is best to accept the trend and not try to maintain the old order of things at all costs. Pluto will have its way whatever you do. If you have a Significator at 15° of Aries or Leo (having a trine angle to transiting Pluto) something similar to the above can be expected but easier to handle.

September 2002

Sep. 3. Mercury sextile Jupiter: An ideal influence for the deployment of your mental abilities on matters such as reading, studying, attending talks and lectures, conversing with friends on a wide range of subjects, and in general broadening your mental horizon.

Sep. 4. Venus trine Uranus: Enjoy the excitement and pleasure that comes from a new personal contact or a new interest.

Sep. 5. Mercury trine Neptune: This will enhance your intuitive perceptions, even bring enlightenment over some matter that had puzzled you. Follow your inspirations. Enjoy imaginative literature, films, TV, etc.

Sep. 6. Venus trine Saturn: Appreciate the value of order, organization, loyalty, the enduring love of another, and the good, stable things in your life.

Sep. 8. Sun square Pluto: This planetary link often coincides with a personal crisis affecting one's work, career or personal relationships. It can be temporarily disturbing but ultimately beneficial. Perceive the evolutionary processes at work and cooperate rather than struggle against them. If you are much involved with computers you may expect some trouble with them at this time.

Sep. 11. Jupiter opposite Neptune: Your state of mind may be such that you are revelling in flights of imagination and fantasy. This is an escape from everyday normality and tedium (providing welcome relief for the mind) and may be beneficial provided you do not confuse your fantasies with fact. Don't invest just now, or take any financial risk. Be aware that your judgement at present is probably faulty so avoid committing yourself to long-term links or projects of any description.

Sep. 15. Mercury Stationary at 13Lib01, turning Retrograde. Mercury remains retrograde until 7th October, a period that is likely to be visited with errors and delays in communications and travel, so take all care in those respects. If Mercury is Stationary on a Significator in your Chart it will bring to your attention matters associated with the Significator and its place in your Horoscope. Rational thought and reasoning may be called for. □

TEST 69

Here is another Test to hone your skills. It concerns a woman born in Sydney, Australia, (33S52, 151E13) on 9th October 1961, at 1:20 am. (Asc 20Cn57, MC 10Ta39, Moon 2Li10)

One of the following events occurred in her life on November 19, 2001. Which event was it?

1. She became engaged.
2. She was married.
3. She had a baby.
4. She signed a contract for a house.
5. She joined a computer firm.

This type of exercise is great for learning how to distinguish the correct event from different possibilities of Houses and planets in a Chart. Please send your answers to me by 20th August with a brief statement of the astrological factors that determined your decision. There is no need to write an essay or include supporting evidence from more than one technique.

The results will be reported in the September Issue, but before that all respondents will receive the solution and a worked method of finding it.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock.
31 July 2002.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events.

Annual Subscription: $15 Aust. for e-mail copies world-wide; hard copies $20 in Australia, Overseas: $25 (Aust. currency)
Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. Phone: 08 8336 1956. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au.
Issue 252 July 2002

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

BUSH FIRES IN THE USA

The tremendous bush fires engulfing huge tracts of Arizona and Colorado had fallen out of the news recently until a huge flare-up on June 29 drew attention once again to this unprecedented fire storm. "In little more than a week, the largest fire in Arizona's recorded history has destroyed at least 423 homes, making it one of the most destructive ever in the western United States. It forced about 30,000 evacuations in nine different communities and left twisted, melted skeletons of homes in its wake" (The Australian).

Every event has its astrological indicators yet little has apparently been advanced by astrologers relating to the celestial correlations of these huge fires. My own researches suggest that for major events like this cyclic charts derived from the National Horoscope of the USA are the best indicators. At the same time I find they present further evidence that the Chart with 12°16' of Sagittarius rising is truly representative of the Nation.

The Age Harmonic for June 2002, the month of the Bush Fires, when set with the above National Chart around it (next column) provides ample evidence of the fiery destruction:

Naturally, we look for Mars, the Lord of Fires. In the Harmonic Chart it is in the Midheaven conjunct the Node and square to Mercury on the Ascendant. The Moon's Node conjoining Mars is a powerful emphasis. The square to Mercury in the 1st House connotes the struggle and difficulties of the people affected by the fires.

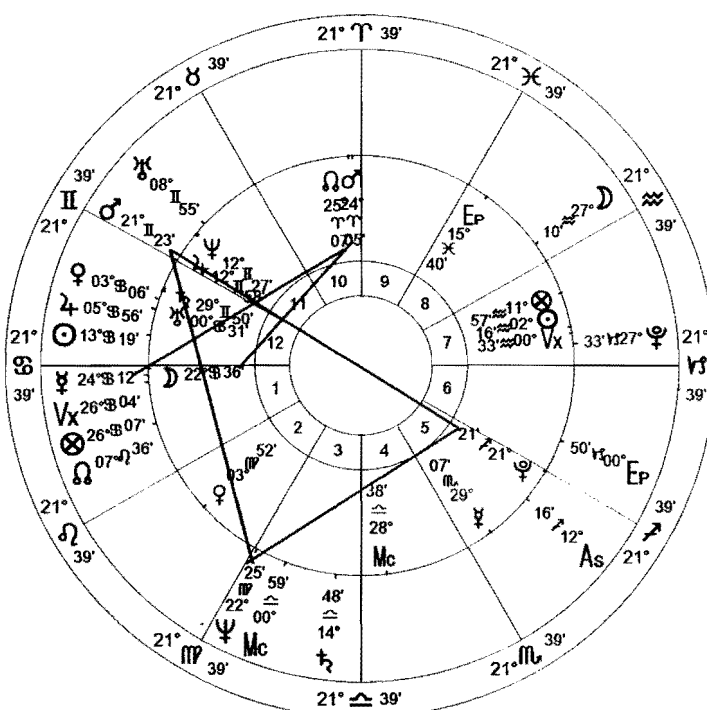

Here we are dealing with the Mean Node. The so-called True Node falls at 10Vi19 where it has no particular significance. Age Harmonics are unique in providing wide disparities like this that enable us to decide on relative values of points in dispute.

An even more powerful configuration is Natal Mars on the 12th

In This Issue ...

	Page
Bush Fires in the USA	1
Test 67—Report	2
Test 68 (New)	3
Transiting Aspects	4

Cusp (Sorrows and Suffering) in a T-square with Harmonic Pluto and Natal Neptune. This speaks eloquently of destruction and loss through fire.

Inner Wheel: USA Month Harmonic 225.9167 (4 June—4 July 2002)
Outer Wheel: USA National Chart

The precessed Solar Month Chart (next page) is almost equally indicative though perhaps less specific. It forms significant Aspects both within itself and with the surrounding Radix:

- Saturn is only 2' away from a conjunction with the Ascendant and 10' from the Moon's Node. Both are opposed by Pluto (destruction and losses).
- The Sun, just above the Ascendant is closely opposed by Pluto (drastic events).
- Mars is conjunct Natal Jupiter (large-scale fires).
- Uranus at the Midheaven is conjunct the Natal Moon (people unsettled and driven from their homes).

Though there are probably a number of Charts representative of the United States Age Harmonics demonstrate that the one above with 12°16' Sagittarius rising is valid. There is further confirmation from other Age Harmonics, one being A.H.165.4167 for the month 4 Dec1941 to 4 January 1942 (next page). On 7 December 1941 Japanese planes attacked the US Pacific Fleet in Pearl Harbour, and effectively demolished it as a fighting force. Nine huge battle ships as well as other warships were sunk or badly the crucial Aspects or half-sums, planetary pictures, asteroids, etc., that determined your answer. Extensive analysis is not required. Send your answer to me personally, not to a List, for privacy reasons. (dymock@ozemail.com.au.)

Everyone who responds will receive an individual reply after the deadline (20th July) with a detailed analysis showing at least one way of solving the problem. The chart or charts used for the solution will be e-mailed by Attachment.

TRANSITING ASPECTS 10 JULY—15 AUG. 2002

Transiting Aspects are angles between the planets occurring in the celestial sphere on the dates listed. They will have more or less impact on you depending on whether or not they contact important Significators in your personal horoscope. They are secondary to a personalized list of Progressions and Directions. They may also give you a lead as to the meaning of similar Aspects occurring in any Horoscope—yours or somebody else's.

Look ahead at the Transits to see what is coming but remember that they operate when the power built up between the bodies is sufficient to precipitate the effects. This is usually a day or two before exactitude. The slower-moving planets (Saturn, Neptune, Pluto) and those near their Stations have a more extended period of operation.

July 2002

There are no major Aspects between July 10 and July 20 but the conjunction of the Moon and Sun on July 10 (see adjacent Chart) is notable. Five planets are grouped in Cancer. Not long ago a similar grouping in Gemini coincided with many troubles associated with that Sign.

The emphasis now and until the planetary concentration is reduced on 14 July will be on Cancerian affairs—children, schools, family matters, births, maternity leave, nursing and rest homes, foodstuffs, maritime concerns, ocean-tragedies, off-shore boundary claims, deep-sea diving and fishing.

Though the Chart has been set for Sydney the Zodiacal positions will be the same for anywhere in the world. The mundane Houses in the Chart are to be disregarded as they will change for different geographic situations.

July 20. Sun conjunct Jupiter. Fortune favours you. Go ahead with that plan, apply for the position you want, consult professional advisors, ask for a salary increase (if warranted), be generous with gifts to your friends, and generally enjoy the bounty of life.

July 21. Mercury conjunct Jupiter. Give happy attention to letter-writing, and all documentary assignments. Extend your mental horizon with reading and discussions. Plan for the future.

July 24. Venus square Pluto. Feelings get intensified and may lead you into trouble unless governed by judgement. Maintain an even keel and don't let jealousy or suspicion taint a good relationship. A full Moon occurs on July 24 and has the strong feature of Pluto opposite the N.Node (conjunct the S.Node). This bodes ill for the worldly scene—political upheaval and turmoil as major changes are set in motion. On the personal level for many people it will mean a period of fundamental alteration in direction, interests, acquaintances or life style. This transformed life is usually accompanied by a state of chaos or uncertainty—but there is no need to be alarmed, it is all in the interests of personal development.

July 26. Mercury conjunct Mars. You can think fast and work efficiently but sharp, hasty words can alienate others. Postpone dental work—apt to be painful under this Aspect.

July 27. Mercury opposite Neptune. It's easy to relax into a dreamy state but keep your mind on what you are doing, especially if it's driving!

July 29. Mars opposite Neptune. Apt to bring some disagreeable matter to your attention, or may drain your energy today. Avoid sources of infection—bad food or water, unhealthy fumes, etc.

July 29. Mercury trine Pluto. Favourable for intensive mental application and for tackling small but exacting jobs. You can go easily to the core of the matter without being distracted by irrelevancies. Working with computers—or learning about them and the benefits of e-mail (modern communication) goes well.

August 2002

Aug. 2. Sun opposite Neptune. Accept failure as a stepping stone to success. Think and plan for practical application later. Don't make any term commitments just now—you may not be able to honour them or they turn out badly. Certain matters may have been misrepresented to you.

Aug. 3. Venus square Saturn. If your love-life has met a temporary block see what you can do to repair the damage and re-establish a relationship on a good basis.

Aug. 4. Mercury sextile Saturn. You should plan and organize and attend to necessary routine matters. It is a good time for quiet study or reading and any matters that require concentration.

Aug. 5. Mercury opposite Uranus. Be prepared for surprises. Look for innovations. Keep your equanimity if small matters miscarry.

Aug. 6. Mars trine Pluto. Increased energy and drive helps you to tackle your work with speed and efficiency, even attend to several jobs simultaneously.

Aug. 8. Sun trine Pluto. You can make fundamental changes to your work, home or life-style easily and smoothly without fuss and drama.

Aug. 9. Venus sextile Jupiter. Cultivate your friends, express warm feelings, enjoy the pleasure of bestowing little gifts.

Aug. 11. Sun conjunct Mars. A time for decision and action after due consideration—think first and be tactful. Be aware (not beware) of a male acquaintance who assumes significance.

Aug. 16. Mercury square Pluto. Specialized activity may be required but don't force yourself beyond a healthy limit in work—try to get relaxing breaks. You may be giving the impression to others around you of being too forceful and coercive.

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock. 3 July 2002.

Astrologers' Forum can now be transmitted electronically to anyone who has e-mail facilities. The advantages are receipt of each Issue on the day of publication, a cease-free copy (your print-out) and a lower subscription ($15 Aust) for readers anywhere in the world. Present subscribers will have their term extended to accord with the lower rate for the unexpired period of their subscription.

Please advise me if you wish to receive an e-mail transmission otherwise the present arrangement will be continued.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

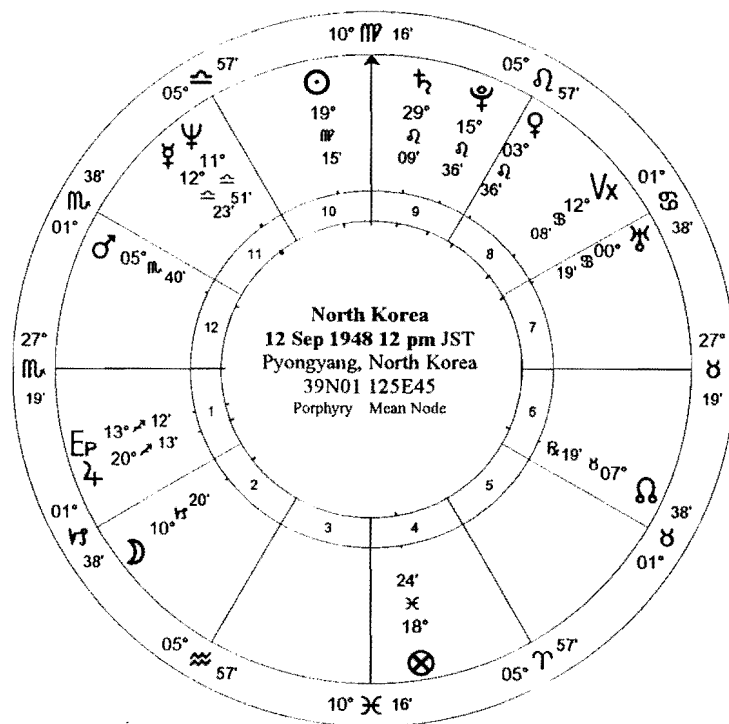

A Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events. Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25
 Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. Phone: 08 8336 1956 E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au
Issue 251 June 2002

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

THE LAST BASTION by Allan Johnson

North Korea is regarded as the last bastion of communism, the unregenerated Communist State. All the others that have not collapsed like China, Cuba and Vietnam have survived by making concessions to capitalism and foreign investment, etc. But North Korea never has. It is still holding the flag even though it has gone through enormous economic decline and chaos. Its people are suffering but the government is more interested in making bombs than food. After 54 years families that were split up on the border of South Korea are still suffering that privation after all those years. North Korea has never admitted defeat. So it is interesting to see if the Chart for North Korean independence could throw some light on that fact and on its future. The Chart for 12th September 1948, noon, for the capital, Pyongyang is the one given by Nicholas Campion in his Book of World Horoscopes.

There is an element of unreality in this whole set-up. A clinging to past glories that we usually expect relating to Neptune. Yet Neptune is not Angular or in a dominant position in the Chart—but nevertheless it is conjunct Mercury and square the Moon. Sun in Virgo is appropriate for the strong element of self-sacrifice; and its square to Jupiter shows the desire to achieve some grandiose ideal. Jupiter in its turn also makes a trine to Pluto in the 9th House. There is quite a focus on the 9th, a House very much related to mass publicity and idealism. So overall we do get that devotion to ideals rather than getting down to practical realities that the other communist regimes have had to do. Some recent observers feel there could be a change of heart coming up but others say we have heard all that before. Both Sun and Moon are in Earth Signs but otherwise there is not much emphasis on Earth in this Chart. Scorpio rising could be significant for such clinging to the past, and the stubbornness.

In This Issue...

	Page
The Last Bastion—North Korea	1
Israel's Chart—Correction.....	1
Progressions, Directions & Cyclic Charts.....	2
Test No. 66—Report	3
Transiting Aspects, 10 June—15 July 2002.....	4
Test No. 67	4

Looking at recent Progressions we get the Sun coming to square natal Pluto in a couple of years and at that time Pluto will be right on natal Pluto. We should expect Pluto transits to be a key factor in a transformation of that magnitude—akin to the collapse of the Berlin Wall. Right now Pluto is moving to the square of the natal Sun in the 10th House and will be exact in November 2003. Over this time Uranus is moving to the opposition of Saturn in the 9th. This could also mean a radical transformation of an ideology. So it looks as if events could be moving behind the scenes in the direction some observers are predicting. So North Korea is worth watching over the next few years. □

ISRAEL'S CHART—CORRECTION

My apologies for presenting the wrong Chart for Israel in last month's Issue. It was some incredible mix-up in my computer some of whose workings still mystify me. The two Directions mentioned were correct—May 25 and June 24 for a possible (if temporary) accord.

Here is the Chart I aimed to present, as published previously in Issue 237 (April, 2001):

- Mar) Sqr PF Aa-Na 27 Jul 1989 15°Li25' 15°Cn25'
- Mer Sqr MC Va-Na 19 Oct 1989 07°Sg40' 07°Vi40'
- Asc Cnj Sun Va-Na 5 Nov 1989 09°Sg49' 09°Sg49'

Obviously, the only Direction applicable in the above list symbolizing union with a male is the last—Asc conj. Sun by Vertex-Arc on 5 Nov 1989. A further check with Secondary Progressions around this date brings to light the Moon sextile Jupiter on 4th Nov 1989 – the very day of the marriage.

It is apparent from the range of marriage dates suggested by respondents that further exercises along these lines are desirable.

TRANSITING ASPECTS 10 JUNE—15 JULY 2002

These are angular relationships between the planets actually occurring in the celestial sphere. They will have more or less impact on you depending on whether or not they contact important Significators in your personal horoscope. They are secondary to a personalized list of Progressions and Directions. Even if they don't have a direct bearing on you they may give you a lead as to the meaning of similar Aspects occurring in anyone's Birth Chart.

When looking ahead at the Transits remember that those formed by quickly-moving planets usually operate on the day before they are listed as exact, when the power built up between the bodies is sufficient to precipitate the effects.

Those formed by Saturn, Uranus, Neptune and Pluto have greater significance and operate over a longer period of time than the others.

June 2002

June 11. Solar Eclipse at 19Ge54. This Eclipse in Gemini will certainly enhance the troubles associated with that Sign as mentioned in last month's Issue. Since four or five planets plus the Moon's Node gathered in Gemini the aggregate of world calamities by land, air and sea has been appalling. It will not diminish but increase, some countries being worse hit than others. The Eclipse Chart set for New York is particularly bad as Pluto Retrograde and just under the Ascendant is conjunct the South Node and opposed by Saturn, the Sun and Moon. Jupiter is exactly on the 8th (Porphyry) Cusp. Is another major catastrophe imminent in that afflicted City?

June 20. Sun trine Uranus: This is the cue to see what progressive changes you can make in your work, your business or your home. Are you aware of what advantages may be gained from modern technology? The Sun trine Uranus brings new situations and sudden changes in your affairs that will be exciting and stimulating. It is a wonderful time for new activities, for a different environment, for making unusual contacts and for discoveries about yourself and the world around you.

June 20. Mercury sextile Venus: This harmonious Aspect between the Planet of Communication and the planet of Peace, Beauty and Harmony is great for re-establishing cordial relations where they have become cool or drifted into indifference. Answer letters, write that report or assignment and generally exercise your talent for smoothing troubled waters.

June 24. Venus opposite Neptune: Maybe your fantasy of idyllic love has gone sadly amiss. Console yourself with something else that is beautiful—music, art, poetry, literature, etc.—or exercise your own artistic talent. Eschew alcohol and protect yourself against viral infection.

June 24. Mercury trine Neptune: Your mind can be illuminated by subtle understanding. Inspired ideas can help you with creative work, whether in the field of literature or art. Read a good book of fiction or poetry (e.g., Kahlil Gibran's The Prophet).

June 25. Lunar Eclipse at 3Cp11. Some sort of prominence will be given to any planet or Zodiacal point in your personal chart that is conjunct this degree. Examine what that Significator means in your Chart and try to predict the effect (very useful practice).

June 28. Venus trine Pluto brings more intensity to your personal attachments and/or enhances any artistic faculty that you may have. So, work on it!

June 29. Mercury opposite Pluto: Stress can lower your immune system and make you susceptible to infection. This Aspect is often a caution to change direction or at least take time off for a restorative session with something relaxing or somebody who is light-hearted and affectionate.

June 30. Mercury sextile Venus: See June 20 above.

July 2. Mercury conjunct Saturn: A good vibration for working on problems, organizing your routine, home and business matters and generally attending to your responsibilities.

July 3. Venus sextile Saturn: Rest content in your stabilized and secure relationships. Appreciate the good features of the established order and the benefits of sensible conformity.

July 3. Mars conjunct Jupiter: Make decisions, be active, put your plans into operation with the assurance of success.

July 6. Mercury trine Uranus: Apply your mind to Astrology, some field of technology, a new and exciting study or progressive ideas generally. Use lateral thinking to arrive at a new angle or new approach to your work or a problem.

July 9. Venus opposite Uranus: The Law of Life is change. If a relationship falls apart don't come unstuck with it. Maintain your equanimity and go to some stimulating entertainment, preferably something new or unusual.

TEST NO. 67

This month's Test, No. 67, is again one to find the DATE of a given event but this time, to make it a little easier, only the MONTH within a one-year period. It is very useful to be able to do this in practical work as it is, naturally, of importance to the client.

It concerns a woman born on 28th July 1967 at 6:45 am in Athens, Greece (23E46, 37N58. Asc 19Le45, MC 12Ta38, Moon 20Ar12).

The woman married on a date within the period 1 May 1996 to 1 May 1997. Can you find the MONTH when the marriage took place?

Any astrological method may be used—modern, mediaeval, or ancient. Techniques that have been used in past Tests are Solar- and Lunar-Return Charts, Age-Harmonics, Progressions and Directions, Midpoints, Planetary Pictures, Horary, Profectioal, Vedic, Firdarial, and Asteroidal.

Please send your solution to me by letter or e-mail (Dymock@ozemail.com.au) by June 20. Give the crucial factors, (Aspects, House positions, Half-Sums, etc.), that were the determining factors in your judgement. Effort put into this sort of astrological work will do wonders so far as increasing your skill is concerned whether or not you find the right answer.

The worked solution will be published in the July Issue but all respondents will receive it earlier—soon after June 20.

I am always glad to receive material that would be suitable for these monthly Tests. They usually take the form of "what occurred in this person's life on (date)", or "find the date on which this event occurred". Your help would be appreciated.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 8 June 2002.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

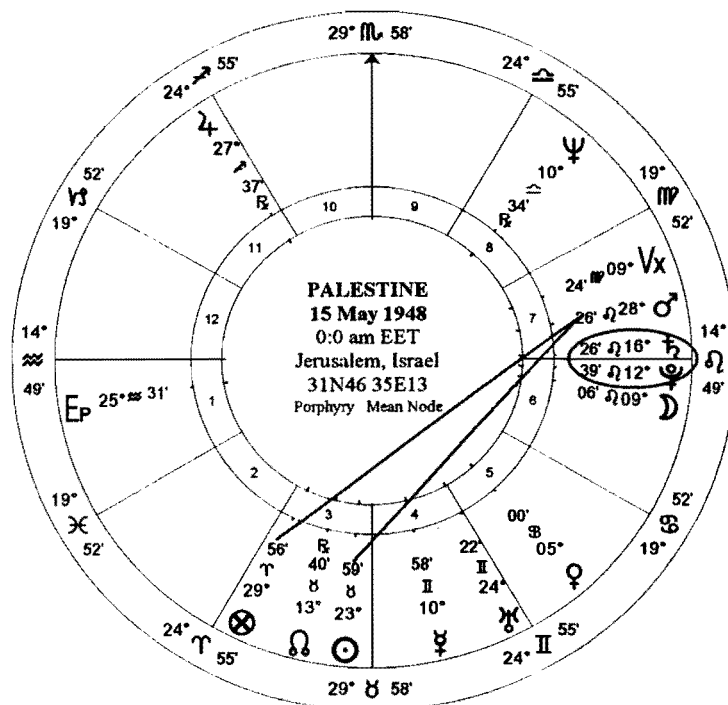

A Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events. Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25
Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. Phone: 08 8336 1956 E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au
Issue 250 May 2002

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

THE ISRAEL—PALESTINE CONFLICT

Whether or not a massacre has occurred in the Palestinian town Jenin, as alleged, there is no doubt that the Palestinians have suffered terribly from the Jewish incursions with tanks and armoured vehicles that started a month ago.

Nicholas Campion (The Book of World Horoscopes) gives the Map for the date when the British Mandate in Palestine expired at 00.00 hrs on 15 May 1948. Though the State of Palestine never came into existence the Chart for this event does appear to be highly relevant to the Palestinian people and their wish for national self-determination.

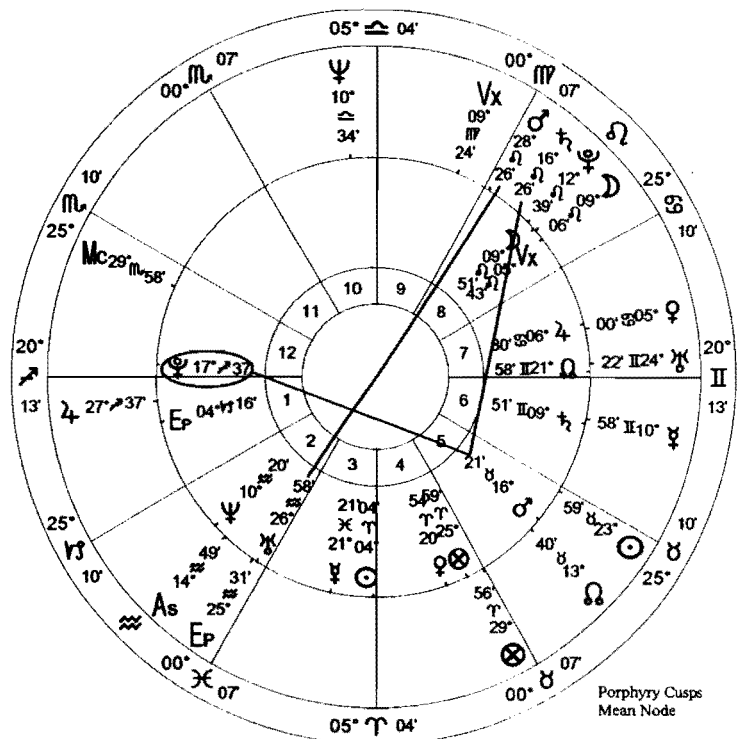

The Chart is unfortunate in that Saturn and Pluto on the 7th Cusp in close opposition to the Ascendant indicate that the Palestinians are blocked by powerful forces. The Ruler, Saturn, in the House of Open Enemies shows that they are largely at the mercy of an aggressor. The military conflict incurred is evident from Mars in the 7th square to the Sun and trine Fortuna.

Jupiter on the 11th Cusp normally signifies gratification of wishes and fulfilment of ambitions, however Jupiter is here opposed by Uranus and is closely sesquare Pluto. These planets certainly bring the Palestinians sudden misfortunes in the pursuit of their ambitions and even schisms among the Palestinians themselves. The close trine from Jupiter to Mars, ruling the 10th House, indicates nevertheless that the National aims are pursued with vigour.

In the adjoining column is the precessed Lunar Return which marked the beginning (29th March 2002) of the present Israeli incursion into Palestine. In the outer circle are the Radical positions. The Mars-Uranus opposition on a Cuspal axis is an obvious indicator of violent conflict as well as the very close square of Mars—Saturn. Pluto on the Ascendant quincunx Mars signifies devastation of the Palestinian territory.

In This Issue...

	Page
The Israel—Palestine Conflict	1
Israel's Amended Chart	2
Transiting Aspects, May 1—June 10, 2002	2
Test 65—Report	3
Test 66: When Did She Marry?	4

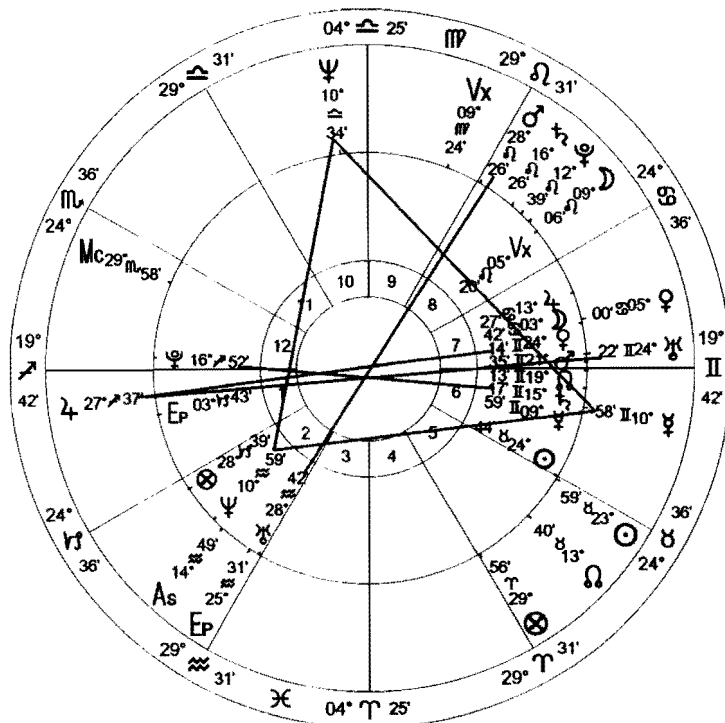

Inner Wheel: The precessed Lunar Return of 24 March 2002 for Palestine.
Outer Wheel: Palestine Radix

On May 15 next Palestine enters its new Solar Year and the Chart associated with it should reveal what chances there are of peace being achieved in the next twelve months between the two warring Nations. This Chart, with the Radix positions in the outer circle, appears on the next page.

The Chart is not by any means promising: Pluto rises in close opposition to Saturn (destructive violence). There is no attempt at a rapprochement between the parties; quite the reverse, in fact. Ebertin (The Combination of Stellar Influences) stigmatises the nature of this Aspect as a hard and unfeeling disposition, cold-heartedness, severity, tendency to violence, a fanatical adherence to one's principles once they have been adopted. A martyr. The last word is particularly chilling in the light of the recent spate of suicide bombers, regarded by the Palestinians as heroic martyrs.

Uranus opposes n.Mars on the 3rd Cuspal axis with an orb of only 16', an Aspect that foreshadows a continuation of brutal violence. Jupiter rises, which would normally be regarded as especially positive but here it opposes Venus and n.Uranus defeating any attempt to bring the parties together on a harmonious basis. The Grand Trine involving n.Neptune in the Midheaven, n.Mercury and sol-r.Neptune seems to reflect the Inner Wheel: Palestine, Precessed Solar Return 15 May 2002, Jerusalem.

Outer Wheel: Palestine, Natal Chart, 15 May 1948, 0:00 am EET (-2:00), Jerusalem, Israel, 31N46, 35E14. Porphyry Cusps, Mean Node.

mental attitude of the Palestinians—that they are chasing a chimera based on their own imaginative thinking divorced from reality.

A survey of the succeeding three Solar Returns (not reproduced) does not inspire optimism for a settlement of the conflict. In the precessed Figure of 16 May 2003, Aries rises with Ruler Mars conjunct Neptune, both at 13° Aquarius, and conjunct the n.Ascendant, 14° Aquarius. Any compromise deal effected here would be based on mistrust and unabated hostility.

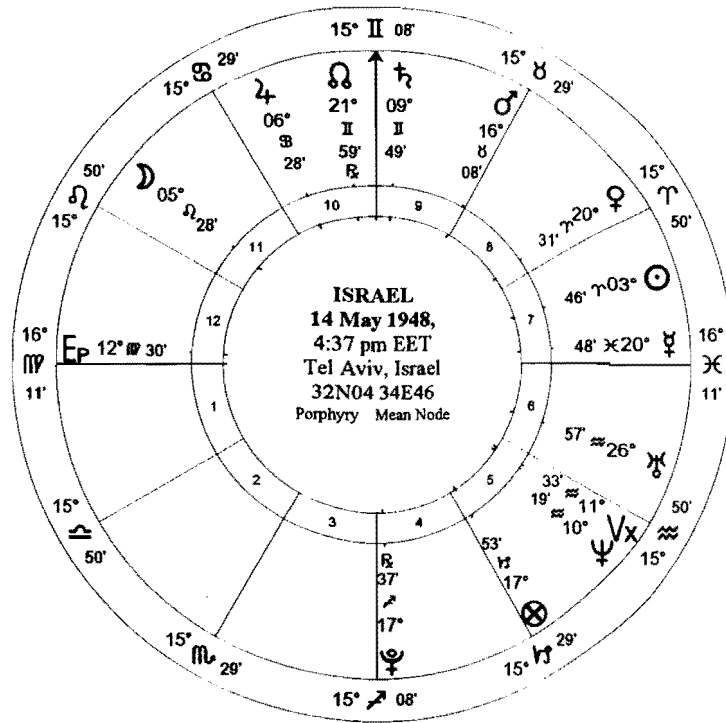

In the Figure of 15 May 2004, Cancer rises with the Moon at 10° Aries on the MC and square Saturn at 10° Cancer. This obviously blocks the aspirations of the Palestinians. Further, Neptune at 15Aqu24 conjoins the n.Ascendant, 14Aqu49 (disappointment).

The precessed Solar Return of 15 May 2005 has 8Li25 rising and Jupiter just below it at 9Li34. This apparently positive indication, however, is offset by Jupiter being closely quincunx a conjunction of Mars and Uranus on the 6th Cusp. This looks more like a build-up of armed forces than any realistic attempt at peace, particularly as n.Neptune at 10Li34 conjoins sr.Jupiter.

The situation is as intractable as the one in Northern Ireland. It seems that the best we can expect over the next few years is an uneasy peace alternating with further periods of conflict. However, there has to be some closure soon on the present spell of internecine violence. Of the Progressions and Directions over the next few months in the Palestine Chart, the only ones that offer much promise of a cessation of hostilities are Venus sextile Neptune by Vertex-Arc Direction on May 25, and the Ascendant-Arc Direction of Venus trine the Sun on June 24. Fortunately, the first date looks to be the more promising.

We should look also at the Chart for Israel (next column). The time for the Chart was given previously in this Journal as 4:30 pm on 14 May 1948, which the then Prime Minister of Israel (Ben Gurion) considered was the start of Israel's Independence. However, 4:37 pm is now reckoned to be better, being apparently the time when Ben Gurion finished reading his Proclamation of Independence. A little research on my part supports this slightly later time.

The Zodiacal positions of the planets in the Chart for Israel are practically identical with those for Palestine, the two Charts having the same date, only the Moon being appreciably different. Israel's Chart is however the more fortunate through better placements in the Houses, one notable factor being the absence of Saturn and Pluto in direct opposition to the Ascendant. I will not dissect this Chart now. What is more important at the moment is to see whether the present hostilities are likely to be concluded in May or June.

The before-mentioned date of May 25 in the Palestine Directions is matched in the Israel Chart by Jupiter sextile Mercury (converse Vertex-Arc) on May 26. This is a hopeful sign of an agreement being reached on or about that date. For the second date, June 24, of a possible (if temporary accord) the Israel Chart has Venus trine the POF by converse Solar-Arc on June 23 which is also favourable through the operation of Venus, the Peace Maker. □

TRANSITING ASPECTS, MAY 1—JUNE 10, 2002

These Transiting Aspects are angular relationships between the planets actually occurring in the celestial sphere. They will have personal impact depending on whether or not they repeat a similar Aspect in your birth horoscope or contact important Significators there. They are secondary to a personalized list of Progressions and Directions. Even if they don't have a direct bearing on you they may give you a lead as to the meaning of similar Aspects occurring in any Birth Figure.

When looking ahead at the Transits remember that they usually operate on the day before they are listed as exact, when the power built up between the bodies is sufficient to precipitate the effects.

Before starting on the list see what is written about May 23.

May 2002

May 1. Sun square Neptune: Withhold your energies regarding any project you have in mind. It won't come to a satisfactory realization with this Aspect – only disappointment or confusion; but the experience will be valuable.

May 2. Sun sextile Jupiter: Under this Aspect you can with confidence proceed with plans, projects, undertakings, etc., as it is almost a guarantee of success.

May 4. Mars conjunct Saturn: Tends to sporadic activity but can bring good results through persevering toil in spite of restrictions and difficulties. Care is advisable to lessen the possibility of mishaps, spillages and breakages.

May 5. Venus trine Neptune: Delicacy of feeling and anything romantic and poetic in your nature is awakened by this Aspect. Enjoy art and music, films, poetry, fictional literature and your romantic fantasies.

May 7. Venus conjunct Saturn: Stabilize your good relationships and be glad of them, but no joy, possibly only heartache, comes from relationships not firmly based on community of aims and affinity of nature.

May 9. Mars opposite Pluto: Use your drive and determination to accomplish something constructive. Restrain any impulses towards violence and take care to avoid accidents and injuries. Look to the mechanics of your car.

May 10. Venus opposite Pluto: Romantic involvements can find intense expression under this influence but eroticism run wild does not make for a lasting attachment, rather a quick burn-out.

May 11. Venus conjunct Mars: The fires of passion are quickly lit under this influence. In social situations make an effort to be friendly and vivacious with a light touch and you'll have a good time, but you could regret a wild adventure or an impulsive affair with an inappropriate person.

May 13. Neptune Stationary at 10Aqu59, turning Retrograde. Neptune conjunct one of your principal Significators is more likely to result in disappointment or loss on the practical plane than the grand result you had been hoping for. Be wary about undertaking any long-term commitments while this influence lasts. You could be misinformed, deceived or unrealistic in your expectations. But Neptune conjunct Mercury gives inspiration to writers of poetry and fiction.

May 16. Mercury Stationary at 9Ge59, turning Retrograde. Having regard to Neptune's position above, this is effectively a Mercury trine Neptune Aspect. Your influx of ideas and imagination can be turned to good account in any creative work. Mercury conjuncting other Significators favours mental effort, communication and expression. As Mercury is turning Retrograde the next three to four weeks call for added and careful attention to avoid misunderstandings in communications, mistakes in writings, wrong addresses, mislaid items, malfunctioning gadgets, etc.

May 19. Venus trine Uranus: Enjoy something different – an outing, an unusual adventure, a visual experience, a little flirtation.

May 20. Sun square Uranus: Be prepared for a sudden change that upsets your plans. Wait for a more propitious time to start anything important.

May 23. It is noteworthy that on this date The Sun, Mercury, Saturn, the Moon's N.Node and Mars will all occupy the Sign Gemini. Unfortunately, this cannot be regarded as propitious, particularly as Pluto is directly opposite Saturn. I expect to see an increase of calamities, world-wide, as well as difficulties in transport and communication – not just on this day but building up from two or three weeks earlier, May 23 being the climactic point when the Sun enters Gemini. There will also be a surge in respiratory illnesses and in petty crime with Geminians figuring prominently. Geminians at their worst are thieves and liars. Of course at their best they are a delight to be with – stimulating, refreshing and reviving flagging spirits.

May 26. Saturn opposite Pluto: Develop your strength by coping with difficult circumstances. This Aspect is an indicator of major troubles in the world but on your personal plane it is more likely to be things of much lesser magnitude such as breakdown of your computer.

May 26. Lunar Eclipse at 5Sg4. With the Sun at 5Ge4 this is of course a Sun/Moon opposition. Unless it affects a particular signifier in your personal horoscope it is most likely to evidence itself in fluctuating moods, an unsettled feeling and disturbed physical functions, more especially with women.

May 27. Mars trine Uranus: Use the extra energy developed by this configuration for furthering any constructive enterprise, which will also reduce the possibility of its spilling over into little accidents. Be careful with tools and electrical or mechanical equipment.

May 27. Sun conjunct Mercury. Attend to correspondence, assignments, documents, business and any matters involving the use of your mental capacities.

June 2002

June 1. Sun trine Neptune: Use the inspirational qualities of this Aspect to enhance your creative efforts—in music, poetry, literature, dancing, art. It's also fine to indulge your romantic dreams and fantasies of travel to faraway places, etc., as they provide a relief from humdrum routine, but don't lose your touch with reality.

June 3. Uranus Stationary, turning Retrograde, at 28Aqu50. Anything that Uranus touches gets a 'new look'. Watch for surprising developments and see what innovation can be introduced into your life, making it more exciting.

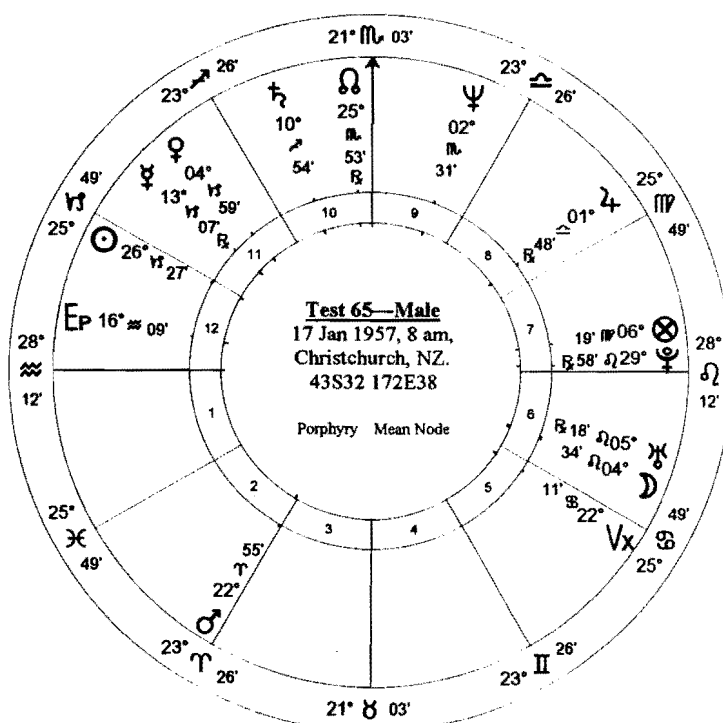

June 4. Venus conjunct Jupiter: 'Enjoy the good the Gods provide thee'. Accept gratefully the good things of life that now come your way—affection, good company, pleasures, entertainments, gifts.

June 7. Sun opposite Pluto: If this opposition affects you directly it will change some of the fundamentals of your life and mark the close of a chapter.

June 9. Mercury Stationary, turning Direct, at 1Ge22. The minor misadventures incident to Mercury's Retrograde motion since May 16 will now start to ease off. If Mercury contacts a Signifier in your Chart it stimulates thought and expression connected with the things related to the Signifier.

TEST 65—REPORT

Test No. 65 (supplied by Ross Harvey, NSW, Australia) concerned a man born on 17 January 1957 at 8 am in Christchurch, NZ. His Birth Chart appears below.

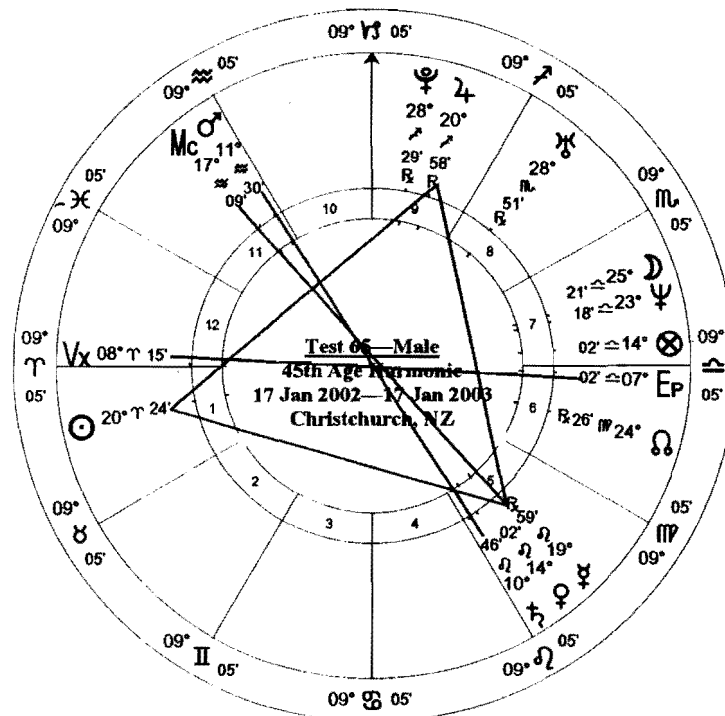

The Question was what significant event of the five alternatives listed here occurred in his life on 30th January 2002 while he was practising as a lawyer in Hong Kong:

1. He was robbed of a sum of money.
2. He recovered from an illness.
3. He was given notice of redundancy.
4. He won a court victory.
5. His wife left him.

The correct answer is No. 3 – He was given notice of redundancy. (His job will cease to exist by the middle of 2002).

The correct answer was found by five respondents. Nineteen opted for No. 5 (wife left him), seven for No. 4 (court victory), five for No. 1 (robbed) and three for No. 2 (recovering from illness).

The 45th Age Harmonic Chart (below) shows the notice of redundancy through Mars opposing Saturn on a Cuspal Axis, Mars ruling the Ascendant and Saturn the MC. Additionally, Mercury (communication, news) ruling the House of Employment opposes the "floating" MC. The Vertex on the Ascendant opposing the Equatorial Ascendant reveals that the lawyer is being dealt a blow of Fate.

Notice that the Chart does not produce sufficient evidence to support either robbery, recovery from an illness or his wife leaving him. But what about a court victory? This seems to be fully in line with the Grand Trine Sun-Jupiter-Mercury (Jupiter ruling the House of Law) and it mislead some respondents using this Chart. These planets however are positioned in the middle of the Houses where they are weaker than those on Cusps, and they define only the man's legal practice. A court victory would call for strong representation in the 10th House.

Another simple Chart that defines the answer is the precessed Lunar Return in the next column. Its most striking feature is the extremely close conjunction of the Sun and Neptune (orb only 8'). the Sun ruling the House of Career and Neptune signifying failure, loss, disappointment. So there's the answer—no need to look further.

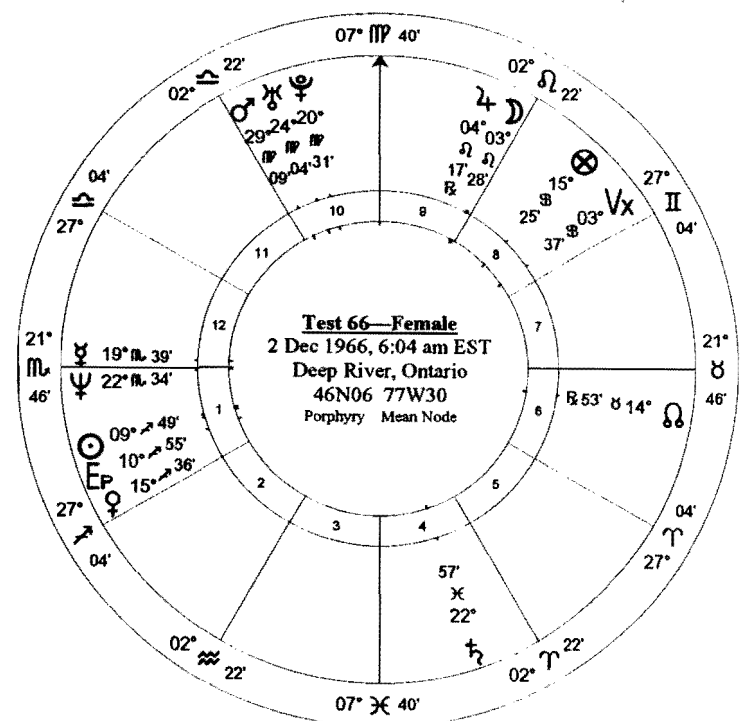

The principal techniques used by those who found the correct answer at the first attempt were the following: Paul Langeveld (Holland), the Age Harmonic; Sander Littel (Holland), Secondary Progressions; Kaaid Lokhandwala (California), Solar-Arc Directions; Kathy Feldman (Missouri), Solar-Arc Directions. Mark Gemmill (Vancouver), Firdaria and Profections.

Congratulations to all who attempted this Test. Respondents acknowledge that they are a prime learning experience.

TEST 66—FEMALE

Above is the Chart of a woman born 2nd December 1966. At what date did she marry in the period —1 Jan 1988 to 1 Jan 1990? You are told the event—marriage—but when did it occur?

This is a useful exercise for practical predictive work in which a client will often want to know when she/he will marry. Use any astrological method that you wish but please let me have your answer by May 20 in letter or e-mail, together with the reason for your selection of the date. All respondents will receive the Answer and a method of finding it shortly after May 20.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock,
9 May 2002.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

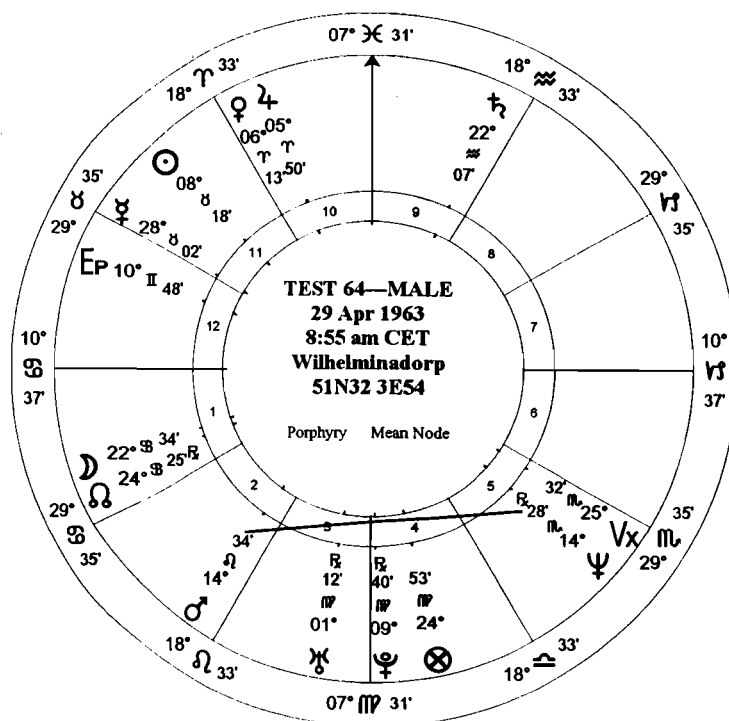

Issue 249 April 2002

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

TEST 64 REPORT

The Question was to judge which of the following five events was the one that actually occurred on 31 August 1991 in the life of a man born at Wilhelminadorp, Netherlands, on 29 April 1963. The man was earning a living as a member of a rock Band, and had a steady relationship at the time. (His Birth Chart below.)

1. He obtained an unexpected inheritance.
2. He was caught smuggling drugs.
3. He fell ill and became paralysed.
4. He started psychiatric treatment.
5. He received an award for his first solo CD recording.

The correct answer is No. 3—he fell ill and became paralysed.

Sander Littel (Netherlands) who supplied the material for this Test gives the following information:

“The illness is called “locked-in-syndrome”. He got almost totally immobilized overnight. The only part of his body that he can express himself with are his eyes. But his mental capacities have not been affected. He must communicate by moving his left eye. (the other person recites the alphabet and he winks when the right letter has been called: very tiresome for all parties involved!) In the meantime his partner (who together with his parents take care), also managed to get a child from him (February 1998). And he published a book in November 2000, titled “My Eyes Tell It All”. There was a documentary on his life on national TV last month.”

There were forty-two respondents to this Test, the highest

In This Issue...

	Page
Test 64—Report.....	1
Hints on Working the Tests	2
Test No. 65	3
Comment on The Future of Russia	4
Transits during April	4
Precessed or Standard?	4

number so far. Six of them were correct at the first attempt. The most important determining factors in each of the six correct answers were the following:

Sue Miller (Pennsylvania)—Transiting Uranus/Neptune Midpoint (12Cp04) opposite Natal Ascendant (10Cn37).

Teresa Linek (Ohio)—Solar-Arc Uranus = Mars/Neptune.

Shirley Gray (Michigan)—Mars opposite Uranus/Neptune in Solar Return Chart.

Astroman (Thailand)—Solar-Arc Sun = Pluto/Admetos = Neptune/Admetos.

Suppaluck (Thailand) Secondary Progressed Mercury (22Ta05) square n. Saturn (22Aqu7).

Martina (USA)—Asteroids Ophelia, Siva and Medusa on Solar-Arc MC.

Aside from the above solutions, there were a number of ways to arrive at the correct answer, having first noted the importance in the Natal Chart of Mars Square Neptune (orb 0°6') with Mars ruling the House of Health (activity paralysed—Ebertin).

Precessed Lunar Return + Radix (BiWheel next page):

- In this Biwheel the critical feature is Uranus and Neptune astride the 3rd (Porphiry) Cusp and both opposing the natal Ascendant (suddenly incapacitated—Witte-Lefeldt, Rules for Planetary Pictures). Uranus/Neptune Midpoint(12Cp33) is conjunct Cusp 3 (12Cp10)
- The n.Mars/Neptune square is activated by Mars ruling 1st and 6th Houses (the body and health) and closely square Neptune on Cusp 3 and sextile n.Neptune rising (all in same degree).
- Neptune (14Cp35) quincunx n.Mars (orb 0°1') and sesquare n. Mercury (28Ta02) (orb 1°35') (Obstructed action of the brain—Witte-Lefeldt).
- Uranus/Node Midpoint 14Cp01 conjunct Neptune 14Cp35 (the Node accents Uranus/Neptune—suddenly incapacitated).

It is noteworthy in the above that only Porphyry or Alcabitius Houses (which are practically identical) put the 3rd Cusp at the midpoint of Uranus and Neptune 12Cp33). With Placidus, Cusp 3 is 7Cp05; with Koch, 29Sg41; with Regiomontanus, 2Cp35.

The precessed Solar Return of 29 April 1991 also points to paralysis as the most likely event of those listed in the Question. See the BiWheel on the next page.

Inner Wheel: Test 64, Precessed Lunar Return 29 Apr 1991, Wilhelminadorp, NL.
Outer Wheel: Test 64, Birth Chart 29 Apr 1963, Wilhelminadorp, Netherlands.

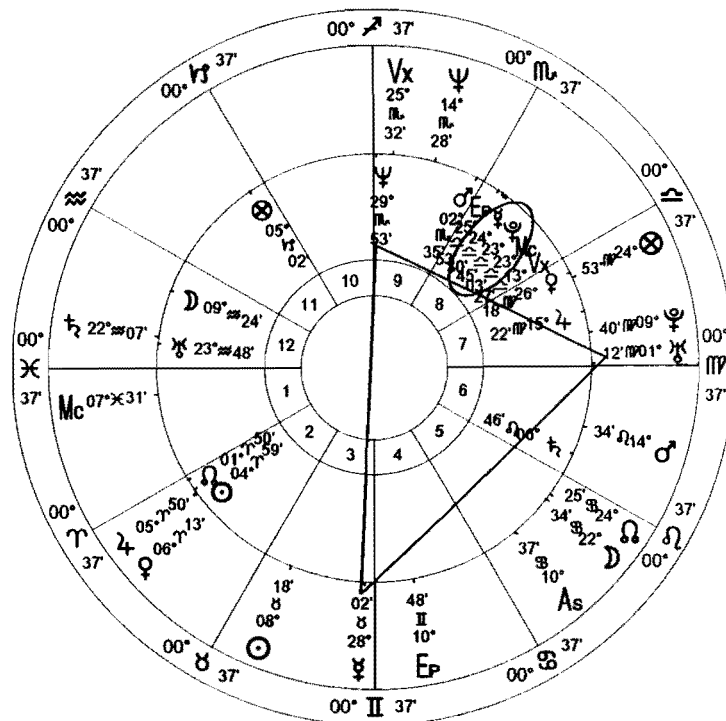

Inner Wheel: Test 64, Precessed Solar Return 29 Apr 1991, Wilhelminadorp, NL.
Outer Wheel: Test 64, Birth Chart 29 Apr 1963, Wilhelminadorp, Netherlands.

- Natal Uranus on the Ascendant gives warning of a sudden and unexpected event—in this case totally unexpected and calamitous.
- S.R.Mars is almost exactly trine n.Neptune (orb 2') activating the Natal Mars/Neptune square.
- Mars opposes Uranus and Neptune (paralysis—Ebertin) being also opposite their midpoint (15°15').
- The Vertex on the Health Cusp (stroke of Fate).

Age Harmonic 28.3333 for the month 29 Aug—29 Sep 1991 has —

Inner Wheel: Test 64, Age Harmonic 28.3333 for Month 29 Aug—29 Sep 1991.
Outer Wheel: Test 64, Birth Chart 29 Apr 1963, Wilhelminadorp, Netherlands.

- Neptune opposing n.Mercury along the Meridian and in a powerful T-Square with n.Uranus on the Descendant (paralysis of the nerves—Ebertin).
- Pluto is closely conjunct the floating MC in the 8th House (end of career; death or near death)
- Saturn in the 6th House and the n.Node have a Midpoint 0Le36 which is conjunct the 6th Cusp 0Le37.

A quick resolution of the problem in this case was available also from the Direction (1°=1 Yr):

Uranus conj Mars/Nept 24 Aug 1991.

Congratulations to all who attempted the Test. Your work is rewarded by the increased astrological insight and expertise that results. These exercises help you to sort out which, if any, of your techniques do apply to a practical situation such as the one in the Test. I continue to receive assurances from all over the world that these exercises teach them more astrology than anything else.

One correspondent from Holland writes, "I wonder if you give 4 instead of 5 events would we score better? Is it worthwhile trying once or did you do that already before? Anyway—I still like the Tests a lot!"

I did consider giving fewer choices but thought it would make the Tests too easy. The aim of the exercises is not to get a lot of correct answers (in which case people would hardly need to do them) but to get astrologers working and discovering the strengths and weaknesses of their own methods and possibly acquiring better techniques.

HINTS ON WORKING THE TESTS

From my experience in deciphering the meaning of the Charts (several of which will contain the answer) I have formulated a number of rules that I list here as a help to those attempting the Tests.

1. The first rule is to sort out the CLOSE Aspects (within 1°). This rule applies equally to Solar Returns, Lunar Returns, Sun/

Moon Phase>Returns and Age Harmonics. ANY very close Aspects are significant but Conjunctions are the most important. I recommend Precessed rather than Standard Returns.

- The second rule is look at planets ON CUSPS (not just in Houses). It follows, of course, that if you find a closely Aspected planet on a Cusp it is a powerful Significator. My experience is that Porphyry Cusps are the most useful but I do not argue with those who want to use a different system. Alcabitius Cusps are practically identical with Porphyry and I notice one correspondent is using them.
- Look to the RULER of the Ascendant. It will almost certainly be involved in the most significant occurrence.
- Look for a DOUBLE EMPHASIS, for example a planet in a House aspected by the Ruler of the House. This puts a strong emphasis on the things ruled by that House.
- Having found an emphasis on a House look for corroboration from the planet and Sign that have similar meanings. For instance, if you find an emphasis on the 9th House relating to travel, examine the condition of Jupiter and Sagittarius.

TEST NO. 65

Here is another type of multiple-choice Test on which to try your skills. The Figure in the next column is the Chart of a man born on 17 January 1957 in Christchurch, NZ. A significant event occurred in his life on 30th January 2002 while he was practising as a lawyer in Hong Kong. Which of the following five events was it?

1. He was robbed of a sum of money.
2. He recovered from an illness.
3. He was given notice of redundancy.
4. He won a Court victory.
5. His wife left him.

You are free to use any astrological method—modern, traditional, ancient, Uranian, Profecional, Firdarial, Asteroideal, Horary, etc., but state the crucial or most important factors that determined your answer. Isolate them if you can. Please don't give a volume of supporting evidence. It won't add to the correctness of your judgement but gives me much work (already considerable) in reviewing the many replies.

This type of exercise helps you to sort out which, if any, of your techniques do apply to a practical situation like this. The Question could have been phrased as, What occurred in the life of this man on 30th January 2002? But that is much too difficult. Ptolemy himself said that only those with special powers could deduce particulars. But will your techniques allow you to distinguish the correct event from those five listed?

If you have your answer to me by April 20 it will be in time for the Report in the May Issue of this Journal. My postal and e-mail addresses appear on the first page of this Journal. All respondents will receive a worked solution before publication of the May Issue.

— Dymock.

THE FUTURE OF RUSSIA

Ricky Corcilius (NSW) comments on the above article by Allan Johnson in the March issue about the new Russian Federation:

"I notice that transiting Chiron will station close to the Sun and North Node in this Federation Chart in April 2002, and will also conjunct these points in 2003, something that should have an impact, either in the sense of bringing a healing to the country's divisions or exacerbating those competing political factions and nationalist rivalries. So it will be interesting to see. I never used Chiron until my experience of going back to the USA [from Australia] five years ago, when transiting Chiron was then conjunct my natal Sun for that period. I certainly experienced that as a re-wound-ing of my vitality and life force, expressing itself through my 4th House drive to establish a home and the failure of that plan. If that is translated to a whole country and its laws and leaders, something dramatic should arise." □

TRANSITS DURING APRIL

These are angular relationships between the planets happening in the sky during April 2002. If they resonate with something in your Birth Chart they will have an effect on you, greater or less according to the bodies concerned, the power of the Aspect between them and your personal sensitivity. They are less significant than your personal Progressions, Directions and Transits but may help you to make use of the Aspects from your Birth Chart in the most constructive way.

April 2002

Apr. 2. Saturn trine Neptune: Inclines to secrecy and covert dealings. Unusual problems may arise but you can cope with them. Be discreet about private and confidential matters.

Apr. 2. Mercury square Jupiter: Beware of saying too much, saying something at the wrong time or giving away a confidence.

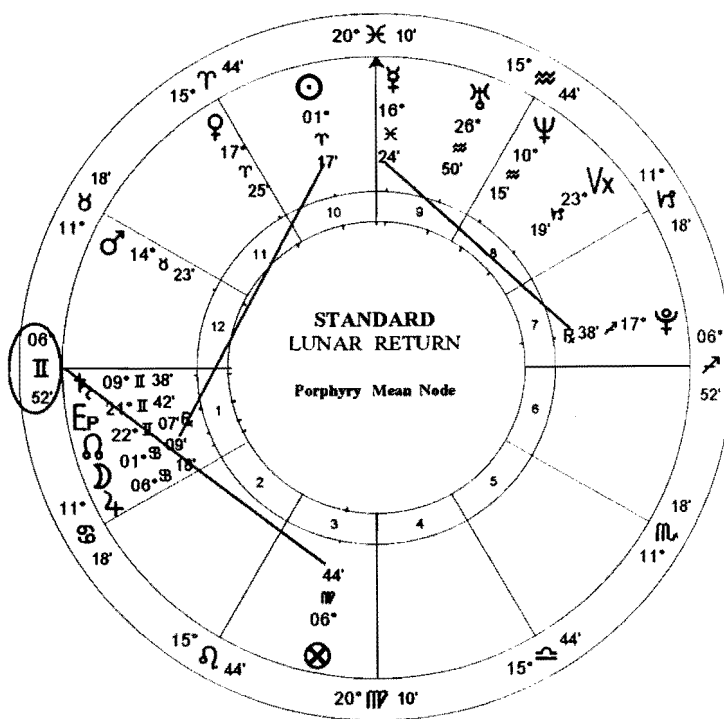

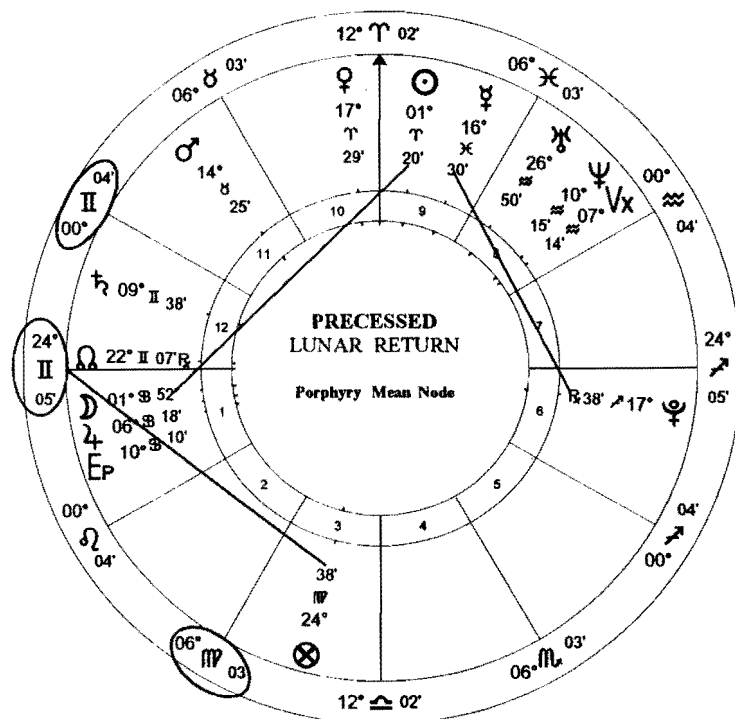

Apr. 4. Mercury sextile Neptune: Enjoy imaginative literature, poetry, fantasy, etc., or with new insight and inspiration tackle an intellectual problem.

Apr. 4. Mercury sextile Saturn: Helps concentration on serious matters. Organize your affairs—the serious, not romantic, kind.

Apr. 7. Sun conjunct Mercury: Take advantage of this positive configuration for dealing successfully with correspondence, writings, assignments, documents, negotiations, business, etc.

Apr. 7. Mercury trine Pluto: Aids concentration on intellectual work and is good for probing into mysteries and uncovering errors in communications or documents.

Apr. 7. Sun trine Pluto: Work on your projects. This Aspect increases your drive and determination to achieve whatever goal you have in mind.

Apr. 8. Venus sextile Jupiter: Enjoy comfort, easy and the good things of life. Demonstrate your friendship and affection.

Apr. 10. Venus square Neptune: Don't be floored by a disappointment in love. There are more fish in the sea. Guard against viral infection.

Apr. 10. Mars square Uranus: Guard against accidents and injury and keep a tight hold on your temper.

Apr. 12. Mercury sextile Uranus: Be awake to different ideas. Explore mentally and try something new.

Apr. 18. Mercury sextile Jupiter: Attend to mental interests (with gratifying results)—studies, writings, readings, reports, etc.

Apr. 18. Sun sextile Uranus: Make exciting changes. Advance your independent activities.

Apr. 19. Mercury square Neptune: Don't be deluded; be sure you have hold of all the facts.

Apr. 24. Venus square Uranus: Personal contacts are stimulating and enjoyable but a romantic fling will end suddenly.

Apr. 29. Mercury square Uranus: Small matters miscarry but keep your cool and don't appear neurotic.

Apr. 30. Mars trine Neptune: Pursue interests in dancing, theatre, music or the occult.

PRECESSED OR STANDARD?

The question of whether Cyclic Charts (Lunar Return, Solar Return, Phase-Return, etc.) should be precessed or not has exercised my mind over a long period. After years of indecision I have finally concluded that the precessed version does give the better indications in most cases, if not all. Precession is the phenomenon of the Zodiac moving backwards in relation to the Fixed Stars by a small amount (about 50") each year. For a planet to maintain its true place in the Heavens its Zodiacal position has to be increased by the amount of the precession each year.

The Lunar Return is well established as a very useful indicator of monthly activities and prospects and often it is difficult to choose between the Standard and the Precessed Figure. Here is a case in point—the monthly Chart of a woman whose car was broken into on March 23 this year and some valuables stolen. The Moon's position at birth was at 1Cn09, but at her present age, 52, its position due to precession is 1Cn52. In about 72 years the amount of precession is as much as 1°. As the time of the Return is later the House positions are different apart from small differences in the position of some planets.

In actual predictive work each Chart should be taken in relation to the Radix, but for simplicity and ease of comparison I present the Charts above on their own.

- The Precessed Chart on the left has Gemini rising. Its Ruler Mercury rules also the 12th House (thieves) and the 3rd House (cars), immediately establishing the principal connections.
- Mercury is closely square Pluto signifying a crisis relating to the affairs of the Houses it rules (the woman herself, thieves and her car).
- The Moon in the 1st House is closely square the Sun, ruling the 2nd House (money and assets) signifying the financial loss sustained.
- The Part of Fortune in the 3rd House (the car), closely square the Rising Degree signifies the damage to the car.
- The Standard Lunar Return on the right also has Gemini rising but here the only other House it rules is the 4th (the home).
- Mercury at the MC is still square to Pluto but now it does not relate to cars.
- The Part of Fortune in the 3rd House is again square to the Rising Degree as in the Precessed Return and signifies loss.
- As before, the Moon is square to the Sun ruling the 2nd and 3rd Houses, the 2nd signifying financial loss; but it is not so clear that this was due to thieves breaking into the car.

On balance, the Precessed Return is better. Admittedly, the Lunar month is not over yet—it extends to April 18, 2002, and more significant events could occur—but the above is typical of the scores of cyclic charts I have examined.

So far as many people are concerned it will still be an open question but it is well to be aware of both types and possibly use them both for supplementary indications.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock. 27 March 2002.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

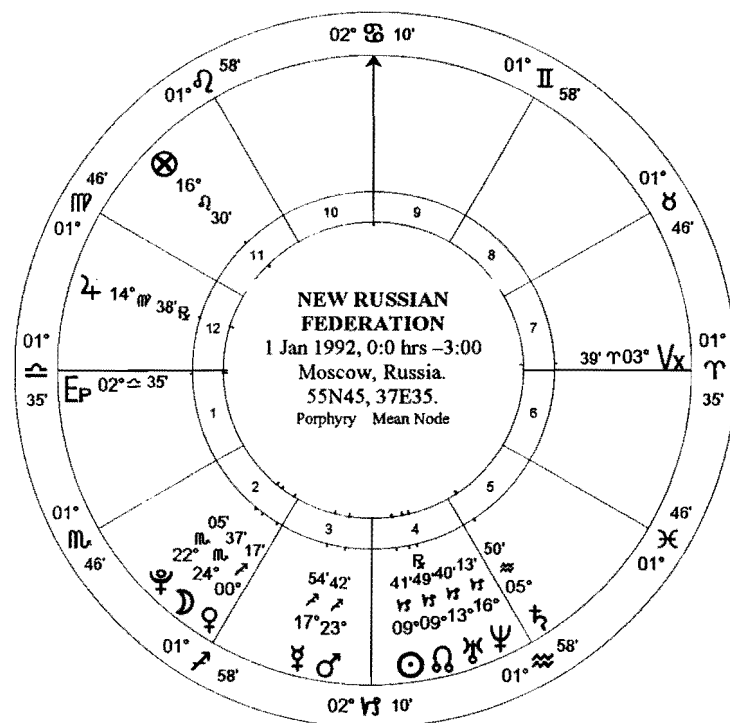

Issue 248 March 2002

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

THE FUTURE OF RUSSIA

by Allan Johnson

There are two Charts worth looking at in regard to Russia. The first is the Chart for the New Russian Federation which is timed for zero hours, Moscow, 1st January 1992. Sufficient time has now elapsed since the collapse of communism, which resulted in the break-away of a number of smaller States like the Ukraine, and also the overlap from the old Soviet Chart. So now is a good time to look at the New Federation Chart. The other Chart, of course, is the one of the President, Vladimir Putin, and a further look at his future.

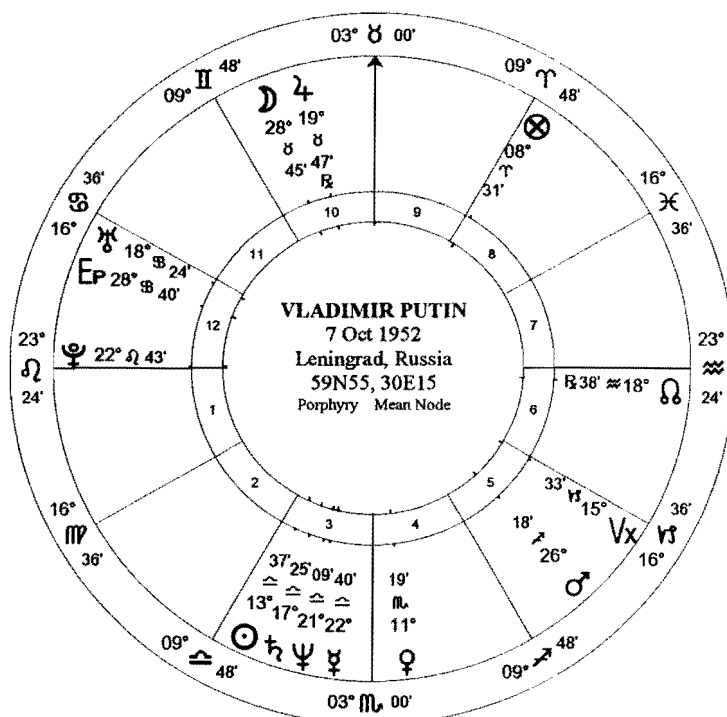

The Federation Chart is the result of a complete revolution in Russian affairs, so it is interesting to note that Uranus is conjunct the Sun and Uranus is always a key planet for radical change. Neptune is also a further conjunction—and Neptune is the planet for new ideals and visions. also there is the Node and the whole stellium make a trine to Jupiter. All of which is quite favourable for the New Federation. This is not a highly dramatic Chart like the one for 1917. Another point is that the MC makes a YOD Pattern with Venus and Saturn and the YOD is considered fatalistic. The whole set-up was fatalistic in the sense that the collapse of communism was not due to plotting or power-seeking but the inevitable result of a failed system. It was inevitable. The Chart has strong emphasis on Fixed and Earth Signs, so it has endured with reasonable stability over the last ten years. The emphasis is on the practical rather than on grandiose dreams. Natively the emphasis is on the 3rd and 4th Houses and these are not so connected with heavy publicity, so unlike the 20th Century when Russia was very much in the news as a massive country for the rest of the world to contend with, the 21st Century has kept it more in the background—and it will continue that way.

In This Issue...

	Page
The Future of Russia	1
Test No. 63—Solution	2
Questions & Answers	3
Transits During March 2002	4
Test 64	4
Governor-General Peter Hollingworth	4

Right now, transiting Pluto is conjunct Natal Mercury, linking up with Mars square Jupiter pattern in the Natal Chart and will be conjunct Mars over the next few years. But I don't see this as all that drastic. Uranus is really the disruptive planet but in the next few years it will be moving through the early degrees of Pisces and does not connect with any major key planets or Angles in the Chart. I would predict from all this that the Federation will continue to have its problems, but no major big upheavals are likely. Next we must have another look at Vladimir Putin's Chart.

(Data from Russian astrologer Sergey Klimov)

Fortunately, just as I was meditating on ideas for this article, I fortuitously came upon a book with the title of First Person and the subtitle, An Astonishing Self Portrait of Russia's President Vladimir Putin. And it lives up to that. The book is a series of answers to a variety of questions by a number of individuals. So it is mostly in the first person, and it reveals his aims are twofold. The first is to concentrate on clearing up the muddle Russia is still in, and the second is to hold the Country together and not go the way of Yugoslavia. He openly admits that Russia is in an ungodly mess economically, and his aim is to get it back to a working proposition so its citizens can enjoy an acceptable way of life. Russia simply cannot afford any foreign adventures and is most unlikely to get involved in any Middle East conflicts. His involvement in Chechnya is to discourage any further breakaways from the Nation as a whole. He doesn't want another Yugoslavia. He is quite revealing in his biographical background. He has never been all that active in the Communist Party or in political power-seeking. And likewise in the Army. He was much attracted to a career in the KGB. But this has been a very much emasculated version of Stalinist days. Actually he was born in the same year that Stalin died. All his jobs have been public service. He seems to have been very much the bureaucrat which I mentioned in my previous article. Looking at the Transits to his Chart for the immediate future I don't see Pluto in Sagittarius having much bearing on his position as President. The vulnerable period will be when Uranus enters Aries and links up with his stellium in Libra, and that won't happen for another ten years, so he could have a reasonably long term. □

TEST NO. 63—SOLUTION

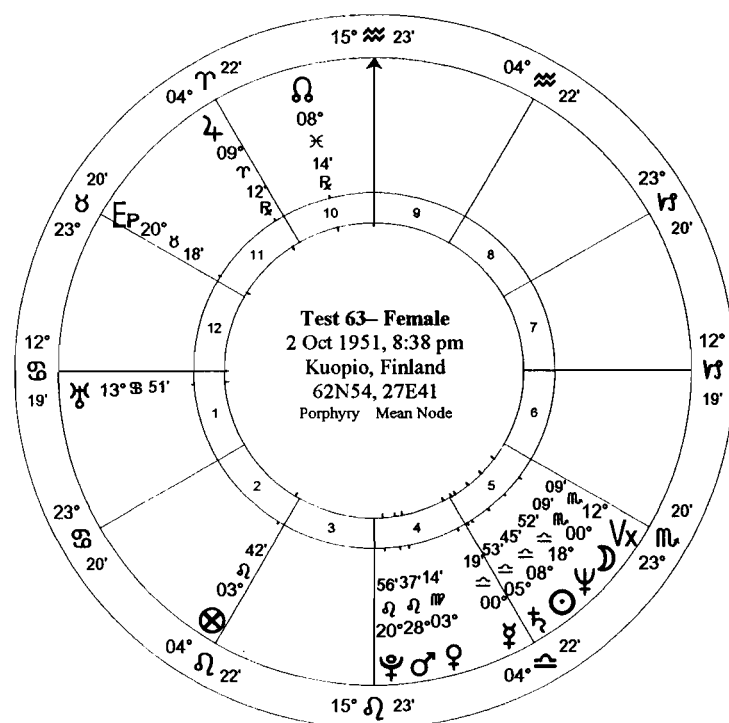

This Test was an exercise to determine which of five possible events occurred on 7th October 1997 in the life of a woman born in Finland on 2nd October 1951. At the time she was living in Sydney (33S52, 151E13), married, no children, the department head in a technical college. The five possible events were—

1. She was granted a promotion.
2. She went on an overseas trip.
3. She suffered a financial loss.
4. She was involved in a love affair.
5. She underwent surgery.

The correct answer is No. 5—the woman underwent surgery.

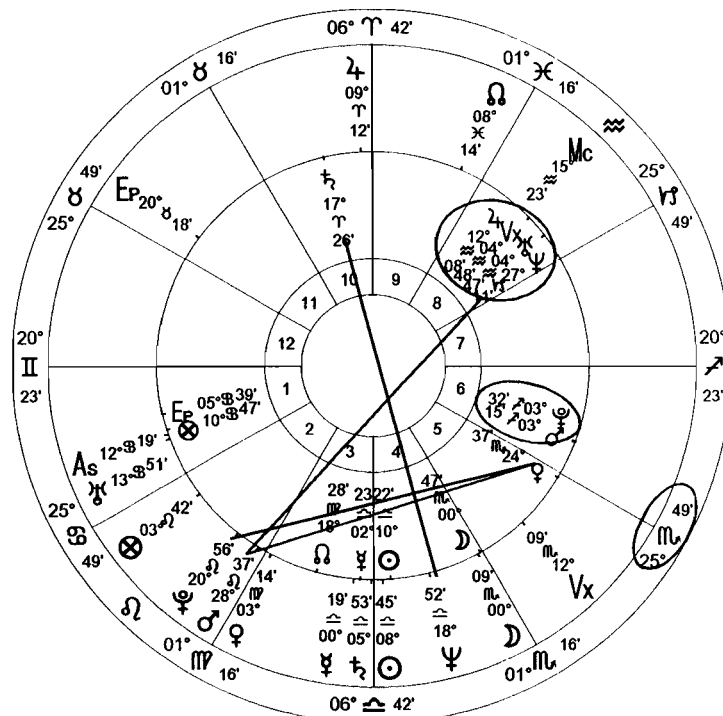

Here is her Birth Chart:

The answer is most easily found from the Precessed Lunar

Return of 3rd October 1997, set for the changed location, Sydney. It appears in the next column, with the Birth Chart positions in the outer circle.

This BiWheel gives the correct answer and shows how none of the other four suggested events could apply. Surgery is shown by Inner Wheel: Test 63. Precessed Lunar Return, 3 Oct 1997, 11:30:34 pm, Sydney. (33S52, 151E13).

Outer Wheel: Birth Chart, 2 Oct 1951, 8:38 pm EET, Kuopio, Finland.

the exact conjunction of Mars and Pluto in the House of Illness, both planets being Rulers of Scorpio, the Sign on the Cusp. This is enough to determine the answer but there is confirmation from Venus on the Illness Cusp square to Natal Pluto and Mars, Saturn in close opposition to Natal Neptune ("the axis of illness"), Neptune on the 8th Cusp quincunx Natal Mars plus three planets and the Vertex in the House of Surgery.

The Biwheel also negates the other suggested possibilities:

1. Was she granted a promotion? No, n.Jupiter on the Career Cusp is opposed by the Sun. Mars, Ruler of the House, is afflicted by Pluto.
2. Did she go on an overseas trip? No, Jupiter rules the Cusp of Travel and is opposed by the Sun and squared by the Part of Fortune.
3. Did she suffer a financial loss? No, the Moon, Ruler of the Money Cusp has no appropriate affliction. The squares to the Vertex, Uranus and Neptune in the House of Surgery are the expenses of the operation.
4. Was she involved in a love affair? No, neither Venus nor the 5th House has any relevant configuration.

The answer is also in the 46th Age Harmonic (not printed)—Mars exactly on the 12th Cusp (hospital) ruling the 1st House (the physical body) and the 8th House (surgery); Neptune ruling the 12th exactly conjunct natal Mars; natal Mercury, Saturn, Sun and Neptune all in the A.H.'s House of Illness, Mercury being exactly square A.H.-Saturn (exactly here means within one degree). Picking out the precise Aspects is the first step in reading Age Harmonic Charts.

This Test had the best result so far—seven correct answers at the first attempt from twenty three astrologers in various parts of the world. Some who tried a second time were successful. All four of the incorrect suggestions were represented in the replies, but the most popular verdict was that the woman was involved in a love affair, a conclusion possibly due in large part to the romantic leanings of the respondents.

A variety of methods was used by those who found the correct answer: Jan Jelkins (USA) employed Transits, Solar-Arc Directions and Secondary Progressions plus a tentative use of the Age Harmonic which is a new technique to her but which backed up the conclusion she reached and ruled out some other options. Marye Moon (California) used Midpoints plus the Asteroids Asclepius and Askalaphus. Two Thai Uranian astrologers (Astroman and Tavapol) succeeded with half-sums and planetary pictures. Teresa Linek (USA?) used Transits, S-A Directions and the 90° Dial. Shirley Gray, (Michigan) used the Solar and Lunar Returns with Porphyry Cusps re-located to Sydney and considered in relation to the Radix, plus the Transits of 7th October 1997. My wife, Marguerite, used the very simple Direction of 1° a year which advances the Ascendant by 46° to 28Leo where it conjuncts Mars (surgery) Ruler of the 6th House (Health).

Congratulations to all who attempted the Test. As I have said before, the greatest reward for working on these exercises is the increase in skill and insight that results. Realization of this is increasing among astrologers at all levels. Sue Miller (Pennsylvania) writes, Thank you SO MUCH for stretching our awareness. Growing is such fun; and Nick Sutherland (Texas), The Tests are my favourite part of "A.F." . . . Thanks for many happy hours of entertainment and education!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Some respondents to the Tests have comments and questions:

Qn. You use the Precessed Lunar Return. Is that the first thing you look at?

Ans. No. The first thing I look at is the Age Harmonic Chart. If that is obscure I turn to the Precessed Solar or Lunar Return. Years of comparing charts has persuaded me that the Precessed Cyclic Charts give better indications than the standard (non-precessed) variety.

Qn. Do you use Porphyry Cusps always, also with the Natal Chart and Returns?

Ans. Yes, I use Porphyry with all charts, including Horary. For many years I used Placidus then Topocentric, and also dallied with Regiomontanus and Koch but find Porphyry the best. The way I discriminate between different Cusps is with Cyclic Charts, mostly Lunar and Solar Returns, and with Horary figures. Closeness to a Cusp (not just House placement) gives power to a planet. Test them yourself with your own and your friends' Precessed Lunar Returns. In a matter of months or weeks you will be able to make a judgement, and may even find some unexplained factor illuminated by a different Cuspal system.

Qn. What orbs do you use for Progressions and Returns?

Ans. For Secondary Progressions I use a TIME orb based on the date when the Aspect is exact. For the Moon, which is the fastest body, I expect its main effect within three days (it usually operates within one day); for Mercury, Venus and Mars, three days but they also usually operate within two days and Mars mostly the day before. The Sun, Jupiter, Saturn, Neptune about six days; Pluto is irregular—up to 12 days or even more.

The general tendency is for Progressions to operate before the exact date (like Transits). Symbolic Directions (Solar-Arc, Vertex-Arc, etc.) are Directed at a uniform rate and the bodies (including the Moon) have approximately equal time orbs of up to five days (longer for Pluto).

Primary Directions depend for accuracy of events on a precisely timed radix. Given that, I find the system available in Solar Fire, choosing the Time Key of the Natal Solar Rate, to be astonishingly accurate for Direction of Significators to both single factors and to Midpoints.

Qn. How important is the Solar Return, and do you use it also precessed?

Ans. The Solar Return is a very useful Chart giving indications for the whole Solar Year (birthday to birthday). I use it precessed, as I said, and in relation to the Radix in a Bi-Wheel. (I find the best indications come from putting the Radix in the outer wheel.) The Precessed Solar-Month Chart is also useful (the period from one month to another when the Sun reaches its natal degree, minute and second in succeeding Signs).

Qn. Do the number of planets in a House (in Progression or Return) play a less important role than the Aspects?

Ans. Yes, the Aspects are the more important though a collection of Significators in a House often gives good clues. The most important factors are close Aspects (preferably within 1°).

Qn. What do you think about Ebertin?

Ans. I assume you are referring to his book The Combination of Stellar Influences. It is an excellent book but needs extending to include midpoints involving the Vertex, the Equatorial Ascendant and the Part of Fortune.

TRANSITS DURING MARCH 2002

These are the interplanetary Aspects and the Stations forming in the celestial sphere during March. They will have relevance to you if you have the same Aspect natively or if one of your principal Significators (Sun, Moon, MC, Asc, Ruler, Moon's Node, Vertex, Equatorial Asc, Part of Fortune) is contacted. Even so, remember (apart from the planets' Stations) these are only interplanetary Transits and don't have the same significance as a Progressed or Directed Aspect to a Significator in your Birth Horoscope. Nonetheless, they may add to your understanding of planetary action.

March 2002

Mar. 2. Jupiter Stationary (turning Direct) at 5Cn37: Any planet that Jupiter conjuncts will have its action enlarged, made fruitful, or otherwise enhanced. If Stationary Jupiter is in a close opposition or square to a Significator, then curb any tendency to excess and, if to the Sun, to run-ins with spouse or superiors.

Mar. 3. Mercury sextile Pluto: Puts an edge to your talking or writing that makes it pointed and effective in persuasion.

Mar. 8. Sun square Pluto: As a Transit this is relatively weak. It may signal the need for you to conform in some way, or be coerced. In Secondary Progression or Symbolic direction (e.g., by Solar-Arc) it is a powerful Aspect that can change your life fundamentally.

Mar. 9. Mercury conjunct Uranus: Direct your thinking into new channels and be awake to innovative fields of interest.

Mar. 10. Mars sextile Jupiter: The time to implement your plans with confidence in a successful outcome.

Mar. 13. Venus square Jupiter: Don't let indolence or negligence spoil things for you. See that your expenditure is not excessive.

Mar. 15. Venus sextile Saturn: Stabilize your relationships and practise loyalty, duty and economy.

Mar. 16. Mercury trine Jupiter: Widen your mental horizons—read, study a language, start a course of learning something.

Mar. 16. Mars square Neptune: Realize that loss or disappointment is a part of life. Get plenty of sleep to protect yourself from infection.

Mar. 16. Venus sextile Neptune: Look for the beauty and poetry in life—in music, literature, art and people.

Mar. 18. Mercury square Saturn: Don't be fazed by a difficult task or poor working conditions. This Aspect is an aid to serious thought and realistic appraisal of a situation.

Mar. 20. Mercury sextile Mars: Sharpens your wits and quickens your reactions. It is a help in mental or manual work that requires dexterity of mind or body.

Mar. 21. Pluto Stationary at 17Sg28. If Pluto contacts your Sun, Moon, MC or Ascendant, it can effect big changes in your work, marital life or health, etc., probably ending one phase and starting another.

Mar. 22. Venus trine Pluto: Increases personal attractions and warms up your love life. Make hay while the Sun shines.

Mar. 23. Mercury square Pluto: Can bring a number of little but demanding or exacting jobs to do and increases nervous irritability. Concentrate on remaining calm.

Mar. 27. Sun square Jupiter: Tends to excess in various directions and lack of harmony in the home or with superiors.

Mar. 30. Venus sextile Uranus: Could bring a pleasant little surprise or romantic interest. Enjoy the unexpected pleasures of life.

Mar. 31. Sun sextile Saturn: Appreciate the benefits of an ordered, regulated life in which you quietly fulfil your tasks.

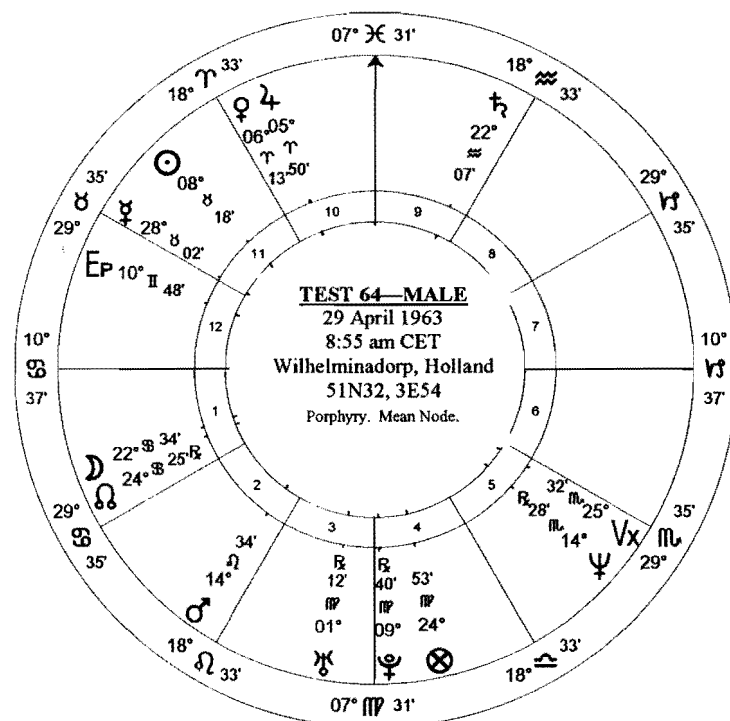

Mar. 31. Sun sextile Neptune: Renders you more impressionable than usual and turns your thoughts inward. Your sensitivity, feeling, intuition, imagination and fantasy are all enhanced.

TEST 64

Below is the Birth Chart of a man born in Holland on 29 April 1963. A critical event occurred in his life on 31 August 1991 when he was living in Goes (51N30, 3E54). Can you pick from the following five events which one it was? The man was earning a living as a member of a rock Band and had a steady relationship at the time.

1. He obtained an unexpected inheritance.
2. He was caught smuggling drugs.
3. He fell ill and became paralysed.
4. He started psychiatric treatment.
5. He received an award for his first solo CD recording.

As with previous Tests, you can use any astrological method or technique—Traditional, Modern, Uranian, Horary, etc. Extensive analysis from a variety of angles is not required but only the crucial Aspect, Half-Sums, Planetary Pictures, etc., that were the determining factors in your judgement. The answer can usually be found with several techniques but the one that is most convincing will suffice.

Please let me have your answers by March 20. All respondents whose answer is wrong will have the opportunity for further attempts if they send an early reply and will receive a solution worked in detail after the deadline and before publication of the April Issue. □

GOVERNOR-GENERAL PETER HOLLINGWORTH

The controversy surrounding the Australian Governor-General at present, just before the visit of Queen Elizabeth, makes his Chart an especially interesting one. Esoteric Technologies have supplied the date and place of his birth but unfortunately have not yet been able to ascertain the time. Hence the Chart that appears below is a speculative one but still of interest, and may give scope for rectification from the personal details supplied.

Born in Adelaide, Peter Hollingworth's family moved to East Malvern in Victoria in 1941 where he attended the Lloyd Street and Murrumbidgee State Schools, before going to Scotch College and then taking on a commercial cadetship with BHP. During his National Service in 1953, Peter was drafted to the Padre's Office as secretary and found his vocation to the priesthood. He graduated from the University of Melbourne in 1960 with a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Licentiate of Theology, having resided at Trinity College.

He met his wife Ann while still on National Service and married in 1960. Ann, was born Kathleen Ann Turner on 19 May 1936 in Brighton, Melbourne. The Hollingworths have three daughters, Deborah, Sarah and Fiona, and four grandchildren.

After completing his studies, Peter became Deacon-in-Charge and then Priest-in-Charge of St Mary's, North Melbourne as part of an innovative inner city team ministry.

Four years later, he was appointed as Chaplain to the Brotherhood of St Laurence where he served for a total of 25 years in a range of different positions, ultimately as Executive Director. During this period, he completed a Master of Arts Degree in Social Work at Melbourne University and wrote several books based on his experiences working with the poor and disadvantaged.

Dr Peter Hollingworth was sworn in as Australia's 23rd Governor-General on 29 June 2001. Upon being sworn in, he became the Chancellor and Principal Companion of the Order of Australia.

In February 2002, media attention turned the spotlight on Hollingworth as reports came to light of his ignoring sexual abuse and harassment within his Brisbane diocese during his time as Archbishop of Brisbane.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock. 25 February 2002.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 247 February 2002

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

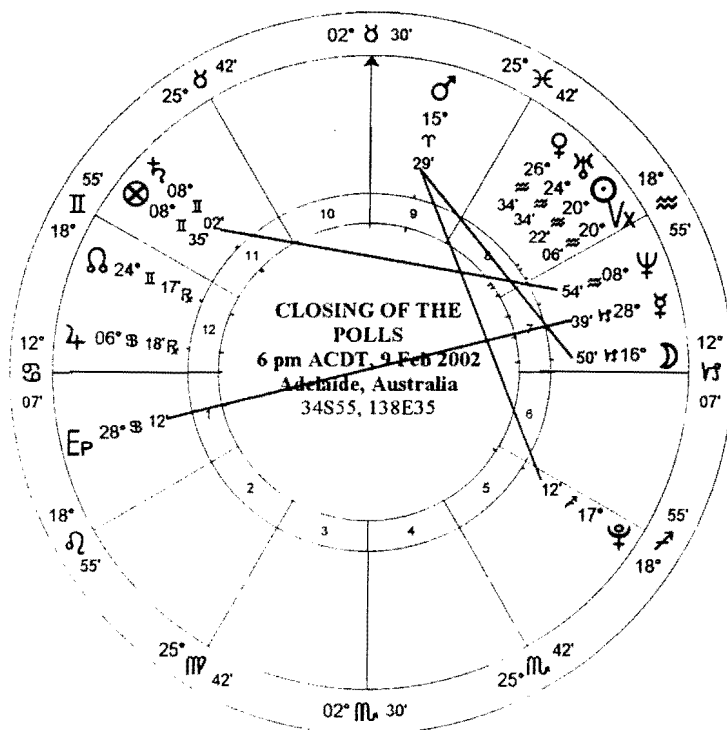

SOUTH AUSTRALIA ELECTION

9 FEB 2002: LABOR TO WIN

The State Election on February 9 will, as usual, be principally a battle between the two major Parties—the incumbent Liberal Party and the Labor Party, at present in Opposition.

As I do not have the birth data of either of the respective leaders—Mr Kerin and Mr Rann—I am predicting the result on the basis of the closing of the polls at 6 pm on Saturday, Feb. 9.

Here is the Chart:

The East side of the Chart represents the incumbent (Liberal) Government and the West side represents the Labor Opposition.

The Liberal's Ascendant Sign is Cancer. Its Ruler, the Moon, is in Detriment in Capricorn and badly placed in the 7th House which is the 1st House of the Opposition. This means that it is in some degree subject to the domination of the opposing Party. The Moon is also adversely affected by the square of Mars.

The 10th House (success, victory) of the Liberal Party has Taurus on the Cusp, ruled by Venus, which is here afflicted by the conjunction of Uranus and is combust the Sun. This augurs badly for the Liberals.

The 1st House of the Labor Party is the 7th of the Figure. It has Capricorn on the Cusp, ruled by Saturn in Gemini closely trine to Neptune. Neptune rules the derived 3rd House (Radical 9th), corresponding to Saturn's placement in the 3rd Sign (Gemini). I read this as a multitude (Neptune) of votes (3rd House) for the Opposition. By contrast, the 3rd House of the Liberal Party has Virgo on the Cusp, ruled by Mercury, which is closely opposed by the E.P. in the 1st House—a loss of support for the Government.

The Opposition's 10th House (4th of the Figure) has Scorpio on the Cusp, ruled by Mars and Pluto. These planets are in trine to

In This Issue...

	Page
South Australia—Election 9 Feb 2002.....	1
The State of Astrology.....	1
Test No. 62—Report.....	2
Test No. 63.....	3
Transits, February 2002.....	4
Lost Keys.....	4

one another—a fortunate augury for the Opposition.

The Chart is overwhelmingly in favour of the Labor Party, which is why I predict it will win. □

THE STATE OF ASTROLOGY

Our series of "Tests" is casting a searchlight on the deficiencies in current astrological techniques. I am agreeably surprised at the increasing number of astrologers in various parts of the world who have not feared to apply their current methods to solving the problems. The fact that, at this stage, they mostly don't find the correct solution, is of less importance than their realization that something has to be done to make their astrological work accurate and reliable. The science and art of Astrology is a marvellous tool providing insight and understanding of how the Universe works—how things celestial do really correlate with things terrestrial. Computers are miraculous instruments that have developed our scope and potential beyond the most fanciful dreams of astrologers a few generations ago.

I have been mesmerized by Astrology since I first contacted it in 1935 when every calculation had to be done carefully by hand. I was enthralled beyond measure in the 1970's to find that a simple hand calculator could do it for me. The progression from there to a programmable calculator and thence to that supreme achievement, the computer, gave me unending delight as well as expediting my astrological investigations beyond anything I would previously have thought possible.

With all this help from modern technology, the wide range of astrological techniques available, and given the sound, true basis of our art, is it not reasonable to suppose that a competent astrologer should be able to define accurately which of several possibilities was the one that actually happened on a certain day in the life of a person whose birth data are given? The unhappy truth is that at present the reverse is true. It is exceptional to get a correct answer. Why is that? It is not that the respondents are unintelligent—they are highly intelligent. Except in a few cases it is not that they are insufficiently acquainted with the subject. In my opinion it is because the individual astrologer has acquired or been taught a particular method on which he/she relies, and out of respect for the teacher or the source from which it came believes it to be all-sufficient, and wouldn't think to question its veracity.

The lamentable limitations are shown up immediately when the individual seeks to find the answer to one of the "Test" questions I propound every month. It takes courage to send an answer that may be (and usually is) wrong. One fears that one's status as a teacher or exponent of Astrology will be down graded. This can happen, of course, but how much better to find out just how lacking in effectiveness is the technique used and how it can be improved or replaced by something better. Without these practical tests of favoured techniques one never knows just how effective or ineffective they are. You would think that astrologers would jump at this opportunity afforded, as far as I know, only by this Journal, Astrologers' Forum, and one other publication (the German Hamburger Heft).

For whatever reason, the number of respondents to the Test Questions is only a fraction of the number of readers. All honour to those brave few who do respond, try to find the correct answers and leave themselves open to the criticism of others who fear to tread the same path. It is a case of putting truth and honesty above an assumed or apparent position of knowledge and skill in Astrology—a position that may, indeed, have little basis in fact.

It is encouraging that the number of astrologers taking an active part in the Tests continues to grow. From originally four responses to the first Test some years ago, the numbers have climbed steadily through 7, 11, 13, etc. to today's total of 19 for the current Test, No. 62. Those who have responded may occasionally have felt humbled by the results of their efforts but it is to their credit when they persist and do not opt out with some fictional excuse such as lack of time. (I exempt from this charge those hard-working professional or amateur astrologers who truly do not have the time to attempt the Tests.) The ones who persist in the face of repeated "failures" are the ones who value truth above a false reputation or unsound techniques. These "Tests" are practical exercises and it is the thought and work put into them that yields the rewards, irrespective of whether the answer was or was not correct.

What we mainly see today on the e-mail Astrology Lists of the World Wide Web are reams of word-spinning about what the "ancients" wrote or about obscure points of interpretation that are rarely of any practical consequence. These outpourings are frequently dashed off in a hurry with little or no attention to structure or spelling (though this is what a reader is entitled to expect), are frequently corrected in a subsequent post (when with a little care they would have been right the first time) the authors excusing themselves as being in a hurry. It is obvious that these e-mailers simply want easy interchanges with other correspondents, which does have a certain social value, of course. But the real rewards come from the hard work of solving astrological problems and it is encouraging that many are now discovering this for themselves.

TEST NO. 62—REPORT

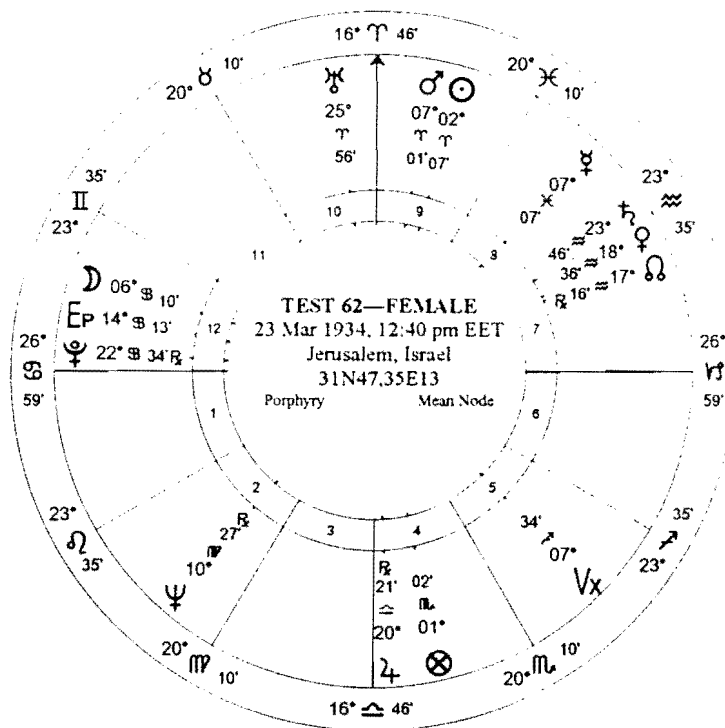

The subject was a woman born in Israel, on 23 March 1934. Her Birth Chart appears in the next column. She is a widow, a mother of three, and was working as a nanny of a baby girl.

The question was which important event, of the following five possibilities, occurred in her life on 25 April 2001, in Jerusalem.

1. She lost a considerable sum of money.
2. She had a heart attack.
3. She was involved in a traffic accident.
4. A beloved male died.
5. She acquired a new partner.

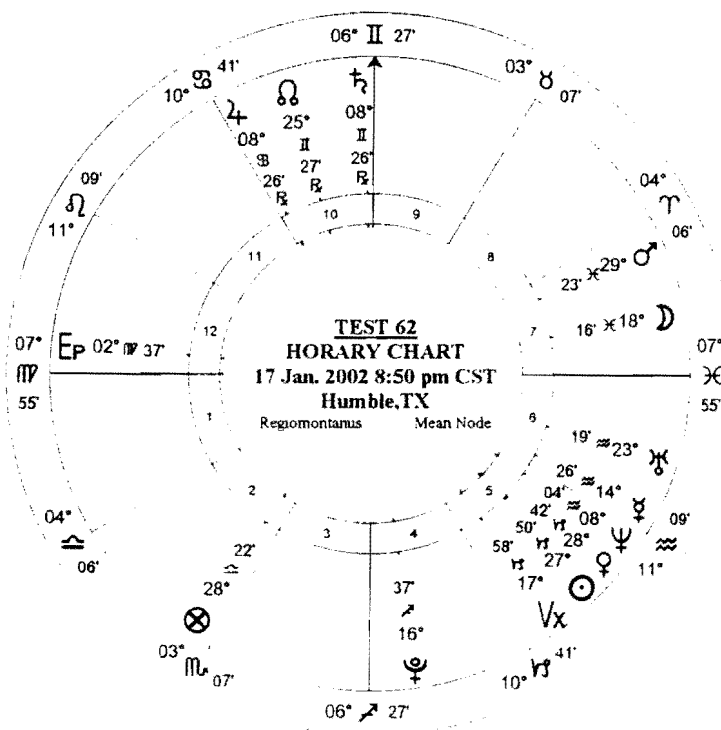

The answer is that the woman suffered a heart attack.

This exercise was designed to attack one of the great weaknesses in modern Astrology—how to discriminate between different possibilities all of which appear to be indicated by some astrological factor or factors—Aspect, Half-Sum, Planetary Picture, House position, Asteroids, etc. Our frequent failure to do this effectively is the biggest drawback to accurate prediction or diagnosis. Consequently, the "multiple choice" type of question is being favoured at present to see whether we can overcome this disability. It is also less difficult than the "what occurred" type of Test, though difficult enough.

There were 19 respondents—8 from the USA, 4 from The Netherlands, 3 from Australia, 3 from Thailand, 1 from Belgium. Among the 30 answers (some respondents, to their credit, making two or three attempts) there was one correct. It came from Lee Miller (Texas) using a Horary Chart, presented below.

Lee has sent a detailed expert analysis of the Chart from which she drew her conclusion that the person suffered a heart attack. The following is a shortened version:

The person enquiring (Lee) is represented by the 1st House and the person enquired about who suffered the heart attack by the 7th

The event will be of the nature of the House occupied by the Sun which is here in the 11th House of the victim whose Ascendant is the 7th Cusp. The 11th House relates to circumstances beyond her control. The Sun is in the Sign Capricorn which rules restriction and blockage as well as chronic illness. It is six Houses from the Cusp it rules (the 12th) which means misfortune or focus on a health matter.

The last transit of the Sun (the heart) was over Pluto, significator of complications.

The event will be based on something ruled by the House where Leo is found. Leo is on the derived 6th Cusp of the victim, relating to her health.

The activity of the event is of the nature of the House the Moon is in (derived 1st) which indicates possible change in the physical body. The Moon is in the unfortunate Sign Pisces which is associated with the House of Hospitalization (12th).

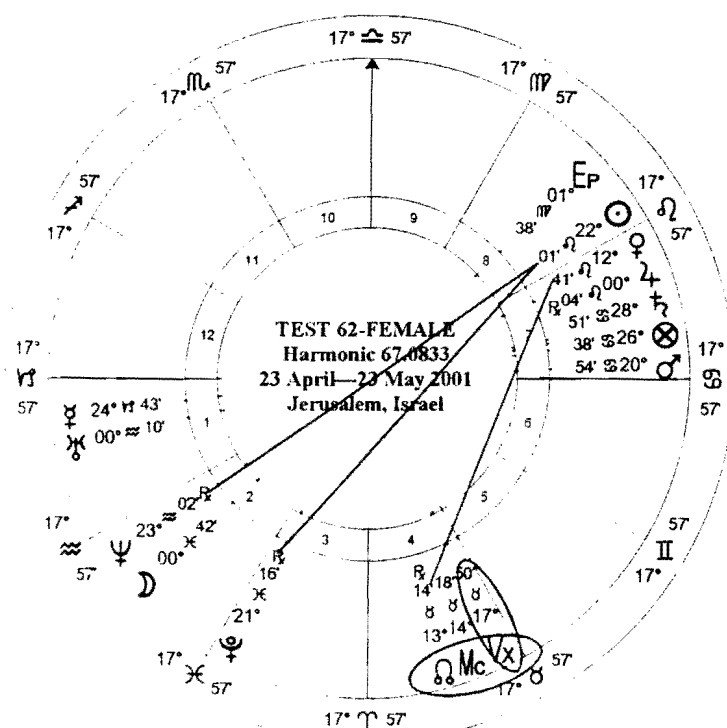

The activity will be based on something ruled by the House where Cancer is found. Cancer is on the derived 5th House (hazards). With its Ruler, the Moon, in the victim's 1st House, this could indicate a hazard to the body. The 5th House is also related to the heart, as is Leo on the derived 6th Cusp, and points to an illness of the heart.

The Sun is disposed by malefic Saturn which rules the derived 11th House (developing circumstances beyond her control) and the derived 12th House (misfortunes and hospitals).

The victim's Ascendant receives a trine from its Ruler, Jupiter, the greater benefic. This may have helped her regain her health.

Lee has written a much more extensive interpretation derived from her research into and intimate knowledge of Horary Astrology over many years as the Director of the Internet List Horary Today. Those who would like to contact her and learn more can do so by e-mail to motive@mail.ev1.net.

The answer could also be discovered from a Harmonic Chart. Harmonic 67.0833 covers the month of the event, 23 Apr—23 May 2001. Here is the Chart:

An obvious indicator is the powerful opposition of Neptune to the Sun, powerful because it has a 1° orb and involves the principal Significator.

Was it a heart attack? The Sun rules the heart, and so does the 5th House whose Cusp is conjunct the Vertex and within a few degrees of both the floating MC and the Moon's Node. The Ruler of this House, Venus, squares these three Significators. Pluto (a destructive influence) afflicts the Sun by quincunx within a 1° orb. This amounts in total to a major emphasis on the heart.

Was it a considerable loss of money? This relates to the 2nd and 8th Houses and is unlikely as Saturn ruling the 2nd House is conjunct both the Part of Fortune and Jupiter, the Greater Fortune.

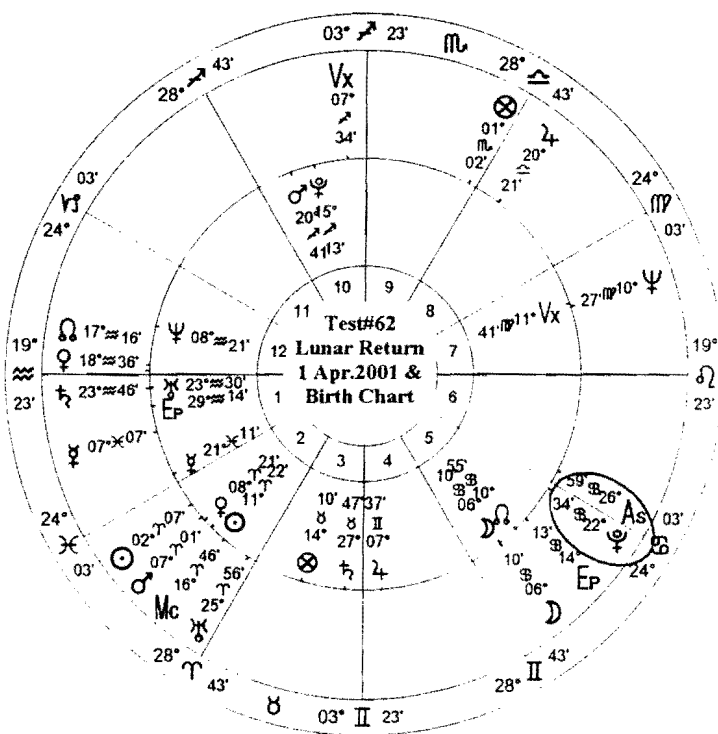

Was she involved in a traffic accident? Pluto in the 3rd trines Mars but neither planet bears any close relation to the 1st House (the physical body). Jupiter, Ruler of the 3rd opposes Uranus within a 1° orb but this is not the signature of a traffic accident.

Did a beloved male die? Loss and grief (the 12th House) is not emphasized; Venus (the beloved) has no planetary affliction and neither has the Moon (emotional distress).

Did she acquire a new partner? No—Venus would have to be favourably involved and here it is square the Nodes and the MC.

A HEART ATTACK is the only reasonable conclusion.

If further evidence is required one need only look at the Lunar Return Chart of 1 April 2001 (see below) where the Sun is squared by the Moon ruling the House of Illness and weakened by its sextile to Neptune. The Sun's quincunx to the Vertex shows it is a matter of significance. None of the other four possibilities is even hinted at. Furthermore, if you put the Radical Figure around the Lunar Chart the natal Ascendant and Pluto closely straddle the 6th Cusp (illness) while natal Saturn, 23Aq46, joins Uranus, 23Aqu30, just under the Rising Degree.

The Precessed Lunar Return Figure is even more compelling—the Natal Asc/Pluto conjunction falls directly athwart the 5th Cusp—the heart.

TEST NO. 63

On the next page is the Birth Chart of a woman born in Finland on 2nd October 1951. An important event happened in her life on the 7th October 1997. At the time she was living in Sydney (33S52, 151E13), married, no children, the department head in a technical college. The exercise is to determine which of five possible events was the one that actually occurred.

I recommend this "Test" to all astrologers seeking to improve their diagnostic and predictive skills. Don't expect it to be easy—it is not. The amount of work and thought you put into it will determine how much you benefit from the exercise, whether or not you find the right answer. Please send you answers to me by 20th February. Everyone who does so will receive a personal answer.

Pick the actual event of 7th October 1997 from the following five possibilities:

1. She was granted a promotion.
2. She went on an overseas trip.
3. She suffered a financial loss.
4. She was involved in a love affair.
5. She underwent surgery.

TRANSITS, FEBRUARY 2002

The following planetary conjunctions, Aspects and Stations are occurring in the celestial sphere during February. They are of much less importance than personal Progressions and Directions but will affect you to some extent if they resonate with something similar in your Birth Chart, or they may extend your understanding of your own natal Aspects.

2002

Feb. 2. Venus sextile Pluto: Good for lovers and artists. Stirs up feelings and also promotes artistic talent.

Feb. 6. Sun sextile Pluto: Strengthens the will and enhances personal effectiveness. Male influence is significant.

Feb. 8. Venus conjunct Uranus: Highly romantic; inclines to love adventures or at least something exciting, unusual and eccentric.

Feb. 8. Saturn Stationary at 8°2' Gemini. If this touches your Sun or Ascendant it brings sober reality and a realistic view of things. If it touches your natal Moon then take care of your health—don't get chilled.

Feb. 9. Mercury Stationary at 28°39' Capricorn, turning Direct—a welcome turnabout promising fewer misadventures than usually follow when Mercury is Stationary turning Retrograde. If Mercury is on the Sun, Ascendant or Moon of your natal Figure it stimulates you to intellectual activities or little trips around.

Feb. 12. Mars trine Pluto: Strength and stamina. Ideal for carrying through a programme of work.

Feb. 12. Sun conjunct Uranus: Expect the unexpected. Look out for new, progressive activities and enjoy the stimulus, but don't go off the deep end.

Feb. 17. Venus trine Jupiter: Some self-indulgence is natural under this easy, pleasure-giving influence. Harmony and cordiality prevail. If you have a lucky streak you would benefit from a small gamble.

Feb. 18. Venus square Saturn: Watch that you don't fall out with people you really love. Latent kidney or urinary troubles are prone to surface with this planetary combination.

Feb. 23. Mars sextile Uranus: Creative energy that sharpens your decision-making and can be used to achieve your ends quickly.

Feb. 24. Mercury trine Saturn: A good influence for careful, detailed work. Keeps your thinking realistic and brings you down to earth if you have been over-fanciful.

Feb. 24. Sun trine Jupiter: The bringer of good things—personal growth and achievement, success or other benefits—your karmic rewards for past efforts.

Feb. 25. Mercury conjunct Neptune: Awakens your intuitive faculty and brings inspiration or new ideas in creative work.

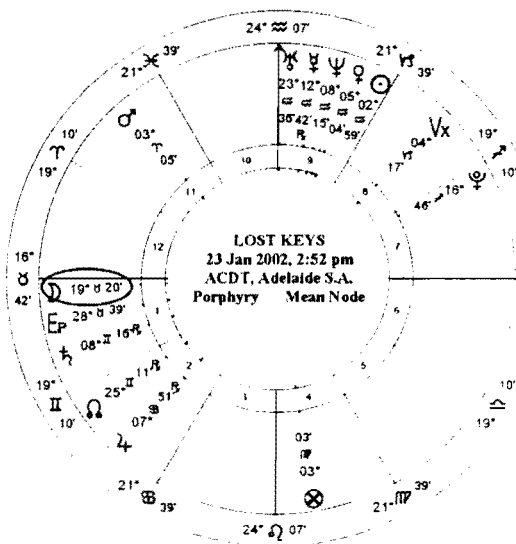

Feb. 26. Venus square Pluto: Great for lovers—stimulates the biological urges but can also cause turmoil if passion gets out of hand. Pluto moving to the square of Venus puts a focus on your love life and is much more difficult to handle than Venus coming to the square of Pluto.

Feb. 27. Sun square Saturn: Proceed with caution. Best not to put your plans into effect or start new enterprises at this time. Obstruction and difficulty would make it hard going.

LOST KEYS

Most people will know the feeling of alarm if not sheer panic that submerges all else when one loses one's key ring holding keys for the house, car, and sundry other items. Such was my misfortune (or carelessness) recently when I suddenly noticed the absence of my keys. However, I was saved by a Horary Chart that

I cast for the moment of discovering the loss. Here it is: Horary Charts for finding lost objects are often difficult, but here the answer is spelled out straight away by the dominant and all-important Moon on the Ascendant. It rules the 3rd House (Roads and Transport) which quickly gave me the clue—the keys are in the car!

My wife was out driving the car at the time, so I had to wait till she came home, but on her return I did indeed find them, slipped down behind the seat. Lost items are normally referred to the 2nd and 4th Houses, ruled here by Mercury and the Sun which are in conjunction without being "combust" (with 8° of the Sun and adverse — "burned up"). Other favourable indications that the keys would be found are the Sun above the Earth, Jupiter and the Node in the 2nd House, and Mercury conjunct Venus. That they would be found quickly is shown by the Angular Moon just a few degrees below the Ascendant.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock.
28 January 2002.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

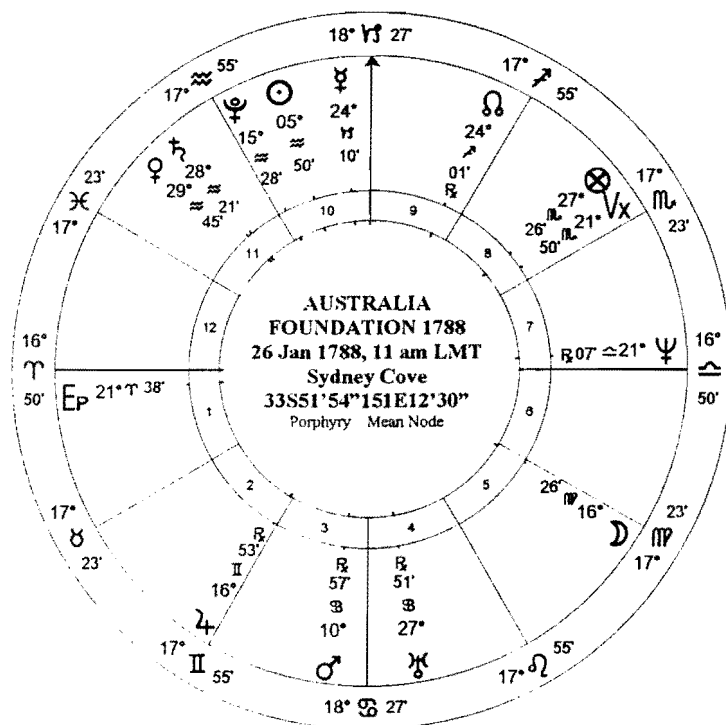

A Non-Profit Monthly Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events
 Founder & Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
 Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $A20. Overseas: $A25
 E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 61 08 8336 1956
 Issue 246 January 2002

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

THE AUSTRALIAN BUSHFIRES

The fires that are currently devouring parts of the Australian bush land and devastating settled areas are about the worst we have ever had as regards property loss. At the time of writing (5 January 2002) more than 170 homes have been reduced to ashes in NSW alone leaving just a brick chimney standing. About a hundred fires are ravaging the country. Fortunately there has not been any loss of life so far.

As was to be expected, the Month Harmonic from Australia's Foundation Chart depicts the bushfires. Australia's National Chart is based on the Proclamation at Sydney Cove on 26th January 1788. I use 11 am L.M.T. which I have found correlates well with the big events in Australia's history as well as being consonant with the National character. Here it is:

The bush fires started in November and have increased in scale ever since. The BiWheel in the adjacent column has the Month Harmonic for the period 26 Nov.—26 Dec. 2001 surrounded by the Radix of the Australia Foundation. The Cusps are from the Harmonic Chart (Inner Wheel).

There are plenty of adverse factors. Most noticeable is the configuration of h.Mars (Ruler) opposite both h.Neptune and n. Moon (ruling the 4th House—land and property), all being in T-Square with n.Jupiter (loss of the Nation's wealth). Further, h. Saturn (rising) squares n.Mars in the 4th House (destruction of homes).

Further depletion of the Nation's assets is shown by the conjunction of the Sun and Jupiter in the Harmonic Chart closely square to n.Saturn and Venus.

Uranus right on the Ascendant in Aries is disposed by h.Mars

In This Issue...	Page
The Australian Bushfires	1
Test No. 61—Solution	2
Hints on Interpreting Age Harmonics	3
Test No. 62	3
Transits, January 2002	3
Sporting Debacle	4
Australia in 2002	4

Inner Wheel: Age Harmonic 213.8333 (26 Nov.—26 Dec. 2001)
Outer Wheel: Radix, Australia Foundation-1788.

which is opposite Neptune, indicating an unsettled, adverse period with the threat of loss.

Current Progressions and Directions in the National Chart are also adverse, Pluto combining with a variety of Significators to pursue its work of destruction:

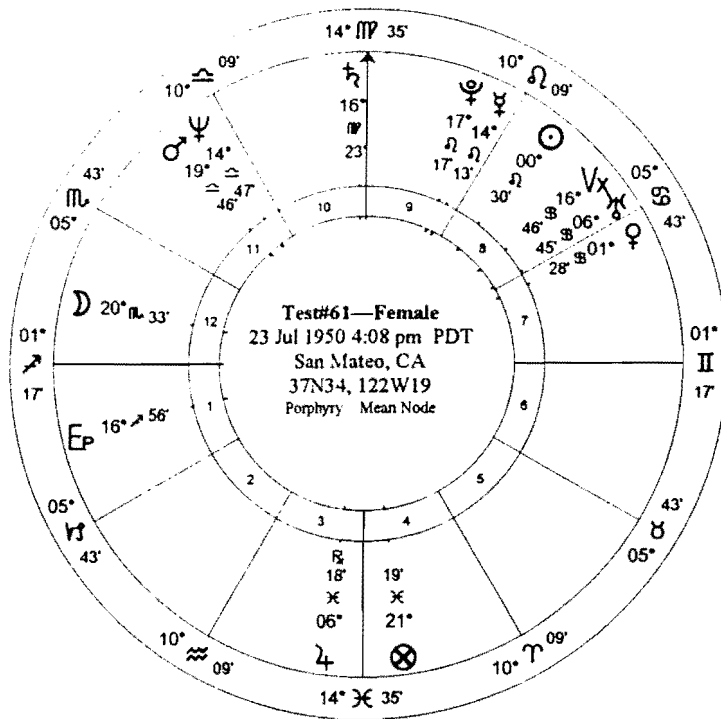

Jupiter square Pluto (converse Solar-Arc) 14 Nov. 2001,
 Moon square Pluto (converse Scdry P—P) 12 Dec. 2001,
 Pluto opposite Ascendant (Primary Direction) 21 Dec. 2001,
 Moon square Pluto (converse Scdry—Natal) 25 Dec. 2001,
 Lunar Eclipse, 8Cn47, conjunct n.Mars 30 Dec 2001.

Those are the chief Aspects up to date but there is still to come IC conjunct Pluto (Scdry—Natal) on 10 January 2002, so the ravages of the fires are not yet finished.

The Harmonic Chart for the period 26 Dec.—26 Jan. 2002 (not shown here) is similarly adverse with Neptune opposing the Ascendant, (further losses) h.Pluto conjunct n.Moon (destruction of homes), h.Uranus square n.Mars (turbulent changes). □

TEST 61—SOLUTION

Test 61 was an exercise to find out what occurred on 1st March 1977 in the life of a woman whose Birth Figure appears below. The woman was living in Los Angeles at the time.

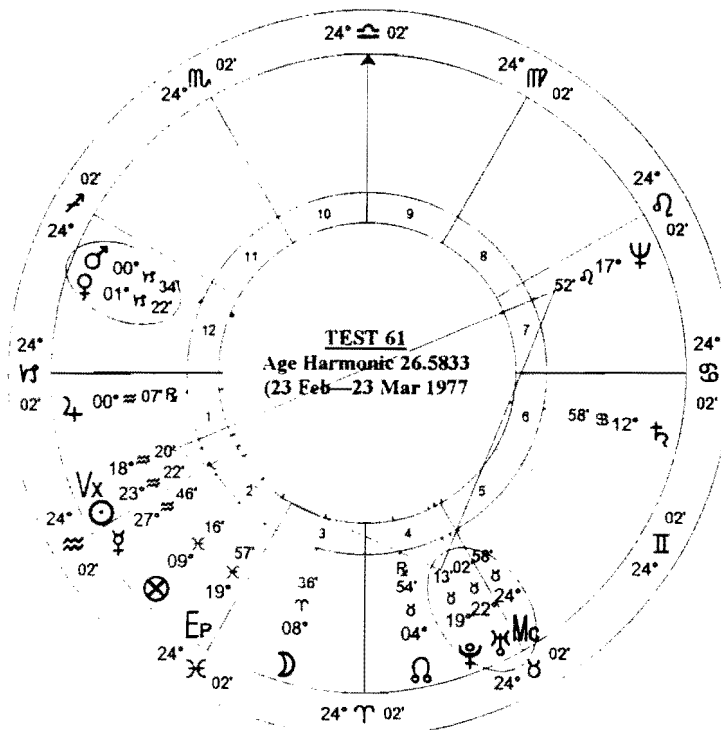

The answer is grim—the woman was raped.

There were 27 attempts from 17 respondents in the USA, The Netherlands, Germany, Egypt, Greece, Israel, Australia, New Zealand, and Thailand (fortunately they all wrote English!). This is the greatest number of responses so far and it would probably have been more but for an unfortunate mistake in the last Issue of giving the deadline as 20th January instead of 20th December. I was able to correct this by e-mail for most of the recipients.

Methods used were Secondary Progressions, Primary Directions, Solar Returns, Lunar Returns, Age Harmonics, Profections, Uranian and Vedic techniques.

The most direct route to the answer was the Chart for Harmonic 26.5833 (below) which applies to the period 23 Feb—23 Mar 1977, the month in which the rape occurred:

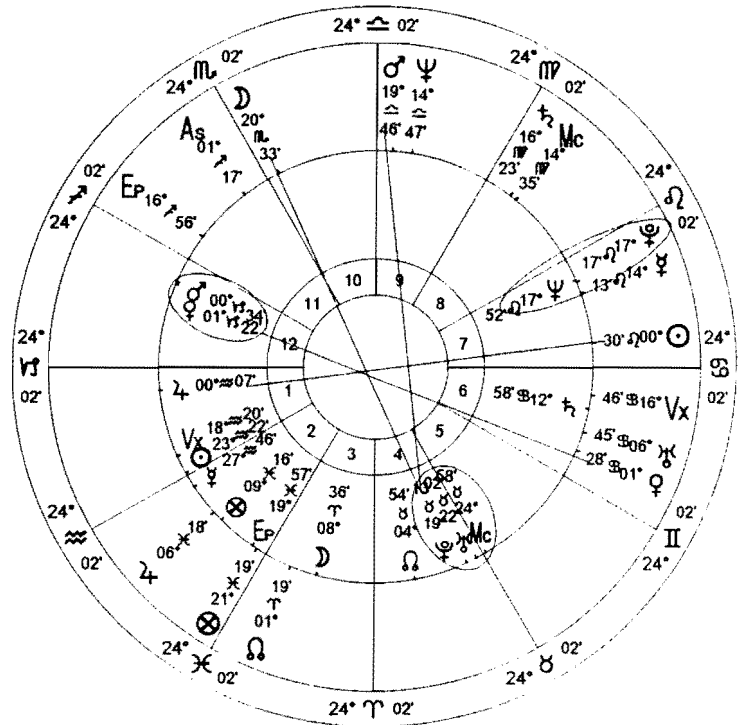

The 5th House immediately attracts attention through the Floating MC. Uranus and Pluto being in conjunction and clustered around the Cusp. The MC relates to the psychic and emotional state of the woman which is here shown by Uranus and Pluto to be in turmoil. Ebertin defines the ill-effect of a Uranus/Pluto conjunction as "life crisis; suffering under superior force". Being on the 5th Cusp this accords completely with violent rape.

Confirmation is provided by the position of the 5th House Ruler, Venus, which occupies the House of Sorrow and Suffering and is subject to the close conjunction of Mars (violence).

The extremely adverse nature of the Chart is emphasized by the square of Neptune to Pluto (sexual abuse) and the Vertex which completes a T-Square with them (stroke of Fate).

The Monthly Harmonic is sufficient on its own but putting the Birth Figure around it provides further confirmation. See the BiWheel below.

TEST 61: Inner Wheel, Age Harmonic 26.5833 for month 23 Feb—23 Mar 1977.
Outer Wheel, Birth Figure, 23 July 1950, 4:08 pm PDT, San Mateo

Harmonic Pluto is now closely opposed by n.Moon in Scorpio and closely quincunx N.Mars in Libra (sexual attack), a theme repeated by the opposition of n.Venus to the h.Mars/Venus conjunction. Finally, any hope of succour that h.Jupiter rising might have given is disposed of immediately by the opposition of n.Sun.

A good proportion of the respondents to this Test diagnosed that it was a terrible event but could not specify exactly what. Some succeeded or came very close on the second attempt. I am not quoting names here as I don't want these Tests to appear as contests. They are exercises to develop astrological skill. I found from my own experience how useful they are and I have received confirmation of that from various sources. Many declare they learn more astrology by doing the Tests than in any other way. Shirley Gray (Michigan), a very able and established astrologer, writes, "There is no doubt that these tests are the best way to learn, and I do think that working them out to the end, then boiling it all down to the key points for submission is the most educational part of the process".

Astrologers of long experience profit just as much as beginners. The Test questions are sent to me by readers and whenever possible I attempt them myself before offering them in the Journal and on the Internet.

While I am on this subject I appeal to all to dig out and send me any material that might form the basis of a useful astrological exercise. It is desirable to include background information of the person concerned apart from the full birth data (with accurate birth time). The information desired is what a professional astrologer would reasonably expect to know if he/she was dealing with the person as a client—such things as marital status, type of employment, children, and any special features bearing on the case. If you kindly send me the answer in a sealed envelope or by separate e-mail I can benefit by trying to solve the problem myself before publishing it as a "Test".

HINTS ON INTERPRETING AGE HARMONICS

Practice is all you need to get better with interpretation. I can offer a few things that I have found useful:

1. First of all, interpret the Age Harmonic on its own (without the Radix). Alone, this will often give the significant matters. When you surround it with the Radix you find confirmation.
2. Look for CLOSE ASPECTS (within 1°). The conjunctions are the most important but any Aspect, even a semi-sextile, is significant if within 1°. Give these close aspects priority, but having found and interpreted them see what is added by the other Aspects up to about 5° orb.
3. Closeness to a Cusp is important and significant – and I mean ALL Cusps, not just the Angles. Harmonic Charts are usually printed out with equal Cusps. At some time I may experiment with Porphyry Cusps taken for the geographic coordinates of the place but there isn't a Computer Program for this at present and it would mean the extra time of having to work by hand from a Table of Houses. (To my surprise, I have found Porphyry to give the best results in general work; this after having treated them with indifference for many years.)
4. It is largely a question of PRIORITIES – what astrological factor is more important and significant than another. This comes with doing lots of Age Harmonic Charts for events that you know in people's lives. It's serious work that counts – not lucky guesses. Of course for best results you need an accurate birth time.
5. Be careful to select the correct month when doing Monthly Harmonics. The correct month is the one that includes the date of the event. If the date of the event is 1st March and the birthday is the 23rd July it is no good going to March in the July column of the Table for Monthly Harmonics. That would refer to the month 23 March to 23 April, whereas what is wanted is 23 February to 23 March, so you look down the column for the figure opposite February.

TEST NO. 62

Here is another "multiple choice" question that will test your ability to distinguish between different possibilities. The subject is a woman born in Jerusalem, Israel (31N47, 35E13) on 23rd March 1934 at 12:40 pm EET. Asc 26Cn59, MC 16Ar46, Moon 6Cn10. She is a widow, a mother of three, and working as a nanny of a baby girl.

An important event occurred in her life on 25 April 2001, in Jerusalem. It was one of the following five possibilities. Which one was it?

1. She lost a considerable sum of money.
2. She had a heart attack.
3. She was involved in a traffic accident.
4. A beloved male died.
5. She acquired a new partner.

Please send your answers to me by 20th January 2001, giving the astrological reason for your choice. I emphasize this as those using Uranian or Vedic methods are not quoting any specific half-sums, House positions, planetary pictures, or whatever.

If your answer is wrong you can try twice again. All who respond will receive a personal communication from me with the solution and detailed analysis after the deadline. — Dymock.

Jenifer Pommerin (WA) writes, kindly, "You give credit to the Australian development of Age Harmonics. At the same time, it is through your dedication and generosity that we astrologers have the privilege of benefiting from such advances. So, Dymock, please take a pat on the back for what you have done for the astrological fraternity. If you can overcome a natural reluctance it would be nice to have you publish this appreciation in the Astrologers' Forum. Ross Harvey who introduced the potential of Age Harmonics would agree, I'm sure."

My "natural reluctance" proved no great obstacle, appreciation of this kind being rare and highly valued. I certainly appreciate Jenifer's kind remarks but want to make it clear that the original idea of using the person's age for doing a Harmonic Chart that applied to and illustrated the current year was the brain-child of Ross Harvey, resident in Turrumurra, NSW. Ross was inspired no doubt by his Mercury in Gemini trine Neptune. He is a full-time artist and art teacher and most of his brain-power is spent on his paintings. I should like to see a more even division between his art and his astrology, with cumulative benefit for the latter.

My own very secondary contribution was that (after an initial scepticism) I realized the great value of Ross's idea, seized on it with avidity and explored its tremendous potential. After 15 years of doing this I felt justified in proclaiming that Age Harmonics are the greatest advance in Astrology in the last 100 years.

— Dymock.

TRANSITS, JANUARY 2002

The partial interpretations below relate to the effect of planets in the celestial sphere forming Aspects with one another during the month of January 2002. As transiting phenomena their influence is limited but the interpretations apply with greater force to similar Aspects by Progression or Direction in your personal Birth Horoscope.

Jan. 1. Sun opposite Jupiter: "Excess" is a keynote. Amid the scenes of revelry on New Year's Eve and New Year's Day restrain those mad impulses, imbibe temperately and eat moderately or suffer the consequences.

Jan. 3. Venus opposite Jupiter: Self-gratification is OK if kept within bounds. Amorous instincts are amplified. Men may need to control their urges, women to control the situation.

Jan. 10. Mercury conjunct Neptune brings moments of inspiration in art, literature, poetry, etc. Don't commit yourself in contracts or agreements if your thoughts aren't clear or you are in doubt about some aspect of the business.

Jan. 11. Mercury trine Saturn is great for realistic thinking and practical organizing.

Jan. 14. Sun conjunct Venus: Warm your relationships and express your affections with a gift. The lucky ones will enjoy a love affair or love interlude, or a personal success.

Jan. 19. Mercury Stationary at 13Aqu21 and turning Retrograde: This will bring Mercury's usual assortment of minor troubles. Murphy's Law—anything that can go wrong will go wrong—will be in full operation. Take care with your correspondence (e.g., get the address right), accounts, documents, etc.

Jan. 19. Venus sextile Mars warms your feelings, adds sparkle to social gatherings and stimulates carnal desire.

Jan. 23. Saturn trine Neptune favours serious thought or work in privacy or seclusion. Contact cheerful people if you are being anxious and negative.

Jan. 23. Sun sextile Mars: Give expression to your energy, initiative and self-confidence in constructive activity.

Jan. 26. Venus trine Saturn: Appreciate your long-standing attachments. Bring joy to an elderly friend.

Jan. 26. Venus conjunct Neptune: Delicacy of feeling gives you social skill and the ability to charm those around you. Any musical or artistic activity will go very well now.

Jan. 26. Mercury conjunct Venus: Use this conjunction to smooth out any relationships that have become shaky or troubled. Enjoy conversations, telephone calls, reading and writing.

Jan. 27. Mercury conjunct Neptune: Relax, take heed of your inspiration, enjoy films, television, imaginative literature, etc.

Jan. 27. Mercury trine Saturn: Organize your affairs—daily routine, papers, books, correspondence, etc.—things that need to be done but what you don't normally rush to do.

Jan. 28. Sun conjunct Mercury trine Saturn: Attend to serious matters connected with work, employment, home maintenance, contracts, responsibilities and obligations.

Jan. 28. Mercury sextile Mars: Your mind will be active and sharp, so favourable for study, writings, discussions, etc., and your manipulative skill with tools or implements will be high.

Jan. 29. Sun conjunct Neptune favours meditative practices and filtering ideas from the "collective unconscious". It is also a time to receive an emotional lift from films, books, plays, etc., of more than usual import.

Jan. 29. Mars square Jupiter: Keep balanced and don't get unnecessarily involved in conflicts, arguments or extravagant spending. Activity is productive if well considered and not hasty.

Jan. 30. Mars sextile Saturn: You have the stamina necessary for continued work needing care and precision.

Jan. 31. Mars sextile Neptune helps you to achieve through increased enthusiasm and happy inspirations. A lot of ideas and plans keeps up the interest in life and gives an impetus to your projects. □

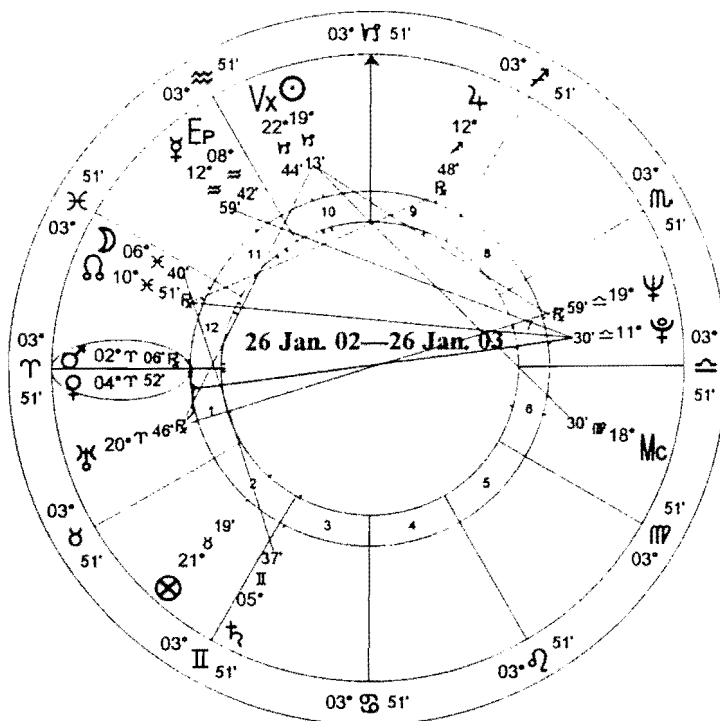

SPORTING DEBACLE

Australia is justly regarded as one of the top Nations in sport. It is all the more remarkable therefore that the Nation should suffer a comprehensive downturn in sporting achievement in November last. In the fields of tennis, cricket, soccer and boxing Australia had the unusual experience of suffering defeat, to the general surprise and chagrin of the populace. It is another example of the Saturn—Pluto opposition that was so prominent in the terrorist attack on the World Trade Centre on 11th September. Here it is below in the Lunar Return of 11th Nov. 2001.

The Saturn—Pluto opposition is prominently placed on the Meridian and is further emphasized by the square from the Moon. Saturn rules the 5th House (Sport). Its double affliction accounts for the sporting downturn. The Sun is also square Uranus (surprise and shock!) (To the delight of all the sports fans the downturn has already been reversed.) □

Annual Harmonic 214: 26 Jan. 2002—26 Jan. 2003

AUSTRALIA FOUNDATION

26 Jan. 1788, 11:00 am LMT, Sydney Cove, Australia.

33S51'54", 151E12'30"

AUSTRALIA IN 2002

Forecasting is a difficult business and is generally avoided by astrologers in the public arena. It is, however, the ultimate test of Astrology and should be attempted by all who would validate the science in the eyes of the world.

The above Annual Harmonic Chart is the preferred choice for forecasting as experience has shown that it is more truly indicative of events and trends than is the Solar Return Figure, the Sun-Moon Phase Angle or the Progressed Chart. Here is a partial reading. The close Aspects are the defining elements:

The Sun in the Midheaven is trine to the Floating MC and in a T-Square with Neptune and Uranus. In Capricorn it denotes a Conservative Government. The T-Square shows it is subject to intrigue—hidden and radical influences seeking to undermine it but Sun trine the Floating MC keeps it firmly in control.

Uranus/Neptune also signifies a great worry to the Government through refugees. The problem grows—large numbers of people from foreign countries seeking entry (Jupiter from the 9th House squaring the 12th-House Node; Pluto quincunx the Node). Mercury sextile Jupiter means legislation to deal with the problem.

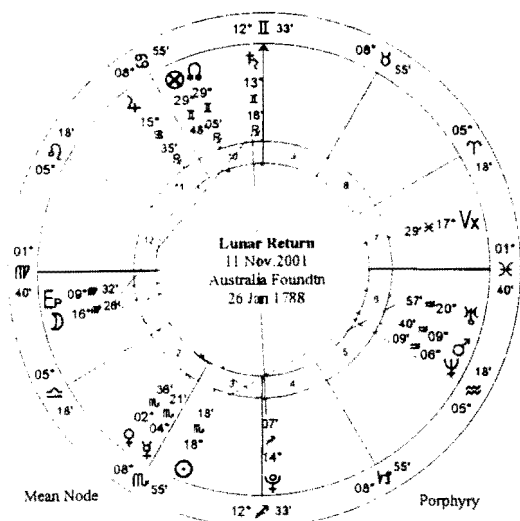

Mars conjunct Venus straddling the Ascendant and ruling the 1st and 7th Houses indicates closer ties with other countries. As Mars co-rules the 8th House it also indicates an increase in sex crimes, muggings and robberies (Venus ruling the 2nd House).

The Moon in Pisces on the 12th Cusp square to Saturn signifies closure of hospitals or severe restriction of their capacity to maintain a satisfactory health service. It also means an increase in the number of indigent people (12th H.) becoming an unwelcome responsibility of the Government (Saturn ruling 10th House).

Mercury in Aquarius trine Pluto signifies the mass media seeking to expose the true facts (Aquarius).

A sinister Midpoint configuration is Pluto (11Li30) ruling the 8th House (deaths and violence) opposite Mars/Uranus (11Ar26). This is more than a hint of terrorist outrages.

My kind regards and New Year good wishes to all. —Dymock.
5 January 2002.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 245 December 2001

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

TEST NO. 60—SOLUTION

This Test, which offered a choice of multiple answers, concerned a woman born 1 December 1956, 2:30 am AEST (-10), Sydney, 33S52, 151E13. Here is her Birth Horoscope:

An important event occurred in this woman's life on February 6, 2001. It was one of those listed below. The exercise was to pick the correct one.

- * Her marriage broke up.
- * She had an intense love affair.
- * She was injured in an accident.
- * She moved into a new home.
- * She acquired a new big-paying job.

The answer is that on February 6, 2001, the woman moved into a new house.

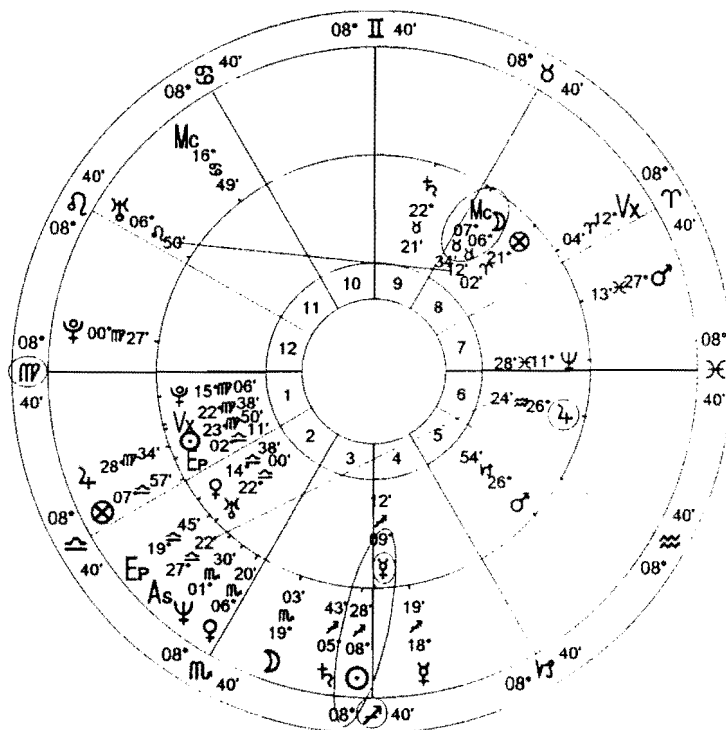

There were 21 attempts at a solution to this exercise from 15 respondents in the USA, Netherlands, Egypt, Israel, Thailand, and Australia. Three participants were correct on the first attempt—Donna May (Wisconsin), Lea-Breuer-Kantor (Israel) and Paul Langeveld (Netherlands). Donna was successful using the Solar Return, Capricorn Ingress and Age Harmonic. Lea utilized the Uranian formulas combined with the Diurnal Chart and Secondary and Tertiary Progressions and Transits. Paul found the answer in the Age Harmonic 44.1667, which provided the most direct solution. This Chart has been sent as an e-mail attachment individually to all participants.

A direct path to the answer is via the Age Harmonic. The woman was 44 years and two months old = 44.1667 years, which relates to the period Feb. 1—Mar. 1, 2001. In the next column is the BiWheel incorporating the Harmonic and the Birth Chart. This gives the answer on its own.

In This Issue...

	Page
Test No. 60— Solution.....	1
Transits, December 2001.....	2
Warning to Holiday-Makers	2
Airbus Flight 587 New York.....	2
PM John Howard – The Year Ahead.....	3
Australia Federation Chart – Revised.....	4
Test 61.....	4

Cusps are from the inner wheel which is the Age Harmonic for the month 1 Feb—1 Mar 2001.

Inner Wheel: Test 60: Age Harmonic 44.1667 (1 Feb—1 Mar, 2001)
Outer Wheel: Test 60, Birth Chart 1 Dec 1956, 2:30 am Sydney, 33S52, 151E13.

The Natal Sun 8Sg28 conjoints the 4th Cusp 8Sg40. Virgo on the Ascendant has Ruler, Mercury, at 9Sg12 conjunct the 4th Cusp. This emphasizes THE HOME as the sphere of importance. Additionally, Jupiter, Ruler of the 4th House, at 26Aq24 trines the Natal Ascendant 27Li22. The Moon conjunct the floating MC squares n.Uranus (change of home). N.Mercury also emphasizes the 4th House.

None of the other occurrences (marriage break-up, intense love affair, injury in an accident, big-paying job) can legitimately be read into this BiWheel.

The Answer might also have been found from the Lunar Return of 18 Jan 2001 circumscribed by the Birth Chart: Natal Fortuna 7Li57, conjunct 4th Cusp 7Li55; n.Jupiter at 28Vi34

The adverse indications are numerous and obvious: Jupiter, Ruler of the Ascendant (the plane) is retrograde in Cancer and squares the Moon (the passengers) ruling the House of Death.

Pluto, in and ruling the 12th House (self-undoing and sorrows) is sextile the Moon. Venus, ruling House 6 (mechanical condition of the aircraft) in detriment in Scorpio is closely square Neptune (hidden defects).

It was determined in the subsequent investigation that connecting brackets made of composite plastic had snapped on the tail fin, allowing it to separate from the body of the aircraft. This was due to Flight 587 taking off too close to a Japan Airlines 747 and being caught in the massive turbulence that it caused.

Terrorist activity as a factor in destroying the plane had previously been considered but was ruled out.

Another, not so obvious, adverse factor is the Rising Degree (20Sg39) being right at the Midpoint of Venus and Neptune (20Sg37)—an orb of only 2'. We know this precisely because of the exact recorded time of the plane's departure. This Midpoint Aspect points directly to the source of the trouble—mechanical failure from a hidden defect.

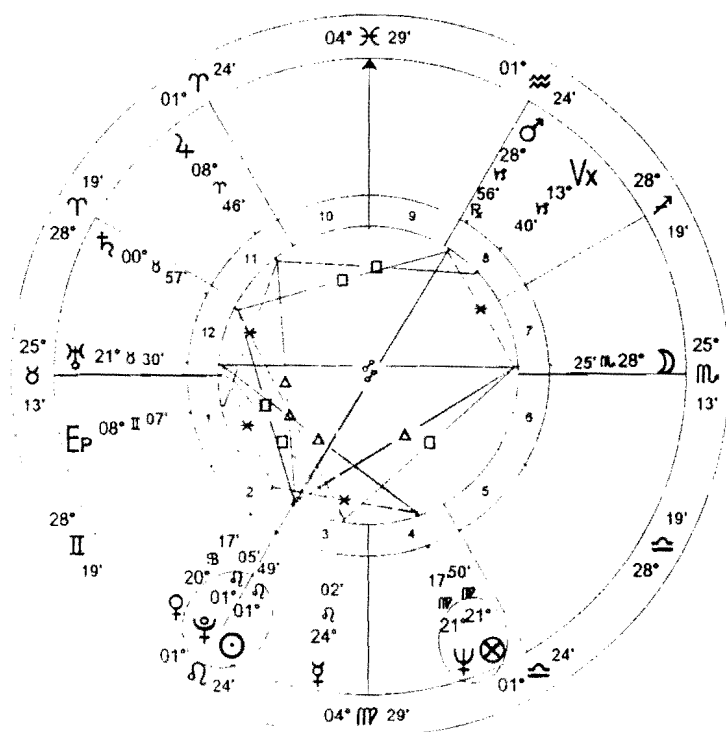

It may be asked why did the adverse factors listed above not cause a catastrophe to other aircraft (for instance the Japan 747), leaving a little beforehand? Apart from the precision of the adverse Midpoint factor mentioned above, the answer must be in the genesis of the Airbus—its Horoscope of going into service and its Progressed and Directed Aspects and Transits at the time of its take-off. In some more enlightened age we may expect that such vital data will be duly considered in the launching and operation of all major aircraft.

There is a lesson in this for everyone in regard to their own private lives: Before electing a time for any long or short journey investigate your own current Aspects in your Birth Chart. You do not override powerful adverse factors in your own Cyclic or Progressed Charts by selecting an ideal departure time!

PRIME MINISTER JOHN HOWARD

His Year Ahead

Now that John Howard has won the Election as predicted in the last Issue and has recovered somewhat from his euphoria at gaining a third term in Office, we might cast ahead and observe during the year how far the astrological pointers will coincide with events. Below is the Radix again, using the Chart rectified to 2:11 am. Here, with a brief interpretation, are the principal Prime Minister John Howard, 26 July 1929, 2:11 am (Rect), Earlwood, NSW.

33s58, 151e08. Porphyry Houses. Mean Node.

factors, including Progressed Aspects and Directions as calculated by Solar Fire:

[n = Natal; p = Progressed; Sp = Secondary Progression; cSp = Converse Secondary Progression; Sa = Solar-Arc; cSa = Conv. Solar Arc; Aa = Ascendant Arc; cAa = Conv. Ascendant Arc;
Va = Vertex Arc; cVa = Conv. Vertex Arc]

Dec. 4, 2001. Venus sextile MC (cSp-Na): Mr Howard is still basking in the glow of success and enjoying the esteem of his colleagues. Things go very well for the moment.

Dec. 18, 2001. Sun trine Uranus (Aa-Na): As the Travel Houses in Mr Howard's Chart are involved, Dec. 18 or close to it would be a great opportunity to travel abroad and meet overseas dignitaries. In any event, it will be a stimulating break from the usual Parliamentary business of speeches, controversy and duties. The period 26 Dec.–26 Jan. is shown by Age Harmonic 62.4167 to be mostly one of quiet enjoyment and peace for the PM while reflecting on his Electoral victory. (h.Moon at the MC conj. n.Sun and Pluto). Late in January 2002 life becomes more energized—much activity from h.Mars conjunct n.Mars both at 28 Capricorn on the 4th h.Cusp.

Jan. 27, 2002. Mars opposite Saturn (cVa-Na) activates the n.T-Square Sun, Mars, Saturn which, on the face of it, is a difficult configuration involving much struggle and obstruction. Howard, however, has derived persistence, determination and strength from it. His Harmonic Month Chart for the period 26 Jan.—26 Feb. 2002 puts n.Sun and Pluto right on the MC, all three points being at 1° Leo, so I interpret this Mars/Saturn Direction positively—a tour de force of the Prime Minister, a personal achievement.

Feb. 28, 2002. Neptune sextile Uranus (cSa-Na): Policy matters being discussed, and their variation mooted, possibly involving other Heads of State.

Mar. 21, 2002. Asc trine Sun (cSp-Na) starts a new cycle of successful effort—personal achievement of a political nature associated with neighbouring countries.

April, 2002. An unspectacular month politically, though still successful for the PM (Jupiter trine the East Point in the Month h.Chart).

May 5, 2002. Mercury conjunct Asc (cVa-Na): Numerous matters of lesser political interest being discussed and new regulations promulgated.

June 12, 2002. Saturn opposing the Sun (cVa-Na): A political reverse associated with fiscal trouble and a loss of revenue.

June 21, 2002. Jupiter trine Mars (As-Na) will induce decisive and successful action by the PM. This Aspect is likely to free him from some hitherto bothersome tie or duty.

June 28, 2002. Pluto square Sun (cVa-Na): Political turmoil, extending into July. A revision of Cabinet posts.

July, 2002. Mr. Howard's Annual Harmonic (next page) shows Saturn on the MC and Jupiter conjunct the floating MC, so the year ahead will be highly successful for the Prime Minister with him firmly in control.

August, 2002: the PM's Lunar Return of 16 August, set for Canberra, shows Mars and the Sun closely conjunct and just below the Ascendant. Mercury rules the 10th House and squares Pluto in the 4th. I read from this that the PM will be vigorously pursuing a radical policy.

September, 2002: Venus conjunct Neptune by Solar-Arc direction on Sept. 21 signals a happy success for the PM that will win him plaudits and approval.

Oct. 10, 2002. Pluto conjunct Saturn (cVa-Na): A difficult situation confronts the PM probably in relation to refugees.

Oct. 30, 2002. Mars opposite Pluto (Sp-Na) powerfully activates the same aspect in the Radix. John Howard will be put under tension through world events and problems in dealing with foreign countries. Surprising and complex situations have to be addressed.

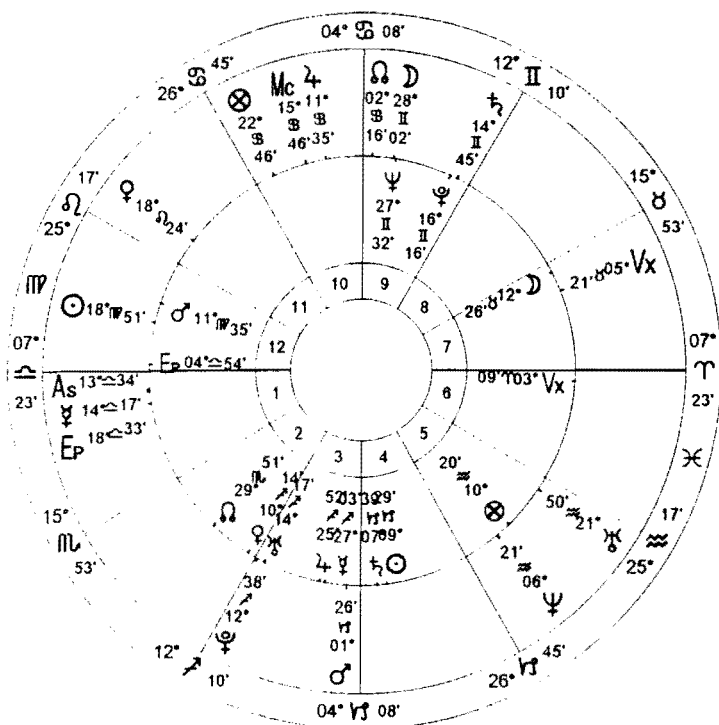

Nov. 4, 2002. Uranus Stat. opposite Mercury: News from abroad that the PM would rather not hear or have to deal with. Disturbing events overseas.

Nov. 20, 2002. Lunar Eclipse at 27Ta33, conjunct the Asc, opposite the Moon: Complications and troubles due to change of plans.

Nov. 28, 2002: Mars conjunct the Moon (cSa-Na). In a burst of activity the PM discusses future legislation with cabinet members.

THE AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION CHART

In the last Issue, the Australian Federation Chart of Jan 1, 1901 was printed for Melbourne at a time of 1 pm. Allan Johnson points out that the time should have been 0.00 am. The legal implementation, started at zero hours, Melbourne, 1 Jan 1901, and

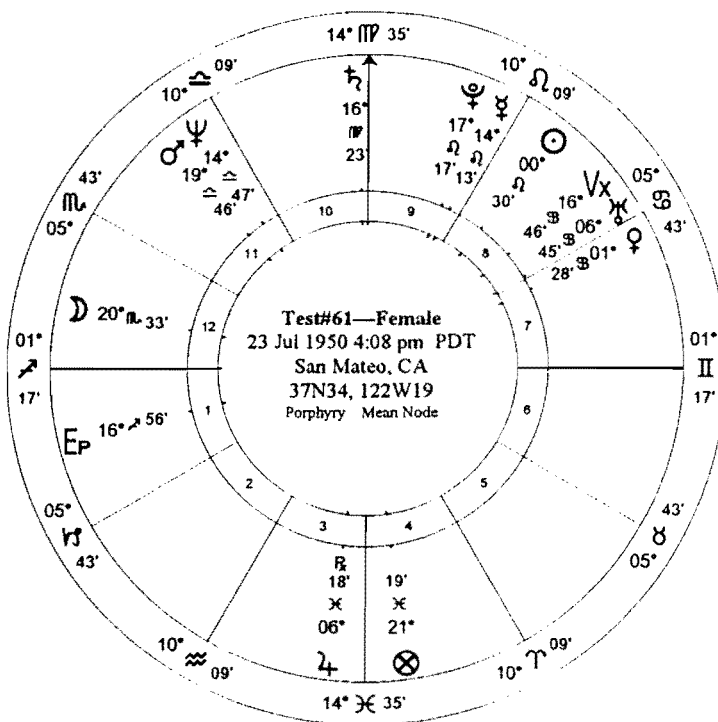

Inner Wheel: AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION 1 JAN 1901
Melbourne 0.00am AEST. 37S49, 144E58. "
Placidus Cusps. True Node.
Outer Wheel: TRANSITS, 11 SEP 2001, 8:42 am EDT (NY)

was celebrated at that time in Melbourne with a banquet. A second Ceremonial Banquet was held in Centennial Park, Sydney, at 1 pm on Jan 1, 1901. The Melbourne Chart is printed above surrounded by the Transiting positions on that fateful 11th September 2001, as presented in the last Issue.

TEST 61—FEMALE

This is an exercise to determine what occurred on 1st March 1977 in the life of a woman whose Birth Chart appears below. She was living in Los Angeles, California, at the time.

Please send your answers to me (e-mail and postal addresses are on page 1) by January 20, 2002, so that the solution and a summary of the results can be published in the next Issue of this Journal. You are free to use any astrological technique, ancient or modern, that you favour. Give the crucial astrological factors (Aspects, positions, half-sums, etc.) on which your answer is based but it is not necessary to give various supporting evidence from a variety of techniques. Choose the method that you believe is most apposite and let the rest go even if their analysis has helped you to your conclusion. If your answer is correct that is sufficient. If it is not correct any amount of other evidence will not make it right.

Results will be published in the January Issue of this Journal and also on the e-mail Lists HoraryToday, Symmetrical Astrology and Uranian-U. All readers who take the trouble to make a written response will receive an early personal answer and at least one means of solving the problem.

These increasingly popular exercises are not a contest but a means of applying and possibly improving your astrological techniques by seeing how they work in practical situations. It is noticeable that there is a vast amount of speculation and theory in today's astrological writings, whether in publications or on the Internet, but comparatively little in the way of their practical application. If you work on the exercises they will certainly develop your skill in both diagnosis and prediction, as those who have done them will attest. Real work of this nature will bring you further along the road of astrological competency than any amount of cursory reading.

If you send in a wrong answer early you can have as many further attempts as you wish—you help yourself by doing so.

My kind regards and Christmas greetings to all. — Dymock.

1 December, 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques
applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@pzemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due.

Nov. 2001

244

AUSTRALIA AND NEW YORK

by Allan Johnson

The terrorist attack on New York on 11th September was not aimed at America exclusively but was meant to apply to all Western societies and culture. So other countries such as Australia, Canada, New Zealand, etc., were regarded as equally guilty in the eyes of Osama Bin Laden. This meant we were targets for terrorist attacks just as much as New York or any other city in the West. So from that point of view it is interesting to look at Transits to the Australian Federation Chart for that fatal date of 11th September and see how the powerful Saturn/Pluto opposition lines up with it.

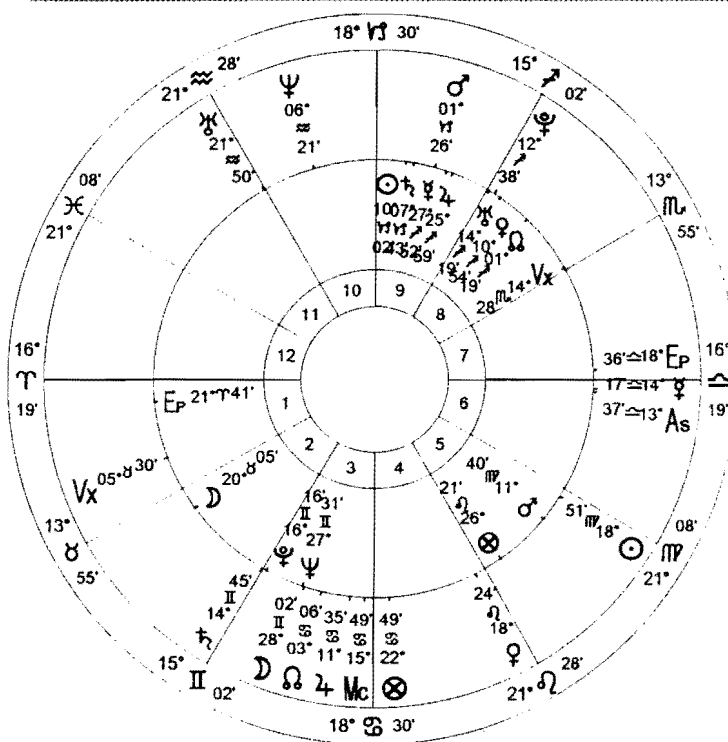

The most powerful configuration in the Australian Chart is the T-Square pattern Uranus/Venus/Mars. In this case it is absolutely spot on with Pluto on Venus/Uranus, square Mars and opposite its own Natal position. [See Bi-Wheel, adjacent] This certainly shows that these Transits do work! Also it points to a very fatalistic set-up. And Transiting Saturn makes all the same contacts. Saturn and Pluto are considered to be fatalistic planets while Pluto, Mars and Uranus are frequently concerned with violence and the unexpected. Of course, the Federation Chart is also very similar to the Chart for the 20th Century and this gives it world-wide significance, although the catastrophic event did not actually happen in the 20th Century but in the 21st. It really straddled both centuries. In any case what we get is overlap. The beginning of a new century does not mean a new start in everything but a continuing trend. Also in this connection we can compare it with what happens when a person dies. I have done a lot of research on the charts of famous individuals and have found that long after they were dead the rise and fall of the reputations was reflected in Transits to their charts at the same time. This applies particularly in the case of writers and artists.

Actually the 21st Century Chart is not a particularly violent one like the 20th, which is why I have been predicting for quite some time now that there won't be any more wars on the scale of 1914 and 1939. Terrorism can bring acts of violence as in New York but on a tremendously smaller scale. So I think we can predict that the new Century will still be a relatively peaceful time to live in. The distance in time between the 12th January 2001 and the 11th of September is too small to use for Transits of the outer planets like Uranus and Pluto. They are still within orbs of their January positions. As with humans, we don't expect too many big events in the life of a young baby. We have to go further ahead. The New York attack is the biggest act of terrorism we have yet seen, but terrorism has been with us for quite some time in various parts of the world such as Europe and Japan, and so on. But as we move further into the Aquarian Age, wars involving religious hatreds are likely to be less and less a feature of life on this earth. Religious hatreds have been the dark side of the Age of Pisces. I would say the Age of Aquarius is essentially the age of religious toleration. Its keynote is "Live and Let Live!". What the Moslems are fighting against is not so much other religions, but secularisation which they feel by-passes religion altogether.

Finally, an extra point could be raised about the similarity of the Federation Chart to the 20th Century Chart, as the beginning of the Federation was timed for precisely that event. When Cardinal Signs are rising we do get a tendency towards an Equal House

In This Issue...

	Page
Australia and New York.....	1
Gallant Victim of the W.T.C. Collapse.....	1
John Howard to Win November Election.....	2
Kym Beazley's Chart and Harmonic.....	4
Test No. 59—Results	4
New Test 60—Multiple Choice.....	4

Inner Wheel: AUSTRALIAN FEDERATION 1 JAN 1901

Melbourne 1:00 pm. AEST. 37S49, 144E58.

Placidus Cusps, True Node.

Outer Wheel: TRANSITS, 11 SEP 2001, 8:42 am EDT (NY)

Chart, so this does also narrow the difference between the two Charts though one is for London and the other for Melbourne. History has shown that whenever a major world event has occurred there has been a big impact on Australia. Bin Laden's command to kill Americans could also apply to Australians. □

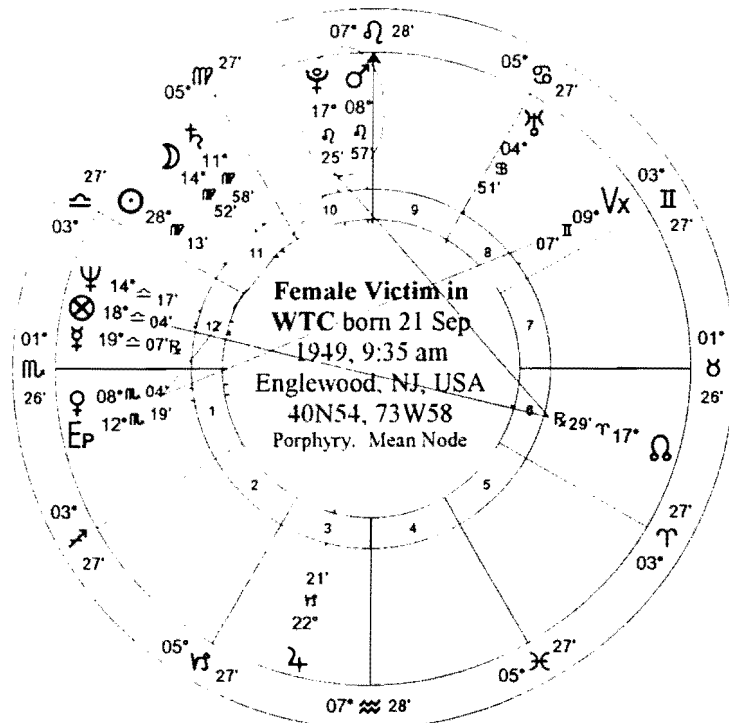

WORLD TRADE CENTRE

A Personal Tragedy

Among the scores of tragedies surrounding the terrorists' strike on the W.T.C. here is one of a would-be saviour who perished and whose birth details are available: Birgit Daub writes from Germany, "I got the birth details of a woman who worked in the W.T.C. When evacuated she found that a colleague, five months pregnant, was missing. She returned back upstairs to help the woman out and both were never seen again."

Here is the Birth Chart of the unfortunate woman who tried to rescue her friend:

Noticeable first is the dominating presence of Mars and Pluto in the Midheaven—and they are Co-Rulers of the Ascendant. Not a happy augury!

Then we see Mars 8Le57 square to and dispossing Venus 8Sc04 just below the Ascendant—a powerful connection with the physical body and its welfare, especially as Mars rules the House of Sickness. This is augmented by Pluto 17Le25 trine the Node 17Ar29 also in the 6th House.

Venus closely quincunx the Vertex in the House of Death warns of a fateful and dire occurrence to come. Venus rules the 12th House whose traditional meaning is sorrows and "self-undoing". The gallant woman could have gone to safety but died when she went back to help her friend.

The fateful occurrence that ended her life was only ten days before her 52nd birthday and is depicted in the Solar Return Chart of 20 Sep 2000 set for New York, the scene of the W.T.C. collapse. This Bi-Wheel appears in the next column with the Birth positions in the outer circle.

Pisces rises, and traditional Ruler Jupiter is in a tight T-Square with Pluto and n.Saturn. It lies close to the terminal 4th Cusp and conjoins the fateful n.Vertex.

N.Neptune, Co-Ruler of the SR Ascendant, conjoins the Death Cusp, the 8th House being emphasized by the presence of the Natal Ascendant, Mercury and the Part of Misfortune.

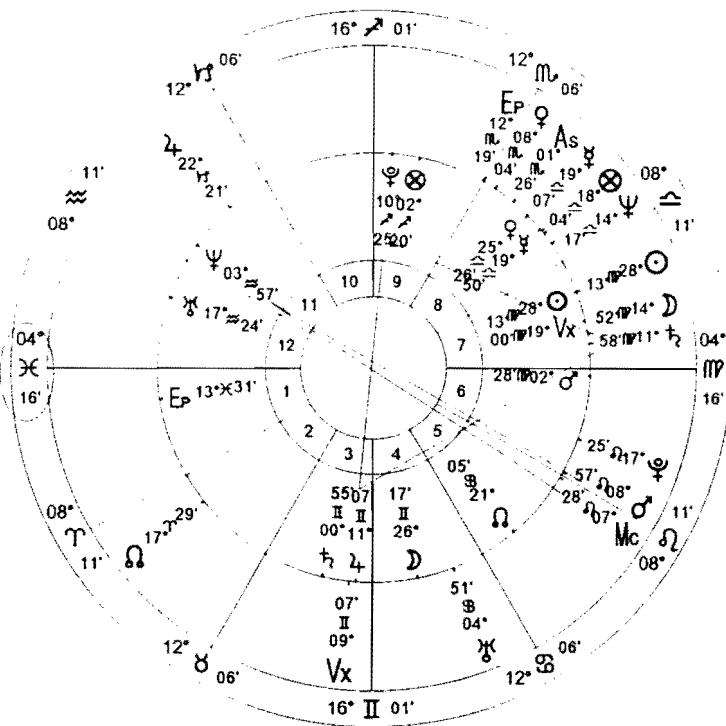

Uranus, 17Aq24 opposes n.Pluto 17Leo25 (sudden disaster).

Natal Mars and MC on the 6th Cusp are opposed by Neptune. SR Ruler of the Chart.

The Age Harmonic and the Sun-Moon Phase-Return Charts are also impressive with their portrayal of this tragic event. They are not reproduced here to save space but are quickly available to any astrologer with a Program such as Solar Fire.

Looking at a Chart like the above Solar Return might incline one to think it was all "pre-destined". But, no, the element of Free Will was there—the woman was not compelled or obliged to go back into the death trap. She chose to do so out of love and compassion for her friend. She will reap her karmic reward.

For some time I have been divided in my choice of Cusps—

Inner Wheel: Solar Return 20 Sep 2000 for Female Victim in W.T.C. set for New York, 5:54:37 pm EDT, 40N40:11, 73W56:38. Porphyry Cusps, Mean Node.

Porphyry as above, or Regiomontanus (having tested most of the others and been disappointed). The same Solar Return Chart as above but with Regiomontanus instead of Porphyry Cusps at least settles the question in this instance. Regiomontanus is clearly inferior: Venus and Mercury on the 8th Cusp is just about the antithesis of what actually happened.

— Dymock.

AUSTRALIAN FEDERAL ELECTION 10TH NOVEMBER 2001

Who will win this critical Election and be our next Prime Minister? The choice lies between the two main protagonists, the present incumbent John Howard leading a Liberal-National Coalition Party, and Kim Beazley Leader of the Opposition Labor Party.

There are various astrological ways of predicting the winner one of the most favoured, and perhaps the best, is by examining the Horoscopes and derived Charts of the front runners. A difficulty is often that we don't have reliable birth data for the candidates. That is the situation in the present instance. John Howard has been ascribed birth times ranging from 2 am to 9:45 pm, though his mother gave the time as "approximately 2 am" Australian Eastern Standard Time. I decided to work with this time and see if I could rectify the Chart by Age Harmonics.

Using this technique, which I regard as the sovereign method of distinguishing the true from the false birth times, out-classing all other methods, I came up with a time of 2:11 am.

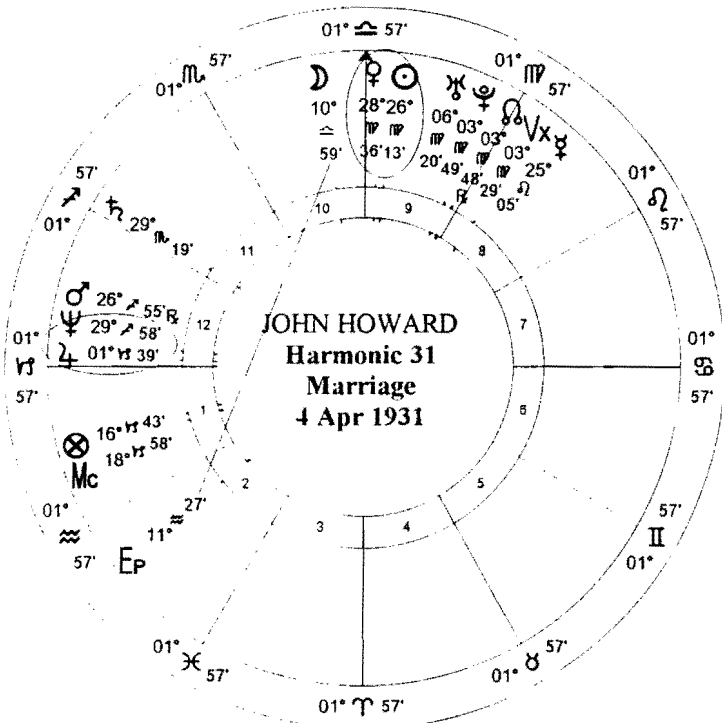

A Chart for this time appears on the next page.

My justification for presenting this Chart is that Age Harmonics drawn from it do truly reflect the important events of Mr Howard's life, whereas the Harmonics drawn from the other suggested birth times do not! Here are a couple of examples (space available will not allow for more):

On 4 April 1971, John Howard married Janette Parker. His Age was 31 and here is the 31st Age Harmonic —

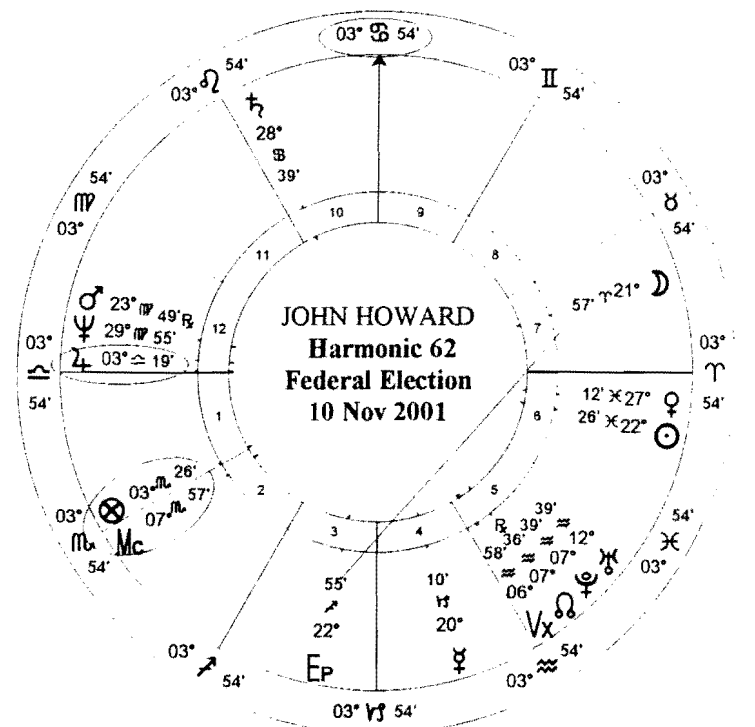

This important event in the Prime Minister's life is aptly described by Jupiter rising conjunct Neptune (euphoric state); Venus (love and union) on the Upper Meridian conjunct the Sun (important love attachment and enhanced status) the Moon (ruling the House of Marriage) occupying the House of Status and trine the East Point (harmonious and beneficial change).

A great moment in John Howard's career was his landslide win in the Federal Election of 2nd March 1996 when he was 56. This is appropriately reflected in his 56th Age Harmonic Chart (see next column). There is the great benefic, Jupiter, spreading its aura of success and achievement in the Midheaven and closely trining the "floating" MC (orb 19'). Mars and Pluto, joint Rulers of the Ascendant, are in a close harmonious trine (success attained through excessive effort, says Ebertin). Further distinctive indications of outstanding success can be seen if you put the Birth Figure around the above Harmonic Chart in concentric style. (e.g. n.Sun/Pluto conjunction right at the MC; n.Asc 15Tau13 conjunct h.Venus 25Ta32).

So, using the rectified time, what are Mr. Howard's chances in the 10th November Poll? They are good but not overwhelming as in the 1996 Election. They are shown in his Age Harmonic 62:

The benefic Jupiter is right on the Ascendant (good fortune); Venus conjuncts the Sun (personal triumph); the Moon ruling the House of Achievement is closely trine the East Point (success from personal efforts); the floating MC conjoins the Fortuna (good fortune). The indications are certainly good enough for John Howard to win and especially so as his opponent, Kim Beazley.

has a poor Age Harmonic. His Birth Figure is above, and here is his 52nd Age Harmonic:

For Mr Beazley's lack of success in the coming Election one need look no further than the T-Square involving Mercury, (Ruler of the Upper Meridian) the floating MC and Pluto. Other adverse factors are evident but that is enough. — Dymock.

TEST 59—RESULTS

For Test 59 there were 20 responses from 11 participants in Australia, Netherlands, Israel, Egypt, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Michigan. Two respondents were right first time. They were Ross Harvey (Australia) and Paul Langeveld (Netherlands).

The correct match was most easily found by Age Harmonics both as separate Charts and related to the Birth Chart. This technique was used by both the successful participants. Ross Harvey used only Age Harmonics. Paul Langeveld used Age Harmonics and got supporting evidence from Solar and Lunar Returns and Progressions.

In the following analysis I give only the crucial and determining factors. There are multiple other indications if you relate the Age Harmonic to the Birth Chart. There is not enough room to print these Charts but I will e-mail them to anyone interested.

Dec 1972: Father's stroke.

Harmonic 13 has the Sun ruling the 4th House (father) trine to Saturn, Moon and Mars.

March 1989: Wife left.

Harmonic 30 has Venus ruling the 7th House (spouse) conjunct Uranus quincunx the Moon.

Aug 1993: Second marriage.

Harmonic 34 has Venus ruling the 7th House (marriage) conjunct Mars ruling the 1st (the native) and the N.Node (union).

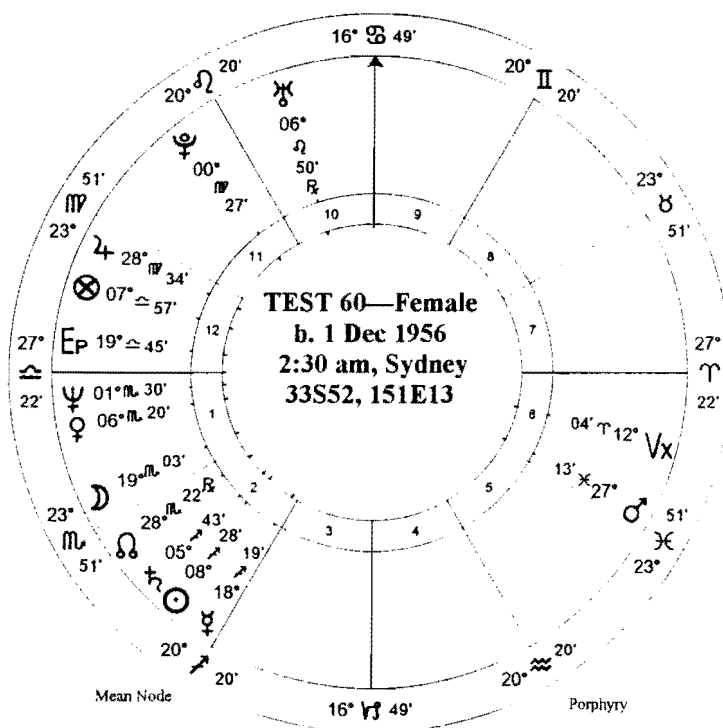

Nov 1999: Bought house with leaking roof.

Harmonic 40 has Mars on the 4th Cusp (houses) quincunx Uranus and sesquare Neptune (leaks).

Other techniques used by participants were Vedic, Eclipses, Solar-Arc Directions, Midpoints (including the TransNeptunians) and Proflections. Little was seen of Uranian techniques.

TEST NO. 60—FEMALE A Multiple Choice Quiz

Here is the Birth Chart of a woman born on December 1, 1956, in Sydney Australia.

An important event occurred in this woman's life on February 6, 2001. It was one of the following: Can you pick the correct one?

- * Her marriage broke up.
- * She had an intense love-affair.
- * She was injured in an accident.
- * She moved into a new home.
- * She acquired a new big-paying job.

Please send your answer to me by normal post or e-mail with its astrological justification by November 20. Everyone who participates will receive an early, individual reply.

My kind regards to everybody,

Dymock, 3 Nov 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

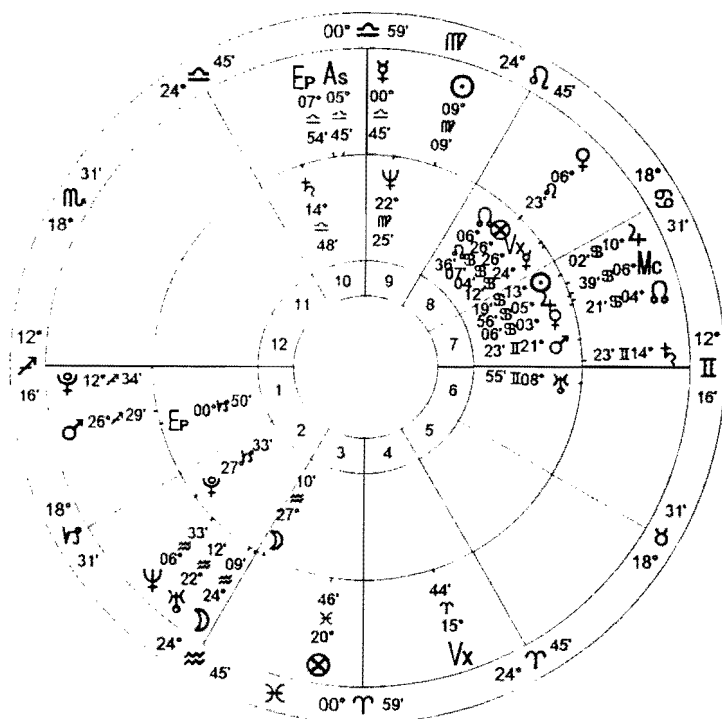

Issue 243 October 2001

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

MAYHEM AND DESTRUCTION IN THE USA

The shock and horror of the attack on the World Trade Centre in New York and the Pentagon in Washington having now subsided to some extent we as astrologers having regained emotional equilibrium can contemplate what, if anything, has been gained from the slaughter of civilians and the massive destruction achieved by the terrorists.

Aside from questions of altered Government policy, increased civilian security and probable revision of building standards, especially in relation to great public edifices, we can at least be reasonably sure now of what is the best Radix for the American Nation, or at least the best of those that have up to date been under consideration. This is a question that has for long been in doubt. Astrologers all over the world have espoused a range of different Charts with widely different times. One Chart has now become pre-eminent through the placement of the Pluto—Saturn Opposition lying across the Horizon of this particular Radix at the time when the first plane crashed into a twin tower of the World Trade Centre. The Radix I refer to is the one shown below with the Transits operating on that fateful September 11.

Inner Wheel: USA INDEPENDENCE. 4 JULY 1776,
17:09:45 LMT (5:10:17 pm EST). Philadelphia, PA
40°N00°24".75°W08°05". Porphyry Cusps. True Node.
Outer Wheel: TRANSITS, 11 Sep 2001, 8:42 am EDT.
Cusps are those of the USA Radix (Inner wheel)

Pluto almost exactly on the Ascendant and closely opposed by Saturn is an arresting example of the destructive power of these

In This Issue...

	Page
Mayhem & Destruction in the USA.....	1
USA Chart—Evidence for 5:10:17 pm EST...	1
First Strike on the World Trade Centre	2
Test 58 — Results and Solution	3
New Test, No 59.....	4
October 2001—Transiting Aspects	4

two bodies when falling on critical points of a Chart—in this case the Ascendant-Descendant axis. The appalling loss of life and massive destruction of buildings may be attributed to this clashing of Pluto with Saturn—power and mass, irresistible force, meeting the (almost) immovable obstacle.

Supporting evidence that probably we now have the best Chart for the USA is afforded by the Nation's Age Harmonic Figure for the current month in which the terrorists wreaked their havoc. The USA was 225 years and 2 months old on 4th September and the Harmonic 225.1667 relates to the month 4 Sep—4 Oct 2001. The Chart is relocated to New York where the terrorists made their first strike.

This Figure is remarkable for the dangerous and close conjunctions of the outer planets. Pluto and Uranus are locked together on the 7th Cusp (enemies) square to Saturn and Neptune similarly locked on the 4th Cusp (buildings). Uranus and Pluto are known for their capacity to produce a sudden crisis. Here they oppose both the Sun and the Moon as well as being linked to Saturn and Neptune, so the crisis was cataclysmic in nature, powerfully affecting the lives of the whole Nation (Sun and Moon in the 1st House).

Neptune and Saturn opposing the MC and the Vertex (fateful events) signify that the loss and grief will change the policy of the Nation. It is heartening to see the trine of Jupiter to the Vertex which I read as an indication of the Nation's catastrophe bringing out leadership qualities in the Government, particularly as the Sun is trine to the floating MC and rules the 10th House (Head of State).

Below is the Chart for the time of the first plane crashing into one of the twin towers of the W.T.C. Being an Event Chart, its 1st House signifies the person or group that initiated the action, the terrorists. It is noteworthy that the evil Star Algorab (destructiveness and malevolence) at 13Li28 is right on the Ascendant. Mercury there aspecting Saturn, Pluto and Jupiter portrays them as being extremist (Pluto), religious fanatics (Jupiter) and careful planners (Saturn). Mercury rules the 9th and 12th Houses. The 9th signifies the terrorists came from abroad; the 12th, which holds the Sun, points to a secret and powerful organization at the back of the front line operatives.

The victim, the USA, is symbolically represented by the 7th House which is ruled by Mars. Mars rules also the 2nd House which is the derived 8th (deaths) in relation to the 7th. The Moon being a multiplier its opposition to Mars shows many deaths and also destruction of buildings as the Moon rules the derived 4th House (buildings) (the Radical 10th).

It is obvious that in the war against terrorism proclaimed by President Bush the enemy has won this first round (Jupiter and Fortuna at the Upper Meridian) though not without losses (the Moon ruling the MC opposed by Mars; Venus ruling the Ascendant and the House of Death opposed by Uranus).

In contrast, the USA's derived 10th House (the Radical 4th) is ruled by Saturn, direly afflicted by Pluto and the Sun. This signalled loss and destruction on a massive scale, but it will also bring about a fundamental alteration in Government policy. The sextile of Venus to Saturn indicates recovery as Venus is quite strongly placed on the 11th Cusp—gradual recovery, Venus being out of Dignity in Leo where it operates with less strength than in Libra or Taurus.

So what are the prospects for the USA in the next twelve months? We cannot expect any real gains for the remainder of September as Saturn, the planet that denies, delays and frustrates, is now Stationary at 14Ge48 directly opposing the Rising Degree 12Sg16 of the newly established USA Chart.

October also is unpromising. Neptune is Stationary at 6Aq00, where it conjuncts the South Node at 6Aq36 in the 2nd House of the USA Chart indicating schemes and rorts of a financial nature. Uranus Stationary trine Mars in the 7th House on October 30 will stimulate activity of a martial nature but does not necessarily mean a victory of any sort.

November is the first month to suggest much progress. Jupiter Stationary on the Sun in the first week will raise the Nation's hopes, help finances and bring gains on the Stock Market.

The Eclipse of the Sun on 14 December does not augur well for the USA. It falls on Mars in the Nation's Horoscope and probably indicates significant casualties in the war against terrorists. In the Month's Harmonic Chart 225.4167 (not reproduced) Mars and Neptune straddle the Ascendant in Pisces while Saturn in Pisces just below them receives the opposition of Neptune. A horrible possibility here is the unleashing of a biological or poison gas weapon against the populace.

The Sun joins the Moon by Secondary Progression in January 2002. This commences a new phase, with better arrangements in communication and transportation. Venus trine the Moon by Primary Direction this month should bring an improvement in the employment situation.

Saturn Stationary on Uranus in February suggests a drastic alteration in Government policy, presumably for the best.

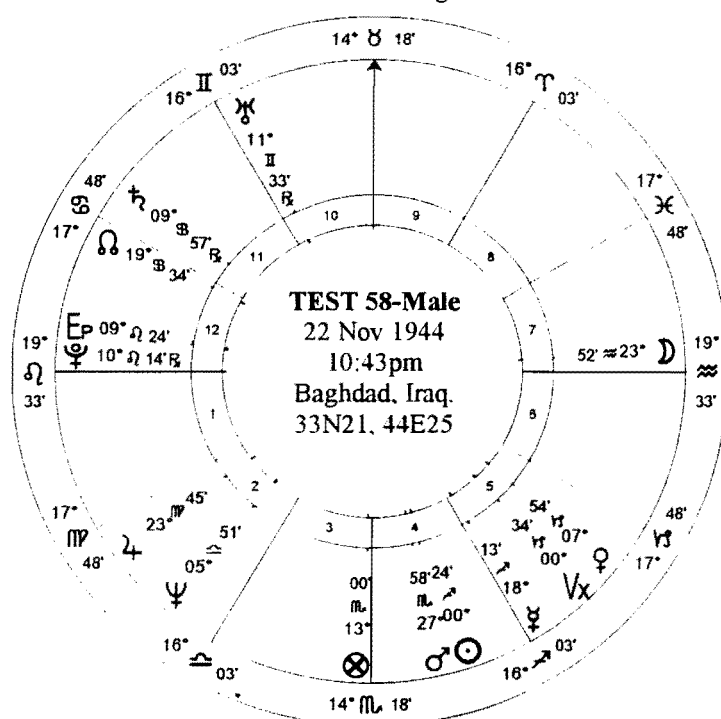

Jupiter sextile Neptune by converse Solar Arc on March 14 may not be productive of anything substantial but should lighten the general mood. The first significant success in the war against terrorism is likely around March 25, 2002, when Mars conjoins the MC by converse Vertex Arc.

Further success in relation to foreign countries is indicated around May 24, 2002, when the Ruler of the MC, Venus, trines the Sun (ruling the 9th House) by Ascendant Arc. □

TEST 58—RESULTS AND SOLUTION

The Test related to the Chart below and the exercise was to match the following three events with their correct dates selected from the three dates given:

1. He joined a political party and became a candidate for the Prime Ministership.
2. He married his assistant.
3. He was convicted of sexual assault against two women and was subsequently given a suspended sentence of 18 months in gaol. The dates are: Oct. 30, 1997; Jan. 25, 1999; Mar. 21, 2001.

The correct match is—

1. 25 January 1999, he joined a political party and became a candidate for the Prime Ministership.
2. 30 October 1997, he married his assistant.
3. 21 March 2001, he was convicted of sexual assault against two women and was subsequently given a suspended sentence of 18 months in gaol.

There were eleven respondents of whom three gave the correct answer: Shirley Gray (Michigan), Lisa (Cairo) and Gabe Rosas (USA).

Shirley used principally direct and converse Solar-Arc Directions (including the Aries Point) and Tertiary Progressions. Lisa used Age Harmonics. Gabe used Profections.

The Age Harmonic Charts disclosed the relevant situations for the given dates:

1. On 25 Jan 1999, the subject joined a political party and became a candidate for the Prime Ministership. Age Harmonic 54 relates to the year 22 Nov. 1998—22 Nov. 1999. In this Chart the Sun 21Ar49 conjoins Jupiter 22Ar47 ruling the House of Career and Status (expansion of ego and ambitions). Venus at 6Sg30 conjoins the MC at 5Sg26 (happiness in career).

2. On 30 October 1997 the subject married his assistant. Age Harmonic 52 relates to the year 22 Nov 1996—22 Nov 1997. Venus at 20Ta42 just above the Ascendant is trine to Pluto and to natal Jupiter. Jupiter at 5Ta17 is trine to natal Venus. The "floating" MC at 23Le25 is opposite the natal Moon at 23Aq52 on the harmonic MC. The involvement of Venus, Pluto, Jupiter, the Moon and the MC is a typical set-up for an intense love attachment and marriage.

3. On 21 March 2001 the subject was convicted of sexual assault and later given a suspended sentence. Age Harmonic 56 relates to the year 22 Nov 2000—22 Nov 2001. Sagittarius rises and Ruler Jupiter is conjunct Mars (legal troubles). Mars rules the 5th House (sexual transgressions). The Sun and Moon are conjoined in the 9th House (legal process). The Sun rules the 9th and is opposed to the "floating" MC (loss of reputation).

Solar and Lunar Returns (set for Jerusalem) were also revealing but cannot be reproduced here.

This is the first time any of the Tests has been solved using Profections. Here is what Gabe Rosas wrote about it:

30 Oct 1997—marriage: Using Alcabitus House Cusps and the medieval technique of profection, the first date falls within the 5th House for the year starting 22 Nov 1996, the 4th House for the month (22 Oct-22 Nov), and the 7th House for the 2½ day period the date falls into. Of note in the 5th House (children and entertainment), Venus is opposed to Saturn (ruler of both the 6th House (servants) and 7th House (marriage)) in the 11th, so marriage is a possibility. In the 4th House, we see Mars (having honour of Exaltation in the 6th House) square to the Moon in the 7th; again another indication that marriage is possible. With the 7th-House day and the rulers of the 6th and 7th Houses already favoured for this period of time, marriage is a probable result.

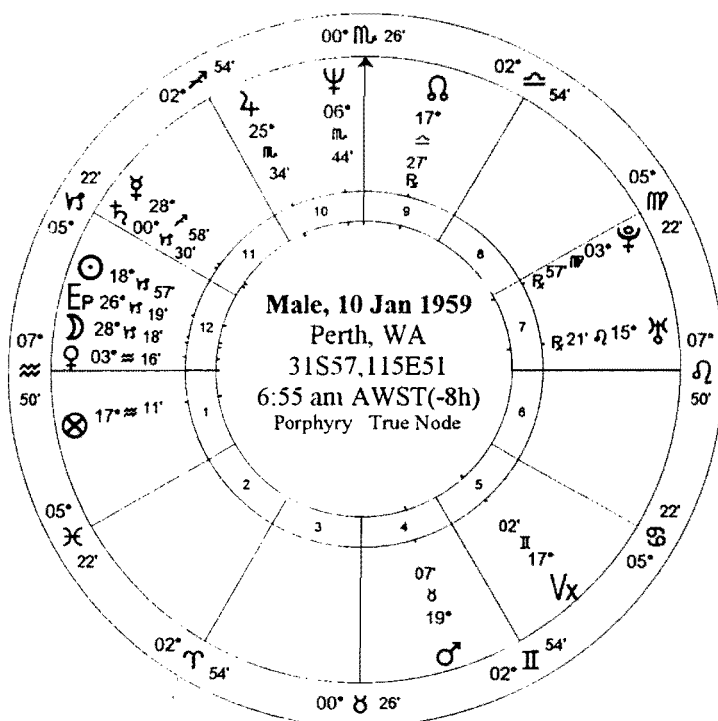

25 Jan 1999—nomination: By profection, this date is in a 7th-House year, 9th-House month, and 10th-House day. We've seen the Mars-Moon square already, but having Mars ruler of the 9th and the Moon having honor of Exaltation in the 10th House, an institution having a strong involvement in one's career is indicated, so this is the date that Mr. 58 was nominated for Office. 21 Mar 2001—conviction: By profection, this date is a 9th-House year, 12th-House month, and 10th-House day. With Jupiter in the 2nd with honour of Exaltation in the 12th House (imprisonment) and being in its Detriment but being naturally benefic and having mutual reception through a square with Mercury in the 5th (Jupiter in Virgo and Mercury in Sagittarius), this gets our Mr. 58 out of trouble with the law, hence his conviction with a suspended sentence.

Congratulations to all who worked on this exercise. These "Tests" are a prime means of improving astrological expertise. They shine a light on one's techniques revealing strengths, weaknesses and omissions that might otherwise escape detection. □

NEW TEST NO. 59

Below is the Horoscope of a man born in Perth, west Australia on 10th January 1959 at 6:55 am.

Here are four important dates in his life:

8 Aug 1993, 16 Dec 1972, 20 Nov 1999, March 1989.

On each of the above dates one of the following important events occurred in his life:

1. His father, a consulting structural engineer, had a massive stroke and was never able to work again.
2. His wife of one year left him while he was at work, taking all the furniture.
3. He married for the second time.
4. He bought at auction an older house with a leaking roof.

The Test is to match each event with one of the given dates. This is a useful exercise that gives scope for trying various methods. The solution will be published in the next Issue, but those who send an answer by October 15 will receive the solution in a personal reply before that date. State the crucial astrological factors on which your decision is based. There is no need to give an extended analysis.

OCTOBER 2001—TRANSITING ASPECTS

The planetary links listed below do not take precedence over your own personal Transits and Progressions but operate with some effect if they repeat a similar aspect, fill a gap, or touch a sensitive point in your horoscope. Try to use them for constructive action.

Oct. 2. Full Moon: Tends to make you moody and restless. Brings issues to a head. Mercury Stationary at 29Li03 brings effects relating to any planet it contacts in your own Horoscope. If Mercury is on a sensitive Zodiacal point (MC, Asc, Eq, Asc, Node, EP, Vtx, or a Cusp) it will be expressed in talk, thought, writing.

Oct. 2. Venus 12Vi57 square Pluto 12Sg57: Adds passion to some relationships and destroys others. Watch how you go if in a partnership.

Oct. 2. Venus 13Vi03 trine Mars 13Cp03: Heightens personal appeal and creates attractions.

Oct. 3. Venus 14Vi10 sextile Jupiter 14Cn10: Luck, harmony, warmth of feeling, pleasure. A time to enjoy.

Oct. 3. Venus 14Vi56 square Saturn 14Ge56: Cools relationships and may bring health problems. Proceed carefully.

Oct. 4. Mars 14Cp15 opposite Jupiter 14Cn15: Tends to impulsive action and spending. Restrain your impulses and avoid conflicts.

Oct. 6. Sun 13Li0 sextile Pluto 13Sg03: Gives moral strength to handle issues.

Oct. 8. Sun 14Li36 square Jupiter 14Cn36: Tends to marital discord and financial extravagance. Go carefully.

Oct. 8. Sun 14Li51 trine Saturn 14Ge51: Deal with matters of substance. Plan realistically for long-term effects.

Oct. 14. Mercury 21Li02 trine Uranus 21Aq02: Open your mind. Investigate the new and unusual.

Oct. 14. Mercury 20Li50 square Mars 20Cp50: Beware of unnecessary argument. Take care when handling tools and implements.

Oct. 14. Sun conjunct Mercury 20Li47: Handle matters of importance—documents, correspondence, agreements, interviews, discussions, etc.

Oct. 14. Sun 21Li01 trine Uranus 21Aq01: Look around for new paths to follow and discoveries to make.

Oct. 14. Sun 21Li04 square Mars 21Cp04: Keep cool; don't be provoked into conflict unless in a worthy cause.

Oct. 18. Neptune Stationary at 6Aq00: Usually coincides with a loss or disappointment associated with its contacts in your Chart.

Oct. 19. Mercury 15Li22 square Jupiter 15Cn22: In communications written or verbal be alive to possible misinterpretation, mistakes, or indiscrete utterances.

Oct. 20. Venus 6Li00 trine Neptune 6Aq00: Tune in to the beauty and poetry about you—not only music, art, literature, etc., but people, animals, trees, blossoms and flowers.

Oct. 21. Mercury 14Li26 trine Saturn 14Ge26: Good for studying. Organize your affairs thoughtfully.

Oct. 23. Mercury Stationary at 15Li09. See Oct. 2 above.

Oct. 24. Mercury 14Li19 trine Saturn 14Ge19: The repeated link makes the interim period ideal for realistic planning and serious thought on any subject.

Oct. 26. Venus 13Li36 sextile Pluto 13Sg36: Exert your charms to good effect.

Oct. 27. Venus 14Li11 trine Saturn 14Ge11: The friends thou hast and their adoption tried, grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel (yes, Shakespeare said it first).

Oct. 27. Mercury 15Li37 square Jupiter 15Cn37: Use the same caution as for Oct. 19 above.

Oct. 28. Venus 15Cn38 square Jupiter 15Cn38: Your susceptibility to the charms of others may lead to an indiscretion. Curb excess in any area—food, finance, love, etc.

Oct. 29. Sun 6Sc02 square Neptune 6Aq02: A disappointment is not the end of everything. Show your spirit and keep going.

Oct. 31. Mercury conjunct Venus 19Li07: Some well-chosen words can seal the bonds of affection.

Oct. 31. Uranus Stat. at 20Aq55: If Uranus is making a contact in your Chart look for surprises and unexpected occurrences.

I shall be glad to receive feedback from anyone who has checked the above in relation to his/her own life.

My kind regards to everybody,

— Dymock, 27 Sep 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques
applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 242 September 2001

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due.

THE SECOND MILLENNIUM

by Allan Johnson

Now the Second Millennium has come to its ultimate finality I think it is worth while looking back to see how the original Chart for the beginning of January 1001 lined up with events over that thousand years of history. Would such a Chart be adequate for such a tumultuous period of time? Theoretically it should be. So we can have a look at it. But first we have to decide what we can use as a starting point. We have the time and date, but we don't have a point in latitude and longitude corresponding to Greenwich. There were no standard time zones in those days. People just used local time based on the movements of the Sun. G.M.T. and its general recognition did not become finalised till the 19th Century.

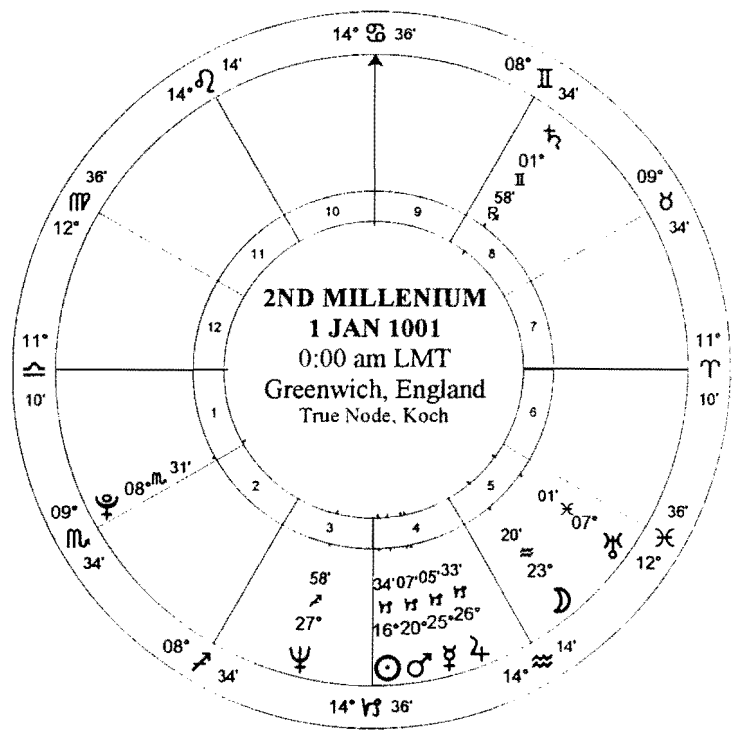

To overcome this problem and for convenience we have set up this Chart (next column) for zero G.M.T. but with the proviso that the Houses would not be taken so seriously as we would today. What we are really looking for are the planetary patterns for 1001 and the emphasis on Signs. But of course as the Chart is for zero hours we do have the Sun very close to the I.C. Therefore the Houses very close to the vertical Meridian could have some validity, the others not. Also there would be some doubt about the exact position of the Moon.

Looking at the Chart for the first time we don't see any major configurations as we saw in the Chart for the 20th Century. But we do see a powerful stellium (Sun, Mars, Mercury, Jupiter). Of course any chart for the starting of a new year must have the Sun in Capricorn. But it is the addition of the other three planets that makes all the difference. So this Chart does have very powerful emphasis on Capricorn and also the 4th House.

But at this point we have to decide on an important event that stands out above all others and sets its stamp on the whole Millennium. I would say this is Columbus' discovery of America. This started a chain of events that changed the whole planet. It opened up the whole of the New World, North and South America, South-East Asia, Australia, massive migrations and European settlements, the circumnavigation of the Globe. We all know that

In This Issue...

	Page
The Second Millennium	1
Test No. 57—Responses & Solution.....	2
The Abduction at Barrow Creek.....	3
New Test No. 58.....	4
September Aspects	4

history. And around that time printing was invented, the start of the communication process that is still going on.

But the big thing was the settling of boundaries of the continents. For the first time in history the entire Globe could be mapped. And of course setting boundaries is a very Capricornian thing. Also the building of new cities, roads, railways. Up to that time our knowledge of the world was very vague and imprecise. Capricorn supplied the clarity. The planets Mars and Jupiter provided the energy and drive and the exploration and Mercury the communication. So it was all there in that stellium in Capricorn. We could add the building of majestic cathedrals throughout Europe and finally the rise of science, which demands exact mathematics. All of this is Capricorn. In the previous Millennium even a trip to China was like a trip to the Moon.

Now to look at some of the other factors in the Chart. One is the trine between Jupiter and Saturn and of course this brings the whole stellium into this pattern. Highly successful for industrial expansion and success. Saturn, the Ruler of Capricorn, is very strongly placed in the Chart through the number of aspects it makes. Apart from the multiple trine it makes also the Square to Uranus. This brings plenty of surprise developments and the Square can also make for extremes. This applies to mechanization, too rapid advances that create their own problems and these are carrying over even into the next Millennium. Saturn quincunx Neptune shows there is still the need for fantasy—but with four planets in Earth, the practical seems to be the Keynote for the 2nd Millennium. □

TEST NO. 57— RESPONSES & SOLUTION

Test No. 57 was an exercise to find the date of a given event in the life of a man whose Birth Chart appears below:

The man was manager of an apartment building and had responsibility for collecting rent from the tenants. On a certain day within the five-year period January 1981 to January 1986, the day everyone's rent was due, he answered the door to find a man pointing a gun at him and demanding the cash box. He led the intruder down the hall and as he turned the corner he grabbed for the gun. It went off and a bullet went right through his thigh and lodged in the woodwork. The intruder fled without the cash. Since the bullet went through flesh and not bone the man saw no need to see a doctor, treated it himself and was none the worse for the experience.

The exercise was to find the DAY or the MONTH or even the YEAR of the event. Any astrological procedure could be used—Traditional, Modern, Horary, Cosmobiological, Uranian, etc.

Answer: 24 Sep. 1983.

There were twelve responses to the Test, answers ranging from March 1981 to to November 1984. The closest was from Ross Harvey (Australia) who deduced 19 August 1983—just a month out. No other answer was within six months.

Ross's method was to look at the Solar Returns of all sorts. He found the clearest indication was the precessed Solar Return for March 1983 which had the Asc conjunct Saturn and Pluto, with Mars (hurts) in the House of Illness in close trine to both Uranus (gunshot) and Jupiter (preserving).

This was confirmed by the Age Harmonic 48 which had the Asc at 13Vir 05 conjunct Natal Neptune (13Vi03) as well as the "floating" h.MC at 14Vi 05. The h.Sun was conjunct n.Mars; h.Mars conjunct n.Moon.

There were supporting factors also in the Kinetic Solar Return: P.Saturn opposed p.Ascendant on 18 Oct 1983 (Asc Progressed by the Solar Arc in right ascension instead of in longitude) and Pluto conjoined the n.Moon on 18 Aug 1983 by converse Solar Arc.

A variety of techniques were employed by respondents: Solar Returns, Age Harmonics, Solar Eclipse, Progressions, Solar-Arc Directions, Transits, Horary and Vedic Astrology. There were no responses using Uranian methods which perhaps are not adapted to solving this type of problem.

Using the technique suggested for the last Test, a listing of all the Solar-Arc Directions, forward and backward in the Zodiac, for the whole period 1 Jan 1981 to 1 Jan 1986 defines the critical Solar Year as the one from March 1983 to March 1984. The significant Directions are –

- Mars square Moon (cSa-Na) on 1 Jun 1983
- Pluto conjunct Moon (cSa-Na) 18 Aug 1983
- Neptune conjunct Pluto (cSa-Na) 9 Oct 1983
- Neptune square Mars (cSa-Na) 16 Dec 1983.

Other Directions were clearly not relevant.

From this point True Tertiary Progressions yield the converse Sun square Mars/Pluto on 26 Sep 1983—unusually powerful because of Pluto square Angular Mars (orb $0^{\circ}11'$) in the Natal Chart—and converse Mercury conjunct Uranus/Pluto on 24 Sep 1983 (which is the exact date required).

Tertiary Progressions are powerful indicators. They can precipitate major effects more surely than the Transits in which many astrologers put too much faith. □

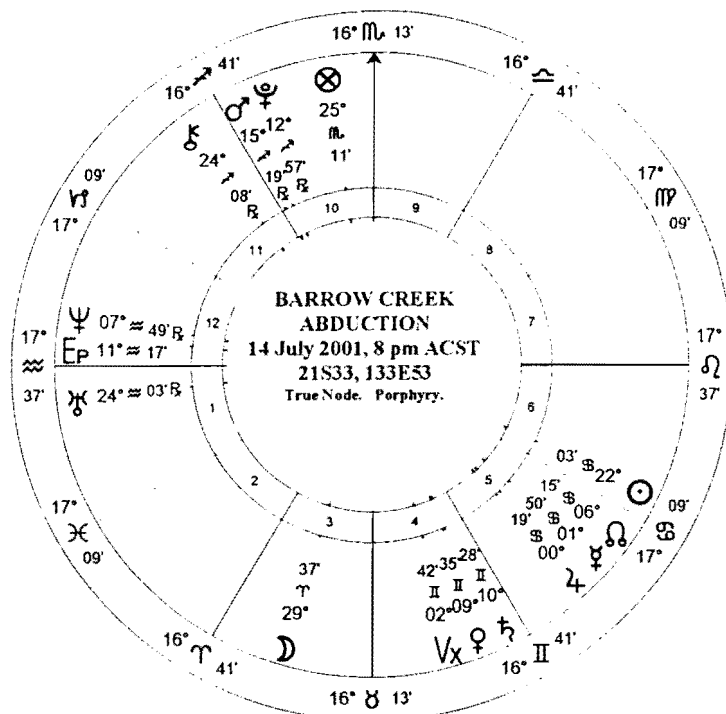

THE ABDUCTION AT BARROW CREEK

by Lyla Williams

At 12:45 am on the morning of July 15 this year a young woman, gagged and with hands bound, stumbled out of scrubland alongside the Stuart Highway in Central Australia where a passing truck driver stopped, untied her hands and removed the gag. He took her to the nearest hotel where the distraught woman told police an horrific tale of a hijacking and abduction that may have resulted in a murder.

Joanne Lees and Peter Falconia, both from England, had been travelling towards Tennant Creek from Ti-Tree in the vast Northern Territory when Joanne claims they were pulled over by a man in a utility at around 8 pm. She was tied up and gagged; she heard a shot and Peter vanished. Some time later she was able to partially free herself and run into the scrub, here she hid for several hours while the driver of the utility searched for her with a dog. Eventually he drove away, leaving her to seek help on the Highway. To date no trace has been found of the man, his utility or Peter Falconio for whom grave fears are now held.

The accompanying Chart, drawn up for 8 pm, 14th July 2001 (the night of the attack) near Barrow Creek, N.T., $21^{\circ}S32'$, $133^{\circ}E53'$, falls into a category I call Spikey—a personal addition to the seven chart shapes described by Marc Edmund Jones. I have found that almost without exception violent events are accompanied by charts in which the Aspects between points and planets form a series of sharp spikes. It doesn't seem to matter if these Aspects are stressful or harmonious (although on this Chart there are few harmonious Aspects) the important thing is the jagged, or spikey lines we see on the Chart.

The Chart has 7 planets in the lower hemisphere and 3 plus Chiron in the upper hemisphere. The event was therefore very personal. The Moon is “anaretic” [in killing mode] at 29° Aries in the House of Travel. Sackoian and Acker describe the Moon in an anaretic degree as bringing about “critical circumstances”.

Uranus 7° below the Ascendant relates to an unexpected possibly violent event. Mars and Pluto, both Retrograde, conjoined in the 10th House signify power and aggression, their influence magnified by their tight conjunction. Venus conjunct Saturn in Gemini suggests restriction of movement and lack of affection. Mercury and Jupiter, both conjunct the Solar Eclipse of 21 June at $0^{\circ}Cn11'$ are in the House of Pleasure with the Moon's North Node. This was a journey taken for pleasure with calamitous results.

The Mars-Pluto conjunction opposes the Venus-Saturn conjunction showing the violence directed against both the man (Saturn, Ruler of Ascendant) and the woman (Venus).

The Sun is quincunx Uranus and Chiron (2° orbs), giving a Yod, said to be an astrological pattern involving Karma, often denoting a life-changing event.

Mercury and Jupiter are sesquiquadrate the MC in Scorpio, perhaps indicating the difficulty Joanne experienced looking for help. The Moon is sesquiquadrate Mars and Pluto, signifying a very emotional, traumatic occurrence.

The only trine in the Chart is from Neptune in the 12th House to the Venus-Saturn conjunction, perhaps signifying Joanne's eventual escape from “imprisonment”.

It seems clear from the Chart that a violent confrontation did occur at this time and place involving a journey (Moon in the 3rd House sesquiquadrate Mars-Pluto), two young people (Venus-Saturn) opposite Mars-Pluto and injury (Moon ruling the House of Health afflicted by the sesquiquadrates from Mars and Pluto).

The Moon at 29°Aries is void-of-course, suggesting the trip being aborted or not reaching a favourable conclusion.

Traditionally the 12th House represents hidden enemies. With Saturn ruling Capricorn on the Cusp and placed in Gemini opposing the Mars-Jupiter conjunction it is unlikely that the abductor was known to either Joanne or Peter. It also suggests the possibility of facial or other physical changes to prevent the abductor's apprehension.

We may have to wait some time for a resolution to this case but I believe we do have a clear picture, astrologically, of the event itself. □

NEW TEST NO. 58

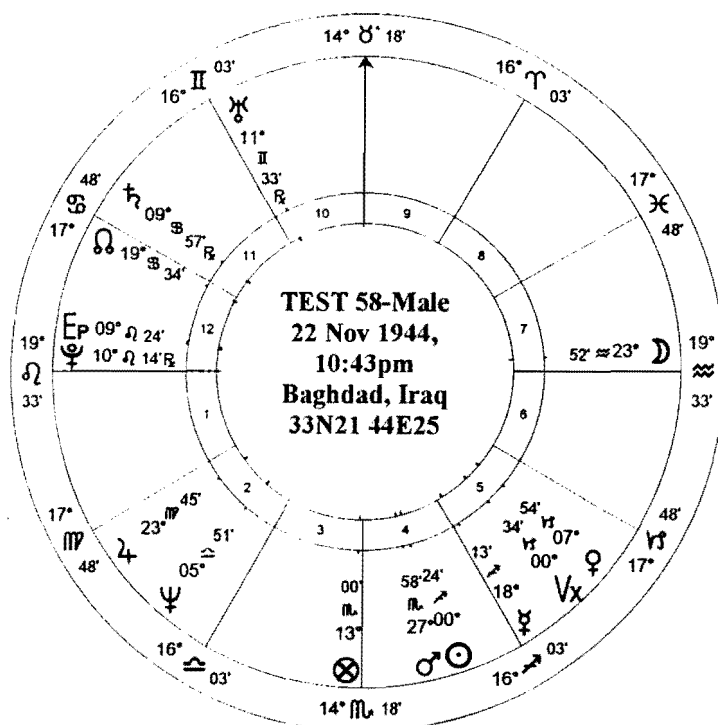

Here are three events in the life of a man and three dates each of which corresponds to one of the events. The Test is to see whether you can by astrological means find the correct date for each event. All of them occurred in Jerusalem, Israel (31N46, 35E14).

The events are:

1. He joined a political party and became a candidate for the Prime Ministership.
2. He married his assistant.
3. He was convicted of sexual assault against two women and was subsequently given a suspended sentence of 18 months in gaol.

The dates are: October 30, 1997; January 25, 1999; March 21, 2001.

Here is the man's Birth Chart:

Please send your answers to me by September 15 with the astrological basis for them. You can have more than one try if you send in a wrong answer early. The answers will be published in next month's Issue with the names of successful respondents. All who take part in the exercise will receive an individual reply. These "Tests" are worth the time and effort involved. They undoubtedly help you to refine your techniques and search out their weak spots.

-- Dymock.

SEPTEMBER 2001—TRANSITING ASPECTS

Here are brief notes on next month's planetary Aspects and positions, and what activity is in harmony with them. If any positions coincide with a Significator (planet or Zodiacal Point) in your Natal Chart the influence will be enhanced.

Sep. 2. Venus 6Le33 opposite Neptune 6Aq33: Sensitized feelings; vulnerable to hurts. Day-dreaming. Helpful in artistic or other creative work.

Sep. 5. Mercury 6Li28 trine Neptune 6Aq28: Your mind is receptive and your intuition enhanced; moments of inspiration in writing or speaking. Appropriate for indulging in imaginative literature, poetry, films, T.V.

Sep. 7. Venus 12Le36 trine Pluto 12Sg36: Your personal attractiveness is high. Enjoy your relationships.

Sep. 8. Venus 14Le39 sextile Saturn 14Ge39: Take pleasure in steady routine and fulfilling obligations. Make agreeable contact with older persons.

Sep. 9. Mercury 11Li14 square Jupiter 11Cn14: Avoid saying too much or inadvertently giving away confidential information. Watch for mistakes in writings.

Sep. 10. Mercury 12Li38 sextile Pluto 12Sg38: Adds an incisive edge to your written or spoken communications. Cull old paper work—letters, documents, etc.

Sep. 12. Mercury 14Li46 trine Saturn 14Ge46: Plan and organize, establish a routine, attend to paper-work, correspondence, study-assignments, etc. Unattractive or tedious matters in your life should have attention.

Sep. 14. Venus 21Le45 opposite Uranus 21Aqu45: Be ready for surprises, visits; small joys and stimulating new personal contacts.

Sep. 18. Mercury 21Li37 trine Uranus 21Aq37: Your perceptions are heightened. Be alive to new insights and methods. Meeting people gets your mind working and gives new ideas.

Sep. 27. Saturn Stationary turning Retrograde at 14Ge58. If this contacts any Significator in your Chart by conjunction, square or opposition you are very likely to feel restricted and frustrated in your efforts or undertakings. Be patient. Attend to necessary routine, duties and obligations. The rewards come later. □

Readers, if you like this segment and want it to continue each month please let me know.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, Aug 26, 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 241 August 2001

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

TEST NO. 56—THE ANSWER AND ANALYSIS

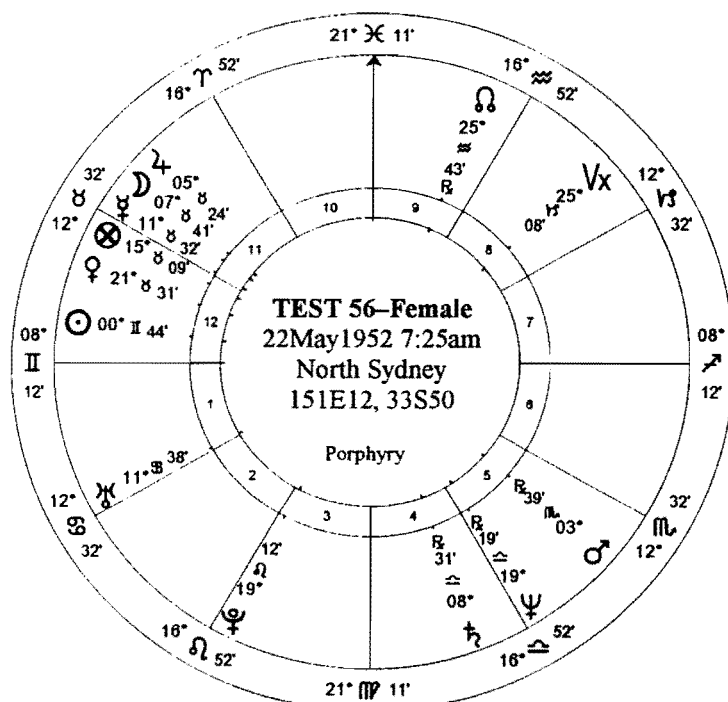

Test No. 56 was about a woman born 22nd May 1952, at 7:25 am, North Sydney (151E12 06, 33S50). This woman suffered a paralysing cerebral stroke at a certain date within the five-year period 1992-1996 (inclusive). At the time she was living in Adelaide (34S55, 138E35).

The Question was to find the DAY or the MONTH and YEAR of the occurrence by astrological means. Any astrological procedure or technique could be used.

The Answer is 10th July 1994.

Here is the Birth Chart:

There were fourteen responses to this Test. No one found the exact date but six participants, Sander (Netherlands), Talia (Alaska), Lisa (Cairo), Birgit (Germany), Ross (Australia) and Margarita (Belgium) found the Solar Year (22 May 1994–22 May 1995) in which the event occurred. The closest was Sander who arrived at 16 April 1994 using Secondary Progressions and a Day Chart, then Talia, 7 Dec 1994 who relied entirely on Cosmobiology, and Lisa, 22 Jan 1994, using Progressions plus Solar and Lunar Returns.

True Node

Sander wrote that the stroke might possibly have

In This Issue...

	Page
Test 56—The Answer and Analysis	1
New Test No. 57	2
A Case of Twins	3
A Note on Progression of the Angles	4 happened between April and July 1994 when Secondary Mercury squared Mars. This is very much dependant on the exactitude of the given birth time. It coincides with Progressed Asc conjunct Uranus and opposite Chiron.

Most respondents used standard techniques—Progressions and Directions (Direct and Converse), Eclipses, Cyclic Charts (Returns and Age Harmonics) and Transits. One respondent used Vedic methods, another the Huber Age Point, another Cosmobiology and another, “the 7-years rhythm through the Houses”. There were no offered solutions involving Uranian techniques.

Solution: One method of solution is to list all the Solar-Arc Directions, forward and backward in the Zodiac, for the five-year period in question, that is from 1 January 1992 to 31 December 1996. Solar-Arc Directions serve better than Secondary Progressions in this respect as they produce many more Aspects of the outer planets to the chief Significators (Sun and Moon). This should then identify the critical years which can be further probed with the aid of cyclic charts (Solar, Lunar and Sun/Moon Phase Returns and Age Harmonics).

Applying this procedure, the Direct and Converse Solar-Arc Aspects involving the outer planets and the above Significators are the following:

[S/A = Solar Arc, c = converse, N = Natal]
Uranus conjunct Sun	6 Jul 1994	(cS/A–N)
Sun opposite Neptune	14 Jan 1995	(cS/A–N)
Saturn square Pluto	7 Dec 1994	(S/A–N)
Sun opposite Neptune	14 Jan 1995	(S/A–N)
Sun conjunct Uranus	27 Feb 1995	(S/A–N)
Sun trine Pluto	4 Mar 1995	(cS/A–N)
Neptune trine Moon	9 Apr 1995	(cS/A–N)
Asc square Neptune	25 May 1995	(S/A–N)

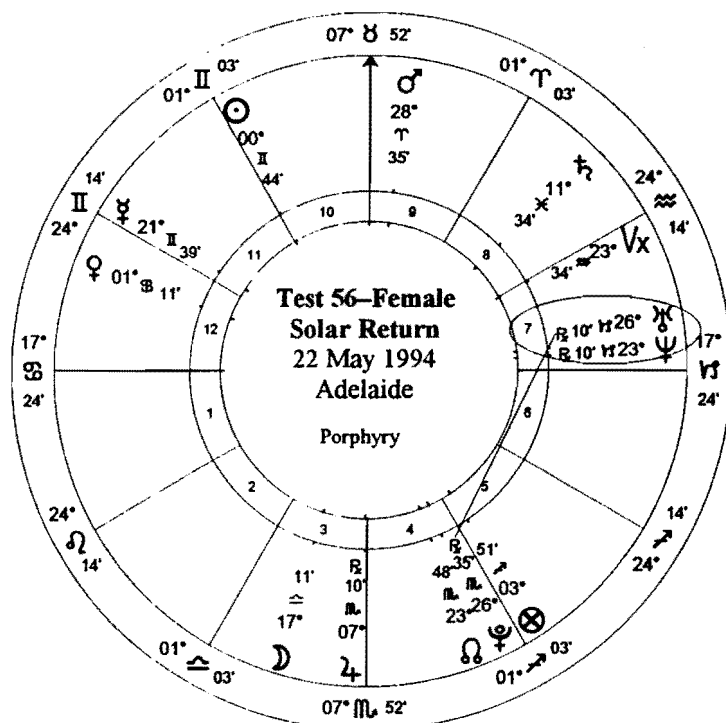

Pluto trine Sun

2 Nov 1995

(S/A-N)

All but the last three (not the most meaningful) of these major Directions fall within the woman's Solar Year 22 May 1994–22 May 1995 when she was 42 years old, so this is almost certainly the year and it can be checked with a Cyclic Chart.

The Solar Return for 22nd May 1994 at the place of residence (or the birth place) confirms that this is the correct period. In the Chart for the place of residence among other adverse indicators, Uranus at 26Cp10 is conjunct Neptune at 23Cp10 and the nVertex at 25Cp08 (sudden paralysis; stroke of fate)) and exactly sextile Pluto at 26Sc35 (life crisis).

The year having been established, the month of the stroke can be ascertained from an examination of the Lunar Returns. The Return Chart for 3 July 1994 leaves little doubt that this is the month of trauma. Indications are similar to those of the Solar Return:

Neptune and Uranus 22–24Cp are closely conjunct the 2nd–8th axis 23Cp/Cn, N.Node and Pluto 22–25Sc conjoin the 12th Cusp 23Sc (Porphyry) and oppose Mars in the House of Ill-Health. Mars itself is exactly semisextile Mercury (the nerves) on the Descendant.

Finding the actual day of the event is tedious but using DAY Charts for the place of birth brings 10 July to the fore (see Chart next column). The two malefics Neptune and Uranus straddle the Descendant in contact with n.Vertex (a blow of fate) and are opposed by the Moon which also aspects Pluto, Mars and Mercury. Relating the Day Chart to the Birth Figure brings other adverse features to light.

Congratulations to all participants. Those who actually do the hard work of analysis for these exercises are aware of what a searching test it is of their techniques and how much they learn in the process of using them.

NEW TEST NO. 57

This Test relates to same man who figured in Tests 54 and 55, but from a different angle: The event is given but not the date. The exercise is to find the date.

Birth Chart: 10 March 1935, 2:30 pm EST Detroit, Michigan.

The Setting and the Event: In his role as manager of an apartment building the man had responsibility for collecting rent from the tenants. On a certain day within the five-year period January 1981 to January 1986, the day everyone's rent was due, he answered the door to find a man pointing a gun at him and demanding the cash box. He led the intruder down the hall and as he turned the corner he grabbed for the gun. It went off and a bullet went right through his thigh and lodged in the woodwork. The intruder fled without the cash. Since the bullet went through flesh and not bone the man saw no need to see a doctor, treated it himself and was none the worse for the experience.

The exercise is to find the DAY or the MONTH or even the YEAR of the event. Please send your answers to me by 10th August. The solution and a way of arriving at it will be published in the August Issue but those who respond with a date and its astrological basis will receive individual replies soon after the deadline.

When responding please give your conclusion first then the crucial factors on which it is based. Pages of analysis are not necessary.

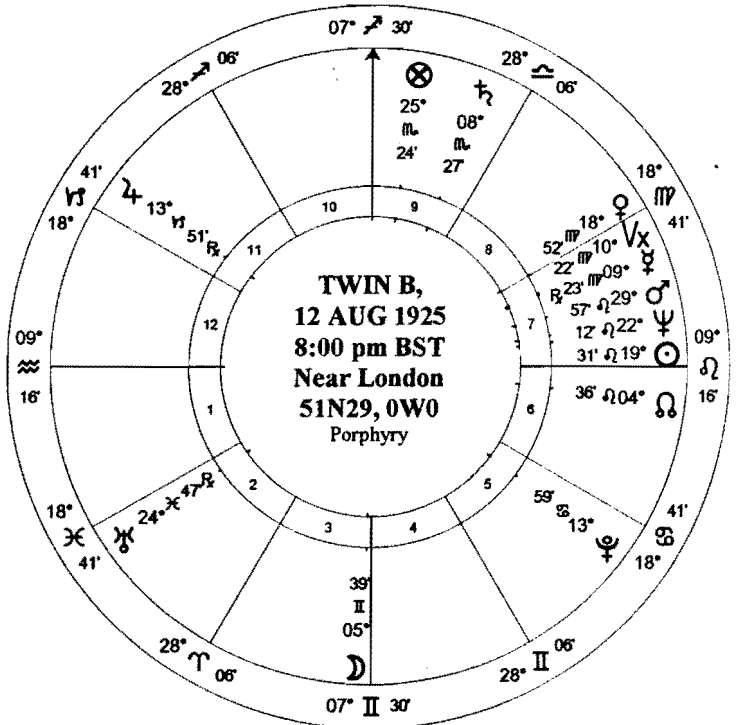

Exercises like this are the best way to improve one's astrological skill and insight. — Dymock.

A CASE OF TWINS

Here is an interesting case of twins born on August 12, 1925. It appeared in Hamburger Hefte No. III of 1983.

The Birth Charts of Twin A and Twin B appear in the adjacent column. The material was sent to me by Nick Sutherland of Texas, USA, for use as one of our standard Tests, but in view of the complexity I think it better to discuss the Charts in a series of questions to which the answers are available in this Issue at the end of this page and on page 4.

To get most benefit try the questions yourself before looking at the answers.

Qn. 1: The twins had identical occupations. What were they?

2. One twin married on 18 May, 1957, and the other on December 28, 1957. Can you sort out which date applied to which Twin?

3. One twin has died a violent death—shot by a terrorist on 27th Nov 1975. Which twin was it?

Answers below

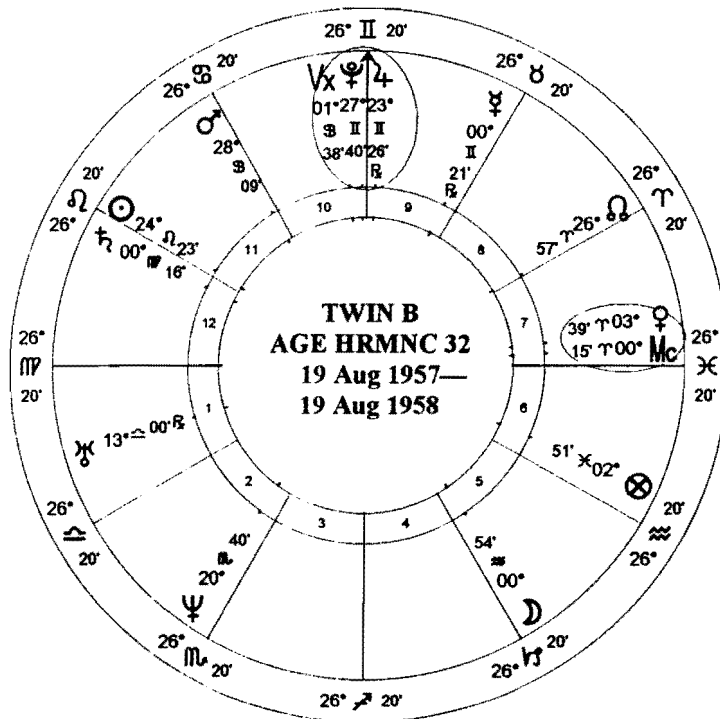

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS ON TWINS A & B
1. They were both independent sports journalists and the authors of several books. 2. Twin A married on May 18, 1957, Twin B on Dec 28, 1957. 3. Twin B.

See next page for explanations and analysis.

It is not abundantly clear why the twins were both sports writers and authors. Sagittarius at the Midheaven of both Charts is of course a pointer ("fond of sport, horses and dogs"). The Ruler, Jupiter, in both charts aspects Mercury (writing), Venus (pleasure), Mars (energy) and Pluto (intensity) showing that a large part of their mental, emotional and physical resources were applied to their chosen profession. The Moon is Angular in Gemini, rules the 6th House (labour) and squares Mercury and Mars ruling the 3rd House. The 3rd House and Gemini are both connected with communication and writings, so it is a fair guess that they were authors.

Twin A married on 18th May 1957, clearly indicated by JUPITER TRINE THE SUN on 28th May, 1957 (converse Vertex-Arc Direction) and Transiting JUPITER Stationary on Natal VENUS on 19th May. Venus occupies the House of Marriage and Jupiter rules the Midheaven (status).

Twin B married on 28 December 1957. Appropriate Directions were URANUS TRINE NEPTUNE 7 January 1958 (Vertex Arc) and SATURN SEXTILE MC on 21 December 1957 (converse Solar Arc). Saturn and Uranus are co-Rulers of the Ascendant and Neptune is conjunct the Sun in the House of Marriage. By far the clearest indication, however, is given by the 32nd Harmonic Chart coinciding with his age at the time.

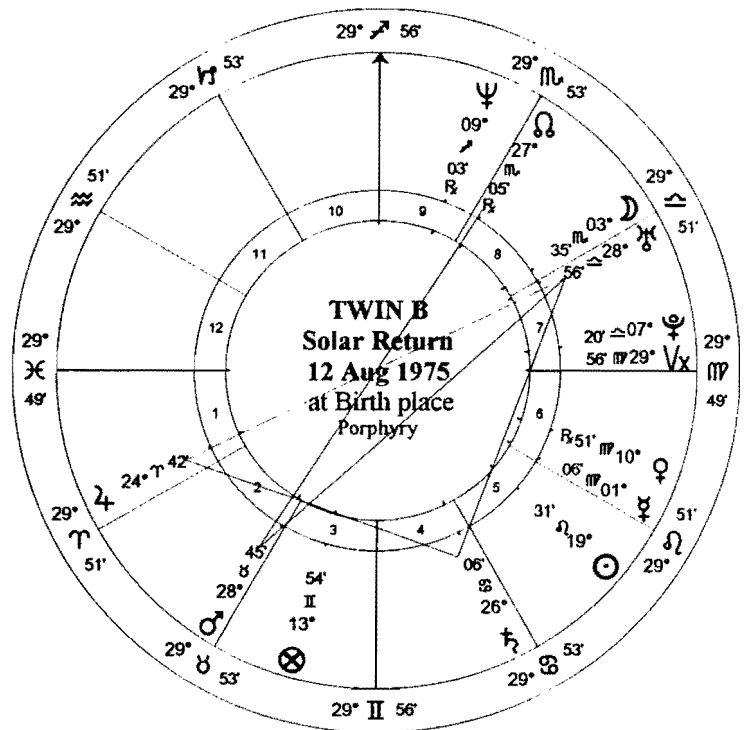

Venus conjunct the Floating MC in the House of Marriage is an obvious indicator while Jupiter, Pluto and Vertex at the MC show the change of status.

Twin B's violent death at the hands of a terrorist on 27 November 1975 is reflected in the Directions: MARS SEXTILE SUN on 29 Nov 1975 (Naibod-Arc, 59' 8" per year), and SATURN SQUARE URANUS on 7 December 1975 (Primary Mundane Direction). As regards the Naibod-Arc Direction which at first glance appears relatively harmless, Mars and the Sun in the Natal Chart both inhabit the House of Enemies, both are afflicted by Neptune and Mars afflicts the Moon.

The Primary Direction (easily obtained with Solar Fire) involves the time key of the Natal Solar Rate which so far appears the most accurate. The square between Saturn and Uranus is drastic, in this case ending the life. The planets are joint Rulers of the Ascendant, Saturn ruling also the House of Traumas.

The Solar Return for the year of the death clearly depicts the event: Mars on the 3rd Cusp opposes the Node (inimical contact), is quincunx Uranus (gunshot) and square to the Natal position of Mars. Uranus conjoins the Moon on the Cusp of Death, opposes Jupiter and squares Saturn (sudden death).

The Month Harmonic Chart, 50.25, is equally graphic in depicting the event but unfortunately lack of space prevents its reproduction here.

PROGRESSION OF THE ANGLES

Ross Harvey (NSW) writes, "I have come to the conclusion that it is not possible to favour one method of Secondary Progression of the Angles over the others. Sometimes one method may work, and at other times another will. I have had pMC conjunct nUranus three times in the past three years by the Solar Arc in right ascension, in longitude and by Naibod Arc in right ascension in that order, and each produced an event. The first two were health problems, and the last, which coincided with pAscendant trine nJupiter by Solar-Longitude Arc, was mildly financially favourable. However, with the solar R.A. arc, neither pAscendant trine Mars nor pAscendant trine Jupiter had any effect, and the same aspects with the longitude arc were mild to say the least".

My kind regards to all. — Dymock, 25 July, 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $A20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@pzemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 240 July 2001

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

by Allan Johnson

Unfinished Business is further consideration of the articles I have been writing about the New Millenium or the 21st Century Chart and having a look at the years ahead. Of course this subject will continue to be very topical at this point in time, and in this connection I like to keep abreast of any new books having a bearing on it, but not astrological. The latest I have read is The End of History and the Last Man by Francis Fukuyama. I found his title a bit way out and therefore a bit off-putting which is why I had not read it earlier but now find I can highly recommend this book to anyone interested in future world developments. It first came out in 1992, but since that date nothing new has come up to alter the trends involved. He makes much of the date for the collapse of communism in 1989 as the trigger for all that was to follow. I have used that date myself but so far have not dealt with the Chart for the event in detail, but only used the Transits for that time. Of course a chart for a single event can set in motion a whole train of further events with very little time limit.

This Chart was first published in the January Issue and the first thing to notice about it is that it has no planets in Fire Signs. In fact no planets at all in positive Signs. This gives it a softening effect—so different from the 20th Century Chart. So in a sense it is a negation, although it does have Mars and Pluto in the 1st House. But these have no heavy Squares or Oppositions to denote violence. We do get a lot of Sextiles and Trines, and a wide Grand Trine. So it is not surprising that this event did not result in a lot of violence.

The Chart emphasizes PEACE—and we have been getting that. This in turn links up with the 21st Century Chart which has no powerful configurations geared to violence as in the 20th Century Chart. This absence of massive violence is the major factor that Fukuyama makes in his book. When he talks about the End of History he is not talking about Armageddon or the End of the World which is the big thing for religious fundamentalists. He is saying the very opposite. His "end of history" is the end of the violent confrontations we have known in recent times. It is the end of that type of history we have come to regard as such. And these are the very same types of predictions I have been making in my previous articles.

Third World Wars are definitely out. It is the end of empire building. So although the 20th Century has seen the peak of massive violence, it has also seen the end of quite a number of Empires, including the last of all—the Communist empire. We have witnessed the lead up to the end of massive violence on the grand scale. But it is a great irony that the world now possesses the greatest armoury of disastrous weapons in all history. This is the greatest paradox of our times. Such weapons are there, but they cannot be used because of fall-out.

In This Issue...

	Page
Unfinished Business—21st Century Chart....	1
Disappearance of Chandra Ann Levy	2
—Horary Cht, Birth Cht, Age Harmonic....	2
Test 54 & 55—Results	3
New Test 56	4

6 am is an arbitrary choice as the actual time is unknown.

Nuclear weapons, chemical weapons, germ warfare, know no boundaries. To use them invites self-destruction. That is something no major power can afford. The Charts for both the Berlin Wall and the new Century both emphasize this.

So instead of military we will have trade warfare, commercial competition, globalization. To a certain extent this has already been happening. Europe has had the longest period without national warfare in its history! And this will continue. I don't see any huge surprise developments coming up in the early part of this Century.

The collapse of the Berlin Wall didn't actually start the present trend of events, but it stood out as a gigantic symbol for the whole situation. The axis of planets between the 3rd and 9th Houses in that Chart is a repeat of what was in the 20th Century Chart, we are continuing to get further developments in communication. We are certainly getting that right now. But the Opposition between the 3rd House planets and Jupiter is not all that drastic. So we have reached the "End of History" in its traditional meaning. That is what Francis Fukuyama is saying. And that is also the message of the 21st Century Chart. Instead of countries trying to solve their problems by war they will solve them within their own boundaries. One of the biggest problems for the future is the question of world population. Recent reports in China shows that this is being successfully carried out. The latest statistics show it is down to 1% per year. We are not heading into a utopia with all problems solved. There will still be plenty of problems and conflicts and hatreds—but on a very different level. Fukuyama's book deals with quite a lot of that. □

DISAPPEARANCE OF CHANDRA ANN LEVY

Recently a young woman disappeared mysteriously in the Washington DC area. Her story was on the front page of many USA newspapers. She was due to return home to California to receive her master's degree along with others from her class. Unfortunately she never made it. Her parents flew to Washington to try to help in the investigation. She had just completed an internship with the Federal Bureau of prisons and was last seen on April 30th at a Washington gym, 7:30 pm.

Her apartment contained her Id, credit cards and packed suitcases. She told a girlfriend that she was dating someone in the FBI. Her mother last spoke to her on April 27th and received an E mail from her on May 1st, 10:30am. She has also been linked to Democratic Rep. Gary Condit (born April 21, 1948 in Salina, Ok) who said she was a family friend.

The police are treating it as a "missing person's" case. They currently have no solid leads. Her father, Dr. Levy in Modesto, CA, gave the following data from her baby book: Born April 14, 1977 at 1:46pm EST in Cleveland, Ohio. Dr. Levy has given his permission to put this information out and would appreciate anything the astrological community might come up with.

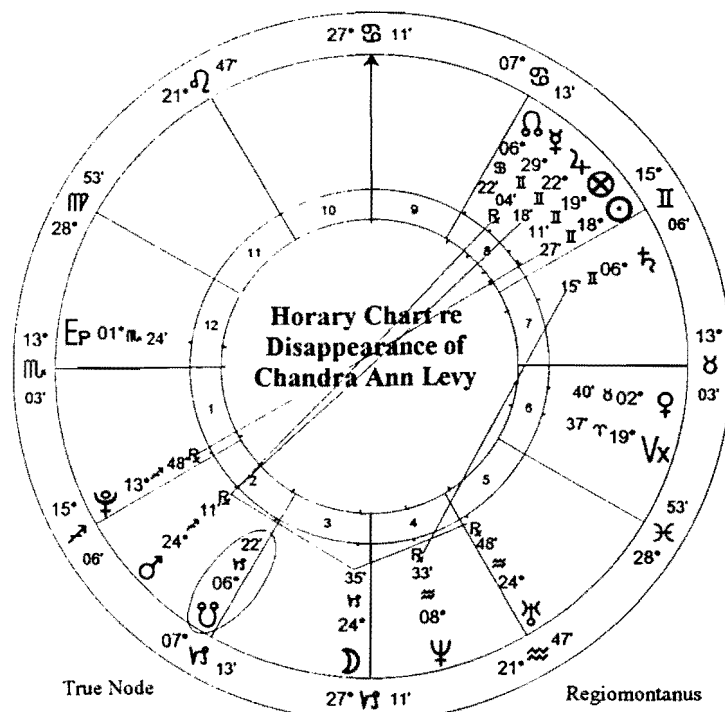

This matter has been discussed at length on the Internet, the source of the above information, using a Horary Chart for the time when the young woman was last seen. The general consensus was that the unfortunate woman is no longer alive.

I had been pondering this case and a few days ago set up another Horary Chart for the time when the disappearance of Chandra was most on my mind. This Chart appears in the next column. Its message is grim:

Scorpio rises and its Ruler Mars is opposed by Jupiter. This describes Chandra as adventurous, independent, freedom-loving, self-willed and impulsive. Her Co-Significator, the Moon, is ominously placed on the 4th Cusp, in its Detriment in Capricorn and the focus of both Mars and Uranus placed exactly a semi-sextile away on either side. All three bodies are at 24°. Mars and Uranus afflicting the Moon indicate that Chandra has suffered violence. As the Moon rules the 9th House the violence occurred on a journey and it terminated the journey, the Moon being on the Cusp of Endings.

The Co-Ruler of the Ascendant is Pluto opposed by the Sun on the Cusp of the House of Death. This forbidding portent is emphasized by the nature of Pluto (The Destroyer).

If, as appears dreadfully certain, Chandra has been killed, the 4th House would represent her grave. Capricorn on the Cusp means it is ruled by Saturn which is afflicted by a retrograde Neptune in the 4th House, so the grave is a watery one—possibly a lake or river. Saturn to Neptune in the 4th also signifies a mysterious end.

Horary Chart drawn for 9 June 2001, 3:02 pm SAT
Adelaide, Australia, 138E35, 34S55.

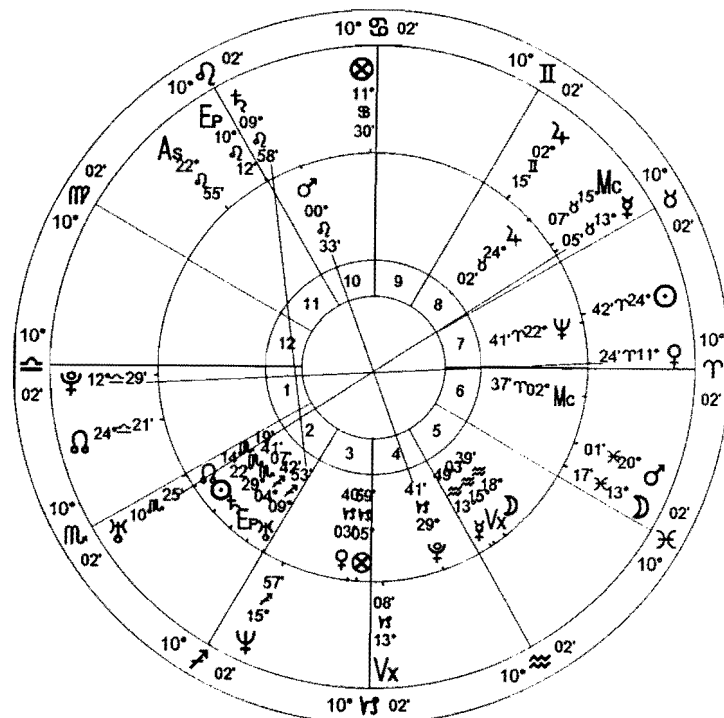

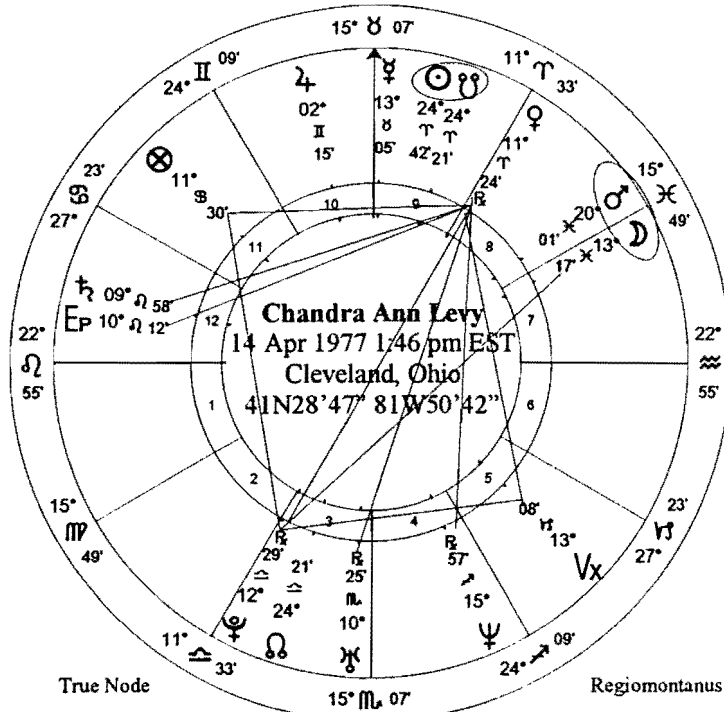

That the journey was ill-fated is obvious from the South Node of the Moon on the Travel Axis disposed by Saturn.

If, as seems apparent, death has indeed occurred, the approximate time can possibly be judged from the separated Opposition of Mercury to Mars. Mercury occupies and rules the House of Death while Mars is the Primary Significator of Chandra. The separation in longitude is 4°53' equating to approximately five weeks, which would be about May 5, five days after Chandra was last seen.

The configuration Moon-Mars-Uranus involving the 5th House suggests that Chandra was raped and murdered. This terrible fate is further signified by the square of Pluto 13Sg48 to the Midpoint Moon/Venus 13Pi38.

Chandra's Birth Chart appears in the next column. It shows a woman with much charisma. Leo rises and Ruler Sun is unusually strong through being Exalted in Aries and elevated in the 9th House. However, it is conjunct the South Node of the Moon—an unfortunate alliance. The Moon thrice afflicted (Mars, Neptune and Pluto) is the index of a short life. The involvement of the 12th, 8th and 4th Houses signifies a mysterious death. Venus opposing Pluto, quincunx Uranus, trine Neptune, Saturn and the EP and in a Grand Cross with Fortuna and the Vertex is almost overwhelming evidence of an end coming through a sexual encounter. The 4th and 9th Houses are linked through having a common Ruler (Mars) indicating that Chandra could suffer a fatal attack when on a journey.

Finally, here is Chandra's 24th Age Harmonic Chart

Inner Wheel: 24th Harmonic of Chandra Ann Levy's Birth Chart
Outer Wheel: Chandra Ann Levy: Birth Chart, 14 Apr 1977

which relates to the period 14 April 2001—14 April 2002. The Birth Chart planets are in the outer wheel. Their positions are striking and terrible: Pluto (Death and Destruction) on the Ascendant opposes Venus right on the Descendant and ruling the House of Death. Uranus opposes Mercury on the 2nd-8th axis with Mercury ruling the 9th House (sudden death when on a journey).

In the Harmonic Chart itself Mars ruling the 7th House opposes Pluto in the 4th (deadly assault). Uranus trines natal Saturn (on the same degree) ruling the 4th, another indication of a sudden death.

Altogether it is a very grim picture which sadly offers

Altogether it is a very grim picture which sadly offers no hope for the life of the subject. □

TEST NO. 54—RESULTS

The Question was what occurred on 23rd July 1955 in the life of a man born on March 10, 1935 at 2:30 pm EST in Detroit, Michigan (42N20, 83W03). Asc 3Le24, MC 18Ar25, Moon 5Ge5. He was single and employed in the automotive industry and was living at Ypsilanti, Michigan (42N15, 83W37).

The Answer is that the man's father died.

I found that the most revealing Chart was the 20th Harmonic for the changed location (Ypsilanti). In this Chart the Sun (the father) is on the Death Cusp conjunct the Vertex (fateful) and both square the Moon's Nodes. Mars ruling the 4th House (the father) is conjunct Pluto, both accented by being on the 7th Cusp.

In the Solar Return (also set for Ypsilanti) the strongest pointers were Mars on the 12th Cusp opposite the Vertex (both at 8°) Pluto in the 4th square the E.P., Saturn ruling the 8th House square Mercury (both at 21°) and disposing Fortuna on the 8th Cusp.

Three respondents to Test 54—Mignon Halford (NSW), Ross Harvey (NSW) and Leah Breuer-Kantor (Israel)—correctly diagnosed a death but weren't able to identify which parent.

TEST NO. 55—RESULTS

Test 55 concerns the same man as in Test 54. The Question was what occurred in his life on August 19, 1978. The Answer is that his mother died. A good lead is given here by the Solar-Arc Direction of Saturn conjunct Venus on 17th August 1978. In the Birth

Chart Saturn occupies and rules the House of Death while Venus is on the MC (the mother) and is semisquare to Saturn. A Chart giving a positive indication is the Day Chart (below) for the time and place of Birth. The Moon (the mother) is exactly square to Neptune (loss) and ruling the House of Death. Pluto is closely quincunx the Moon. Venus, Significator in the Birth Chart of the mother, is closely besieged by Mars and Pluto, signifying death. The Nodal Axis is exactly coincident with the Meridian.

Correct responses were received from Marion Mendez (New Jersey) who used only Uranian techniques, and from Leah Breuer-Kantor (Israel). Congratulations to them and to all who participated in either of these two exercises.

NEW TEST NO. 56

Test No. 56 is about a woman born 22nd May 1952, at 7:25 am, North Sydney (151E12 06, 33S50). The Ascendant is 8Ge12, MC 21Pi11, Moon 7Ta41. This woman suffered a paralysing cerebral stroke at a certain date within the five year period 1992—1996 (inclusive). At the time she was living in Adelaide (34S55, 138E35). Can you find the day or the month and year of the occurrence by astrological means? You are free to use any astrological procedure or technique.

This exercise presents a different type of challenge and a new learning experience. Please send your response and its astrological basis to me by 10th July. The correct answer and a means of discovering it will be published in the following month but all participants will receive a personal reply much earlier.

My kind regards to all,

Dymock.

21st June 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 239 June 2001

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

BLAIR TO WIN

Now that Prime Minister Tony Blair has definitely settled on Thursday, JUNE 7 for the U.K. General Election I have taken a fresh look at his Monthly Charts and Aspects covering this date. As a result I have to reverse my previous statement that he would lose the Election. I wonder did he have astrological advice to choose this day?

There are several astrological indicators pointing to victory for Blair. In sequence of date they start off with favourable transits of Jupiter trine Neptune on 7th June and Jupiter trine Saturn on 9th June. The second one is the weightier of the two as Saturn rules Blair's Natal Midheaven.

The Chart for this Aspect at its exact time of occurrence is shown in the adjacent column with the Natal Figure concentric. Apart from Jupiter's "harvest" trine to Saturn there is a most favourable accumulation of planets—Saturn, Sun, Jupiter and Mercury—in Blair's House of Career.

The next, more important, configuration is the Solar-Arc Direction Jupiter sextile the Sun on 17 June. The Biwheel combining this Aspect with the Birth Figure

In This Issue...

	Page
Blair to Win.....	1
Progressions, Directions & Cyclic Charts.....	1
Olivia Barclay's Death.....	3
Anastasia—Mystery Resolved!	3
Tests 54 & 55.....	4

appears on the next page. Jupiter rules the MC and is not only sextile the natal Sun but also conjunct Mars and natal Uranus near the Ascendant.

Finally, the Solar Eclipse of 21st June at 1:04 pm BST (next page) combines with Jupiter and straddles the Midheaven at Edinburgh where Blair was born. Venus at 14Tau57 in the Eclipse Chart conjoins Blair's natal Sun at 15Tau22. This can only be a favourable portent for Blair.

He will win.

— Dymock.

PROGRESSIONS, DIRECTIONS & CYCLIC CHARTS

As astrologers, how many times do we look in vain for a Direction or Progression that corresponds to an incident in a person's life? Those of us (mostly professionals) who do many charts will naturally come across this situation more frequently than the average hobbyist who occasionally casts a chart for a friend. My search over the years has been to find a system of Progression or Direction that will account for all eventualities. The search has been in vain.

In numerous cases I have found the answer in the symbolic Directions, calculated either forward or backward in the Zodiac. These Directions were made easily accessible through the Solar Fire Program which calculates Direct and Converse Ascendant-Arc and Vertex-Arc Directions as well as the more generally used Solar-Arc type and in a twinkling arranges them in chronological order. This is a great boon and another evidence of the miraculous change made by the modern computer.

An instance that comes to mind is the death of Lady Diana, Princess of Wales, on August 31, 1997. This was explicitly shown by the powerful Ascendant-Arc Direction of Pluto square the Sun on September 14, 1997, just two weeks after Diana's death.

A still further and very welcome addition to our astrological armamentarium was the provision of Primary Directions calculated with alternative time keys. In the past twenty years I have experimented with Primaries of various types—Standard, Topocentric, P.E.A. ("Prime Event analysis"), etc., calculated with and without celestial latitude, and none have been so eminently satisfactory as those provided by Solar Fire using the time key of the Natal Solar Rate.

Primary Directions are in a class by themselves. They depend on the rotation of the Earth on its axis not the orbital motion of planets through the celestial sphere. Timing is very critical indeed. A difference of 1 minute in the Radix time can make a difference of three months in the date of a Primary Direction of the MC. Consequently it is a joy to the astrologer (especially this astrologer) to light on a system that gives accuracy usually within a matter of days and sometimes within a day or even on the very day of the corresponding life incident.

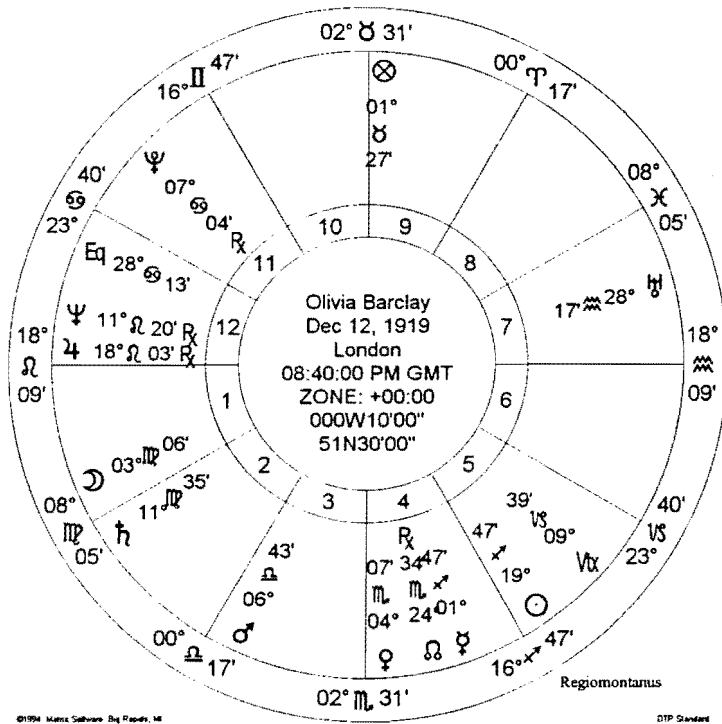

More astrologers should become aware of Primary Directions and use them regularly. In the 19th Century they were the principal means of making predictions. They fell into disuse when the increasing number of astrologers were not sufficiently versed in the complicated mathematics required to calculate them, let alone the time required to do so. Now all this is changed by that modern miracle, the computer! The debt we owe to the mathematicians, astronomers, and electronics engineers who have brought this blessing to us is far beyond our ability to repay.

My enthusiasm has led me to digress from the main topic which is the problem of finding planetary interaction to account for every significant life event. Even with the additional techniques discussed above there are still occasions when no such planetary configuration presents itself. Sometimes this gap is filled by a planet at its Station which is as powerful as a Primary Direction. Planets transiting at their normal rate are insufficient on their own to account for important events.

However, in these instances I have invariably found that the event is accounted for in one of the Cyclic Charts—Solar Return, Lunar Return, Synodic Return and, most frequently and effectively, by an Age Harmonic, when drawn from an accurate birth time.

A very recent, if sad illustration occurred with the death of the noted Horary Astrologer, Olivia Barclay, on 31 March 2001. Olivia's Birth Figure appears in the next column.

A converse Vertex-Arc Direction Saturn conjunct Pluto occurred on 20th April 2001. Certainly this is powerful and probably sufficient to indicate death in a person suffering from an advanced stage of bone cancer as was Olivia's unhappy condition at the time. But it is three weeks overdue. On the other hand, here is Olivia's Lunar Return Chart of 8th March:

There is no mistaking the message of this Chart: The Sun Giver of Life, rules the Ascendant and is placed on the Cusp of the House of Death where its life-giving properties are cut off by the square of Pluto from the terminal 4th House. There is even more if you wish to look further: The Sun rules also the adverse 12th House (confinement) and its Dispositor, Jupiter, is squared by the Moon; Saturn (bones and misery) exactly squares the Rising Degree; Mars in the House of Endings (and ruling it) is afflicted by Jupiter;

Mercury conjoins Uranus in Aquarius (probably also indicative of bone cancer).

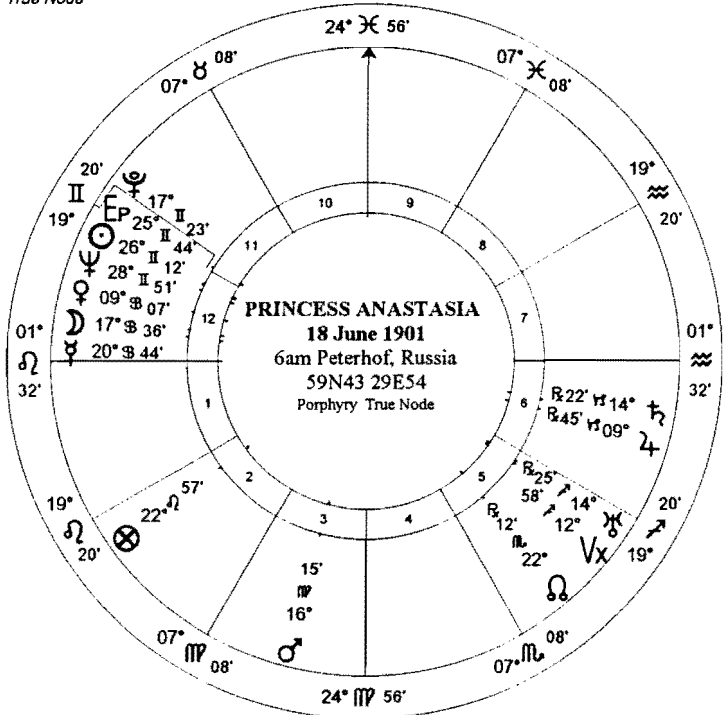

The above is just one instance where an appropriate Progression/Direction is either absent or dubious and a Cyclic Chart gives much superior indications. □

ANASTASIA—MYSTERY RESOLVED!

What happened to Princess Anastasia of Russia is a mystery that has engaged the minds of historians and others for the past eighty years. Anastasia was the youngest daughter of Tsar Nicholas who along with his family was murdered by the Bolsheviks on 16th July 1918. The rumour has persisted that somehow Anastasia survived.

We are fortunate that her father wrote in his diary that Anastasia was born at exactly 6am, in Peterhof (now Petrodvorec). The Russian time zone at the time was 2hrs 1min (!) ahead of GMT which was 3.59am.

True Node

The family massacre was reported to have occurred in Ekaterinburg and though some remains were found it is doubtful if they were in fact those of the Tsar's family and whether Anastasia's were among them.

A recent article in The Astrology Quarterly, the Journal published by The Astrological Lodge of London, concluded that the fate of Princess Anastasia still remains a mystery.

It is apparent, however, from a study of the Cyclic Charts (Synodic Return, Solar Return Lunar Return and Age Harmonic) and a devastating Solar Eclipse on 8th June 1918 that Anastasia was in fact also murdered on 16th July 1918, less than a month after her 17th birthday.

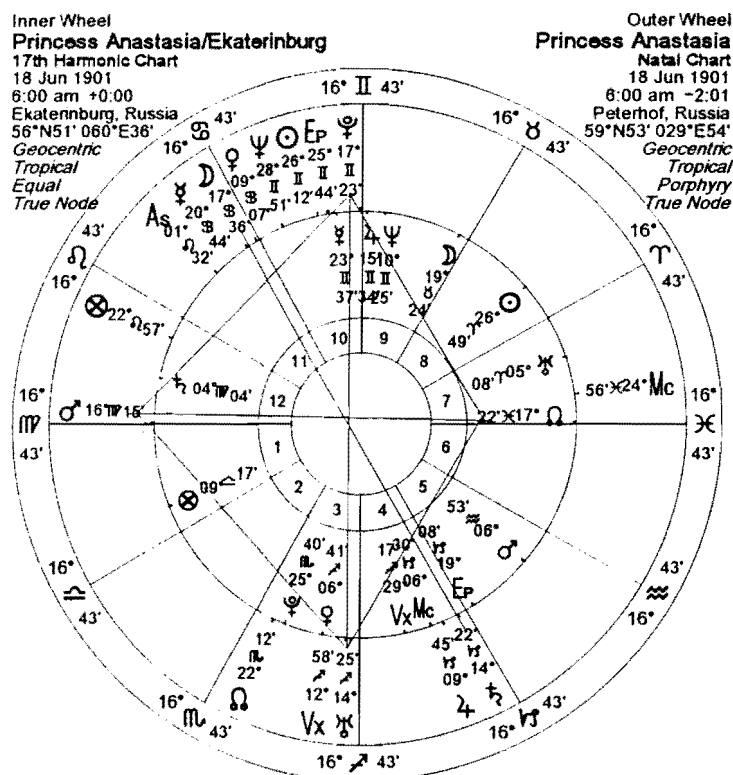

This is another instance where Progressions and Directions do not give adequate indication of the tragedy in store for the hapless Princess and her family.

It is not immediately apparent from her Birth Chart why the Princess should have such a short life, but with closer inspection it becomes obvious:

An old rule is that afflictions to both the Luminaries shorten the life. In Anastasia's Chart the Sun is conjunct the two malefics, Neptune and Pluto; the Moon is opposed by Saturn. Additionally, however, there is a powerful malefic T-Square of Mars, Uranus and Pluto! This is about as threatening and direful as a planetary configuration can get.

The massacre of the Tsar and his family was on 16 July 1918, when Anastasia was just 17 years old. The most graphic depiction of her fate is given in her 17th Harmonic Chart (below) calculated for the change of location to Ekaterinburg, the scene of the killings. Ekaterinburg (now known as Sverdlovsk) is a huge distance from Peterhof, her birth place. The Birth Figure is in the outside ring, Cusps from the Harmonic Chart.

What we see here is a dramatic increase in the malevolence of the natal Mars, Pluto, Uranus T-Square. Not only are these planets brought dangerously to the Angles of the Figure but they are also enhanced by the Harmonic Node in precise configuration with them and now forming a Grand Cross. The addition of the Node emphasizes the power of the T-Square and signifies that the cruel fate was suffered with others. All the family were taken to a cellar to be shot and bayoneted to death. It will be noted that Mars on the Rising Degree rules the House of Death while the Opposition of the Moon to Saturn is now enhanced by lying along a Cuspal Axis.

Dymock Bros

The Solar Eclipse of 8th June 1918 (10:07pm GMT) devastatingly conjoins Pluto, planet of Death and Destruction, in Anastasia's Nativity. The conjunction is exact to within a few minutes of arc. This was a clear portent of the murders that followed five weeks later, whereas there were no satisfactory Progressions, Directions or Stationary Transits to mark the event.

Solar Eclipse-8Jun1918

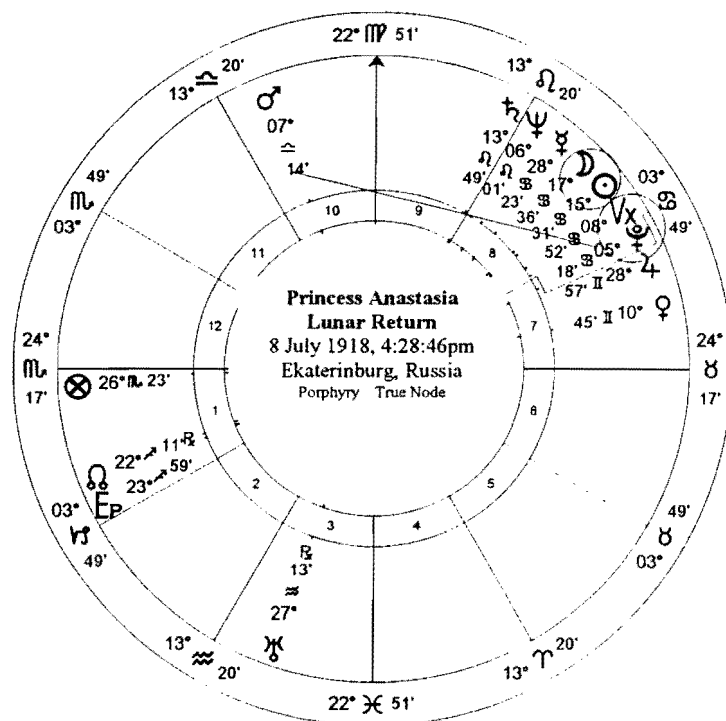

Event Chart
8 Jun 1918
10:07 pm +0:00
Peterhof, Russia
59°N53' 02°E54'

Only the significant portion of the Eclipse Chart is shown here. One other feature is the Eclipse position of Mars at 23° Vi38 conjunct the Natal Cusp of Endings (24° Vi56).

The Solar Return Chart of 18 June 1918 has indications but not so clear and definite as in the Age Harmonic Chart.

Rather more indicative is the Lunar Return (below) for the changed location, Ekaterinburg. Scorpio rises and Ruler Pluto conjoins the Cusp of Death (a double emphasis) together with the Vertex (fateful events) both being square to Mars. The POF rising is adverse in Scorpio. The Moon ruling the Deaths House is adversely affected by being conjunct the Sun.

The moral of all this is that for predictive purposes we cannot rely totally on the Aspects of the planets either in their orbits, by symbolic Direction or derived from the rotation of the Earth. We also need Harmonics, Cyclic Charts, and Eclipse Charts.

TESTS

The solution to Test 54 (last Issue) will be given in the July Issue. Here is another Test based on the same data:

TEST 55: What occurred on August 19, 1978, in the life of the same person? Please send your answers by June 10.

My kind regards to all. — Dymock, 13 May 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques
applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 238 May 2001

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due.

I have received requests to provide information on the very effective technique, Age Harmonics, about which there are no textbooks at present.

INTRODUCTION TO AGE HARMONICS

by Dymock Brose

I regard Age Harmonics as the most significant advance in Astrology during the last century.

Harmonics are certainly not new. I believe the idea is centuries old and was brought into prominence through the writings of the late John Addey (Harmonics in Astrology, Cambridge Circle Ltd. 1976). However, using the age of a subject as the harmonic number and applying it to the radix for investigative and predictive work is new and unique and we owe its advent to the experimental research of an Australian astrologer, Ross Harvey, living in the suburb of Turramurra, New South Wales. He first brought it to my attention about sixteen years ago.

Like others, I approached this new tool with scepticism but very soon realized its enormous value, greater in my opinion than any other advance in Astrology in the 20th Century. Since then I have not only used it with every Chart that I worked on, but have proclaimed its efficacy to everybody who was not too bogged down in traditional thinking to take it up and test it. The tests, on all manner of charts—personal, national and event—invariably bear out my claims.

THE AGE-HARMONIC CHART

The Age-Harmonic Chart is an Annual Figure still unknown to many astrologers yet one of incalculable value, usually more pertinent and detailed in its indications than the commonly used Standard Solar Return Chart. Many astrologers disregard the Age Harmonic on theoretical or other grounds but they would profit greatly if they took the time to investigate it. A little research on their own charts in relation to important life events would be an eye-opening revelation of the power of this technique.

Harmonics are tedious (but not hard) to calculate by hand (with an electronic calculator). If the birth time is

In This Issue...

	Page
Introduction to Age Harmonics.....	1
The Austrian Tunnel Disaster 11 Nov 2000 ..	2
Monthly Harmonics	3
Test 53—The Answer.....	4
New Test No. 54.....	4

out, but not too far out, the planetary Aspects will be O.K. but the House positions may be wrong, the error increasing as the harmonic becomes higher.

If you are using a calculator, reduce all the Radix positions to absolute degrees from 0° Aries. For instance, 25Tau38 would become 55°38'; an Ascendant of 13Lib24 would become 193°24', etc.

Multiply all the positions (including Ascendant and Midheaven) by the birthday number. If you are 35 and want the Age-Harmonic for the year from your age 35 to age 36, multiply all the positions by 35. Some astrologers use a multiplier that is one year more than the age, but I don't agree with that—it doesn't work. They claim it is more logical. I rely on practical results. If the practice is right the "theory" is wrong.

With all the products, cast out as many 360's as necessary to reduce the answer to less than 360, then translate the final figure back into the Zodiacal Sign and degree.

Insert the harmonic Ascendant in your blank Chart and put equal Cusps on the other Houses. You will have a "floating MC" (resulting from the multiplication of the Radix MC), which should also be inserted, in the Chart. From experience I have found that though both MC's are effective signifiers the floating MC is the more important one for interpretative and predictive purposes.

Read the Chart as a figure in itself, but also in relation to the Radix whether you are working with a birth, national or event natus. The Age-Harmonic is artificial in that some positions could never be arrived at naturally (Mercury or Venus opposite the Sun for instance). Don't be concerned about that. Just see what a great predictive tool it is, rich in Aspects, especially when considered in relation to the Radix.

The Austrian Tunnel Disaster

11 Nov. 2000

A powerful illustration of the value of Age-Harmonics is the Harmonic for the great train disaster in the mountain tunnel at Kaprun, Austria, on 11th November last year. The train carrying holiday-makers burst into flames when in the tunnel and the fire, smoke and fumes killed all but 12 of the 167 people aboard.

In the adjoining column is the Radix for Austria's regaining its independence when the Allied Forces left in 1955. Below it is the Age Harmonic No. 45 relating to the year 27 July 2000—27 Jul 2001. This Figure gives a clear and definite picture of the tragedy:

* Uranus rises square Mercury (adverse for train travel).

* The Vertex (fateful events) on the 3rd Cusp (short distance trips) squares the East Point (= Asc) and Neptune in Sagittarius in House 12 ruling the 3rd (suffering from gases and fumes on a short trip).

* The Sun in and ruling the House of Deaths squares Venus in and ruling House 5 (holiday-makers—the occupants of the train were off to enjoy themselves on the snow fields; Venus conjunct Jupiter confirms this). The Sun square Jupiter ruling House 12 adds to the tragedy.

* The Moon's Node is sextile the Moon, identifying it with the passengers, and is besieged by Pluto and Mars (many deaths).

That is certainly sufficient to account for the tragedy but if we look now at the Harmonic Chart's relation to the Radix we see still more. The Bi-wheel (next page) helps easy recognition of the inter-Chart Aspects. The Radix is the outer wheel. Cusps are from the Harmonic Chart (inner wheel).

* h.Saturn ruling the Asc and in the terminal 4th House squares n.Pluto in the Deaths House and opposes natal Neptune, ruling the 3rd House (deaths on short trips).

* n.Sun and Jupiter conjunct the Deaths Cusp and their midpoint (6Le13) is almost identical with it.

* n.Pluto conjuncts the h.Sun, in and ruling the Deaths House, and squares the conjunction of h.Venus and Jupiter (the pleasure-seekers).

* the n.Moon-Ep opposition now lies along the 11th-5th axis testifying to the train passengers being bent on pleasure.

The nature of the above Significators and the closeness of the Aspects involved testify to the efficacy of the Age-Harmonic Chart as a diagnostic/predictive tool.

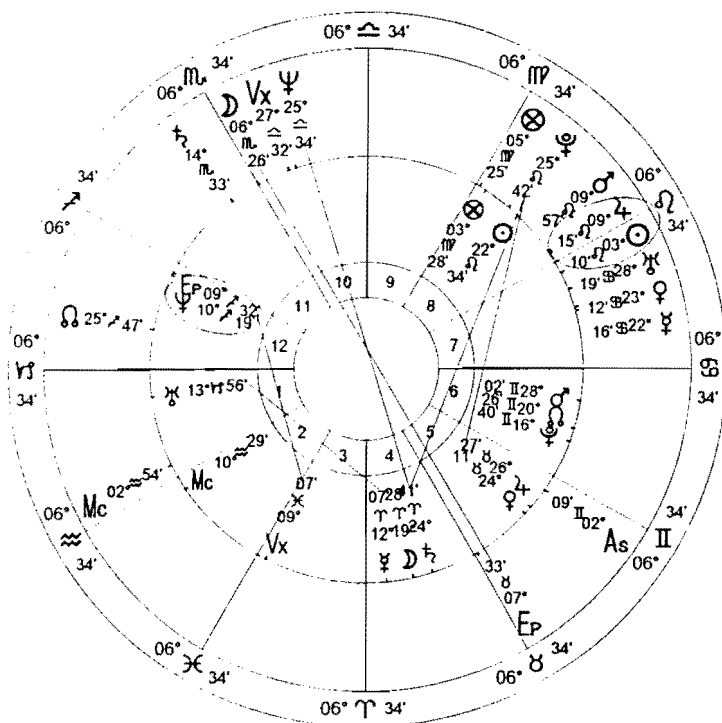

A number of modern astrological Programs calculate the Age-Harmonic Chart: Solar Fire, WinStar, Blue Star Plus, Nova, and probably others. Solar Fire I find particularly useful for calculating the Harmonic Chart and easily alternating it inside or outside the Radix. Both juxtapositions are useful.

I always use the actual age of the person, not the age + 1. I have been doing Age Harmonic charts for many years and the actual age of the native has always proved valid—very indicative and apposite to the native's life (provided the birth time is accurate). Astrologers who use the age + 1 do so because they think it is "logical". This is theory—and it doesn't "work". Extensive testing proved beyond doubt that the actual age of the subject gives the true Chart for that particular year.

If you try this technique on your own or another's Birth Chart and are not astonished by the accuracy (and number of the indications) you may depend on it that you have either not applied it properly or the time of the Radix is wrong.

Inner Wheel: Austria's 45th Age Harmonic.

Outer Wheel: Austria, Natal Chart, 27 July 1955, 0:00 am CET Vienna, 48N13, 16E20.

ORBS

The Aspects with close orbs (within 1°) are nearly always the ones that depict an important event. I think the maximum orb allowed should be about 5°30'. This is a question that seldom arises because prominent events I find are always portrayed by aspects with very small orbs.

MONTHLY HARMONICS

Apart from those for a year, harmonics for a particular month are also highly indicative. If the month is three, six or nine months after the birthday simply add .25, .5 or .75 to the age. So, in the above Chart for Austria, the month 27 Oct—27 Nov 2000 when the accident occurred would be represented by 45.25. (Erect this Chart, compare it with the Radix and see for yourself its portents of disaster.)

For months in between the above fractions of a year add .0833 for each additional month after the birthday anniversary. 0.0833 is the numeral 1 (for a year) divided by twelve.

For Austria's Chart if we wanted the Harmonic for the month 27 Nov—27 Dec 2000, 4 months after the birthday anniversary it would be—

$$45 + (4 \times .0833) = 45.3332.$$

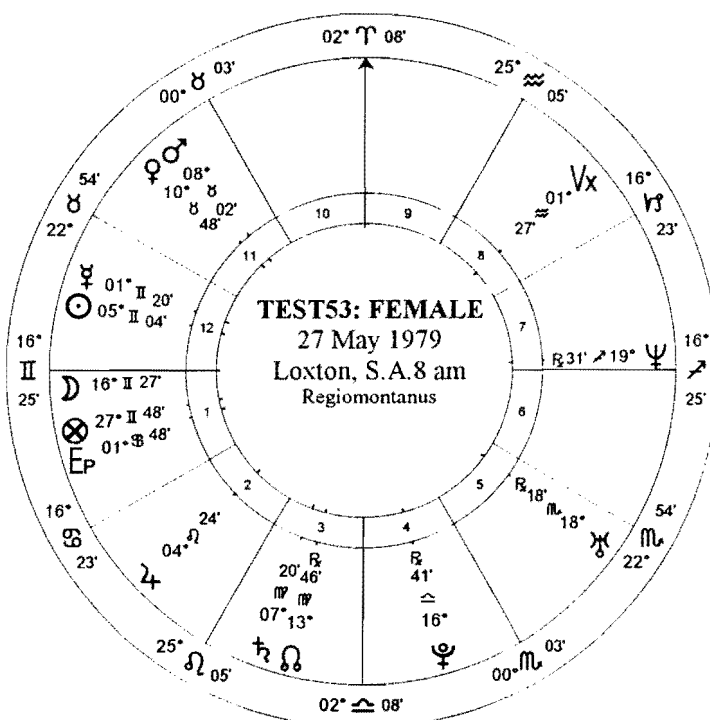

RECTIFICATION

Age-Harmonics are of signal use in Rectification, chiefly for deciding which of two or more Charts is preferable (a far more accurate procedure than relying on Progressed Aspects, Directions or Transits).

Age-Harmonic Charts have appeared over the years since 1983 in Astrologers' Forum with many demonstrations of their effectiveness. If you want to open up for yourself a new, astonishing and supremely useful field of astrology then follow the directions given in this article. □

TEST NO. 53—THE ANSWER

Test#53 concerned a woman born 27th May, 1979 at Loxton, South Australia [34S27, 140E34.], at 8:00 am Australian Central Standard Time (-9.5hrs = GMT).

The Question: What occurred in her life on March 31, 2001?

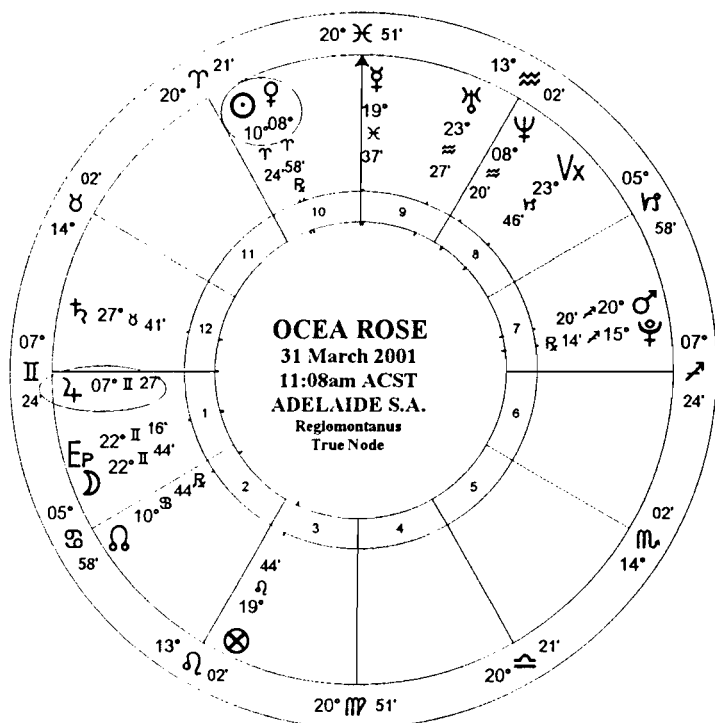

The Answer: She gave birth to a baby girl (Ocea Rose). It was a difficult labour over two days and finally a birth by vacuum extraction. The mother, however, is supremely happy.

I had mentioned that two charts that held the answer are the Lunar Return of 31st March 2001 and the Age Harmonic 21 but any astrological technique could be used, including Horary.

The first correct answer was received from Mignon Halford (NSW) who wrote, "She gave birth but maybe experienced difficulties in labour." Mignon used both the abovementioned Charts. In relation to the Lunar Return she continued, "...Moon in 5th House ... opposite Pluto and Mars indicates the danger around the birth and the fact [that] the Mars/Pluto is on the Cusp of the 12th House was she ... rushed to hospital or interned at some stage of the pregnancy? Was she trying to have the birth at home? Venus however is moving towards a sextile with Jupiter in the 5th—beneficial outcome in the end." Excellent, Mignon!

The situation was that she wanted a "water birth" but her mother talked her into going to a birthing centre where her allowed time to birth elapsed due to the second stage taking too long and she was therefore moved to the next door hospital. The baby was starting to become distressed and needed to be helped with vacuum extraction. My wife nursed the new baby for about two hours when it was two days old. She has never seen a prettier child with beautifully formed features. The Natal Chart is a lucky one (Jupiter right on the Ascendant, Venus conjunct the Sun):

Another correct answer followed from Ross Harvey (NSW) who used the 21st Age Harmonic, the Lunar Return, the Kinetic Solar Return, Progressions and Transits all pointing to a birth. Lea Breuer-Kantor (Israel) used the 21st Harmonic and saw two possibilities of which the first one was right—a difficult birth.

Congratulations to all respondents, right or wrong. Your reward is your increased insight and skill.

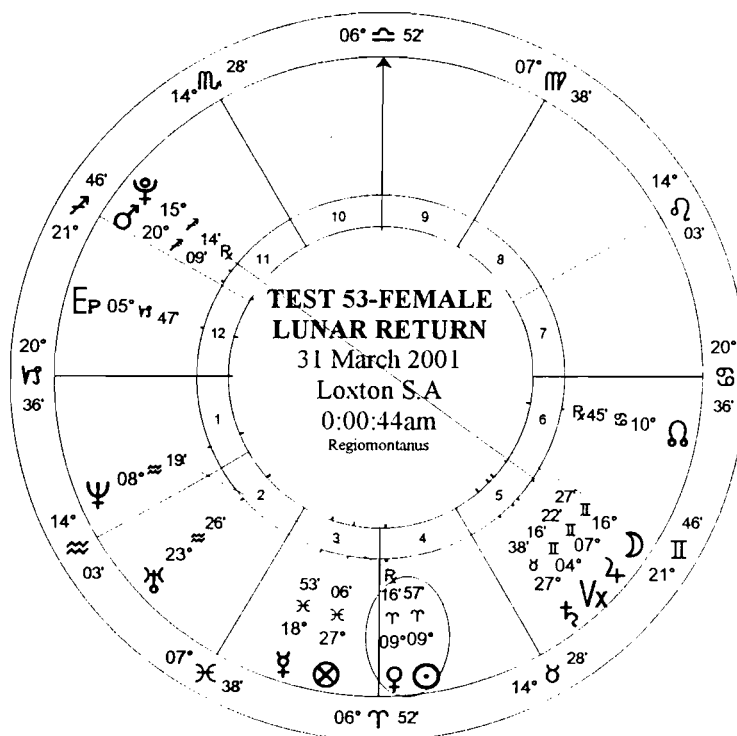

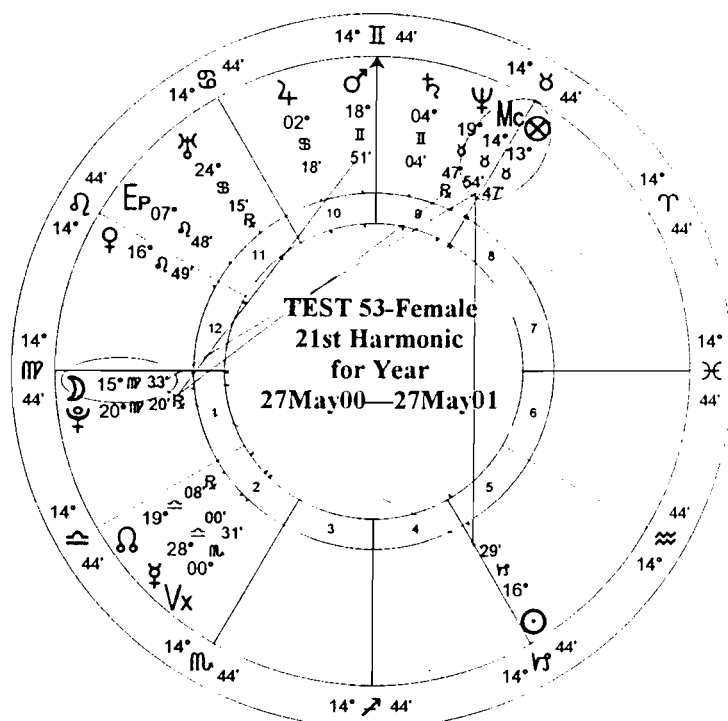

In the next column is the 21st Age Harmonic and the Lunar Return of 2 March 2001, both of which depict the birth. The Age Harmonic is more graphic of the two:

The Moon (birth) is closely conjunct the Ascendant trine to the Sun in the House of Birth, these two principal Significators forming a Grand Trine with Floating MC and the Part of Fortune. The Moon's conjunction with Pluto which is square Mars indicates the complications that occurred.

The Lunar Return Chart has the Sun very closely conjunct Venus the two bodies respectively ruling the two Houses connected with birth—the 5th and 8th. Saturn, Ruler of the Ascendant is in the 5th House. Here again the Moon opposes Pluto and Mars, pointing to birthing difficulties.

NEW TEST NO. 54

This concerns a man born on March 10, 1935 at 2:30pm EST in Detroit, Michigan (42N20, 83W03). Asc 3Le24, MC 18Ar25, Moon 5Ge5.

He was single and employed in the automotive industry.

What occurred in his life on 23rd July 1955? At the time he was living at Ypsilanti, Michigan (42N15, 83W37).

The solution is depicted in the Solar Return Chart of 10 March 1955 but any other astrological technique may be used—solar, lunar or synodic cyclical charts, Progressions or Directions, transits, horary or Uranian methods.

If you really want to develop your skill in astrology, find the time and energy to test your current techniques with this exercise.

Please post or e-mail your answers to me by May 30. All respondents will be individually informed of the correct answer and a means of obtaining it, as appearing in the current issue of Astrologers' Forum.

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock. 6 May 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 237 April 2001

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

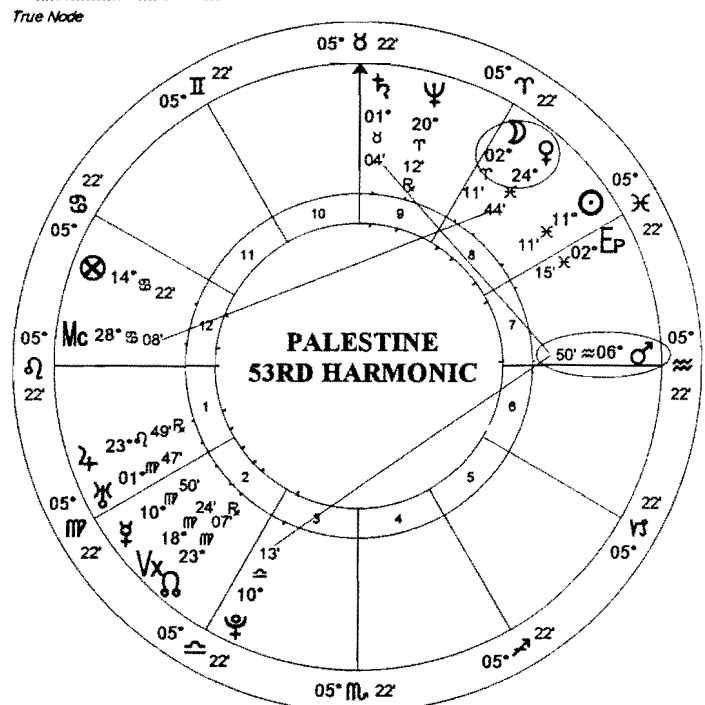

NO—NO WAR IN THE MIDDLE EAST!

The fighting and killing continues to escalate in the Israel-Palestine confrontation. This alarming situation poses the question "Will it develop into all-out war?". From a study of the current cyclic Charts for both Palestine and Israel I believe it will not. Here again is the Chart for Palestine as published in the February

In This Issue...

	Page
No—No War in the Middle East.....	1
Senator Natasha Stott Despoja	2
Prime Minister Tony Blair.....	3
Test No. 52—The Answer	4
New Test No. 53.....	4

Issue. In the adjoining column is the 53rd Harmonic Chart for the Palestinian Nation, giving indications for the year May 14 2001—May 14 2002.

Certainly, Mars on the Cusp of Open Enemies looks ominous enough. It rules the House of Foreign Countries depicting the fighting with Israel, but there is no close afflicting Aspect (within 1° in a harmonic chart) as one would expect to find for total war. The square to Saturn is nearly 6° from exact and the trine to Pluto more than 3°. These bodies maintain the tension and the fatalities, unfortunately, but Venus, Planet of Peace, in trine to the Floating MC (orb 3½°) and close to the Moon (7½°) should prevent the worst from happening.

The National Chart of Israel appears on the next page together with its Harmonic for the year 14 May 2001—14 May 2002. It will be noted that the Charts of both Palestine and Israel came into being only one day apart.

Israel's 53rd Harmonic Chart shows the Sun closely opposing Jupiter from which I infer a lack of wisdom on the part of the Government in relation to foreign nations (Jupiter ruling the 9th House). Neptune rising in a loose configuration with the Sun and Jupiter gives some hope of a peaceful settlement being negotiated particularly as Venus, the harmonizer, is right on the 12th Cusp and Exalted in Pisces. Negotiation is probable as the Moon conjoins Mercury ruling the 3rd House. As the Moon rules the 4th House which relates more to the end of the period than the beginning we should not expect any settlement until near the end of the 12 months, possibly in March 2002 when Jupiter Directed by Solar Arc comes to the trine of Venus, the Peacemaker. □

SENATOR NATASHA STOTT DESPOJA

In the adjacent column is the Birth Horoscope of a young woman who is making her mark in the Australian political field. On Friday April 6 last she was elected to be Leader of the Australian Democrats Party, displacing the former Leader by popular vote. Ms Despoja is 31 and has been in politics only five and a half years, so it appears a bright future is opening up for her. Here is a brief review of her political life up to the date of her election on April 6 [Data Source: Natasha

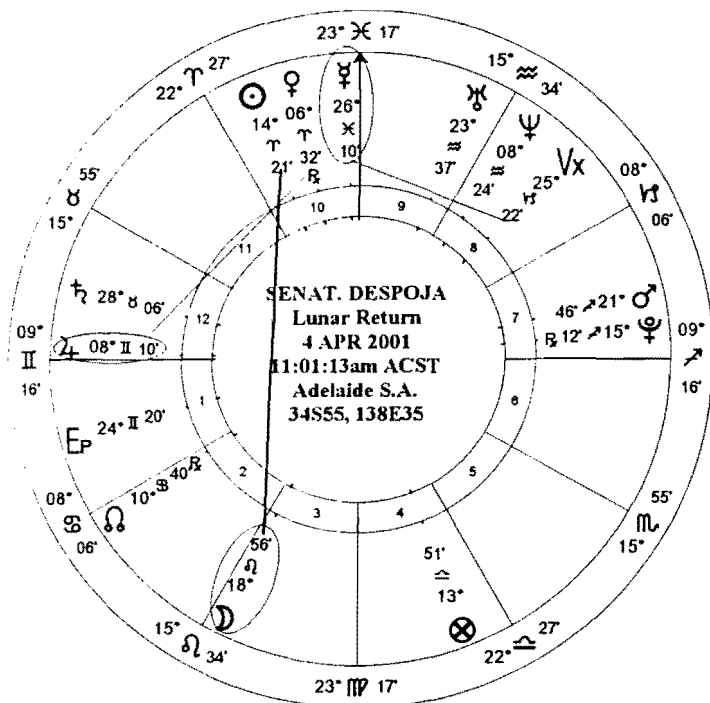

Stott Despoja in a letter to Esoteric Technologies P/L. (1998)]:

Ms Despoja became involved in politics at the Adelaide University in the student union movement and was President of the Adelaide University Students' Association in 1991. She joined the Young Democrats in 1993 and was elected as a Democrat senator to the Parliament of South Australia on 29 November, 1995. She has been the spokesperson for the Australian Democrats on Science and Technology, Higher Education and Training, Consumer Affairs and Immigration and Cultural Affairs. However, it is her role as spokesperson for Youth Affairs that has gained the most media coverage.

It would be interesting to follow the young Senator's career by reference to the major Directions but unfortunately the given "7 pm" looks suspiciously like a rounded-off birth time. Consequently both Symbolic and Primary Mundane Directions, whose timing is critical, are likely to be more misleading than helpful. Age Harmonic Charts, which I prefer, are even more dependent on an accurate birth time to give the right House placement of the Significators. However, the trusty Lunar Return Charts are practically independent of such a stringent requirement and can provide a reliable insight into the progress of affairs.

On the next page, for instance, is the Lunar Return Chart of April 4, 2001, two days before the Senator's elevation to the Leadership.

Jupiter on the Ascendant sextile Venus and ruling the House of Status is an unmistakable indication of success in the ballot particularly as Mercury ruling the Ascendant (and natural signifier of ballots) is conjunct the MC and sextile the Vertex giving the occasion special significance. Further evidence is not required but is there with the Moon in the 3rd House (ballots) trine the Sun which rules the 3rd. Natasha could hardly have gone into this Party Ballot with better auspices.

The Senator's successive Lunar Return Figures up to September 2001 do not present any startling events—just the usual if varied routine of a politician. I have not reproduced them here but some do warrant comment:

The Lunar Return Chart for Aug. 19—Sep 15, 2001 has n.Neptune on the 7th Cusp square Ir.Sun. This suggests some disaffected Party members may be mounting an undercover opposition to Ms Despoja or attempting to sabotage her policies. It's difficult—or impossible—to please all the people all the time.

The more significant Lunar Return of 15 Sep.—11 Oct. has the Sun in the 10th House square n.Mars together with an accumulation of natal planets in the 10th. This is a favourable chart for the Senator, enhancing her personal charisma and assuring a firm hold on policy. Mars rising square n.Uranus signifies creative energy and much activity. Ms Despoja will be exerting authority and demonstrating leadership while gearing up for a possible Federal Election in November which will be critical for the fortunes of the Australian Democrats. There is an element of danger from Mars/Uranus so let all care be taken to avoid accidents or mishaps on the road.

In November the Senator's Lunar Return occurs on the 9th. If the General Election is held this month after the 9th the Democrats will gain ground. Mercury links the Ascendant with the Midheaven by House and is closely conjunct Venus ruling the intercepted 1st House. This augurs well for increased popularity of the Party and also for donations to the Party's coffers seeing that the Venus/Mercury conjunction occurs on the Finances Axis (8th-2nd). The POF at the MC is an endorsement of achievement while Jupiter on the Cusp of Friends and Acquaintances means a substantial increase in membership. Under their new Leader the Democrats are set to do well.

Further prognosis must await an announcement by Prime Minister John Howard of the date he chooses definitely for the next Federal Election. □

PRIME MINISTER TONY BLAIR

Because of the pandemic foot and mouth disease Tony Blair changed the date for the United Kingdom Election from May to (possibly) July this year. But no date bodes well for him up to 5th May 2002. Below is his 48th Age Harmonic Chart for the period 5 May 2001—5 May 2002 (inner wheel) with the Birth Chart in the outer wheel).

Natal Pluto at the MC opposed by ah.Jupiter and in a T-Square with ah.Vertex signifies loss of his Prime Ministership. ah.Sun ruling the House of Career and opposed by n.Neptune is similarly unfortunate. The floating MC opposed by Saturn confirms the prognosis.

Tony Blair turns 49 on 6 May 2002, and a general election in the U.K. can be held up to 31 May 2002 which runs into his 49th Age Harmonic. Unfortunately for the Prime Minister his next year's Chart is no more promising than the present one. Adverse combinations include Saturn square the MC, Uranus opposite n.MC, Jupiter opposite n.Neptune, Saturn and Vertex, MC conjunct n.Uranus, and the Moon conjunct n.Pluto.

Tony Blair will lose the Election. □

True Node

True Node

Regiomontanus

TEST NO. 52: THE ANSWER

The Question: What happened 26 April 1997 in the life of a schoolboy born 2 October 1985, 1:56 am GMT at 41N12, 73W44? (Chart above). The incident occurred at the place of birth.

The Answer: The boy won an interstate science fair with a solar-powered carousel built from Lego bricks. His prize included a good sum of money and an inscribed trophy.

Two correct answers were received and one very close. If the answer mentioned a prize or winning I counted it as correct:

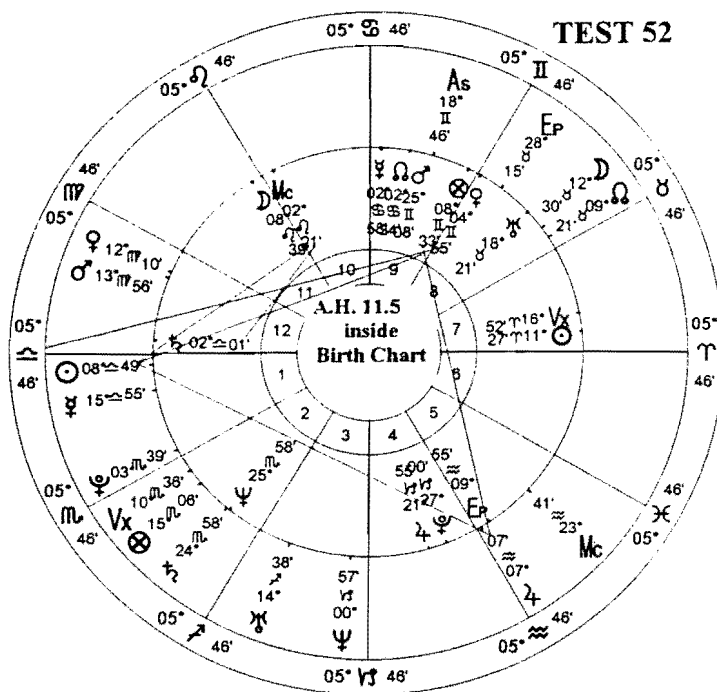

Jenifer Pommerin (West Australia) wrote that the schoolboy won a prize for an overseas trip. Jenifer based her answer on the indications in the Birth Chart plus the Age Harmonic for 11.5 Years and the Transits for April 1997.

Lisa Bartels (Egypt) wrote, "the boy won some-thing...possibly as result of a creative endeavour or something artistic, and as a result of this it is possible he went on some kind of trip...". Lisa based her answer on the Age Harmonic 11.5 and the natal Chart.

Marguerite Brose (South Australia) was nearly correct when she wrote "he received money from a private artistic creation" which was an interpretation of the Symbolic Direction of natal Neptune to the trine of the Moon and Venus at the rate of 1° for a year: n.Neptune 0Cp57 + 11°50' = 12Cp27, trine Moon and Venus, the Moon ruling the 2nd House (money earned) and Venus Co-Ruler of the 5th (creative output).

Respondents were free to use any astrological method but I gave the hint that the answer could be found in the Birth Chart plus the Age Harmonic for 11.5 years, relating to the Month April 2—May 2, 1997. This Dual-Wheel is in the next column.

A prominent feature of the Birth Chart is the Sun in the 5th House in a beautiful trine with Jupiter in the 9th. This trine is brought into prominence (and activity) by the Age Harmonic. The Sun (Success) is rising close to the Ascendant while Jupiter is in the 5th House (Creative Output) strengthened by being close to the Cusp. The two bodies now form a Grand Trine with the Part of Fortune strongly-placed on the 9th Cusp (Higher Mind Activities).

This alone is very indicative of a personal triumph or prize-winning creation but subsidiary indications can be found in other close Aspects: The ah.Moon at 8Le39 ruling the 10 House (Achievement) sextiles the n.Sun at 8Li49; the floating MC at 2Le21 sextiles ah. Saturn at 2Li01; ah.Venus at 4Ge35 trines the Rising Degree, 5Li46.

Congratulations to all who tackled this problem whether or not they found the solution. This is the way to learn practical astrology and bring it down to earth away from the theorizing and speculative imaginings of what the late Alexander Marr used to call the dream dancers.

Now here is another exercise for your astrological muscles.

NEW TEST NO. 53

Test#53 concerns a woman born 27th May, 1979 at Loxton, South Australia [34S27, 140E34.], at 8:00am Australian Central Standard Time (-8hrs = GMT). The Natal Asc is 16Ge25, MC 2Ar08, Moon 16Ge27. She is single and employed doing office work.

What occurred in her life on March 31, 2001?

Please send your answers to me by April 30, by ordinary post or e-mail (addresses on first page).

Any astrological technique may be used, including Horary. Two charts that hold the answer are the Lunar Return of 31st March 2001 and the Age Harmonic 21.

My kind regards to all

— Dymock.

11th April 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques
applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 236 March 2001

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due.

THE CHART FOR THE 20TH CENTURY

by Allan Johnson

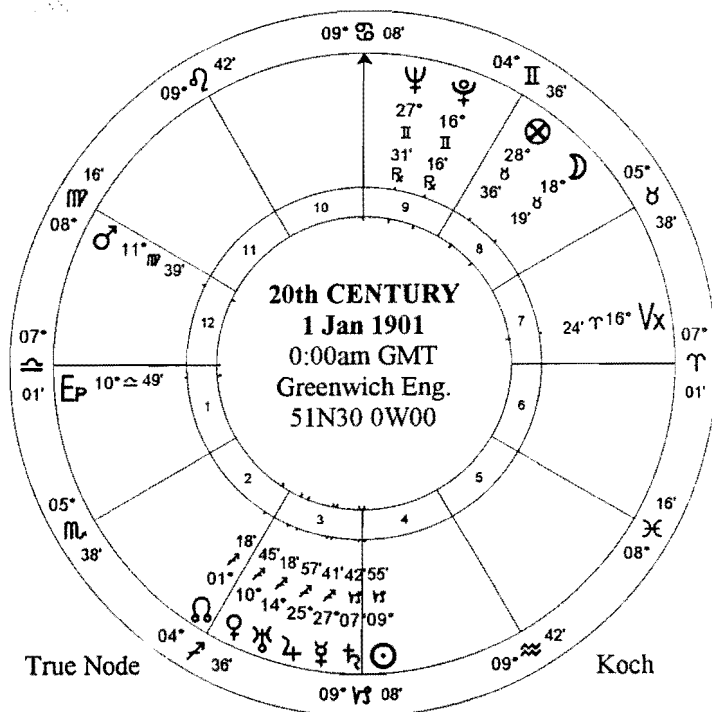

Some astrologers do debate the value of charts for centuries. Charts for countries have tended to be the chief focus in Mundane Astrology but each century historically does have its own individuality and has been recognized as such. The difficulty with past centuries has been that there has not been standardized time zones as a starting point but this difficulty was tidied up in the 19th Century with establishment of the zero point at Greenwich and its general recognition, so we do have a latitude and longitude to work with. Now, with the whole story of the 20th Century completed historically it is a good time to have a look at the Century as a whole astrologically. This can be checked out in two ways—to look at the Chart as a whole and see how it correlated with events and also to use progressions and transits for individual highlights.

The Chart is for 1st January 1901, zero hours, Greenwich. [See next column]

I have been using this Chart for quite some time and have always referred to it as a highly dramatic Chart, and certainly nobody can doubt that it has been a highly dramatic Century world wide. There are three major configurations in the Chart: a mutable T-square linking what we may call the most dramatic planets, Pluto, Mars and Uranus, a Grand Trine in Earth Signs plus a powerful axis pattern between the 3rd and 9th Houses. In addition to these we have seven planets plus the Node in Mutable Signs. Any person with seven planets in Mutables is bound to have a highly changeable life. And so with the 20th Century! The powerful oppositions between the 3rd and 9th Houses stand out very strongly. These Houses link with communication, travel, transport; and the Century has seen a tremendous revolution in these areas—from the horse and buggy to putting a man on the Moon! Also we have the revolution in communication, radio, television, etc. This is spot-on for the 20th Century. The Century has seen the most violent warfare in history with revolution in Russia and China. Massive violence links with the T-square involving Pluto, Mars and Uranus, the planets most associated with violence.

In This Issue...

	Page
The Chart for the 20th Century.....	1
Test No. 51—The Answer.....	3
New Test No. 52.....	3
Slaughter of the Animals.....	4
Disappearance of Samantha Knight.	4

The 9th House is also associated with ideology and here we have Neptune and Pluto with oppositions to Venus, Uranus, Jupiter and Mercury. This links with the grandiose fantasies of empire building associated with Hitler and Stalin—all of which came to nought. The rise and fall of Communism has been the tremendous saga of the 20th Century. An additional point is the link-up of Venus with the T-square, bringing the revolution in social relationships and the big development of Feminism.

There it is. It all figures. The Grand Trine in Earth Signs bringing in the Sun and Moon, Mars and Saturn emphasizes the tremendous advances in production and agriculture in the Century though we do have the Grand Trine in corresponding Water Houses. This shows the other side of the picture in the widespread introduction of social services in Western nations. In addition, the almost absence of planets in Fixed Signs says it all.

The next point is to validate the Chart by correlating dates for major events with progressions and transits. To simplify things I will use the progressed Sun and the transits of the four outer planets, Pluto to Saturn. The 20th Century has been the most dramatic century in all history but I will use only those events that have triggered off the most far-reaching consequences. We should expect that Neptune would figure very strongly due to the grandiose hopes of a lot of leading figures. The first one is the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria which triggered off the first World War, date 28 June 1914. Here we have Pluto conjunct natal Neptune in the 9th House, linking with the opposition of Mercury/Jupiter. The resulting World War gave a golden opportunity for revolution in Russia. So the second date is 7 Nov 1917 in Leningrad. This date is of immense significance for the rest of the Century. Here we have progressed Sun quincunx Neptune, t.Pluto in opposition to Saturn, Uranus square Moon.

Next we can take the Wall Street Crash, 24 Oct 1929 in New York. This affected economic conditions worldwide—which became a prime weapon for the rise of Hitler in Germany. For the Wall Street Crash the progressed Sun was quincunx Mars, and Mars is a key planet in the Chart. Also t.Uranus hit the 7th Cusp; plus t.Saturn conjunct Neptune in opposition to Jupiter/Mercury.

We can next take the rise of Hitler to power in Germany, 30 Jan 1933 in Berlin. This was the trigger for the further big events of the 1940's. Perhaps the most epoch-making event in this period was the German invasion of Russia, setting two of the most powerful dictators in history at each other's throats, date 22 June 1941. It marked Hitler's maddest vision for world domination—and where was t.Neptune at that time? Right on 25° Virgo square natal Neptune, Jupiter and Mercury!, once again activating the powerful opposition. The next really major event was the dropping of the atomic bombs on Japan, 6 August 1945. This was a very Uranian event and Uranus was in 16° Gemini, exactly conjunct natal Pluto and opposite natal Uranus! Could we get anything more spot-on than this? Progressed Sun sextile Jupiter at this time ended the 2nd World War.

Next we can take the Cuban Missile Crisis 28 Oct 1962. prog. Sun opposite Mars, t.Pluto conjunct Mars—spot-on again. The next big event is the First Man on the Moon, 21 July 1969. t.Pluto square natal Jupiter (Mercury/Neptune involving that same pattern) and t.

Saturn at 8° Taurus, trine Saturn/Sun and Mars—for the big success it was. And lastly we get to the collapse of the Berlin Wall, 9 Nov 1989. t.Saturn/Neptune conjunct natal Sun trine Mars. This gives us eight major events in the 20th Century that correlate very strongly with the 20th Century Chart. So we have a very strong case for the validity of the charts for centuries. □

TEST NO. 51—ANSWER

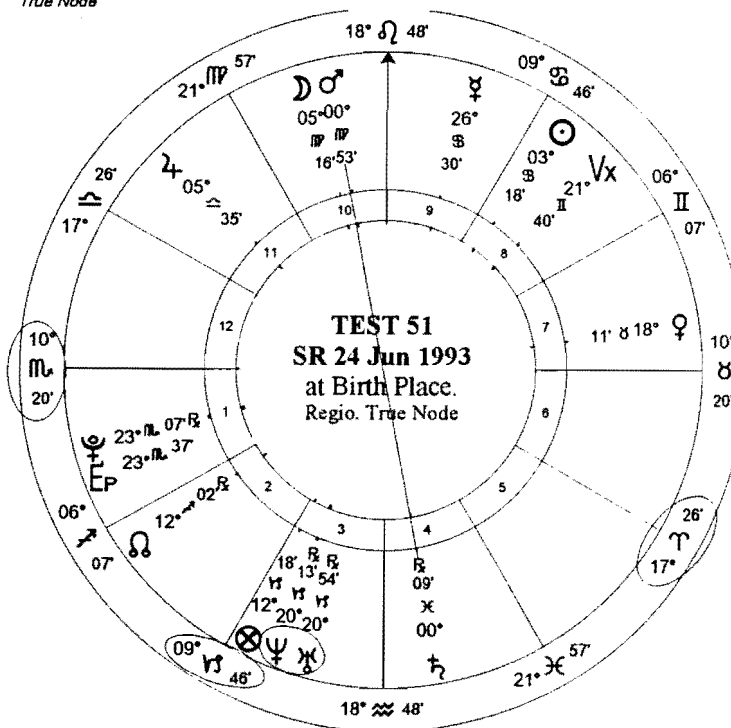

The Question: What happened on 10 Feb 1994 to a man born on 24 June 1973 at 40N50, 74W13? The Natal Chart appears on page 4 of the last Issue

The Answer: He was in a stationary car that was hit in the rear by a truck. As a consequence he suffered headaches and was unable to concentrate fully on his college studies for the next 6 months.

The hint given to solve this problem was to look into the Solar Return for 24 June 1973 and here it is:

What strikes the eye is the very close opposition between Mars and Saturn in Angles. Saturn opposite Mars = a blow to the head. Mars couples the Ascendant with the 6th House (the physical body and illness). Saturn rules the 3rd House (Roads and Transport). The 3rd House conjunction of Neptune and Uranus confirms the diagnosis.

True Node

No one was successful with this Test. Some picked up on physical damage but either applied it to the wrong persons or introduced it as subordinate to a different (wrong) solution. However, I congratulate all readers who were serious enough about their Astrology to make the time to work on this Test. Regular application will definitely result in a higher level of skill.

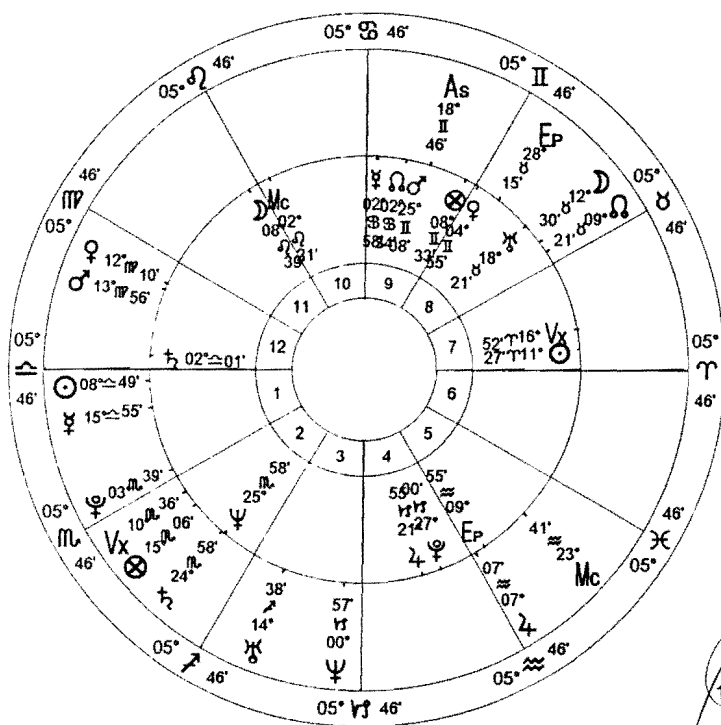

I should say the lesson of this exercise is to look first for the very close Aspects (within 1°) and examine them in relation to the Houses involved, as in the Solar Return Chart given as a guide to the solution.

Any successes will be recorded in this Journal. Don't worry about results, just have a go! □

NEW TEST NO. 52

What happened 26 April 1997 in the life of a schoolboy born 2 October 1985, 1:56 am GMT at 41N12, 73W44? The incident occurred at the place of birth. Birth Chrt: Asc 18Ge46, MC 23Le41, Mn 12Ta30.

See if you can find the solution. As an aid to solving this problem and particularly for those working without the benefit of sophisticated computer programs I present above a chart combination that holds the answer. It is the Birth Chart plus the Age Harmonic for 11.5 years, relating to the Month April 2—May 2, Inner Wheel: Test#52-Schoolboy. Harmonic 11.5 for April 2—May 2, 1997.

Outer Wheel: Birth, 2 Oct 1985, 1:56 am GMT, 41N12,

1997. Use this Bi-Wheel or any other astrological technique you wish. Please send your answers to me by the end of the month—March 31. This gives you less time than usual but I'm convinced it doesn't matter as apparently few people, particularly the e-mailers, don't get busy on the problem until I send a warning that there are only two days left before the deadline. In any event you have at least two weeks.

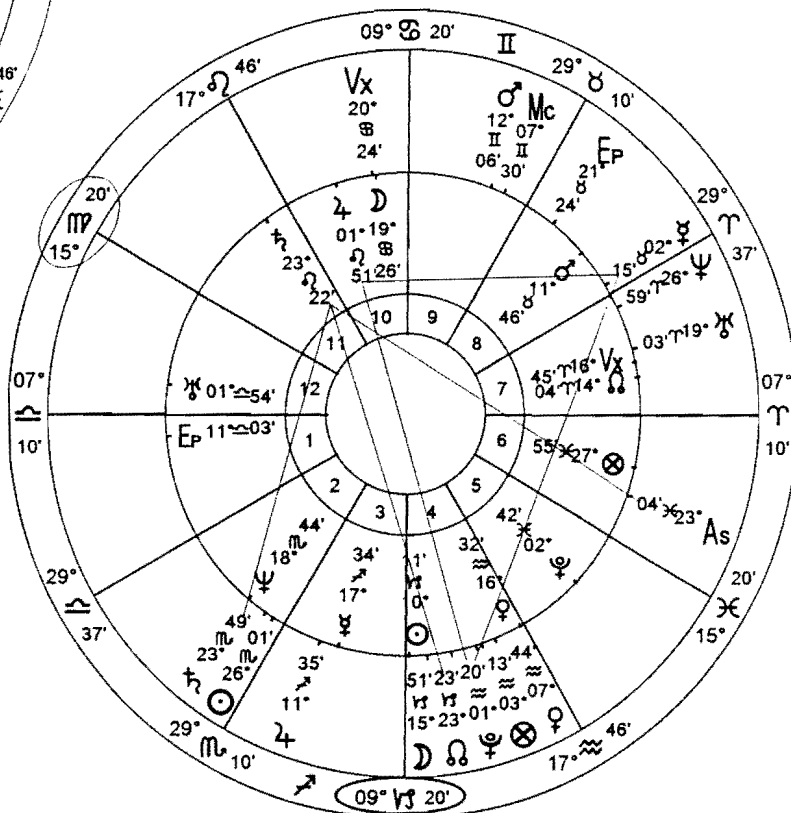

State your conclusion first, then the astrological basis for it. All respondents will be individually informed of the answer and a method of solution. As I have mentioned before, these "Tests" are an incomparable

SLAUGHTER OF THE ANIMALS

The appalling and highly distressing slaughter of livestock that is currently under way in the United Kingdom and elsewhere has not to my knowledge been mentioned in any astrological journal or report. The virulent and highly contagious foot and mouth disease broke out in Essex, England, last month (February 2001) and about 80,000 cattle in the United Kingdom have already been slaughtered in an effort to control the disease. The massacre still goes on with no clear end in sight. What mankind is doing to harmless and beautiful animals must surely weigh on the conscience of every thinking person.

Astrologically speaking, what brought about this environmental tragedy? After a search, I found the Zodiacal correlates in the 200th Age Harmonic of the basic 1801 Chart for the Union of Great Britain and Ireland (below). The inner Wheel is the Radix and the outer Wheel the Harmonic for the year 2001. The House Cusps are derived from the inner Wheel.

Cattle are governed by the 12th House which has Virgo on the Cusp, ruled by Mercury. An immediate reflection of the situation is shown by h.Mercury in the Inner Wheel: United Kingdom, 1 Jan 1801, 0.00am Westminister, England, 51N30, 00W07.

Outer Wheel: 200th Harmonic for year 1 Jan 2001—1 Jan 2002.

8th House (Deaths) in a T-square with Pluto and above the rest. Jupiter (deaths on a massive scale). Compounding the trouble is n.Saturn at 23Le22 closely square h.Saturn at 23Sc49 and in a yod with h.Node and h.Ascendant. The h.Node is actually in the same degree as Saturn, rightly considered to be a highly detrimental position for the significator affected.

The Saturn square gains further unhappy significance through Saturn's rulership of the 4th House (end of life) and the massive graves of the slaughtered beasts. This is again emphasized by the position of the five harmonic significators Moon, Pluto, Venus Node and POF in the 4th House (graves).

The outbreak of the disease and the consternation that followed was evidently sparked by the Primary Direction of Uranus square Mars on 20th February 2001, very appropriate for the shock and the destruction of the livestock that followed, Mars being in the House of Deaths. (Primary Direction as per Solar Fire with the Time Key of Natal Solar Rate.)

When will the whole grisly business stop? I expect the massacre to be over at mid-April when Saturn in the Radix comes to the sextile of the Sun by Solar-Arc Direction.

Can we manage things better in future with more concern for animal life? Do we really want or need to kill beautiful, peaceful creatures and eat their flesh? ☐

ANOTHER TRIUMPH FOR ASTROLOGY

In Issue No. 62 of Astrologers' Forum (19 Sep 1986) I published a Horary Chart for the disappearance of school girl Samantha Knight in Bondi, NSW, on 19th August, 1986. The Chart appears in the next column.

I wrote, "The Horary Chart, unfortunately, gives no cause for optimism. The two chief significators are the Moon (for missing persons and things generally) and Venus (girls). Venus has added significance here through its connection with the Ascendant, Pisces being the Sign of its Exaltation.

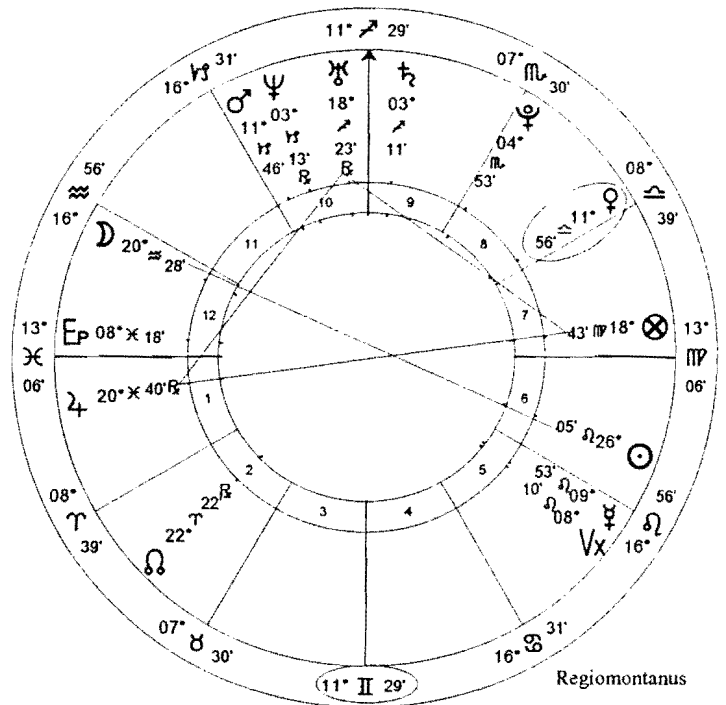

"An immediate ominous note is sounded by the position of Venus in the House of Death, close square to Mars, the planet of violence.

"The Moon, ruling the 5th House (children) is in the 12th signifying the disappearance and confinement and bondage. Its opposition to the Sun is another grim signification (separation from life).

"The Horary Ruler of the Ascendant, Jupiter, is retrograde and square Uranus [and opposes the POF which is disposed by Mercury ruling the 'End of Life' House]. The secondary Ruler, Neptune, is also retrograde and conjunct Mars.

"The Chart is dominated by the five Malefics—Mars, Neptune, Uranus, Saturn and Pluto all elevated well

"One looks in vain for any signs of salvation, and is

Disappearance of Samantha Knight

19 Aug 1986, 6:45pm, Bondi, NSW 33S53, 151E17 forced to the sad conclusion that little Samantha is now beyond help."

A long-time A.F. subscriber has now sent me the following newspaper report:

"Man remanded for murder of Sydney schoolgirl. A 50-year-old Sydney man has been remanded in custody on a charge of the murder more than 14-years-ago of Bondi schoolgirl, Samantha Knight.

"Michael Anthony Guider appeared in Sydney's Central Local Court this morning. A serving prisoner, the man was arrested this morning, charged, and appeared briefly in court.

"Magistrate Ian Barnett received a statement of facts relating to the disappearance of Samantha Knight on the evening of August 19, 1986. Miss Knight's disappearance has been a matter of intense public interest and speculation in the 14 years since.

"In 1998 police established Strikeforce Harrisville to act on new information they had received about the matter. Detectives from the strike force were present in court for Guider's hearing. He will appear again on April 19 when a brief of evidence is to be presented."

Horary Astrology holds the key to many mysteries and events both tragic and happy. If you are a keen astrologer and want to improve your astrological understanding and ability I strongly recommend that besides doing the "Tests" made available each month in this publication you learn and practise Horary Astrology which answers an infinite number of questions in life. You will have constant practice and become very aware of the correlation between terrestrial and celestial phenomena.

My kind regards to all, — Dymock, 10 March 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 61 08 8336 1956

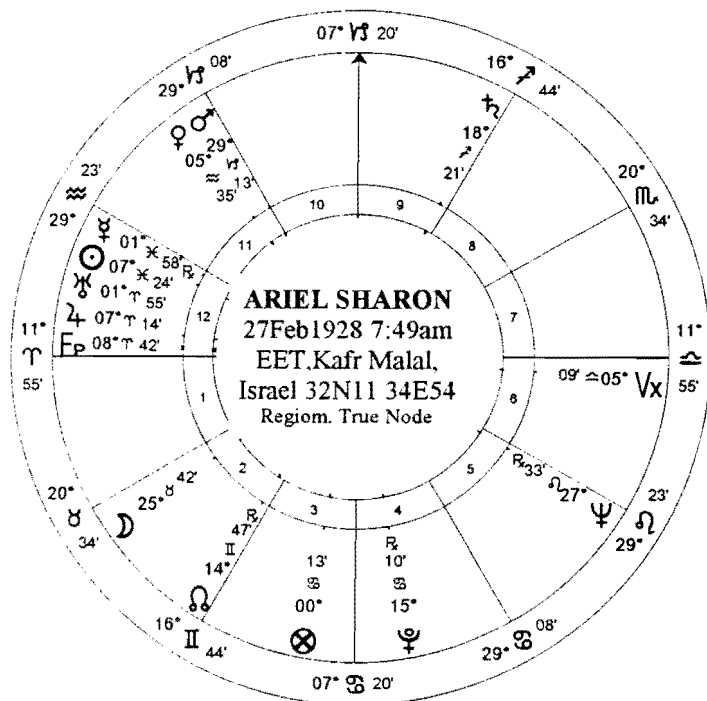

Issue 235 February 2001

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

ARIEL SHARON TAKES THE REIGNS

The new Prime Minister of Israel is almost the polar opposite of his predecessor, Ehud Barak, who was trying to accomplish peace in the Near East by making concessions to the Palestinians that, unfortunately, were unacceptable to his own country. Ariel Sharon is known as an uncompromising military leader capable of exceeding orders in order to gain victory. His Chart below is based primarily on his mother's estimate of the birth time "about one hour after sunrise", sunrise being at 6:36 am EET. Isaac Starkman has rectified the Chart to 7:49:19 am EET using over 25 events. In the Chart below, the 19" has been trimmed off to give 7:49 am exactly which results in a still better Figure for the 72nd Harmonic Chart. This Harmonic Chart (relating to the year in which Sharon won the Election) puts the Moon and Venus in the 10th House reflecting the overwhelming public support that Sharon gained (see next column).

Sharon's militancy and unruliness is well portrayed by Aries rising with Ruler, Mars, in a strong position on the 11th Cusp trine to the Moon. Surprisingly, there

In This Issue...

	Page
Ariel Sharon Takes the Reigns	1
Palestine and Ariel Sharon	2
Bus Accident	3
Dusty Springfield & the Fixed Stars.....	4
Test No. 50—Solution. New Test No. 51.....	4

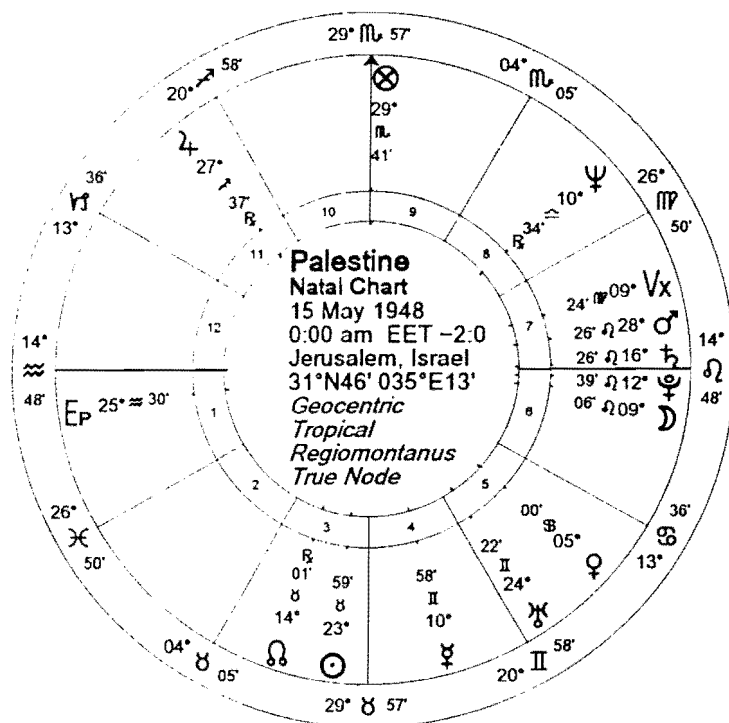

Inner Wheel: Ariel Sharon, 72nd Harmonic Chart
Outer Wheel: Ariel Sharon, Natal Chart 27 Feb 1928, 7:49am EET Kafr Malal, Israel, 32N11, 34E54. Regiomon., True Node.

is a marked element of sensitivity in his nature (Sun and Mercury in Pisces; Moon trine Neptune).

The 72nd Harmonic was most fortunate for Sharon. Apart from the Moon and Venus at the MC (ruled by Venus), the h.Sun was trine the n.Moon in the 10th, h. Neptune was trine n.Venus, h.POF trined h.Uranus on the Ascendant (radical good fortune).

The main issue, however, is will Ariel Sharon be able to make peace with the Palestinians? Nicholas Campion (The Book of World Horoscopes) gives the Map for the date when the British Mandate in Palestine expired at 00.00 hrs on 15 May 1948 (above). Though the State of Palestine never came into existence this Chart indicates the aspirations of the Palestinian people for national self-determination.

If we combine this Map with the Natal Chart of Ariel Sharon (next column) it is apparent that Sharon, in spite of his reputation as a militant, is going to make a genuine effort to achieve peace. Sharon's planets (in the Outer Wheel) make the following Aspects with those in the Palestine Chart (Inner Wheel):

Moon conjunct Sun, both in the peaceful Sign Taurus (a degree of affinity and understanding).

Sun trine Venus (motivation for peace)

Jupiter trine Moon (the effort to establish good relations)

Neptune conjunct Mars & trine Jupiter (a softening influence on the warlike Mars; aspirations for peace and understanding).

Sharon faces a difficult task and his current Progressions/Directions are not helpful. The best chance for limited success comes in November this year when Regressed Venus (the Peacemaker) trines the Sun while Jupiter at its 2nd Station conjuncts Pluto (a fortunate development). Also in November, the Sun in Palestine's Chart will have Progressed to 15°Cn10' where it exactly conjoins Sharon's Pluto, giving reasonable hope of a major change in the situation. □

BUS ACCIDENT

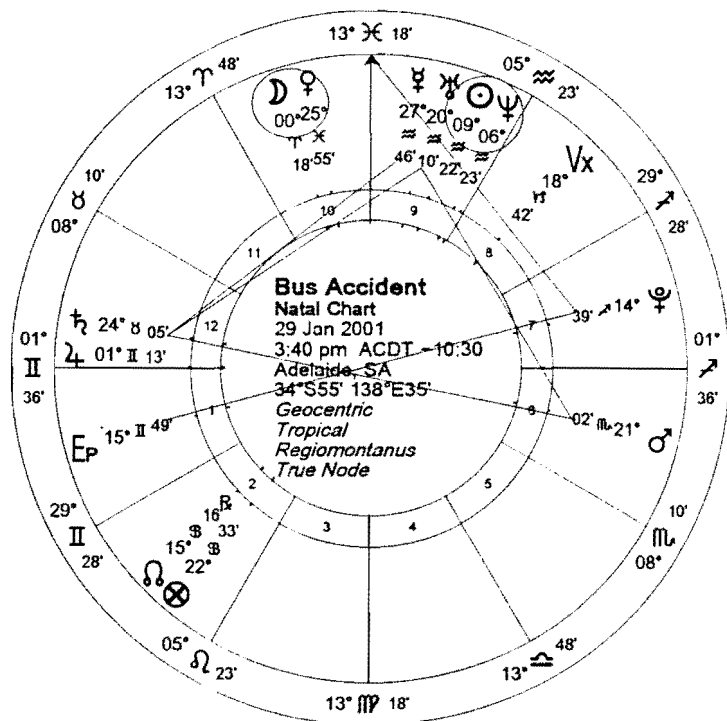

This is not of world-shaking importance but a minor tragedy that illustrates again the desirability (whenever possible) of choosing a time for the beginning of the journeys. In the next column is the Chart for the commencement of a bus trip taking students home from

Inner Wheel
Palestine
Natal Chart
15 May 1948
0:00 am EET -2:00
Jerusalem, Israel
31°N46' 035°E13'
Geocentric
Tropical
Regiomontanus
True Node

Outer Wheel
Ariel Sharon
Natal Chart
27 Feb 1928
7:49 am EET -2:00
Kafar Malal, Israel
32°N11' 034°E54'
Geocentric
Tropical
Regiomontanus
True Node

school. A collision with a truck occurred. The bus driver was killed and a number of the children injured.

The time is not that of the accident but for when the bus commenced its journey, as near as can be judged.

The T-Square involving Saturn, Mars and Uranus is an obvious portent of impending disaster. Of all planetary combinations it is probably the most highly indicative of danger and injury. The danger is compounded by the position of malefic Pluto in the same degree as the Nodes—a position well-known to be highly adverse, if not lethal, and the close opposition of Pluto to the East Point which is for all practical purposes a second Ascendant.

The bus driver (Sun and MC) suffered most because both his Significators are afflicted—Pluto square the MC and Neptune conjunct the Sun. The children (the Moon and Venus which rules the House of Children) were mostly protected by the sextile of Jupiter.

It is true, of course, that the T-Square of Mars, Saturn and Uranus was operating all over the world but such configurations are most significant in individual cases where other cognate factors add to its destructive power. One such factor can be (as here) Pluto in adverse Aspect to the E.P. or Ascendant (both of which are quickly moving and highly individual points). Probably what is most important is the individual horoscope of the driver/pilot of a vehicle/ship/aeroplane, etc. reaching a critical point in its Progression where it is already ripe for an accident. This applies equally to the horoscope of the vehicle/ship/aeroplane itself. These, too, have their individual charts relating to the time of being put into service. This has been well-known for centuries even by people who were not astrologers. In the 17th Century, John Milton poetically mourning the loss of his friend in a ship that foundered, wrote "It was that fatal and perfidious Bark, built in the Eclipse and rigged with curses dark, that sunk so low that sacred head of thine" (my italics).

Moral, where you can, choose your time of departure along the well-established lines of safety provided by Astrology. Better still, study Astrology and be aware also when by Progression, Direction or Transit you are approaching a dangerous or critical point. □

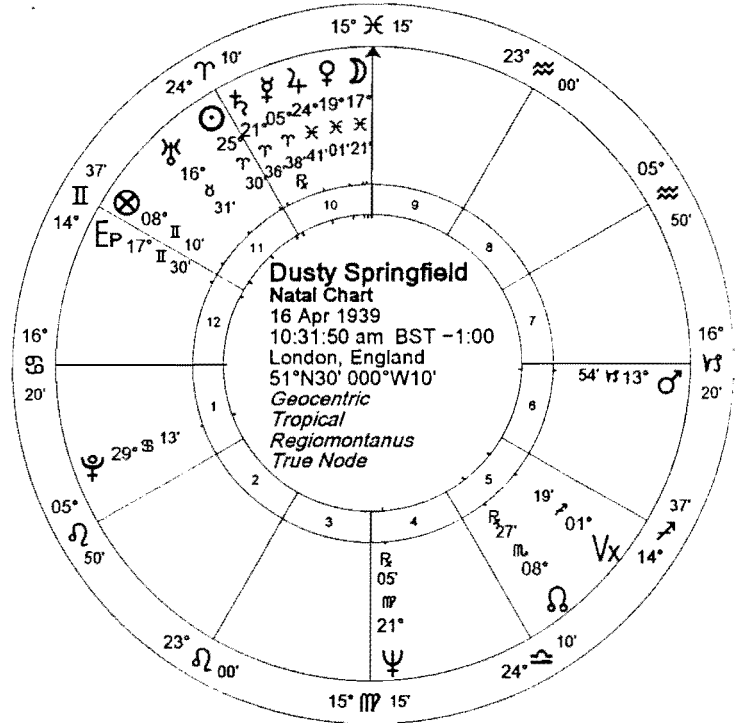

DUSTY SPRINGFIELD and the Fixed Stars

Dusty Springfield, super-songstress who died of breast cancer on 2nd March, 1999 captivated large sections of the public with her sensitive and moving renditions of popular songs. Her Birth Horoscope is a lesson in the effect of the Fixed Stars when they conjoin with small orbs important natal factors.

Dusty was born Mary O'Brien in London on 16th April 1939. I do not have the time of her birth but have managed to obtain a workable Chart by reference to the date of her death. Manipulating the relevant Solar Return Chart and refining it by the 59th Age Harmonic gives the remarkable Figure in the next column:

Cancer rises. Ruler, the Moon, conjunct Venus and Jupiter in Pisces in the 10th House equates with Dusty's fame and the unsurpassed artistic sensitivity that she put into her songs plus her passion for making her renditions as near perfect as possible (perfect, indeed, so far as her public were concerned).

Dusty was remarkable in that she exhibited two personalities—unworldly, shy, withdrawn, listless and unsocial as Mary O'Brien (readily accounted for by the Moon, Venus and Jupiter in Pisces plus Neptune opposing the Moon) and the confident, magnetic, highly professional and wonderfully accomplished public entertainer known as Dusty Springfield.

It is remarkable how the Fixed Stars impinging on her Chart tell the story. Note that the following positions (all with orbs less than 1°) would obtain even if the time of birth is not right. The interpretations are those from Bernadette Brady's researches as given in Solar Fire:

VEGA (14Cp28) conjunct Mars (orb 34'): "Charismatic, magical". How true!

BELLATRIX (6°N18' parallel Saturn (orb 2'): "Success through the Shadow". Two sides to her nature: Mary O'Brien shy, introverted and shunning the public; the Shadow, the confident, magnetic and popular entertainer who got to the heart of her songs and her public.

ALHENA (16°N27') parallel Uranus (orb 1'): "To have a mission". Her mission was to awaken resonance of feeling in her listeners.

ALDEBARAN (16°N23') parallel Uranus (orb 5'): "Success through integrity". Yes, indeed. Dusty's success and wide appeal were built on her sincerity and giving the best possible performance.

DENEbola (20Vi47) conjunct Neptune (orb 42'): To go against society. When not performing Dusty shunned the public, was anti-social, self-willed and bi-sexual.

If the chart is right, we also have—

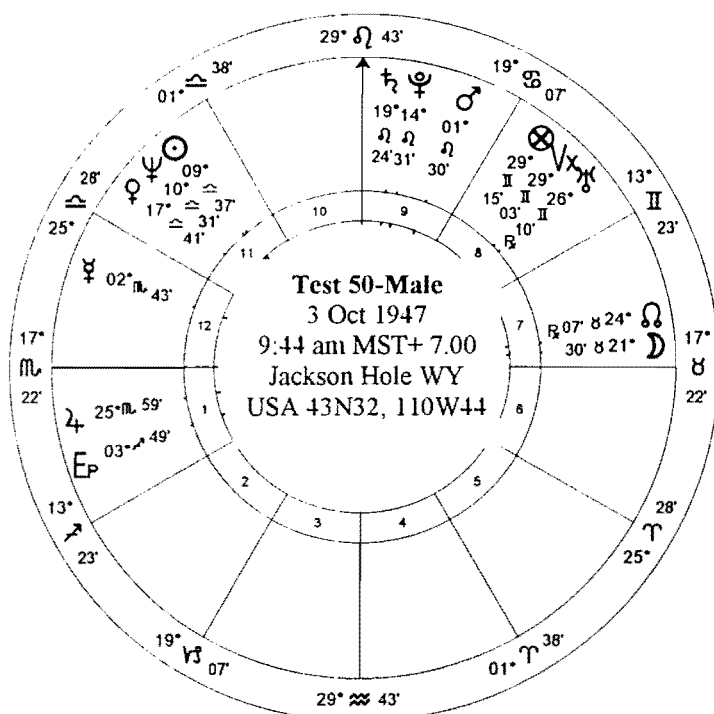

ACHERNAR (14Pi27) conjunct the MC (orb 48'): Risk of rapid endings". This happened too—failure in the USA, for instance, and her death.

ALDEBARAN (8Ge56) conjunct the Part of Fortune (orb 46'): "Success through integrity". Twice!

Dusty was a strange, intriguing, highly gifted singer with an all too short span of life. □

TEST NO. 50—SOLUTION

The Question: What occurred on 17 April 1994 in the life of a man whose Birth Chart appears below. He was a professional man, divorced and father of three.

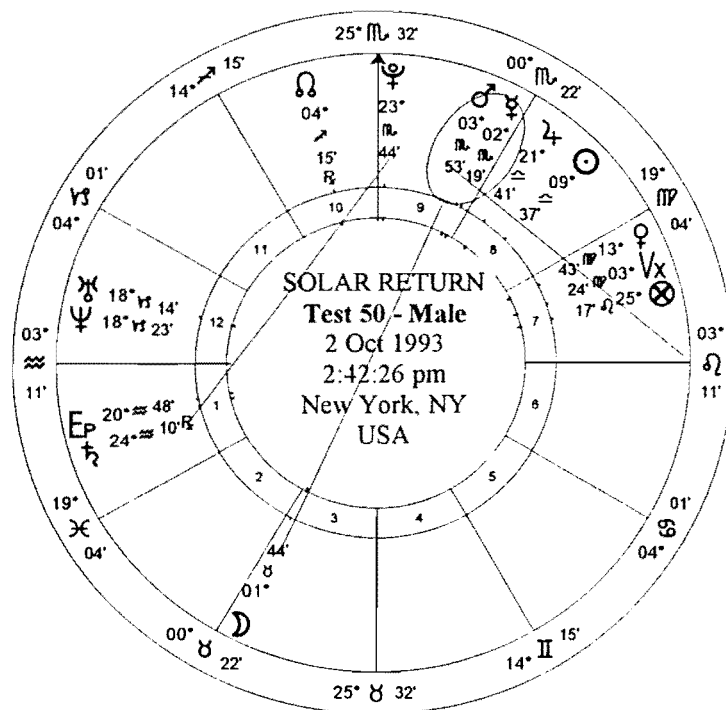

The Answer: He lost his partner. The woman he had been living with for the past ten months died suddenly in her sleep the evening of Sunday, April 17, 1994 during a flight from Los Angeles to New York City. She had suffered from influenza the previous week. She apparently died of a heart arrhythmia, the result of undetected viral cardiomyopathy.

The Solar Return (in the next column) relocated to New York has the Ruler Saturn square to Pluto on the Upper Meridian—a harbinger of death or misfortune, accentuated by the very close conjunction of co-Ruler Uranus with Neptune. Mercury is closely conjunct Mars. Mercury rules the House of Deaths while both planets oppose the Moon (death of a female). Mars at 3Sc53 square the Asc and Desc with an orb of only 42' points to the partner as being the female involved. A further indication of the partner is n.Mars at 1Le30 conjunct the SR 7th Cusp at 3Le11. It is interesting that the woman's death occurred during a plane flight (Mars and Mercury in the 9th).

The Natal Chart has the Fixed Star Vindemiatrix (9Li12, at the subject's birth date) conjunct the natal Sun at 9Li37. This Star is associated with widowhood and loss of the partner among other things (see Anthony Louis, Horary Astrology, and Barbara Watters, Horary Astrology and the Judgement of Events).

Lisa (Cairo) got it exactly right—"...he lost his partner rather suddenly at this time, possibly indicating the death of the partner..." Lisa used the Natal Chart, Solar Return and Age Harmonic 46.5.

NEW TEST NO. 51

Below is the Birth Horoscope of a man born on 24 June 1973, 8:13 pm EDT at 40N50, 74W13 in the USA.

What happened in his life on 10 February 1994, at 41N56, 74W00?

Hint: The answer can be found in the Solar Return of June 24, 1993.

Please send your answers to me by 10th March so that results can appear in the March Issue. State your conclusion first then give its astrological basis as succinctly as possible.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 18 Feb 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 234 January 2001

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

THE THIRD MILLENNIUM

Notwithstanding the furore and the general enthusiastic celebrations a year ago the Third Millennium did not, in fact, start then but with the first day of this year 2001. Here is the Chart, set for Greenwich at 0° geographical longitude. It can of course be relocated to any other place on the globe by altering the coordinates and keeping the time constant at 0:00 am GMT.

This type of Chart as a tool for prediction has yet to prove itself to me. I give it here only because it is referred to by Allan Johnson in his article below, together with the Chart for the collapse of the Berlin Wall in November 1989 (next column). — Dymock.

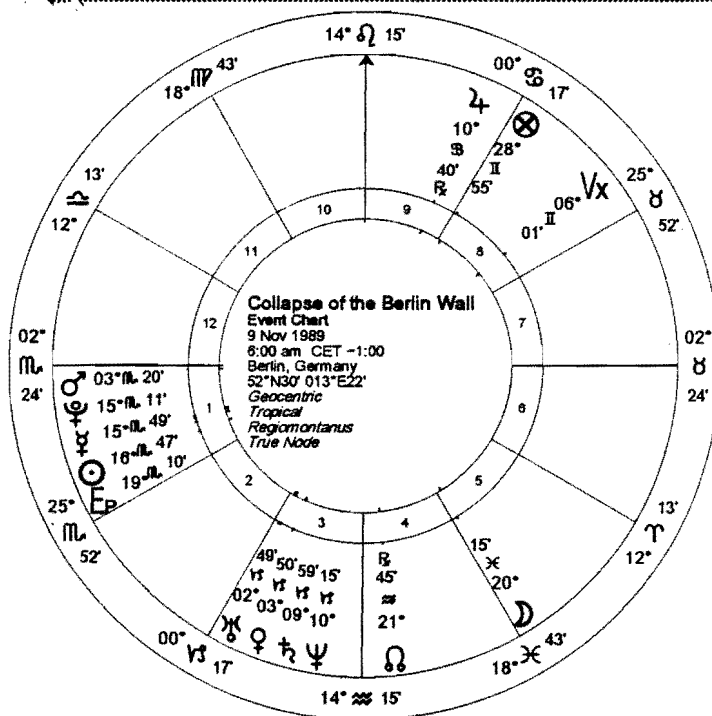

THE SHAPE OF THINGS TO COME

by Allan Johnson

In the late '90s two books came out in the U.S. on this theme and they have been widely read and treated with much respect. They are The Clash of Civilisations and the Remaking of the World Order by Samuel P.

In This Issue...

	Page
The Third Millennium and The Shape of Things to Come	1
President Bush—Amendment to Forecast....	2
Test 49—The Answers	3
New Test No. 50.....	4

COLLAPSE OF THE BERLIN WALL

9 Nov 1989 Berlin, Germany

6 am is an arbitrary choice as the actual time is unknown.

Huntington, and the Lexus and the Olive Tree by Thomas Friedman, dealing with globalisation. So it is interesting to see how the Chart for the new Century lines up with what these two writers have to say. What we should expect to find when passing from one Century to another is a certain amount of overlapping of events and trends. We shouldn't expect an abrupt change at the point of the change-over. We have been getting a lot of doom-sayers about the "End of the World" and a lot of people have been expecting some highly exciting events, even the Second Coming, and so on, but nothing like that has really happened. What we have been noticing in the '90s is a toning down of mass violence and the collapse of communism, which was the biggest event in recent times, achieved almost without firing a shot.

What Friedman gives as the key date is the collapse of the Berlin Wall on 9th November 1989. This was the trigger that set in motion a whole chain of events. Berlin Walls started collapsing all round the Globe. It was the signal for the ending of the Cold War. It ended the great world division that had been set up since 1945—the Iron Curtain, Bamboo Curtain, and so on. Not that it all happened in 1989. The whole world had already been moving in that direction well before that time. But the Berlin Wall was the trigger. When we are talking in terms of centuries and millenniums 1989 is not very far from 1st January 2001. Thomas Friedman claims that November 1989 is the point at which the divided world ended and was replaced by globalisation. So that's what we have now and that's what the new Century starts off with. Friedman claims that civilization on this planet has taken a new direction. From a world of division we have entered a world of integration or globalisation.

Globalisation is all about the destruction of boundaries in trade and commerce and this goes hand-in-hand with the revolution in communication, computerization and the opening up of the Internet. This is a situation where divisions and walls like the Berlin Wall find it impossible to exist. We are at the beginning of a whole new way of looking at life. So astrologically, if charts for the beginning of centuries are valid we should expect to find the date for the fall of the Berlin Wall linking up very strongly with the Chart for the Third Millennium. And we do. Neptune and Saturn in the Berlin Chart are both on 10° Capricorn and conjunct the Millennium Sun, while Jupiter at 10Cn40 opposes it. Pluto trines the Moon's North Node in the Millennium Figure. Saturn and Pluto are considered fatalistic planets while Neptune relates to new visions. There are other links within orbs. Aspects to the Angles would depend on the place for which the Millennium Chart is calculated. Jupiter in the Berlin Chart conjoins the Millennium MC in the Figure given for Greenwich.

There are other factors besides globalisation likely to develop in the new Century. Huntington's book refers to the resurgence of religious fundamentalism as another new trend. The fundamentalists see what is happening with globalism as a threat to their existence. It is a backlash. What this all adds up to is the 21st Century begins in marked contrast to what happened in the 20th with its massive world wars and immense social changes. This was all heavy drama of the type we should not expect from now on. Globalisation won't necessarily bring Utopia. It has its down-side and has been subject to a lot of criticism but it presents a less dangerous world for the average person.

In the Third Millennium Chart there are three planets (the Moon, Jupiter and Pluto) in Mutable Signs, so we are bound to get continuous changes. However, there are five planets in Fixed Signs, so we can expect much more stability to life as a whole. Just now we are going through a lot of rapid technical development but after a few years things should level out.

The next point is to see how the new Chart embraces the principle of globalism, which it should if it is a valid Chart. There is no heavy concentration of planets in any one Sign but we have three planets, Neptune, Uranus and Venus in Aquarius, which is appropriate for the emerging Aquarian Age. On the whole this is a much more low-key Chart than the one for the previous Century [not displayed]. The main key pattern is the Jupiter/Saturn conjunction with Jupiter trine to Neptune. This brings in the idealistic element in addition to the commercial side of things. So globalism might not be purely a matter of profits. The same conjunction also makes a square to Venus, bringing in the cultural factor. There are not the warlike combinations that were in the 20th Century Chart.

There is a very hard close square between Mars in Scorpio and Neptune in Aquarius. This can be a drastic Aspect and could refer to acts of terrorism through hidden religious cults. We are getting this. This is war on another scale. Carefully organized assassinations which even a super-power finds it hard to cope with. We are getting a similar theme with the Moon in Pisces square to Pluto. This confirms what Huntington describes in his book—religious fundamentalism and hidden violence that achieves headlines. So I think the Millennium Chart does link up astrologically with what the two books foreshadow. □

PRESIDENT BUSH—AMENDMENT TO FORECAST

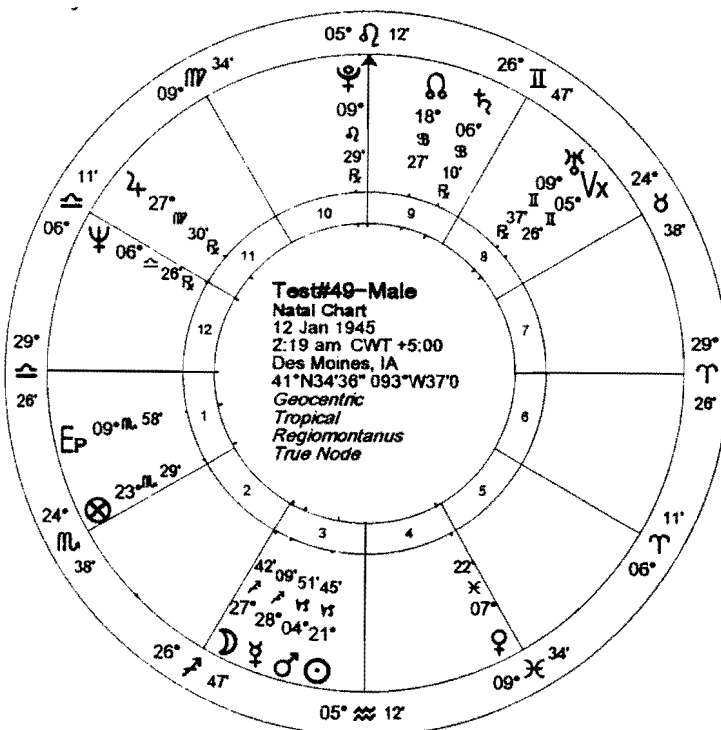

In my Forecast last Issue of the President's year ahead, I wrote that health concerns were the main issue for him in July, 2001. On looking again at his Harmonic Chart I see that the situation is more serious than I had previously envisaged. The Chart has Mars on the Cusp of Hidden Enemies opposing the Ascendant-Ruler, Mercury, on the Health Cusp, and in a T-Square with Uranus. I believe this connotes an attempt on the President's life from an assailant in ambush. There are other factors that add to the danger. The Chart appears in the next column. If the attack does occur it will not succeed because of the Sun's quincunx to Jupiter.

TEST 49: THE ANSWERS

Here is the Birth Horoscope of the man concerned.

There were three questions: What occurred on each of the following dates in this man's life:

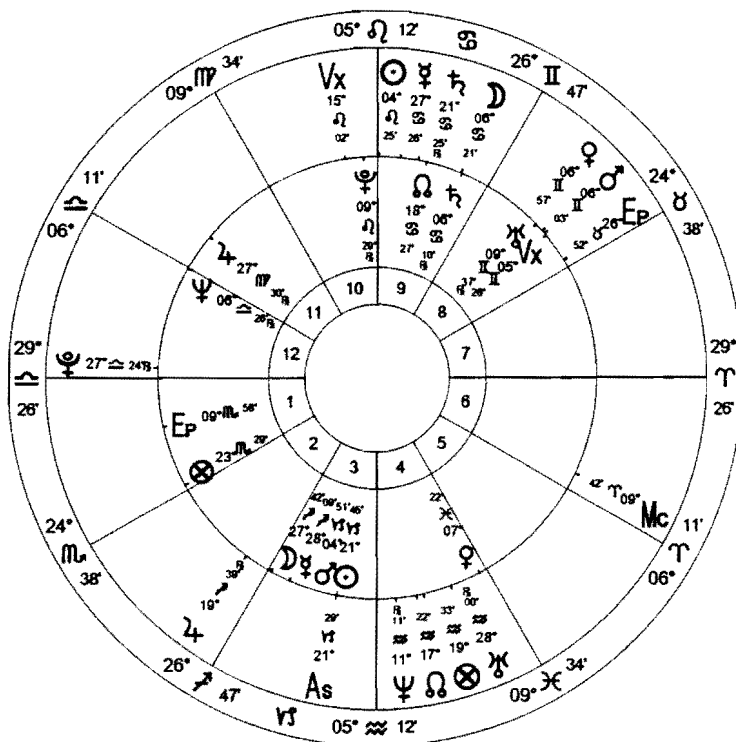

- (1) 19 February 1991, at New Haven, CT.
- (2) 17 January 2000, at New York City.
- (3) 25 August 2000, at New York City.

Answer (1). He was ordained a minister of the Church.

Answer (2). He suffered a heart attack.

Answer (3). He had surgery to replace a hip.

(1) Ordained, 19 Feb 1991. The answer to the first question was probably the most difficult, being relatively unusual, but planetary Aspects encompass all human activities, not just the most common ones. I found that the best lead was the Age Harmonic Chart for the month 12 Feb—12 Mar 1999 (h-46.0833). Here it is, circumscribing the Birth Figure:

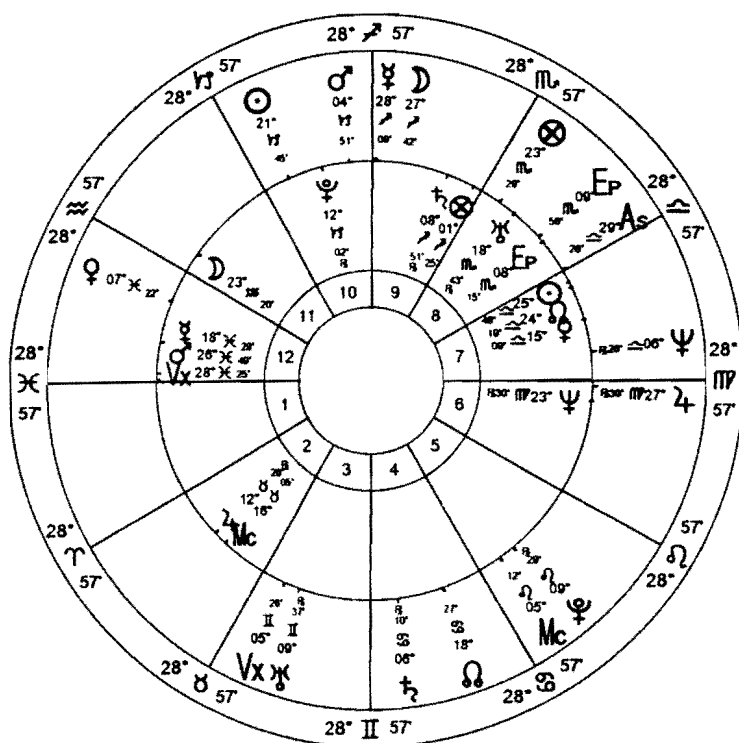

Inner Wheel, Test 49-Birth Chart.
Outer Wheel, Age Harmonic 46.0833

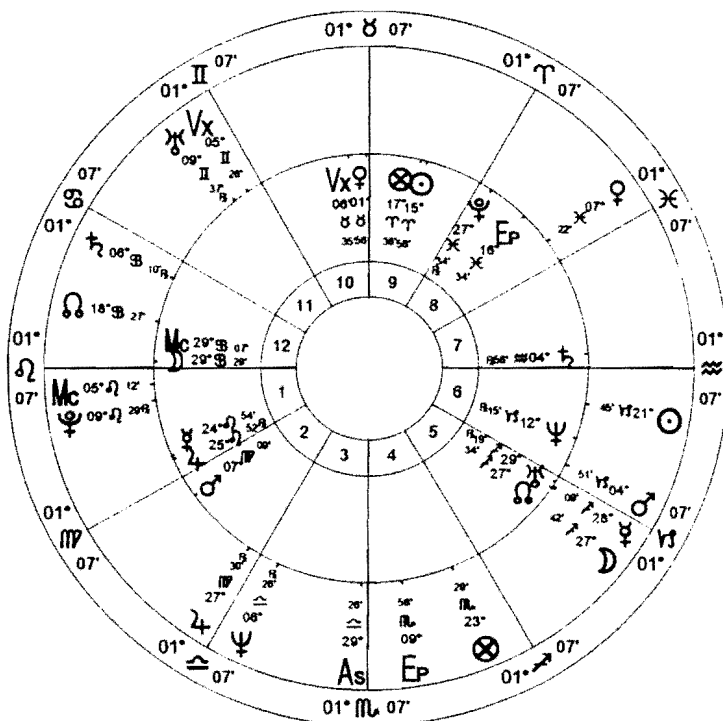

The h-Sun is at the MC, the h-Ascendant is conjunct the natal Sun (progress and advancement, new status). The h-MC at 9Ar42 trines n-Pluto at 9Le29 (attainment of a position of authority). h-Pluto is on the n-Ascendant (opening of a new chapter in life). This still does not tell us that the subject's achievement was in the Ministry. However there are clues: Looking for Aspects with no more than a 1° orb, we find h-Mercury in and ruling the 9th House, in a very close sextile with n-Jupiter (orb 4') so the emphasis is strongly on matters of the 9th and Jupiter—law, philosophy or religion. A further emphasis on the 9th House is h-Moon conjunct n-Saturn.

Is it possible to go further and separate out religion from either law or philosophy? Reference to the subject's Harmonic Chart for age 46 shows n-Neptune at 6Li26 conjunct the h-MC at 4Li02, which surely points to the Ministry rather than either of the other two possibilities.

The only respondent whose answer approached

Inner Wheel, Age Harmonic 55
Outer Wheel, Test 49-Birth Chart

Inner Wheel, Age Harmonic 55.5833
Outer Wheel, Test 49-Birth Chart

correctness was Lisa (Cairo) who perceived events pertaining to his status, but thought it was divorce. Lisa used the Age Harmonic 46.0833 just discussed.

(2) 17 Jan 2000—heart attack. There was a correct answer from Shirley Gray (Michigan) who reported “a life threatening illness” drawn from a consideration of the Solar Return Chart of 12 Jan 2000 at New York City. There were clues also in the Lunar Return Chart, but the best Figure was the 55th Harmonic shown above circumscribed by the Birth Horoscope. h-Mars and h-Vertex rise conjunct the Ascendant (fateful injury) quincunx to the Sun (heart) on the 8th Cusp (near-death experiences) and ruling the 6th House (illness).

The event was also pinpointed on the exact day (17 Jan 00) by the Primary Direction Asc square Mars/Neptune. Mars rules the n-6th House (Health), Neptune the n-5th (the heart) and the Ascendant is the physical body. Primary Directions are available with the Solar Fire v5 Program. I use the time key of the Natal Solar Rate and have found on a number of occasions that the timing is precise to the day, especially with Midpoint Directions.

(3) 25 Aug 2000—hip replacement. Here again, the Age Harmonic used with the Birth chart supplied the best indication. See next column.

The Moon rising opposite Saturn ruling the 6th House immediately suggests a health issue. n-Mercury and Mars straddle the 6th Cusp (surgical manipulation).

The most striking configuration in the Chart is the T-Square of Pluto, Jupiter and the N.Node, all in 27°, plus Uranus in 29°. Pluto is very much associated with replacement of body parts, Uranus and Jupiter with successful surgery. the Node simply adds emphasis. Mars in Capricorn on the 6th Cusp points to the hip.

The closest respondent here was Catherine Thomas (New Jersey) who used the Harmonic Chart and diagnosed “an unexpected health issue”.

Congratulations to all who worked on this Test. Their reward is increased insight and expertise.

NEW TEST NO. 50

This Test concerns a man born on 3 Oct 1947 at 9:44 am MST in Jackson Hole, Wyoming (43N32, 110W44) (Asc 17Sc22, MC 29Le43, Moon 21Ta30). He was a professional man, divorced and father of three.

What occurred in his life on Sunday, 17 April 1994? He was living in New York City at the time.

Please send your answers to me by 10th February. The correct answer and analysis will appear in the next Issue. “Don’t be concerned about being wrong! The questions are difficult and most of the answers are wrong. The real value of the exercises is in making you look into your techniques, testing them and establishing what is good and what isn’t. This will help you to make accurate Forecasts. The ultimate test of Astrology is accurate prediction—not theoretical speculation or learned dissertations.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 15th January 2001.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 233 December 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

THE UNITED STATES—WHAT NOW?

The historic impasse over the American Election has now been finally resolved and George W. Bush is the 43rd President, as predicted in this Journal in August last.

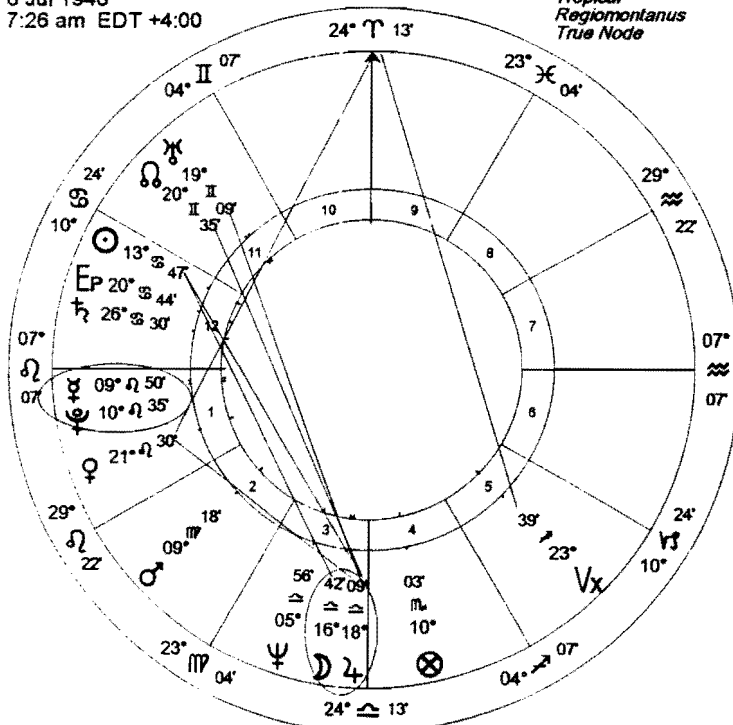

What now lies ahead for the Leader of the most powerful country in the world with its multifarious problems?

For clues we can look into the Bush's derived Charts plus Progressions and Directions. We could examine also the belief of alarmists that the new President will die in Office because he assumed power in the year when the two major planets, Jupiter and Saturn, formed a conjunction in the Earth Sign Virgo.

Here is the Birth Horoscope of George W. Bush.

George W. Bush
Natal Chart
6 Jul 1946
7:26 am EDT +4:00

7:26 am EDT +4:00
New Haven CT, US
41°N18' 072°W55'
Geocentric
Tropical
Regiomontanus
True Node

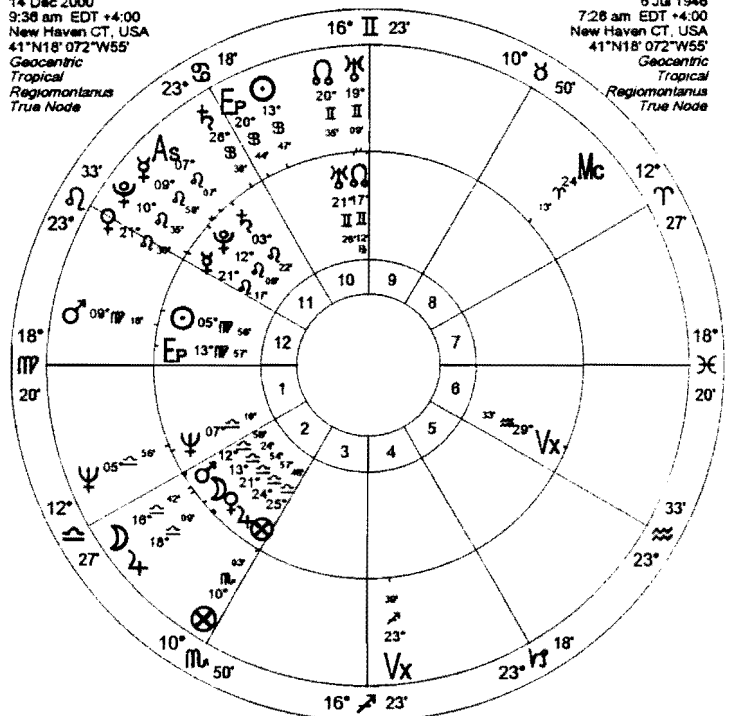

Let no one think that the Sun in the 12th House denies high achievement. It can happen, as with George Bush, when Progression of the MC brings the Sun into the 10th. (See the Progressed Chart in the next column). Of course, other favouring factors are

In This Issue...

	Page
The United States—What Now?	1
President George W. Bush, Chart, etc.....	1
Forecast for George W. Bush	2
Result of Test 48.....	3
New Test 49	4

Inner Wheel
George W. Bush
Sec. Prog. SA in Long
14 Dec 2000
9:36 am EDT +4:00
New Haven CT, USA
41°N18' 072°W55'
Geocentric
Tropical
Regiomontanus
True Node

Outer Wheel
George W. Bush
Natal Chart
6 Jul 1946
7:26 am EDT +4:00
New Haven CT, USA
41°N18' 072°W55'
Geocentric
Tropical
Regiomontanus
True Node

involved including a whole raft of natal planets and points moving upward to the heights of glory. But I wonder how many astrologers, looking at the Birth Chart, would have confidently predicted that George Bush would become a President of the United States of America?

There are some pointers, surely. Are they enough? The Moon conjunct Jupiter in Libra promises many things, including affluence, ease, good living, a wonderful home base and great parents, which is further emphasized by Venus disposing and sextiling Jupiter. This is a great springboard to start with. But then the Sun squares the Moon (traditionally a handicap in all areas of life) and squares Jupiter, traditionally too much of a good thing. This does not seem to have impeded George in any high degree. However, his Sun was conjunct the Star Sirius, brightest Star in the Northern hemisphere. At his birth, the projection of Sirius on the Ecliptic was at 13Cn20, only 27' from the Sun. This same star was similarly conjunct the Sun in the Horoscope of the 30th President of the United States, Calvin Coolidge, also a Republican. Sirius, "the Shining One, the Royal One" combines Mars and Jupiter traits and promises "fame, honours, riches". Its conjunction with the Sun is found in the charts of "numerous important and famous personalities" (Ebertin-Hoffmann, Fixed Stars and their interpretation).

Lacking the good offices of this important Significator is maybe why the rest of us haven't become a President of even a little country.

Having decided that George Bush's Chart does show potential for a great rise in life, how would we know when it is going to happen. Age Harmonics supply the answer, as they do for many other questions. George Bush is now 54, and his 54th Harmonic Chart (see diagram below) has the natal MC 24Ar13 directly on the Harmonic Ascendant 24Ar26—a classic example of having greatness thrust upon one.

Inner Wheel
George W. Bush
54th Harmonic Chart

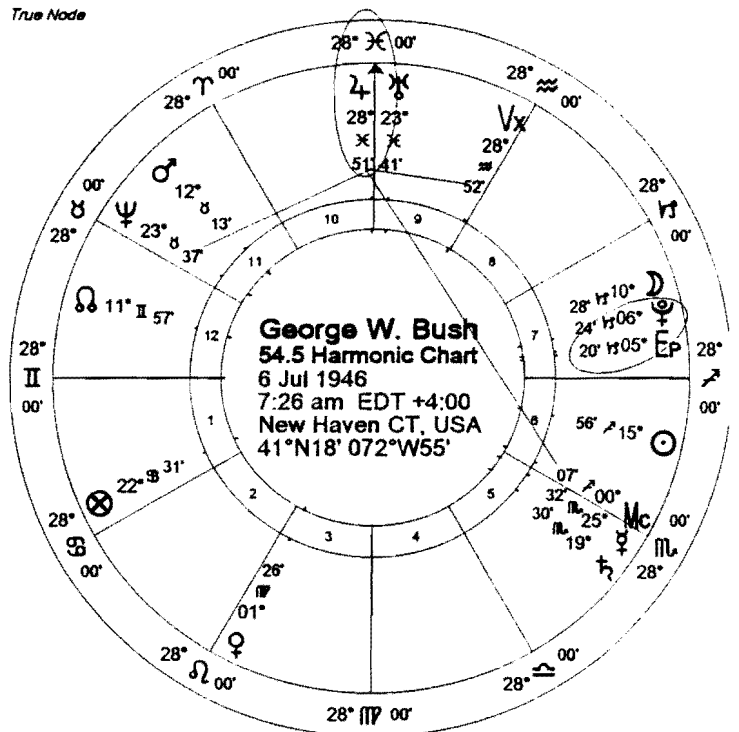

Outer Wheel
George W. Bush
Natal Chart

This highly significant and fortunate juxtaposition has obviously been helped by certain other features of the Chart: Asc-Ruler Mars trine to the Sun (victory in a contest), Jupiter sextile Neptune (great good luck) Venus trine Neptune (manna from Heaven), Jupiter opposite Venus (a superfluity of luck). Something like that is what you need if you're going to make the big time.

Still more precision is provided by the Age Harmonic for the month 5 January—5 February 2001 (Chart below). George W. Bush will formally assume the reins of power on January 21.

Jupiter, ruling the 10th House and right on the MC, is trine to the floating MC (a needless emphasis of the point), and exactly semisextile the Vertex (it was in his Destiny, as Fortune's Favourite). Jupiter is also trined by natal Saturn at 26Cn30, giving solidity to his new position. Pluto conjunct the EP signifies accession of power. Neptune, Co-Ruler of the 10th, is almost exactly sextile Uranus ruling the House of Law. George fell into the job by virtue of the ruling of the US Supreme Court.

The next question is what are the prospects for President Bush in his first year of Office? Reference to his monthly harmonic charts plus Progressions and Directions will help to some conclusions.

In the following forecast, MHC = Month Harmonic Chart; n- = natal; H. = House, h- = harmonic. POF = Part of Fortune. All harmonic charts are set for the birth place. Cusps in harmonic charts are always Equal, other Cusps always Regiomontanus.

14 December 2000. George W. Bush becomes the Nation's 43rd President.

21 January 2001. Inauguration Ceremony—signalled by two Vertex-Arc Directions: Jupiter on 16 January in the 5th House trine MC (how appropriate) ; Pluto on 26 Jan. conjunct the Moon (the feeling of power). The Ascendant-Arc Direction of Mercury sextile Saturn on Dec. 21 refers to the solemnity of this official occasion and its documentation.

February 2001. The h-Sun conj. the n-Vertex and closely trine n-MC in the h-10th indicates Bush adapting easily to his position of authority and exercising his Presidential powers to good effect.

The MHC has the 12th H. tenanted by h-Neptune and Node, plus n-Uranus and Node, signifying radical changes going on behind the scenes.

n-Asc and Mercury straddling the 2nd Cusp plus h-POF on the same Cusp suggests much discussion on fiscal measures.

March 2001. The MHC has Jupiter in the 10th H. trine to the Sun in the 6th. Other Houses involved are the 2nd and 9th, the 2nd having the benefit of n-Venus close to the Cusp and trine to the MC. I interpret this as a wise exercise of Presidential power and a boost to the Nation's finances.

n-Uranus and Node straddling the 12th Cusp shows further radical changes going on in private conferences.

April 2001. The MHC shows Neptune in H.12 opposing the Sun ruling the 6th. I see this as a disappointment for Bush in the enactment of a fiscal measure.

May 2001. Things are not going so well for the President. Natal Pluto on the Ascendant of his MHC conjunct Mercury signifies a critical situation with important matters under investigation. h-Neptune conjunct n-Saturn in H.12 hints at intrigues by secret opponents.

Financial outgoings are heavy (Mars on Cusp 2). However, n-Jupiter conjunct h-Venus ruling the 10th and 3rd Houses mean his administration is going smoothly. The President would do well to give himself a holiday at this time and the leisure to reflect on the difficulties confronting him.

June 2001. The MHC has n-Venus on the Ascendant sextile to h-Jupiter on the 11th Cusp. The President is gaining friends and supporters for his administration which is going well. Uranus on the 9th Cusp square n-Saturn points to difficult and disturbing conditions abroad.

July 2001. The President turns 55 on July 6 and his 55th Harmonic Chart does not have particularly striking configurations for the year ahead. The Sun in the 6th House quincunx Jupiter, with Mercury on the 6th Cusp points to health matters being a main concern.

Venus ruling the 2nd House conjunct the POF and trine Pluto is a fortunate sign for the Nation's finances.

August 2001. A Venus/Jupiter trine in the President's MHC involves principally the 2nd House. It will bring wealth and keep the Nation's economy functioning well.

September 2001. Jupiter ruling H. 4 and conjoining n-Pluto in the MHC indicates a favourable development on the domestic front. It should bring some matters to a successful issue. The President also benefits from a Primary Direction of Jupiter conjunct the Vertex on 4 Sep. 01 (a Destiny of success and great influence).

Other than that, it appears the President is primarily concerned with health issues, either of women or his Vice-President (Mercury conjunct the Sun on the 6th Cusp opposite Venus and square the Moon).

October 2001. Venus, Ruler of the HMC, conjunct the "floating" MC brings the President into popular favour for his effectiveness in Office. This is supported by a Vertex-Arc Direction, Venus conjunct the Sun.

November 2001. In the MHC the n-Sun is conjunct the MC, signifying success and achievement. The President enjoys an enhanced image of leadership.

December 2001. The final MHC for 2001 shows the President finishing the year on a high note: n-Saturn conjoins the MC stabilizing his position of administrative responsibility and leadership. At the end of December the Sun trines Neptune by Vertex-Arc Direction which signifies a personally idyllic period for George Bush.

At least up to the end of 2001 there is no indication of George W. Bush dying in Office.

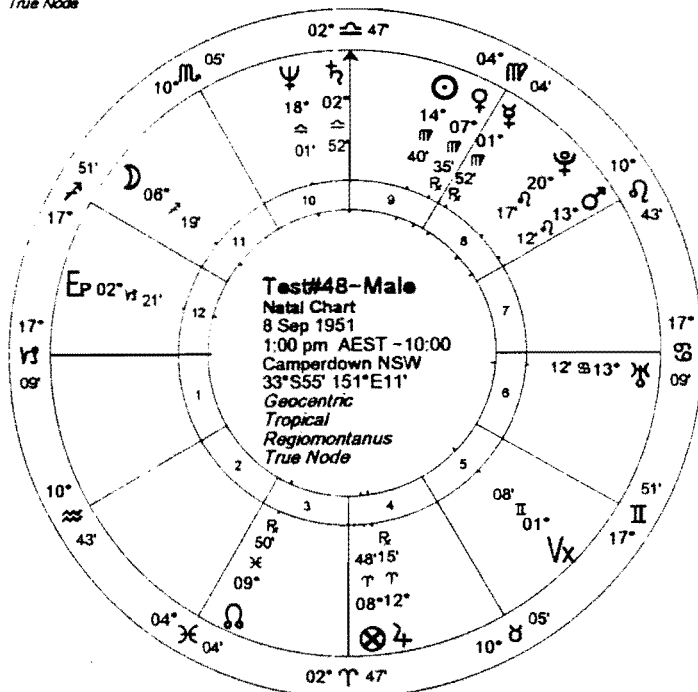

—Dymock.

Result of Test 48

The Question: A male born 8th Sep 1951, 1:00 pm AEST, Camperdown NSW (33S54, 151E11). See next page for the Birth Chart. He is a computer draftsman, married, one son. What occurred in his life on the 13th Aug 2000?

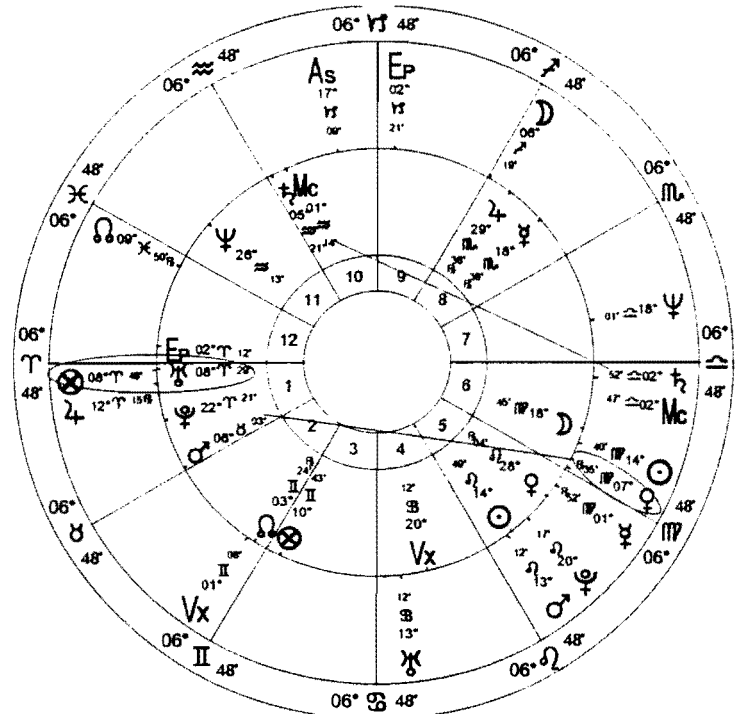

The Answer: He went to Melbourne to take up a much better-paying job. His wife and son followed six days later. [For the benefit of overseas readers, Melbourne is in the State of Victoria which adjoins NSW, The distance from Sydney is about 600 miles. Some participants in the Test picked up on the travel involved.]

True Node

Inner Wheel
Test#48-Male
 48.9167 Harmonic Chart

Outer Wheel
Test#48-Male
 Natal Chart

A correct answer was sent in by Lisa, (Cairo) who wrote:

There was a major change ... connected with his career. He either got promotion or was interviewed for another job which represented an advancement ... new position will involve travelling.

Lisa quoted the Harmonic Chart for age 48 years and 11 months (next column): Lisa wrote that Uranus conjunct Asc suggests sudden change; the [floating] MC conjunct Saturn in Aquarius repeats the natal configuration and sextiles Uranus in H.1. Pluto is in the 1st H. again suggesting major change, with Mars conjunct H.2 Cusp [which] suggests an increase in salary.

It could be added to Lisa's explanation that n-Venus is on the 6th Cusp (employment) where it trines h-Mars on the second Cusp (income) in Taurus (money); n-Saturn trines the floating MC (substantial rise); n-POF conjoins Uranus on the h-Ascendant (sudden financial increase).

It is noteworthy that the answers to the great majority of these "Tests" have been best indicated by an Age Harmonic Chart. I have sent details of how to use this technique to all who asked. Lisa first received the information only about six weeks before publication of this Test. She has used the technique to good effect.

Congratulations to all who sent in an answer. Right or wrong, they gain the reward of increased insight and expertise in our beloved art. If you are really serious in wanting to improve your Astrology you cannot do better than spend time and effort on this series of exercises.

Do try your hand on New Test 49, in the next column. There is a choice of three different dates to investigate.

NEW TEST 49

This concerns a man born in Des Moines, Iowa, (41N36, 93W37) on 12 January 1945 at 2:19 am CWT. (Asc 29Li26, MC 5Le12. Moon 27Sg42).

There were three different occurrences in this man's life, one on each of the following dates and at the places listed. You are asked to discover any one, two or all of them:

- (a) 19 February 1991, at New Haven, CT.
- (b) 17 January 2000, at New York City.
- (c) 25 August 2000, at New York City.

Please mail or e-mail your answers to me (address on front page) by 10th January 2001. It is necessary only to give the crucial Aspects or configurations that decided your answer, not pages of supporting analysis (though this does increase the value of the exercise for you).

There are no prizes but honourable mention will be made of those who find any one of the answers. Your real reward lies in the discovery of what astrological techniques are most valuable and whether you are applying them correctly. In the past Tests many of the participants worked on the right chart but did not perceive the most important significations, so it may be that you do not need a different technique but more practice in interpreting what you are already using.

A further point is that if you actually commit your answers to writing and post them it focuses your mind and sharpens your skills.

Good wishes to all for the Festive Season, —Dymock, 19 December 2000.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 232 November 2000

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due.

THE USA PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

I am writing this on the 10th of November, the USA Election having been held three days ago on the 7th. I had fully expected that by now George William Bush would have been declared the 43rd President of the United States of America, but the decision is delayed through an irregularity in the polls which required a recount in the State of Florida. It is apparently a USA law that when there is a small difference of a few thousand votes separating the candidates a recount is obligatory. Florida is a key State in this Election—whoever wins it is probably going to be President but the decision may be further delayed till the 17th of November for the counting of postal votes.

In Astrologers' Forum of August last I forecast a win for Bush, but due to shortage of space was unable to print the relevant Charts of the two protagonists, Bush and Gore. I take this opportunity to do so now.

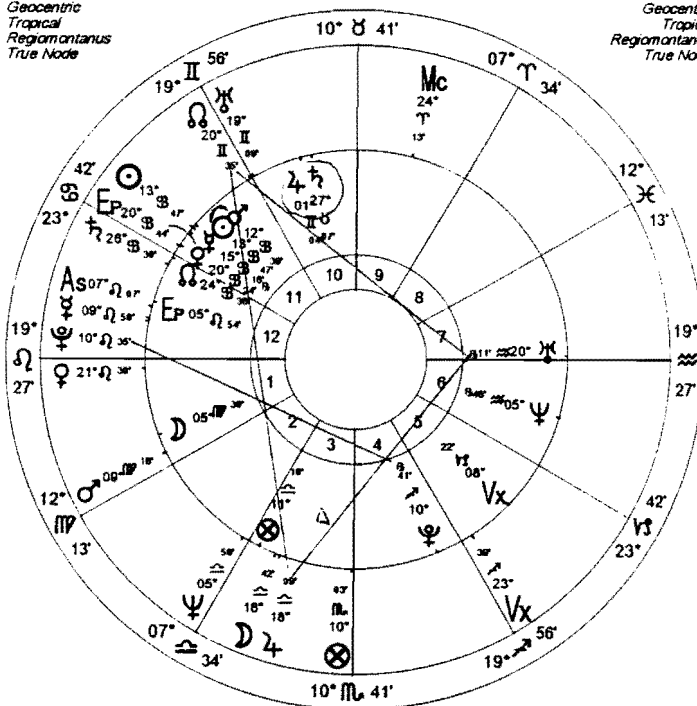

In This Issue...

	Page
The USA Presidential Election	1
The Melbourne Cup 2000	3
The Answer for Test 47	3
New Test 48	4
Fixed Stars	4

George Bush's Natus appears in the adjoining column, and his Solar Return of 5th July 2000, covering the period of the Election, concentric with his Natus is below.

Inner Wheel
George W. Bush
Solar Return
5 Jul 2000 (±1 sec)
8:29:29 am EDT +4:00
New Haven CT, USA
41°N18°07'W55°
Geocentric
Tropical
Regiomontanus
True Node

Outer Wheel
George W. Bush
Natal Chart
6 Jul 1946
7:26 am EDT +4:00
New Haven CT, USA
41°N18°07'W55°
Geocentric
Tropical
Regiomontanus
True Node

Favourable indications of the Solar Ret. are:

1. The Asc conjunct n-Venus (Lady Luck),
2. Venus (ruling MC) conjunct the n-EP (lucky indeed),
3. Uranus Angular forming a Grand Trine with n-Jupiter and n-Node (stroke of good fortune).

4. The Sun Ruler conjunct Mars (victory in a contest),
5. Jupiter conjunct Saturn in the House of Career (achievement by perseverance and diligence)
6. Sun, Mars & Mercury plus n-Node and Uranus in the 11th House (fulfilment of ambitions)
7. Pluto trine n-Pluto (a Destiny step).

Bush's Converse Solar Return is also favourable:

1. Jupiter conj. the n-MC (24Ar13) in the SR-

George W. Bush: Converse Solar Return 5 Jul 1892 (Corres. to 5 July 2000). New Haven CT, USA. Regio. Cusps, True Node.

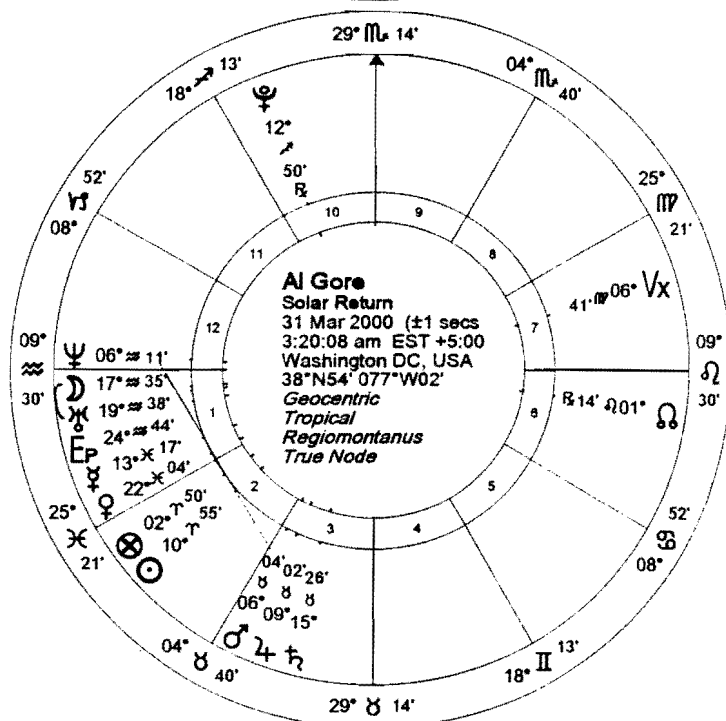

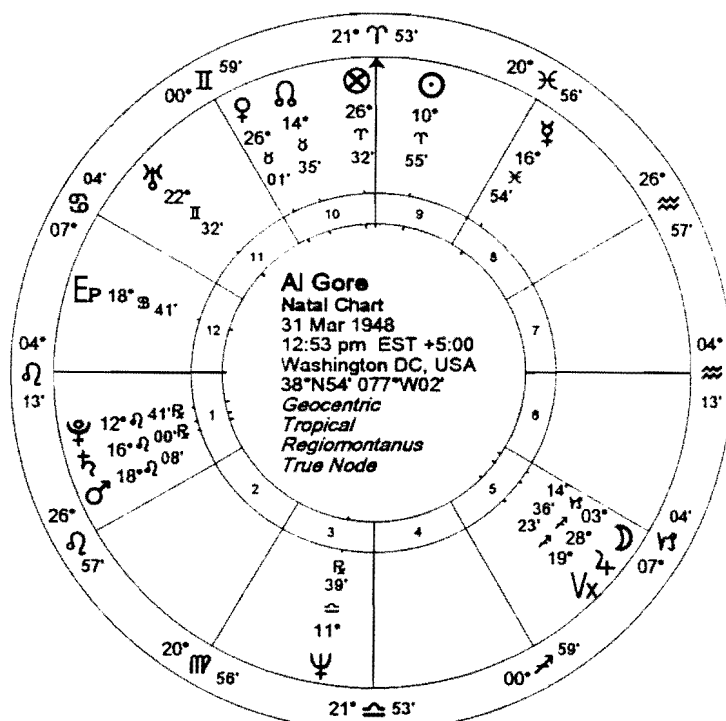

10th H.

2. Venus conj. the Asc and n-EP (20Cn44) and trine the Moon (Ruler) at 20Sc05.
3. Mars ruling the MC trine n-Moon (16Li42) and n- Jupiter (18Li09)

Al Gore's Birth Chart and his current Solar Return are printed in the adjacent column. The Solar Return does not offer any encouragement for gaining the Presidency:

1. Neptune rises and squares Mars, Ruler of the House of Career (disappointed ambition).
 2. Neptune opposes the n-Asc (4Le13) (big disappointment).
 3. The Moon rises conjunct Uranus (upset) and opposite n-Saturn (16Le08) (failure).
- Gore's Converse Solar Return (not printed here) also has negative indications:

1. The n-Sun/Neptune opposition accentuated by being on the 11th-5th axis (failure);
2. Virgo at the MC and Ruler Mercury trine Uranus and square n-Uranus (upset);
3. Scorpio rising and Ruler Mars square Saturn (defeat).

The Inauguration date for the new President, whoever he is, will be 20th Jan. 2001, so a review of the Candidates' Charts relating to that date should be revealing. Here are the Monthly Harmonic Charts for both close to the Meridian. I read this as Gore George Bush and Al Gore that cover the possibly losing on the re-count (Mercury). Inauguration.

From the astrologer's point of view this has been the most interesting and controversial Election ever. Many competent overseas astrologers have come down on opposite sides—some for Bush and some for Gore. We all now await the outcome. — Dymock.

THE MELBOURNE CUP 2000

Coincidentally, Australia's annual Melbourne Cup Horse Race (an event that "stops the Nation") was run on the same day as the Presidential Election, and it must be admitted sadly that for a great number of Australians this event eclipsed a little matter like electing a man to the most powerful position in the world.

Here is the Chart of the Race. Timed to start at 3:20pm it was delayed 5 minutes by a fractious

Both Figures have some favouring factors but in my judgement Bush's Chart is superior to Gore's: Jupiter right on the MC, which it rules, trines both the floating MC and n-Saturn (26Cn30)—a very healthy complex for the acquisition of Office.

Gore has Venus conjunct the floating MC just below the Ascendant, which is fortunate, but these points are both square n-Mercury (16Pi54) which here occupies the 10th House runner, and I have allowed a further 2 minutes to get a picture of the finish.

The event was won by a horse called Brew carrying saddle cloth number 24. Kevin Rillett (S.A), who goes in for Asteroids in a big way, drew my attention to the Asteroid Beer at 20Pi43, conjunct the Ascendant, and Bacchus at 14Sc41, conjunct the Sun!

From a less erudite point of view, the idea of conviviality is conveyed by Venus in Pisces at the Midheaven plus the Moon rising and ruling House 5 (Celebrations and Parties) which is accented by the North Node and the Part of Fortune. Numerologists would also ascribe the number 24 to Venus.

ANSWER FOR TEST 47

This Test concerned a woman born on 29th August 1954 at 10 pm AEST in Canberra ACT, Australia (35S18, 149E13). The Chart is shown below.

The question was what occurred in her life on 25th March 1977 while she was still living in Canberra. She was single, just out of university and employed as a forest (field) worker for the holidays.

The answer is the woman left Australia on an overseas trip. She had intended to come back after three months but actually extended her tour and returned to Australia nearly two years later.

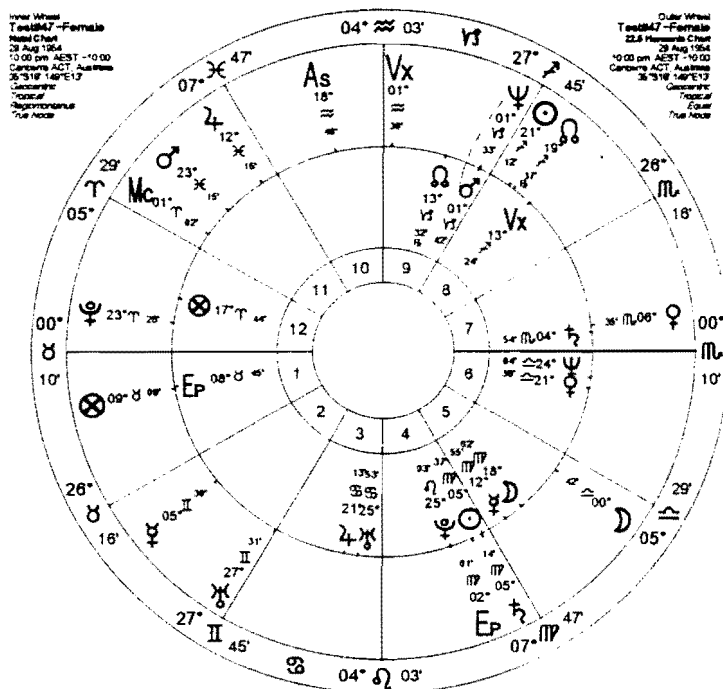

The closest response came from Catherine Thomas (New Jersey USA) who wrote: Her 22nd Age Harmonic's Ascendant is conj. MC, which would seem to be an abrupt change in her career ... perhaps opportunities that were close to her in the past opened up. ... did this person have to move for this new opportunity ... ? (Uranus in the 3rd in both natal and 22nd Harmonic). ... Natal Uranus conjunct 22nd h-Venus which rules 4th and 9th h-Cusps, ... she moved away for a working opportunity as n-Venus rules the natal 2nd and 6th Cusps ... this could just have represented the end of one cycle in her life and the beginning of another with an increasing interest in the occult, astrology, and psychology ... the Node Directed by Solar Arc was conjunct her natal MC and 22nd h-Asc, reinforcing the impression that she made new contacts that changed her life for ever. □

The most descriptive Chart for the event is the Age Harmonic 22.5 for the month 28 Feb—28 Mar 1977 circumscribing the Birth Chart as below:

The two Houses associated with travel are the 9th and the 3rd. Both are accented here. h-Neptune closely conjoins n-Mars in the 9th, and h-Uranus is right on the 3rd Cusp (orb 14°). h-Jupiter ruling the 9th House closely opposes n-Mercury ruling the 3rd. h-Saturn co-ruling 9th (Capricorn intercepted) conjoins n-Sun (orb 23°).

NEW TEST 48

This month's Test relates to a male born 8th Sep 1951, 1:00pm AEST, Camperdown NSW (33S54, 151E11). Asc 17Cp09, MC 2Li47, Moon 6Sg19.

He is a computer draftsman, married, one son. What occurred in his life on the 13th Aug 2000? The event affected the whole family whose members are: Wife, born 2 May 1959, 8:10pm AEST, Camperdown. Son, born 5 Feb 1999, 6:48pm AEDT Wahroonga, 33S47, 151E06.

The crucial date for them was 19 August although it is the same event.

These Tests are wonderful exercises to develop your skill and insight, as those who have done them will attest. They sharpen delineation and greatly assist your predictive work. For your own sake do give them a try.

Please send your answers to me by 28th November. Use any astrological technique and include whatever were the crucial Aspects or configurations that led you to your decision.

FIXED STARS

Ross Harvey (NSW) is doing some research work and has noticed that distinguished people seem to have certain of the Fixed Stars either on the Meridian or the Prime Vertical (orb of 2° in azimuth). The Horizon doesn't seem to be significant. The stars he has noticed so far that seem to be associated with success are Sirius, Acrux, Altair, Vega, Antares, Aldebaran, Spica, Regulus and perhaps Fomalhaut. Bill Gates has Sirius and Aldebaran due East. Tony Blair has Altair South and Spica West.

Other first magnitude stars may be important but Ross doesn't have any conclusive evidence for them. Several commonly used stars have either no significance for success, or mean something else, such as Toliman, which he has seen exactly on the Meridian of two charts whose natives were not notable at all. It could, however, signify a difficult life, which would have been appropriate for the people in question.

My kind regards to all. — Dymock, 12 Nov 2000.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

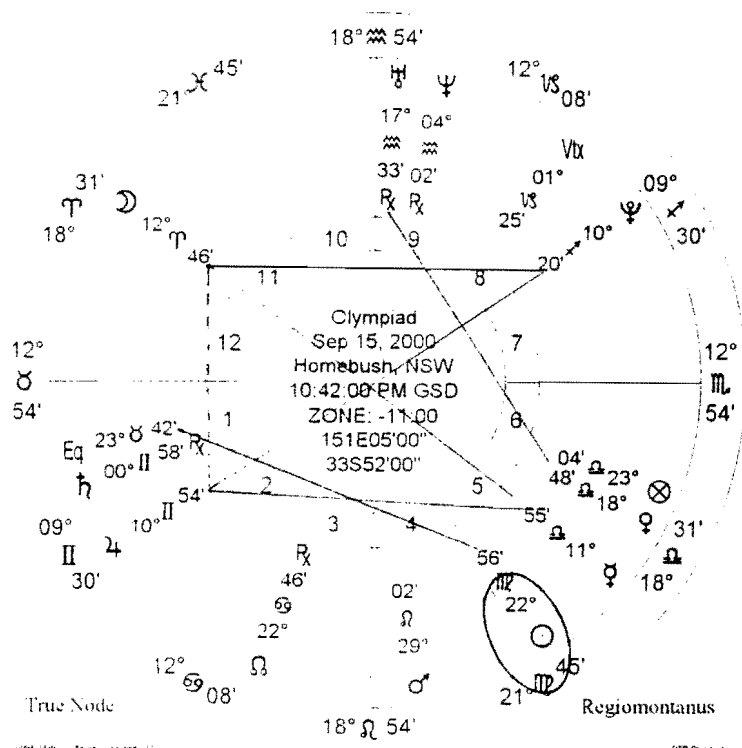

Issue 231 October 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

"THE BEST OLYMPICS EVER"

So declared Juan Antonio Samaranch, President of the International Olympic Committee, in his closing speech on Sunday 1st October at the XXVII Olympiad in Sydney. It was certainly a triumph of spectacle and organization and will no doubt clarify the ideas of the many not fully conscious of Australia's existence or having only a vague idea of its whereabouts—near the South Pole, a part of Indonesia or somewhere in Europe. (Former USA President Ronald Reagan once confused Australia with Austria.)

From the astrologer's point of view the matter of chief interest is the Horoscope for the commencement of the Olympiad, its correlation with events and relation to other relevant charts. Charts have been set for various times including the scheduled time, the time of activities commencing in the Main Stadium and the time when Mr Samaranch officially declared the Games open, which was at 10:42pm AEDT on 15 Sep 2000 at Homebush, NSW. This latter is the Chart I prefer, and here it is:

What could be more appropriate than the Sun on the

In This Issue...

	Page
"The Best Olympics Ever"	1
Ian Thorpe—Birth Chart.....	2
Test 46—Solution.....	3
New Test No. 47.....	4
Mr Milosevic Bows Out.....	4

5th Cusp—GAMES! In my view, this feature alone establishes this Chart as the preferred one for the Olympiad. The Sun conjunct the 5th Cusp and trine to the East Point (Equatorial Ascendant) is not only highly relevant but also foretold a brilliant spectacle and celebration.

What strikes the eye next is the prominence of Uranus at the Midheaven in its own Sign and closely trine Venus, also in its own Sign. Uranus signalled a unique and striking spectacle calculated to draw the attention of the world. In the history of the Olympiads there has not been another with Opening and Closing ceremonies so different, distinctive and spectacular. Venus rules the 1st House, and its trine to Uranus signified smooth functioning—and the absence of violence. Venus being in the 6th House and ruling the 1st testifies to the health and well-being of the whole operation. The precautions taken against terrorists and other disruptive elements were repaid.

The bill has been huge—running into billions—and well portrayed by Pluto in the 8th House (financial outgoings) opposed by its Dispositor, Jupiter. Pluto's opposition of Jupiter (a money signifier) is itself an indicator of enormous expenses, and the close contact with the 2nd-8th axis enhances this.

Will the expense be recouped? It is doubtful. The Moon ruling the 3rd House and sextile Jupiter means substantial income from the public (ticket sales). Pluto trine the Moon shows massive public support. Mercury ruling the House of Income has a close trine to Jupiter and a 7°-conjunction with Venus. Both of these are helpful, but Mercury's opposition to the Moon points rather to a scattering and frittering away of earnings.

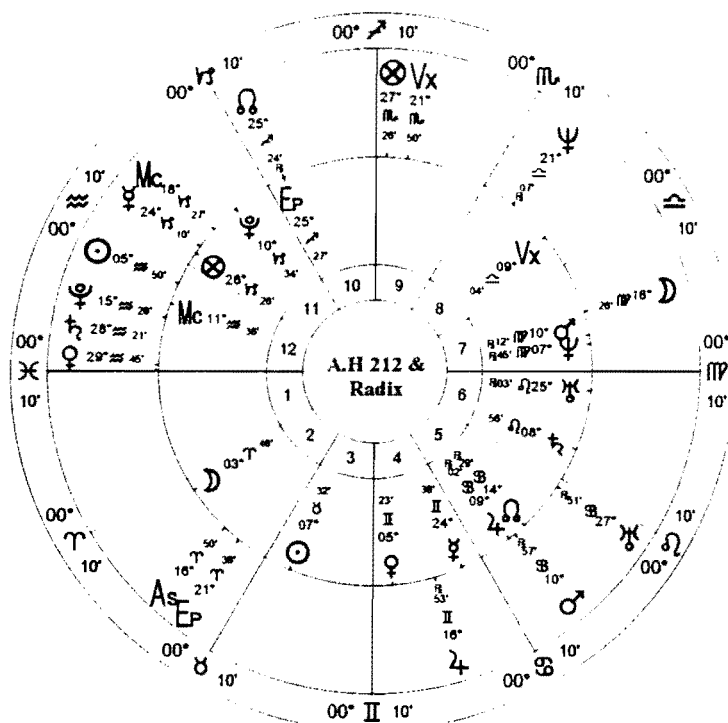

No doubt Australia can anticipate increased Tourist income in the next years, but perhaps we have to count the gains more in terms of intangibles—feelings of natal Venus on the h.Ascendant (joy) and n.Mars pride, unity and self-respect as a Nation, increased conjunct h.Jupiter (flamboyance). Only Aspects with world-wide prestige, and recognition of Australian small orbs are considered. This is further support for the sporting prowess (Sun on 5th Cusp) which in relation to our population of 18 million puts us among the top 11am birth time of the Nation.

What do we make of Saturn square Mars? In general terms Mars represents the competitors, all 10,000 of them! The close square of Saturn speaks to me of their concentrated will to win and the self-discipline needed to achieve the results they crave in the sporting field (Mars in Leo). It may also refer to the covert taking of drugs by some of them to enhance their performance (Mars ruling the House of Hidden Activities). This possibility is supported by the Jupiter-Pluto opposition where Pluto is placed in the "Drugs" House and Jupiter rules it. In fact a number of competitors from other countries have been disqualified on this count (no Australians among them).

It is noteworthy that this international sporting event is reflected in the current Age Harmonic (212) of the Chart for Australia's Foundation. Here is the Chart that I have found responds well to events in our history:

The Age Harmonic 212 applies to Australia's current Solar Year, 26 January 2000—26 January 2001 In the Inner Wheel: Harmonic 212 for Foundation of Australia.

Outer Wheel: Foundation of Australia, 26 Jan 1788, 11am

Sydney Cove, 33°S 51°54", 151°E 12'30" and end of the Games: The p.Moon conjunct Jupiter and sextile the Ascendant on 15 September and trine Pluto on 1st October. (Games 16 Sep—1 Oct, 2000).

One of the outstanding Australian stars in the Games was the swimming champion Ian Thorpe. Here is his Birth Chart, 13 Oct 1982, 10:52am Sydney, 33S52, bi-wheel below the Age Harmonic is shown surrounded by the Radix. The interesting point within the Harmonic Chart itself is that Jupiter (Exalted in Cancer) occupies the House of Sport and Entertainment, opposite Pluto (massive effects), square the Vertex (great significance) sextile Mars (competition) and sextile Neptune (dream results).

IAN THORPE

GAMES OPEN

Relating the Harmonic Chart to the Radix, we see 151E13 (from Lois Rodden's Astrodatabank) Admetos opposing Pluto, plus Jupiter square Saturn) surrounded by the Opening of the Games Chart. It and midpoint pictures in the Solar-Arc Directions was a good augury for his success that there were three pointing to "a death/illness of females, and separations planets in the Games Chart closely conjoined with and grief".

natal planets in Thorpe's House of Career—Venus with the Sun; Mercury with Venus; the Part of Fortune with Saturn, which is his Natal Ruler. Additionally, Mars conjoined his Moon (orb 13') assuring him of maximum energy for the contest.

This is a useful technique that readers could apply in regard to any participants whose nativities are known.

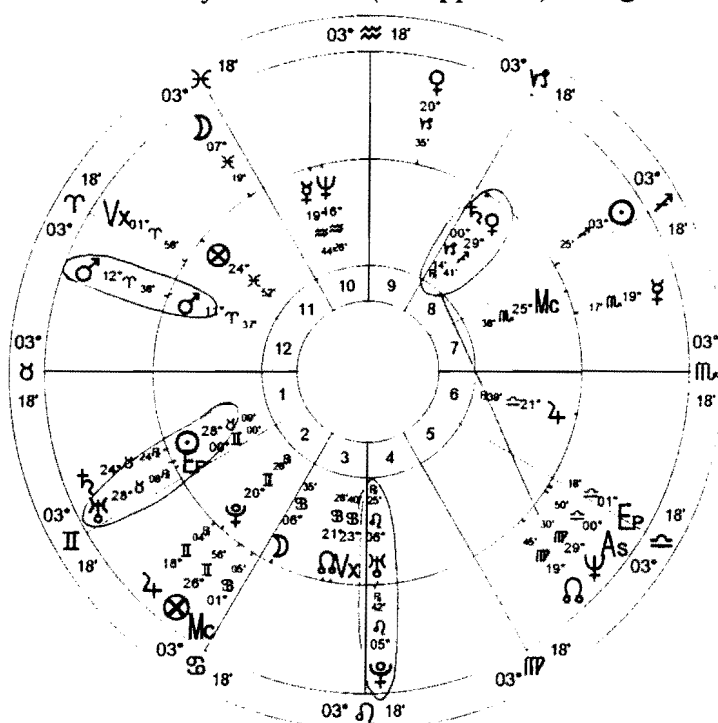

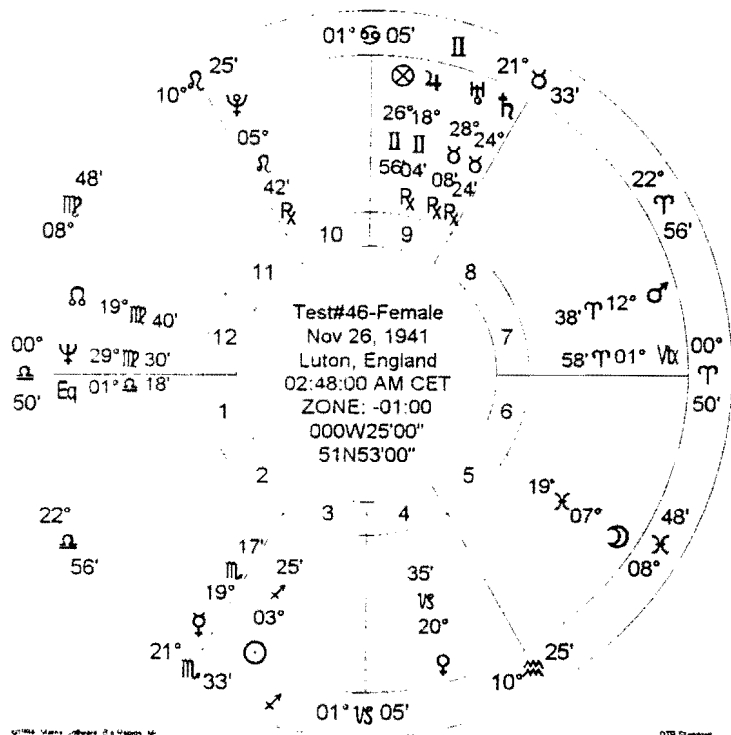

TEST 46—SOLUTION

This Test concerned a woman whose Birth Horoscope appears below. She was married, had three children and was retired.

The Question: What occurred in her life on 1st Nov. 1999 in Goolwa, South Australia?

The Answer: Her much loved pet dog was run over and killed.

None of the respondents arrived at the correct answer

Inner Wheel: Test 46, Harmonic 57.9167
Outer Wheel: Test 46, Birth Chart.

House (small animals) and both are square to n.Neptune (loss) on the Cusp of the h.6th; Mars is conjunct n.Mars in the 12th House (grief), the Sun is conjunct n.Uranus (shock), and Uranus is conjunct n.Pluto (agitation) on the "end-of-life" Cusp. All Aspects are within one degree.

The Lunar Return of 21 Oct 1999 (next page) also has the indications: The natal 6th House (small animals) has the Moon on the Cusp (Regiomontanus) opposed by the lr.Venus (separation from a loved animal). lr.Jupiter and Neptune both ruling the 6th House are in square (loss; emotional upset). lr.Mars on the 4th Cusp of the Radix is square n.Neptune ruling the 6th—loss (Neptune) of a small animal through death (Mars).

though several diagnosed a "death". It was interpreted however as the death of a person. Answers included "change of residence; upsetting news; confused psychological state; illness; heart failure; stroke; surgery; life-threatening situation; sudden change of destiny; car accident; separated from husband; divorce; death of a child; death of a relative; tragic love".

All respondents saw the event as negative, which was correct. Lea Breuer-Kantor (Israel) was closer with "a violent or sudden sad event" but couldn't decide between assault, accident, injury or death. Lea cited the 57th Age Harmonic (The Moon and the Uranian point

Congratulations to all who attempted this exercise. They are rewarded by the increase in their astrological insight and expertise.

Anyone who wants a table setting out the decimal fractions for Age-Harmonic months has only to write to me. It may have been noticed that nearly all the past 46 Tests are most easily answered by reference to the Inner Wheel: Lunar Return, Goolwa, 21 Oct 1999, 12:23:55 pm ACDT.

Outer Wheel: Birth Chart, Test 46, 26 Nov 1941 2:48 am Luton, England.

Annual or Monthly Age-Harmonics in conjunction with the Radix.

There is a general tendency among astrologers to interpret configurations in terms of the more sensational and extreme possibilities. The Tests do always relate to some significant event in the life of the person concerned but it may not be a major catastrophe. The loss of a household pet can be traumatic. It certainly was in the life of the woman concerned whose Natus has Neptune conjunct Ascendant (sensitivity and feeling) and the Moon in Pisces conjunct the 6th Cusp (attachment to animal pets). Life has many grievous events like this, which we should keep in mind when we are forecasting for a client.

NEW TEST NO. 47

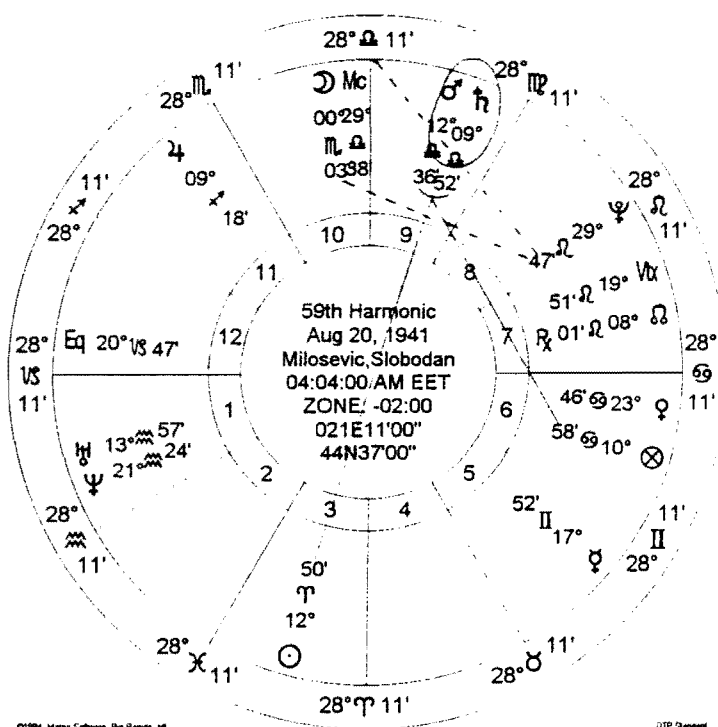

This Test concerns a woman born on 29th August 1954 at 10 pm AEST in Canberra ACT, Australia (35S18, 149E13). The Ascendant is 0Ta10, MC 4Aq03, Moon 18Vi02.

What occurred in her life on 25th March 1977 while she was still living in Canberra? She was single, just out of university and employed as a forest (field) worker for the holidays.

Please send your answers to me by October 28 giving the crucial aspects or other configurations on which you base your judgement. Any method may be used. The solution will be published in the November Astrologers' Forum with a full explanation. Mention will be made of those who get on or near the mark. This is an exercise, not a competition.

MR MILOSEVIC BOWS OUT

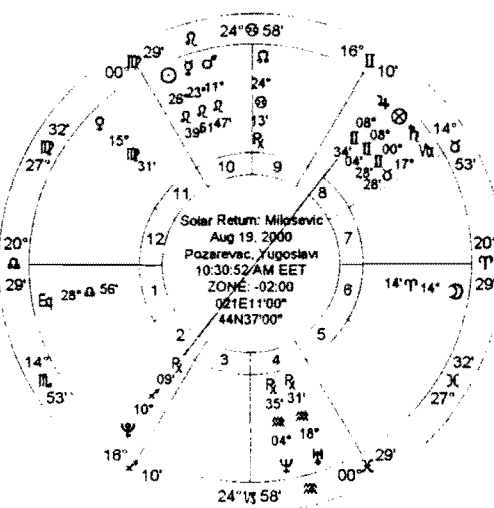

With more reluctance than grace Slobodan Milosevic has finally admitted defeat in the Yugoslavian Election and deferred to the Leader of the Opposition. He was born in 1941 and turned 59 on 20th August. There is not room here for his Birth Chart which was printed in Issue 215, but below is his 59th Harmonic Chart which clearly depicts his fall from power.

Capricorn rises and Saturn, the Ruler, conjoins Mars. Both planets are elevated in the Chart (giving them extra power) and both oppose a depressed Sun and square the Part of Fortune. Pluto, powerful on the 8th Cusp, sextiles the MC, the Moon on the 10th Cusp and the "floating" MC—the end of Milosevic's reign.

The relevant Solar Return Figure on the other hand is less compelling. Chiefly, Pluto opposes Jupiter in the House of Law. Taken with the Radix, Neptune in the 4th House is opposed to natal Pluto in the 10th, while the Ascendant opposes n.Mars and the MC.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock, 8 Oct 2000.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 230 September 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

TEST 45 & ITS SOLUTION

Test 45 concerned a woman born on 26 May 1941 at Nelson, England (53N51, 2W13), 4:41 pm EET. The Chart is below. The test was to find what occurred in her life on 16 April 1987 while she was living in Sunnyvale, California. She was a working woman, married, without children.

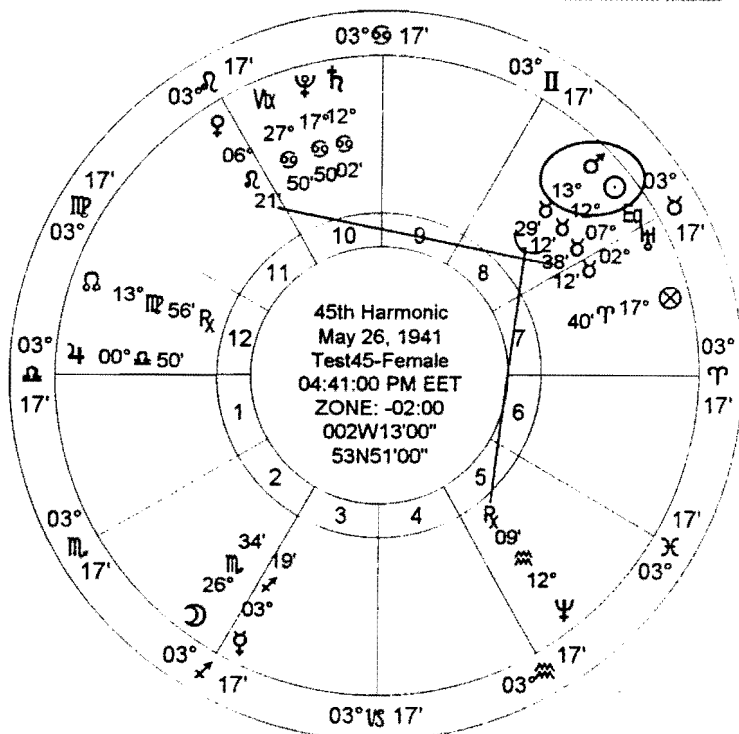

THE ANSWER (from the woman herself): "My husband, who had been ill for many years, died suddenly of a heart attack on 16 April 1987 in Los Angeles. We were living 500 miles away in Sunnyvale, Northern California, and I went down there and arranged his funeral, etc. in Los Angeles—which was 'foreign' country to me."

The subject was 45 years old at the time, and the clearest indication of the death of her husband is given by her 45th Harmonic Chart (next column). The configuration of Mars (injury) and the Sun (the husband; the heart) conjoined in the House of Death, both square to Neptune (loss) in the 5th House (heart) speaks for itself.

A further indication is Venus, ruling the Death House

In This Issue...

	Page
Test 45 and its Solution.....	1
New Test No.46	2
The Timing of Events	3
Further Comments on Putin	4
Concorde Crash—Could It Have Been Foreseen?	4

squaring the E.P. in that House (double emphasis).

Jupiter ruling the 3rd House is sextile Mercury in that House and ruling the 9th (both Houses relating to journeys) indicating the trip the subject had to make from Northern California to Los Angeles for the funeral arrangements.

This Chart is a prime example of the effectiveness of Age Harmonics. Neither the Solar Return nor Lunar Return Figure is anywhere near as clear and definitive.

There is surprisingly little in Progressions and Directions to show for the event. Tertiary Progressions (calculated at the BIJA rate given in Solar Fire) have minor but multiple indications: On the day of the death, 16th April 1987, $\mathcal{D} \square \mathcal{H}/\Psi$, $\mathcal{D} \mathcal{P} \mathcal{Q}/\mathcal{S}$ (Venus and Mars are appropriate, being Rulers of the 8th and 7th Houses). On the following day, $\mathcal{D} \Delta \mathcal{H}/\mathcal{Q}$, and $\mathcal{S} \Delta \mathcal{Q}/\mathcal{S}$.

Of those who worked on the Test and had the fortitude to send in their results, no one was entirely successful at the first attempt though a number picked up elements of the situation. A Russian astrologer said "husband's death and child adoption" which was half right, but unfortunately he did not give any astrological basis to show that it was not a lucky guess or to allow others to try his technique. Some went for a second or third attempt and either found the answer or were close to it. Others indicated several possibilities but were unable to pinpoint the actual happening (admittedly very difficult). A variety of methods were used—Traditional (Transits and Progressions), Cyclic Charts, Uranian with the 90° Dial, Huber Method (of which see more later) and a Horary Chart. My congratulations to all who made the attempt, and particularly those who sent in a written reply. The act of writing out your response induces deeper and more precise thinking. The value of these exercises in increasing astrological skill becomes apparent to those who regularly attempt them. Shirley Gray (USA) writes, "Regardless of any bestsellers to the contrary, the Astrologers' Forum Tests are The Only Way to Learn Astrology!"

NEW TEST NO.46

Here's another one to develop your expertise. It concerns a woman born on 26 November 1941 at 2:48 am British Summer Time in Luton, England (51N53, 0W25, Asc 0Li50, MC 1Cn05, Moon 7Pi19). She was married, had three children, and was retired.

What occurred in her life on 1st November 1999 in Goolwa, South Australia? (35S31, 138E47).

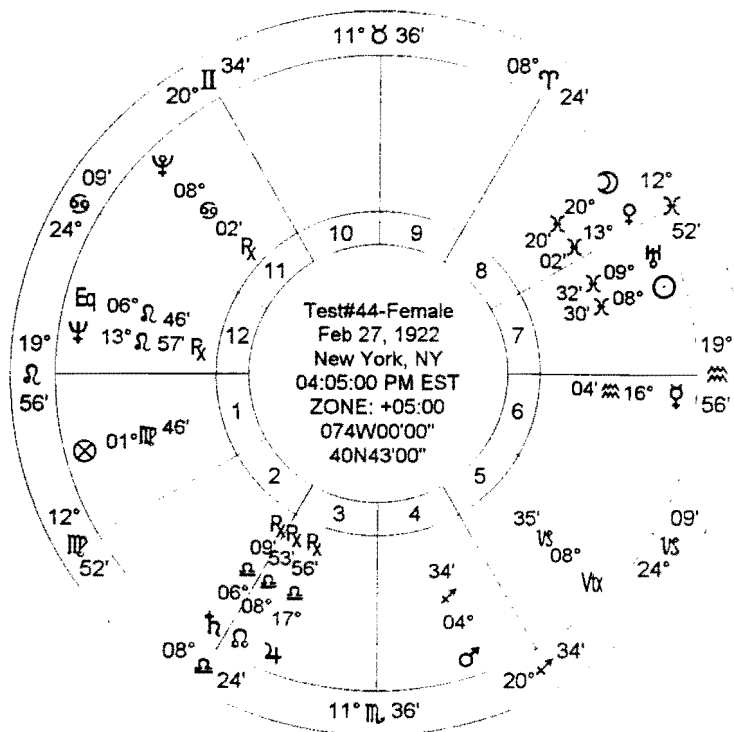

Please let me have your answers by 28th September, giving the astrological basis for your decision. Any method may be used. □

THE TIMING OF EVENTS

This is a flow-on from readers' answers to Test 44 in establishing the date (15 July 1956) when poliomyelitis afflicted the woman born on 27th February 1922. Her Birth Chart appears in the next column.

Fritz Hilmar (Durban, Sth Africa) using the Huber method writes that on the 15th of July 1956, the Age-Point was at 12°33' Aquarius. On the 90° Dial and with a 2° orb the Age Point collects the energies of the following planets. The interpretations are from Ebertin's Combination of Stellar Influences:

AP = Nept/MC (numbness of limbs); Moon/Saturn

(sadness, illness, suffering of a woman, danger for life) Jupiter/Uranus (luck); Sun/Jupiter (preservation).

Fritz comments that the saving factors might have been the midpoints Sun/Uranus/Jupiter, and Mars/Jupiter.

Editor's Note: Bruno and Louise Huber of Zurich, Switzerland, established the "Life Clock" and the "Age Point" by taking the distance between successive Cusps of a chart as equalling six years of age whatever the number of degrees between them. In 72 years the Age Point comes back to the Ascendant, and the count starts again from age 72.

Our subject, born on 27 Feb 1922, was aged 34y 4m 18d on 15 July 1956. At the rate of 6 years per House, the Age Point would be on the 6th Cusp at age 30 (having traversed five Houses).

For the remaining 4y 4m 18d a proportion has to be taken of the Zodiacal degrees between the 6th and 7th Cusps. This will vary according to the House System used. The Hubers declared that their Life Clock worked only with the Koch system, and in this case the number of degrees to be added to 24Cp09 (the 6th Koch Cusp) is 4y 4m 18d / 6y x 27°16', (27°16' being the Zodiacal degrees between 19Aq56 and 22Cp40 on the 7th and 6th Cusps).

Worked out with a calculator this proportion is 19°55' which added to the position of the 6th Cusp, 22Cp40, gives an Age Point of 12Aq35. By a slightly different and possibly more accurate computation Fritz arrives at 12Aq33.

Fritz applies this Age Point to the 90° Dial where Radix conjunctions, oppositions and squares are shown as conjunctions, while Radix semisquares or sesquares (sequisquares) are shown on the Dial as oppositions.

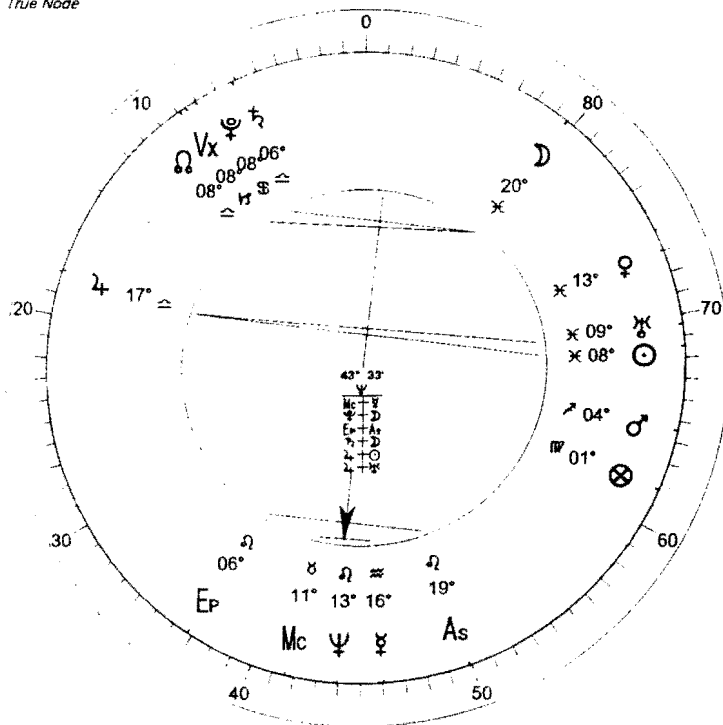

Further, Fritz then puts the Dial arrow 1° to the left (41°33') and again 1° to the right (43°33'). In the first position the Age Point aspects the MC, Mars/Jupiter (muscle activity), Venus/Pluto, and Venus/Nodes.

In the latter position the Age Point aspects Mercury/MC (motor nerve centre); Moon/Saturn, Moon/Pluto, and Neptune (with a slightly enlarged orb).

In my view this latter position of 43°33' gives the vital contacts, and it is the one I have selected for the 90° Dial below.

TEST 44—Female. 90° Dial; with Age Point at 13°33' Aquar.

True Node

Notwithstanding the Huber dictum that their Life Clock works only with Koch Cusps, I find that by using Regiomontanus Cusps the Age Point is 13Aq37, almost identical with the one above. With an Aspect orb of 3° the Age Point gathers the energies of Neptune, MC/Mercury, Moon/Pluto, Moon/Saturn, Sun/Jupiter, Sun/Uranus and Asc/EP (all the vital ones).

Fritz comments, "The correct position of the Age Point depends a lot on a correct birth time, which we unfortunately do not always get. Thus I think that the Age Point could actually be a nice tool for rectification."

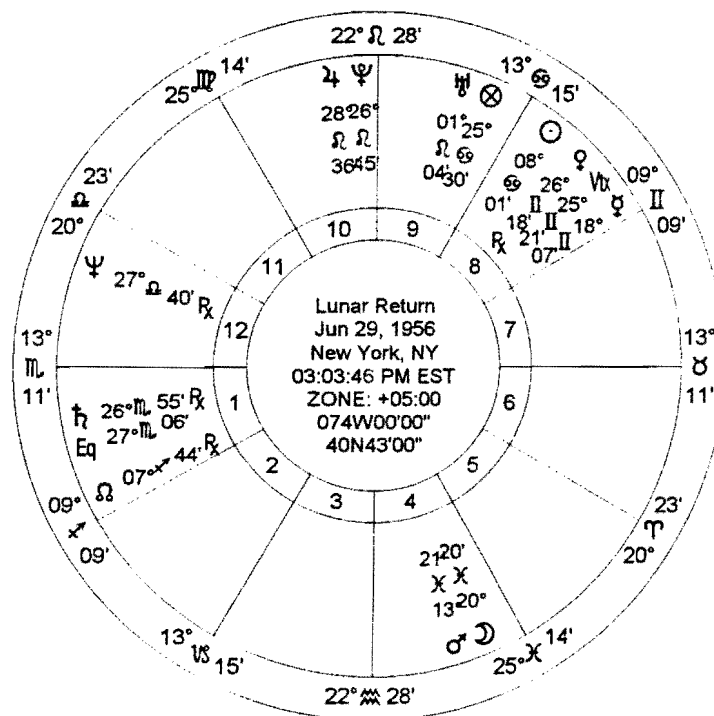

The problem still remains, however, to narrow down the field of dramatic effects and identify the poliomyelitis that actually afflicted the victim. At present the best way appears to be by gathering a consensus from Aspects and House involvement in a variety of charts (annual, monthly, weekly), by Aspects to midpoints and close Transits.

Shirley Gray (Michigan, New York) writes, "Timing is well shown, in my view, on the 90° wheel by Directions and Transits, and by the Lunar Returns". The Lunar Return covering the date 15 July 1956 is below.

Pluto on the upper Meridian, closely aspecting Saturn, Neptune and Jupiter, plus Mars (Ruler of 1st and 6th Houses) conjunct the Moon is certainly sufficient for the astrologer to apprehend the catastrophe in this month.

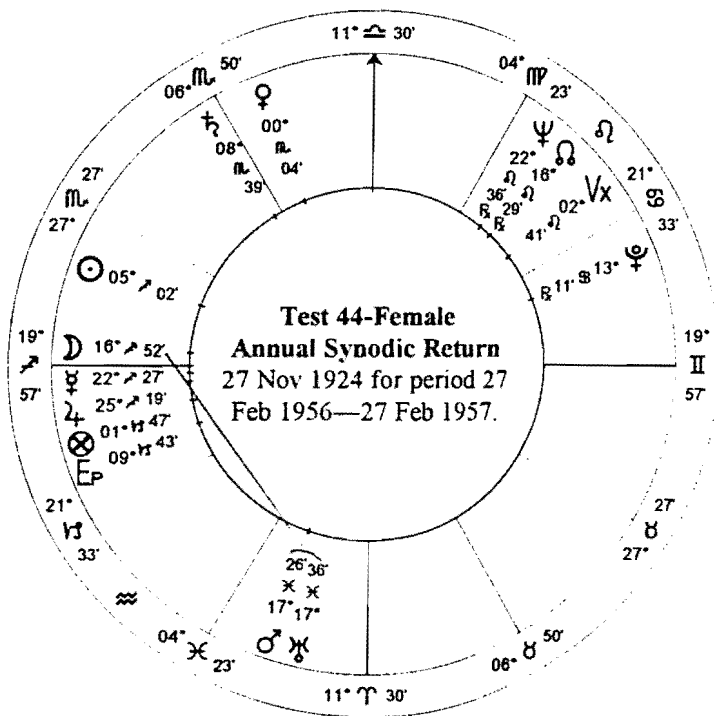

Ross Harvey (New South Wales, Australia) writes, "In July '56 both Saturn and Neptune were Stationary although their positions didn't contact the Chart. However, their midpoint was 11Sc55, very closely opposite the n.MC."

Ken Gillman (New York) cites the Zodiacal Primary Direction of Saturn sextile Pluto on July 20, 1956, the Ascendant confirms the danger to health. Ken writes which is close (within five days) to the date of the that progressing the Moon of this Synodic Return poliomyelitis affliction. More results like this would certainly incline one to look into the "Placidus" Primary Directions of Roman Kolev that Ken uses (described on page 4 of the last Issue).

As a further timing device Ken refers to the Annual Synodic Return Chart (Moon/Sun Phase Return) of 27 Nov 1924 which relates to the period 27 Feb 1956—27 Feb 1957. It is reproduced below. Mars and Uranus in conjunction in the 3rd House square the Moon and Ascendant. The Sun is conjunct n.Mars. The Moon on the Ascendant confirms the danger to health. Ken writes which is close (within five days) to the date of the that progressing the Moon of this Synodic Return according to the method recommended by Placidus (32.5° a month) to mid-July brings the Moon into the 6th House and opposing the Sun..

Summing up, my conclusion is that we are getting closer to the precise timing of events. The widespread use of computer programs is speeding up the process. □

FURTHER COMMENTS ON PUTIN

by Allan Johnson

This is just a brief follow-up on my article in the August Issue. The latest issue of the Astrological Journal from England now gives a version of his time of birth that is not a great deal different from the one given by Dymock [last Issue] with Scorpio rising and Venus in the 1st House. I don't think the new Chart presents Putin as very much of a power-seeking figure. I think he could be more of a circumspect personality. The multiple Square pattern in Cardinal Signs is the most significant factor in his Chart and this does not link up with the Angles at all. Using traditional methods of prediction and looking ahead over the next five years of his term we find that none of the outer planets, and notably Pluto and Uranus which are normally involved in dramatic events, will be lining up with this pattern. So it does not look as if his term of Office will be very eventful and that Russia will be involved in any world shaking events. Seeing him on television does give the impression of a rather cautious type. □

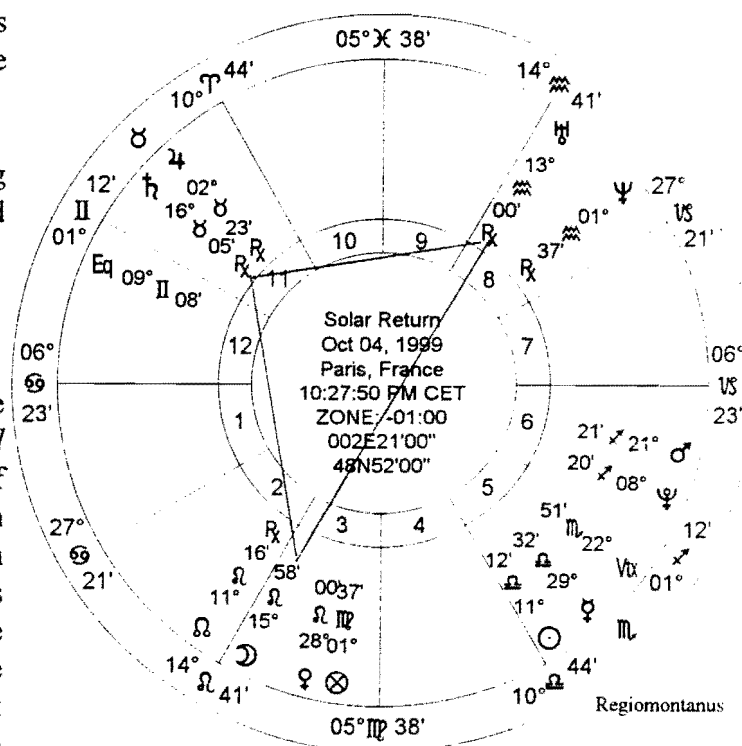

CONCORD CRASH—COULD IT HAVE BEEN FORESEEN?

The crash of the French Air Concord on 25th July last was a tragic and momentous event that shook the world. The Chart for the time of the crash has been printed and analysed by astrologers everywhere. This type of research has some value in that it teaches what are the astrological significators of such a calamity and it may discover the cause of the crash and predict its outcome. Of much greater value, however, is being able to foresee the disaster and possibly forestall it.

Is this possible? Where do we look? It occurs to me that though major air crashes are a continuing feature of our modern technological civilisation, such a crash as that of the Concorde, the pride of the French Nation, should surely show up in the National Horoscope of France even though it registers as an occurrence of minor magnitude in the scale of historical events.

The Chart for the 5th Republic of France is given on page 134 of Campion's The Book of World Horoscopes

George Bush (See last Issue): TZ of birth is EDT not EST-- 6 July 1946, New Haven, CT, USA, 7:26 am EDT.

(5 Oct 1958, 0.00 am Paris, 48N52, 2E21). Space is lacking to display the Radix, but here is the Solar Return Chart:

An aircraft disaster is plainly heralded: The Moon, Ruler of the Chart, is on the 3rd Cusp opposing Uranus on the 9th and forming a T-Square with Saturn ruling the 8th. Both the 3rd and 9th Houses are associated with travel, Uranus with aircraft, the Moon with the people, Saturn and the 8th House with deaths. By relating this solar Return to the Radix even more portents of disaster appear (Moon conjunct Uranus, Mars conjunct Saturn, Pluto conjunct the Vertex, Jupiter opposite Neptune). This is all a clear warning visible to any astrologer who monitors the welfare of the French nation.

The 41st Age Harmonic is similarly rich in adverse portents: Mars (Ruler) just under the Ascendant opposed by n.Jupiter, Saturn on the 8th Cusp square Uranus, Neptune square the Rising Degree, Pluto square the n.Vertex, Moon conj. Asc squ. Neptune and n.Asc.

The timing was precise also: the Moon progressed by the Tertiary BIIA rate conjoined \hbar/Ψ on the day of the crash, 25th July, and $4/\hbar$ the day after. Both these configurations, and particularly the first, are associated in mundane charts with misfortune, loss and suffering.

Is it too much to expect that one day a national astrologer will be installed in the government to help guide the nation's fortunes and give warning of dangerous periods when operations of different sorts should be delayed, curtailed or avoided?

My kind regards to all, — Dymock, 7 Sep 2000.

For an artistic treat turn to Marguerite Brose's Web Site, <http://www.ozemail.com.au/~dymock/> where for a reasonable price you can purchase an original pastel, water-colour or acrylic painting.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Phone: 08 8336 1956

Issue 229 August 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

VLADIMIR PUTIN

by Allan Johnson

I found Dymock's articles on Russia's new President very interesting but I find myself not entirely convinced that he has produced the true Chart. There are several reasons for this. One is that the latest issue of the Journal of the Astrological Association from England gives Putin's birth data but also says "time unknown" despite the ease of contact between British and Russian astrologers at this time. Under communism astrology was banned in the Soviet Union but since the Great Collapse there have been astrological conferences in Moscow, so British astrologers should have access to Putin's time of birth if it is known.

Apart from that there is the question of his Leo Ascendant. In Yeltsin's case we get the unmistakable imprint of the full square-shaped face of Leo. But we don't get that in the case of Putin. If we compare the two faces in the photographs we don't get any real similarity. Before this question arose I was inclined to give Putin a Gemini Ascendant. Of course, in this Chart we do have Pluto on the Ascendant but I don't see that this is appropriate either. Pluto is linked with Scorpio which gives very sharp features. Certainly Pluto rising in Leo would be strongly indicative of a power-seeker but does Putin's career so far give all that much indication that he is really that type of person? He has been a KGB leader but people engaged in the secret services are usually not the types inclined to hug the limelight. He became Prime Minister mainly because he was a friend of Yeltsin who at that time was looking for someone to fill the role. So he seems to have been catapulted to the Presidency more by default than any active power-seeking on his own part. There was just no competition. And this was just why Yeltsin survived so long despite his great love affair with the vodka. It is hard to see even Yeltsin being all that much of a power-seeker. Putin really inherited the war in Chechnya so did not have much option about continuing it and getting a victory as soon as possible. It became a sort of prestige issue for the Russian population as a whole. They felt they had had enough loss of territory already. So he was

In This Issue...

	Page
Vladimir Putin	1
New Chart for Putin	2
Test 44—Readers' Solutions	3
USA Presidential Elections	4
Test 45	4

expected to take a tough line and he did.

This brings me to my main argument for not seeing Putin as a typical power-seeker. I think we have to put the whole question of Russian leadership into the context of recent Russian history. In this connection I have recently been reading The Rise and Fall of the Soviet Empire by Dmitri Volkogonov, a Russian historian who has lived at the centre of things all through the recent years and has had full access to all the archives. He is no apologist for communism and gives a very revealing portrait of all the Russian leaders from Lenin to Gorbachev. I was very intrigued about how Gorbachev came to power. He has Sun in Pisces and in opposition to Neptune in his Chart. This is not the signifier for a power-seeker. And subsequently he never showed up in that light. The only reason I could see for his election was that he was being used by some of the factions for their own ends as a catpaw. But I could not have been more wrong. Gorbachev was simply "next in line" and there was no power struggle at all. The factions simply didn't exist. The only people close to the top of a totalitarian system have to be yes-men. Volkogonov gives a very revealing account of how the previous President, Constantin Chernenko, had been elected in 1984. The leading figures at the Centre in Moscow, charged with the duty of electing a new President, had simply got together in a room and Chernenko's name had been brought forward as a "next in line". What followed was that every person in that room simply stood up in turn and heaped praises on Chernenko—and that was it. No discussion, no power-seeking or point-scoring or support for other candidates. It was entirely irrelevant that Chernenko was in an advanced state of decline in health and almost blind. He only lived for another 13 months. All this is a bit mind-boggling for us in the West when we consider they were appointing a Chief Executive for a super power.

I think, in dealing with the charts of Russian leaders, we can't just judge the chart in itself. We have to set it in its background of recent Russian history, and that the Russian people are now living in the aftermath of one of the most repressive dictatorships in history. So we could be getting big reaction from all that. This means that power-seekers could be right out of fashion in Russian in recent years.

If we take a new look at the election of Chernenko in 1984 we might see a lot of "method in his madness". It really was a vote against power-seeking as such, and the glory and empire building that goes with it. They were saying NO to all that. The same would have applied to the election of Gorbachev. He never came over as a power-seeker. In fact he was only interested in diminishing Soviet power. He was just "next in line". Likewise Yeltsin never created any sense of being a man with a mission. He has been described as a "lame duck" leader by many critics, mainly using his office to further the financial interest of his family, and he became much more of an alcoholic in the later part of his term.

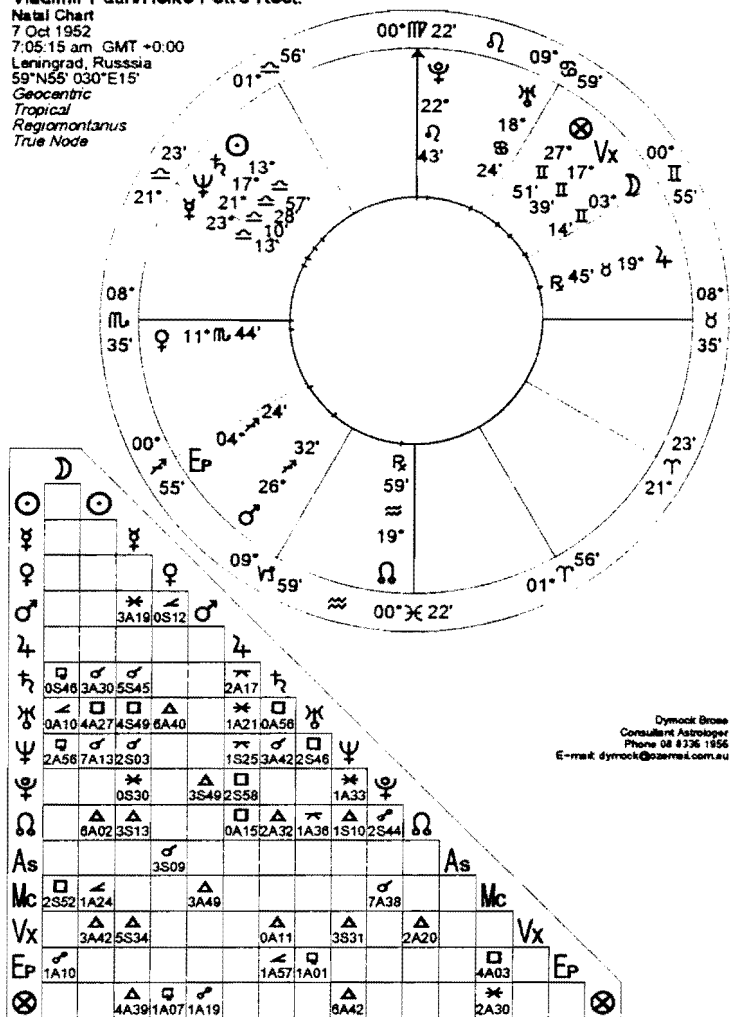

So now we come to Putin. I think he was elected precisely because he was not a power-seeker. Such people are still very much out of date in Russia. If we look at his Chart from this background we have the heavy concentration of planets in Libra, which can never be called an ambitious or power-seeking Sign. Librans like to put on a good front—but they never seek to dominate others. I don't think Air Signs ever do. The multi-square to Uranus does explain how he came to the top from nowhere. And he may still put on a few surprises, but he seems to be more of a bureaucrat rather than the "Great Leader". I think he will be more interested in seeing more goods in shops than in power and glory. It will be interesting to see if any further information comes in about his birth time. □

FURTHER INFORMATION ON PUTIN

As it happens, further information is available from a good source—the German astrologer Heike Pott who has just written an article in the latest Hamburger Hefte magazine that does the correction for Putin's time, according to her method, with full examples and reasons. Heike arrived at a time of 7:05:15 GMT. The Chart appears in the next column.

It will be generally agreed, I think, that Scorpio rising with Venus just three degrees below the Ascendant is a better representation of the man so far as we know him than Pluto rising in Leo as in last month's Chart. The Vladimir Putin/Heike Pott's Rect.

Natal Chart
7 Oct 1952
7:05:15 am GMT +0:00
Leningrad, Russia
59°N55' 030"E15'
Geocentric
Tropical
Regiomontanus
True Node

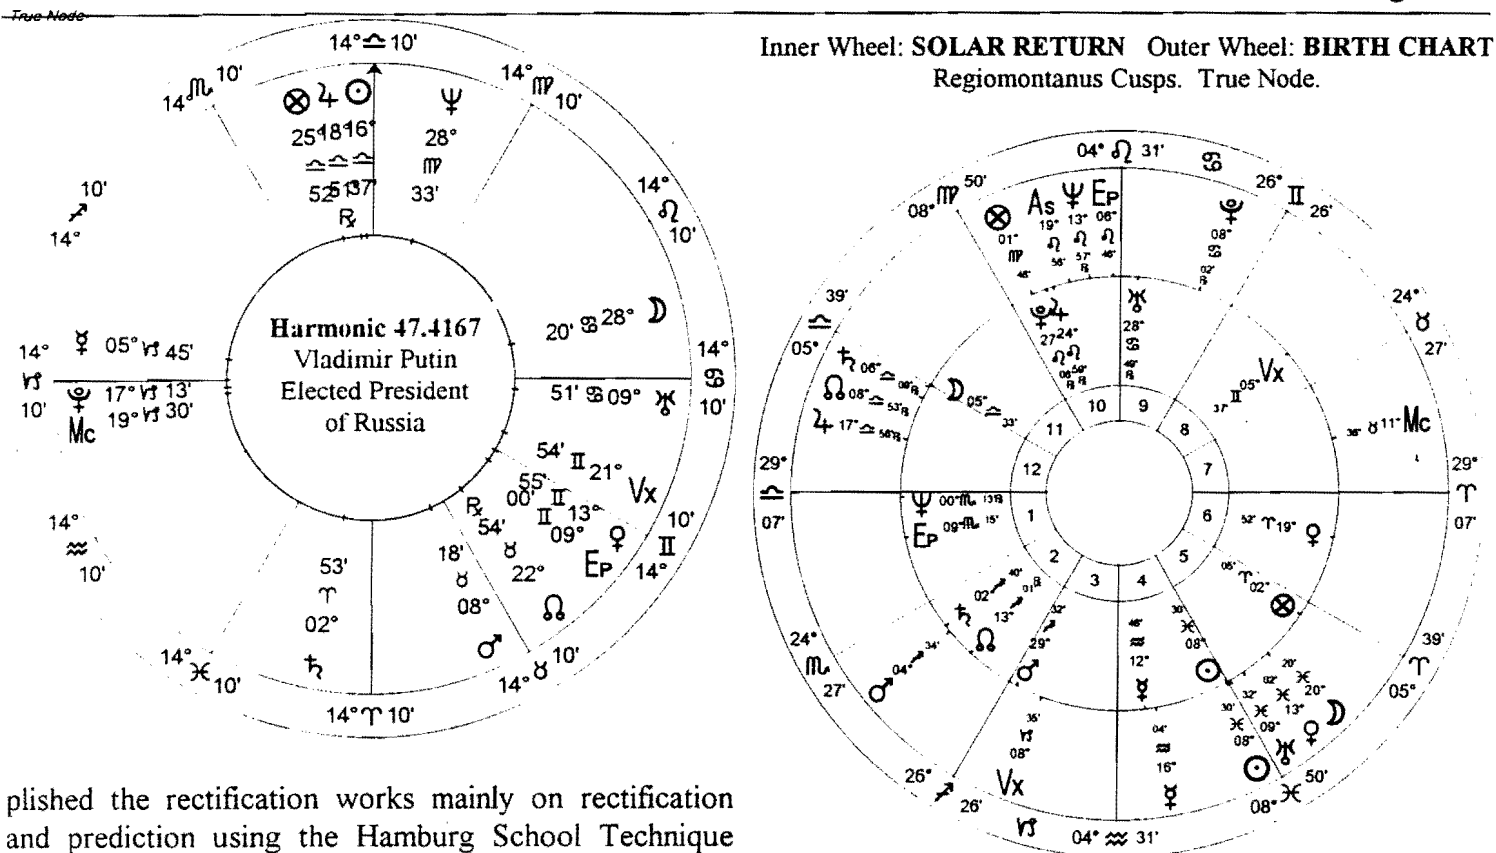

Dymock Brown
Consultant Astrologer
Phone 08 4326 1956
E-mail: dymock@zeemil.com.au

Scorpio/Pluto influence is present in both Figures but this one has the added influence of Venus which accords well with Putin's apparent capacity to socialize easily with heads of state and other VIP's—reserved and secretive yet able to mix smoothly when the need arises. Scorpio also accords with his ruthlessness in the conduct of the war against Chechnya (and the killing is still going on). Most of the planets are close to the positions given in the earlier Chart, and their aspects still apply. The notable exception is the Moon which has moved to Gemini instead of Taurus. Intellectual acumen is now to the fore.

A cogent argument for this Radix is the Monthly Harmonic Chart (47.4167 x natal positions) for Putin's election to President of Russia in March last. This Figure shows Pluto (17Cp13) on the Ascendant (14Cp10) and conj. the "floating" MC (19Cp30) which is very closely trined by n.Jupiter (19Ta45). The Sun (16Li37) conjoins Jupiter (18Li51) and the h.MC (14Li10) which is very fortunate indeed and symptomatic of a great boost to the career. Additionally, n.Sun (13Li57) and n.Saturn (17Li28) straddle the h.MC. It would be hard to find a more striking astrological demonstration of a great rise in life and the accession of political power.

The German astrologer, Dr. Heike Pott, who accomplished the rectification works mainly on rectification and prediction using the Hamburg School Technique (Uranian Astrology). □

TEST 44: READERS' SOLUTIONS

[Radix for this Test on p.3 of last Issue]

A number of readers wrote in about this Exercise, which was to determine the astrological factors and timing to account for the poliomyelitis that afflicted the subject on 15 July 1956, and from which she subsequently recovered. Excerpts from their accounts appear below. Repeated items and those not strictly pertinent are excised to save space. Not all contributions can be included in this Issue. They will be presented in the next, together with contributions relating to the timing of the illness.

The dominant factor for paralysis, emphasized in most reports, is Neptune, particularly when associated with Pluto.

From Shirley Gray (Michigan, USA):

[In a comprehensive analysis Shirley points out how the Birth Chart set the scene for the subject's polio, then passes to the actual event.]

Solar Return February 27, 1956.

The natal Mars/Asc. midpoint (12Li15), which is the Uranian "illness axis", by S.A. (34°13') has reached 16Sc28 where it squares n.Mercury at 16Aq04, a picture of conflict and mental turmoil.

That the year in question will be one of emotional turmoil which sets the scene for physical breakdown is clearly shown by the Solar Return. But with all the dire portents in this Chart, she has a protector—so she will walk again. Venus in the 6th (Health) is in almost perfect trine, lacking but 5' of arc, to her natal Ascendant.

n.Jupiter, another protector, is separating from the opposition to SR-Venus. Jupiter tenants her natal 3rd House, Libra, (physical mobility) and Jupiter's Sign Sagittarius is on the Cusp of the SR 3rd House.

Mars, Ruler of the 6th (Health) is in the 3rd, in close quincunx to Uranus culminating, a symbol of sudden injury to the body, or surgery. On the 2/8 axis, we find n.Mars conjunct Saturn, both opposing the SR Vertex in 8th. She is in physical danger.

Uranus at the M.C. in close square to the Ascendant foretells a sudden turn of destiny which will change her status and perhaps her occupation.

SR-Neptune, 0Sc13, is rising sextile to the midpoint of n.Asc/Mc at 0Cn46, a contact of emotional suffering and disappointment. At the physical level it is associated with paralysis.

Contacts of a planet or point by Solar-Arc Direction with the Aries Point [0°Aries] in the horoscope invariably mark a year of dramatic changes in the life and circumstances. For our subject in 1956, the solar arc of 34°13' [at 15 July 1956] has advanced the Aries Point to 4Ta13, where it squares the SR Midheaven. By solar arc, n.Asc/MC (0Cn46) has arrived at 4Le59 where it conjuncts the SR MC. Directions to this point have similar life-changing meaning.

From Ken Gillman (New York):

I use Placidian Primary Directions (time arc = birthday Solar Arc in R.A.) together with the Synodic

Lunation where each lunation represents a year. By Primary Zodiacal Direction Saturn opposes the natal Sun, exact May 21, 1956, and Pluto squares the natal Sun, exact May 22, 1956. Saturn by converse mundo Direction conjuncts the IC, exact on August 31, 1956. An attack on the native's health is indicated as the Sun is Ascendant Ruler and Saturn rules the 6th House.

The Synodic Return of 27Nov1924 has Mars (17Pi26) conjunct Uranus (17Pi36) squaring the Asc (19Sg57) and Moon (16Sg52) from the 3rd House, while the Sun is conjunct n.Mars. The Moon on the Asc confirms the danger to health. Progressing the Moon of this Synodic Return according to the method recommended by Placidus (32.5° per month) to mid-July brings the Moon into the 6th to oppose the Sun.

[Ken uses the Roman Koley's "Placidus" Software for Primary Directions. The time key he uses is the Brahe-Kepler key, which is the travel of the Sun in R.A. for the day of birth, the day being defined as the interval between consecutive Suns coming to the IC—the interval between the Sun at the IC at 00.00 hours on February 27 and at the IC at 24.00 hours.]

From Ross Harvey (NSW):

Solar Return: Ascendant conj. Neptune and square Uranus; Saturn conj. n.Mars ruling the House of Health.

Prenatal SR:

Asc conj. Neptune and Pluto, Venus at the MC, ruling the 6th, square Mars on Cusp 6 (Koch) trine Pluto on the Ascendant, suggesting the favourable outcome. The afflicted Ascendants in both SR Charts presage a very unfavourable year, but only the prenatal one suggests that health is the problem.

Harmonic 34 has Neptune in the 6th square Venus ruling the 12th (orb 1°9'), Moon conj. Mars ruling the 6th; Mars square Mercury (1°orb) ruling the Ascendant; Mars 5Ta2 opposing n.Mars/Saturn 5Sc21. □

Further commentary next month with particular attention to the timing; ALSO, a review of how we might avoid such calamities as the crash of the Air-France Concorde. □

USA PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

7 NOV 2000

The two protagonists are George Bush (6 July 1946, 7:26am EDT, New Haven, CT, USA) and Al Gore (31 March 1948, 12:53pm EST, Washington DC).

Bush will win. His cyclic charts are much better than those of Gore. For instance, Bush's Solar Return has Jupiter conj. Saturn in the House of Career, and the Part of Fortune conj. n.Jupiter and the Moon. Sun, the Ruler, conjoins Mars and Mercury in the 11th House (fulfilment of ambitions) His converse Solar Return has Jupiter at the Midheaven (achievement), n.Mars (ruling the SR MC) trine n.MC in the SR 10th (gain of position); the Moon ruling the Asc conj. n.POF (luck).

Gore's SR is unfavourable—Neptune rising opposing the n.Ascendant (loss). The converse SR is even worse: Gore's unfortunate n.Sun opposite Neptune is brought into prominence by being on the 5th/11th axis (Regiomontanus), Uranus rising opposes Natal Venus, and Mercury ruling the MC is closely square n.Uranus.

On the very day of the Election, Bush has the fortunate Asc-Arc Direction of the Sun conj. the natal Midpoint, Venus/Mars, and the next day Pluto sextile Sun/Pluto. Gore has the woeful Tertiary Progression of Sun Opp. Saturn/Neptune (loss). □

TEST 45—Female

This concerns a woman born on 26 May 1941 at Nelson, England (53N51, 2W13), 4:41pm EET (2:41pm GMT). Asc 8Li04, MC 10Cn51, Moon 9Ge16. What occurred in her life on 16 Apr 1987, while she was living in Sunnyvale, California (37N23, 122W02). She was a working woman, married, without children.

Give the basis for your answer, using any astrological method, and please let me have it by August 28. Send by ordinary mail or e-mail—both addresses on page 1. Results will appear in the September Issue, mention being made of those who answered correctly or got near the mark. There are no prizes except the increased expertise you gain for yourself by your application to the problem.

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 3 Aug 2000.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Tel: 08 8336 1956

Issue 228 July 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

TEST 43—SOLUTION

Here is the question again: What occurred on January 25 and January 29, 2000 in the life of a woman born on April 16, 1940 at 7:45 am EST; Michigan, Detroit (42N20, 83W03)?

ANSWER: There were two deaths. On January 25 the woman's sister was killed when she walked in front of a train. On January 29 her best friend died after a long illness.

This was a hard one to solve. Both events are portrayed by the Age Harmonic for the woman's age (59) placed around the Birth Chart as in the adjoining column.

The Moon's Node closely opposing Uranus near the 2nd-8th axis suggests shock (Uranus) through deaths (plural, which is the nature of the Node).

The h.Moon is closely conjunct n.Saturn. The Moon rules the House of Siblings, and as both the Moon and Cancer are Feminine, and the Moon is in a Feminine Sign (Taurus) this signifies a sister rather than a brother. Saturn rules the House of Death, and the Moon and Saturn occupy the House of Grieving. So there is the death of the sister portrayed.

Harmonic Jupiter on the Death Cusp is closely trine Mars and is conjunct Pluto. Actually Jupiter at 4Cp24 is precisely at the Midpoint (4Cp25) of Cusp 8 and Pluto so the inference of death is strong. Jupiter rules the House of Partners and the House of Friends. As the woman is no longer married (stated at the outset) the death must be that of a friend.

A hint on procedure: A Harmonic Chart is much richer in Aspects than a standard chart. The Jupiter's Trine to Mars has only 19' of orb, and is less complexity is further increased by associating it with a than 2° from Cusp 8. The immediate clue is nearly Radix. Among the multitude of links you can find your always the closeness of the Aspect. When comparing way more quickly if you look first for the very close the two Charts, change their relative positions (inner to Aspects, particularly conjunctions. Here, the Moon and outer) to get differen views. □

Saturn are only 10' of arc apart. The Opposition of the Shirley Gray (Michigan, USA), who supplied the data Moon's N.Node and Uranus has an orb of only 9'. for this Test, analyses the Solar Return (Koch Cusps):

In This Issue...

	Page
Test 43—the Solution.....	1
Test 44—One with a Difference	2
JonBenet Ramsey — Another Horary
Diagnosis	2
Sex-Change	3

TEST 43 – Female: 16Apr1940 7:45amEST 42N20 83w03
Inner Wheel. BIRTH CHART. Outer Wheel. AGE HARMONIC 59
Regiomontus Cusps from Inner Wheel. True Node

The Ascendant at 5 Virgo is tightly square Venus and also the natal Ascending Degree. Angle to Angle always signals a memorable year.

Mars ruling the 8th is in the 3rd House (siblings) and at the natal midpoint Pluto/MC (5Sc26), a midpoint of crisis, a turn in destiny, here involving a sibling. It is a violent combination in keeping with the nature of the sister's death. Mars is also opposite the Moon and Saturn, respectively ruling the natal 3rd and 8th Houses,

It is also noteworthy that transiting Venus on the day of the sister's death crossed the natal Death Cusp. At the friend's death four days later Mars transited over her Cusp of Friends. □

TEST 44—One with a Difference

This is an exercise of a different nature that will give you an opportunity to discover the most appropriate technique to account for the nature and date of a given occurrence.

In the next column is the Natus of a woman born in New York NY on 27th February 1922.

On July 15, 1956, aged 34, and living in Hartsdale, NY, USA, (41N01, 73W48) she was diagnosed with polio and hospitalized. She made an almost complete recovery, being left with only minimal damage to the nerves in one hand, and did not suffer any permanent disability.

What is an appropriate astrological technique for anticipating this event and its timing? Assume that the woman was your client for whom you were giving a yearly Forecast some months before the above event, and of course she has no inkling of what lies ahead of her.

Here is an opportunity to test the effectiveness of various methods of forecasting. All relevant and revealing responses will be published in next month's Issue. By testing and trying we separate the gold from the dross.

Please send your replies to me by 28th July. Address 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073, or by e-mail to dymock@ozemail.com.au □

JONBENET RAMSEY—

Another Horary Diagnosis

By Shirley Gray

and tightly conjoined on the SR 9th Cusp, signifying death of a sibling at distance. The Moon also rules the House of Friends. [Neptune forms a T-Square with Mars, Saturn and the Moon, signifying the death of a friend.]

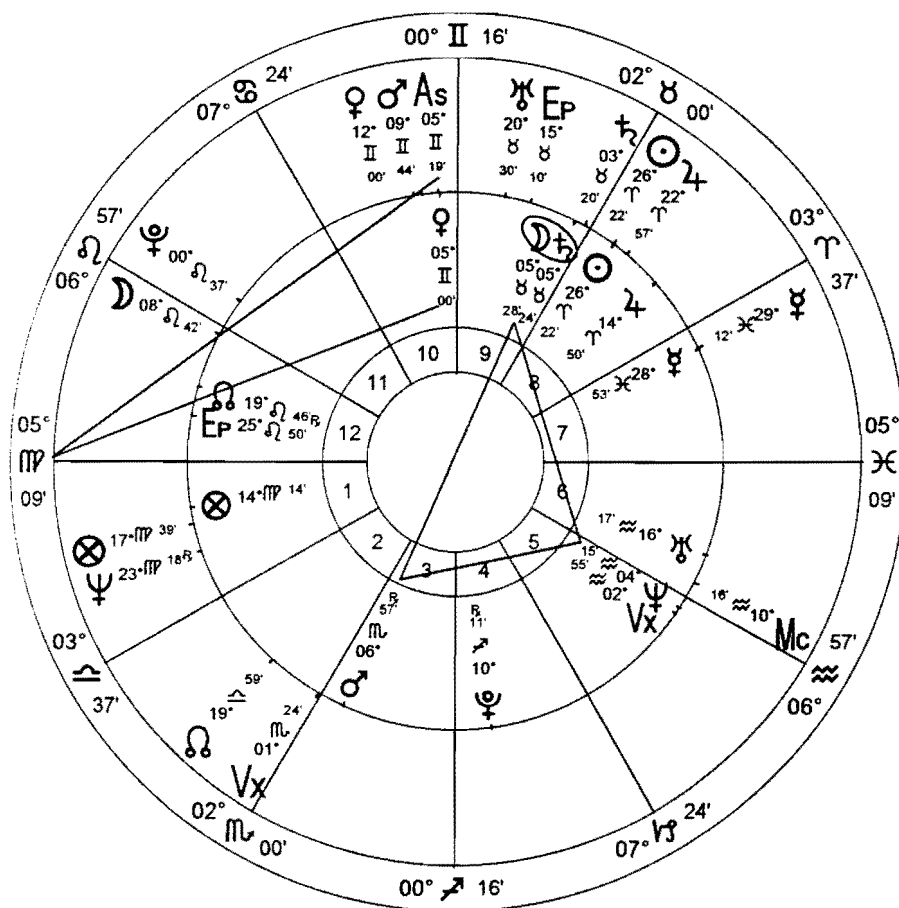

The Solar Demi-Return is a chart I like to look at in cases like this where an event takes place several months after the birthday. This one (not reproduced) cast for October 20 1999 0:21:45am EST, neatly ties everything together. The N.Node (9Le48) rises on the n.Moon ruling the 3rd House, and the pattern of Angle to Angle is repeated. The natal MC is on the Descending degree and SR Uranus showing the rupture of the personal and family bond.

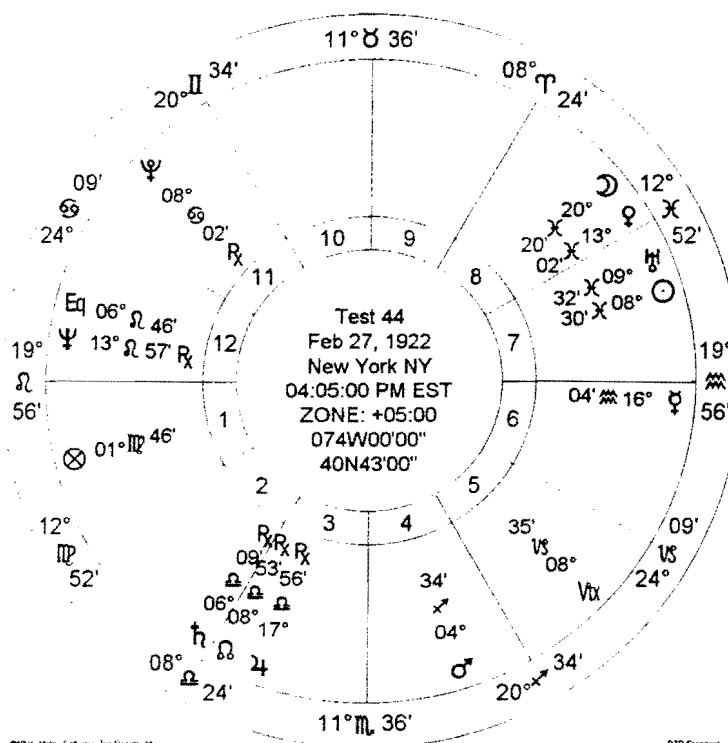

Enjoyed your JonBenet piece [A.F. May, 00]. By a somewhat different route I, too, came up with mother as the culprit in a Horary cast on Feb. 14, 1997 at 9:38 am EST at 42N44, 84W29.

Aries ascending, MC in Capricorn and Moon in Taurus validate me as Querent but because the victim had no relation to me I used the Aries Ascendant and the Moon to represent JonBenet, and Libra on the 7th Cusp the murderer—pointing to a woman.

TEST 43 – Female.

Inner Wheel, SOLAR RETURN Outer Wheel, BIRTH CHART
Koch Cusps. True Node

©1994 Matrix Software, By Robert M.

DTP Standard

©1994 Matrix Software, By Robert M.

DTP Standard

That gives the child to Mars as Ruler of the 1st and 8th Houses, Peregrine, in Detriment and Retrograde, opposing Saturn in the 12th House. The Part of Death, 17Li51, (Mars-Saturn+Asc) is at the 7th Cusp and the Moon is in Taurus with Algol (26Ta10); Pluto in the 8th.

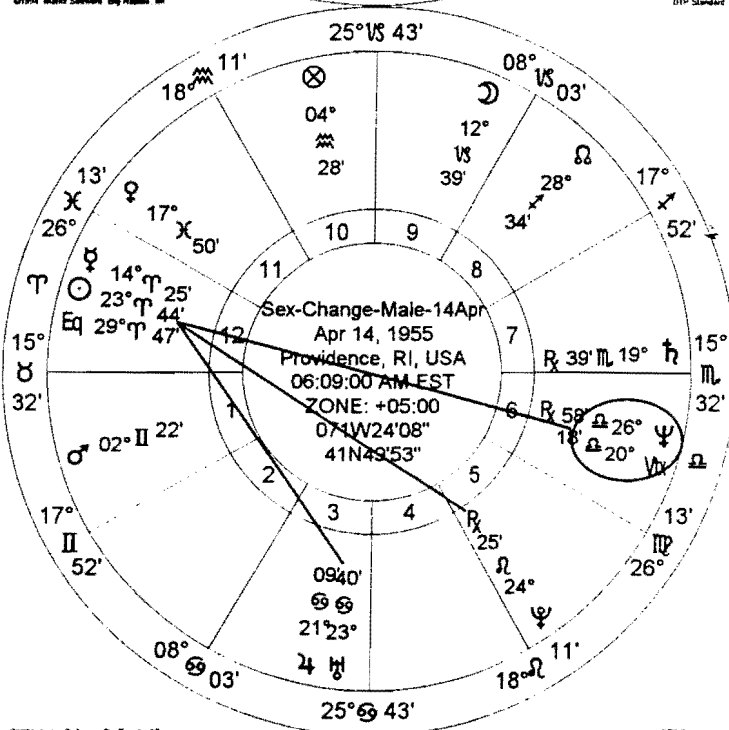

The 10th House (mother) is ruled by Saturn in the 12th with the S.Node, dominating the Chart as Ruler of 6 planets and the MC, and her Opposition to Mars is a deathly threat to the child's well-being.

Alternatively, reading JonBenet as ruled by the 7th House, Libra/Venus, fits better with the beauty Queen/-Little Lolita aspect of her existence. She has the Part of Death (17Li51) on her Libra Ascendant. Her mother, the Moon, (from the Derived 10th House) is in the Derived Death House in Taurus. That would give Mars as the perpetrator (Ruler of the Derived 7th) with its Retrograde situation promising discovery, but not soon (Cadent House).

A telling Chart, read either way—a good one to learn from, and perhaps the Moon's parting trine with Neptune means that we will never know. □

SEX CHANGE

In the adjoining column is the Natus of a male born in Providence, Rhode Island, who at age 41 undertook a sex change. This Chart is by courtesy of Bette Denlinger, Michigan, who has the subject's permission to use the data for public study. He had been married and divorced and had one child. In 1999 he remarried in ©1994 Matrix Software, By Robert M.

DTP Standard

his new role as a woman.

The sex-change operation took place in London, England, on 11th June, 1996, commencing at 5 am.

In this review I have included the Solar Return and Age Harmonic for the date of the surgery. Both these Charts reflect the event. But firstly, what pointers does the Birth Chart give to this fundamental reorientation?

There are, indeed, several powerful indications. We would expect to see involvement of Pluto, Uranus, and possibly Neptune, and there they are, with the one-degree orbs that we look for —

Pluto in the Sun's House trine the Sun (orb 51'); Uranus in the Moon's House trine the Moon (orb 51'); Neptune in the Sun's House trine the Sun (orb 51');

Uranus square the Sun (orb 4');

Neptune conjunct the Vertex; The Midpoint Neptune/Vertex (23Li38) opposite the Sun (orb 6').

All the above have a bearing—Pluto (sexuality), Uranus (radical change), Neptune (dissatisfaction), the Vertex (fated situations). All three planets project onto the Sun, signifying a major crisis: Neptune→Sun (dissatisfaction with personal identity), Uranus→Sun (radical change), Pluto→Sun (surgery and beginning of a new life phase).

Midpoints are also to be found indicative of the subject's invidious position, e.g., Neptune conjunct Pluto/MC with an orb of 29', the MC being very much associated with the psychic state, Pluto with intensity of feeling and Neptune with soul suffering.

What personal crises the man went through prior to his change of gender we can only guess at—the Sun afflicted in the House of Sorrows and Bondage gives some indication, but as he was born a Sun/Aries with Mars rising he had the courage to break out of his bonds. This despite the Moon in Capricorn which signifies the tendency to conform to public opinion and stand well in the eyes of one's fellowman.

The Solar Return Figure below (13Apr1996 4:25:41 am) is set for London where the surgery was performed. The Birth Chart positions occupy the outer circle.

The principal indications here are Pluto (sexuality and surgery) very closely opposite natal Mars (surgery), and Uranus (change) in the 8th House (sexuality) sextile to Pluto (surgery).

Midpoint conjunctions tell the same story:

Sun conjunct Uranus/Asc (orb 0°17') (a major life change)

Mars conjunct Jupiter/Asc (orb 0° 3') (successful surgery).

The 41st Harmonic Chart for the subject's age, 41, is sufficient on its own to depict the situation:

The Moon rising opposite the Sun and forming a Mutable Grand Cross with Uranus and Pluto signifies a climactic life change, more particularly defined by the opposition of Uranus to Pluto near the Meridian. These lasr two planets above all are symptomatic of a change in sexual orientation. Mars in the 12th House (hospitals, etc.) and ruling the 6th (health matters) is opposed by Venus in the 6th and ruling the 12th—a reciprocity of House effects that puts emphasis on surgical procedures (Mars) and supports the change of gender (Mars, male, to Venus, female).

The event was timed by two Dynamic Aspects:

The Moon square Neptune in the Secondary Progressed Chart and the Moon trine Uranus in the Regressed Tertiary Chart. Both Aspects occurred on the day of the operation (June 11, 1996).

I would be pleased to hear from any reader having data of similar events.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock, 4 July 00.

A subscription to Astrologers' Forum will help your friends increase their astrological expertise.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au. Tel: 08 8336 1956

Issue 227 June 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

THE ENIGMA OF CHINA

By Allan Johnson

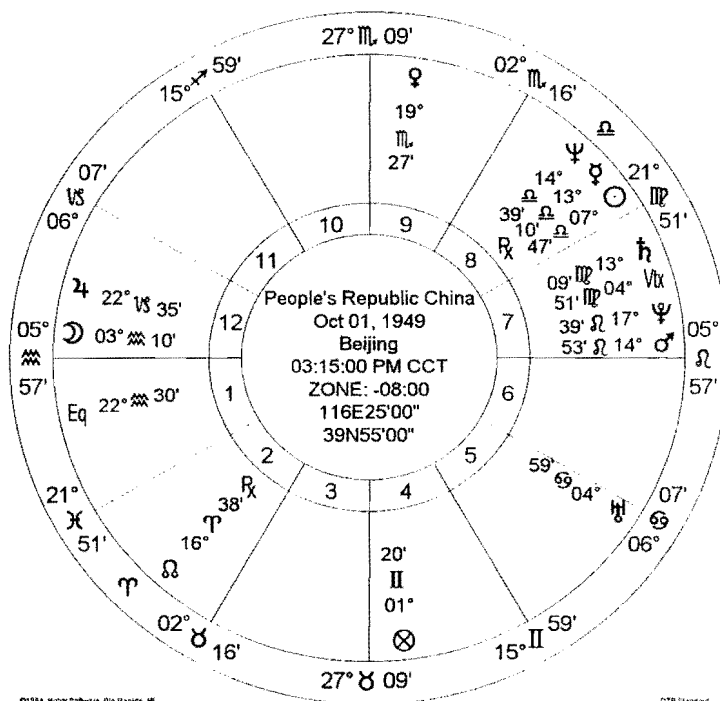

This was the heading of a recent article in the Weekend Australian. What it means is that political journalists are having big difficulties about the future of China as it moves into the 21st Century. China has immense political and economic problems through being one of the few countries to have survived the world-wide collapse of communism. It could play a very big part in the next century due to its enormous size and population. But where is it heading? This is a good question for mundane astrologers and I have looked at it before in this Forum. It is time to have another look. There have been the usual controversies about the time, but not the date, of the foundation of the Communist State. There have been no breaks in the intervening 50 years. Charles Carter in his Introduction to Political Astrology gives 3:15pm for the proclamation on 1st October 1949 at Beijing, and Nicholas Campion in The Book of World Horoscopes mentions that astrologers have found that this Chart gives suitable results. So I will stick to this Chart.

At the moment China does not appear to be ruled by any one powerful dictator as it has in the past, but by a well-established Central Committee, but it is still very much a Marxist State. There has been a lot of economic development along the seaboard due to foreign investment—but that doesn't apply to the vast area in the interior and in the West. So the whole situation is very fragile. But it is usually the case that rule by a Committee is much more cautious than an outright dictator. In looking ahead, of course, there is little value in looking too far ahead, so a decade is a more reasonable proposition. Looking at the Natal Chart itself, with Aquarius rising and four planets in Air, there is indication of flexibility, but the powerful Pluto/Mars conjunction in Leo shows a tremendous stubbornness as well. So this is what we have right now. I would say this is not a Chart for foreign adventurism—so there is more likely to be threats against Taiwan rather than direct action. With most of the planets in the Western half of the Chart China is more likely to respond to outside influences than initiate action.

One very important point in this Chart is the Sun in close square to Uranus—very appropriate for what it

In This Issue...

	Page
The Enigma of China	1
Test No.42—Solution & Analysis	2
New Test, No. 43	3
The Fijian Crisis	4
Whyalla Plane Crash	4

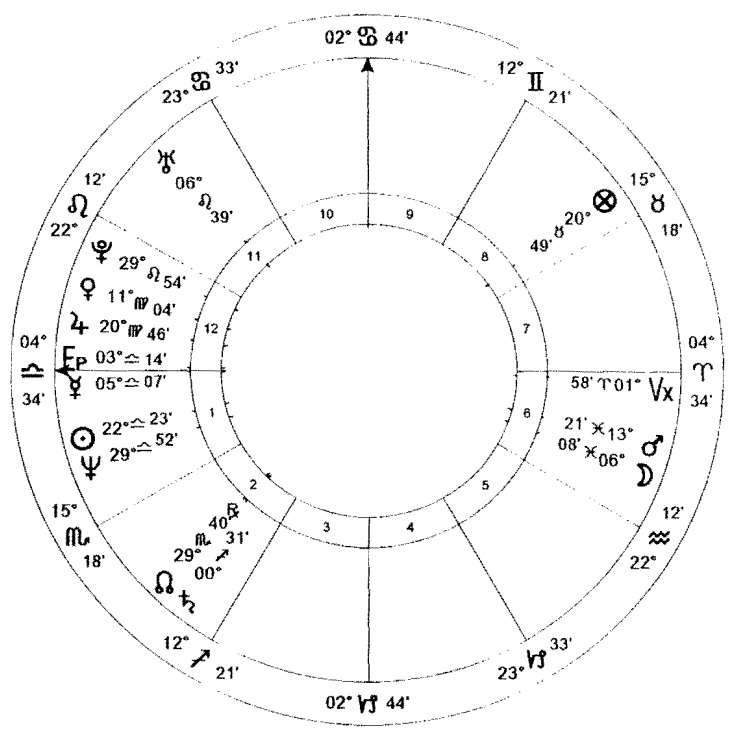

represents. It is the Chart of a revolution. I think one of the most important factors in doing long-range forecasting is to look at the Progressed Sun, and it is highly appropriate that right at the end of the 20th Millenium we found the Progressed Sun right at the end of Scorpio—poised to move into Sagittarius. This could be highly significant. It could presage a more liberal policy for China. Also I think decanates are very important when dealing with the Progressed Sun. So in this case we see the Progressed Sun moving from the Cancer decanate of Scorpio into the Sagittarius decanate of Sagittarius. Sagittarius is a much more relaxed and conciliatory influence than either Cancer or Scorpio.

So all of this falls into line with my previous articles on the New Century Chart where I mentioned that large

REPUBLIC OF CHINA: CHART PROGRESSED TO 30 JUNE 2000
REGIOMONTANUS CUSPS

TEST 42-FEMALE, NATAL CHART: 16 OCT 1956 4:30AM, SYDNEY 33S52 151E13. Regiomontanus, True Node scale military confrontations don't rate very highly. I think this will mean that the world has nothing to fear of a Chinese attack on Taiwan. If we look at the Transits in the early years of the new Century for China's Chart we see Neptune right on the Ascendant and trine the Sun; and Neptune will remain in the 1st House right through the first decade. Neptune is the planet of peace. Also, Uranus moves into Pisces in 2003 and the Mutable Signs are hardly tenanted in this Chart. As well, Pluto in Sagittarius will stir nothing up in the early part of the Century.

What all this adds up to is that China is likely to take a fairly passive role in this period. Of course, what should not be overlooked is that the Progressed Sun in five years from now will make the quincunx to Uranus—endings and new beginnings. I see this as a restructuring of the Communist State itself, something in line with what has been happening in other communist states.

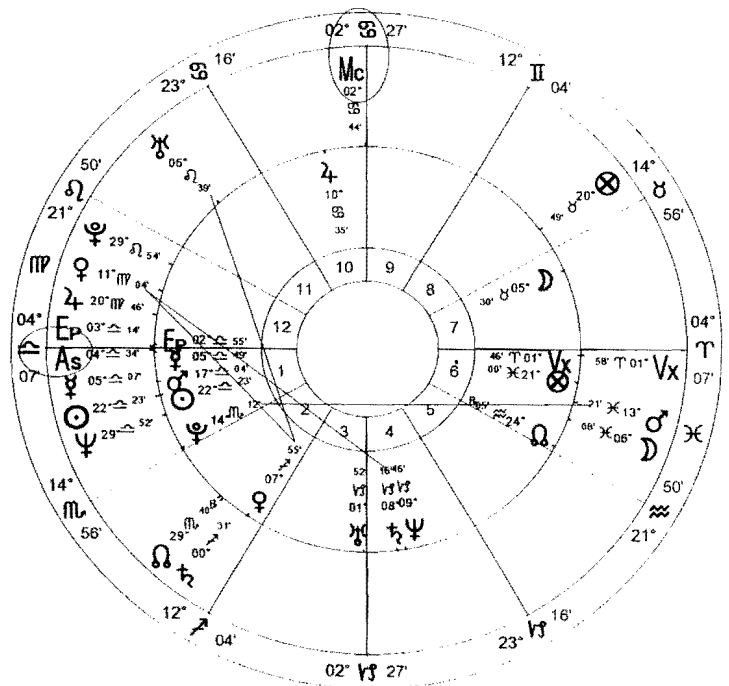

TEST NO. 42—SOLUTION AND ANALYSIS

Test 42 concerned a woman born in Sydney, NSW (33S52, 151E13) on 16 Oct 1956 at 4:30am AEST. She was a Primary School teacher and was single. The question was, What occurred in her life on 12 May 1990? (in Sydney). The Birth Chart appears in the next column.

ANSWER: She was married.

One astrologer got it exactly right—Shirley Gray of Michigan, USA. Anne Fryer (S.A.) said marriage, and an overseas trip, while Miriam Laister (S.A.) suggested a number of possibilities of which marriage was one.

SOLAR RETURN 16 OCT1989
4:28:47am AEST, Sydney

This is what Shirley wrote, together with a few minor additions of my own:

The Solar Return for Oct. 16, 1989, has the Angles returning to their Natal place within minutes, marking a significant year, especially so in this case, since her n. Sun/Mars is at 2Cp52 (conjunct the 4th Cusp), and Uranus here emphasizes the new order of things in her life.

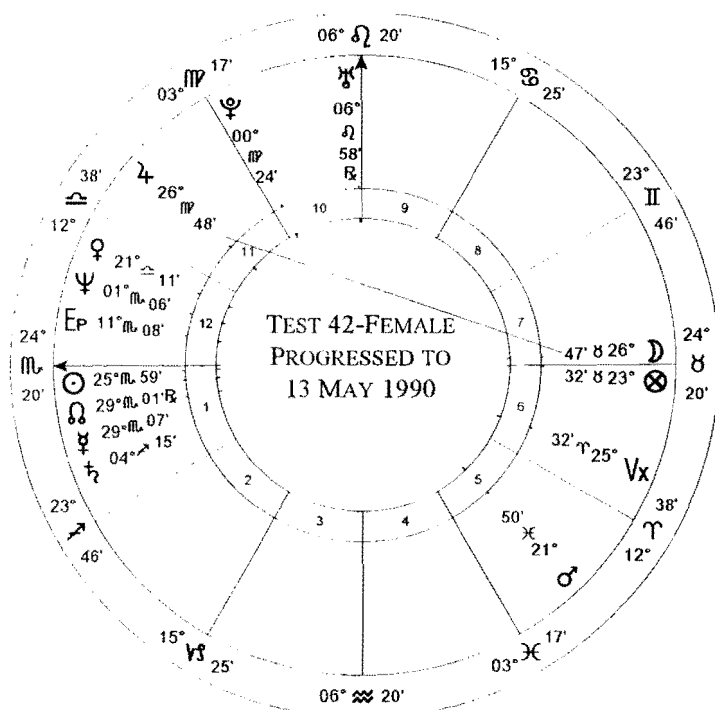

Jupiter in the 10th House is closely sextile her n. Venus signifying a loving union and improvement in status. Venus trine n. Uranus along with Neptune trine Venus indicates great joy, while n.Venus trine Saturn shows parent, change of job, change of residence—none of commitment. Mars, ruling the 7th House—the man in which fit with the emotional buoyancy of the Venus—her life—is closely trine Pluto.

The 33rd Age Harmonic has n.M.C. at Venus/Pluto, a Midpoint described by Ebertin as signifying a karmic union, and deep feelings of love. The Ascendant is trine the n.MC, while the Moon falls on her n.5th Cusp. Mars is closely conjunct her Jupiter (ruling the 10th and 1st Houses) and Venus sextiles her Moon.

Congratulations to all those readers who made the time to attempt this exercise.

A very obvious lead to the event was MOON TRINE JUPITER in the Progressed Chart, (below) exact on 13th May 1990—the day after the marriage. In this Chart the Moon is right on the Cusp of the Marriage House, conjunct the Part of Fortune and trine Jupiter ruling the House of Love and Romance.

The great difficulty is to separate out the actual event from a number of possibilities. It is not easy. I believe the best way is to examine various charts to deduce the common factors and the direction in which they are all pointing. Here is where it is most useful to employ different approaches, e.g., the Progressed Chart, Solar and Lunar Return, Age Harmonic, Phase Returns, Uranian and Huber techniques, Horary Chart, etc.

Addendum

Shirley Gray and Anne Fryer collaborated on this Test and Shirley writes that they both eliminated quite a few scenarios before getting to the only one that met all the proofs. With Shirley it was the possibility of an accident, then assorted 4th/10th-House matters—death of a parent, change of job, change of residence—none of which fit with the emotional buoyancy of the Venus-Jupiter-Uranus-Neptune-Pluto contacts. This led to the Moon, 5th Cusp and Angles, to Venus-Saturn, to the 7th Ruler trine Pluto, by which time there was only one answer left.

NEW TEST NO. 43

While you still have your muscles flexed, try your hand at this one, contributed by Shirley Gray:

Below is the horoscope of a woman born on April 16, 1940 at 7:45 am EST; birth place 42N20, 83W03.

The subject is a self-employed business woman, long-since divorced. She is not in good health, but her physical problems have no bearing on events.

The question is, What occurred in her life on January

25 and January 29, 2000? The two occurrences have a common factor. She was still living in her home town.

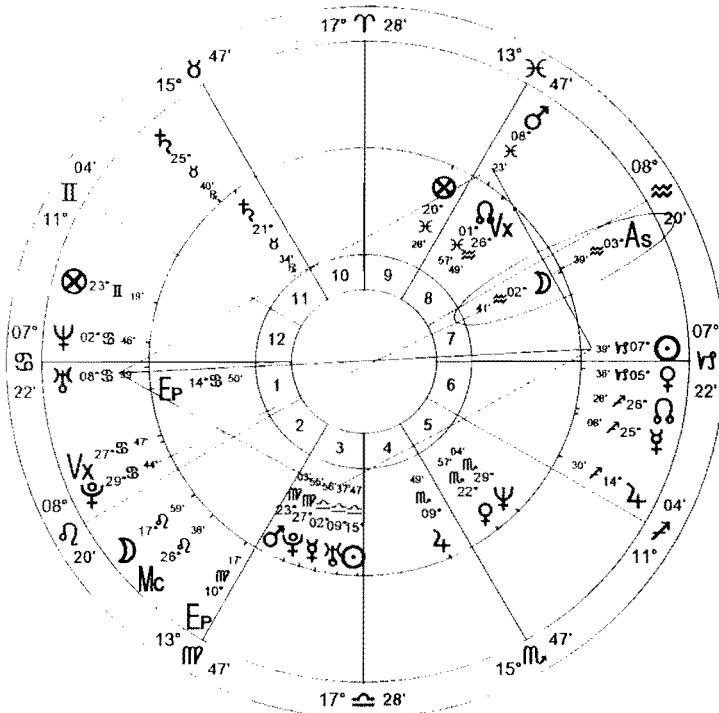

Please send your answers to me by letter-post or e-mail by June 28, and the results will be notified in the July Astrologers' Forum.

The astrological basis for your answer should be stated—whether chart, Aspect, half-sum, etc, but pages of analysis are not required. However, it does not have to be a solo effort. You can join forces with any other astrologer and apply your combined resources to solving the problem. The great value of the exercise lies in working on it, whether or not you arrive at the correct answer. Time spent on these exercises will develop your skill and understanding far more than will the unchallenging reading of explanatory texts.

—Dymock.

THE FIJIAN CRISIS

In the dual Figure below the inner wheel is the Map given by Nicolas Campion (The Book of World Horoscopes) for the Independence of Fiji on 10th October 1970, 0.00am, Suva. The outer wheel is the 29th Age Harmonic, Independent Fiji being 29 years old at the time the hostages were seized in the parliamentary precincts.

This is another striking illustration of the relevance and appositeness of Age Harmonics to national events just as much as they depict the lives and fortunes of individuals. Uranus conjunct the Rising Degree opposes the Sun across the Chart, both bodies being in a T-square with Natal Uranus. This is the most powerful position and configuration in the Chart. It aptly portrays the disruption of Government administration. The involvement of Mars by trine and sextile shows it was an armed insurrection though the trine and sextile, as milder Aspects, mean no great bloodshed. Two policemen have so far lost their lives through the reckless use of firearms by the supporters of the Coup (Pluto opposing the n.Moon and Ascendant, both close to the Cusp of Death).

These Charts give us warning of things about to happen. The Office of Official Astrologer should be instituted among governing bodies so that the nation's fortunes can be guided in the light of planetary trends. Fiji had also reached its first Saturn Return with the Transit of Saturn over its Natal place on 20th May, the day after the Coup. At such critical times the guidance of Astrology is particularly requisite and valuable. Natal

Saturn is closely opposed by Venus (disaffected parties) and rules the 7th House (opposition activists) so the Saturn Transit has stirred up opponents of the prevailing regime.

In the current month, June, the following dates should be significant: 11 JUNE 00. ♂♂♂ (Tp-Na): More violence or threats of violence.

20 JUNE 00. ☾ ♀ ♀ (cAa-Na): The best opportunity this month for resolution of the crisis.

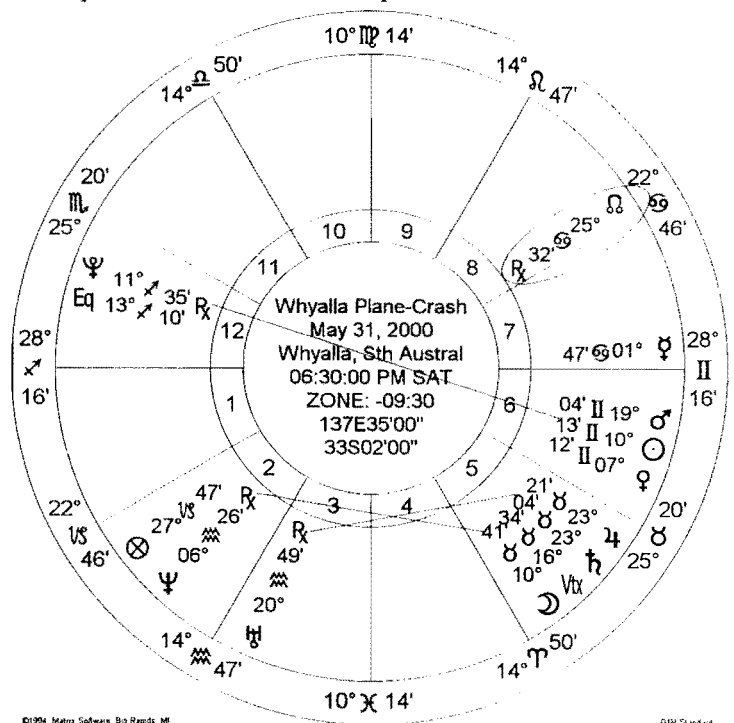

24 JUNE 00. ☽ Δ Asc (Sp-Na): Normal life of the population restored to a large extent.

[n. = Natal, Tp = Tertiary Prgn, cTp = converse Tertiary Prgn., cAa = converse Asc -Arc, Sp = Secndry Prgn]

WHYALLA PLANE CRASH

The Chart below is the approximate departure time of a plane that came down in the Spencer Gulf, S.A. on 31st May, killing all 8 people on board.

The portents of disaster are plain—

The Sun opposite Pluto (death of the pilot).

The Moon (passengers) ruling the House of Death square Neptune (drowning).

Uranus (the aircraft) square Saturn (damage) and Jupiter (misjudgement?, out of luck, bad ending— Jupiter ruling 1st and 4th House, Outcome).

Node on 8th Cusp (multiple deaths).

Departure times of aircraft, even for short trips, should always be checked astrologically. You may prevent a tragedy and/or save yourself and others from death or injury.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock
6th June 2000.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Tel: 08 8336 1956

Issue 226 May 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

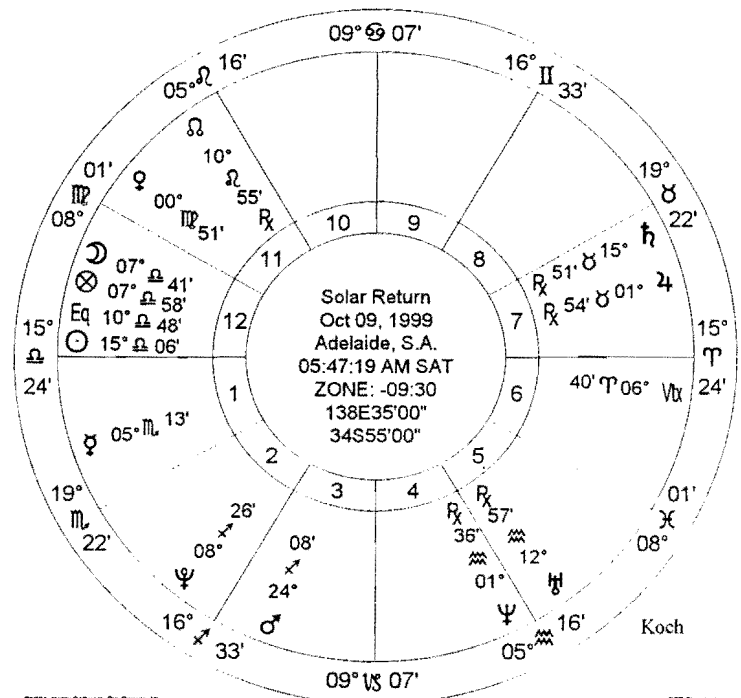

TEST NO. 41: THE ANSWER

The answer is that the woman concerned (Birth Chart below) flew to Adelaide to visit her father in hospital. They had no contact in 15 years but were reconciled that weekend. She returned to Sydney on 23rd January and the next

In This Issue...

	Page
Test No. 41: The Answer.....	1
New Test No. 42.....	2
The JonBenet Mystery—A Guilty Mother? ...	4
Horary Chart	3
Patsy Ramsey's Natus	4

day, the 24th, she learned he had died that day.

Though no one succeeded in discovering the reconciliation between daughter and father several respondents diagnosed a death. Ross Harvey (NSW) stated precisely and correctly "her father died in Adelaide". Ross used the Solar Return Chart, set for Adelaide (see later). Shirley Gray (Michigan) using both the Solar Return and the Progressed Chart diagnosed death of the father but read it as accidental or violent. Lea Breuer-Kantor (Israel) diagnosed death of the mother from transiting Saturn conjunct the Natal MC and Solar-Arc Moon on the Natal IC. Jenifer Pommerin (W.A.) saw "death of partners and loved ones" from the Natal Chart (Saturn on the 7th Cusp, ruling the 8th) and "funerals" from the Precessed Lunar Return and the Age Harmonic 38.

In the Solar-Return Chart below, set for Adelaide, the Sun is brought into prominence by being right on the Ascendant. It is quincunx to Saturn (within 1°). Saturn near the 8th House (Death) rules the 4th. The Sun, Saturn and 4th House all signify the father, which is therefore unmistakably emphasized, and being connected with the 8th House it symbolizes his death..

It is instructive that a number of other Charts, were capable of providing the answer to this Test. Obtaining the same answer in different ways from different sources demonstrates the essential unity of all things.

One of these Charts is the Age Harmonic which is reproduced below. Before that, however, I should draw attention to the precision of the Vertex-Arc Direction, $\odot \sigma \text{ h/hg}$, which occurred precisely on the day of the father's death, 24th January. The Sun father) conjunct the joint Rulers of the 8th House (Death) was symbolically correct.

Astrologers who have a computer and the Solar Fire Program have easy access to both Vertex-Arc and Ascendant-Arc Directions. Directing by these two methods as well as by the more common Solar-Arc is singularly useful.

In the Figure below, amalgamating both Harmonic 38 and the Birth Chart, the death of the father is shown by

Please send your answers to me by e-mail or letter (addresses on the front page) not later than 28 May so that the results can be incorporated in the June Astrologers' Forum.

For your own benefit do make time for this exercise. Put your techniques to the test. It will help your astrology enormously and also sort out what is valuable and what is less so in your methods. There are no prizes but an honourable mention for those who get near the mark.

AGE HARMONIC 38
(INNER CHART)

BIRTH CHART, TEST#41
(OUTER CHART)

THE JONBENET MYSTERY—IS HER MOTHER GUILTY?

The unsolved murder of the 6-year-old beauty queen, JonBenet Patricia Ramsey, in Boulder, Colorado, on December 25, 1996, has horrified and fascinated the world and provoked a great outpouring of articles and books over the last three and a half years. Along with millions of others, I was both shocked and intrigued by this bizarre happening. Even with the aid of Astrology it seemed impossible to decide what had really happened and who was the person responsible.

My interest was again stimulated through a recent newspaper article by Christine Jackman in New York which reported the finding of a former detective, one Steve Thomas. Thomas had worked on the case before resigning from the police force in August 1998 because of what he saw as the mishandling of the investigation. Both parents, Patsy and John Ramsey, had been under suspicion but both have survived a police and Grand Jury investigation without any charges being a combination of factors: The Sun conjunct n.Mars; Pluto on the 2nd-8th axis and square the n.Sun; the MC and the n.Asc. on the 8th Cusp, the Moon ruling the Death House conjunct Neptune, and Saturn on the 4th Cusp (the father). Saturn opposing n.Venus signifies the lack of warmth between daughter and father that existed up to three days before his death. I have not found any other combination of Charts in this Test that expresses this.

NEW TEST NO. 42

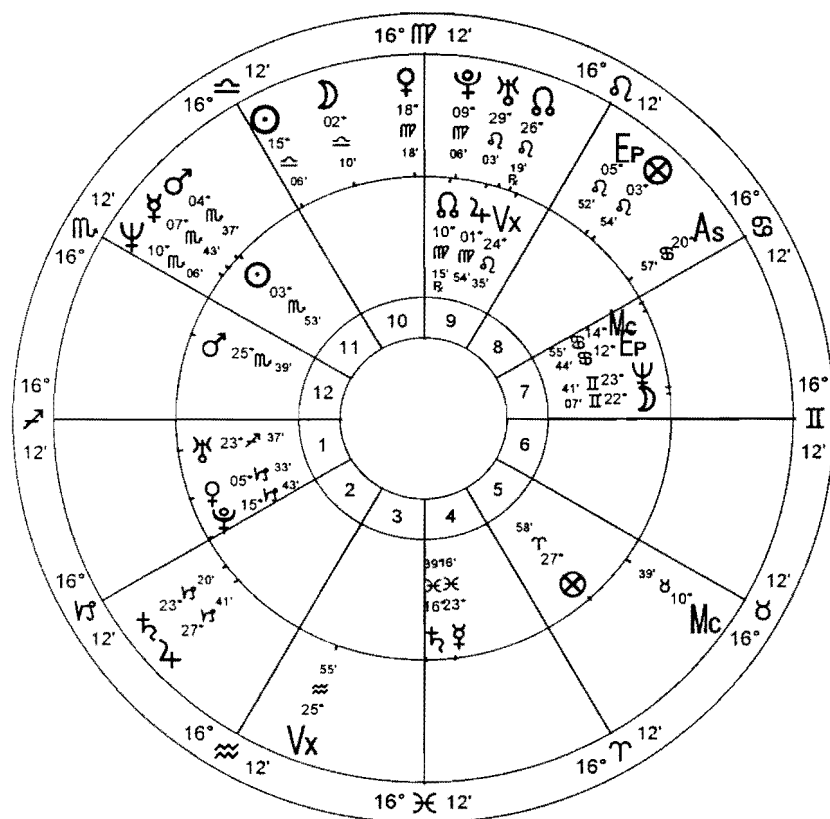

This exercise concerns a woman born in Sydney, NSW (33S52, 151E13) on 16th Oct 1956 at 4:30am AEST (Asc 4Li34, MC 2Cn44, Moon 6Pi8). She is a Primary School teacher and is single. What occurred in her life on 12th May 1990? (in Sydney).

brought against them, though they have not been explicitly cleared.

Detective Thomas, however, came to a definite conclusion and actually named JonBenet's mother, Patsy, as the killer.

The Birth Horoscope of JonBenet is in the next column. Libra rises, and the little girl's success as a diminutive Beauty Queen is shown by the conjunction of her Ruler, Venus, with Jupiter in the House of "Career", plus the Sun shining in its own Sign, Leo, prominently placed high in the Chart and close to a Cusp—a point of power.

That her life would be cut tragically short is evident from the Grand Cross involving Mars and Pluto square to both the Sun and Moon (one of the criteria used by the famous Sepharial). Further, Venus, through its Rulership of both Libra and Taurus couples the Ascendant with the House of Death and is opposed by Saturn ruling the End-of-Life House. A sudden end results from Uranus on the 4th Cusp, a mysterious one from the conjunction of Neptune.

With my interest again at a peak, I set up a Horary Chart to see if this would reveal the truth of JonBenet's death. The first step with any such Chart is to determine that it is "Radical", or fit to be judged. It must show sufficient connection with the querent (the person asking the question) and/or the quesited, the matter enquired about. The position of the Moon is also taken as an indicator of the matter being judged.

The above Chart answers these requirements: Sagittarius on the Ascendant is a sufficient indicator for me, the astrologer, and Pluto rising is the planet of investigating and uncovering. The Moon in the 5th House shows that the matter concerns a child.

JonBenet, the quesited, is represented by the 7th House and its connections. The tally here is quite remarkable:

The Ruler, Mercury, is in Taurus closely conjunct Venus. (What could be more appropriate for a Beauty Queen?).

Mars is on the 7th Cusp (JonBenet's Ascendant) signifying violence to the physical body.

Mars rules the Derived 12th House of JonBenet (the 6th House of the Figure) which is also loaded with five planets and the Vertex (mysterious happenings).

Neptune Squares both Mercury and the Sun emphasizing the mystery.

The Vertex, conjunct both Mercury and Venus, signifies a fated event.

The Cosmic Language is clear and specific.

As the Chart is unquestionably Radical it should contain the answer to the question, who killed JonBenet?

Mars, as the planet of violence, is an obvious starting point for the investigation, particularly as it is also square to Uranus (ungovernable temper). Its connections should reveal the perpetrator.

Mars is sextile to the Moon's North Node in Cancer, where it is disposed by the Moon. This points a finger at the mother.

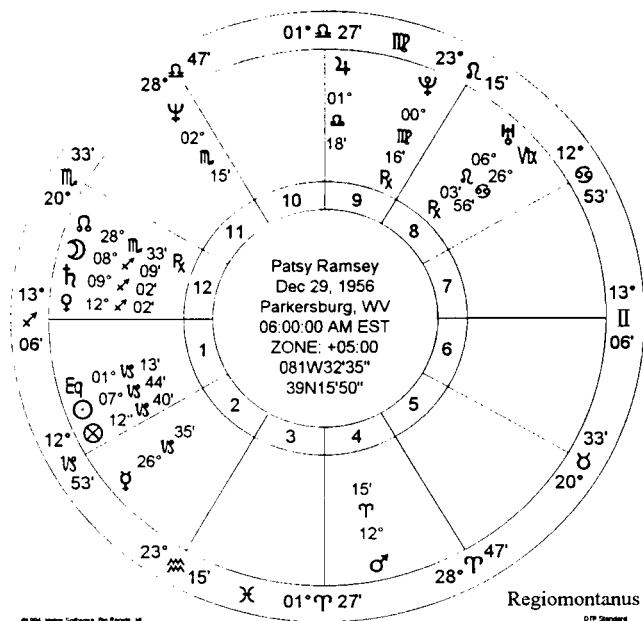

Mars in Taurus is semisextile Venus in Aries, with an orb of 1½°—not strong, except that the two bodies are also in Mutual Reception. This confirms the feminine influence.

On this astrological evidence, detective Steve Thomas is right in accusing the mother, the only other female at the scene.

However, I look for further confirmation with the use of Harmonics as I did in October 1996 in connection with the trial of O.J. Simpson (A.F. Issue 183).

The mother, Patsy Ramsey, once a Miss America entrant, was born in Parkersburg, West Virginia, on 29th December 1956. We do not know her time of birth, but her Horoscope with an assumed time of 6am appears on the next page.

Patsy was 39 when JonBenet died, and the next step is to examine the planetary positions in her 39th Harmonic Chart in relation to the Radix of JonBenet. This Bi-Wheel is in the next column. The Cusps are those of JonBenet whose birthtime is known. As that of Patsy Ramsey is unknown the Zodiacal points dependent on it—Asc, MC, EP, Vertex, and P/Fortune are omitted.

This dual Figure does, indeed, tell a story through the inter-Chart Aspects.

1. Patsy's ♀, 16♄49, is conjunct JonBenet's ♂, 16♄8, in the 8th House, both being square to Patsy's ☾ violence (♂ put the hands (♀) of a female (☾) more specifically, the mother, as the Moon rules the 10th House, traditional ruler of the mother.
2. Patsy's ♂ conjunct JonBenet's ♄, both trine to Patsy's ♀ (a sudden flare-up of temper).
3. Patsy's ♀ opposite JonBenet's ♄ and ♀ aligned with the Meridian (violence, "unforeseen and vitally important crisis" (Ebertin), death and concealment).

In my mind there is no doubt that the mother caused her daughter's death not, I believe, from any premeditated plan but through an upsurge of violence caused by sudden anger and followed by a desperate attempt to conceal the crime.

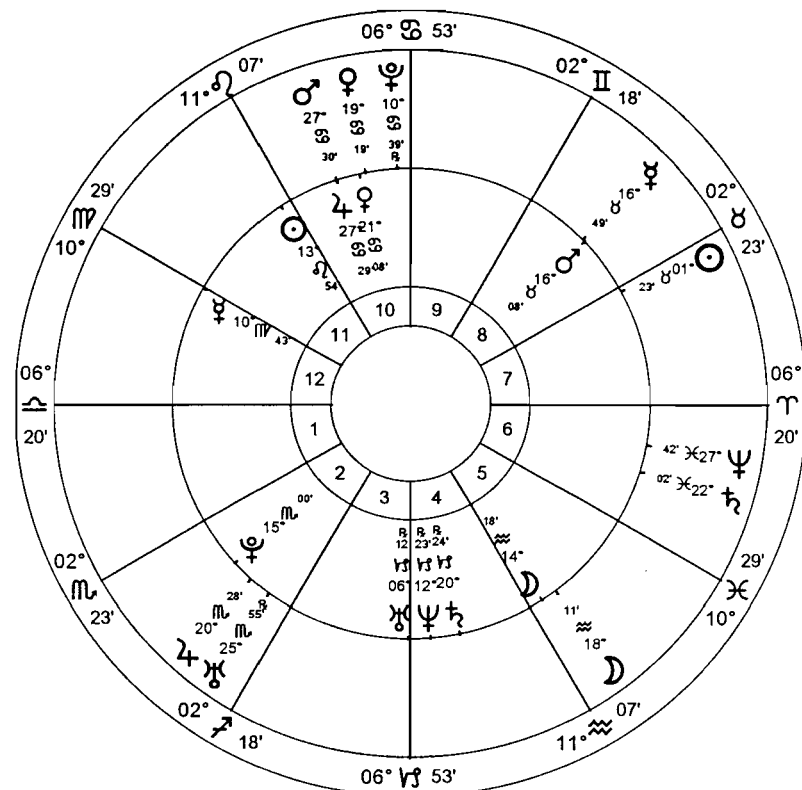

JonBenet's death was signalled in both her Solar Return Chart for 5 August 1996 and her 6th Harmonic Chart.

The Solar Return has the Moon's N.Node in the 8th House opposite Saturn and square Jupiter, with the n.Asc on the 8th Cusp (emphasis on death). The Moon is conjunct n.Mars (implicates the mother).

The Age Harmonic 6 has Uranus at 7Sc14 directly opposite the Ascendant at 7Sc57, square the Ruler, Venus, at 6Aq45 and the n.Node at 7Aq19 (shock and injury). Saturn conjoins the Ruler, Venus (end of a life phase).

Inner Chart: JONBENET BIRTH

Outer Chart: 39TH HARMONIC OF PATSY RAMSEY

N.Mars, ruling the House of Sorrows is rising opposite n.Pluto (violence and serious injury; "accident with long-lasting consequences") (Ebertin).

The Vertex at 13Le36 in the House of Endings is conjunct the n.Sun at 13Le54. The n.Sun-Moon opposition lies close to the Meridian and of course square to the n.Mars-Pluto opposition (end of life).

Pluto is square to the Sun/Mars Midpoint (violence), with an orb of only 0°2'.

On Dec. 24, 1996 (the day before the death). ♄♂♂/Asc by Primary Direction signalled the end. The particular significance of Saturn here is that it occupies and rules the end-of-life House. (I am using the Natal Solar Rate for Primaries.)

Other Directions of significance were ♀☐☐/Mc by c.Vtx-Arc on Dec. 17 (a tragic destiny, says Ebertin) and ♄☐♀/Asc by Vtx-Arc on 31 December. This last combination also has to be assessed in relation to the Radix: Neptune is in the End-of-Life House, and the Asc. rules the physical body; the Node is an operator.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock, 5th Dec. 2000.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Tel: 08 8336 1956

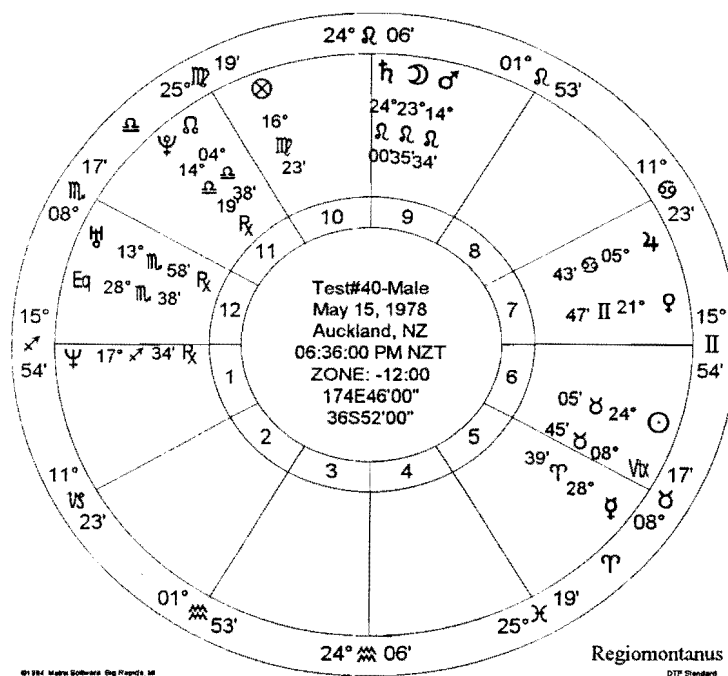

Issue 225 April 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

SOLUTION TO TEST NO. 40

Test No. 40 concerned a male born on 15th May 1978 in Auckland, New Zealand, at 6:36pm. His Birth chart is in the adjacent column. He started his first job in late January 1999.

The question was—What happened to him (in Auckland) on 5th May and 11th July 1999. The two events were similar but not connected. The second event occurred at 12:10am.

ANSWER He had accidents on both days.

On the 5th May he had been called to his boss's office earlier in the day and given a considerable rise. This was the second rise in his first job which he started in January. As a result of this rise he was feeling elated and was running down a flight of stairs when he tripped and fell through a plate-glass door.

On 11th July he had an accident turning right at an intersection with limited vision. A car appeared out of nowhere and slammed into his car, writing it off. He assumed the driver was speeding but because there were no witnesses and he was turning right he is deemed the guilty party so is up for a large insurance bill (with

In This Issue...

	Page
Solution to Test No. 40.....	1
Pluto!	2
Solar Fire v5—A Phenomenal Program!	3
The Ugandan Horror	4
New Test No. 41.....	4

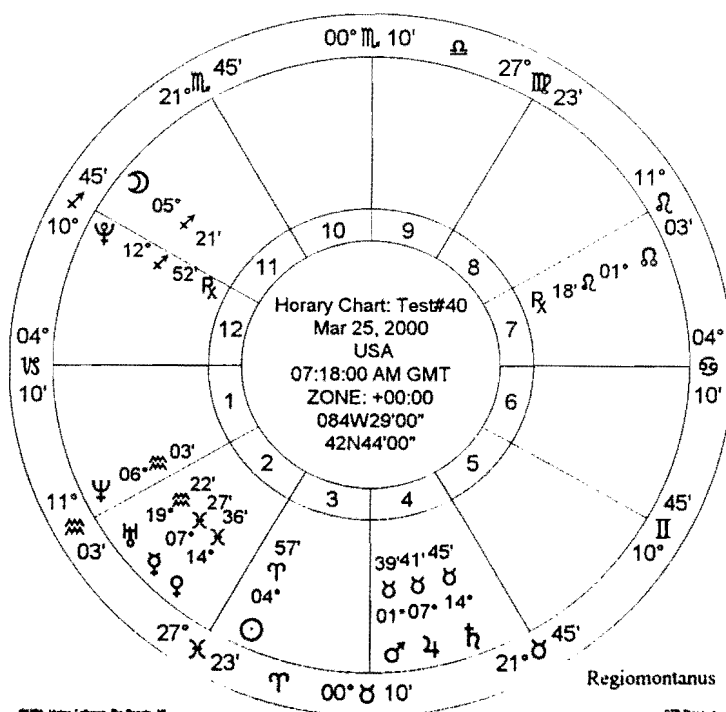

which his mother will help).

Surprisingly, not many astrologers attempted this Test, perhaps because it seemed too hard. Clair Bunnett (Vic.) solved it using the simplest of methods. Clair pointed out the Squares of Uranus-Mars and Saturn-Sun in the Radix and that on both the 5th May and 11th July transiting Uranus in Aquarius would have closely affected these Natal aspects, from which one would expect "a minor accident of some kind". Absolutely right.

Shirley Gray (USA) also found that both events were accidents though she thought they were both associated with an automobile or motor-cycle. Shirley derived her solution from the Horary Chart below.

The essential part of Shirley's analysis is —

(1) He is accident-prone (Mars square Retrograde Uranus in his Natus) and liable to poor judgement and over-confidence (Aspects involving Mars, Neptune and Pluto).

(2) In the Horary Chart (7:18am GMT, 25 March, 2000, at 84W29, 29N44) the Ascendant is Capricorn which fits Shirley (the Querent). The 7th House represents the man (the Quesited). Cancer on the 7th Cusp gives his Ruler as the Moon. The Moon separates from a trine to the Sun (his assets, being the Ruler of his Derived 2nd House) and applies to a square of Mercury, the Ruler of his Derived 3rd and 12th Houses (Roads and Transport; Self-undoing). Mars rules his Derived 4th House (the end of the matter). It is square to the Nodal Axis (accident) and Neptune (bad judgement) emphasized by Neptune between and sextile the Moon and the Sun.

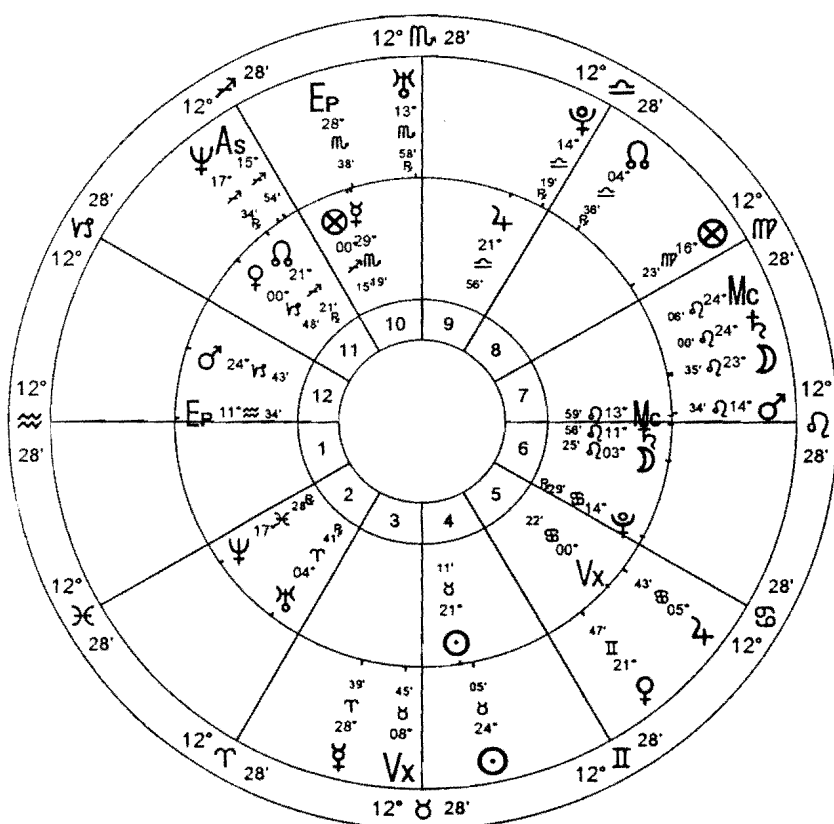

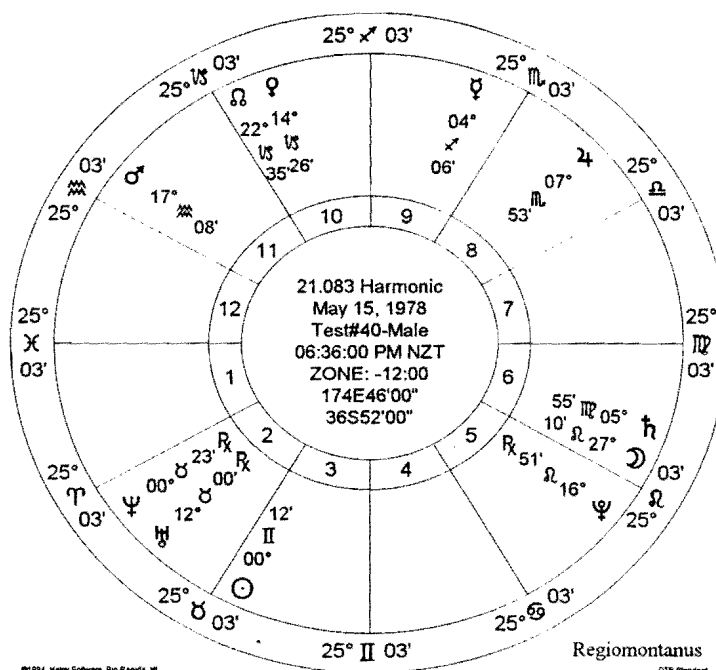

Shirley also investigated the Lunar Return Charts from which she deduced the financial loss suffered by the subject following the second event.

The Charts that were convincingly indicative of the accidents were the Age Harmonics for the Months 15th April—15th May, covering the first event on 5th May, and 15th June—15th July for the second event on 11th July.

The Harmonic (20.9167, below) for the first event, (the fall), when circumscribed by the Natal Chart brings the powerful Mars-Uranus Square into manifestation by placing these two accident-producing planets on Angles. Uranus rules (and squares) the Ascendant, and conjoins the Meridian (Career) while Mars closely opposes the Rising Degree (the physical body) indicating personal injury. Harmonic Saturn opposing the rising Degree is also characteristic of a fall.

In the Harmonic Chart (21.0833, below) for the second event (car collision) the 3rd House (Roads and Transport) is highlighted by the Sun which is in a T-Square with Saturn and Mercury. Mars closely opposes Pluto and both planets square Natal Uranus, forming a powerful accident configuration. Venus, Ruler of the Roads-and-Transport House is exactly square Natal Pluto.

Anyone who wants to know how to get these monthly Age Harmonics is invited to write to me.

— Dymock.

PLUTO!

The power of Pluto to destroy and re-create was vividly apparent to me a few weeks ago when it came to a Stationary position directly opposite the Midheaven degree in my Birth Chart (Pluto 12Sag54 on 15th March, MC 12Gem10). As is well known, a planet exerts maximum power when at its Station.

The first intimation of the coming upheaval was a breakdown on 7th March of my E-mail Program, Eudora Light, used in conjunction with Windows 3.1. Then my Internet Service Provider was unable to correct the e-mailing because of the obsolescent version of Windows I was using. This precipitated a chain reaction. The installation of Windows98 necessitated enlarged hard-disk space, a new motherboard and a staggering (wondrous) speed of operation. Seized with the revolutionary spirit I opted also for a CDROM and a 17" monitor. These increased my joy in a miraculous system, and was not even dampened by the proportionate increase in the bill.

The radical changeover was not without its trials. In the first place I lost all my data on the original hard disk, having been informed that transferring data from a Windows 3.1 system to one based on Windows98 does not go smoothly and causes problems. My back-up disks were not comprehensive so I still lost quantities of useful material, including e-mail addresses, and the process of resurrecting them, as well as adapting to a new operating system, has been a lengthy and error-prone process.

Believe it or not, when I first had my recreated computer back from the specialist shop, they had forgotten to insert the new hard disk, and when I proceeded to re-install my original Programs I was confronted with the message, "Not enough space for this Program". As a newcomer to the Windows98 system I assumed that my handling of it was at fault, but after numerous attempts and fruitless consultation with other users I finally returned the computer to the specialists. They promptly rectified matters by inserting the large-capacity hard-disk.

Pluto, however, had not finished his work: My new 17" monitor, positively the delight of my heart, after operating nicely for days, suddenly refused to show any light on the screen. After a tiresome return of the monitor to the shop, this was rectified by changing the setting from "15 mins" to "Never" in the shutdown period for the hard-disk. This change is adopted routinely by some operators to forestall difficulties, and may be a useful tip for other newcomers to Windows98. (Go to "Settings" - "Control Panel" - "Power Management" - "System Standby").

Still, to continue with the Plutonian saga, My fax machine broke down on the same day as the computer. The shop technician declared it to be uneconomic to repair so I decided to dispense with a fax altogether plus the attendant expenses of an extra telephone line for it. The fax has become increasingly less useful over the last four years, and is now largely replaced by email.

Finally, I took the opportunity when my computer was away to spend a day demolishing and reconstructing my workplace in a more "user-friendly" mode making better use of natural light and the space available. This was a radical change I had been contemplating but had previously baulked at the upheaval necessary. Once my computer was back and working I knew the change-around would have been postponed indefinitely.

But now it is over, the reconstruction is complete except for sundry small adjustments found desirable as work proceeds. So here I am after this Plutonian transformation, one happy astrologer, dazzled by my new incredibly powerful computer tool and applying it joyously to the marvellous Program Solar Fire v5, poorer in pocket but lighter in spirits, and never ceasing to marvel at the miracles of the modern age.

— Dymock.

SOLAR FIRE v5 — A PHENOMENAL PROGRAM!

Hot off the press is Solar Fire v5, successor to v4 which had already established itself as the premier Program for astrologers. In addition to the superb ease of use that characterised its predecessor, this new edition has some remarkable added features that will make it even more valued.

For instance, do you know of any other astrological program that will allow you to apply Progressions and Directions from one Chart to a different Radix altogether? For example, you might see how the Progressed Aspects of a Prime Minister's or President's Chart are affecting the Radix of the nation whose course he is directing. Or, on a more familiar level, how your own Progressions are affecting the man/woman whose affections you are seeking. With Solar Fire v5 you can do this. It must surely be a world first.

Of particular value is the merge routine, which allows you to combine in one chronological list both Secondary and Tertiary Progressions and all types of Directions (Ascendant-Arc, Solar-Arc, Vertex-Arc and Primary Mundane) both forward or backward in the Zodiac. Do this for yourself and you will solve numerous puzzling situations in the past when you could not easily account for some events simply because you did not have all these tools at your disposal.

A century ago the Primary Mundane Directions were the principal means of prediction but later fell into disuse because of the tedious mathematical calculations involved, and the simple Arabic system of Secondary Progressions came into favour. Now, however, the mathematics for Primary Directions are done for you the instant you press a button, and this opens a vast, new field for research. Another difficulty was the establishment of the best time measure for use with the Primaries. Graham Dawson, designer of the Program, (and, I am proud to say, an Adelaidean) offers three different time measures for experimentation. There is scope for exciting discoveries in this field.

A host of different features awaits the attention of the lucky owner of Solar Fire v5. I do not need to dilate on them here. The huge array of attractive charts that can be printed or viewed on the screen is stunning and must have been designed to suit every possible display requirement.

The User Guide supplied is also a considerable achievement—a model of clarity, comprehensiveness and brevity. Not a word is wasted, so you don't have to labour through tedious descriptions or explanations to find the information you want. The proof-reading must have been a taxing assignment.

Get this Program if you can and open astrological doors for yourself that were hitherto closed. It is available only on CDROM, not disks. For all information re prices and upgrades contact Esoteric Technologies PO Box 578, Magill, South Australia 5072 (e-mail: sales@esotech.com.au).

P.S. I do pay for my Programs.

THE UGANDAN HORROR

Of all the grisly stories featured recently in the world press, the most horrific and shocking is the murder in Uganda of up to 1000 men, women and children by the leaders of a radical religious cult. They were burned, strangled or hacked to death. Power-hungry charismatic cult leaders are still deciding the fate of their fellow men by preying on their naivety and credulity.

The Radix below, taken from Campion's The Book of World Horoscopes has a typical indication of religious fanaticism—Jupiter on the 9th Cusp (Religion) in exact Opposition to Uranus.

The following malefic Stationary Transits led up to the discovery of the bodies in several mass graves:

7 May 1999, St.Neptune 4Aqu22 conj. N.Saturn in H.8

14 Oct 1999, St.Neptune 1Aqu35 conj. Cusp 8

23 Oct 1999, St.Uranus 12Aqu52 conj. N.Moon in H.8

12 Jan 2000, St.Saturn 10Tau18 opp. N.Neptune

The emphasis on death for the Cult's adherents is unmistakable: Saturn from the 8th House (deaths) on the Nodal Axis is opposed by Mars (violent deaths) and is acting on Neptune ruling the House of Religion and itself squared by the Moon in the Deaths House.

Saturn's Station on 12th January 2000, opposing Natal Neptune, is particularly significant.

Pluto Stationary at 12Sag54 on 15 Mar 2000 squared its Natal position and brought the ghastly business to light (Pluto uncovers and brings to the surface).

We probably do not have the full story yet.

NEW TEST NO. 41

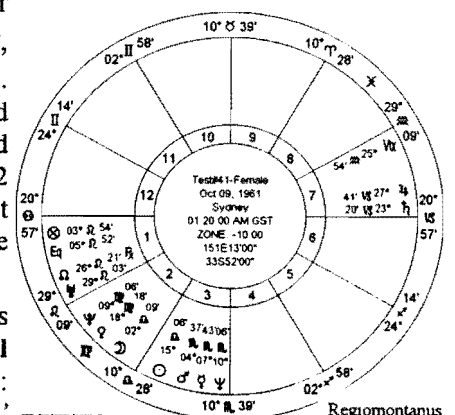

This Test is provided by Fay Jenkins (Vic). Here is the Chart of a woman born in Sydney on 9th October 1961 at 1:20am. The question is, What happened to her on 22nd and 23rd January this year when in Adelaide, and on 24th January on her return to Sydney, where she is based. She is single and has had many romantic ups and downs in the past 12 months but this is not relevant. Her parents are divorced.

Please send your answers to me by 28th April 2000. Postal address:

The Editor, Astrologers' Forum, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia 5073, or by E-mail to dymock@ozemail.com.au.

The astrological basis for your answer must be stated, but only the one or two Aspects or configurations that you consider are crucial and decisive. Please don't send pages of supporting analysis. If your answer is right the crucial Aspects are sufficient. If it is wrong any amount of further analysis will not make it right.

My kind regards to all, — Dymock, 7th April 2000

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 224 March 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

LOOKING BACK—YUGOSLAVIA

by Allan Johnson

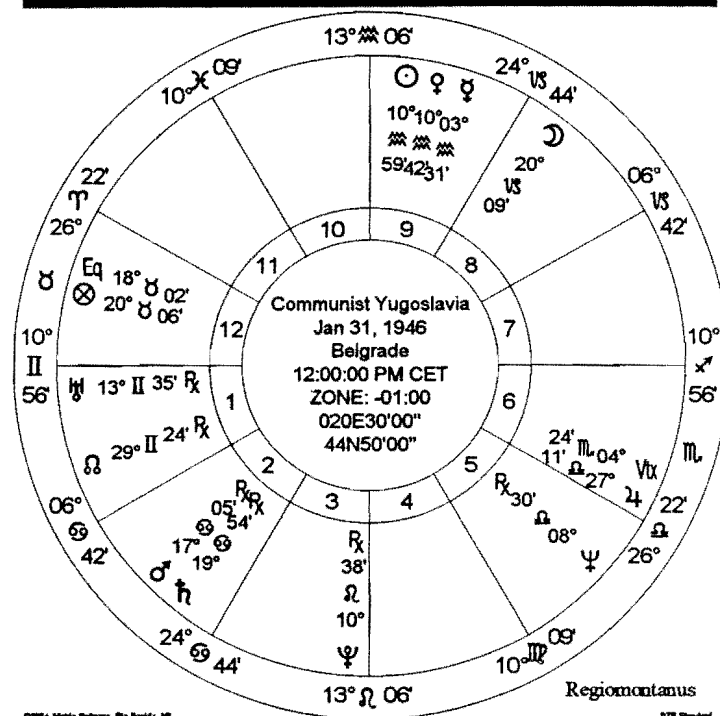

In my recent article on the Chart for the 21st Century I made the strong point that there was a big decline in the use of violence in the later part of the 20th Century and that this trend would continue into the 21st. I particularly mentioned the remarkable absence of shooting and the use of violence in the collapse of the Communist Empire. The reason for that was that there were a lot of compromises made on both sides. But there was one exception to all this—and that was Yugoslavia. In the Balkans the collapse of Communism produced the totally opposite effect. Here there was a big increase of violence and enormous hatreds were released, and that situation has continued through the '90's. However, we must say that Yugoslavia is quite a small area in relation to Europe as a whole, so it does not alter the total picture. So it is worth looking at the Yugoslav Chart at this time.

The Chart I mainly used in my previous article on Yugoslavia (July/August 1995) was the one for the setting up of the Communist State by Marshall Tito, and since that collapsed there has been no effective replacement, so I would take it that the Chart would still have validity. And this has been borne out by events since 1992 when the violence started to develop. Since then the planetary correlations with that Chart can still be seen. So now is a good time to have a look at what may lie ahead. We have had the NATO bombing of Serbia in 1999, and the consequent defeat of Slobodan Milosevic and his ambitions, but there have been no new developments in the Balkan area, and a lot of people are wondering what the next chapter could be.

The old Yugoslavia is much identified with Serbia, and Belgrade the old Capital is in that Province—and of course Milosevic is very much bound up with that. His fate is very much linked with Yugoslavie as a whole. In 2000 he still maintains his position in Serbia, but the latest reports from observers on the ground emphasize the unrest from the people and the devastation from the bombing. At the moment Serbia does qualify as the "sick man of Europe". Milosevic's position is very fragile. So it is now the time to have a further look at the Chart for

In This Issue...

	Page
Looking back—Yugoslavia.....	1
Venus conjunct Mars in Virgo	2
Results of Test No. 39	3
New Test, No. 40	4
Errata re Royals.....	4

31 January 1946, and noon of that day.

The first point to note is that Sun/Venus is in exact opposition to Pluto, right to the degree. This relates to the original obsession with the Communist State and the extremism associated with it. It was Tito's totalitarianism that enforced the unity and maintained it with an iron hand. With the break-up, the same sense of obsession and extremism has continued in the various parts of the Federation. So we have had ethnic cleansing with all its brutalities. This may be considered the evil side of Pluto. The theme of violence is also found in the Moon in Opposition to Mars/Saturn. The Opposition Aspects do tend to accentuate. But fortunately there is another side in the Air Signs. This is a pattern of "sweet reasonableness", which we may yet witness.

Looking at the Progressions, we get a slow-moving Mars which at present is involved in the Mars/Saturn/Moon pattern and will continue to be so for the next few years ahead. So this doesn't suggest an abrupt ending of the troubles. The Transit of Pluto has to be important. In 2000 it makes the trine to its own Natal position and sextile to Sun/Venus, but is also in opposition to Uranus. We get a twofold picture here. It would mean some continuation of violence, which we are getting on a small scale, but also a drive for peace, due to the more active participation of NATO.

The Transits of Uranus have linked up with the Grand Trine and the Opposition to Pluto. I see all this linking up with the stronger intervention of NATO. This will become increasingly successful and swing the balance. On the personal level Uranus will also have a powerful influence on Milosevic's Chart through 2001/2002 as it will be making the Opposition to his Natal Sun and Squaring Saturn. All this seems to point to the fact that Milosevic may survive longer than a lot of people might hope—but the writing seems to be on the wall. The Balkans may still have some headaches, but the end is in sight for a much more peaceful era. The original Yugoslavia may not be fully restored as a unity, but tolerance and democracy could definitely prevail.

VENUS CONJUNCT MARS IN VIRGO

In the last Issue I asked readers what did they know of the above placement and its effect on the character, personality and behaviour of someone who has it in his/her Natus? There have been several responses.

Tony Louis (USA) writes: Checking my files for Venus conjunct Mars in Virgo, I found people with excellent verbal abilities and often academic or literary accomplishments. Emotionally, they tend to be self-contained, very loyal to family, but only superficially warm with friends and associates, whom they sometimes "used" for their own pleasure with little regard for the ultimate welfare of the other person. In other words, their focus in relationships was primarily on getting their own needs met. Manual dexterity and a special fondness for physical activity, including sexual activity, were also common. True to the Virgo emphasis, the people in my files are hard workers who pay a lot of attention to detail in their chosen professions.

Paul Langevelde (Netherlands) says it is not a nice conjunction as there would be a lot of tension through Venus in Virgo tending to coldness and platonic love, while with Mars it is quite the reverse.

Bette Denlinger (USA) writes: Both my husband and I have that aspect. His in the 7th House, mine in the 1st House, both conjunctions with and orb of approximately 6 degrees. Very difficult to be objective with something in one's own chart, however! One thing I noticed growing up was that the conjunction of Venus and Mars brings a tendency to exude warmth in social situations that is sometimes misunderstood by others as a sexual invitation. Then the Virgo innocence is shocked by the misinterpretation! With age, and awareness that the outgoingness might be misunderstood, this gal learned to keep a lid on the exuberance so that "being nice" was not seen as "being a flirt"...although I didn't always succeed!

I have heard the same thing about the misinterpretation of warmth for sexual invitations from dozens of people with Mars conjunct Venus in other Signs, so I am not sure it is truly a Virgo "thing". It is certainly an aspect of the "flirt"!

There is bravery in approaching perfect strangers, and the ability to be a bit charming when assertive, so I did quite well in sales for a long time. My husband who has this conjunction in the 7th, seems a bit compelled to compete with the partner in work situations. Whether this is conscious or unconscious, I have no idea, but when I became Editor of The International Astrologer he offered to edit his company's newsletter. When he worked on a computer project for Matrix I was drawn in as the tester, and was challenged to find some formula he was not provided. Competition, or working together, seems to attract him.

Both of us are "people persons" and have most of our contacts through our work. My work covers a lot of territory. This may be the Virgo element or simply that Mars is the planet of energy and work. I have no way to differentiate.

I believe from doing a lot of charts that when Venus and Mars meet in a chart that this represents people skills, and the person is better off working with people than all alone in a back room in solitude.

My husband says that he found dealing with women in a friendly manner was often difficult because he perceived they sensed his interest was primarily physical and backed away.

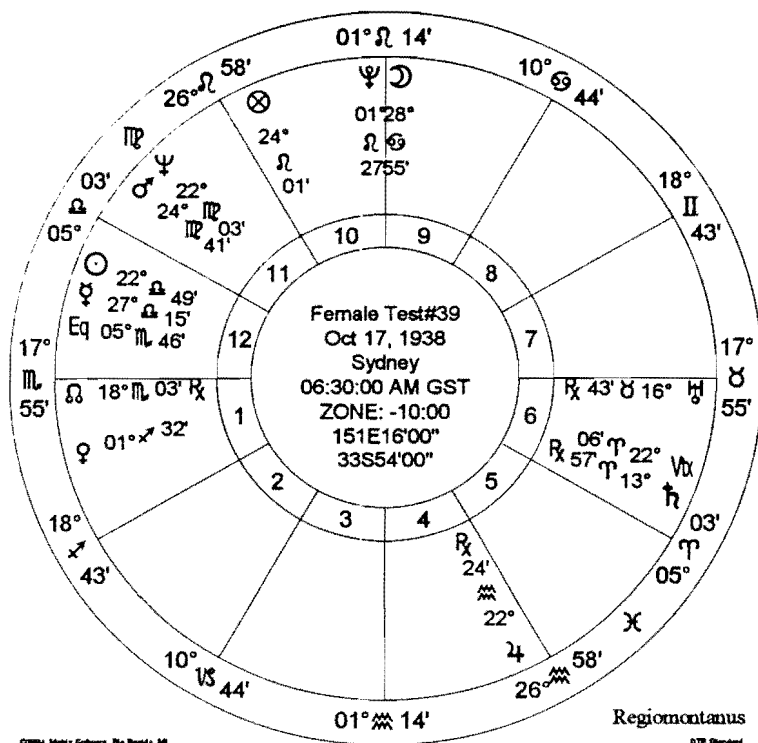

Another correspondent writes that she has found men with the conjunction of Venus and Mars in Virgo are not good lovers, being more intent on the technique of performing than in demonstrating personal warmth and love.

Shirley Gray (USA) sends the following observations on a Mutable Venus/Mars conjunction (Gemini, 1st House): Extremely strong desire nature. When she wants something, she wants it now. Self-discipline is not her strong suit. Cannot stay on a budget. Declared bankruptcy several years ago, and is deeply in debt again. Cannot stay on a diet, and is now experiencing the symptoms of Type II diabetes (adult onset, overweight). Usually late for appointments. Starts many more things than she finishes. Charming in a gracious but cheeky way. Can talk her way out of anything. Breezy, unaffected manner. Always has the latest in telephone/beeper/pager technology. Has two new cars in the driveway (even though she's a single woman). Two marriages, two divorces. Restless, travels a lot. Fond of casino gambling, and has had good luck playing the lottery (helped by Venus/Mars sextile 2nd House Ruler, Moon.) Childlike enthusiasm for life. Unfailingly positive in outlook; always good company. Generous of spirit. Never moody or "down". Has no money saved. Favourite saying: "Honey, we're born with nothing, and we take nothing with us when we die".

RESULTS OF TEST NO. 39

The Subject was the woman whose Birth Horoscope appears below. The questions were firstly what happened to her in November 1996, and secondly what have been her financial circumstances for most of her life? Ross Harvey, who conducted this Test, sent the following report:

There were ten entrants. The answer to the first part is that in November 1996 the woman received a legacy from an aunt for whom she had cared in the last few years of her life.

The answer to the second part (regarding finances) is that she has always been short of money.

Dymock said she came into money, probably by inheritance, shown by p.Mercury in the 2nd House ruling the 8th and sextile Jupiter, ruling the 2nd (exact on 13Nov1996). Fay Jenkins suggested as one of the possibilities that she acquired enough money for a new venture.

The most significant indication that something important was about to happen was the p.Asc trine p.Uranus (if the MC is Progressed with the longitude-arc of the p.Sun). In the Progressed Chart, Uranus rules the 2nd House and is conjunct the 5th Cusp. The Aspect was exact on the 31st July 1996. [In the adjoining Figure the Progressed Chart with Ascendant 14Cap43 if taken on its own would show Aquarius on the 2nd Cusp, ruled by Uranus in the 5th.]

In the Solar Return Chart Venus in the 10th House is trine Jupiter in the 2nd. The Moon, ruling the 8th (inheritance) and the 9th, is conjunct Pluto and the Ascendant, and trine Saturn ruling the 2nd and conjunct r.Venus.

The Precessed Solar-Return Chart has Asc conj. Venus and trine Jupiter on the 5th Cusp.

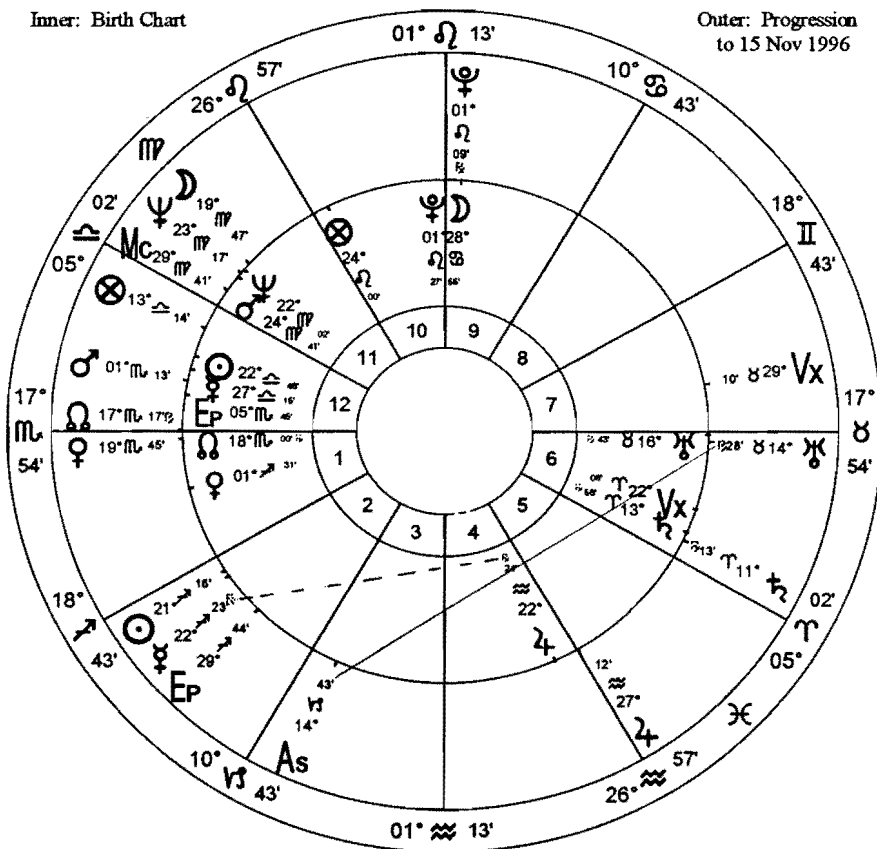

The Progressed Birthday Solar Return (KSR Q1) has the Sun conj. Jupiter in and ruling the 2nd House. I had told the woman in advance that this year was favourable for money.

[Ross gives further relevant Aspects in the Solar Monthly, the Precessed Solar Monthly and the Quotidian Progressed Solar-Return Charts which I have omitted for lack of space and as they are less frequently used. Any reader who wants to know the Aspects should send a stamped self-addressed envelope to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia 2074.]

I asked about her finances because that is the question I am most often asked, and when this Chart was used in a previous Test one entrant said she had an important position and was well-off, because the Sun is conjunct Spica [fixed star] and trine Jupiter ruling the 2nd House. Most entrants this time thought she was comfortably off because of the trine of Jupiter. Dymock correctly said: "I judge her financial situation over much of her life to have been poor, and a struggle to meet commitments [because of] Jupiter, ruling House 2, Retrograde,

Inner: Birth Chart

Outer: Progression to 15 Nov 1996

The above combination of Birth Chart and Progression to mid-November 1996 is reproduced as it clearly illustrates the answer to the question (p.Mercury sextile Jupiter and p.Uranus trine the p.Asc, as mentioned in the text) and it is within the scope of most readers, whereas some of the more unusual Charts cited by Ross are available only to those with a computer and sophisticated software.

out of Dignity and disposed by Uranus opposing the rising degree; Neptune closely quincunx Jupiter; Mercury ruling House 8 square the Moon."

Paola Perina (USA) said she had a tendency to become poor or to lose money because of Sun/Jupiter=Neptune. Jenifer Pommerin (WA), while thinking her finances were sufficient, said that the amount has always been felt as inadequate because Venus in Sagittarius likes to spend, and the Sun opposite Saturn is restricted. Shirley Gray (USA) mentioned the possibility of loss: Jupiter on the 7th Cusp square Uranus, and the further possibility of an inheritance: Jupiter trine Mercury ruling House 8.

I am still trying to find a reliable way to judge finances. Like Dymock, I look at Jupiter and then at close Aspects, including non-conventional ones. In this case the closest Aspect Jupiter receives is an almost exact septile from Saturn (orb only 0°7'). Jupiter afflicted by Saturn denies prosperity, as Saturn limits and restricts. The close quincunx of Jupiter to Neptune indicates confusion about money. The Sun trine an afflicted Jupiter may merely suggest a tendency to extravagance.

NEW TEST NO. 40

This month's exercise concerns a male born on 15th May 1978 in Auckland, New Zealand, at 6:36pm. His Birth Chart is in the adjoining column. He started his first job in late January 1999.

The question is what happened to the man (in Auckland) on 5th May and 11th July 1999. The two events are similar but not connected. The second event occurred at 12:10am, for those who like to work with precise times. Please send your answers to me by post or e-mail (both addresses in the heading of this Journal) not later than March 28, so that results can be incorporated in the next Issue with the names of respondents who arrive at the correct answer. The astrological basis for your answer must be stated, but only the one or two Aspects or configurations that you consider are crucial and decisive. Please don't send pages of supporting analysis. If you have indications from a number of factors just pick the one you consider most apposite.

ERRATA RE THE ROYALS

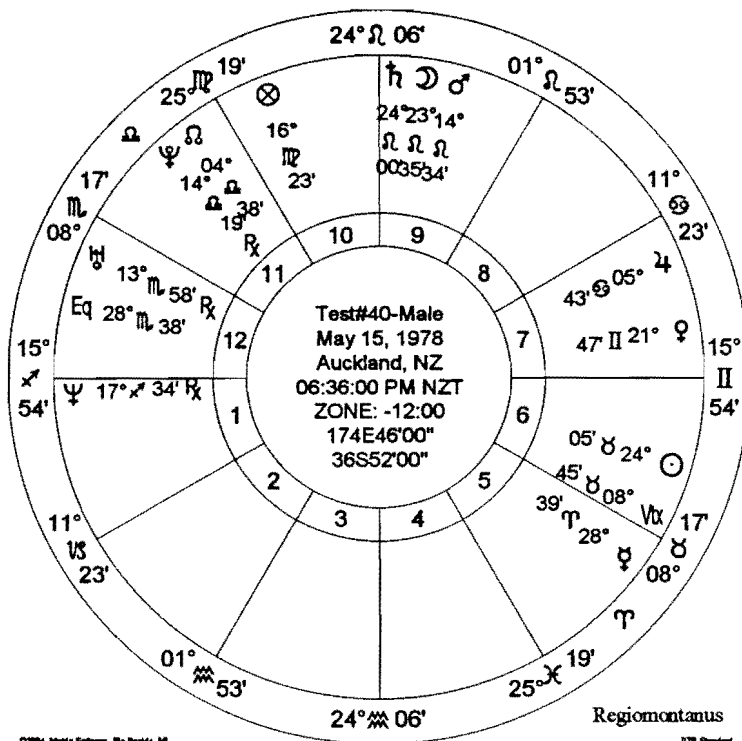

by Kevin Rilett

Thanks to Sarah Symington for noticing the Time Zone errors in birthdata for Prince Harry & Princess Eugenie.

Harry's TZ should be BST [British Summer Time].

Princess Eugenie's should be GMT.

The commentary for Prince Harry has been changed as a result. The prediction - Major events in the English Royal Family Over the Next Six Months will Affect the Line of Succession has not changed.

Prince Harry (15Sep1984, London, 4:20pm BST): Lunar Eclipse of 21Jan00 at 00Le26 square r.Pluto 00Sc33 9th House

P2 Asc square r.Pluto 6/1999—9/2000

P2 Asc trine r.NN 8/1999—12/2000 (Mean N. Node)

P2 Asc semisquare r.Mars 5/2000—9/2001

P2 MC semisquare r.Venus 9/1999—8/2001

P2 Sun 8th House trine r.Chiron 8/99—8/2001

(Note—P2 MC is calculated via Solar Arc in Longitude) Pluto & Mars co-rule the 10th House so these major Progressions must markedly affect his status during their durations. Note: Late last year there were questions as to his real father.

Also in Harry's Chart—

T.Chiron conjunct Mars 17Feb2000 to 07May2000

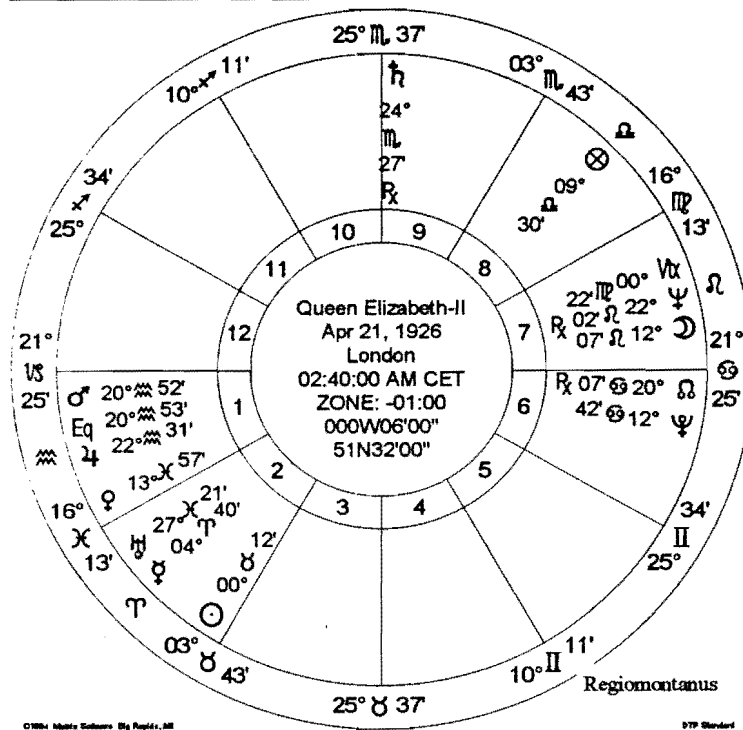

During March/April T.Saturn opposes his Saturn and then conjuncts his IC. These transits increase the likelihood of a royal demise and a change in status.

My article in Astrologers' Forum last month was prepared on a 100-metres sprint. At the time I hadn't checked the Solar Eclipse of 5th February at 16Aq01 conjunct transiting Uranus 16Aq45, which falls in Charles' 7th House opposite his 1st-House Pluto [Ruler 4th] and trine his Venus in Libra! —a further pointer to significant change among the Royals.

My kind regards to all. — Dymock, 7th March 2000.

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?
ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

Lunar Eclipse square Sun 00Ta12 note Vertex 00Vi22 in 8th House

©1999 Matrix Software. Big People, MI

DTF Standard

- P2 Sun sesquiquadrate MC [Jul98 to Aug2000]
- P2 Venus [dispositor of her Sun] sesquiquadrate Ascendant Oct1999 to Jun2001
- P2 Mars [Ruler 3rd Co-Ruler 10th] square Pluto 6th House [Sep1998 to Sep2001]

PRINCE CHARLES

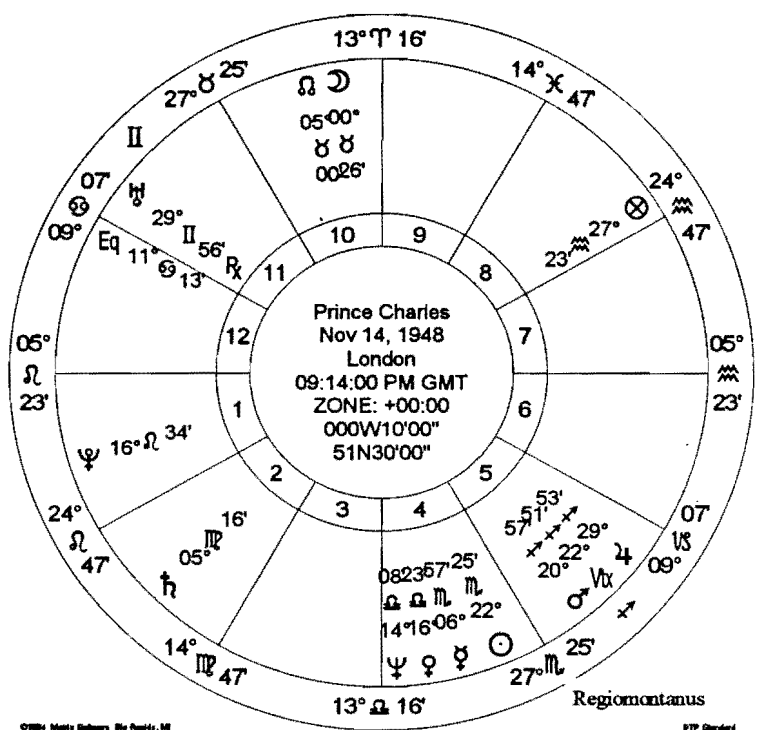

- Lunar Eclipse square Moon 00Ta26 10th House & aspecting Jupiter 29Sg53, Uranus 29Ge55
- P2 MC square Saturn [Jan1999 to Dec2000]
- P2 Sun [ruler Asc] square Neptune [Oct1998 to Oct 2000]
- P2 Mars square Lunar Eclipse 00Ta26
- P2 Mars square Natal Moon [Jan1999 to Jul2001]
- T Neptune opposite Asc 04Feb2000 to 17Apr2000
- T Uranus opposite Pluto 15Jan2000 to 19Feb2000
- T Neptune inconjunct Saturn [30Jan2000 to 5Apr2000]
- Pluto trine MC [30Jan2000 to 01May2000]

The above suggests the death of a parent and/or a total loss of direction and disillusionment with the role for which he has been chosen. The latter may be currently sapping his vital energies [Sun, Neptune]. The Sun is the Ruler of his Ascendant.

Also note that Saturn [in Virgo] rules his 6th [Health & Service] & 7th [Marriage & Grandparents] Houses. Notice Mars [Ruler of 10th] Sagittarius 5th House, his public profile at present with the hunting lobby which has been unpopular with the people: P2 Mars square Moon, which relates also to his recent polo injury.

PRINCE WILLIAM

- Lunar Eclipse squares his most elevated planet Jupiter 00Sc29 [9th House]

©1999 Matrix Software. Big People, MI

DTF Standard

- P2 Venus sesquiquadrate MC [Jan2000 to Sep2001]
 - P2 MC sesquiquadrate Moon [Sep99 to Oct2001]
 - P2 Sun sesquiquadrate Uranus ruler 11th [Aug1998 to Sep2000]
 - P2 Mars [Ruler 10th] semisquare Uranus [Apr97 to Jun2001]
 - P2 Mercury conjunct Sun int ruler 8th [Aug99 to Sep2000]
- The above suggests an unpopular decision/rebellion regarding his future [11th House] public role [10th House].

PRINCE HARRY

- Lunar Eclipse square Pluto 00Sc33 9th House
- Lunar Eclipse straddles Asc/Desc axis 29Cp57/29Cn57
- P2 MC 16Sg46 conjunct Mars 16Sg58 10th House
- Ruler 3rd & Intercepted Co-Ruler 9th [Koch Cusps]
- P2 MC sextile Venus 17Li45 [8th House] suggests an elevation of status as a result of a death in the family. Note this Progression is in effect for two years.

PETER PHILLIPS

- Solar Eclipse 16Aq01 [2/2000] opposite Vertex [in 8th House] 16Le24
- P2 MC 00Sg33 square Saturn 29Le55 in 8th House [Jun98--Jun2000]. Note that this Saturn conjuncts fixed star Regulus in the House of Death [Regulus' current longitude is 29Le50]
- P2 MC also semisquare Pluto ruler 10th [Jan99--Jan2001]
- P2 Saturn 00Vi32 exactly semisquares Pluto ruler 10th 15Li32 [06Feb2000]
- P2 Sun conjunct Neptune in 12th & Ruler 3rd [Sep98 to Jun2000]

© 2004 Wiley Periodicals, Inc. J Biomed Mater Res Part B: Appl Biomater 70B: 103–110, 2004

© 2004 Blackwell Publishing Ltd Journal of Internal Medicine 255: 105–112 minutes after take-off from Abidjan. Only ten passengers survived.

One does not need to search for the warnings of disaster—they are shockingly obvious: (1) Mars, ruling the House of Deaths, right on the Western Angle, within minutes of an Opposition to the Rising Degree and forming a malefic T-Square with the Moon (the passengers). (2) The Sun (the Captain) ruling the House of Self-Undoing, Square to Saturn in the Deaths House (orb 1°25') and both in a T-Square with the Part of Misfortune.

And now, only a day later, comes news of Alaskan Airlines Flight 261 crashing into the sea off the coast of California. All eighty-eight people aboard perished. I do not have accurate data for this Flight, but I have no doubt its untoward fate would have been clearly visible from the Departure Chart.

The dismal situation is that the unequivocal forewarnings of these tragedies given by Astrology remain unknown or unheeded by those who have the power to change things. Individuals, however, have the power to make an informed choice of their departure times on any journey, and they can do so by reference to an experienced astrologer.

VLADIMIR PUTIN

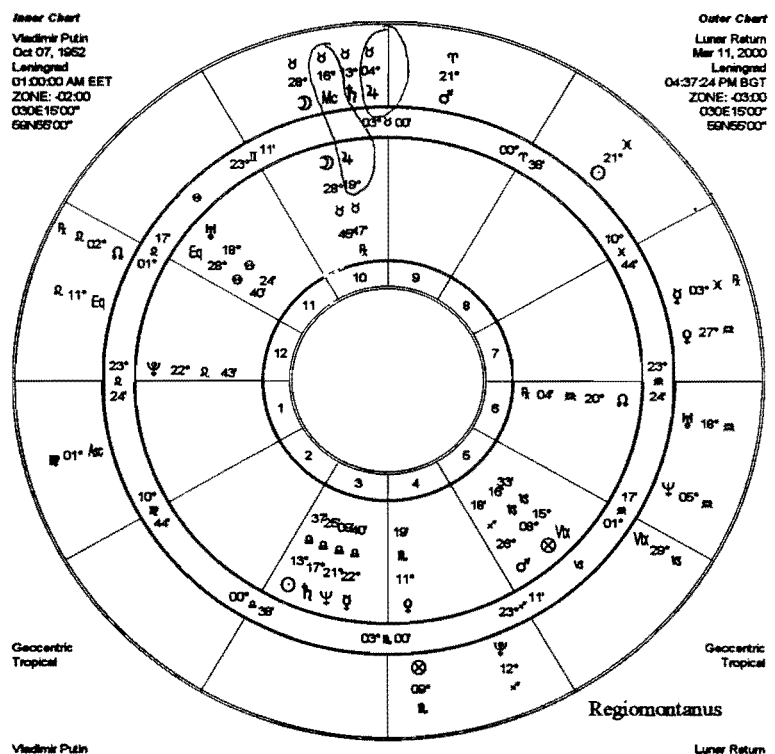

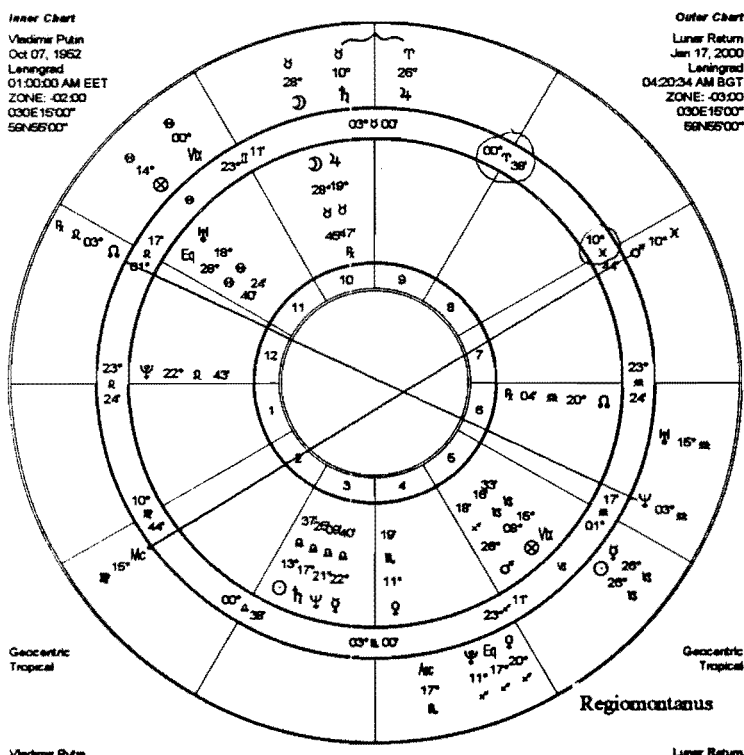

In the last Issue I presented the Birth Horoscope of Vladimir Putin, acting President of Russia, and notified readers of predictions to come regarding his future.

Now, for the benefit of the vast numbers who are circumscribing his Birth Chart. It relates to the period 17Jan—13Feb2000. LR Saturn and Jupiter straddle the Meridian, their Midpoint (3Ta18) contacting it almost exactly. A textbook interpretation of this is "fluctuating success, changes, losses" (Ebertin's Combination of Stellar Influences). Putin is worried, as well he might be. His forces have not achieved the quick victory in Chechnya that he looked for to consolidate his position as the most likely President of Russia after the March Election. His Army has recently suffered heavy losses (LR Neptune on the 6th Cusp, ruling the 8th, and conjunct the Nodal Axis). He is sustaining international criticism for his brutal conduct of the war to capture Grozny (LR Mars on the 8th Cusp, ruling the 9th and opposing LR MC).

Nevertheless, his fortunes are changing; In his next Lunar-Return Chart (13Feb—11Mar2000) Venus at 24Cp01 is right on his Natal MC (24Cp33) showing that he has regained any popularity he may previously have lost among his countrymen.

Putin's next LR-Chart (11Mar—7Apr2000) could hardly be more favourable for a Presidential candidate. Placed around the Natus it shows LR Jupiter conjunct the N MC, and N Jupiter conjunct the LR MC!

This is a reciprocal action that will surely win the Presidency for Vladimir Putin. Whether that is a good thing for Russia or the world has still to be seen. In the eyes of humane people the world over he has much to make up for his ruthless treatment of Chechnya's civil population.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 4Feb2000.

hanging breathlessly on my words, here they are:

Putin's current Lunar-Return Chart is shown above

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. E-mail: dymock@oaemail.com.au

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 222 January 2000

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

TEST NO. 38

This Test was an exercise to determine what astrological Charts/Progressions/Transits or configurations best described an outstandingly happy event in the life of a woman whose Natus appears below.

On January 20, 1989 the woman was invited to be with the First Family of the United States in Washington D.C. to attend and celebrate the Inauguration of President George Bush. She stood in the receiving line with the Bush family and sat with them as Bush was sworn into Office as President. After the ceremony she attended all the parties around the city with the First Family. She came away with official historical mementos with government seals in frames and numerous items of remembrance signed by heads of state. The great thrill the woman enjoyed was that her sitting with the Bush family and attending the parties with them astounded many political personalities who knew her only as a dealer with an antique store in Miami. She said this was the outstanding event of her life.

In This Issue...

	Page
Test No. 38 The Outcome	1
Primary Directions, Lunar Return,
Solar Return, Age Harmonic and	2
Horary Chart	3
Hijacking of Indian Airbus IC-814.....	3
Vladimir Putin—Russia's New Master.....	4

Reduced to its simplest terms, this was an event of joyous excitement for her. It was not one that changed her destiny or set her on a new path in life, hence we should not expect dramatic configurations.

Secondary Progressions and Transits were unremarkable but two extraordinarily well-timed and apposite PRIMARY DIRECTIONS to midpoints did draw attention: MC* \odot /4 (personal success and happiness) on 20 Jan 1989 (the very day of the event) and \odot /MC (connection with "high society") on 18 Jan 1989.

It is comparatively seldom that Primary Directions yield such impressive and timely configurations. They can be obtained by anyone who has the Solar Fire V4 Program, using the time measure of the Naibod Arc in Right Ascension.

An immediately descriptive Chart is the LUNAR RETURN of 14 January 1989 at Washington (see next page):

The most striking feature of the Chart is the Sun right on the Cusp of the 5th House (celebration, parties, etc.) The trine to the Sun from Jupiter in the 9th House aptly describes the nature of the occasion and the people attending (upper society figures, notables, the politically powerful). The woman's surprise, thrill and delight are portrayed by the Moon (ruling the House of Friends) trine to Uranus and Venus.

Another indicative Chart is the SOLAR RETURN of 9th October 1988 at Washington.(see next page).

Neptune rises trine to Venus which rules the 10th and 5th Houses. The 10th is associated with the emotional state and the 5th with celebrations. Venus, planet of happiness, is conjunct the Natal Midheaven. Neptune is absorbent, acquiring the nature of any closely Aspecting planet, in this case Venus. Jupiter square Venus shows excess of feeling while the Moon trine Jupiter portrays

Some additional charts were cited by respondents: Jennifer Pommerin (W.A.) used the CONVERSE SOLAR RETURN (10th Oct 1938, 12:31:15 GMT) which has Venus conjunct Mercury in the 1st House, plus Uranus conjunct the Sun and sextile Saturn in the 10th House. The Natal Ascendant is conjunct C.S.R. Jupiter (exultation, good fortune, ceremonies, publicity). The C.S.R. at the subject's birth place has its MC conjunct Natal Pluto on the Natal 9th Cusp.

Clair Bunnett (Vic) submitted that the woman's Progressed Mars in Libra coming to the trine of Natal Jupiter (exact on 19th March 1989) indicated fortunate action and expansion of opportunities, while Transiting Mars on the Natal Moon gave energy to realize her own rights in spite of the "surprise" of others at her being asked to attend the function.

Lea Breuer-Kantor (Israel) listed several pages of URANIAN and other configurations of which the most appropriate one was Jupiter+Uranus-MC: (pleasure over a stroke of luck or good fortune).

Paul Langeveld (Netherlands) produced a HORARY CHART which was apposite (see next column): The Moon on the Ascendant sextile to Venus ruling the 6th House depicts the woman's happiness at the event

Shirley Gray (USA) noted correspondences in the Age Harmonic for the Month of January 1989, and also pointed out that Transiting Jupiter was Stationary at 26° Taurus opposite Natal Venus, on the very day, January 20, "a joyous contact under which it must have been hard for her to keep her feet on the ground".

Other respondents advanced a large series of Aspects and connections—anything that appeared to have any the social nature of the occasion and the influential people involved. The "thrill" is not so obvious but may be attributed to Uranus conjunct the Ruler, Saturn.

A third Chart again involving the Moon, Venus and Jupiter is the 50TH HARMONIC corresponding with the woman's age (see adjoining column). The Moon is the most elevated planet and is closely trine to Venus (orb 20') and sesquare Jupiter (orb 58'). Venus is also conjunct the Natal Moon. The Moon's Node at 28Sco22 closely conjoins Natal Venus at 28Sco11, showing the happy nature of the gathering, while the East Point at 21Aqu50 conjoining Natal Jupiter at 22Aqu31 reveals the socially exalted tone of the occasion.

bearing on the event. This tended to be more confusing than enlightening. The idea of the exercise was to find the simplest and most direct indications that could predict the occurrence. It was also insufficient to give a detailed list of Aspects without interpreting the symbolism that made them applicable. — Dymock.

HIJACKING OF INDIAN AIRBUS

The very recent freeing of the 160 passengers and crew from the hijacked Indian Airbus IC-814 ended a tense and traumatic situation that had persisted for eight long days. One passenger was killed and all suffered days of terror, threats of death, foul conditions and intermittent brutality from their captors.

The Airbus left Kathmandu in Nepal on 24th December 1999 at 4:25pm. The Departure Chart is in the adjoining column.

Unlike the previous air disasters which have mostly ended in massive loss of life this is a case of massive discomfort and nervous strain suffered by a large group of people.

The planet pre-eminently associated with kidnapping/hijacking is Pluto. The Chart shows it at 11Sag10 closely quincunx Saturn at 10Tau37 and opposing the East Point at 9Gem30. The Opposition to the East Point brings Pluto and its connotations into prominence, while Pluto and Saturn in adverse combination signify extreme discomfort and hardship—also fanaticism, as exhibited by the hijackers. The Houses involved are the 6th, ruled by Pluto, and the 8th ruled by Saturn. This is plainly the blocked sanitary system—at times the toilets overflowed into the aisles.

The Moon (the passengers) is sesquare Pluto (orb 11°) and square Jupiter (orb 1°20') which implies the passengers are subjected to superior force (Pluto) and the fanatical aims (Jupiter-Pluto) of the terrorists. Pluto sesquare Saturn ruling the 8th House accounts for the only death on the plane.

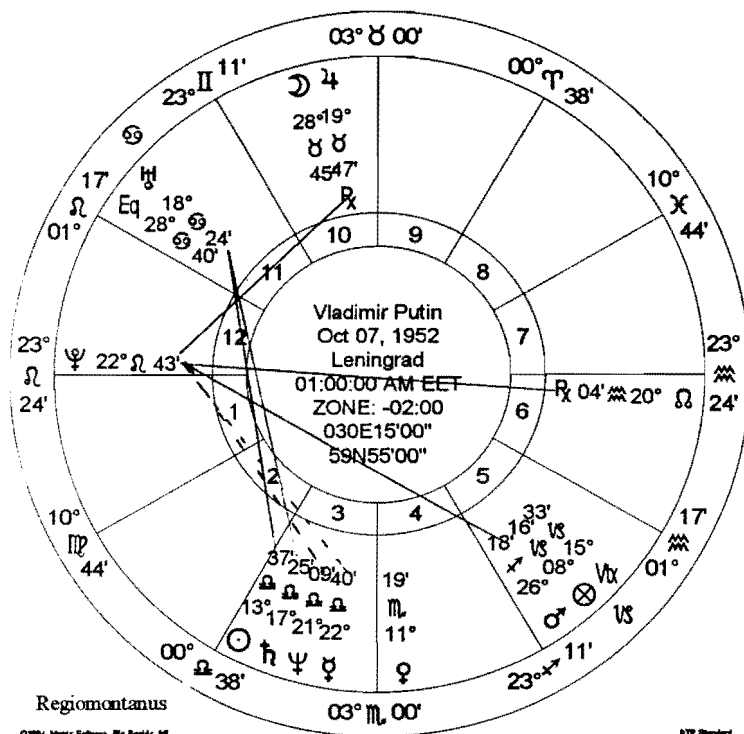

What were the warning signs that this was going to be a terrible, terror-ridden experience for the passengers? The single, most obvious factor is an elevated Mars (violence) in close square to Venus (orb 9°). Mars is also just as closely trine to the Rising Degree, but this would not be apparent beforehand as it depends entirely on the take-off time which can be delayed (and in fact it was).

The conjunction of Uranus with Mars, though comparatively wide in orb (7°18'), is a well-known and widely recognized indication of violence in both people and events, and it certainly adds to the adverse portents of the other configurations. Pluto's configuration with Saturn (quincunx), Uranus (sextile) and Jupiter (sextile) is a powerful and adverse factor. As the Moon is square to Jupiter this combination operates like a Yod—a fateful experience for the passengers of strain, privation and terror (Saturn and Pluto). Neptune on the Nodal Axis though not sufficient on its own to be a powerful deterrent yet carries a warning of anti-social elements on board the plane.

There was certainly sufficient here to warn off the perceptive astrologer and make him/her choose a different flight. Better to be days or weeks late than ignore the warnings so bountifully provided by our celestial science.

— Dymock.

VLADIMIR PUTIN RUSSIA'S NEW PRESIDENT

(Data from Russian astrologer Sergey Klimov)

Russia's new master has a formidable Chart:

✓ Pluto (Power and Authority) on the Ascendant and the Nodal Axis, square Jupiter, sextile Mercury and Neptune, trine Mars (ruthless power-seeking, a master of intrigue and covert operations, manipulation of social forces, fateful associations of great significance, an iron will, concentration, toughness and drive).

The Sun conjunct Saturn square Uranus (caution and diplomacy but self-willed with states of tension and outbreaks of violence).

With the Sun ruling the 1st and 12th Houses and afflicted by Saturn and Uranus, Putin could himself become crushed by the weight of circumstances in the political life in which he has involved himself.

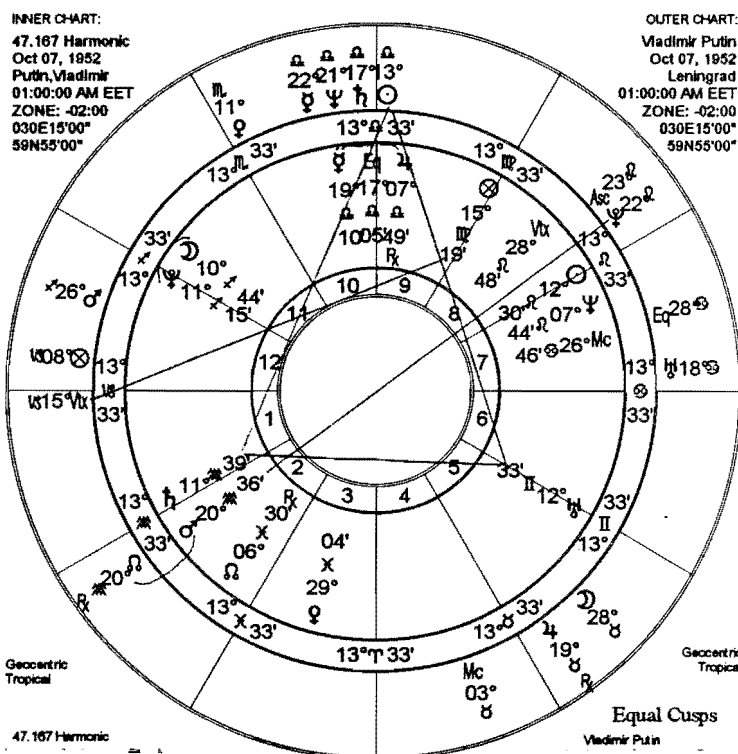

All this may very well be masked by the Sun and planets in Libra, the Sign of compassion, but it is there just the same. There has been no evidence of compassion in Putin's ruthless prosecution of the war against Chechnya.

Putin's accession of power following Boris Yeltsin's shock resignation as President on 31 December 1999 was heralded by the Progression of the Ascendant to the trine of the Natal Sun on 25th December (Progression by Solar Arc in Right Ascension) and by the Stationary position of Jupiter at 25Ari01 on 21st December. This last is slightly previous to the actual event but I have no doubt this was when Yeltsin was hatching his plan in collusion with Putin to put his favoured minister into power at a time when Putin had achieved popularity through his successful conduct of the war against Chechnya.

Putin's rise to power on 31 December 1999 is shown graphically by the AGE HARMONIC for the month 7 Dec '99—7 Jan '00 (H.47.167). It appears below with the Birth Figure around it.

The Natal Sun right on the Midheaven attended by its satellite planets is an unmistakable signal of occupational success and a mountainous peak in the career. Such supporting Aspects as occur seem almost superfluous: Harmonic Uranus and Saturn in a Grand Trine with the Sun (sudden, unexpected rise; a solidly-based triumph); H.Part of Fortune on the 9th Cusp (politics) trine the Natal Vertex on the Ascendant (stroke of destiny); H.MC conjunct Natal EP (new career impetus); H. Mars conjunct Natal Node opposite Natal Pluto (energy and drive); H. Moon and Pluto conjoined on the 12th Cusp (covert and ruthless pursuit of goals); H.Jupiter and Mercury equidistant from the MC (vocational success).

In March Russia holds an Election for the Presidency. Putin already has his foot in the door. What will happen? Watch this space.

My kind regards and best wishes to all for happiness and excellent Astrology in this Year 2000.

— Dymock, 5th January 2000.

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?
ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. E-mail: dymock@oaemail.com.au

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 221 December 1999

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

THE REFERENDUM AND ITS AFTERMATH

by Allan Johnson

In the Astrologers' Forum of April 1995 I wrote an article on the "Republican Question" and made some predictions about it. Here I relied on the Transits of Uranus as applying to the Australian Constitutional Chart for the 1st January, 2001, as it had been proposed that any changeover to a republic would be timed to coincide with the 100th anniversary of the original Constitution for the Commonwealth. I took Uranus as the main Significator for radical change. I wrote; "If we look at the Transit of Uranus we find it at 18°39' Aquarius on Jan. 1, 2001. This does make the trine to Natal Pluto, but separating, not really suggestive of radical change. Nor do the Progressions. I could now add also that Uranus does not link up with any of the Angles.

However, what is much more important in this case is the planet Pluto. Right on the Referendum date it was 9°22' Sagittarius, thus activating the T-Square pattern which is the major configuration in Australia's Chart. "And this will continue on for the next four years, right up till 2003. A transit like this could not fail to produce a powerful polarization of the community—and did mention this in my previous article. But the key to all this lies in the fact that the third and ninth Houses are involved. There has been a tremendous 'war of words', not bullets, flying. After the vote was taken things have not settled down as might have normally been expected. There have been demands for further referendums, such as a demand for a new type of President, popularly elected. The war of words goes on.

But what this all amounts to is that when the 1st of January 2001 comes up there will be no change to the Constitution, but a lot of political figures are threatening to have another referendum when the opportunity arises. But of course there could be other issues coming up over the next few years that could also line up with the Transit of Pluto on our National Chart. The Australian Constitutional Federation was timed to coincide with the beginning of the 20th Century, and therefore the Chart does not differ very much from the World Chart set up

In This Issue...

	Page
The Referendum and Its Aftermath.....	1
Closing of the Polls Chart.....	1
Test No. 37—Solution.....	2
Some Reflections On These Exercises.....	3
New Test No. 38	3
Train Collision	4

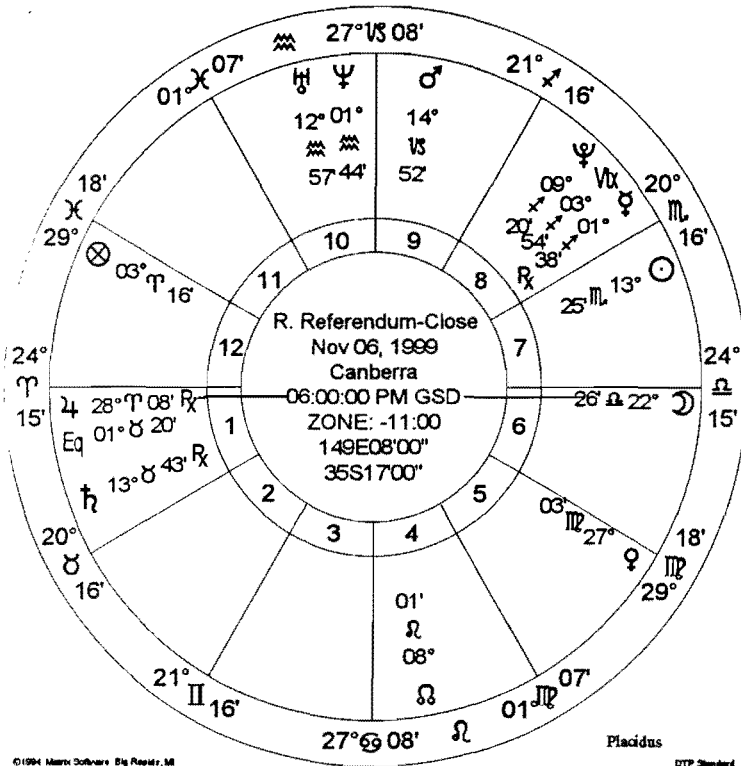

for Greenwich. This has meant that Australia has found itself involved with a lot of the major events on a world scale, such as World Wars. The two Charts have run in tandem, but after the beginning of 2001 this will no longer apply. There will be a New Century Chart, but Australia will continue with the 1901 Chart as long as we have the same Constitution.

CLOSING OF THE POLLS CHART

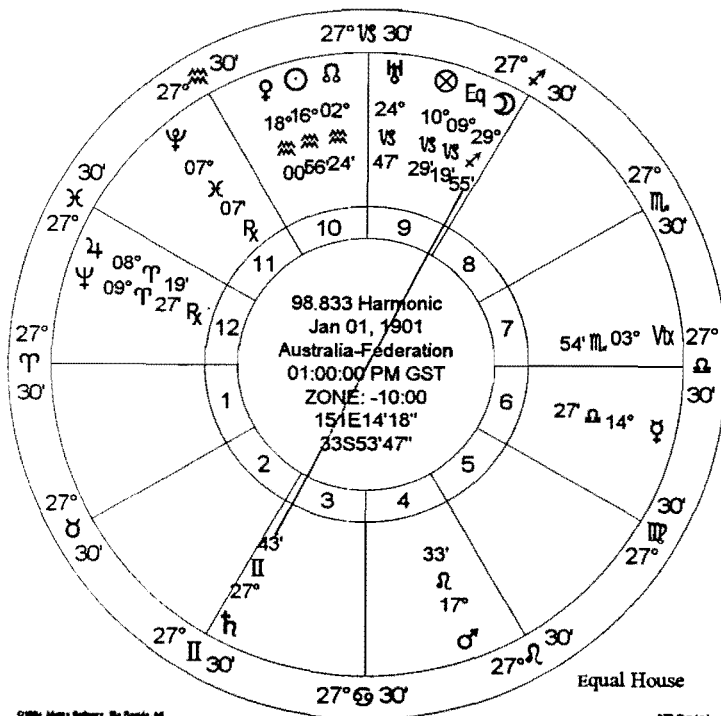

The question asked in the last Issue is answered—which Chart for the Closing of the Polls on the Referendum: Miriam Laister's Chart for 6pm, not 9pm, at Canberra gave the answer—a NO vote, which Miriam predicted. The Chart appears on the next page.

Miriam wrote in her publication, The Cosmic Experience, that Jupiter ruling the 9th House (legal proceedings) is opposed by the Moon, so a No answer was likely. And so it turned out.

An even better picture is given by the Monthly Harmonic of Australia's Federation Chart. The Harmonic 98.833 relates to the month Nov. 1—Dec. 1, 1999, and here it is:

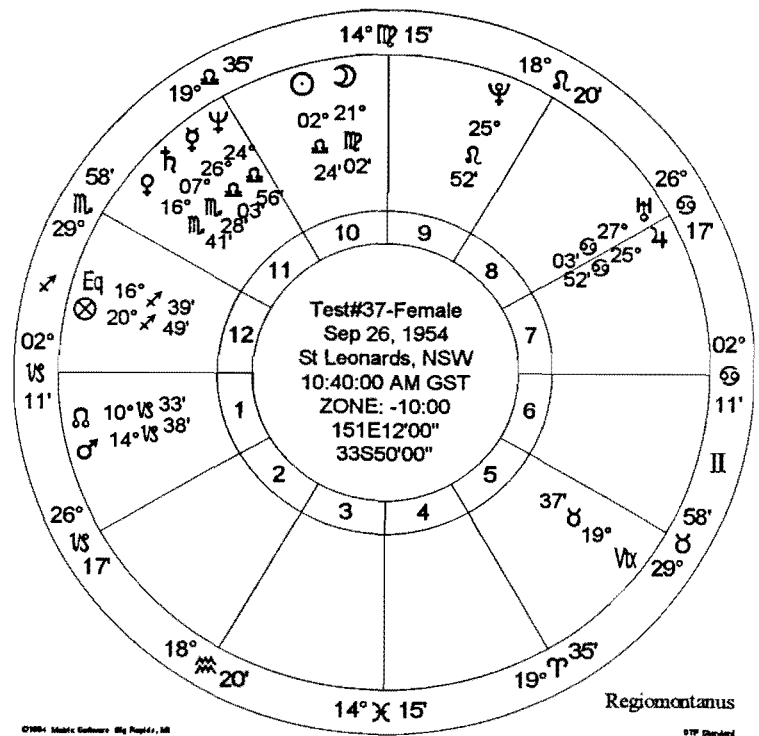

The 9th House (the Constitution) is well-tenanted, and the Moon on the Cusp is opposed by Saturn along the 2nd-9th axis—a clear NO vote.

TEST NO. 37—SOLUTION

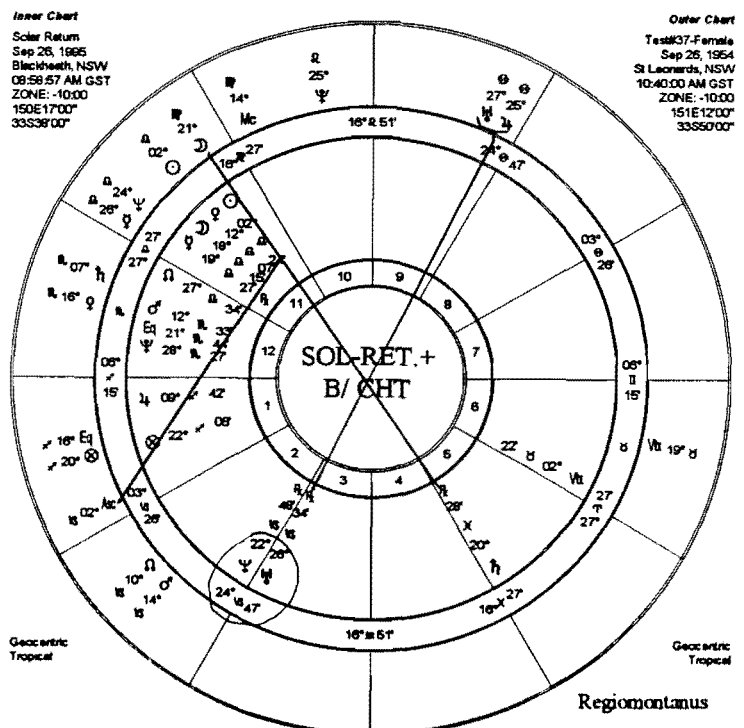

On 9th July 1996 the woman's car was stolen during the night. It was a considerable deprivation for her as she depended on the car for her business activities.

This Test proved to be more difficult than anticipated. There were twenty-one attempts at a solution from twelve readers (some having more than one try) but no one was successful.

The Chart that appears most useful for this exercise is the Solar Return for the place of residence circumscribed by the Natal Figure, as above. The very close aspects are the clue—Uranus 26Cap34 conjunct the 3rd Cusp 25Cap03 (cars) and opposite n.Jupiter 25Can52 and n.Uranus 27Can03. Jupiter rules the Ascendant, so this Opposition can be read as the native's sudden loss of her car. The Opposition Aspect by itself means separation or loss. S.R.Neptune also in the picture, conjunct Uranus and the 3rd Cusp, adds the element of stealth.

Confirmation that it was a loss of assets is provided by Saturn ruling the 2nd House opposing the n.Moon, and the n.Ascendant on the 2nd Cusp square to the Sun.

The finale to the story is that the insurance company would not pay compensation until the stolen car was found. It was discovered five days later totally wrecked, and the insurance money was then received. However a suitable (second-hand) car could not be found for another five weeks, placing further strain on the subject's business and finances.

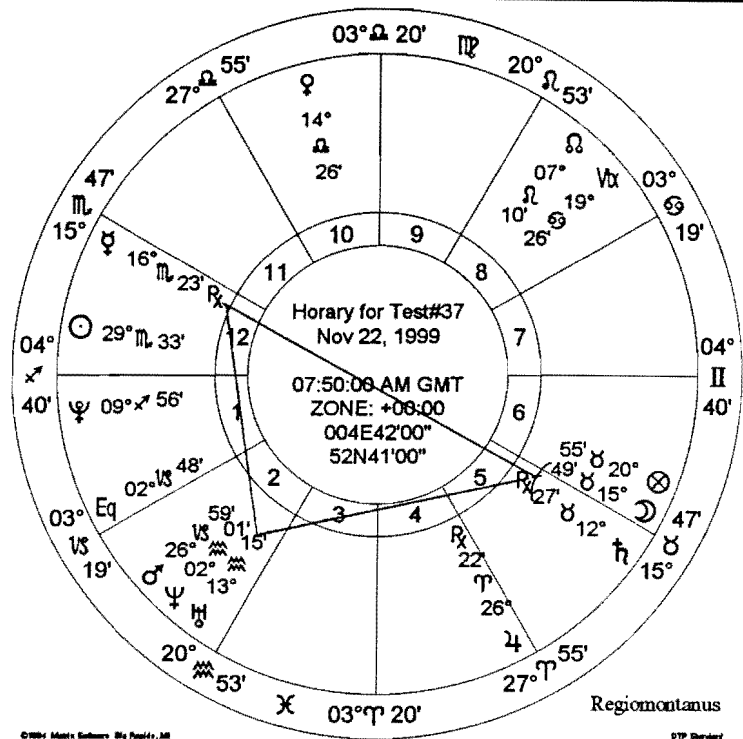

A result almost identical with the Solar Return reading comes from putting the Lunar Return of 23 June '96 around the Birth Chart: L.R.Neptune exactly on the 2nd Cusp opposes n.Jupiter and Uranus, and squares n.Mercury and Neptune. L.R.Uranus in the 2nd House and ruling the 3rd is squared by n.Saturn ruling both the 2nd and 3rd Houses, thus relating the financial loss to a car.

Another Chart that could have provided the basic answer to the question is the 41st Harmonic Chart with h.Venus on the 2nd Cusp of the Birth Chart opposing n.Jupiter and Uranus, square n.Neptune and Mercury (loss of assets). The closeness of the Aspects again provides the clue, and the Cuspal position of the planets concerned tells the area of life affected. But one would have great difficulty in deducing from this Chart that the loss was a car.

It is interesting that a Horary Chart cast by one of the respondents also contained the answer. The Chart is reproduced in the next column. The dominant configuration is the T-Square involving the Moon, Saturn, Uranus and Mercury. Without going too far into the specialized Horary Rules, it is obvious that the woman (the Moon) suffered a financial loss (the Moon separating from Saturn ruling the 2nd House). One might deduce that it was a car as Uranus and Saturn both rule the 3rd House and both are in hard Aspect to Mercury which also has connection with transport and vehicles. Mars conjunct Neptune in the 2nd House is indicative of theft.

SOME REFLECTIONS ON THESE EXERCISES

Do we, as astrologers, tend to look for something sensational instead of the ordinary, everyday matters and occurrences that happen to everybody? The theft of a car is a commonplace affair but many of the responses were slanted towards portentous events that might happen once in a lifetime. Unfortunately, the very nature of the question, "What happened...?" strikes a dramatic note and tends to send the enquirer off in a flurry of activity to unearth something horrendous or startling, quite foreign to the average life of routine activity. The relatively minor things that happen to people are still important for them, even if they do not fall into the category of drama, horror, romance, amazing good fortune or the reverse.

The A.F. "Tests" are exercises intended to promote the astrologer's insight into the type of events that characterize the lives of most people. I therefore try to relate them to these common experiences as a prelude to the astrologer being able to give the person concerned prior warning. Continued application to the "Tests" must result in an enhanced capacity to do just that. I can vouch from my own experience that both failures and successes in the Tests have added their quota of insight and predictive vision.

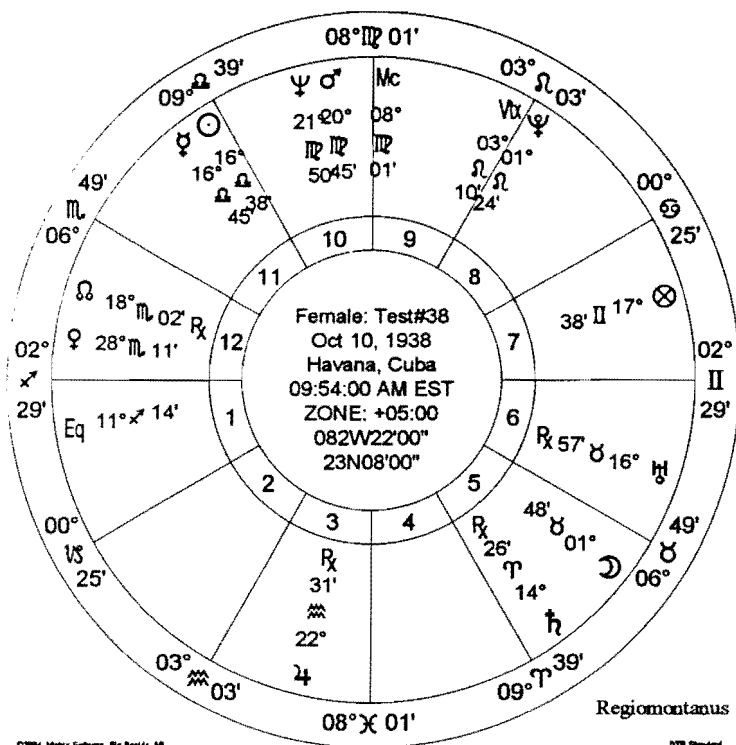

— Dymock.

NEW TEST NO. 38

A Different Approach

This exercise is going to be different—and easier. Instead of your trying to determine what happened to the subject on a given date, I shall tell you the full story and ask you to determine what were the specific astrological factors involved.

Here is the Birth Chart of a woman born in Havana, Cuba, on 10th October 1938 at 9:54am EST. She owns and runs an antique store in Miami, Florida. What happened was an historic event for her. On January 20, 1989 the woman was invited to be with the First Family of the United States in Washington D.C. to attend and celebrate the Inauguration of President George Bush. She stood in the receiving line with the Bush family and sat with them as Bush was sworn into Office as President. After the ceremony she attended all the parties around the city with the First Family. She came away with official historical mementos with government seals in frames and numerous items of remembrance signed by heads of state. Many of the political personalities that she knew from South Florida attended the Inauguration in Washington that day. They had come to enjoy the ceremony and celebrations that followed but had not received a special invitation and were present of their own accord. The great thrill that the woman enjoyed was that these people were astounded to see her, a woman whom they had known only as a dealer with an antique store in Miami, sitting with the Bush family and attending the parties with them. Naturally, for political reasons, many wanted to be where she was. The woman said that this was the outstanding event of her life.

Readers are asked to discover and present in publishable form what were the outstanding astrological factors that most truly reflect this joyous event of a lifetime. You may use any astrological discipline. If possible, show how the factors you present are limited to an event of this nature and could not reasonably be attributed to a widely different occurrence. Please send your responses to me by December 28. I shall be glad to publish the most enlightening replies. — Dymock.

TRAIN COLLISION

The train collision in the Blue Mountains of NSW on 2nd December when seven passengers died and 51 were injured highlights again the recklessness of starting a journey—any journey—when the planetary links are bad. This has been an oft-repeated theme in this journal over the last 15 years. Here is the Chart for the departure of the commuter train from Lithgow to Sydney at 6:39am on Dec. 2, 1999.

The adverse indications are plain to see: ☿, ♀ and ♄ (sudden destruction) clustered round the third Cusp (rail transport), ♄ square to the Vertex (fated events), ☿♀ in the 12th House (sorrows) and especially the ☿/♄ Midpoint (8^h 53') conjunct the 3rd Regiomontanus Cusp (8^h 52')—an orb of only 1'. An augmenting factor is the ☿ ruling the House of Deaths ♄♀ ruling the House of Terminations. It is mooted that the signalling system was the cause of the accident (3rd House again).

The above is more than sufficient to warn off the knowledgeable astrologer. ♄ on the 12th Cusp and ♄♀ 4 also do nothing to inspire confidence in the trip.

Even if it is impossible to persuade the authorities to re-schedule departure times in the light of adverse astrological factors at least one can oneself avoid travelling on particular, dangerous trips. Occasionally, one is even fortunate enough to have friends and acquaintances do likewise.

Season's Greetings to all from Dymock and Marguerite, 5th December, 1999.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 220 November 1999

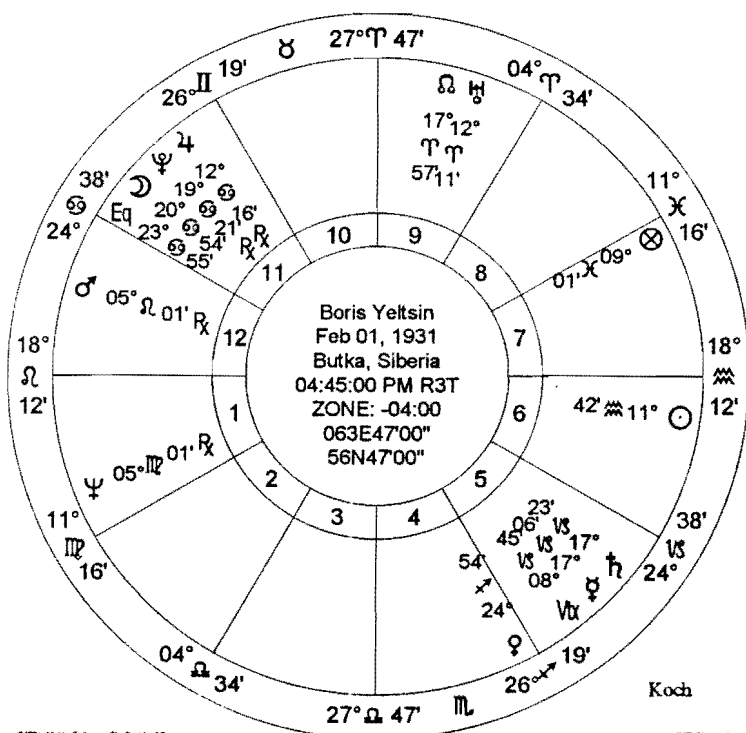

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

BORIS YELTSIN

by Allan Johnson

Boris Yeltsin has been an interesting figure on the world stage since he became President of the Russian Republic in May 1990. At that time the outer planets Neptune, Uranus and Saturn were all in Capricorn and activating his T-Square pattern, and also Pluto (which can be called a Destiny planet was in Scorpio and making the square to his natal Ascendant, and had been squaring his Sun the previous year.

The period immediately following this event lined up with a particularly dangerous period in his life, following the collapse of the Communist Empire. Anything could have happened, but he survived and is still very much alive and in the forefront of things in Russia at the end of 1999. He was certainly in the hot seat, and subject to tremendous pressures and criticisms—but he remained the great survivor.

©1999, Walter Sullivan, My Astrology, Inc.

579 Standard

His Chart was supplied by a Russian astrologer to the British Astrological Association, and events have confirmed it as very accurate, particularly Pluto squaring

In This Issue...

	Page
Boris Yeltsin	1
A Strange Disappearance.....	2
A Republic for Australia?	2
Test No. 36 The Answer	3
New Test, No. 37	4
The Lear Jet Crash	4
Boeing 767 Crashes	4

the Ascendant when all the action started. The T-Square comprised of six planets plus the Node is the centre-piece of the Chart and gives him tremendous drive—and of course the Sun opposite Mars adds to this. The Jupiter/Pluto/Moon conjunction gives tenacity, which he certainly needed. It is very much a Cardinal Chart, with six planets plus the M.C. in that Quality. Leo rising gives him the stubbornness that a survivor needs. The Sun is in Aquarius, a Fixed Sign, but is also very adaptable and gives him the element of unpredictability, which is also indicated by the presence of Uranus in the T-Square.

Where he gets the most criticism is his weakness for alcohol. I would say this links with the Moon, Pluto, Jupiter conjunction in Cancer. We can't blame Pisces this time! The Sun in opposition to Mars could add to this also. He is essentially a man of action rather than intellectual. No emphasis on Air Signs apart from the Sun in Aquarius.

He is due to retire from office in mid-2000 and at this stage it looks as if he could reach that point. In recent years he has had Progressed Sun squaring Pluto, which linked with severe health problems—but he continues to survive. Transiting Uranus made conjunction with his natal Sun in '98 and early '99, so there was certainly a lot of speculation about whether he would complete his term of Office. There is some danger period around mid-January 2000 when Saturn will be Stationary and exactly squaring his Sun. A time to watch. He is said to have a shrewd adviser in his daughter.

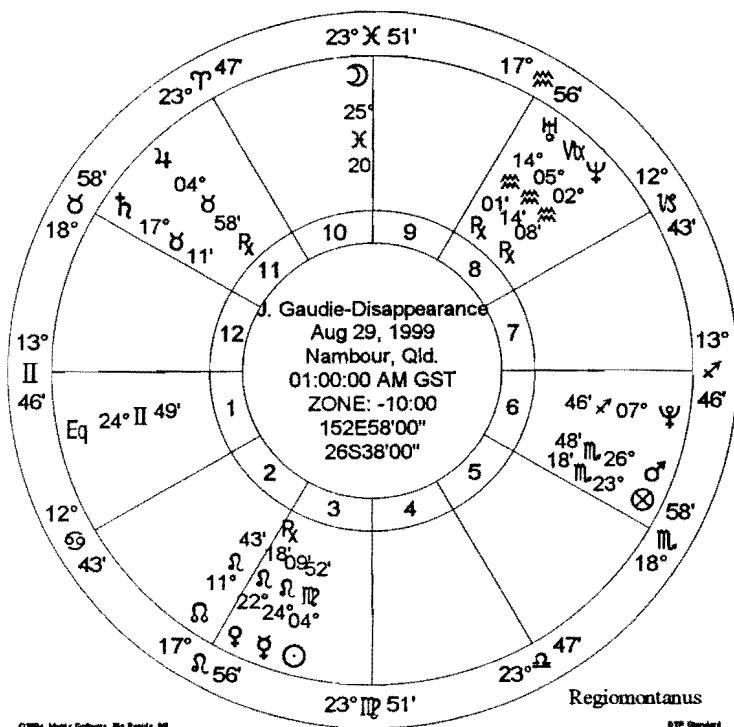

After he leaves the stage the question of his successor is pretty wide open.

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?
ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

A STRANGE DISAPPEARANCE

by Lyla Williams

Early in the morning of August 29th this year a 16-year old girl, Jessica Gaudie, who had been baby-sitting, vanished from somewhere near Nambour, Queensland. She was picked up some time after midnight and driven to the house where the children's mother was attending a party. The driver of the car (the children's father) claims that he dropped Jessica off "near the house" at 1am. She was never seen again.

The Chart for the alleged drop-off is interesting: Gemini rises and the Ascendant Ruler (Mercury) conjoints Venus in the 3rd House. Mercury conjunct Venus in this House would indicate a young female person, and the conjunction forms a quincunx to the Moon/MC conjunction—an important Aspect with health and life-altering concerns.

Another planet in this House is the Sun which squares Pluto in the 6th House (work and health) and trines Jupiter (Retrograde) in the 11th House (casual acquaintances). Pluto is the planet most often associated with death, and sits close to Mars, Ruler of the 6th House and Co-Ruler with Pluto of the natural 8th House. Mars squares the Mercury/Venus conjunction and trines the Moon/Midheaven conjunction.

In the 8th House (Death) we find Neptune, Ruler of the MC, squaring Jupiter, and Uranus squaring Saturn, Ruler of the 8th House. Note also that Uranus trines the Gemini Ascendant.

The pre-event Solar Eclipse at 18° Leo sits on the Cusp of the 3rd House squaring Saturn, Mars and Uranus—remnants of the Grand Cross formed at the time of the Eclipse. The 3rd House rules short journeys in addition to young people, and it was only a short journey from the house where she was baby-sitting to her destination.

As there has been no sighting of Jessica since that night, there is a strong possibility that she is dead. Some confirmation of this can be found in the Midpoints: Mercury/Venus lies at the Midpoint Mars/Saturn, an axis of violence, and the involvement of these planets leads me to think that she was abducted and murdered. Other Midpoints suggest a similar reading: Saturn is at the midpoint Mercury/Venus-Uranus and Sun/Neptune; Pluto is at the Midpoint Moon/MC-Mercury/Venus, and Moon/MC is at the Midpoint Saturn/Neptune and Jupiter/Uranus.

Where might Jessica be? Taking the Mercury/Venus conjunction to represent the young girl, we find Venus ruling the 12th House (burial) and Mercury ruling the 4th House (home environment). In The Only Way to Learn Horary and Electional Astrology the authors, March and McEver, write that if the significator of the lost person is in Leo, then one suggested direction is North-East. No doubt the police have already covered these areas thoroughly but there is always the possibility of another search as more information comes to light.

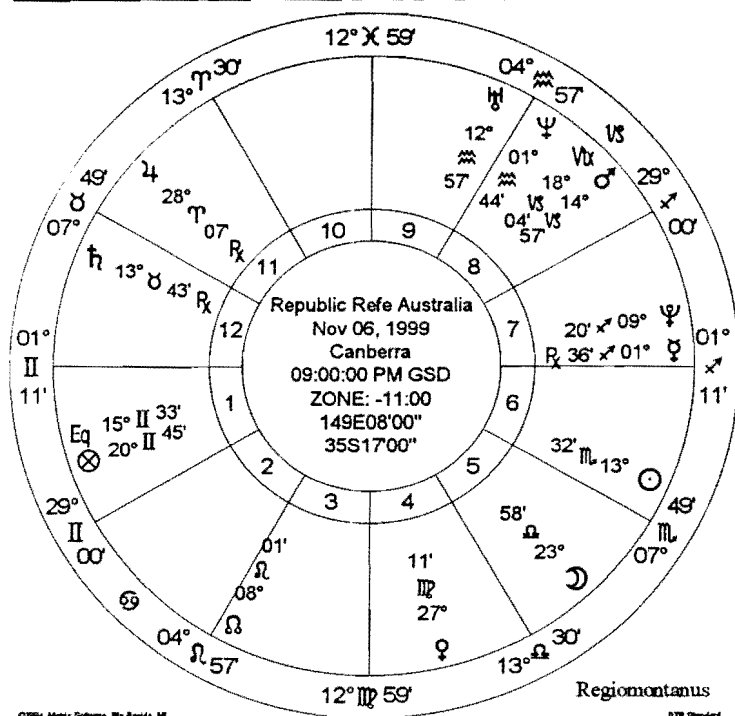

A REPUBLIC FOR AUSTRALIA?

On November 6 Australia votes for or against changing to a Republic from a Constitutional Monarchy. Debate has surged back and forth over the past months, and the question is to be resolved on November 6 by Referendum. A Chart can be set for 6pm Daylight Saving Time when the Polls will close at Canberra, Capital of Australia. The polls closing is three hours later in West Australia (which is not on DST) and it is a question which time is preferable.

I discussed this matter with Miriam Laister, who has adopted the 6pm Chart in her monthly Newsletter, The Cosmic Experience, and sees it as a likely "No" vote, which is a reasonable interpretation of the Chart. A change to the Constitution needs to be approved by a majority of voters in at least four of the six States and by a majority of voters in Australia overall. Most people being fearful or dubious of change gives the "No" protagonists an advantage. The great majority of referenda in this country are lost.

However, from the 9pm Chart on the next page when all polls will be closed in Australia I see the opposite—a "Yes" vote to change the Constitution.

The dominant configuration is Uranus, planet of radical change, occupying the 9th House which relates to the Constitution, and in a T-Square with the Sun and Saturn. Uranus and Saturn both rule the 9th House so their relevance here to the Constitution is unquestionable. The square to the Sun reflects the importance of the matter—going to the heart of the Nation. Furthermore, Neptune (another planet of change, albeit by gentle means) adds emphasis by its position on the 9th Cusp.

Subsidiary factors of interest are -

- (1) Pluto, Angular, and semisquare the Moon. The Moon represents the people and Pluto's splitting action shows a Nation divided on this question.
- (2) Jupiter (the Law and the Constitution) opposed by the Moon, favours change.
- (3) The Midpoint Moon/Mercury at 12° Sco 47' is on the Sun at 13° Sco 32', and square Uranus (9' orb)—also a pointer to change.
- (4) Uranus opposite the N.Node, emphasizes its disruptive action.
- (5) Mutable Cusps on Angles are consonant with instability and change.

So from this 9pm Chart I anticipate the vote will be for a Republic. It will be very interesting to see whether this or the 6pm Chart reflects the result. — Dymock.

TEST 36: THE ANSWER

For the Radix see page 4 of the last Issue, No. 219. The Question was what happened to the native on 7 June 1999, at Fort Lauderdale, USA?

Answer: The woman went for a yearly health exam in January, 1999. Tests showed she had colon cancer that had spread to her liver. The doctor told her there was nothing he could do to save her life.

She couldn't accept this sentence of death. She searched everywhere and finally found a doctor who told her that he would operate to remove half her liver (the liver is an organ that can regenerate) if she would take cancer therapy drugs for a few months. If at the end of that time she was tested and she passed the blood test then the doctor said he would operate.

He did stipulate that if they opened her up and found that the cancer had spread, he would not continue the operation and would just close her up and send her home.

On June 7 she underwent the operation and part of her liver was removed because the doctor found that the cancer had not spread. Today she is back at work and still cancer free. The operation (at Fort Lauderdale) appears to have been a complete success.

There were thirteen replies. Clair Bunnett (Vic) was closest, deducing from the Transits and Progression of Pluto "a far-reaching change in the woman's way of life", and a surgical operation: shown in the Solar Return Figure with its relation to the Radix:

Mars in the 8th House (surgery) very closely squares Natal Mars and Natal Uranus.

It is harder to see the success of the surgery but a clue is given by Jupiter sextile the Rising Degree and trine the Natal Vertex. Further, if we take the 8th House (surgery) as the 1st, then the 11th House becomes the outcome, and the Sun, ruling the 8th is in the 11th together with Pluto, Venus and Mercury. Venus (recovery) is at the Midpoint of Mercury and Pluto (surgery).

Most of those who sent answers deduced a dangerous episode. For those who saw a hint of love or marriage here is an interesting note:

The lady was determined to attend the wedding of her only child (a daughter) that was scheduled to take place in July in another country. She got her wish and was able to attend the wedding and have a wonderful holiday in a Scandinavian country. — Dymock.

NEW TEST, NO. 37

This concerns a woman born on 26th September 1954 in St Leonards, NSW (33S50, 151E12) at 10:40am AEST. (Asc 2Cap11, MC 14Vir15, Moon 21Vir02). She has been married and divorced, and lives with her two children. What happened to her on 9 July 1996? At the time she was living at Blackheath NSW (33S38, 150E17). (HINT: It is nothing esoteric or far-fetched.)

Please send your answers to me by 28th November 1999. Postal address: The Editor, Astrologers' Forum, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia 5073, or by E-mail to dymock@ozemail.com.au.

Use any astrological system and state the basis of your findings—only the crucial factors involved need be given. Attempting these exercises will give you an illuminating view of the efficacy or inadequacy of your current techniques. The correct answer will be published in the next Issue. All respondents will receive individual replies

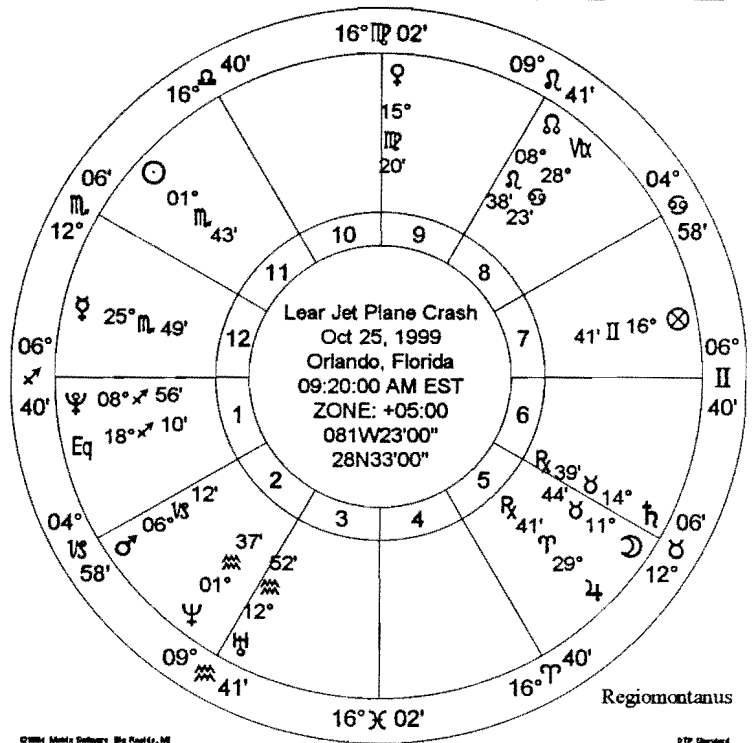

LEAR JET CRASHES

The Chart below is set for the departure time at Orlando Airport, Florida, USA, of the Lear Jet that soared across the heavens out of control for about five hours before finally crashing off-course in South Dakota, killing all six people on board. The belief is that at 39,000 feet the plane lost cabin pressure and oxygen, killing the occupants within a few minutes.

This Chart highlights again the wisdom of examining the astrological indications for the projected departure time of any journey by land, air or sea, before heedlessly starting out. The skills of astrologers are available to all.

In the Figure above, Pluto rises in the reckless and accident-prone Sign, Sagittarius, which is a bad enough portent to start with. Its trine to the Moon's Node is labelled by Reinhold Ebertin (The Combination of Stellar Influences) as "a common and tragic destiny shared with other persons".

The Sun, Significator of life, and ruling the House of Journeys is right on the Ascendant and in a very close square to Neptune, planet of hidden defects and danger © 1999 M. J. Dymock. All Rights Reserved.

PTP Standard

from gases, and Ruler of the "End of Life" House.

Uranus in the House of Short Trips is squared by Saturn, Ruler of the same House, emphasizing the propensity of Uranus/Saturn to cause breakages and accidents.

The Moon is in the unfavourable 6th House and rules the House of Death. It's conjunction with Saturn and square to Uranus gave the passengers no chance.

Like the Kennedy plane crash of 16th July last, when the recklessness of Sagittarius was also in evidence, these accidents will recur again and again while Astrology remains ignored, derided and unutilized by those who continue to avoid it out of ignorance, prejudice or fear. "Lord, what fools these mortals be!"

ANOTHER MAJOR PLANE CRASH

Word has just arrived of the crash into the Atlantic Ocean of Flight 990, a Boeing 767 Jet carrying 19 passengers and 17 crew. The Egyptian-owned plane left John F. Kennedy Airport, New York, at 1:19AM EST on Sunday 31 October, and disappeared 41 minutes after take-off. Debris and one body have already been found, so it is presumed all on board have perished.

There is insufficient space here for the take-off Chart, but for those who like to set it up the Ascendant is 6°Vir16', MC 2°Gem05', Moon 4°Leo20'.

The adverse factors are multiple: The Sun opposed by Saturn and square to Uranus, Neptune, the Node, the Vertex and the Moon; The Moon opposed by Neptune, Uranus and the Vertex, square the Sun and Jupiter. Neptune square Jupiter and conjunct the Vertex; Pluto square the Ascendant; Mars square the East Point.

Another sad item in aviation history, one that could have been avoided by heeding planetary warnings. — Dymock. 1 Nov 1999.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 219 October 1999

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

EAST TIMOR

The Chart hereunder is for the Democratic Republic of East Timor which proclaimed its independence from Portugal on 28 November 1975 (from Nicolas Campion's invaluable work, The Book of World Horoscopes). Nine days later Indonesia invaded and annexed the country, since when guerilla bands of East Timorese have been fighting to regain their independence against savage and merciless treatment by the Indonesian military. The Chart is set for the capital city, Dili.

Under the auspices of the United Nations, a plebiscite of the East Timorese people resulted on 4th September 1999 in an overwhelming vote for independence as against autonomous integration with Indonesia. This result, clearly against the wishes and ambitions of Indonesia, has brought an upsurge of murder, torture, violence, destruction and displacement of the local population by the Indonesian military. Bad though this has been in the last twenty four years, after the ballot it occurred on an unprecedented scale. The Indonesian brutality has been largely halted by the

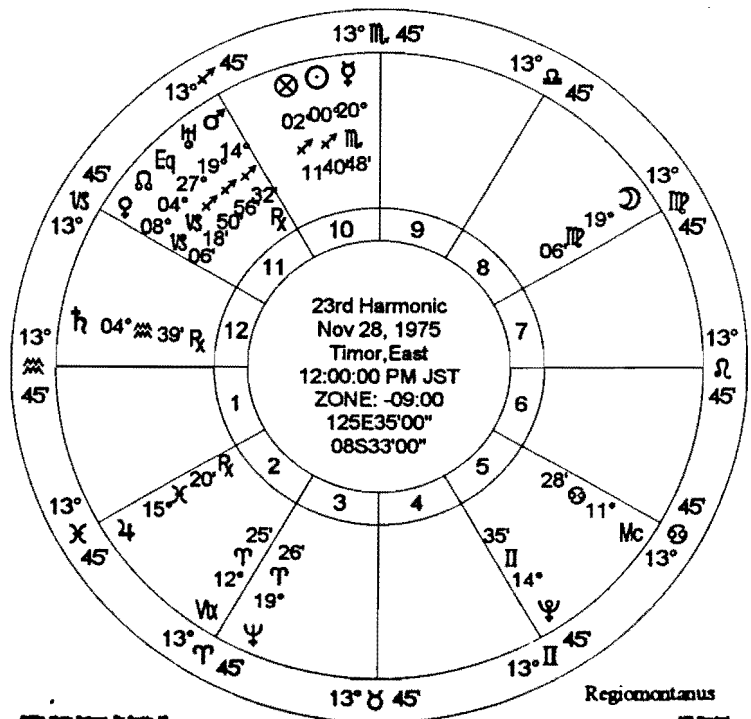

In This Issue...

	Page
East Timor—Time of Terror.....	1
Radix and 23rd Age Harmonic	1
24th Age Harmonic, Directions & Progressions	2
Solution to Test No. 35	3
Horary Chart for Test No. 35.....	3
New Test, No. 36	4

interposition on 20th September of a United Nations Peacekeeping Force led by Australia, but still hundreds of thousands, possibly half a million, East Timorese, forcibly evacuated to Western Timor (Indonesian territory) are terrorized by militia gangs and prevented from returning to their homeland.

In the Radix the close square of Mars to the Moon (the people) graphically depicts the campaign of violence and death against the populace. The Moon occupies the House of Death, and the Aspect is accentuated by the placement of both planets on Cusps. The Ascendant (the Nation as a whole) is quincunx Pluto (superior force) symbolizing the Nation's struggle against an oppressor.

The 23rd Age Harmonic Chart below relates to the period 28 Nov. 1998—28 Dec. 1999 which covers the date of the ballot and the escalation of the Indonesian violence.

The Mars—Pluto Opposition, with both planets on Cusps, clearly shows the intensified brutality while the squares to Jupiter depict its lawless nature (the Indonesian Army officially repudiates responsibility for the lawless militia gangs though it's covert support of them is well established).

Age Harmonic 23.75 shown below relates to the month 28 Aug 99—28 Sep 99, covering the period of the September Referendum.

28 Aug 99—28 Sep 99

The Part of Fortune on the 9th Cusp (the Poll—a legal process) trine to the Ascending Degree and Radical Venus (19Lib55) depicts the joy of the East Timorese at the result. This is further indicated by the Moon (the people) ruling the 10th House (their aspirations) trine to the Sun ruling the 11th (hopes and wishes—their gratification or otherwise). The trine Aspect shows realization of the voters' desires. However, the Moon in the 4th House square to Saturn ruling the 4th means there is much hardship (hunger, destroyed homes, lack of medical attention, etc) still to be faced in their homeland. The Peacekeeping Force (Interfet) is doing what it can but does not yet have the resources to counter all the difficulties.

So what will be the final result? When will the East Timorese people be re-housed, free from fear, with adequate food and medical facilities, able to resume their interrupted lives? Not this year, or next, judging from the Cyclic Charts. There are bands of marauding militia still harrasing the population and often raiding

U.N. food stores.

Below is the 24th Age Harmonic Chart for the year 28 Nov 1999—28 Nov 2000.

This Harmonic puts Natal Pluto right on the Mid-heaven degree, characterizing the continuing period of fundamental change and re-building going on in the country.

The close aspects in the Chart reveal the important features of the Nation's life in the Solar Year:

Saturn ruling the Ascendant is on the 6th Cusp and its opposition to the Natal Sun highlights the delays, frustration and deprivation still obtaining during this period.

Mercury conjunct Uranus signifies progressive thought and talk, an awakening of the intellectual faculties of the people who are bent on change.

A more sinister note is the square of Mars to Natal Neptune on the 12th Cusp, signifying the covert operations of armed militia gangs still terrorizing the East Timorese.

Critical points during the year are shown by the Progressions, Directions and Stationary Transits affecting the Radix:

24 Oct 99: Mars Opp. Sun (Conv. Sol-Arc). Probable assassination or attempted assassination of a leading political figure.

9 Dec 99: Uranus Cnj. MC (Sol-Arc). Unrest in Government circles. Change of Government of the East Timorese. New policies.

- 13 Dec 99. Jupiter trine Saturn ((Vertex-Arc): Development of finance and commerce.
 13 Jan 2000. Mercury Opp. Mars (Conv. Sol-Arc): Difficulties in regard to education, schools, communications, roads and and transport.
 7 Feb 2000. Saturn Squ. MC (Asc-Arc): Serious troubles in the Government.
 18 Mar 2000. Moon Squ. Sun (Conv. Asc-Arc): Civil unrest.
 28 Mar 2000. Mars Opp. Mercury (Conv. Sol-Arc): Acts of violence on the roads. Crimes against children.
 10 Jun 2000. Uranus Cnj. Pluto (Conv. Asc-Arc): Collapse of a regime. Sudden change in East Timorese government. A hint of revolution.
 21 Aug 2000. Pluto Stat. Cnj. Neptune: Turmoil and confusion in the Government. A splitting of power.
 18 Sep 2000. Jupiter Tri. Node (Conv. Asc-Arc): A boost to the Nation's economy.
 29 Sep 2000. Jupiter Stat. Opp. Neptune: Inflationary tendencies in the Nation's currency.
 15 Oct 2000. Neptune Stat. Opp. Saturn: Widespread discontent. Epidemic illnesses.
 7 Nov 2000. Mars Opp. Sun (Conv. Asc-Arc): Assassination attempt against a political leader.

Unfortunately, difficult and troublous times still lie ahead for the East Timorese people. — Dymock.

SOLUTION TO TEST NO. 35

The subject received a phone call on Thursday, 2 Sep 1999 in Fairfield, Connecticut, that his 81-year-old father had been murdered on Wed, 1 Sep. 99, in Montreal, Canada, during a burglary at his apartment.

The subject is a male psychologist, born on 2nd March 1948 at 5:35am EST in Montreal, Quebec (45N31, 73W34). He is married, with two children. He works in a clinic and also has a part-time private practice. His mother is deceased.

The question was, what happened in his life on September 2, this year, 1999? At the time he was living in Fairfield, Connecticut, whose geographic coordinates are 41°N09', 73°W16.

There were eleven replies. The one who got it right was Jenifer Pommerin of West Australia: "Accidental death of a family member or friend. Possibly the subject was involved but escaped injury. Second choice: Victim of a break and enter—theft." This was as near to the precise facts as we can hope to get at the present stage of our Astrology. Several other respondents diagnosed "accidental death" but missed the other essential factors—the father's death and the break and enter from which it resulted. Some were misled by the 7th House planets in various Charts and assumed a marital break-up. One or two wrote that his mother died, overlooking that the the mother was already deceased, as given in the question. Other close but partial answers were grief, sorrow; major adjustment, fateful crisis, radical change, disruption.

This was a difficult exercise. My congratulations to all who studied the possibilities and wrote an answer. Their reward will certainly be increased insight and expertise.

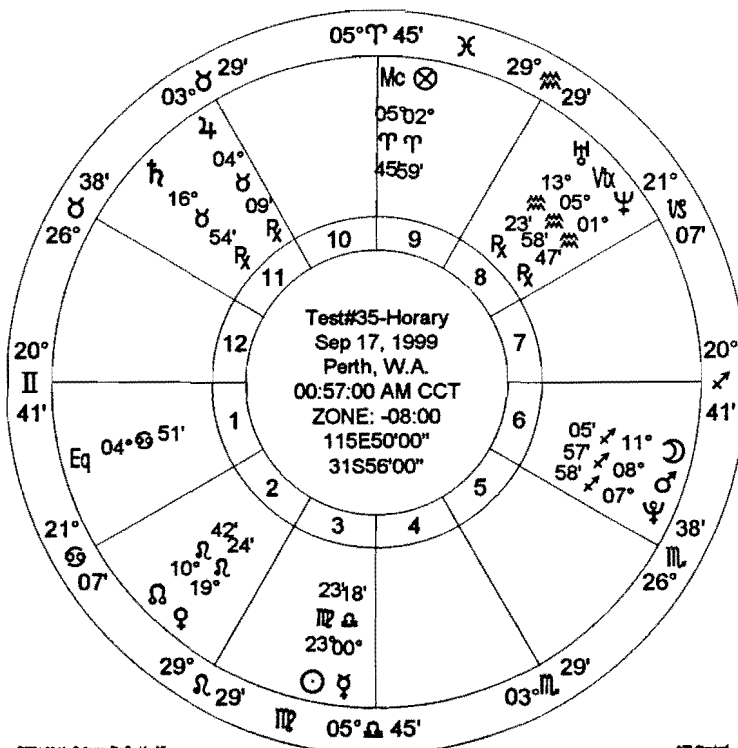

To arrive at her result, Jenifer used a Horary Chart, the 51st Age Harmonic, the Converse Solar Return for the subject's place of birth, and the Transits of Pluto and Uranus.

From the Age Harmonic Jenifer deduced "accident/-assault" (h.Mars conjunct n.Uranus), but that the subject himself was protected from injury (h.Jupiter conjunct n.Moon). [This was a vital point. —Ed.]

The Converse Solar Return showed Pluto square the Sun (fateful happening; death of father) Node conj. n.Asc and Opp. Pluto/Saturn Midpoint (bereavement); Mars Conj. n.Uranus (accident/assault). Neptune Conj. Mars/Pluto Midpoint (stealth; robbery in home).

Transiting Pluto conjunct n.Moon (death in family); t.Uranus conjunct Asc (radical change, stress).

Transiting Saturn conjunct Moon's Node and square to Asc (sorrow or enmity, e.g., thief).

Above is Jenifer's Horary Chart, cast for the date, time and place when she read and understood the question:

The Moon has just passed a conjunction with Pluto/Mars (violent assault, injury), then forms a square to 4th-House Mercury (thief in home)...then a conjunction with Neptune in the 8th House:

dissolution of earthly ties, or loss of valuables.

Saturn conjunct natal Moon's Node:

death/worry—associates or family.

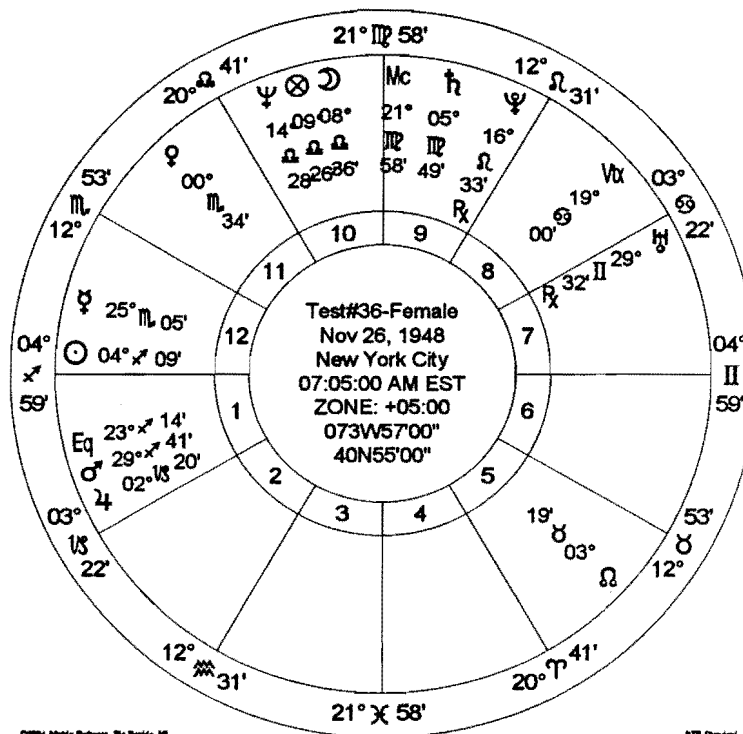

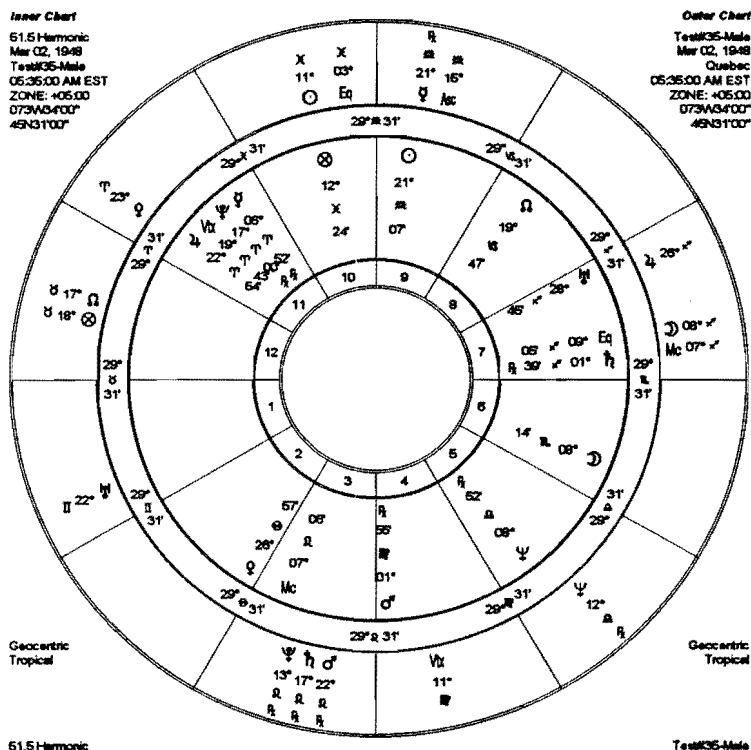

Moon's Node conjunct natal Pluto:

death/upheaval—associates or family.

Moon's Node opposite 8th House Uranus:

separation through death.

I should say the most indicative Chart was the Age Harmonic 51.5 for the month in which the burglary and murder occurred, 2 Sep—2 Oct, 99. It is shown below with the Natal Chart circumscribed for easy observation of the inter-Chart Aspects.

What happened to her on 7 June 1999, at Fort Lauderdale, Florida (26N07, 80W08)?

Please send your answers to me by 28th October 1999. Postal address: The Editor, Astrologers' Forum, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia 5073, or by E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au.

I urge all readers to attempt this exercise, using any astrological technique. The solution will appear in the November Issue of A.F.

Remember, these Tests are not to find "winners" but to give all serious astrologers an opportunity to improve their methods by applying them to practical issues in everyday life. There are no prizes—only the satisfaction of seeing your astrological skills and insight improve. Unless we can bring our astrology down to earth in this way it ceases to be relevant.

You gain maximum benefit by sending in a written report. All who do so will receive a personal reply.

Readers declare that Astrologers' Forum has taught them more astrology than any other publication.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 7th Oct 1999.

The most powerful Aspect in the Harmonic Chart is Mars square Saturn, both planets right on Angles and with an orb less than 30'. Saturn is a significator of the father, as also is the 4th Cusp. Other close connections are: Uranus on the 8th Cusp, the Sun closely opposed to natal Mars, Jupiter, ruling the 8th House and the 11th (the "Death" House of the father) trine to natal Mars (orb less than 15').

Mars square Saturn = violence and injury.

Uranus = shock through a death (8th Cusp) to the native (Uranus quincunx Venus ruling the Ascendant).

Mars opposing the Sun = death of father, doubly indicated by the Sun and the 4th House which the Sun rules.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 218 September 1999

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

TEST NO. 34—THE ANSWER

The woman travelled to India for three months to see Sai Baba (Hindu Guru) and gain spiritual upliftment. She sold her home to finance the trip.

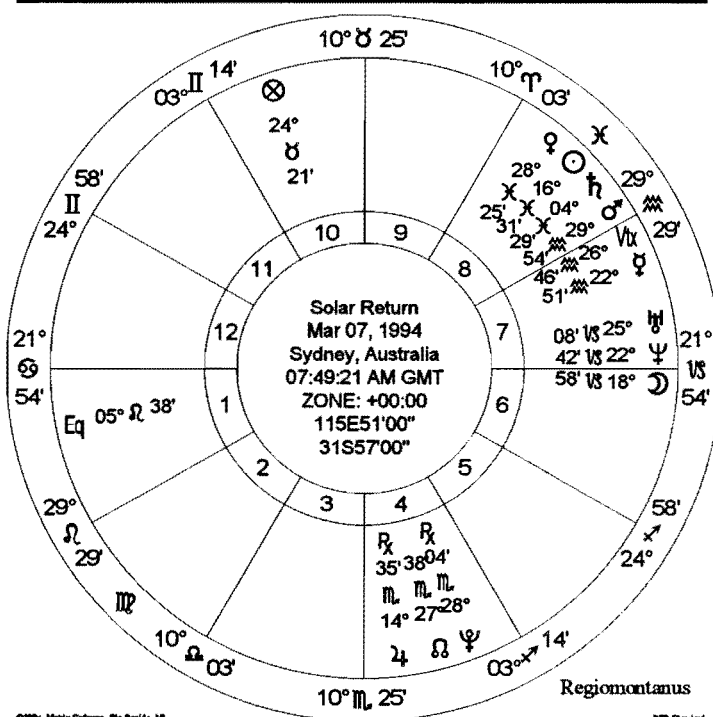

The subject was a woman born on 7th March, 1936, 6:03am GMT, in Birmingham, England, (Birth Chart below). The Question: was what occurred in her life on 26th Sept, 1994? She was living in Perth, West Australia, at the time.

It was gratifying to have eleven written responses from readers—congratulations to them all for their efforts which assure them increased understanding and skill. Fay Jenkins (Vic) was essentially correct when she wrote “changed environment and lifestyle/vocation ... moved house ... perhaps an overseas holiday”. Fay used Progressions, Transits, the Solar Return and the 58th Harmonic (corresponding with the woman’s age). Most respondents were understandably misled by the emphasis on the 8th House of the Solar Return Chart (next column), assuming that the event was a serious illness or death. The 8th House refers also to spiritual or psychological regeneration—the symbolic death of

In This Issue...

	Page
Test No. 34—The Answer	1
Solar Return.....	1
Age Harmonic; Solar Ret.+ Birth Cht. ...	2
Solving with a Horary Chart	3
New Test, No. 35	3
Unaspected Planets.....	4

the “desire body”. The Moon, Neptune and Uranus in the 7th House was taken by some as indicating a new alliance.

The Solar Return Chart set for the place of residence (Perth, W.A.) has Pluto on the 5th Cusp conjunct the N.Node and trine Venus in Pisces (fateful connection or association with a charismatic figure). This indication is repeated and reinforced by the Ruling Moon conjunct Neptune and Uranus on the 7th Cusp (meeting with a mystic or spiritual person). Jupiter at the 4th Cusp trine the Sun ruling the 2nd House showed the money resulting from the sale of the woman’s home. (One or two respondents picked up this money influence.)

The ideas of injury, illness or a new alliance are all dispelled by the 58th Age Harmonic Chart (next page) which shows none of these eventualities but does portend travel (Pluto in the 9th; Venus ruling the 9th conjunct the Moon in the 3rd); a fundamental change of aim and outlook (Pluto opposite the floating MC); interest in mysticism and spiritual enlightenment (Neptune at the Midheaven trine Jupiter); revolutionary ideas (Mercury opposite Uranus, Co-Ruler). All the above Aspects have close or very close orbs.

An Age Harmonic Chart based on an accurate birth time is a constantly reliable source of information, whereas the Solar Return Chart occasionally isn't. An instance that occurs to me was the assassination of President J.F. Kennedy, graphically depicted by the Age Harmonic of his wife Jacqueline, while her Solar Return laid most stress on connubial bliss (see Astrologers' Forum Issues No's 155/156 of June/July 1994).

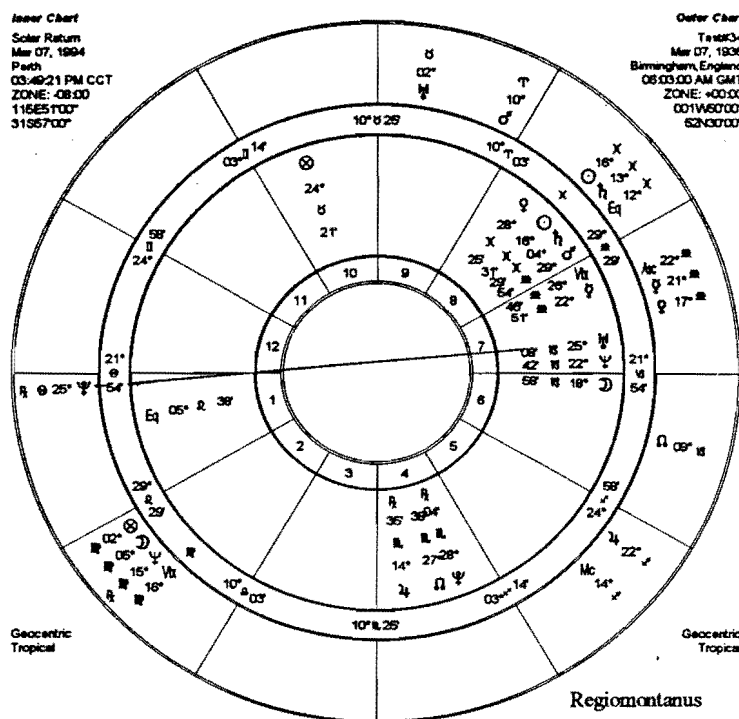

The Solar Return Chart becomes more apposite when related to the Birth Figure. It is presented in the adjacent column with the Natus circumscribed. Aside from the aspects in the Return itself, the inter-Chart Aspects are —

Pluto rising opposite Uranus (revolutionary personal change),

Mars on the 9th Cusp (long-distance travel), and Mercury at 22°Aqu51' right on the Natal Ascendant and ruling the Natal 4th (change of residence).

Other standard procedures are Progressions and Transits, which were used by most of the entrants. Not so popular but adopted by a few were Uranian methods, Transits of Midpoints, the precessed Lunar Return, the Prenatal Solar Return, and the Huber technique. The fact that these latter methods were not successful on this occasion does not mean they are

Inner Chart
Solar Return
Mar 07, 1994
Path
03:49:21 PM COT
ZONE: -08:00
116E5100°
3155700°

Solar Return

Test No. 34

invalidated, but I aim to demonstrate, if possible, that the answers to these Tests can be arrived at using common procedures, and that they do not require the use of the latest computer programs supplying a multitude of different charts and a great number of contacts with Radical planets, which mostly leads to confusion rather than a clear judgement.

In my experience, the most informative and reliable Chart is the Harmonic for the person's age, but it does require an accurate birth time, or the House positions and rulerships will be untrustworthy.

Mostly, the advantage of having various different cyclic charts to view is that the main themes are confirmed in a number of them or sometimes an important feature is obvious in one chart that is submerged in another.

The only very significant Progression for Test 34 was P.Sun trine P.Neptune on 14th September 1994, and among Transits both Uranus and Neptune were at their first Stations (22Cap23 and 20Cap34) on October 1, 1994, conjunct the Natal Jupiter/Ascendant Midpoint (22°Cap25') and Asc/MC (18°Cap35'). These certainly show that something important is happening around the date of the event, 26 September 1994, but to discover what we have to examine the cyclic charts.

A technique that is worth trying (and a very good exercise) is the Horary chart. It was used recently by one entrant with partial success. Cast the chart for the date, place and time when you first became aware of the problem and had the urge to solve it. You are represented by the 1st House and its Ruler. The person asked about is represented similarly by the 7th House. The Moon is a general indicator of events, and to find out what has happened in the past examine the last conjunction of the Moon.

The recommended House system for Horaries is Regiomontanus, as used by the renowned 17th Century astrologer, William Lilly. I have found this domification method works well in other types of charts, having myself successively experimented with Placidus, Topocentric, Regiomontanus and Koch. I am now back to Regiomontanus because it's Cusps were significant in the charts I have been using but were of no real account with other House systems. What cemented my decision to revert to Regiomontanus is that in contrast with Placidus and Koch the Cusps are formed by trisection of the quadrants of the ECLIPTIC and not of the Prime Vertical. As practically everything else in astrology is referred to the Ecliptic I consider this to be a powerful argument in favour of Regiomontanus.

A Horary Chart for one of Astrologers' Forum Tests is not a matter of public concern but your own personal, interested enquiry, so you should be to some extent described by the 1st House, its Ruler, or the Moon. Otherwise the Horary Chart is not "Radical" or "fit to be judged". In matters of public enquiry as, for instance, "Will Hillary Clinton or Joe Blow be elected to the Senate?" you stand aside and are not represented in the chart, but you should be so represented where you are asking about something that is personally significant for you.

The following is an example of a Horary Chart that was cast for Test No. 33 (The original Chart is on p. 4).

Here, the last planet the Moon passed over is Uranus, and Uranus is directly opposite the Moon's Node—divorce!—which was the correct answer.

In this Chart the Moon also ruled the 7th House which represents the person enquired about (the "quesited"). The woman was a high-school art teacher. Her occupation is shown by the 4th House as that is the 10th when taking the 7th as her Ascendant. Taurus is on the Cusp, ruled by Venus, and Venus occupies the Sign Leo, which combination is a pretty good signification for an art teacher. Take it as a general rule that at least in Horary Astrology, the RULER of a House is more important than planets occupying the House.

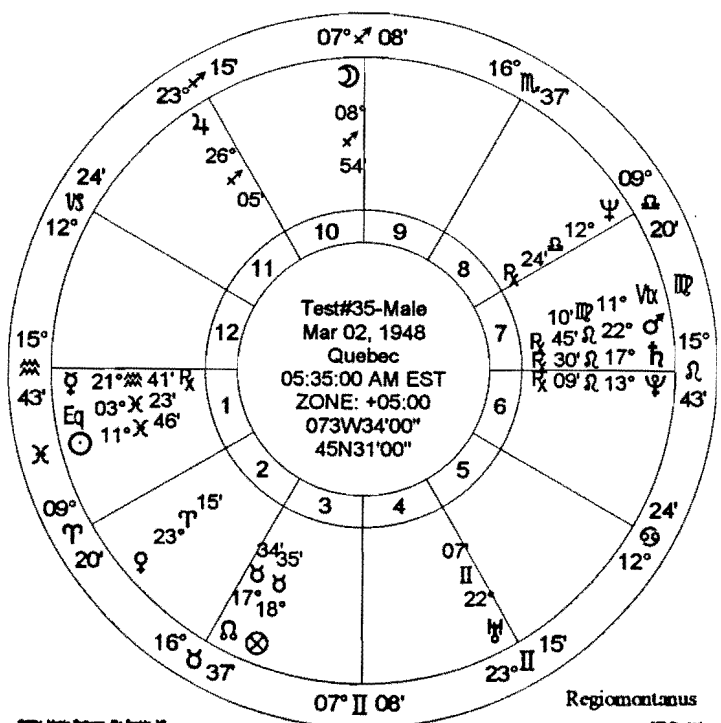

Though all this was not seen at the time, in retrospect it looks clear enough. So, you can try solving the Tests with Horary Charts, and at the same time introduce yourself to what is arguably the most useful and practical branch of Astrology. The remarkable correlation between the planets in the sky and the situation on Earth is a continuing revelation such as makes even the seasoned astrologer marvel.

— Dymock.

NEW TEST NO. 35

The subject is a male psychologist, born on 2nd March 1948 at 5:35am EST in Montreal, Quebec (45N31, 73W34). His Birth Chart is below. He is married, with two children. He works in a clinic and also has a part-time private practice. His mother is deceased.

The question is what happened in his life on 2nd

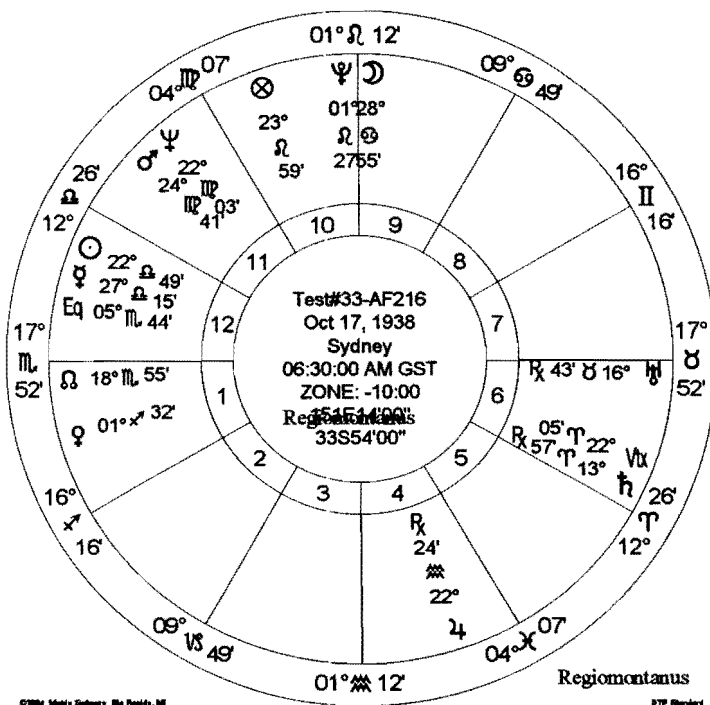

September, this year, 1999? At the time he was living in Fairfield, Connecticut whose geographic coordinates are 41°N09', 73°W16.

Please post your answers to me at 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia 5073, or e-mail to dymock@ozemail.com.au, by 28 Sep. 1999.

UNASPECTED PLANETS

Fay Jenkins (Vic) has a question from Test No.33 —

"How does one delineate, decipher, an unaspected planet like Saturn, 15Ari57? ... Does it wait until it's transited before it's used?"

Geoffrey Dean in his monumental book Recent Advances wrote (p.356):

1. An unaspected planet is usually (but not always) anything but weak. The effect is one of distinctive flavour and is quite different from the strength conferred, e.g., by proximity to the Angles.
2. Expression is by no means denied but the principle tends to be hard to control and thus lacks integration with the rest of the chart. In other words, "acts by itself" is a fair general description. This is not necessarily bad, and in fact can often be the source of much ability.
3. The principle of an unaspected planet tends to be either switched on or off with no halfway measures allowed, and the native oscillates between on and off. Hence "all or nothing" is another fair general description.
4. Strength is almost impossible to predict owing to the on/off oscillation.

In Dean's study, planets were considered unaspected if they did not have any of the major Aspects (conjunction, opposition, square, trine, sextile). Minor aspects were not counted unless they had an orb not greater than 1/2°.

Regarding unaspected Saturn, as in the Chart above, Dean writes his suggested interpretation as "tendency to be either all caution/control or none." A.E. Moore suggested natives appeared to be well-controlled but were subject to moments of extravagance or impetuosity out of keeping with their normal character.

Other suggested interpretations by Dean of unaspected planets, based on his researches, are:

Unaspected Sun: "Inner self feels fragmented or disconnected from rest of character."

Unaspected Moon: "Emotions seem to come and go by themselves as if beyond conscious control; tendency to be either all emotion or none."

Unaspected Mercury: "Tendency to be either all reason/intellect or none (usually all); probably talkative given the chance."

Unaspected Venus: "Tendency to either unrestrained love affairs or none; affections and artistic inclinations do not blend with reason, action or control."

Unaspected Mars: "Generates endless work for self, always busy; probably moments of explosive impatience that seem apart from self." Effects were the most outwardly marked of all unaspected planets.

Unaspected Jupiter: "Urge for expansion and growth tend to be beyond conscious control; inclined to solitude."

Unaspected Uranus: "Moments of marked restlessness with no apparent cause, often a love of innovations and new things."

Unaspected Neptune: "No obvious differences could be found between aspected and unaspected Neptunes, [but] a lack of aspects did not deny Neptunian traits." E.A. Moore suggests "creative, imaginative, intuitive, very strong psychic ability that is either very spiritual or very misdirected."

Unaspected Pluto: "Subject to sudden compulsive urges that are difficult to direct."

Dean further states that a rigorous test revealed no case where traits due to unaspected planets were explained by midpoint interpretations. Indications due to midpoints and lack of aspects are different, and one is not a substitute for the other.

Regarding the second part of the question, the effect on character and personality must be present without transits, though transits would bring them into prominence.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock.

8th September 1999.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

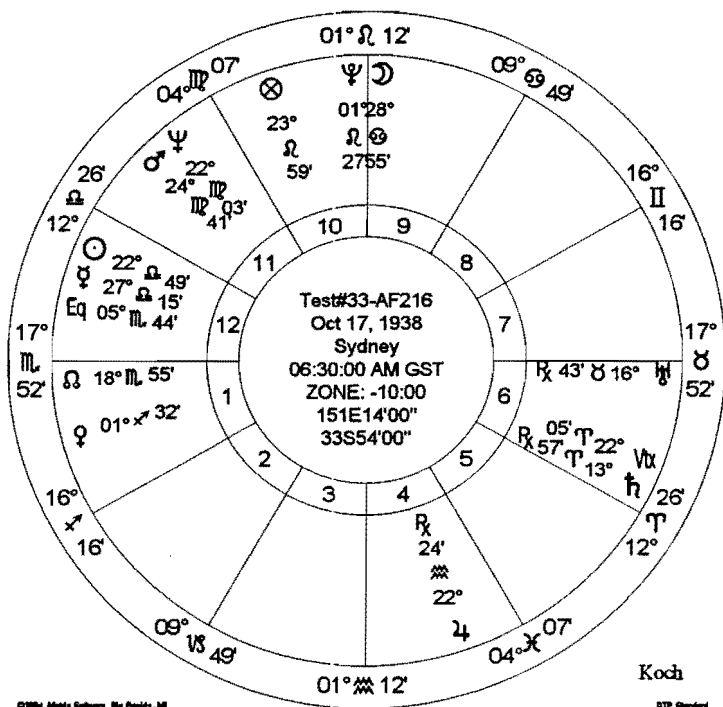

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 217 August 1999

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

TEST NO. 33: THE ANSWER

Ross Harvey's Report:

In April 1983 the woman was divorced. She was a high school art teacher. [Her Birth Chart above]

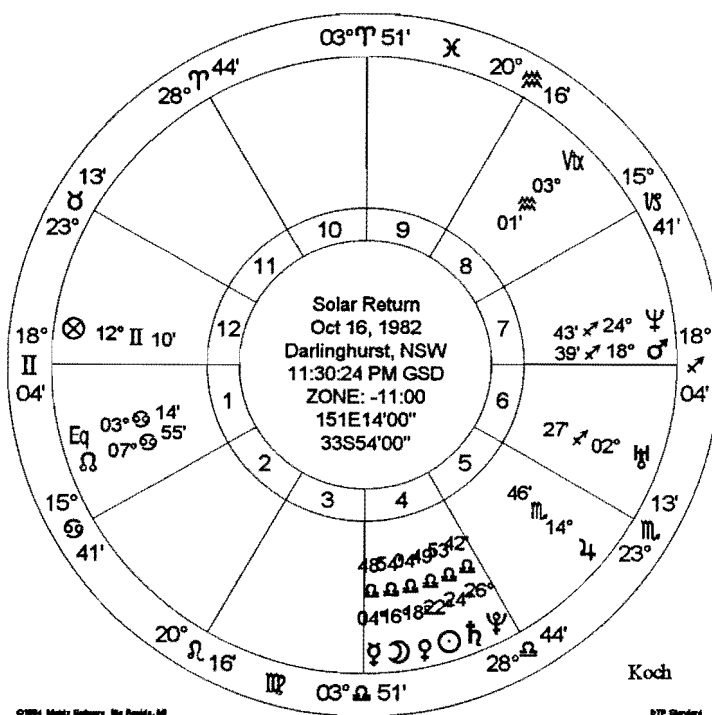

There were ten responses to both parts of the question. "Divorce" was given by Fay Jenkins (Vic) and as one of the possibilities by Miriam Laister, (NSW) and Rajeev Upadhye (India). Jenifer Pommerin (W.A.) said "domestic changes and upheaval". Ken Gillman (USA), "fundamental change".

Transits gave a good indication of the turmoil the native experienced. Rajeev based his answer solely on Transits. In April 1983 Saturn retrograded square the MC and Pluto; Pluto retrograded square the Moon; Uranus was Stationary semisquare the Sun in March; Neptune retrograded quincunx the Moon in May; Mars transited Uranus and opposed the Ascendant at the end of April.

The Solar Return was as informative as any cyclic chart. The Ascendant opposite Mars always spells trouble; the Sun conjunct Saturn and Pluto, all trine the

In This Issue...

	Page
Test No. 33: The Answer	1
Editor's Thoughts on the Tests	2
New Test No. 34	3
Lessons From the Kennedy Tragedy	3
Departure Chart	4
Birth Chart of J.F. Kennedy Jnr.....	4
Birth Chart of Carolyn Besset Kennedy ..	4

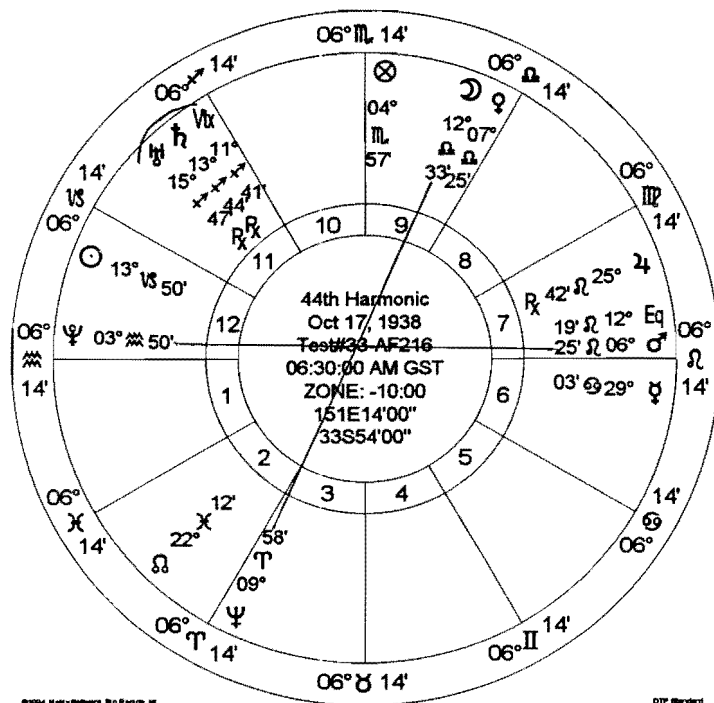

9th Cusp, indicates the involvement of the law, as does the Sun sextile Neptune, co-Ruler of the 9th. Mercury ruling the 1st House was conjunct the 4th (endings) and square the Node in the 1st, suggesting the ending of a personal relationship. Mercury was also sextile Uranus ruling the 9th House, and Uranus was conjunct natal Venus which rules the natal 7th (the partner)—splitting with the partner involving the law. Jupiter conjunct the natal Ascendant and the Node and opposite Uranus ruling the natal 4th, merely indicates the successful outcome.

Even the Birth Chart suggests the strong possibility of divorce: Uranus conjunct the 7th Cusp ruling the 4th opposite the Node and in mundane square to the Moon, Pluto and MC are clear signs of the breaking up of a partnership.

The Q1 Kinetic Solar Return had the Sun conjunct Uranus quincunx the Node, Mars ruling the 4th House square the natal Sun and semisquare the SR Sun. The Moon was conjunct natal Uranus; Saturn and Pluto square the MC and the natal Moon.

The 44th Age Harmonic was highly indicative: Mars on the 7th Cusp opposite Pluto, conjunct the natal MC and Pluto; the Ascendant conjunct Pluto; the Moon opposite Neptune; the Vertex conjunct Saturn and Uranus.

The only major Direction was Mars conjunct the Sun by Vertex Arc the year before, when the woman left the marriage.

Deciding on the career was much more difficult: Saturn conjunct the 6th Cusp and ruling the 3rd suggests communication. The Moon ruling the 9th (higher education) is conjunct the MC and Pluto (ruling the 1st) and trine Venus in the 1st House (art). Moon—Venus, and Moon—Pluto aspects are often seen in artistic charts. Fritz Guldner (S.Africa) offered “teacher [or] politician”. Tony Louis (USA) suggested a number of things including higher education.

EDITOR'S THOUGHTS ON THE TESTS

Those who attempt the Tests and don't achieve the solution should not be down-hearted. There are many potentials in a chart, and even with much experience the right answer will often elude the astrologer. The great value of attempting the exercises is the big advance in astrological expertise that is possible with regular application. Even if your answer is wildly inaccurate you will unquestionably benefit from the effort. You will find it focusing your attention on the essence of the situation, and teaching you what is important and what is not in the elements of the charts. Then one has to determine which of many possibilities is the particular one that applies in the case under investigation.

Choosing the correct interpretation from a number of possibilities is the final step - the most difficult one - and a difficulty that besets practitioners of all branches of Astrology. These exercises are one way, probably the best way, of tackling and resolving the problem.

So the Tests set by Astrologers' Forum are a boon to all astrologers aspiring to increase their level of competence. What's more, they are unique so far as I know. What other publication provides you with such an opportunity? The growing number of astrologers sending in answers indicates increasing appreciation of this service.

By attempting each Test as it comes you are giving yourself the best type of training and particularly if you take the trouble to send in a written answer. Believe me, that is much more effective than just “thinking about it” for half an hour or so. Writing out your answer focuses your mind and sharpens your judgement. Put your answer into just a sentence or two giving the crucial planetary aspects that decide the matter in your own mind

You do not need highly sophisticated computer equipment to avail yourself of the benefits. Fasten on just one of the relevant charts and see what you can make of it. With regular application you will be surprised how much you will eventually discover. Your mind will open out to ideas and possibilities you had not dreamed of before.

You don't have to take my word for this. Try it and do yourself a favour. —Dymock.

TEST NO. 34

Here is the next Test: It concerns a woman born on 7th March, 1936, 6:03am GMT, in Birmingham, England, 1W50, 52N30. (Birth Chart: Asc 22Aqu12, MC 14Sag59, Moon 5Vir54).

She has been married twice and divorced twice. She had three children with the first husband, and the family migrated to Australia in the late 1970's. She trained as a primary school teacher in the 80's. She is now retired, and living alone.

What occurred in her life on 26th Sept, 1994? She was living in Perth, West Australia, at the time.

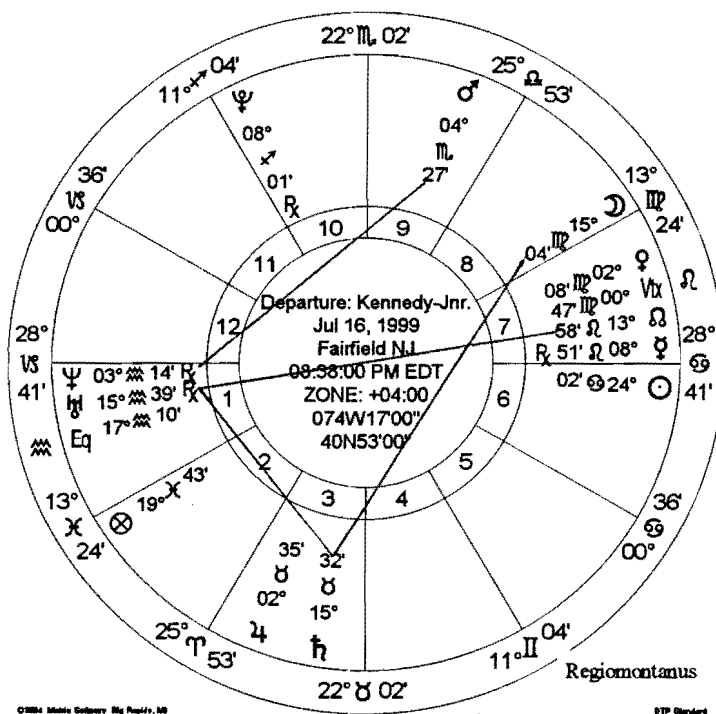

Please send your answers to me, Dymock Brose, at 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, or by e-mail to: dymock@ozemail.com.au

Answers should be in by 28th August for assessment in the September Issue, citing the crucial planetary positions that you believe decide the matter.

LESSONS FROM THE KENNEDY TRAGEDY

The Departure Chart for the plane trip that killed John F. Kennedy Jr., his wife Carolyn and sister-in-law, Lauren, on 16th July last is another painful reminder that Astrology can foretell these calamities. They can be averted. This has been a theme of Astrologers' Forum for years.

No competent astrologer would think of setting out on a journey under the auspices of the above Chart. The indications of disaster are multiple: Neptune rising square to Mars in the 9th House and ruling the 3rd (travel)—this is a prime indicator of losing one's way. Mars opposed by Jupiter, 9th—3rd axis, (misjudgement relating to travel; foolhardiness). Uranus rising square Saturn and opposing the Node (self-will, stress, accident); Saturn ruling the Ascendant compounds the danger. The Moon on the 8th Cusp trine to Saturn (danger of death).

©1999 Manda Software. All Rights Reserved.

STP Standard

Even if the authorities are not yet prepared to install an astrologer in every major airport to monitor and if necessary veto particular take-off times, at least we as individuals can select departure times for our journeys and so preserve life and limb. Keep in mind the murdered German Tourist, Simone Schmidl, and the Chart for the commencement of her fatal hitch-hiking trip. (Astrologers' Forum 191, June 1997, page 3).

JOHN F. KENNEDY JNR. BIRTH CHART

©1999 Manda Software. All Rights Reserved.

STP Standard
Regiomontanus

The dangerous portents in Kennedy's Birth Chart are plain to see, principally Mars opposing Saturn, this opposition accentuated by being identified with a Cuspal axis. Mars ruling the House of Death further emphasises the danger. Uranus elevated above and opposing the Moon, from the 12th to the 6th House gives warning of sudden and dangerous incidents, there being a surplus of the Uranian energy, not easily controlled.

Add to this, the Sun sesquare Mars (orb 0°33') and Pluto square the Meridian (orb 1°14'), and we have "an accident waiting to happen".

What could an astrologer do for such a client, short of telling him it is "God's Will", or he is destined to die in an accident so he might as well just await the inevitable, or tell him something else equally futile?

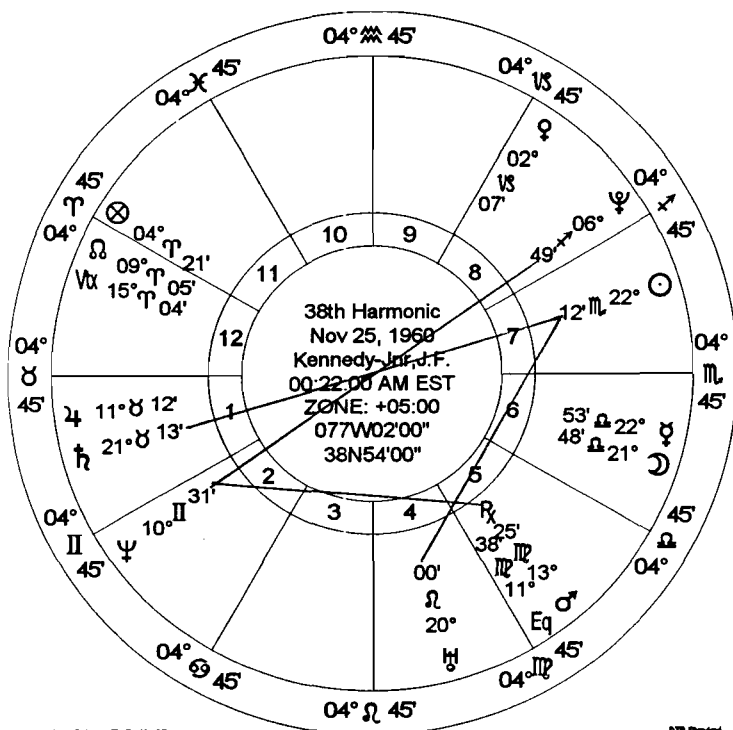

What the astrologer can do is say to his client that these things are not destined, that he can avert troubles and lengthen his life by developing habits of care at all times, even when circumstances do not especially demand it. If such a habit of care becomes so ingrained through assiduous practice that it is automatic he will not jeopardize life and limb by, for instance, driving when he is tired, distracted or inebriated, or recklessly taking to the air in a plane when conditions are or may soon become bad.

There is no question in my mind that the vast number of big and little accidents can be avoided or much diminished by the above self-training. There is a price to pay for safety. People whose horoscopes give warning of danger, such as with Kennedy, must be prepared to pay that price by unremitting development of the right habits if they want to survive or save themselves pain and distress. The lack of such habits in Kennedy's case brought about his own death and those of the two women in the flower of their life that he took with him on the ill-judged flight to a wedding celebration.

That the danger was especially high in this year of Kennedy's life is graphically illustrated by the 38th Harmonic Chart corresponding with his age.

Saturn rising opposes the Sun, which is afflicted also by the square of Uranus from the terminal 4th House, ruled by the Sun. Pluto on the 8th Cusp is opposed by Neptune which is squared by Mars (danger of drowning).

These are terrible portents. Could the plane crash have been averted? Yes, of course, if Kennedy knew or had been apprised of the danger, and wisely decided not to travel by plane, even not to go at all to the wedding celebration that he wanted to attend. Better to miss a social event than a possible forty more years of life.

But his over-confidence and recklessness (a Sagittarian failing) got the better of him, and three people went to their deaths.

That his wife, Carolyn Besset Kennedy, would also be endangered by aircraft accidents is obvious from an inspection of her Birth Chart above. Uranus and Pluto are closely conjoined in the 9th House, elevated above all other bodies and trine to the Sun, which is opposed by the Moon ruling the House of Death. Carolyn needed to be especially circumspect as regards air travel, and travel only when planetary conditions for her were not unfavourable.

This certainly was not the case when the plane took off. The Departure Chart applied to her (and her sister Lauren) as much as to Kennedy. Carolyn passed her 33rd birthday in January of this year, and those two menacing planets, Pluto and Uranus in her Birth Figure, had their danger enhanced in her 33rd Harmonic Chart where they straddle the 2nd-8th axis. There is insufficient room here to display the Chart, but for those who want to look into it, her 33rd Harmonic has 19Leo29 Asc (the same degrees on all Cusps in the Equal House application). Natal Pluto and Uranus conjoin the second Cusp. In the Harmonic Figure itself, Mars opposes the Moon, Uranus squares the Natal Sun and East Point, the Vertex and the Moon's Node are joined together (only 1' separating them), and the 4th Cusp is conjunct Natal Neptune—a warning not to be ignored!

I do not have the birth data of Lauren Besset but without doubt her Cyclic Charts would be equally fraught with omens of impending catastrophe.

Alas that Astrology is not more widely appreciated and available to everyone.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock.
8 August 1999.

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?

ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 216 July 1999

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

In This Issue...

	Page
The Chart for the 21st Century.....	1
Test No. 32: The Answer	2
Analysis of Age-Harmonic 32.917	3
Neurological Defect in Baby's Chart.....	4
Death shown by Harmonic Chart	4
New Test No. 33	4
Prince Edward Marries Sophie	4

THE CHART FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

by Allan Johnson

The 21st Century Chart is also the Chart for the New Millennium, but of course a whole millennium covers so wide a canvas that no chart could make any sense of it. But a single century is a much more practical proposition. The 21st Century is set up for 1st January 2001, 0 hours, Greenwich. This Chart should give us some clues as to how things might develop in the early years of this new Century from a world-wide point of view.

But before doing this it is worth while to take look at the Chart for the 20th Century, set up for 1st January 1901. This Chart can now be seen as highly revealing of what did come to pass. It is what can be called a "high-profile" chart, having some quite dramatic configurations.

©2001 Martin Mulholland. All Rights Reserved.

107 10/10/01

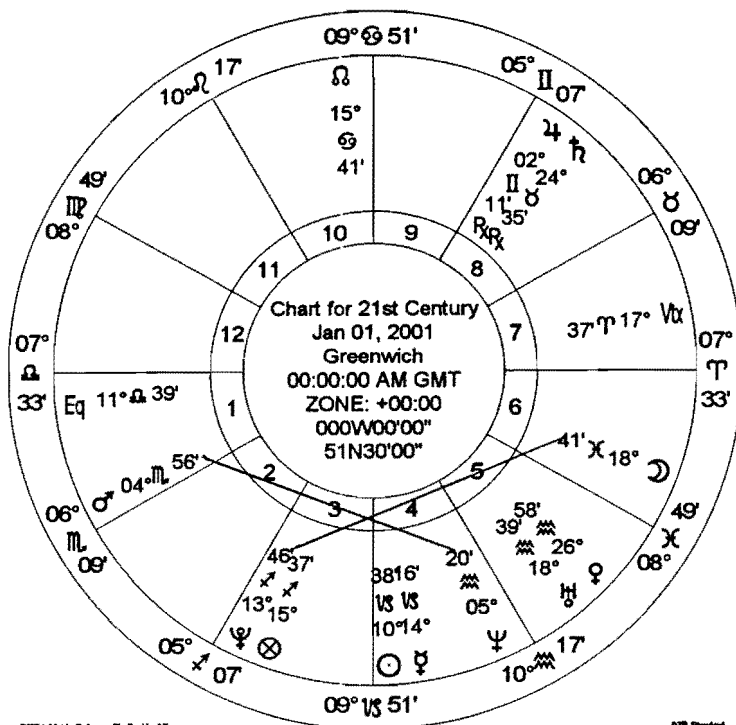

First of all there is the dynamic T-Square pattern involving Mars, Pluto, Uranus, Venus. Mars, Pluto and Uranus are the planets for highly dramatic events of a violent nature and on a grand scale—and of course this is history. The First World War occurred very early in the piece. Venus is also part of the T-Square and this lines up with the sexual revolution and the enormous changes concerning marriage and personal relationships.

Mars is also part of a Grand Trine in Earth Signs (Mars, Moon, Sun, Saturn) and this coincides with the enormous rise in the living standards of a large part of the world. But that is not all, we have the powerfully dynamic Oppositions between the 3rd and 9th Houses. These line up with the tremendous advances in communications, transport and travel which were destined to take place. Also we should not overlook the fact that this Chart has seven planets in Mutable Signs. It had to be a changeable century. The fact that there are no planets in Water tells us something, too. So all in all this Chart is an amazingly valid Chart for all that has since taken place.

We can turn now to the Chart for the 21st Century for comparison, and we get a shock reversal! This Chart is remarkable for its lack of heavy drama. No powerful configurations. Very much a low profile Chart. So I think a lot of astrologers have had a lot of difficulty in coming to terms with this Chart, and I know I have. If this were a person he or she would not set the world on fire. The 21st Century Chart consists mainly of a series of isolated Squares. No central configuration can be found. We have Mars square Neptune, Moon square Pluto, Venus square Jupiter/Saturn.

The Fixed Signs are in the majority. Also there are no powerfully placed Angular planets. So I think from all this one message comes over loudly and clearly—and I think that message is that we are not going to get any repeat of the massive conflicts of the 20th Century like the First and Second World Wars. We are getting a new blueprint altogether. Despite the presence of immensely destructive weapons still in existence, I don't see a Third World War on the horizon. I think the reason for this is their self-destructive nature.

Of course as the world passes through the centuries we do get what could be called a "flow-on" from one century to the next. If we look back to the end of the 19th Century we can see a preview of a big feature for the 20th which was technological development. The telephone, the motor car and the aeroplane were all invented in the late 19th Century and how influential did they become! So we could look to what has been happening recently for some clues as to what lies ahead. And one of these is that Europe has been having its longest period of peace between its nations than at any time in its history. We can't compare the war in the Balkans with what has gone before. The collapse of the Communist Empire occurred with hardly a shot being fired. It was called the "velvet revolution", there was so little bloodshed. A lot of prophets were predicting more and more violence—but this just hasn't been happening.

So I can predict that there will be no more world wars, although of course there will still be wars, but more in the nature of small bush fires than big conflagrations. Now to look at some of the individual Aspects in the Chart: Mars square Neptune could mean a lot of underground warfare, terrorism, secret plots and a bigger reliance on assassinations. Mars in Scorpio is very pertinent. The Moon in Pisces square to Pluto gives something of the same flavour. It will be a much more controlled type of warfare. Power-seeking will still go on. As we move more and more into the Age of Aquarius, which we are now on the cusp of, we could get a backlash from religious fundamentalists who do not at all appreciate religious tolerance and a more open society. So religious fanaticism will still be with us for some time to come. This could be a highlight of the 21st Century.

TEST NO. 32: THE ANSWER

Subject of the Test was the woman whose Birth Chart appears above. The question: What happened to her on January 12, 1945?

The answer is that the woman gave birth to a girl with a neurological defect. The birth itself was normal and uncomplicated, but in the baby's brain one of the motor nerves that sends messages to the body was missing, affecting her movement and mental development. She spent most of her life in a wheelchair and developed a serious spinal curvature that deformed her body. Until the child died at age 33, the woman's family, her other children and her husband lovingly worked to care for and help her enjoy as normal a life as possible.

This Test evidently daunted many readers who apparently perceived it to be difficult and so left it alone. Unfortunately, this defeats the idea of the Tests which is to increase knowledge and skill through applying one's mind and experience to the solution of problems. Nothing else has quite the same effectiveness for developing astrological expertise.

There were eight entries, and no one found the right answer, though several of the respondents picked up on the circumstances of difficulty, stress, tragedy, etc., that surrounded the episode, without actually being able to settle on the precise cause, which is not surprising because the exercise really was difficult.

Fritz Guldner of Durban, S.Africa, was wrong in parts but exactly right in others. He said it was a "difficult, operative birth of a son with deleterious consequences for mother or son or both, leading to permanent health problems (e.g. stroke, brain damage). A great loss and upsets are also indicated". Fritz used the Huber Age-Point and its Aspects to the Sun and the Midpoints Moon/Venus, Saturn/Neptune, Sun/Uranus, Mercury/Mars, and Jupiter/Pluto. Fritz added that Vedic analysis pointed to "problems of mental and general healthgreat unhappiness, suffering and problems with the home", which also was correct. Congratulations, Fritz!

Barbara Banfield (USA) was close with "hard work, stress, separation, loss, disruption to the family". Barbara used Transits, Solar Return Chart, Secondary Progressions, and Solar Arc Directions.

Congratulations to readers who attempted this difficult exercise, and particularly those who sent in a report of their efforts.

I have given a good deal of thought to the working for this Test and it appears to me that the Chart that gives the clearest indication of the birth and what it entailed is the Month Age-Harmonic for the period Dec. 22, 1944—Jan.22, 1945, which covers the date of the birth, January 12, 1945. The woman was then 32 years and 11 months old, corresponding to Harmonic 32.917. The Chart appears below.

The Sun right on the Ascendant is square to the Vertex, indicating some matter of Destiny. It is also trine to Neptune, which draws attention to the House of Births, where Pisces is on the Cusp. This House is heavily tenanted by Venus, Saturn and Pluto, while Jupiter, Ruler of the House through its traditional association with Pisces is closely square to Pluto. Furthermore, Saturn at 17°6' Pisces is at the Midpoint of Venus and Pluto, 17°19' Pisces. It might be noted also that the Natal Moon at 12°39' Pisces conjuncts the Midpoint of Venus and Saturn, 13°2' Pisces. All this points to a birth that is in some way afflicted. The birth itself was normal and uncomplicated (Venus conjunct the 5th Cusp).

If we get to this point the next one is to consider just how the birth was afflicted. It is evidently not the birth itself as neither the Ascendant Degree, the Sun on the Ascendant, its Ruler, Mars, or the Moon in Cancer suffers from inharmonious Aspects.

The affliction must therefore be of the baby. The task is now easier, and the diagnosis of neurological damage is not hard to make in view of Mercury (the brain and intellect) closely square Neptune ruling the 5th House (the baby), plus Jupiter, Co-Ruler of the 5th, squared by Pluto. The afflicting planets being in Mutable Signs makes the diagnosis the more certain.

In other Charts of a cyclic nature (Solar and Lunar Returns, Phase-Angle Returns) the birth can be discerned, but the fateful consequences are difficult to see. The Annual Synodic Chart (Sun-Moon Phase Angle) of 24 Aug. 1914, 6:57:37am CST, for age 32, very well depicts the traumatic consequences of the birth: Pluto and Saturn fall on the Natal Midheaven. (Saturn rules the Natal House of births). But it is not so readily seen that these were consequences of a birth.

On the next page is the Birth Chart of the baby, which will be of considerable interest to readers: As was to be expected, it is heavily afflicted: Mars, Saturn and Neptune in a T-Square, Saturn opposite the Moon, Pluto opposing the Equatorial Ascendant, Mercury square Jupiter, Uranus square Venus sextile Pluto and trine Neptune.

The unfortunate woman died on 12 November 1978. Saturn Directed by the Naibod Arc was conjunct Pluto on that very day. In the month leading up to her death, the Month Harmonic (32.75) (next page) is graphically descriptive: Venus rules and is conjunct the Cusp of Death. Venus is square to Neptune and opposite the Part of Fortune (Part of Misfortune, in this instance). Jupiter rising just under the Ascendant rules the House of Death and is very closely opposed to the Moon. Saturn in the House of Death is square to Mercury in the House of Terminations. Pluto in the House of Death is square Mars. It is hard to imagine anything more positive in the indications. No other Chart depicts the event as

©1999 Mantic Software, Big Rapids, MI

ATP Standard

©1999 Mantic Software, Big Rapids, MI

ATP Standard

graphically as this Age-Harmonic Figure. — Dymock.

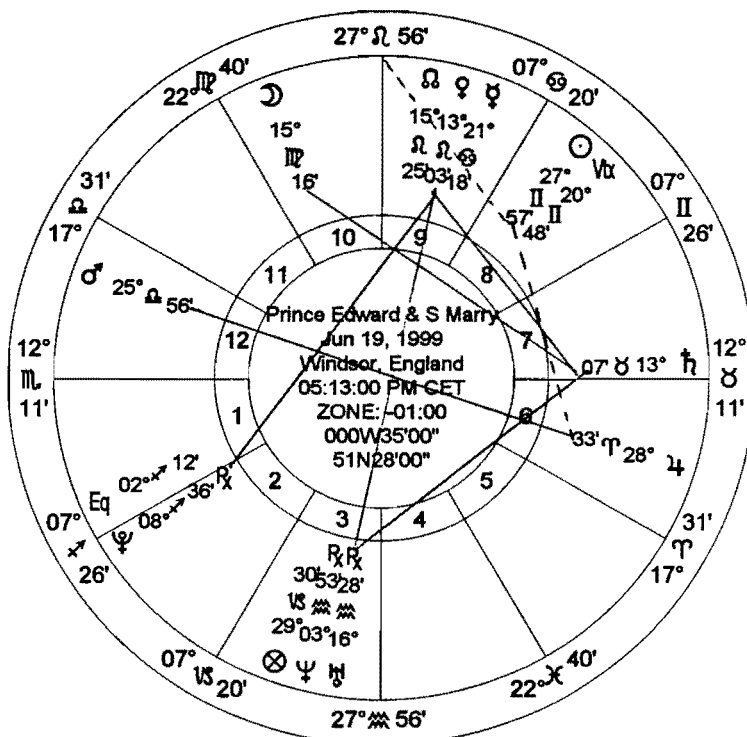

NEW TEST, NO. 33

Now that you have your muscles flexed for tackling astrological problems, here is the next Test, No. 33: It concerns a woman born at 6:30am AEST on 17th October 1938 in Sydney, 33S54, 151E14 (Asc 17°Sco52', MC 1°Leo12', Moon 28°Can55'). She was married with three children and in a full-time career in Sydney. What happened to her in April 1983, and what was her career?

Answer either one or both parts of the question, giving the astrological basis for it, and please mail your response by 28 July to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, NSW, Australia 2074, or e-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au.

PRINCE EDWARD MARRIES SOPHIE

©1999 Mantic Software, Big Rapids, MI

ATP Standard

[Data from Vedic Astrologer Raghunandan das, USA]

Not a Chart of undiluted happiness, this Horoscope (if the time is correct) portends many trials and tribulations in the marriage. Scorpio on the Ascendant opposed by Saturn, in a T-Square with Uranus and Venus (ruling the 7th House) will put many strains on the union. One source of disagreement and tension between the couple will, strangely enough, be their residence—the $37,000,000 mansion Bagshot Park, signified in the Chart by Saturn and Uranus in square (both ruling House 4). The source of trouble will be the cost of upkeep (5th House) which will be huge (Jupiter ruling the 5th House) opposed by Mars) and a great drain on their income (Jupiter also ruling the 2nd House).

But the marriage will withstand the pressures: It is a love-match (Venus conjunct the N.Node) and Venus trine Pluto ruling respectively the 7th and the 1st House (bride and groom) will maintain the passion. The indications of permanence are the Sun, ruling the House of Honour and Prestige, sextile both to Jupiter and the Culminating Degree—and also at their Midpoint, which solidifies the Jupiter/MC trine, plus the binding effect of Saturn in the Marriage House trine to the Moon (the domestic situation). The Queen will not be discomfited by a fourth marriage failure among her children.

My kind regards to all. — Dymock, 29 June 1999.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 215 June 1999

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

WHICH CHART FOR MILOSEVIC?

Different birth dates and times have been claimed or suggested for Slobodan Milosevic. The following have been gleaned from various sources, and can be sorted out by the use of Age Harmonics:

- | | |
|---------------------|-----------------|
| 1. 1940, August 20, | 2:17am MET |
| 2. 1940, August 20, | 2:30am MET |
| 3. 1940, August 20, | 3:20am MET |
| 4. 1941, August 20, | 4:04am EET |
| 5. 1941, August 20, | 4:25pm EET: |
| 6. 1941, August 20, | 10 pm EET |
| 7. 1941, August 20, | 10:10:30pm EET |
| 8. 1941, August 20, | 3:02am EET |
| 9. 1941, August 29, | [No time given] |

It is beautiful to see how the analysis by Age Harmonics, which I have advocated for years, sorts all these out and discovers No. 4 above as the only one of this list that fits the criteria, that is produces a Harmonic Chart that depicts a crucial event in Milosevic's life—the commencement of NATO's punitive bombing of Serbia on March 24, 1999, 7:51pm CET, Pristina, Kosovo.

It is universally accepted that Milosevic was born in Pozarevac, Serbia, for which The International Atlas of Thomas Shanks gives coordinates 44°37' N and 21°11' E. The same Atlas states that on the dates above Serbia had EET (Eastern European Time—2 hours ahead of GMT), not met MET (Middle European Time—1 hour ahead of GMT).

At the time of the first bombs on Belgrade, March 24, 1999, Milosevic was 57 years and 7 months old. In Harmonic terms, this translates to a multiplying factor of 57.583 which is applied equally to the planets and personal points in the charts derived from the above dates and times. A time is not given for the August 29 date, which was quoted from two encyclopaedias, so for the present purpose it has to be ignored. In any

In This Issue...

	Page
Which Chart for Milosevic?	1
Selected Chart for Milosevic	2
Milosevic and Nato Bombing Chart	2
Results of Test No. 31	2
New Test No. 32	4
Total Eclipse of the Sun 11 Aug 1999.....	4

event, this date appears to be a printing aberration, being at variance with the information from all the other sources.

Chart No. 4 is the one published in the May 1999 Issue of Astrologers' Forum. In the following analysis, only close and important Aspects are considered.

CHART NO. 1. 1940, August 20, 2:17am MET:
Asc 28Can14, Moon 20Pis8.

Harmonic 57.583: Asc 28Aqu8 Moon 1Ari25:
Saturn dominant on the Lower Meridian trine the Sun.
An Aspect of caution, not of a man plunging into war.

CHART NO. 2. 1940, August 20, 2:30am MET:
Asc 0Leo45, Moon 20Pis14.

Harmonic 57.583: The only important Aspect is the Sun square Jupiter, showing lack of judgement, but not indicative of war.

CHART NO. 3, 1940, August 20, 2:30am MET:
Asc 10Leo8, Moon 23Can32.

Harmonic 57.583: Asc 3Aqu58, Moon 1Tau26.
Mars trine Pluto but not Angular, and out-weighted by Neptune rising and Venus setting. Not a war-making chart.

CHART NO. 4, 1941, Aug 20, 4:04am EET: This is the one printed in the last Issue of this Journal. Asc 7Leo5, Moon 23Can24. The Chart is dominated by Mars and Pluto, Mars (strong in Aries) almost exactly on the MC, Pluto just 2½° above the Leo Asc.

Harmonic 57.583: Asc 28Can9, Moon 19Tau25.
The Sun is conjunct Mars ruling the MC, with Mars square Neptune (misguided policy and action); Ruling planet, the Moon, opposing both Uranus and Mercury, all three forming a T-Square with Jupiter (bad judgement; heedless of consequences); Pluto in the 8th House close to the Cusp and quincunx Saturn (orb 46') signifies many deaths. This is the only Chart of those listed here that is truly indicative of Milosevic's state of mind and the subsequent conflict.

CHART NO. 5, 1941, August 20, 4:25pm EET:

Asc. 0Cap45, Moon 0Leo5.

Harmonic 57.583: Asc 10Can32, Moon 15Gem2.

The gentle combination of Neptune opposite Venus and conjunct the Moon, plus no harsh Aspects to Mars rules out this Chart and its Radix.

CHART NO. 6, 1941, August 20, 10pm EET:

Asc. 5Tau59, Moon 3Leo8.

Harmonic 57.583: Asc 1Cap45, Moon 10Sag47.

Venus, Planet of Peace, right on the Ascendant immediately disposes of any suggestion that a war is starting. Jupiter closely sextile the Sun (and the MC conjunct Natal Venus) are also totally inappropriate.

CHART NO. 7, 1941, August 20, 10:10:30pm EET:

Asc. 10Tau11, Moon 3Leo14.

Harmonic 57.583: Asc 3Vir52, Moon 16Sag19.

Pluto sits on the Descendant quincunx Saturn but sextile Venus, and Mars is in Virgo without any significant Aspect. The Ruler, Mercury, occupies the pacific Sign, Aquarius, and is trine to Neptune. So this one is ruled out, too.

CHART NO. 8, 1941, August 20, 3:02am EET:

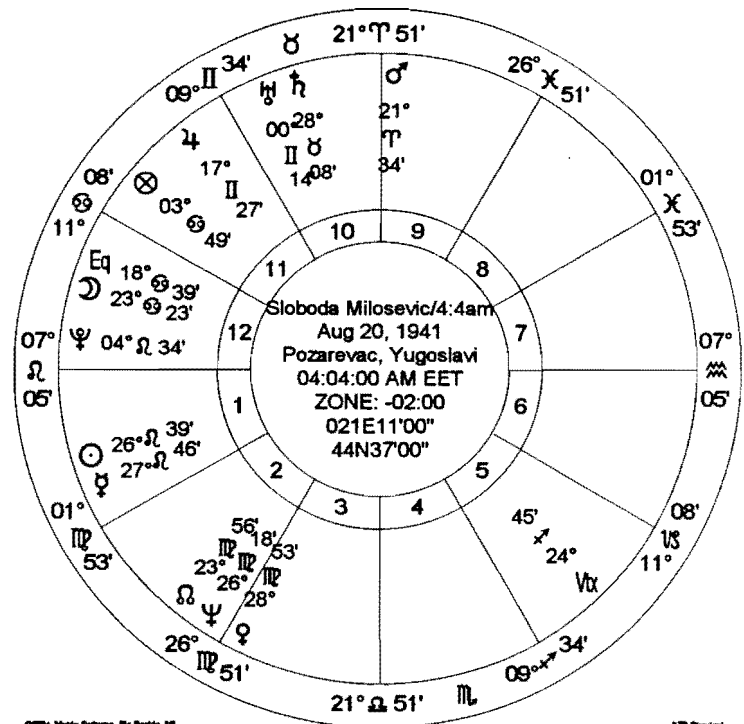

Asc 25Can7, Moon 22Can51. This Chart, a rectification by Joseph James, has more claims to attention than all the others except No. 4. The Moon (Ruler) is just above the Ascendant and closely square to Mars in the Midheaven. Mars, however, is 16° away from the Meridian, not right on it as with No. 4 above, while brooding, malevolent Pluto is 9° away from the Asc instead of 2½° as with No. 4. The Chart also gives undue prominence to the Moon, which would signify inconstancy, a trait notably lacking in Milosevic's character.

Harmonic 57.583: Asc 28Leo38, Moon 17Ari47.

The Sun is conjunct Mars in the 1st House, and both square to Neptune (misguided action). However, the Moon is trine Jupiter, which points rather to benefits from his policy, and that is quite out of harmony with events.

In contrast, Chart No. 4 above has the Moon square Jupiter, signifying a careless lack of concern.

So Chart No. 4, August 20, 1941, 4:4am EET is the selection for the birth time of Slobodan Milosevic.

This Chart is further supported by the Harmonic 47.833 for June 28, 1989, when Milosevic (aged 47 years and 10 months) delivered an impassioned speech in Kosovo prior to assuming dictatorial power there. I have checked all the above suggested Charts and this is the only one that has Mercury in an appropriate and powerful position—Mercury in Scorpio on the MC.

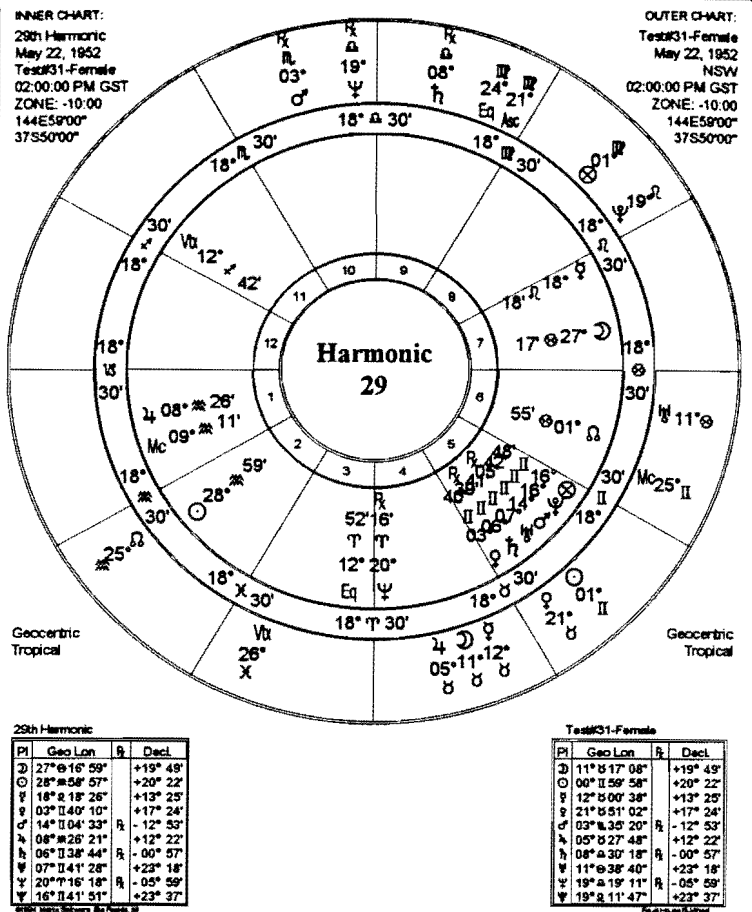

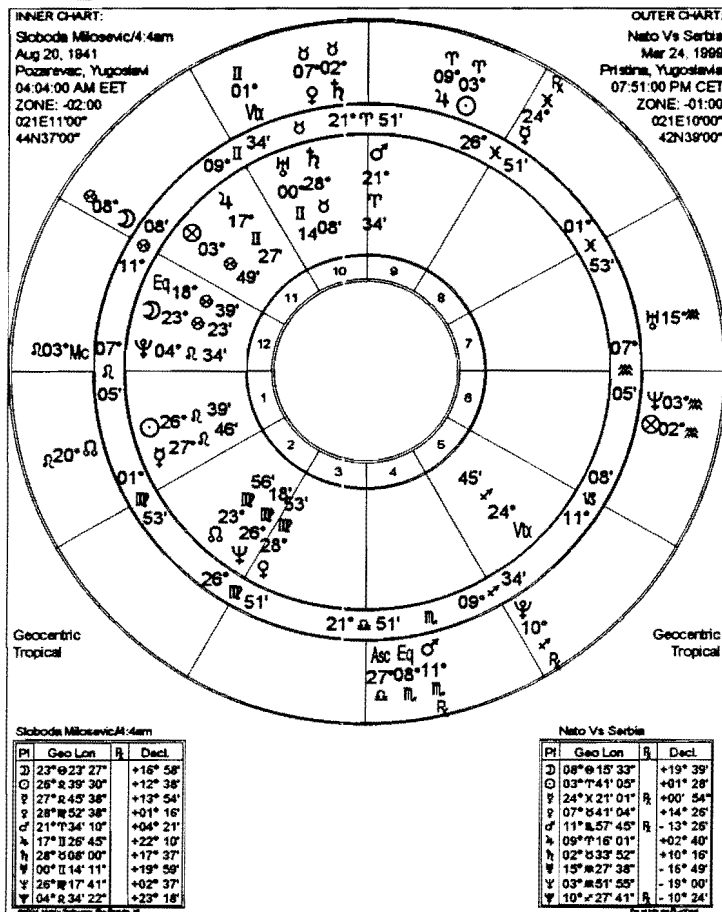

As a further check on the appropriateness of the 4:4am Natus, midpoints drawn from the Chart for the start of the NATO Bombing and applied to this Natus of Milosevic present a grim picture of violence:

Sun/Pluto	7Aqu4	Opp.Asc (orb 1')
Mars/Saturn	7Aqu16	Opp. Asc (orb 11')
Mars/Asc	4Sco50	Squ. Pluto (orb 16')
Moon/Nept	21Ari4	Conj. Mars (orb 30')

The close and heavy afflictions of the violent planets Mars, Saturn and Pluto to Milosevic's Ascendant Degree spell out the catastrophe. The Moon/Nept—Mars conjunction refers to the damage from air power. The two Charts in concentric formation are printed on the next page.

RESULTS OF TEST NO. 31

These Tests are quite difficult, and the Editor wishes to commend all who attempted them, especially those who had the courage to send in their answers. They shall have their reward in increased skill and astrological insight.

Ross Harvey, who originally supplied the data, has assessed all responses and makes the following report:

The answer is that on the 28th December 1981 the woman gave birth to a son. She is a high-school English teacher.

There were nine entries. Congratulations to Dymock Brose who was right about the event, and to Fritz Guldner (South Africa) who also stated correctly that it was a difficult birth.

Peggy Hetherington (NSW) offered three possible solutions, including the correct one, for the woman's occupation—"writer, journalist, or teacher".

The 29th Harmonic (next column) was the clearest annual chart: Jupiter is conjunct the floating MC, Venus is conjunct the Natal Sun, the Ascendant conjunct the Natal 5th Cusp, and the 5th Cusp conjunct Natal Venus. (The Natal Chart appears on page 4 of the last Issue.)

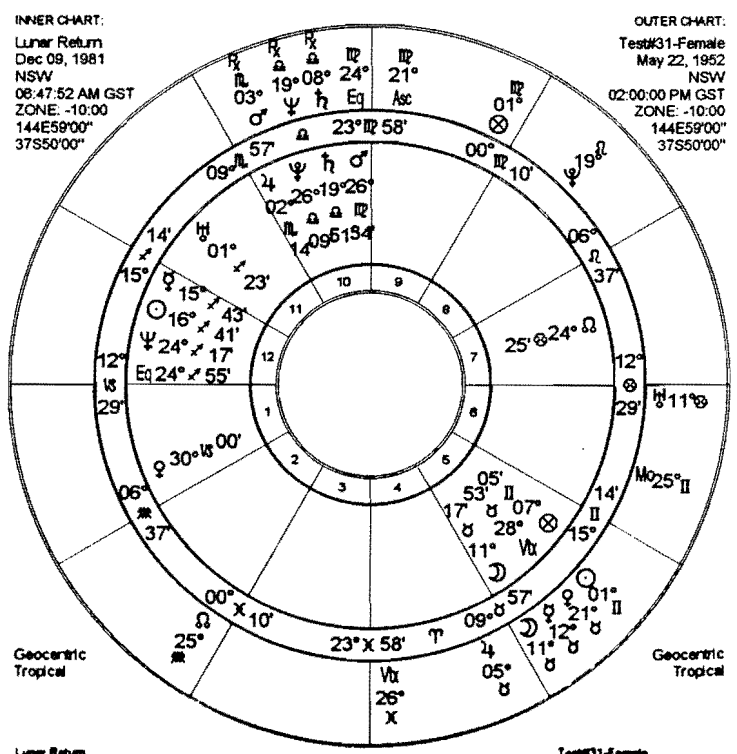

The Annual Solar Return had the MC opposite the Moon, the Sun trine Jupiter, the Ascendant conjunct Jupiter and Saturn, (Saturn ruling the 5th House), and the Ascendant also conjunct Natal Saturn ruling the 5th.

The prenatal Kinetic Solar Return Q2 had the MC

conjunct Regressed Jupiter (significant, I think, as this Chart is based on the Regressed Sun), the Ascendant conjunct Pluto ruling the 5th House, and Jupiter conjunct the 5th Cusp.

Other annual charts were not especially helpful.

The standard Lunar Return was also very clear:

Cusp 5 is conjunct the Moon and Natal Jupiter, The Ascendant is conjunct the Natal 5th Cusp, Venus rising, ruling the 5th House, is trine the Natal Sun.

The MC conjunct Mars signified a boy or a difficult birth—both were true.

The Solar Monthly Chart had the Vertex in the 5th House conjunct the Natal MC, and the MC conjunct Jupiter and Natal Mars.

There were no significant Progressions or Directions, but a number of Transits on or near the day:

Jupiter Opp. N.Jupiter and Semi-sq. N.Asc,
Mars Quinc. N.Jupiter,
Venus trine N.Saturn ruling the 5th House,
Mercury conj. Cusp 5,
Neptune Opp. MC,
Saturn Semi-sq. Asc,

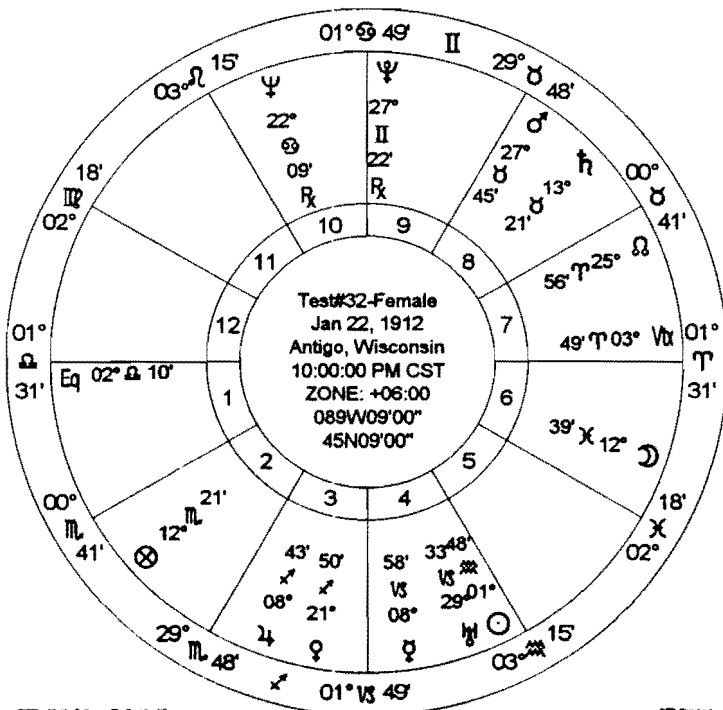

the last two being appropriate for a difficult birth.

The career wasn't so easy. My eye would have been drawn to the Moon Cj. Mercury, and possibly the Sun Cj. the 9th Cusp, suggesting something to do with communication and (amongst other possibilities!) (higher) education.

Several entrants suggested finance or technology, but to my knowledge she has no special interest in these fields.

NEW TEST, NO. 32

This Test is from an overseas contributor, and concerns a woman born on 22nd January 1912 at Antigo, Wisconsin, at 10pm CST. Here is her Birth Chart:

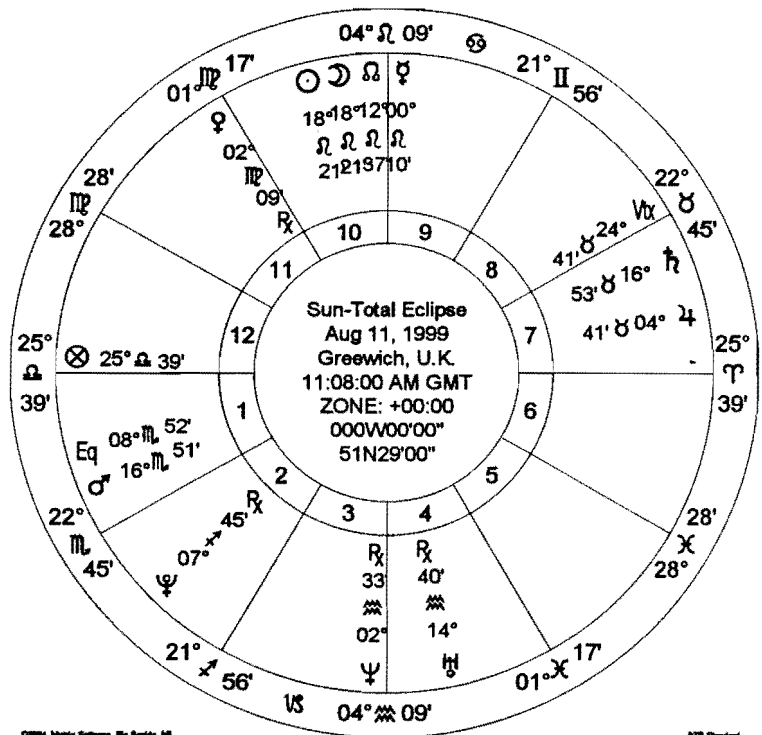

What happened to her on January 12, 1945?

This woman was married with a family at the time of the event. She and her husband owned and managed an apartment building in Milwaukee, Wisconsin at the time. Hint: This event changed the families' lives forever.

Please send your answers to me, Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073, or by e-mail to dymock@ozemail.com.au. I should like to have them not later than 28th June. Successful correspondents will be mentioned in the July Issue.

I myself am not eligible to take part as I know the answer, having already taken (and failed) the Test. See how many of you can do better. You are at liberty to use any astrological technique you like. — Dymock.

The Chart above is the TOTAL SOLAR ECLIPSE occurring on 11th August next. Readers are invited to extend their predictive skills by applying this Chart to that of any nation or head of state for which they have a reliable radix—the U.K, the U.S.A., Australia, New Zealand, NATO, Serbia, etc. How do you think it will affect them? If you don't feel up to sending in a written report, then at least look at it in regard to your own horoscope, and see later how close you were to what actually happened (if anything). Great practice to develop your knowledge and skills—much more effective than reading reams of text or "nattering" for hours in a general way about Astrology. But, please, will someone send in a report for possible publication?

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock,
3 June 1999.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 214 May 1999

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

SLOBODAN MILOSEVIC

Serbia's Head of State

Two birth times have been advanced for Slobodan Milosevic—4:4am and 10pm. Harmonic analysis leaves little doubt that 4:4am is the correct one (see Harmonic comparisons next page).

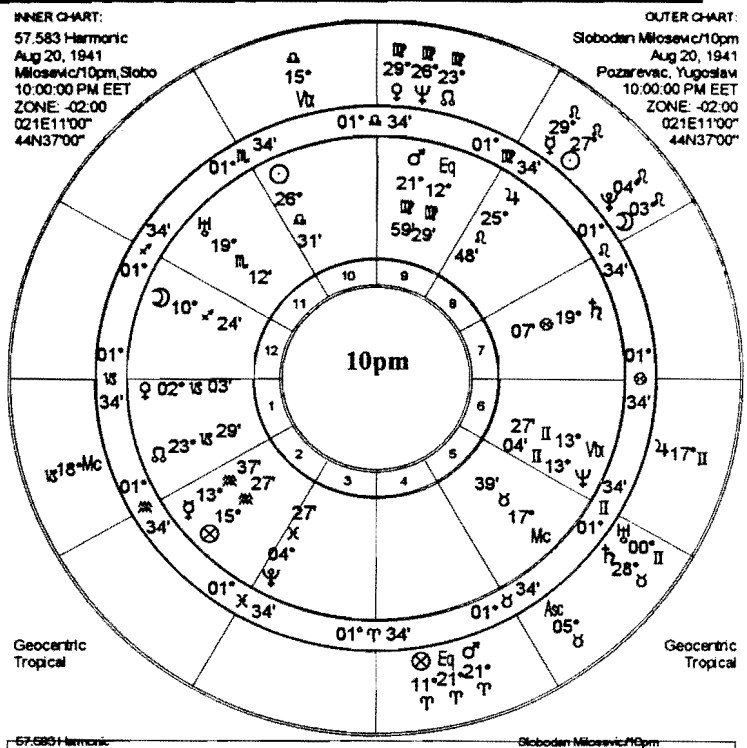

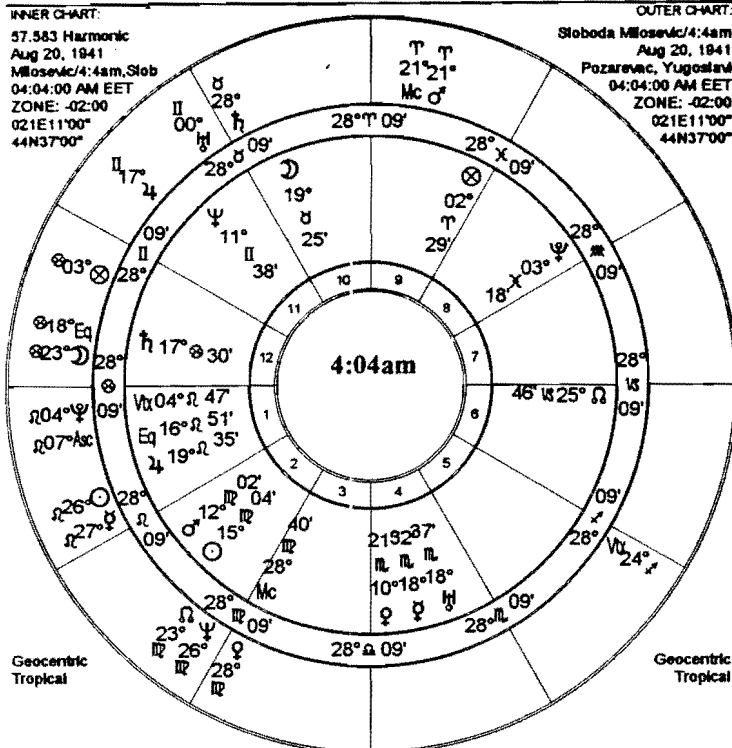

Monthly Synodic Chart (above) reflected his uncompromising dedication to his policy. The Ruler, Mars, squares Uranus (ruthless determination, addiction to violence). Saturn squares Neptune and both link to Natal Pluto by square and opposition.. This is defined in Combination of Stellar Influences (Ebertin) as a hard and unfeeling disposition, tendency to violence, fanatical adherence to one's principles.

Pluto on the Ascendant combined with Mars (doubly powerful in its own Sign Aries) right on the upper Meridian and square to the Moon portrays Milosevic as a strong and brutal leader with a unique, if infamous, destiny. He is a tyrant determined to maintain his power and pursue his policy of ethnic "cleansing" whatever the cost to his subjects or his country.

The powerful Sign Leo confirms his unyielding resolve to be the centre pin of his country and maintain his authority by all available means, fair or foul. Pluto gives drive, determination, concentration on objectives and, in its lower manifestations, a callous disregard for the sufferings of others.

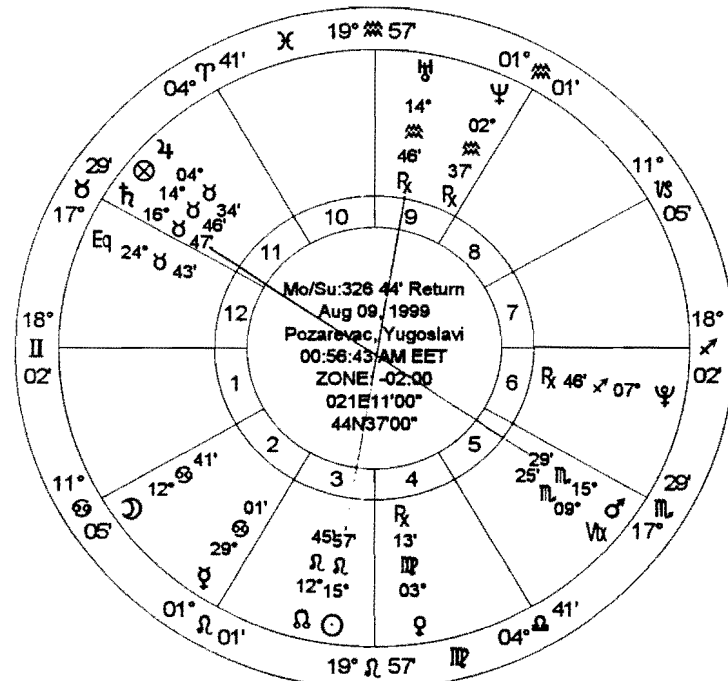

When NATO started its punitive bombing campaign against Serbia on the 24th of March last, Milosevic's

So what lies ahead for Milosevic?—Disaster. His Synodic (Moon/Sun Phase-Return) Chart for the month 9 August—8 September 1999 is on the next page. It shows the Sun (at a depressed point in the Chart) in a tight Fixed T-Square with the three Malefics Saturn, Uranus and Mars. This portends the overthrow of his ambitions, and quite possibly his fall from power. An additional nail in his coffin is the square between the two co-Rulers, Jupiter and Neptune, of the Status House—loss of prestige and power. He will have led

This Harmonic Chart from the 4:04am birth time relates to the month 20Mar99—20Apr99. NATO commenced the punitive action against Milosevic on 24th March. The Vertex conjoins Natal Pluto, Mars conjoins the Sun, and the Moon opposes Uranus. As an indicator of conflict this Chart is clearly preferable to the one opposite, derived from the 10pm birth time.

The above Month Harmonic Chart from the 10pm birth time indicates not war but peace!—Venus on the Ascendant, Natal Venus on the Midheaven, Jupiter sextile the Sun and conjunct the Natal Sun.

The Chart above is Milosevic's Synodic Return of 9Aug99. The portents of disaster are clear (G. Cross. ☉, ☿, ♃, ☿).

his country to destruction.

The Progression of Venus on May 2 to the trine of the Jupiter/Neptune midpoint at 6°Leo52' coincided with Milosevic's release of the three captured American soldiers on that date. One could be forgiven for thinking that this uncharacteristic act of clemency was less the result of genuine feelings of compassion than a cynical assessment of its propaganda value.

In the coming months the onward march of events in the life of Sloboda Milosevic is depicted by the Progressions and Directions forward and backward in the Zodiac. Here is my attempt to forecast from his Birth Chart the more prominent episodes, using the tools of modern Astrology. Readers are urged to try this for themselves—predicting the future—so that they will not become permanently bogged down in merely explaining the past:

May 14, 1999. Saturn trine Sun/Pluto (converse Asc-Arc Direction): Though this is a trine it is only slightly less malefic than the more powerful square. The planets involved reflect the desperate struggle of a dictator. Ruthless measures may be anticipated.

May 21. Uranus Stationary trine Jupiter: A stroke of luck for Milosevic.

June 4. Mars Stationary square the Moon: Major losses for the Serbian Leader.

June 5. Uranus conjunct Sun/Uranus (Asc-Arc Drctn.) on the 12th Cusp of his Natal Chart: This will mark the shock of another severe blow to Milosevic's ambitions.

June 9. Moon conj. Saturn (Solar-Arc Drctn.): Increasing difficulty with supplies and services to both the army and the civilian population.

June 25. Sun conj. Saturn/Pluto (Sec. Repr.): A further act of self-destruction.

July 6. Moon conj. Pluto/MC (Sec. Regr.): Another crisis caused by his misuse of power.

July 10. Moon conj. Mars/Pluto (Sec. Regr.): A further demonstration of the brutality of which this Dictator is capable.

July 11. Venus trine Asc (Sec. Prgn): Some amelioration of conditions for Milosevic.

August 6. Mercury Stationary sextile Venus: Talks initiated to halt the conflict.

August 18. Pluto Stationary trine the Ascendant: A cessation of hostilities.

August 25. Jupiter Stationary square Pluto: Total loss for Milosevic.

— Dymock.

RESULT OF TEST NO.30

Report by Ross Harvey:

The correct answer is that on the 5th February 1999 the woman gave birth to a son. Pregnancy and birth were without complications.

There were nine entries, and I am delighted to be able to say that four were correct, and three more partially so. Congratulations to Dymock Brose who used the Solar Monthly and Monthly Harmonic Charts; to Peggy Hetherington (NSW) who used Secondary Progressions and Transits; to Lea Breuer-Kantor (Israel) who used Uranian Astrology and even correctly suggested that drugs may have been used (the woman had taken fertility drugs), though she thought the child was a girl; and to Marion Mendez (USA), who used Solar-Arc Directions, the Solar Return, Secondary Progressions and Uranian Astrology. Fay Jenkins (Vic.) and Fritz Guldner (South Africa) both suggested birth as one of several possibilities. Miriam Laister (S.A.) offered two possibilities of which her favoured one was correct.

Traditional methods would have been sufficient to solve this Test. Solar-Arc Directions had Uranus square Venus (exact on the 7th February)—as three entrants mentioned—and Venus trine Jupiter on the 14th April. The joy of a much longed-for birth would not be confined to the month of the event. No one mentioned converse Solar-Arc Directions, or Progressions either, though they gave the clearest indications. Converse Solar-Arc Directions were impressive:

Jupiter trine Venus	11 Sep 98
Venus trine MC	19 Oct 98
Venus sextile Moon	27 Jan 99
Venus conjunct Sun	24 May 99.

Secondary Regressions ("Converse Progressions") were even more helpful, and had led me a year ago to tell the woman that a child was probable:

Re.Sun quincunx re.Pluto, exact on the day (5 Feb 99), and Re.Sun trine re.Jupiter on 30 May 99, the latter being one of the most important Progressions of her life. All these indications tell of a major favourable event. There were no negative indications.

The Cyclical Charts also told the story. The Solar Return had Uranus conjunct MC, Sun and Mars conjunct Asc, and Cusp 5 conjunct r.MC. The 5th Cusp tells us it was a child.

The Q1 KSR (10 Jun 98, 6:25:58am AEST) had Jupiter conjunct MC (it must have been a favourable year, although two entrants thought it wasn't), Mars conjunct Asc—appropriate for a boy, although I must say also for the stress of childbirth—and the Moon opposite Asc, Venus ruling the 5th House conjunct r.Sun, and Cusp 5 trine r.Venus.

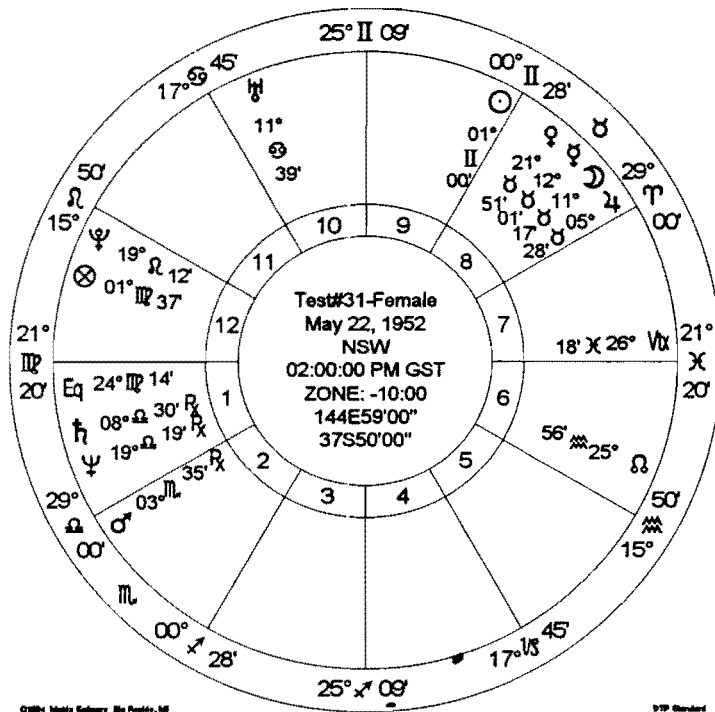

The prenatal 39th Annual Synodic Return (7 Mar 1956, 5:09:20pm, AEST) had Asc conjunct Jupiter (ruling the 5th) and conjunct Pluto, and Cusp 5 was trine Jupiter and Pluto, and Venus.

The Solar Monthly Chart (below) had Asc conjunct Pluto and trine Moon, Jupiter conjunct Cusp 5 (Koch—but not Placidus or Regiomontanus), and Venus trine Mars.

This was a most satisfying result. My thanks to all participants and warmest congratulations to all those who were right.

TEST NO. 31

The above is the Chart of a woman born 22nd May 1952, 2pm AEST, at 37S50. 144E59. She is in a full-time career, is married, has no children. The questions:

(1) What happened on the 28th Dec 1981 at the birth-place?

(2) What is her occupation?

As before, please send your answers either to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, NSW, Australia 2074, or to me by e-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au.

Answer either one or both parts of the question, and please send in your response by 28 May, so that the Test can be reviewed in the June Issue of this Journal.

Even if you don't have a lot of time for these exercises you will find that half an hour spent on them will undoubtedly increase your astrological expertise and reveal to you the relative value of various techniques.

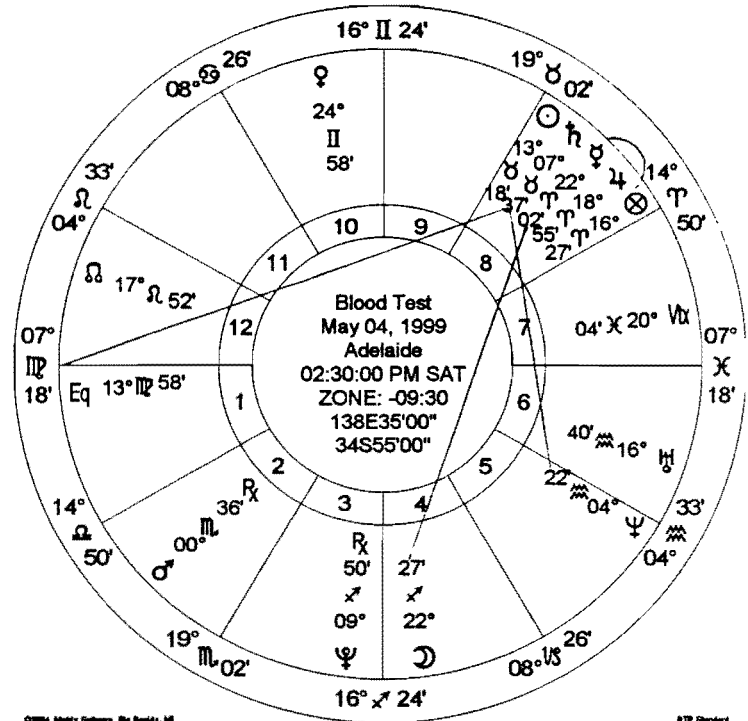

HORARY CHART re BLOOD TEST

In the next column is a Horary Chart of very recent date, prompted by the results of a woman's blood test. The Test showed a high cholesterol reading not characteristic of the woman's medical history.

The question arose—What is the cause of the unusually high reading?

The Querent's two Significators are Mercury, Ruler of the Ascendant, and the Moon. These bodies are in trine with one another and relate aptly to the Querent who was born with the Sun in Gemini.

The blood test, being an investigative procedure, relates to the 8th House, which appropriately holds an accumulation of planets.

The Querent read from this Chart that she is basically in good health (Jupiter conjunct Mercury and trine the Moon; Saturn ruling the 6th House trine to the rising degree).

The cause of the adverse 'blood test' is shown by Neptune on the Cusp of the 6th House square Saturn, ruling that House. This immediately gave the Querent the answer—oil! Neptune rules oils. She had been taking Flax Seed Oil, which has good therapeutic properties, as a health measure over a period of weeks, but in greatly excessive amounts. There had not been any other change in her otherwise excellent diet. By a reduction in the quantity of the oil intake she confidently expects to have a much better cholesterol reading within three months.

ANY QUESTIONS?

Readers are invited to ask any questions of general interest relating to material published in this Journal, and your Editor will answer them to the best of his ability. If correspondents wish to remain anonymous, they should indicate this in the communication.

I should also be pleased to have ideas about how the publication can be improved.

As mentioned in the last Issue, on request I will send details of how to calculate the Age Harmonic Chart (using a hand calculator) to anyone who does not have the appropriate computer program. The Age Harmonic is an absolutely invaluable technique that should be in the armamentarium of every astrologer.

My kind regards to all.

— Dymock, 6th May 1999.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 213 April 1999

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

NATO VS THE SERBS

For astrological prediction a vital point is having the exact minute when the first bomb was released. Of the several times put forward for the commencement of the military action that of 7:51pm CET as in the above Chart was derived from radio broadcasts in the USA, and is apparently very close to the mark.

The Chart should therefore enable us to predict the course of events and the outcome. Despite the difficulty (and the risks), it behoves astrological practitioners to attempt a forecast, not only as a useful projection into the future, but also to demonstrate that astrologers are not limited to analysis of past events.

So here is my reading of the Chart:

At the time of writing (8th April) Nato's bombing of the Serbs has been continuing for two weeks.

The Ascendant represents NATO, the party that initiated the punitive measures, and the Descendant represents the Serb Forces led by Slobodan Milosovic.

The main questions to be answered are (1) which side will prevail, (2) when will the conflict end, (3) will ground forces be brought in, and (4) will other nations involve themselves in the fighting.

In This Issue...

	Page
Nato Vs The Serbs.....	1
Solutions for Test No. 29	2
Solar and Lunar Retns. & Age Harmonic	2
New Test, No.30	4
President Clinton and Ken Starr —
Answers from the Inner Planes	4

The Nato forces and Serbia are respectively represented by Venus and Mars, Rulers of the 1st and 7th Houses. The Opposition Aspect between these two depicts their being pitted against each other.

Venus (NATO) and Mars (the Serbs) are both in their Signs of Rulership, which gives them strength, but Venus has the upper hand as Mars is Retrograde, and Venus is elevated above it. Venus, however, is conjunct Saturn and square Neptune, which indicates that NATO is inhibited or restricted in its operations, and the outcome (Neptune on the 4th Cusp) is not going to be wholly satisfactory. The NATO operations will also be very expensive (Pluto ruling the 2nd House trine Jupiter, and Venus ruling the 8th opposite Mars).

The conjunction of Jupiter with the Sun, which rules the 10th House of the Chart, shows that the NATO forces will prevail. They will achieve their objectives in approximately five months (August), as indicated by the number of degrees separating the Sun from Jupiter. Around August 25 is likely as the Sun conjoins Jupiter by Tertiary Progression on that date.

The Moon in the 9th House, leaving the sextile of Venus and applying to the trine of Mars, indicates that the opposing forces will resume negotiations chiefly at the instigation or by the arrangement of a third party. A favourable time would be the first week of May, suggested by the Quarta-Lunar Return of 5th May.

Saturn in the Serbs' House (7th), square to Neptune in the 4th House (derived 10th of the Serbs) indicates defeat of the Serbian ambitions for the ethnic "cleansing" of Kosovo.

Uranus square Mars, Significator of the Serbs, equates with the massive destruction in their homeland through air power.

Though the USA continues to deny that ground troops will be brought in, this does appear to be a possibility around May 13 when Neptune sextiles the Sun by Vertex-Arc Direction. Both the Sun and Neptune have power in the 6th House which traditionally relates to infantry forces.

An unexpected development is the hundreds of thousands of Kosovars dispossessed and traumatized through the incredible inhumanity of the Serbs. Astrologically these masses of refugees would come under the rulership of the 12th House. As their plight is directly attributable to the Serbs' calculated policy of eviction and massacre, it must here be a 6th-House matter, which is the derived 12th of the Serbs.

The 6th House has Pisces on the Cusp, traditionally ruled by Jupiter, and Jupiter is in a close square with the Moon (the populace) and trine to Pluto (mass effects), showing that great numbers of the people will be affected. The co-Ruler of the 6th House is Neptune, which is subject to squares from Saturn and Venus, compounding the tragedy. Unfortunately, many deaths can be expected, both because of Saturn's nature and the Rulership of Venus over the 8th House. The situation will be substantially relieved when Neptune completes its sextile to the Sun (by converse Vertex Arc) in the second week of May, and again at the end of May when the Sun sextiles Neptune in the Progressed Chart.

The day-to-day progress of events can be judged by Directions and Progressions. For a comprehensive coverage it is necessary to use a number of predictive techniques apart from the usual Secondary Progressions and Transits. They should include Directions by Ascendant-Arc and Vertex-Arc as well as Solar-Arc. Tertiary Progressions also make a valuable contribution. For example, on 31st March when Mars conjoined Neptune/Node the Serbs captured three American soldiers. (Mars, the Serbs; Neptune/6th, infantry; Node, a group). A repeat of this Aspect by Ascendant Arc on 4th April coincided with the disappearance of the two Australian Care workers.

The Sun sextile Neptune by Tertiary Progression on 29th March signalled the involvement of more NATO Navy vessels, and Venus sextile the Moon on 6th April with the announcement by Milosovic of a unilateral cease-fire.

On April 20 the Progressed Moon squares Jupiter, which cannot but cause further problems for NATO by swelling even further the multitude of refugees. The Lunar Return of April 21 has Pluto at the Midheaven opposite Venus suggesting a radical revision of NATO policy. In the following Lunar Return (May 18) the Sun is in Taurus conjunct the MC, and Venus is conjunct the Moon in the 11th House, so matters will be going better for NATO, with good progress towards its goals.

As said earlier, I expect a conclusion to hostilities in August, probably about the 25th, when the Sun conjoins Jupiter in the Radix by Tertiary Progression. The Tertiary Chart for this date shows the Sun at 9Ari15 trine to the Midheaven at 8Leo25. — Dymock.

SOLUTIONS FOR TEST NO. 29

Ross Harvey's Report:

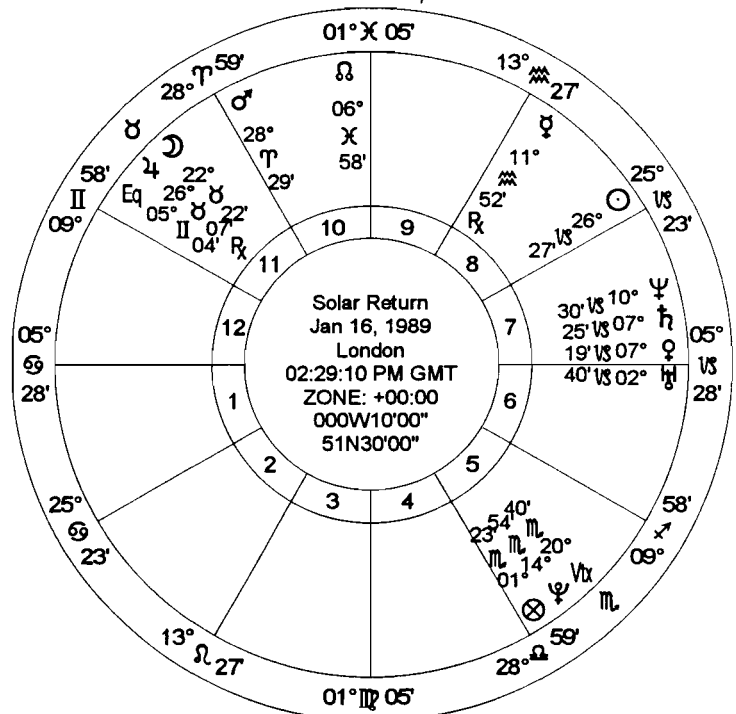

The correct answer is that on the 3rd of February 1989 in London the subject was married.

His profession is that of a solicitor (lawyer).

Congratulations to Doreen Gilbert (NSW) who said the event was a blissful relationship, possible engagement, and to Fay Jenkins (Vic) who said he possibly married someone who worked while he went through university. Mignon Halford (NSW) said "some form of partnership forming or breaking".

In all there were eight entries. No one got the profession right although Mignon was close when she said "counsellor, psychologist, or could be a strategist like a barrister, etc."

The Solar Return relocated to London had the North Node conjunct the MC, and Venus conjunct

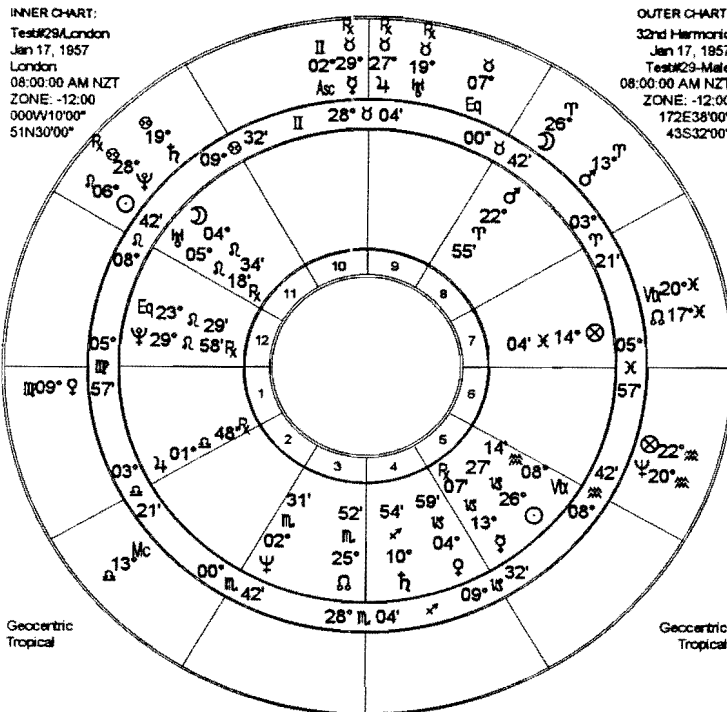

Saturn on the Descendant—typical indications of a love affair. The Solar Return Ascendant was conjunct the Natal 5th Cusp, (probability of a love affair), and the SR-MC was conjunct the Natal Ascendant.

The Solar Return set for the birthplace was not especially helpful, though it did indicate a favourable year.

The 32nd Harmonic had Jupiter conjunct the Ascendant and its Ruler, which is much more common for marriage than just a romance, and the Sun conjunct Natal Moon and Uranus. If the Birth Chart is relocated to London its MC is conjunct Harmonic Jupiter and its Ascendant conjunct Harmonic Venus. The event was destined to happen in London.

The 32nd Synodic Return is not especially helpful in this case, except that Jupiter is conjunct the N. Node in the Birth Chart, again suggesting that marriage is the event.

The Lunar Return (next column) had appropriate indications, whether set for London or for the birth place. The Chart for London is below. Jupiter is conjunct the Part of Fortune on the 7th Cusp, and the Ascendant is conjunct the Natal N. Node and MC.

The profession was not so easy to determine unless one has had experience of the charts of lawyers. The indications however are quite typical. Pluto is Angular and sesquare Mercury, and Mercury is very closely 100° from Mars which is conjunct the 3rd Cusp. Both Pluto and Mars rule the 10th House, to further the connection. In the several dozen charts of lawyers that I have, Mercury—Mars Aspects (including close minor Aspects as in the present case) are the most common, and signify love of argument. They are not necessarily to be found in the charts of researchers, for instance, who also have to collect evidence and evaluate opinions. Mars conjunct the 3rd Cusp in Aspect to Mercury stresses that the career involves verbal communication, and the aggressiveness implied by Mars is appropriate for most legal work but not for research.

Comment by the Editor

Regarding the above Test, the question arises again as to what is the best chart to use, especially for those who do not have access to sophisticated computer programs. It still appears that anyone can do well relying simply on the standard Solar or Lunar Return set for the place of the action.

The Age Harmonic is a good alternative if you are without a computer but have a hand calculator. I will be happy to send instructions on its calculation to anyone who asks. Though the Age Harmonic is usually calculated for the place of birth, it may be even more indicative when the Birth Chart is relocated, as Ross Harvey has demonstrated in his Report above.

It is not so strange that no one lit on the profession. Inspection of the Natus reveals that the subject could have succeeded in a number of vocations, and some were mentioned in the responses to this Test. For example there are appropriate placements for an investigative journalist, health inspector, administrator, psychologist or psychiatrist, medical practitioner, sex therapist, scientist, counsellor, engineer or electrician, besides solicitor, which is the man's actual vocation.

Many will question the validity of the 100° Aspect from Mercury to Mars used by Ross, but even without it there is sufficient evidence to support the profession of lawyer (Sun in Capricorn trine Jupiter, Saturn in the 10th House in Sagittarius and ruling the Ascendant).

I congratulate all who participated in this Test, irrespective of their results, and this applies particularly to those who have a busy schedule but nevertheless made the time to do the Test, and had the courage to send in their findings. I am sure very many more readers of Astrologers' Forum would have tried to find the answers, without writing in about them. As I have said many times, the great value of these exercises is the increase in astrological understanding and skill that results from the thought and effort involved.

Now here is the next Test, also set by Ross, so please send your responses to him at 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia 2074, or to me by e-mail, dymock@ozemail.com.au.

There is not a lot of time to answer this one, as the closing date is April 28 so that the results can appear in the next Issue (May). But do have a go anyway.

TEST NO.30

The subject is a female born on 2nd May 1959, 8:10pm AEST, at 33°54' S, 151°11' E (Sydney). She is a part-time office worker, married, no children.

What happened to her on 5th February 1999?

BILL CLINTON AND KEN STARR

Answers from the Inner Planes

The personal vendetta waged by Starr against President Clinton has been a feature of recent past issues of Astrologers' Forum. Nick Sutherland of Texas, USA, has kindly supplied the following account from a discarnate entity Abenda, channelled by Tara Sutphen. I'm sure it will interest many readers.

Q: Abenda, can you explain the animosity between President Bill Clinton and Ken Starr?

A: The two men have been enemies for many lifetimes, the following being some of their most interesting incarnations:

The animosity began in Italy over 100 years before the founding of Rome (836 BC). Clinton was then a regional leader. Starr was a rival Barbarian who publicly denounced him. Verbal accusations escalated into armed conflict and Clinton was killed. Soon after, the people hanged Starr in a village square.

In 741 AD, in Morocco, Clinton and Starr were sisters who did not get along. Two years apart in age, their father gave Starr away to be married and she died in childbirth the same year. Clinton went on to have a fruitful life.

In 971 AD, they came back together as males living in Turkey. Hate assures karmic reunions. This time, Starr politically worked against Clinton. To Clinton, Starr provided a challenge for his ideas. But Starr ended up stalking Clinton and was banished from the city. Clinton has no real hate for Starr, but Starr is karmically determined to destroy Clinton in any way he can.

In 1375 AD in France, Clinton is a woman and Starr is born as her child. Clinton died within days of childbirth. If Starr can't kill Clinton one way, then he will another.

Currently, Ken Starr feels he leads a worthy cause, but in reality he is consumed by a desire for vengeance. He is still a stalker. Clinton feels on a soul level that to be a great leader he must conspire with enemies and refuse to give in.

You know and accept that life on your plane is a matter of soul energy interacting with energy. With this understanding, know that Starr is an energy focal point for all who oppose Clinton personally and who oppose his ideological views. So Starr's energy is being fed by others of like mind. Events will have to play all the way out, although to the majority of observers, this makes little sense.

These two souls will have to play out variations of this conflict lifetime after lifetime until one of them rises above the karma by forgiving the other. Then the one who has not forgiven will have to find other entities with a karmic configuration matching their need to experience conflict. Sadly, there is never any shortage of hate-filled souls needing to focus their self-loathing upon others.

My kind regards to all. — Dymock, 9th April 1999.

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?

ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 212 March 1999

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

TEST NO.27—RESULTS & ANALYSIS

Correct Answer: On 23 January 1998 the subject died of a brain tumour.

It was gratifying to receive ten responses to this challenge from all over the world (including Japan and Israel) the participants employing a variety of techniques—traditional Astrology, Cosmobiology, Uranian, and even the Hindu Vedic System. If ten readers actually sent in written copy, it can be safely assumed that at least five times that number gave the problem some thought and tried to work out an answer. (That, of course, is where the great value of the exercise lies.) Though no one found the right answer, most demonstrated a keen understanding of the relevant planets and Houses plus the ability to combine the various factors in their reports.

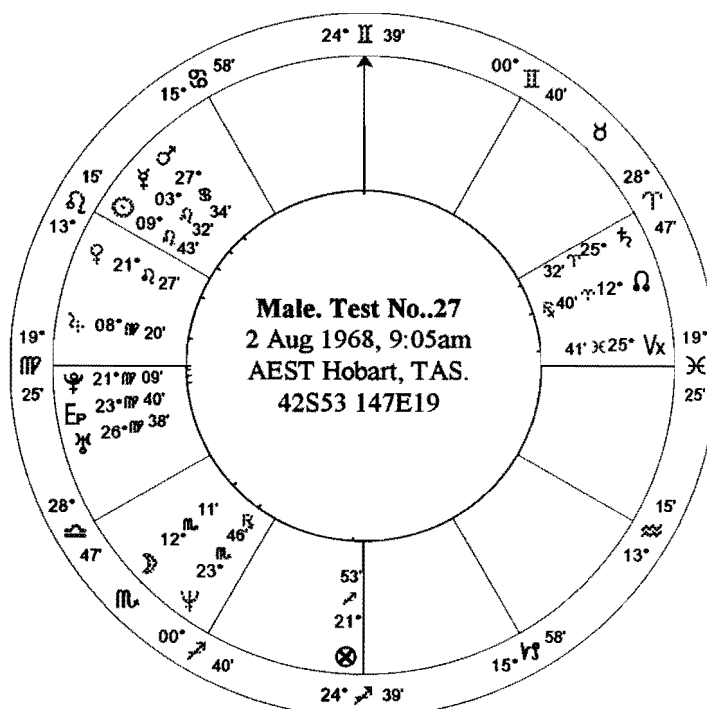

Closest to the mark was Ross Harvey (NSW) who said the subject may have been killed in a traffic accident. Congratulations to Ross and to all those who took part, their reward being increased expertise and general knowledge of Astrology following the thought and research needed to come up with any sort of result.

Without doubt, the most revealing Chart for this Test is the Age-Harmonic Any astrologers who have had reservations about this modern technique might be persuaded to revise their ideas in the light of the analysis below.

I should mention here that though Harmonics in general are not a modern invention, the idea of using AGE Harmonics is due entirely, so far as I am aware, to the exploratory brain and mental percipience of Ross Harvey, a seasoned astrologer from NSW. Ross first came up with the idea—reported fifteen years ago (October 1983) in an article in Astrologers' Forum (always at the cutting edge!). It was a stroke of brilliance that I personally (and fortunately) recognized immediately, and have employed to great advantage in scores of charts ever since. In my view it eclipses all other advances in our art this century, not excepting any of the different forms of astrology, my only regret being the chains of conservative thinking that keep the generality of astrologers from recognizing and applying

In This Issue...

	Page
Test No.27—Results and Analysis.....	1
29th Harmonic Chart.....	2
Lunar Return.....	2
New Test, #29.....	3
Hillary Clinton—Birth Time confirmed.....	4
Chelsea Clinton: Brief Forecast	4

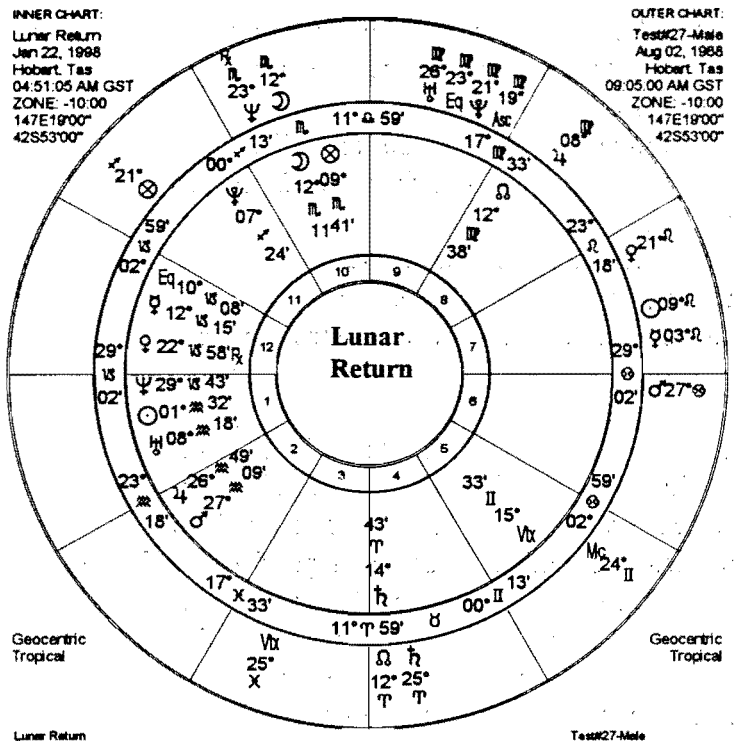

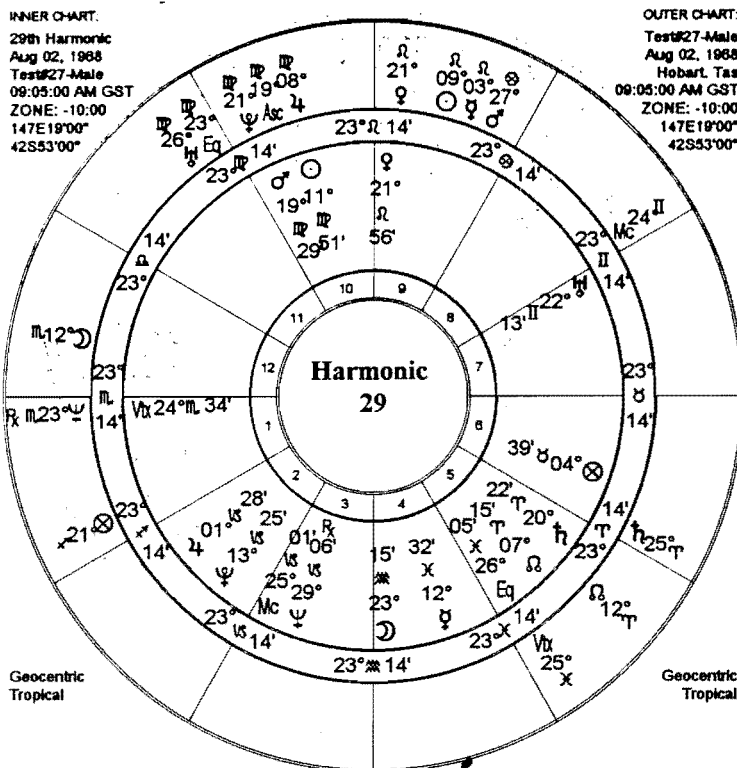

this wonderful tool. I am immeasurably grateful to Ross, just as I am eternally grateful for that modern miraculous development—the computer.

The Birth Chart of the subject appears above. On the next page is his 29th Age-Harmonic Chart which relates to his 30th year, from 2nd Aug. 1997—2nd Aug. 1998. Ross made good use of this Chart in his answer to the Test. The Harmonic covers the date in which the subject's death occurred, 23rd January 1998.

The Harmonic Chart is enclosed by the Birth Horoscope, and the two together give multiple indications of the fatality: One sees immediately that Natal Neptune rises, right on the Ascendant conjunct the Harmonic Vertex. So this is a DESTINY YEAR. Neptune in Scorpio having the flavour of Neptune conjunct Pluto, dire things are to be expected.

We look for close positions and Aspects: The Natal

MC is closely conjunct the 8th Cusp, as is also Harmonic Uranus. This is symptomatic of a career cut short by death, a conclusion supported by the Ruler of the 8th House being in close opposition to the Sun—the Life Force.

The "floating" MC at 25°Cap01' is closely squared by Natal Saturn at 25°Ari32' on the Cusp of Illness.

Mars at 19°Vir29' conjoins Natal Pluto at 21°Vir09' and the Natal Ascendant at 19°Vir15'. These last two Significators were already a potent force for ill in the Birth Chart. Mars, Pluto and the Ascendant tightly conjoined are an unholy alliance that militates strongly against good health and length of life.

The final seal on these ill omens is the T-Square to Rising Neptune—Venus opposing the Moon along the Meridian, both square to Neptune. Neptune in Scorpio, adversely affected by Venus is associated with morbid growths—tumours, in other words—if additional factors point to illness.

It is doubtful if more significant indications of death by a tumour could be given in any chart. The above Age-Harmonic Chart is one to dwell on—an open sesame for the untrammelled mind.

In the next column is the standard Lunar-Return Chart again circumscribed by the Birth Figure.

The most striking feature is the planet Neptune again right on the Ascendant and closely conjunct the Sun, both bodies being opposed by Natal Mars. This configuration is particularly virulent as the Sun rules the House of Death, and its vitality is already drastically weakened by Neptune. The effect is heightened somewhat by the trine of Pluto to the Natal Sun ruling the 8th House.

Looking further we see Venus on the 8th Cusp, the Natal Venus/Neptune Square being brought into operation by the proximity of Venus to the (Koch) Cusp. This is indicative of the fatal tumour.

Finally, the power of Saturn on the Cusp of Endings is amplified by its conjunction with the Natal N.Node.

This standard Lunar-Return Chart, combined with the Birth Figure, does therefore give a reasonable indication of the event.

It has to be remembered that an astrologer who had the parents of the man as his clients would almost certainly determine the course of events with accuracy as he would know the previous history of the subject and his state of health.

The subject was diagnosed with a brain tumour on 23 December 1993, and it was surgically removed on 10 January 1994. The "all clear" was given in May 1997 but a grade-4 inoperable tumour was diagnosed on 4 July 1997, leading to death on 23 January 1998.

With that medical history in mind, I am sure that most of those who sent in a reply to this Test would have arrived at the outcome. The background information would immediately have ruled out many of the other possibilities that did come up in the Cyclic Charts, e.g., marriage, new environment, change of profession, divorce, etc.

Below is a selection of respondents' replies that deserve commendation for being on the right track: "He had been in hospital for successful treatment". (Fay Jenkins, ~~from~~ Prgd. Sun conjunct Neptune.)

"A kind of stress having illusions" and an "unexpected disruptive effect" (Rajeev Upadhye, using Transits only).

"Soul-shattering change and disruption" (Shirley Gray, Michigan, USA; from the 29th Age-Harmonic Chart).

The above partial successes were all scored using traditional methods. There have not been enough entries employing Uranian astrology to judge of its efficacy in this type of problem. So far, what seems to be the main trouble is the great variety of possibilities conjured up by the multitude of factors used (including the hypothetical planets) and the difficulty of deciding which are the important and crucial ones in any particular situation. It seems a good deal of research will be needed to overcome this difficulty and establish Uranian methods as a workable system. The test will be the accurate application of the system to predict the future, not just to analyse the past.

Cosmobiology has difficulties similar to the Uranian system, though not so pronounced, but is handicapped by not using House domification.

Similarly, we shall not know how effective is the Hindu Vedic system until enough experienced practitioners try their hand at these Tests. Unfortunately, there is always the problem with established practitioners that they are apprehensive of a loss of prestige if their diagnosis happens to be wrong. This is quite the wrong attitude. All astrologers should be willing to put their theories to the test, possibly discovering short-comings and being alerted to the need for further study and research, which would increase their competence in all areas. This would be the guiding principle of an astrologer who pursues his art for the love of it and not principally for material gain.

NEW TEST, NO. 29

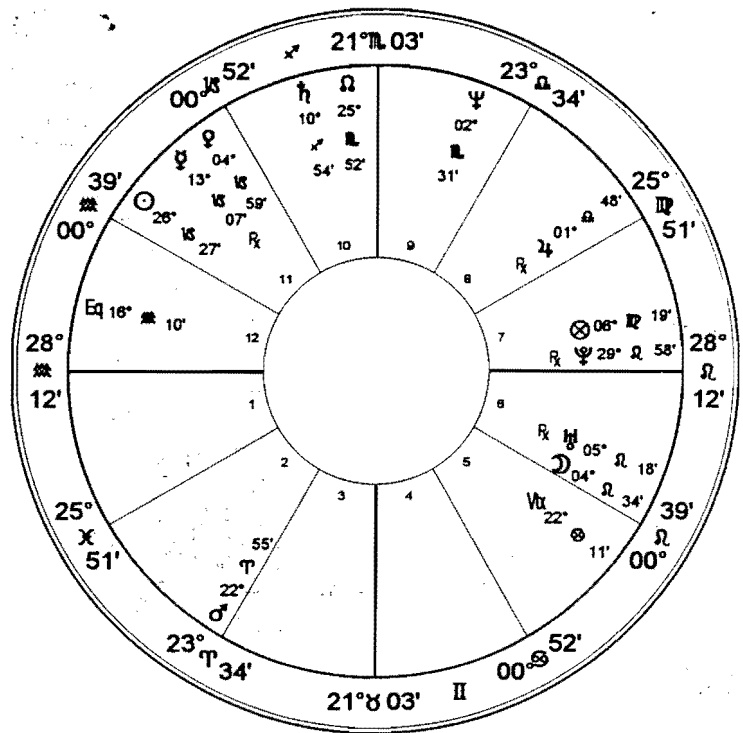

Well, try your hands at this one, set by Ross Harvey who uncovered the necessary data:

The subject is a man, born 17 January 1957, 8:00am NZT, Christchurch, NZ, 43°S32', 172°E38'. The man worked in an office and was single

There are two parts to this Test:

- (1) What happened to him in London on February 3, 1989?
- (2) This man had studied for a profession at university, but had not completed the course. Some time after the above event he resumed his studies and qualified. What is his profession?

Ross comments that this is a difficult one, but the planetary configurations are quite distinctive and are

Test #29-Male, 17 Jan 1957, 8:00am NZT
Christchurch, New Zealand. 43S32, 172E38
Koch Cusps, Mean Node.

seen in the charts of many other members of this profession.

So there is something to get your astrological teeth into. Try for one or both parts of the Test. I hope many will "give it a go!". Send your replies direct to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW, Australia 2074, or if you have e-mail facilities you can send via me dymock@ozemail.com.au.

Answers, please, by March 29, 1999.

—Dymock.

HILLARY CLINTON & DAUGHTER CHELSEA

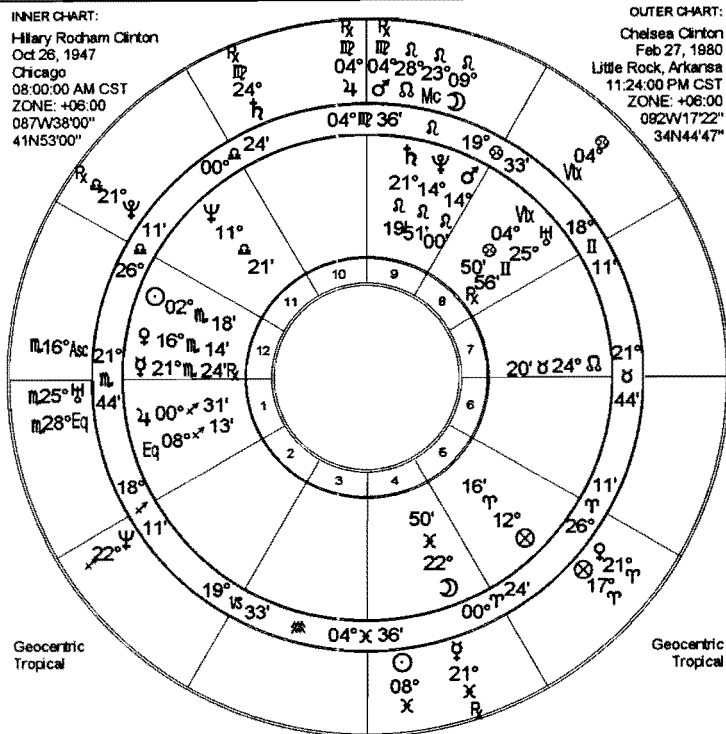

In the last Issue I wrote about Hillary Clinton, using the birth time of 8am instead of 8pm as usually adopted. I am convinced the 8am Chart is the correct one. Anyone who still harbours doubts should look at the evidence supplied by the combined Charts of mother and daughter.

We always expect to see similarities of Sign, Aspects or House position in the nativities of family members. This alone does not serve to confirm TIMES of birth, but when planets of the chart whose time is accurate appear on the ANGLES of the other, we have weighty evidence that the birth time for the second chart is correct.

On the next page is the 8am Chart of Hillary, as given in the last Issue, circumscribed by the Birth Figure of her daughter, Chelsea. Chelsea's Mars at

INNER CHART:

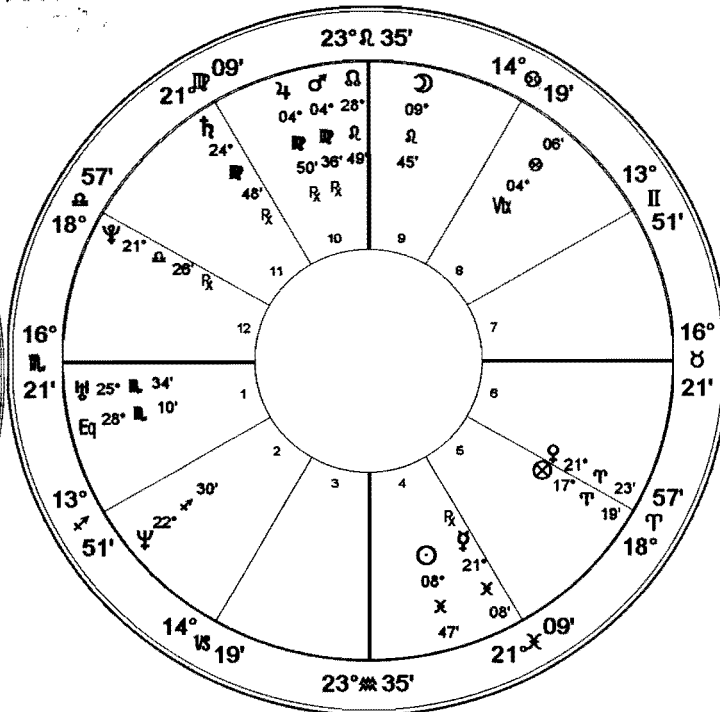

Hillary Rodham Clinton
Oct 26, 1947
Chicago
08:00:00 AM CST
ZONE: +06:00
087W38'00"
41N53'00"

Hillary Rodham Clinton
Pl	Geo Lon	R _h	Decl.
☉	22°x 49' 51"		-07° 03'
☌	02°x 18' 27"		-12° 17'
☿	21°x 23' 52"	R _h	-20° 53'
♀	16°x 13' 40"		-16° 26'
♂	14°x 00' 28"		+18° 03'
♂	00°x 30' 41"		-19° 39'
♂	21°x 18' 35"		+15° 16'
♂	25°x 55' 44"	R _h	+23° 31'
♂	11°x 21' 03"		-03° 08'
♂	14°x 25' 58"		+23° 06'

OUTER CHART:

Chelsea Clinton
Feb 27, 1980
Little Rock, Arkansas
11:24:00 PM CST
ZONE: +06:00
082W17'22"
34N44'47"

Chelsea Clinton
Pl	Geo Lon	R	Decl.
☉	09°x 45' 11"		+16° 06'
☌	08°x 46' 50"		-08° 17'
☿	21°x 07' 38"	R	-00° 35'
♀	21°x 22' 49"		+08° 53'
♂	04°x 35' 40"	R	+13° 52'
♂	04°x 49' 59"	R	+10° 58'
♂	24°x 48' 08"	R	-04° 15'
♂	25°x 34' 10"		-18° 53'
♂	22°x 29' 40"		-21° 52'
♂	21°x 26' 22"	R	+07° 57'

Chelsea Clinton

27 Feb 1980, 11:24pm CST, Little Rock, Arkansas
34N44 47, 92W17 22. Koch Cusps, Mean Node.

4°36' Virgo is precisely to the minute conjunct Hillary's MC. Chelsea's Jupiter at 4°50' Virgo is also closely conjunct her mother's MC, with an orb of only 0°14'. There are other significant planetary connections, but only links with the Angles of Hillary's Charts are useful in this type of investigation to confirm a birth time. No such small-orb connections occur with Hillary's 8pm Birth Chart, where the Ascendant is 29°52' Gemini, and the MC at 5°8' Pisces.

CHELSEA CLINTON

Chelsea has just passed her 19th birthday, having endured, through her father's embroilment in a world-publicized scandal, a year of tribulation and turmoil such as falls to the lot of few women. Her trials are not over yet, her Annual Charts for 1999 showing further emotional upheaval.

Chelsea's 19th Harmonic Chart puts Pluto on the Ascendant of her Birth Figure opposed by H.Venus and Square the H.Sun. This shows more distress and upset as Pluto in typical fashion brings everything unsavoury to the surface and confronts one with a situation that has to be handled. The people Chelsea loves best in the world—her parents—are at war with one another (if only privately). A major period of reconstruction is under way but will take time to complete. On March 13 Pluto at its first Station will Square her Natal Sun. A more critical period will be mid-August when Pluto at its 2nd Station is only one degree from the same Square. There is much domestic disharmony here, increased by other adverse factors—Uranus square the Moon on April 5 and Saturn opposite the Sun on 1 July, both being Directions by Converse Ascendant-Arc.

Chelsea will have her lighter moments—May 15, when the Progressed Moon conjuncts Venus (happiness and harmony), 30 July when Venus is Stationary on Natal Jupiter (a love attachment) and 25 August when Jupiter is Stationary Trine to its Natal position (good fortune; a wish fulfilled).

Pluto at Work

Anne Fryer (S.A.) has written in response to my request for feedback on the list of planetary aspects published in the March '98 Issue: On 11 March 1998 when Pluto was Stationary, turning Retrograde, it was opposite her Natal Moon at 9° Gemini. Transiting Uranus also Trined her Natal Moon at the same time.

That day, 11 March 1998, her mother had an unexpected opportunity to move into residential care—thereby ending a living arrangement they had had for the past 10 years.

Pluto is Stationary again at 10°30' Sagittarius on March 13, so anyone who has a significator at that point or in aspect to it will be subject to the planet's destructive and reconstructive influence in relation to the planet aspected. Reports from readers would be welcomed.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 2 March '99.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Mini-Journal Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques applied to both Personal and World Events

Editor: Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 211 February 1999

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON— CANDIDATE FOR HONOURS

Hillary Rodham Clinton 26th October 1947, 8am CST
Chicago, 87W38, 41N53
Koch Cusps, Mean Node.

Note that the above Chart is for 8am, not the one usually given for 8pm, which I could never relate to what the world knows of America's First Lady. I was alerted to the 8am time by an e-mail correspondent from the USA from whom I learned that though Hillary herself had quoted the 8pm time, her mother said 8am. A comparison of the two Charts leaves no doubt that the above is the correct one. This is one occasion on which I have been grateful for the Internet, though mostly the much vaunted World Wide Web has been for me a waste of time.

Here is a woman of undoubted capacity. Principal features of her Chart are the Sun and Ascendant in Scorpio (strength, fortitude, iron will) and the conjunction of Mars, Pluto and Saturn in Leo (drive, energy, determination, authority). Once her mind is set

In This Issue...

	Page
Hillary Clinton—
Candidate For Honours	1
President Bill Clinton—
Divorce & Political Demise.....	2
Impeachment Trial of President Clinton.....	3
Results of Test No. 28.....	4
Simplified Solving of the Tests	5

on a course it will not easily be deflected. The Moon in Pisces adds sensitivity, compassion and empathy. Her feeling and concern for children, and her political work on their behalf is well-known.

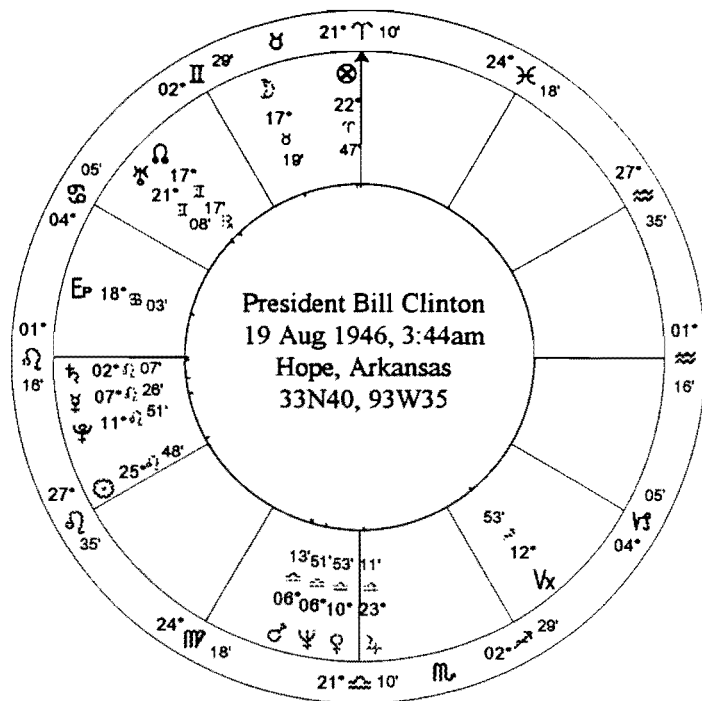

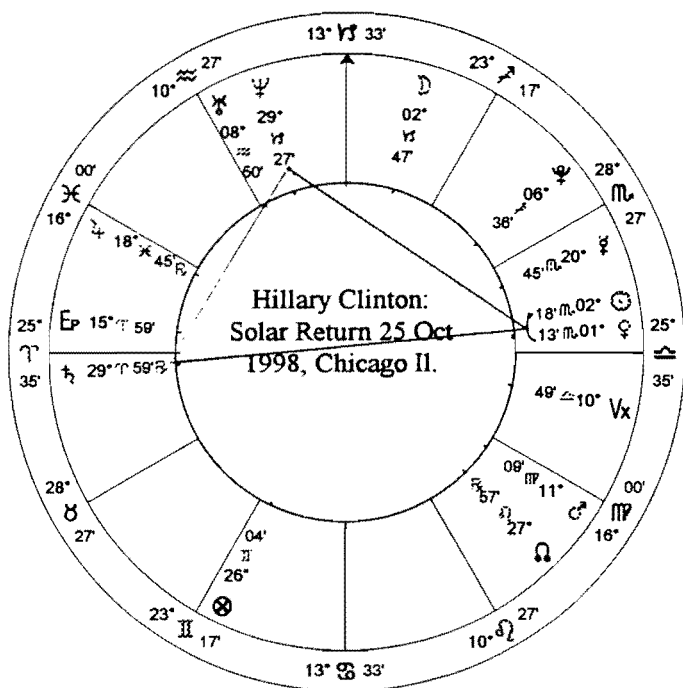

The position of the Sun in the 12th House has meant that the first half of Hillary's life has been spent in relative obscurity, though not without achievement. She is a highly-skilled lawyer with a great capacity for concentration and the ability to sort out immediately the crux of any matter and separate the essential from the non-essential.

Mercury and Venus on the Ascendant are a great asset for her (gift for public speaking); the Moon trine Mercury (highly articulate; wide mental horizons) while the squares to the Mars/Pluto/Saturn conjunction have developed her character through effort, struggle and coping with the vicissitudes of life.

The main achievements in Hillary's personal saga are still to come. The Sun, which was obscured earlier by its position in the 12th House has climbed by Progression of the MC to the apex of her Chart. In April this year (1999) it conjuncts the MC. The next years will see Hillary Clinton more and more in the public arena and rising to unprecedented heights.

The world has admired the way Hillary has staunchly supported her husband in the years of his trial by public ordeal. But now her own standard is about to be raised—and big changes are in the offing.

Hillary's current Solar Return Chart (26Oct98—26Oct99, next page) has a T-Square of Saturn, Neptune and Sun/Venus focussing on the House of Marriage, indicative of a pronounced cooling in the marital relationship, which should surprise no one. Aries rises in this Chart, and its Ruler Mars is in close sesquare to the Rising Degree, signifying Hillary's independence and awakened ambition. It will free her from the tie of an unsatisfactory marriage while offering scope for attainment in her own right, rather than as a prop for her husband.

Current Directions support the above. In the present month, February 1999, Venus and Uranus oppose one another by Ascendant-Arc, both Direct and Converse. This is a typical configuration for the break-up of a relationship. In March, Pluto exercises its splitting action and the start of a new phase through its Station at 10°30' Sagittarius, only 2¼° from the Equatorial Ascendant (EP). The rift becomes even more pronounced in May when Uranus is Stationary at 16°Aqu48' opposite Natal Mars and Pluto. The marriage is effectively, if only privately, finished.

What is the likely date of the official break-up? The Progressions/Directions for 1999 show a series of Oppositions and Squares that continue and augment the disaffection of the parties, but a Court proceeding between two people so prominently placed in the political world must be related to other factors than the needs or wishes of those concerned.

It is hardly likely that Hillary will divorce her husband while he is still in Office. Her sense of loyalty and rectitude is too deeply ingrained for that. In the August 1998 Issue of Astrologers' Forum (page 5) I forecast that President Clinton would survive the attacks upon him and retain his Presidency. I still stand by this, though the Impeachment proceedings are unfinished. But now it is time to decide when Bill Clinton's reign will end, and following that, when the formal divorce proceedings will be initiated.

The President's Birth Chart, which I regard as authentic for the reasons set out in the September 1996 Issue, appears above. Below is his Solar Return Figure set for Washington and the period 19 August 2000 to 19 August 2001, circumscribed by the Birth Figure.

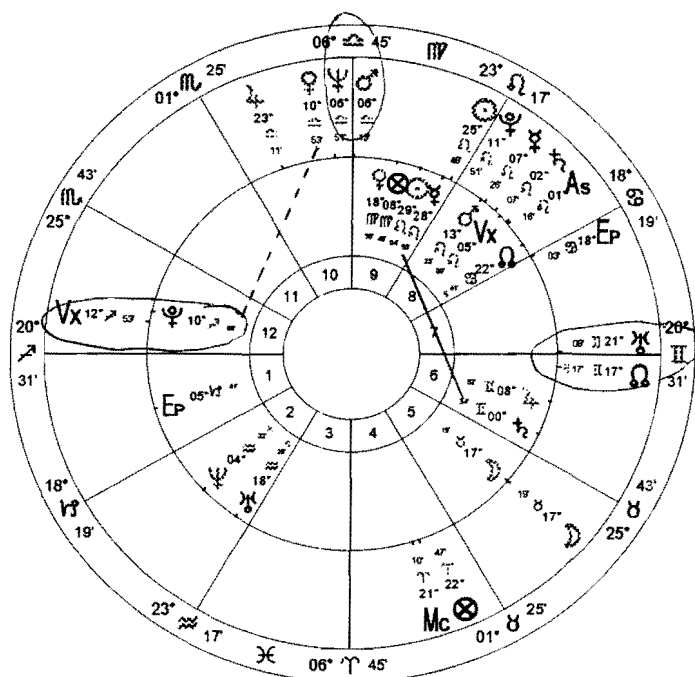

Inner Chart and Cusps: Solar Return 19Aug2000—19Aug2001.
Outer Circle Birth Chart. 18Aug2000, 6:1:10am EST, Washington DC. 38N54, 77W02. Koch Cusps, Mean Node.

This is the Chart that presages his political demise. I have skipped the previous Solar Returns as they show the President still in power. The Figure above, however, foretells the end. The indications are — Saturn conjunct the MC.

Venus ruling the 10th square to the Natal Vertex. Mars trine Pluto in the House of Endings, and conjunct Natal Pluto, both planets ruling this House of Endings and the Natal House of Career.

(Jupiter in the 10th trine Natal Mars and Pluto suggests that it may be a voluntary relinquishment of the crown.)

Bill Clinton's Lunar Return of 21 August 2000 (set for the Birth Place) when coupled with the Birth Chart is even more graphic.

Inner Chart and Cusps: Lunar Return 21Aug2000.
Outer Circle, Birth Chart. Koch Cusps, Mean Node.

Natal Mars and Neptune straddling the MC are particularly indicative of loss of Office. Pluto is again conjunct the Natal Vertex, and sextile Natal Venus which is in and ruling the MC.

Natal Uranus and the N.Node on the Cusp of the Marriage House show the marital break, while Mercury ruling this House in the 9th and Square Saturn points to legal proceedings.

As I read the Charts, therefore, I expect Bill Clinton to hold Office until August 2000, and have divorce proceeding filed against him about the second week of that month.

Thereafter, Hillary's career will proceed apace, and it will be a matter of great interest over the next five years. From a study of her Cyclic Charts I expect her career to reach a peak of achievement after she turns 56 in 2003.

— Dymock.

IMPEACHMENT TRIAL

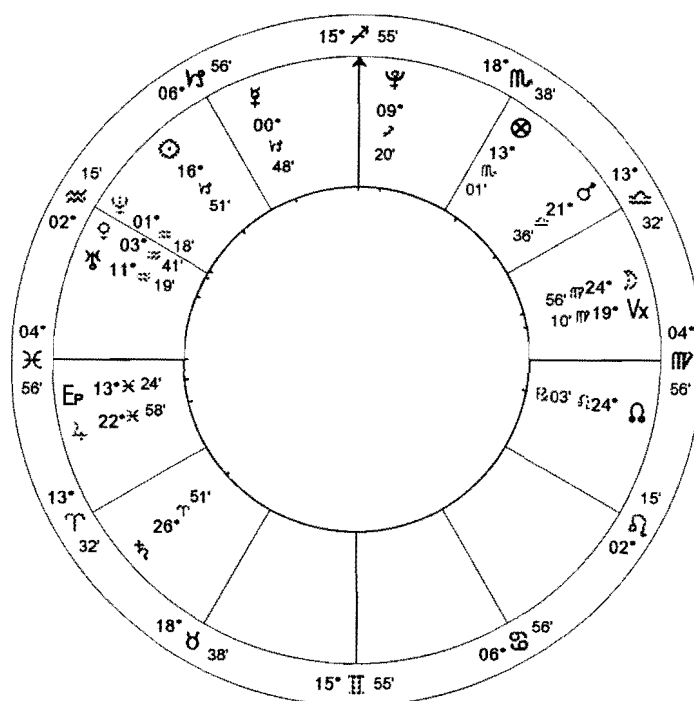

USA Senate v. President Clinton

by Rob Polglase

Clinton Trial 7 Jan 1999, 10.00 am EST

Washington DC USA, Regiomontanus

Who Will Do Best?

Ascendant-Ruler is Initiator of Lawsuit, the Senate = Jupiter, in 1st House The Descendant is the Opponent, President Clinton = Mercury/Capricorn, 10th House Angular. (Mercury is most descriptive)

1. H. 1-Ruler, Jupiter, and H. 7-Ruler Mercury, are both Angular—neither party will overcome. But Jupiter is in his own House, while Mercury is in the hands of the Judge(H. 7) = Advantage, Senate.
2. Jupiter has more Essential Dignities (Ruler, 5 points) than Mercury, (own Terms and House, 2 points) = Clinton loses. Advantage, Senate.
3. Jupiter, H. 1-Ruler, is in adverse Aspect to a planet (Opposition to the Moon) which is in Clinton's House, (7th). This weakens the Senate's position somewhat.
4. Neither H. 1-Ruler nor H. 7-Ruler is in the opponent's House, so no clear victory here.
5. Jupiter and Mercury will come to a Sextile without Reception, so they may be reconciled, but first they will have one little combat at law. Agreement has to come from the less ponderous planet first (Mercury) so Clinton will have to make the overture.

6. Mars, measuring the Querent, the strength of the Senate's action, is in Detriment, opposite Saturn, indicating paralysis, gridlock.

The Background of Supporters

7. H. 2-Ruler, Mars, is Senate's supporters. Mars is afflicted grievously by Saturn, in the House of the Senate's money, so economic forces may affect the Senate negatively.

8. H. 8-Ruler, Venus, Clinton's supporters, in the 12th House, is besieged by Neptune and Uranus, and will Square Saturn—little help for Clinton.

9. H. 9-Ruler, Mars, the lawyers, with Pluto, co-Ruler of the 9th, afflicting by Square the Ascendant, I see as having a behind-the-scenes negative effect on the Senate. More dirt revealed?

10. In this case the Jury has to give a two-third's vote to convict. The Moon, the Jury (Senate) is in the 7th House (House of Clinton) and opposes Jupiter, the Senate. Clinton gains.

11. The Judge, H. 10-Ruler, Jupiter, is Direct, and will proceed according to the law, and will not obstruct.

12. Judge is opposite the Moon, the Jury, and it is in the H. of Clinton. I take this to mean the Jury would favour Clinton.

13. Judge is quincunx Mars, H. 2-Ruler, so the Judge cannot be bribed, may be thwarted economically. Does this mean a shortened trial—aborted?

The End of the Matter

14. The Moon is Void of Course, so although this is an "Election" Chart, nothing will come of the matter? Impeachment flounders?

15. Pars Fortuna is in the 8th House, disposed by Venus, the supporters of Clinton, and is Square to Venus (= minus 3 points) (Lilly), not a good state for the Senate so the Senate aim is thwarted.

16. Yod to Senate (Jupiter, Node, Mars): Senate faces fated outcome. Senate quincunx Senate's friends (Mars, ruling 2nd H.) and opposite the Moon, the Jury—insufficient votes for Impeachment (majority vote needed).

17. Arabic Parts yield only Part of Passion on the Lawyers, Pluto. Larry Flint, publisher of pornography, Pluto in Sagittarius, his mission to outrage and expose. Part of Fatality on IC! No winners!

18. The Star Antares—success that can be obsessive—describes Pluto here.

19. End of the Matter, H. 4-Ruler, Mercury, is none other than Clinton in the 10th, trining Saturn with difficulty, is Square Moon, and is higher in the Chart than his oponents. The Senate with Jupiter, being higher in Essential Dignity points than Mercury (5 to 2) seems to be offset by more features for Clinton.

Conclusion

20. There is no clear-cut win for Impeachment. Rather, Clinton may negotiate, get some form of reprimand, but at cost to himself, his family, the Office he holds—and even the Senate.

Results of Test 28

This Test concerned a working woman born at 10:30am on 5th August 1936, in Sydney, Australia. She has teenage children. The object was to find out what happened to her (in Adelaide, Australia) on—

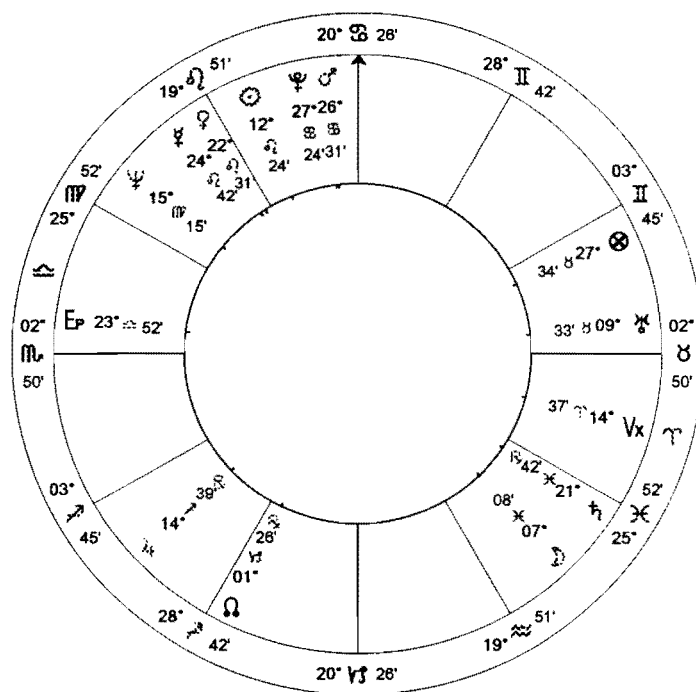

5 September 1980,

24 September 1980,

29 September 1980.

There was a domino effect. The first event allowed her to take action on the next two dates.

Here is the Birth Chart, (Koch Cusps, Mean Node):

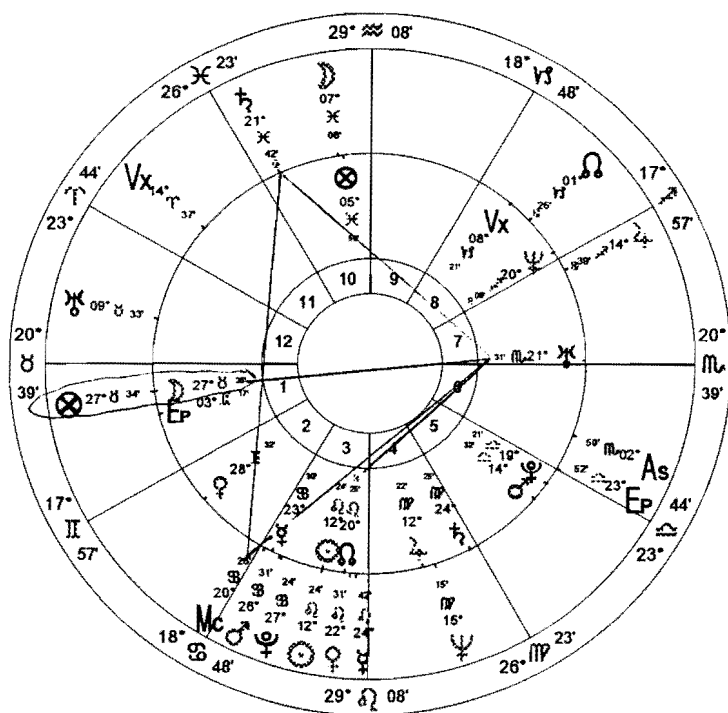

This turned out to be quite difficult, and only three people responded. Correct answers are:

1. On 5 Sep 1980 the woman obtained a divorce and property settlement.
2. On 24 Sep 1980 the family home was sold (Contract signed).
3. On 29 Sep 1980 the woman attended an auction and bought a smaller house.

All three participants were correct in seeing that the woman came into money that she could spend. This was, in fact, the most significant outcome, so they are to be congratulated. It was exceptionally difficult to determine in what particular direction the money would be expended.

In keeping with the attempt to find the simplest and most easily accessible chart for solving these "What happened ..." questions, I have examined both the relevant Lunar Returns and the Solar Return. In this instance the Standard Solar Return, set for the change of location to Adelaide, seems to be the best. It should be related to the Birth Figure for maximum insight. Here is the Solar Return, set for the change of location (Adelaide) and circumscribed by the Natus:

Test 28 Solar Return 5 Aug 1980, 1:27:13 am ACST, Adelaide SA. 34°S55' 138°E 35'. Koch Cusps, Mean Node

Looking first at the Solar Return Chart alone, what draws the eye immediately is Uranus right on the 7th Cusp, Square the Moon's Node and opposite the Moon—the classical indicator of DIVORCE. With the Birth Figure circumscribed we see a Square to Venus, confirming a marital split, and a Grand Trine with Saturn and the MC, all around 21°.

Saturn rules the 9th House (legal proceedings) and the 10th (status, which is changed by the link to Uranus). The trine of Uranus and Saturn to the MC confirms this diagnosis.

So far it is relatively simple, and as I see it the next step, more difficult, is to fathom what would be the outcome of the divorce—the profit or loss thereby. This is shown by the 10th House (4th from the 7th). The Part of Fortune is in the 10th, conjunct the Natal Moon (financial gain) confirmed by the reciprocal conjunction of the Moon with the Natal Part of Fortune. A supporting indication in the Chart is the presence of Venus, ruling the Ascendant, in the 2nd House (money).

As the events of the next two dates were made possible by the first event—and that was the divorce settlement with monetary increase—it is reasonable to expect that the money was expended in some way. Trying to decide the "domino" effect—what might be done with the money—is the hardest part of all.

For a clue, look to other very close Aspects: The Moon at 27°Tau35' conjunct the Natal Part of Fortune at 27°Tau34', is also closely Sextile to Natal Pluto at 27°Can24'. This must have something to do with it.

Pluto is the Destroyer and Re-builder. One might speculate that this refers to a new home, signified by the Moon; but perhaps one needs a developed intuition for this. A more positive way is to look at the DAY Charts for the dates involved. A Day Chart is one cast for the day under review, the time of birth, and the new location (if any) of the subject.

For example, here is the Day Chart for the Divorce hearing on 5th September 1980, circumscribed by the Birth Chart:

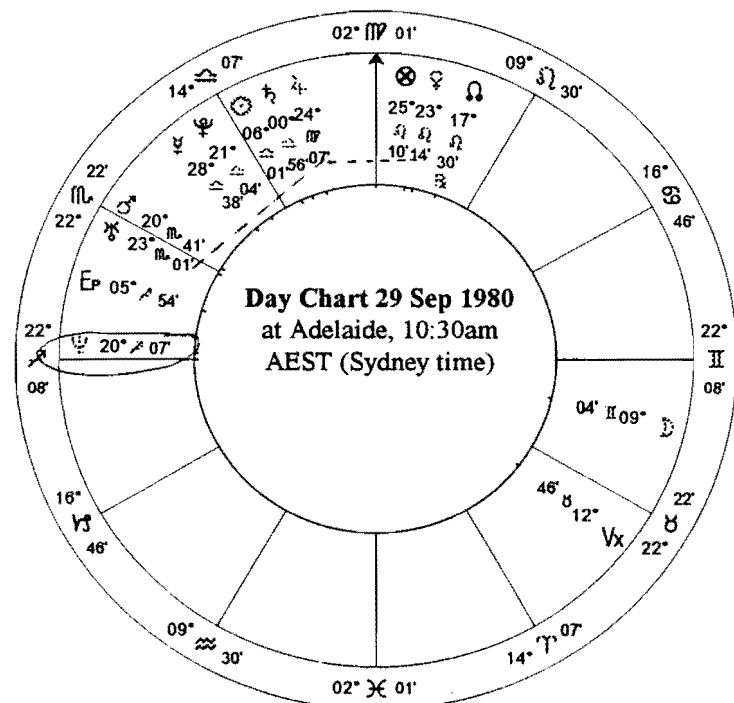

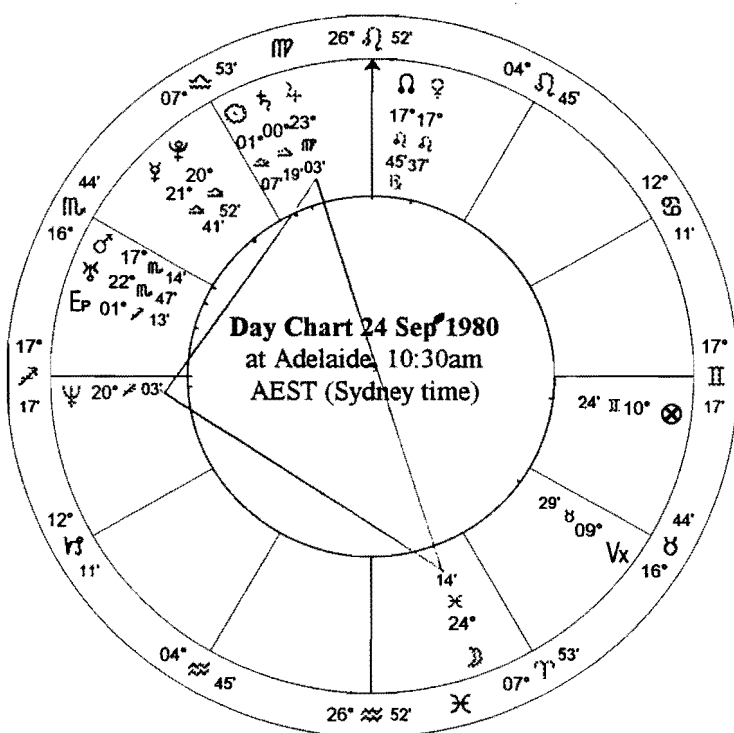

Day Chart, 5 Sep 1980. Test28/Female. Adelaide, 10:30am AEST (Sydney time)

Pointers to the Divorce proceedings are — The Moon in the 9th House, Trine to Uranus and conjunct the Natal MC (shows where the business is); the Natal Part of Fortune on the 7th Cusp, sextile to Venus and Natal Mars and Pluto in the 9th; the Vertex very closely square to Venus and Natal Pluto in the 9th (Pluto ruling the Ascendant).

Similarly, the Day Chart for the second date, 24 Sep. 1980 has the Moon in the 4th House (the Home) opposite its Dispositor, Jupiter, which is consistent with a voluntary disposal of the family home. The T-Square with Neptune, the Co-Ruler of the 4th House, adds emphasis. There is sufficient indication here without reference to the Birth Chart.

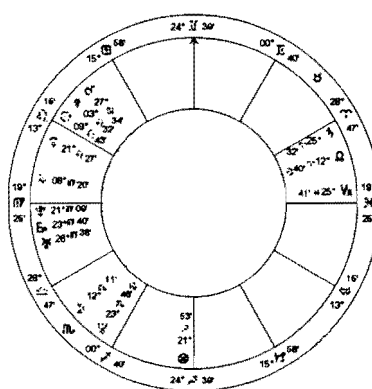

The Day Chart above is for the third date, 29 Sep 1980, when the subject bought another house from the proceeds of selling the family home. Neptune rises, ruling the 4th House (the home), and Jupiter, the alternative Ruler, is in Semisextile contact with Venus (gain, benefit) and Uranus (something new). So, if one were particularly spry and alert as an astrologer one might deduce the final outcome was the purchase of a new home from the money then available.

The above is an attempt to find an astrological solution to the second and third parts of this Test, but other approaches are possible. For example, one could look into Progression of the Solar Return by the Daily House method, or by Quarterly Lunar Returns, or by relating the Day Chart to the current Solar Return in lieu of the Birth Figure. I hope some other researchers will get busy on this and make some useful discoveries.

Anyway, commendation to all those who participated in this Test whether or not they took the trouble to relay their findings. Their labours will surely bring a reward of increased expertise.

A reminder re TEST 27: You still have until February 25 to decide what happened on 23rd January, 1991 to the man born 2nd August, 1968 (Issue No. 209). Some entries are already in. I am hoping for many more. Answers please by letter to me at 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, S.Australia, 5073, or by e-mail to Dymock@ozemail.com.au. Give first your conclusion then the main astrological reason for it. A lengthy description of all the factors involved is not necessary.

No one has yet answered the challenge of deciding the fate of the lone schoolboy yachtsman who wants to circumnavigate the globe before his 18th birthday. Remember, this is practical Astrology—making use of it for practical purposes instead of just interesting chats. An attempt to foresee the success or failure of his venture, and any hazards along the way, will do more for your astrological skill than many hours spent in reading texts. I believe many astrologers think they do not have the knowledge or experience for exercises of this nature. But attempting them is the only way they will gain such knowledge. So don't be diffident about your abilities—you might surprise yourself.

My good wishes to all. — Dymock, 7th Feb. 1999.

What is a good present for a serious astrologer?

A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 210 January 1999

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

LAUNCH OF THE EURO

Yesterday, 1st January 1999, at 0 hours GMT, the Euro was introduced to replace the national currencies in 11 of the 15 member States of the European Union. This is an economic measure of prime importance, a step towards the unification of Europe, and the culmination of much intensive debate and lobbying over the past years. It is envisaged that the Euro will eventually replace, or at least rival, the American dollar as the world's most widely traded currency.

The participating States at this stage are Belgium, Germany, France, Spain, Italy, The Netherlands, Luxembourg, Austria, Portugal, Finland and Ireland. Their national currencies will be phased out over a period of three and a half years, but from now on euros will be the sole monetary system for the business of the European Central Bank. Non-participating members of the European Union—Britain, Sweden, Denmark and Greece—will have the option of joining later.

In the adjacent column is the Chart for the Launch, set for Brussels, which was the centre of activity for the introduction of the euro.

Libra, Sign of unification and adaptability, is on the Ascendant. Venus, the Ruler, is very appropriately closely sextile to the Part of Fortune (orb 0°11') signifying money matters. Venus is also Ruler of the 8th House (money and finances). Jupiter conjoins the Part of Fortune and is thus fulfilling its function of enlarging or extending the money market. So the Chart is certainly applicable to the business in hand.

What is most striking however is the close Yod formation involving Venus, the Moon and the N.Node. The orbs for both the two quincunxes and the Moon/Node-sextile are less than one degree. A Yod (more picturesquely called Finger of God) confronts one with a Destiny problem or situation that has to be faced and handled.

Moon—Node in this context signifies alliances of Nations, and the slightly discordant angles to Venus depict the difficulties in bringing the non-participating States of the European Union into line with their confreres. Mercury ruling the 9th House (foreign nations) square to Jupiter (high finance) graphically

In This Issue...

	Page
Launch of the Euro.....	1
Jupiter/Saturn Conjunction 28 May 2000.....	2
Bi-Wheel Euro Launch and Jup/Sat Conj.....	2
Yachting Disaster	3
Circumnavigating the Globe	3
Tests 27 & 28	4

LAUNCH OF THE EURO

1 Jan 1999, 0:00am GMT. Brussels, 50N50, 4E20
Koch Cusps, Mean Node.

portrays the present disagreement, still further emphasized by the Moon in the 9th square to Jupiter.

Establishing harmony and agreement is the function of Venus. Her position at the apex of the Yod, and ruling the Ascendant of the Chart, suggests that she will, indeed, fulfill this function in time, albeit with difficulty.

A considerable step forward will occur next year with the Great Conjunction of the planets Jupiter and Saturn on 29th May 2000 (see Chart next page). If we place this Figure around that of the Euro Launch some clear portents emerge.

The Grand Conjunction not only occurs in Taurus, the money Sign, but also in the 8th House, again emphasizing financial affairs. Jupiter and Saturn conjoined signify establishment and stabilization, so it is clear that the euro currency will be well on the way to permanence and growth.

The 9th-House Moon conjunct Mercury signifies that all this will be attended by much communication and debate with foreign powers, in the attempt to resolve the strife resulting from conflict of interests (Mars in 9th square Jupiter).

The Sun on the 9th Cusp opposed by Pluto (splitting) shows division among friends (Sun ruling the 11th House) but its conjunction with Venus (union) means that at least some of the non-participants will be won over. The Vertex conjunct Venus ruling the 8th House highlights the importance of the new currency.

From January 1, 1999, the European Bank's

Inner Chart is the Figure for the Launch of the Euro.
Outer Chart is the Jupiter/Saturn Conjunction.

business is being conducted exclusively in euro currency, but euro notes and coins will not be issued to the public until January 1, 2002, when the 3rd Harmonic (for age three) comes into play (See adjacent column).

This Chart, with the usual richness of Aspects in Harmonic Figures, has a variety of intriguing features. In summary they are—Uranus on the 1st Cusp square to the Sun on the 10th (a radical departure in policy).

The Sun on the Meridian, elevated above all other bodies, sesquare the Moon and Part of Fortune in a Yod-like formation (achievement and success despite the financial difficulties and the disagreements with foreign States).

Mercury (coins and notes) on the 8th Cusp (financial resources, money) trine Neptune and quincunx Uranus (a new, strange and wonderful issue).

Part of Fortune opposed by Venus ruling the 7th and 12th Houses (covert opposition still from opponents of the scheme).

In the above comments, I have used only those Aspects with very small orbs. —Dymock, 2 Jan 1999.

YACHTING DISASTER

This year's Sydney-to-Hobart Yacht Race developed tragically when the mountainous seas between the Australian mainland and Tasmania brought terror and disaster to many of those competing. Six crew members died as a result of being washed into the sea from over-turned and dismasted yachts. Numerous others in perilous situations were plucked to safety by helicopter.

The Chart for the commencement of the Race is not particularly dramatic but does contain several warnings.

It is noteworthy that the Ruler, Mars, is conjunct the Vertex, emphasizing competition and giving special significance to this Race. Venus (ease and pleasure) is spoiled by the square from Mars and indicates that the enterprise will be a most uncomfortable one for all concerned.

The Moon, representing the yachts at sea, is appropriately placed in the Water Sign Pisces, and is square to both the Sun and the Part of Fortune. The square to the Sun is a general indication that things will not go according to plan but will involve struggle. Neptune being quincunx the Part of Fortune converts it into the Part of Misfortune as it takes on the adverse characteristics of Neptune (loss, disappointment). These are brought out by the Moon's square.

Mercury in Sagittarius sextile Mars and Uranus represents the valiant crew members. The conjunction with Pluto ruling the 8th House signifies, sadly, the deaths of some.

Among the more significant Midpoint Aspects are the following, with very small orbs:

♂♂♂♂♂♂ (orb 0°1') "a common and tragic destiny".

♂♂♂♂♂♂ (orb 0°1') deaths (♂♂♂♂♂♂ ruling 8th).

♂♂♂♂♂♂ (orb 0°2') "Overstrain; failures through too heavy demands made upon oneself and others".

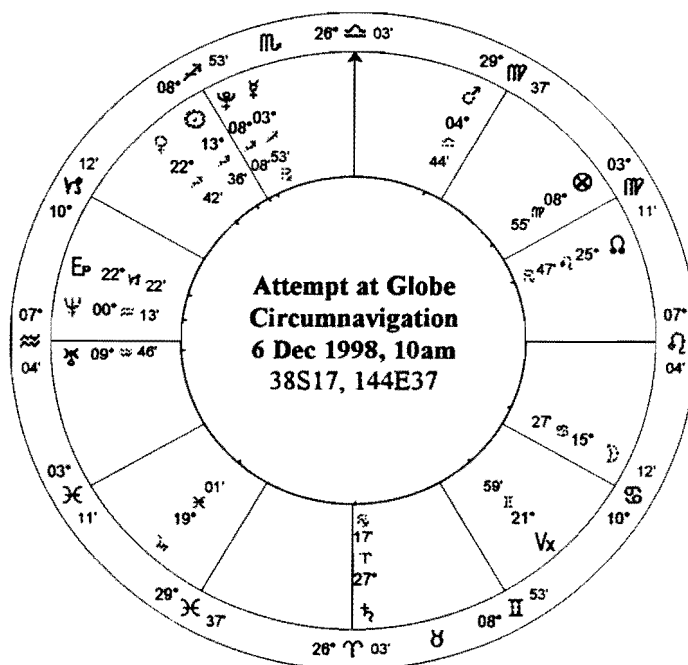

There is even one more detrimental factor that pertains only to the Koch Cusps. Cusp 11 on the Koch system is 5°Aqu19', and is straddled by Neptune and Uranus. The Midpoint of these two Malefics is 5°Aqu45' which is almost coincident with the Cusp. Like an Antiscion, this has the effect of drawing Neptune and Uranus together, so that they express their joint nature. In this context that nature is a propensity to water and marine accidents.

None of the other commonly used domification systems—Campanus, Morinus, Placidus, Porphyry, Regiomontanus and Topocentric—so closely matches the Neptune/Uranus Midpoint. The closest was Porphyry (5°Aqu0') and the furthest away was Regiomontanus (9°Aqu23').

There was certainly ample warning in this Chart of unusual hazards and fatalities. Unfortunately, probably none of those participating were astrologically aware, so went blindly into the dangers.

CIRCUMNAVIGATING THE GLOBE

—A Challenge

A yachting saga of a different nature is the attempt by an adventurous Australian schoolboy, Jesse Martin, 17, to circumnavigate the globe, solo, before his 18th birthday. This would capture a world record for him.

Jesse set sail from Point Lonsdale, Victoria, on 6th December last at approximately 10am. Though I have the correct coordinates for Point Lonsdale, I am unable to verify the exact time of the departure, or get Jesse's birth data, as all my efforts to contact his parents in Melbourne have been frustrated. Presumably Jesse had just turned 17, so he needs to complete his voyage by a date in December 1999. A courageous young man, he faces the hazards of high seas, storms, obstructions

"only accurate predictions are the ultimate test of Astrology" in the sea, navigational errors, lack of sleep—and even pirates!

Though the time of 10am is not exact, a difference of up to an hour would not appreciably affect the positions of the planets, except for the Moon which could vary by about $\frac{1}{2}^\circ$. The principal differences would be in the Cusps, but unless someone can supply better information we must make do with what we have. As astrologers we will often need to come up with accurate and useful forecasts without the benefit of precise data.

I am offering this Chart as an exercise for readers to predict what will be the progress and outcome of Jesse's adventure. Any responses suitable for publication will appear in succeeding issues of this Journal.

There are branches of Astrology that do not use the Houses, so here is an opportunity for Cosmobiologists and Uranians to demonstrate what they can do without a domification system.

In considering whether or not you will give time and thought to this project bear in mind that only accurate predictions are the ultimate test of Astrology—not theoretical speculation or learned dissertations—and they are the only things that will convince the sceptics of the value of Astrology.

Some questions to be addressed are:

- Will Jesse come safely home?
- Will he succeed in breaking the record?
- When will there be hold-ups, if any?
- What will be the times of smooth sailing and of greatest difficulty, or danger.
- Will he sustain injury on the voyage?

TESTS 27 & 28

Test No. 27 detailed in the last Issue has a deadline of February 25. (Let no one complain of insufficient time!) For the eager beavers who want something immediate on which to try their skills here is Test No. 28, the deadline for which is 28 January. This Test has been supplied by Fay Jenkins (Vic.), and concerns a working woman born at 10:30am on 5th August 1936, in Sydney, Australia. She has teenage children.

What happened to her (in Adelaide, Australia) on—

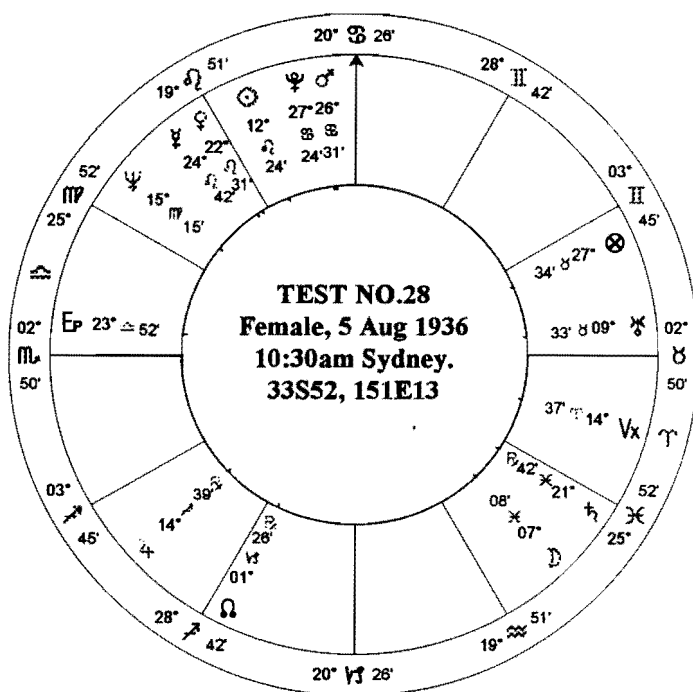

5 September 1980,

24 September 1980,

29 September 1980?

Fay writes that there was a domino effect. The first event allowed her to take action on the next two dates.

Here is the Birth Chart, (Koch Cusps, Mean Node):

The relevant standard Solar Return Chart is 5 Aug 1980 at 1:57:13am AEST (-10hrs for GMT). The coordinates of Adelaide are 34S55, 138E35.

Please send your answers to me by e-mail, dymock@ozemail.com.au, or by letter to 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

You may use any astrological method you like. It is not necessary to write pages of analysis. First state your ultimate conclusion, then the crucial factors in your judgement. Anyone who arrives at the correct, or partly-correct answer will be mentioned in the next Issue. Don't be concerned about being wrong! Most of the answers are wrong. The real purpose of these Tests is to increase astrological insight and skills, not to establish a hierarchy of problem-solvers.

Where else do you get this opportunity?

A happy—and astrologically active—1999 to all.

—Dymock, 5th January 1999.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 209 December 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

WINNING ON THE RACES

Melbourne Cup, 1998

For our overseas readers who may not be race-goers, I should explain that the annual Melbourne Cup horse race is the biggest event in the racing calendar in Australia, run the second Tuesday in November every year. Practically everything stops in all States for an hour or so when the Cup is being run. The betting is enormous, and even many people who never go to the races feel impelled to risk a few dollars on their fancied galloper.

In the past, Astrologers' Forum has occasionally offered suggestions on how to pick the winner and urged readers to use the event as an exercise in astrological prediction. To be credible, the prediction has to be supported by an actual cash bet, and there is nothing like risking one's money to sharpen one's judgement.

I am happy to report that this year two of our subscribers achieved success in this famous horse race. Firstly, here is a communication from Jack Nicholls (Vic.):

Astrology scored once more in the 1998 Melbourne Cup. A chart erected for the finish of the Cup at 15:23:20 AEDT showed Venus conjunct the 9th Cusp (12' applying) and Mars conjunct the Descendant (5' separating) using Placidian Houses. The Cup is always one minute or so late, and this year according to my watch was two minutes behind time.

As a result Venus is the planet for which linked names are required. There were five horses, as follows: Arena, defined as an enclosure for shows, etc., including dramatic performances; Tie the Knot—marriage; Taufan's Melody—music; Champagne—luxury; and Jezebeel—a near miss for Jezebel—a shameless woman. Llewellyn George gives the negative side of Venus as immodest, lewd, dissolute and immoral, etc.

I took the early prices showing Arena 8/1, Tie the Knot 10/1, Taufan's Melody 12/1, Champagne 16/1 and Jezebeel 14/1, so that all five could be included on realistic odds.

Tie the Knot drew barrier position 22, which did not help its chances.

In This Issue...

	Page
Winning on the Races—Melbourne
Cup 1998.....	1
House Cusps Compared	2
Result of Test No.26.....	2
Associated Charts	3
Simple Method for the Tests.....	4
New Test No.27.....	4

MELBOURNE CUP 1998

3 Nov 1998, 3:23:20pm AEDT

Flemington, Vic. 37°S47' 144°E54'

Tropical, Mean Node, Placidian Cusps

The finish showed Jezebeel 1st, Champagne 2nd, Taufan's Melody 4th, and Tie the Knot 6th.
[The 3rd place-getter was Persian Punch.]

From Clare Bunnett (Vic.):

I bet on three winners in the Melbourne Cup this year—Jezebeel, Champagne, and Persian Punch.

I thought as the Chart showed the Sun conjunct Venus this should favour "the ladies". There were only two mares in the race, so it was a simple choice.

I selected Persian Punch as it was number three and the jockey was wearing "the purple" (Jupiter rising).

HOUSE CUSPS COMPARED

Jack Nicholls' choice of the planet Venus as the chief Significator in the Cup Chart was in line with our finding that planets in contact with a Cusp are the most important factors in an event of this kind (See Astrologers' Forum April 1995 and July 1991.)

The interesting question (again!) is which domification system is the best for this purpose.

Many years ago I used Placidus successfully, and even wrote (July 1991) against the Koch system for races charts as it had given me wrong results. Since then, influenced by various experiences in relation to Cusps, I have changed to Koch for the generality of charts, but in the present instance Placidus wins.

Should we infer that Placidus is superior for this type of chart and Koch for the others?

As a matter of interest I have compared the following eight principal House systems in relation to this Melbourne Cup: Placidus, Koch, Regiomontanus, Topocentric, Campanus, Meridian, Porphyry, Alcabitus.

The decision as to which is the best selection in the present instance hinges on the closeness of Venus to the 9th Cusp. A factor to be borne in mind is that an applying conjunction is preferred to a separating one as every few seconds of elapsed time brings the significator closer to the Cusp. "Applying" here means the forward movement of the Cusps by virtue of the Earth's rotation, not by the motion of the planets in their orbits.

Here is the longitudinal distance of Venus from the 9th Cusp in the various systems (A = applying, S = separating):

Topocentric,	C.9, 11Sco22, Venus 0°11' A.
Placidus,	C.9, 11Sco20, Venus 0°13' A.
Regiomontanus	C.9, 9Sco33, Venus 2°00' A.
Koch	C.9, 14Sco50, Venus 3°17' S.
Porphyry	C.9, 14Sco54, Venus 3°21' S.
Meridian	C.9, 15Sco26, Venus 3°53' S.
Campanus	C.9, 15Sco27, Venus 3°54' S.
Alcabitus	C.9, 16Sco51, Venus 5°18' S.

It can easily be seen that the two winners are Topocentric and Placidus, well ahead of the rest. The slight 2' superiority of Topocentric would be of little account in practice, but it is educative that this system, devised by Polich and Page in Argentina in the 1960's comes out on top. It certainly warrants further trials, and I may regret giving it up about 1986. (But it's never too late to change back.)

Regiomontanus is third in line, which is a boost for those astrologers who favour it—particularly in Horary work, where it was used (I believe) by the great Horary Astrologer William Lilly in the 17th Century.

Following the first three systems, there is a considerable distance to the remainder—Koch, Porphyry, Meridian, Campanus and Alcabitus, and moreover they are all separating. One feels justified in ignoring them for this particular type of Chart. (But see Ross Harvey's support for the Koch Cusps in Test #26, below.)

—Dymock.

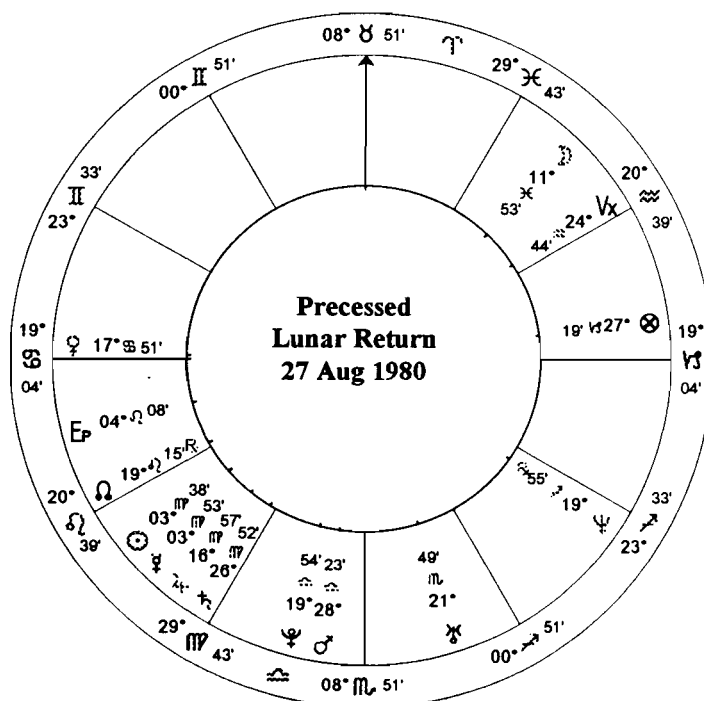

RESULTS OF TEST NO. 26

Refer to the last Issue for the Test data and Natus of the person concerned. Correct answer: In September 1980 the woman left for a 3-month European trip.

Ross Harvey (NSW) found the material for this Test and assessed all the entries. His report and recommended procedure for solving the problem follows. All the Charts are calculated for the place of birth, which was also the location of the subject at the time of the event.

From Ross: There were ten entries for Test No. 26, and it is encouraging to see new entrants from overseas. Congratulations to Fay Jenkins (NSW), the second half of whose answer was correct.

The first step should be to determine whether the period was favourable or otherwise, and the various Lunar Returns are probably the best way.

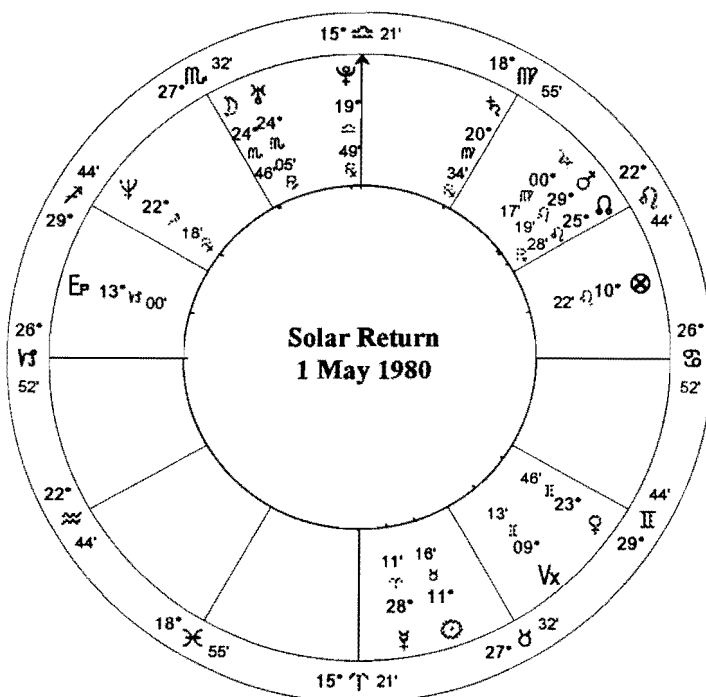

The Precessed Lunar Return (27 Aug 1980) had the Ascendant conjunct Venus.

The Prenatal Lunar Return (7 Jan. 1938) also had the Ascendant conjunct Venus, so the period was favourable.

The Transits for September 1980 could have seemed contradictory at first sight: Jupiter and Pluto were in aspect to Radical Venus, but Saturn was square the Radical Ascendant, though the last was appropriate for leaving.

The next step should be to see what indications are repeated in as many annual charts as possible, and this was not easy for this Test. Nevertheless, there were enough contacts to the 9th House, or to Pluto which is in the Radical 9th to suggest something like travel overseas.

The Solar Return had Saturn ruling the Ascendant conjunct the Koch 9th Cusp (not Placidus or Regiomontanus—if these systems had been used, this most important indication would have been missed).

The Ruler of the Ascendant, its position and aspects, are very important indications in a cyclical chart. The ruler on a Cusp, as in the present case, should not be overlooked. S.R. Jupiter was conjunct Natal Pluto in the Natal 9th House.

The Prenatal Solar Return had Mars, Co-Ruler of the Ascendant conjunct the Moon, ruling the 9th House.

The Precessed Solar Return had Mars ruling the Ascendant conjunct Jupiter ruling the 9th, and both conjunct Natal Pluto in the Natal 9th.

The Prenatal Annual Synodic Return had Sun conjunct Pluto, conjunct 9th (Koch), and all conjunct Natal Pluto. (This would not have been the case if Placidus had been used.)

The 21st Prenatal Lunar Return had the Sun conjunct Jupiter conjunct MC, all within $\frac{1}{2}^\circ$ —so it was a very favourable year.

There was a Secondary Progression of Sun square Pluto—Pluto in the 9th again—but in the absence of other indications this could have meant almost anything.

This was not an easy Test, and I am not confident I could have got it myself. The Solar Return Ruler on the 9th Cusp was the most conspicuous appropriate indication, and I recommend that such positions not be overlooked.

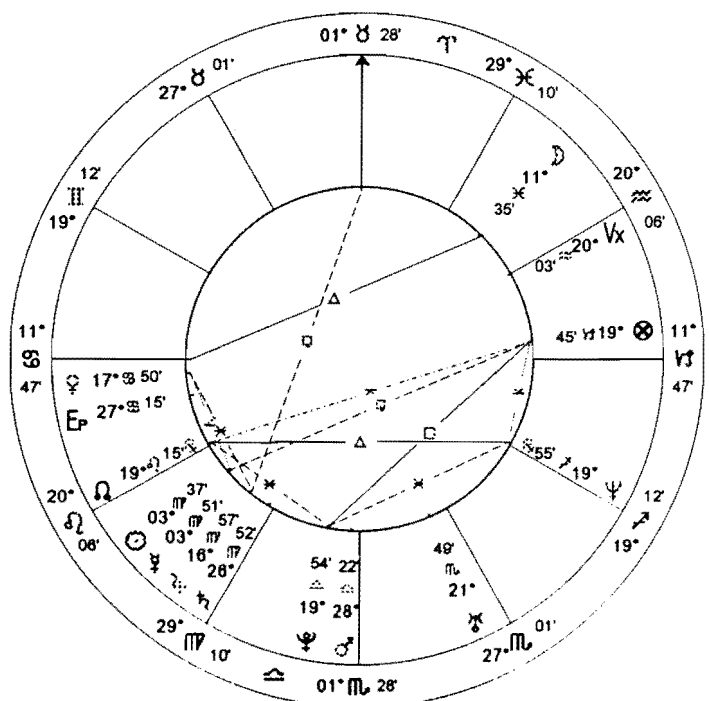

— Ross Harvey.

SIMPLE METHOD FOR THE TESTS

Thanks again to Ross for his comprehensive report. We recognize that the many charts referred to are within the capabilities only of astrologers who have access to a computer with a sophisticated Program, such as SolarFire-V4. I should like the Tests to be attractive to readers possessing much simpler means, and I continue to search for the single most indicative horoscope that could be utilized to solve these Tests.

After much comparing of Charts I have tentatively settled on the standard LUNAR RETURN for the relevant period. Most astrologers beyond the beginner stage know about this cyclic chart. If not they should certainly familiarize themselves with it as fast as possible.

As an illustration, here is the Lunar Return of 27 August, 1980 relevant to Test 26. If this Figure is used in conjunction with the Birth Horoscope it provides a number of clues, from which an astute observer might deduce the required answer.

Here I am using Placidian Cusps, as this is the one most in use, and the relevant Table of Houses is readily available. You can, of course, use any House system you like or, better still, compare various ones. With all except a very few House systems, only the intermediate Cusps are affected. All the planetary positions remain the same.

This Lunar Return has Venus rising, giving a hint of pleasure and enjoyment for the person concerned. The Ruler, the Moon, is exactly trine to the Rising Degree—another favourable augury, and suggesting travel or movement. The Moon's North Node (a powerful indicator) is very closely trine to Neptune, which rules the 9th House—an indication of long-distance travel.

I have pointed out before in these pages that aside from the commonly accepted interpretation of the Moon's Node, it puts an emphasis on whatever significator it contacts. So here the House of Travel is emphasized through its Ruler, Neptune.

Now if we circumscribe the Lunar Return with the Birth Chart, further important clues come to light: Look for close connections between the two Charts, particularly aspects within a one-degree orb!

First and obvious is Mars on the Ascendant (action, enterprise, initiative) and co-ruling the 9th House (Aries intercepted), which shows where its energy will be expended.

Next, Jupiter (travel) on the 5th Cusp (holiday, vacation) the traditional Ruler of Pisces puts a further emphasis on the 9th.

The Natal Node contacts the Moon by a tight quincunx, accenting the Moon's attributes of movement and change.

Natal Pluto conjunct the Sun and Mercury shows the beginning of a new minor phase—minor because it is only a Monthly Chart we are considering.

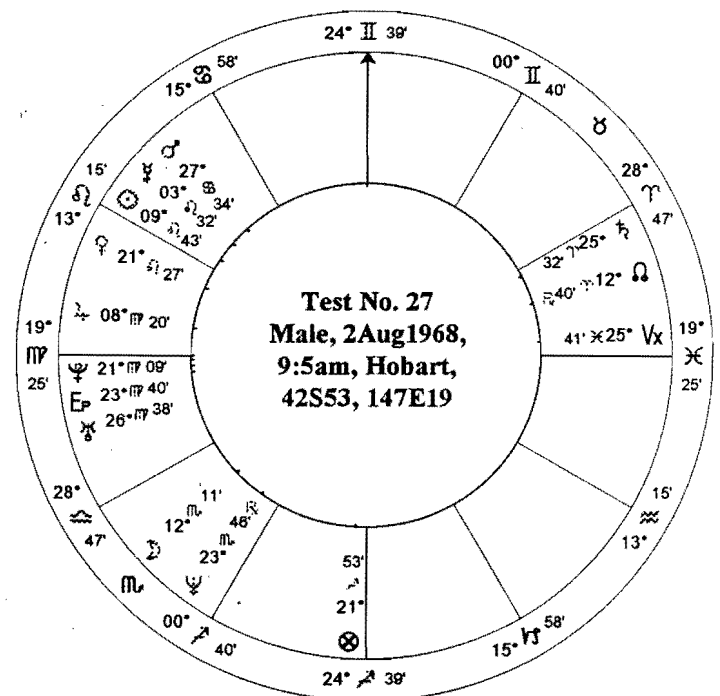

You will get further insights if you put the Lunar Return on the outside of the Birth Chart. For instance Pluto, Sun and Mercury then occupy the House of Travel.

So that is my recommendation, using only one cyclic chart plus the birth figure. Had I followed my own advice I'd have done better in the last Test.

— Dymock.

NEW TEST NO. 27

A male born 2nd August 1968 in Hobart, Tasmania at 9:5am. (Chart below. Koch Cusps)

What happened to him (at the birth place) on 23rd January 1998?

Entries will close on 25th February, 1999—extra time allowed in view of the demands of the Christmas season which is now upon us.

I hope for a large response from both Australian and overseas readers. As I know the answer I am not myself eligible to take part. Please send your answers to me by e-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au or by letter to Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073

Christmas wishes to all, — Dymock, 5th Dec. 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 208 November 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

ELECTION RESULT AS PREDICTED

Astrology has again shown that it can be more reliable than the political prophets. The Chart for the Closing of the Polls on 3rd October (September Issue) successfully depicted the result:

The Liberal Coalition will win . . . [though] Neptune square to Saturn means considerable loss of seats.

The Liberal Coalition finished with 13 seats ahead of Labor in the House of Representatives, having lost about half of its pre-Election majority.

Controversial politician Pauline Hanson also did well as astrologically predicted, her One Nation Party receiving over a million primary votes, but due to the system of preferential voting Pauline herself did not gain a seat in the Federal Parliament. However, she and her Party still hold 11 seats in the Queensland State Parliament, and we have not heard the last of her.

Attention will now focus on the Government's programme of tax reform and the political life of the Prime Minister, John Howard.

I am not satisfied with any of the Birth Charts advanced for John Howard. They are all "rectified", as no one has been able to obtain reliable birth data. The one previously used in this publication was timed for 4am. Other suggested times have been 2am and 2:21am.

Using the two principal events in the Prime Minister's life of the last few years—his landslide victory in the Federal Election of 2nd March 1996, and his comfortable win in the recent Federal Election on 3rd October this year, I have come up with a radically different time—9:45pm. See the Chart in the next column.

This Natus has been arrived at by a careful appraisal of the cyclic charts surrounding the two events mentioned above. As an illustration, I present on page 2 the Solar-Month Chart for the date when Howard achieved his overwhelming political victory. Jupiter dominates the Chart through being right on the Upper Meridian (success and fulfilment). The Moon rises conjunct Venus, depicting the general favour of the public, the conjunction being further strengthened through having the EP at their Midpoint (orb 25'). Additionally,

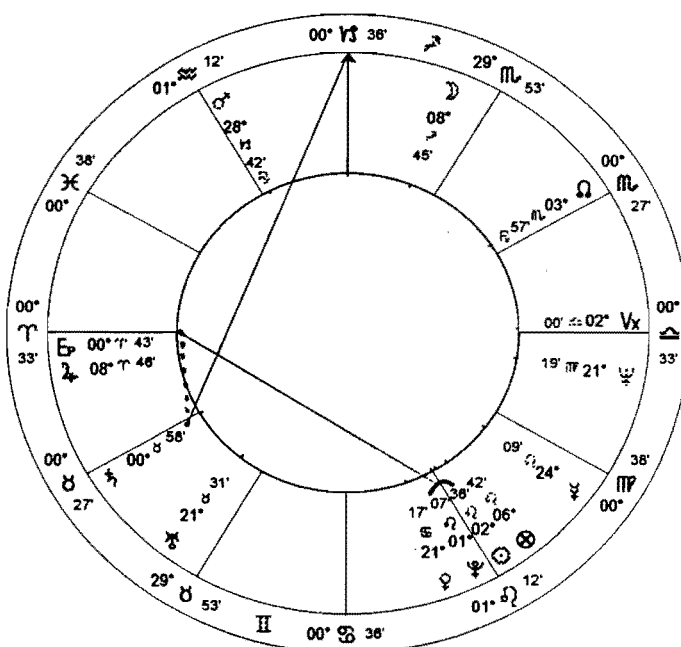

In This Issue...

	Page
Election Result as Predicted.....	1
New Chart for PM John Howard	1
Post Election Reflections.....	2
Result of Test No.25.....	3
Synodic Chart for Test No.25	4
New Test No.26.....	4

PRIME MINISTER JOHN HOWARD

Speculative time 9:45pm

26 July 1939, 9:45pm AEST, Earlwood, NSW 33S58, 151E08
Koch Cusps, Mean Node

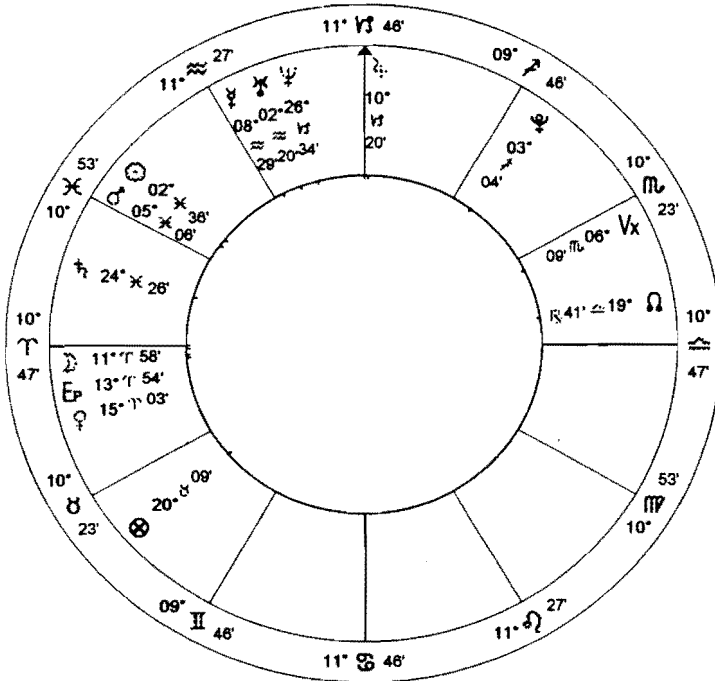

Natal Jupiter conjoins the SR Ascendant and Moon.

Of course this 9:45pm Chart for John Howard is not conclusive, and I seek further notable occurrences in the life of the Prime Minister to either confirm or invalidate it. If any reader can supply further biographical details I would be grateful.

Meantime, I accept the Chart as at least closer to the truth than any of those previously published. A few pointers are:

1. Saturn in Taurus powerful on a Koch Cusp and almost exactly trine to the MC. (long political life; dogged persistence in the face of hostile challenges; not easily moved from his predetermined course; careful management and organization of resources)

Solar Month Chart 22 Feb 1996 from 9:45pm Chart for
JOHN HOWARD
 8:42:05am AEST, Earlwood, NSW
 Operates 22 Feb—23 Mar 1996

Would the unidentified correspondent with the list of dates and events in the life of Politician PAULINE HANSON please send me the data so that I can attempt a confirmation or rectification of her Birth Horoscope. —Dymock, Editor.

Will Howard succeed in pushing through his much maligned Goods and Services Tax? Much maligned it may be, but nevertheless Howard adheres to it with fervour. It is not too much to say that the Prime Minister exhibited statesmanlike resolve when he put his political life at risk in the last Election for the sake of implementing a reformed tax system that he firmly believes is for the benefit of the Nation as a whole.

From the 9:45pm Chart his best chance of passing the necessary legislation, in the face of fierce opposition, is in June 1999, when the Sun parallels Jupiter in his regressed Chart, and Jupiter trines Mars by Ascendant Arc. Jupiter and Mars are the two Rulers of the House of Legislation.

— Dymock.

POST ELECTION REFLECTIONS

by Allan Johnson

What the recent Federal Election proved is that there are many different ways of coming up with a successful election prediction and I don't think there is any final answer as to which is the best. The method I normally use is to rely on the Charts of the two leaders, and more particularly the Prime Minister's—for we are pinning things down to one person's destiny—and to simplify things I keep to Secondary Progressions and transits. But even these can be contradictory and complex at times, as was the case in this Election.

I think the key factor in both chart reading and prediction is not in individual items, but in major configurations. These show how the destiny of a person will work out more than anything else. And right here we have the interesting point that people with what are called heavily afflicted patterns can often go a lot further in life than those who might be considered to have a 'lucky' chart. The fortunate Aspects can often mean a lot of opportunities in life, but the person might not make the best use of them. They could get into the habit of looking for easy options. But people with hard Aspects, usually called "afflictions" usually feel the need to look for heavy challenges in life. This can most certainly apply to jobs like being Prime Minister. Where would you get anything tougher?

Unquestionably, the main configuration in John Howard's Chart is the close T-Square pattern involving Sun, Pluto, Mars and Saturn. Planets like Mars, Pluto along conservative lines and reduced spending.)

2. Saturn in Taurus on the 2nd Cusp (predominantly an economist and business man.)

3. The Sun and Pluto on the 5th Cusp (creative output chiefly concerned with taxation—Pluto—as witness his Goods and Services Tax, determinedly promoted against powerful opposition. This feature is supported by the N.Node on the 8th Cusp in Scorpio.)

4. The Moon in Sagittarius in the 9th House trine Jupiter (debating skill).

5. Aries rising, with the Ascending Degree trine to Pluto and the Sun and also semisextile Saturn (a campaigner determined, concentrated and indefatigable).

The idea has already been canvassed in the media that Howard's political fortunes are in decline, and even that he will shortly either resign or be pushed out of Office. The astrological prognosis is different. In the light of Howard's two-term victory the forecast of his political demise appears to be inspired more by wishful thinking on the part of his detractors than a realistic view of the situation.

I have sufficient confidence in the 9:45pm Chart to venture the prediction that Howard will stay in Office for at least the coming year, and probably to the next Federal election in 2002. I am not forecasting the end for him at that date, but definite prediction needs more work, which I propose to undertake later. Meantime there are more pressing issues to examine.

and Saturn are often linked up with severe disabilities and heavy disasters in life—but at the same time they can toughen up the character and enable the person to cope with harsh circumstances. Pluto and Saturn can be considered the most fatalistic and often link with circumstances beyond one's control. But I think the Ebertin school have a strong point in not simply dividing up aspects into "good" and "bad" but rather seeing adverse aspects as challenging and more eventful, so with effort one can still be successful. Howard's Sun in Leo conjunct Pluto, opposite Mars and square to Saturn can bring an obsessive stubbornness to "crash or crash through" in certain circumstances, and this was the keynote of the later part of his campaign. Many people were very surprised that he would have chosen a G.S.T. as his central platform when the previous leader had ended his career on the same platform. What was Howard trying to prove? But I think that situation was typical of that type of configuration.

On Election day Howard was having a "Saturn Return" and that would inevitably reactivate the basic T-Square. It could have presaged a disaster but it did not. There were other factors to add to the complexity, with transiting Pluto making a trine to Jupiter in the 10th House. People with Grand Trines in their charts have often had strokes of good fortune when they were needed. I have seen this happen many times. And there was also Progressed Sun trining Mars. What also confused the picture was the transit of Neptune also closely activating the T-Square, which would not have encouraged realistic thinking.

Looking ahead to Howard's future into the New Millennium, the Transits of Saturn and Neptune fade out in '99 and his Progressed Sun enters Libra at the end of That year. This may require something of a balancing act, and also Progressed Mars will gradually move to activate the T-Square right at the Century end. So there will be further pressures coming up.

Result of Test No. 25

This Test was set by Dr Margaret Millard who has relayed the results to me. It concerned a male, born at 4:20am EST on 28 January 1966, in Portland, Maine, USA. (43°N39', 70°W15'; MC 8°Lib22', Asc 23Sag19). What happened to him on 21 March 1981, and two months later on 23 May 1981? The two events are similar, and they happened at his place of birth.

The correct answers are: On March 21 the man's mother died, and on May 23 his father died.

There were seven responses, and all were on the right track—seeing a disaster or tragedy of some sort—but Marion Mendez (USA) got it exactly right. Marion used the Uranian system, including the eight hypothetical planets, to arrive at her answer. She wrote that she went to Uranian Astrology after being unable to come to a conclusion using traditional methods. In the Uranian system she found close "hits" for death in the family, death of mother and death of father. Congratulations Marion!

Among the patterns she found were:

$pNode + pMars = rSaturn$ (death in family)

$pMars + pSaturn - pAsc = rMars/Saturn$ (death in family)

$rAries\ point + rAdmetos - rMoon = pAsc$ (death of mother)

$pMoon + pAdmetos = rSun + rHades$ (death of mother)

$rSun + rAdmetos = pMC = pKronos$ (death of mother or father)

$pSun + pAdmetos - pMoon = rNode, rMars + rSaturn - rVenus = pAsc$ (death of mother)

$rMars/Saturn + rKronos = pSun/Node$ (death of father)

$rMars + pHades - pKronos = rSun$ (unusual death of father)

To obtain the above "planetary pictures" the Natal Chart was Directed by Solar-Arc (in longitude) to the date of the first event. "p" refers to the Directed positions and "r" to the Radix. The pictures are more easily obtained using the 90° dial.

This use of Uranian Astrology to arrive at a final conclusion following the apparent lack of certainty in the standard traditional charts is a most interesting development. It has re-awakened my interest in the system, which I had previously dismissed as being over-abundant in its findings without pointing to a single, definite outcome.

No doubt many readers will have similar thoughts. Apart from other sources, the Uranian system is easily accessible for anyone with a computer and the SolarFire V4 Program. For newcomers, the only books on the subject that I know are Roger Jacobson's The Language of Uranian Astrology and Rules for Planetary Pictures by Witte-Lefeldt. Another book, Uranian Lexikon, is now being translated from the German by Marion herself.

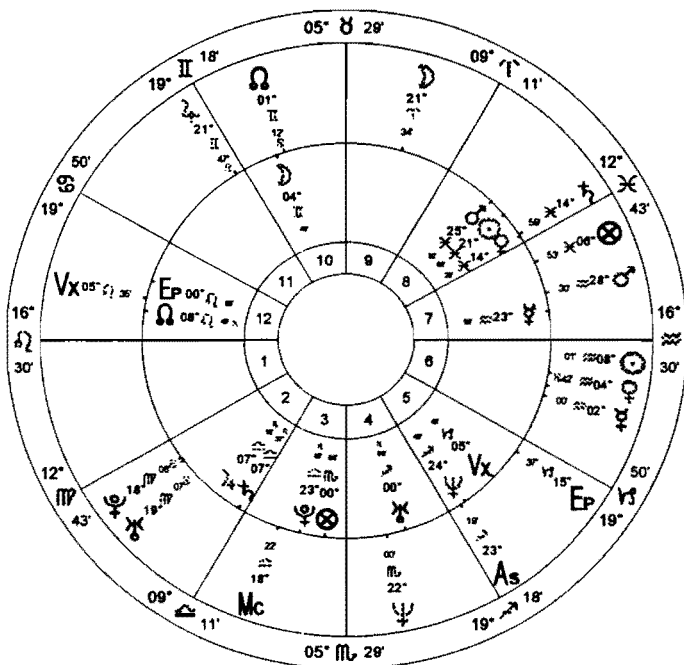

It seems to me at present that Uranian Astrology is a complementary system to the traditional procedures. Perhaps this will be disputed by Uranians. All the entrants to Test 25, using traditional Charts, realized that something serious and possibly tragic had happened on the dates given, but the actual events were shaped conclusively by the Uranian methods. It is a question whether the Uranian methods would have been sufficient on their own.

However, congratulations to all who attempted the Test and had the courage to send in their answers. Those who did so realize what a great learning experience it is and how it hones one's astrological skills.

Among the more significant of the traditional indicators is the Synodic Chart (Moon/Sun Phase Return) for March 11, 1981. Here it is, surrounded by the Natal Chart:

Synodic Chart 11 Mar 1981 for TEST #25
2:36:15 pm EST, Maine, Portland, 43N39, 70W15
Koch Cusps, Mean Node

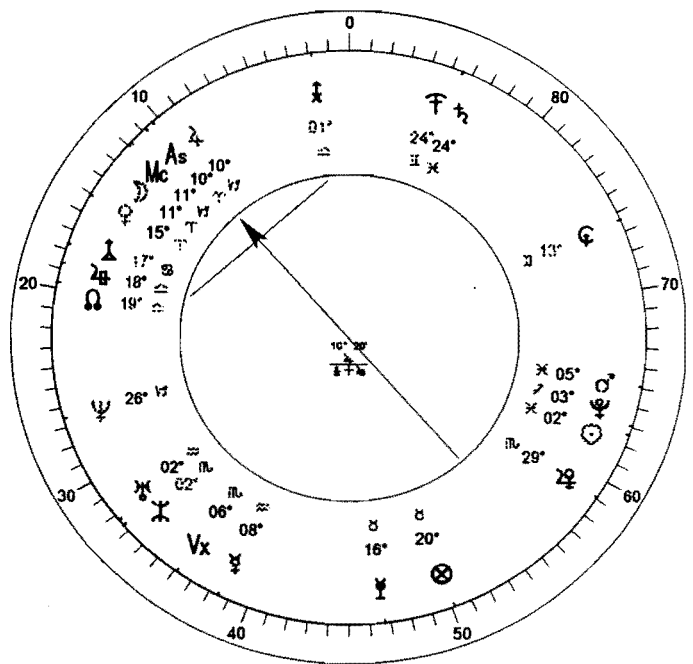

The accumulation of planets in the 8th House clearly indicates a death or near-death experience. This Chart covers the date the subject's mother died and Venus ruling the 10th House (the mother) closely conjunct Saturn on the 8th Cusp is very appropriate for this.

Marion's effective use of Uranian Astrology in answering Test No. 25, renewed my interest in the system, and I found a further evidence of its value in the Solar-Month Chart of 22nd Feb 1996 prior to John Howard's election to Prime Minister on 2nd March 1996 (page 2). What the 90° dial and the Uranian Hypothetical Planets reveal here is Jupiter (planet of success, and dominant in the Figure) at the midpoint of Zeus and Appollon ("luck and success in the arts and works of peace"—the interpretation from

Rules for Planetary Pictures previously mentioned. (It is not too much of an assault on truth to describe Australian politics as one of the "arts and works of peace".)

I see this "planetary picture" as strikingly appropriate for John Howard's victory in the Election.

Solar-Month Chart 22 Feb 1996 of John Howard
8:42:05am AEST, Earlwood, NSW. 33S55, 151E08
Koch Cusps, Mean Node

NEW TEST, NO. 26

Fortunately, Ross Harvey has been able to find material for a further Test. Please send your answers to him at 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW, Australia 2074, by November 25, or by e-mail to me: dymock@ozemail.com.au.

The Test concerns a woman born on 2nd May 1959, at 8:10pm AEST at 33°S54', 151°E11'. What happened to her in September 1980, in Sydney? She was an office worker and unmarried.

Space is lacking for printing the Chart in full, but the Ascendant is 0°Cap11', MC 11°Vir51', and the Moon is at 11°Pis35'.

A suggestion for responses to these Tests: First state your ultimate conclusion, then your astrological reasons. Pages of supporting data are not required, just the crucial factors.

More Test Material is needed. Can you help? An accurate birth time for the subject is essential.

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock, 4 November 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 207 October 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

A NATION FALTERS

What has happened to the great U.S.A.? Was there ever a nation so bent on the destruction of its own image and the remorseless humiliation of its leader? The world has just witnessed the extraordinary spectacle of a head of state being driven to admit the most intimate details of his sexual encounters with a female employee, who has herself been grilled repeatedly until every last particle of irrelevant sexual evidence could be extracted to feed the media and titillate the millions world-wide.

The whole process has contravened every chivalrous instinct of civilized man, and this in a Nation that is deemed to uphold the qualities of brotherhood, tolerance, compassion and freedom. We are evidently coming into an age when "truth" is valued above all things, no matter what damage it does or whom it hurts. The tragedy here is that the USA has demeaned itself in the eyes of the world, hamstrung its President in executing the duties of Office and—what is becoming clearer by the day—all for the political ends of his enemies. Under the guise of a noble morality they have persecuted and humiliated a man who has distinguished himself in the performance of his Office both at home and abroad. In doing so, they have created history of a type that will surely brand the Nation, in its present phase at least, as self-righteous, hypocritical, narrow-minded and immature.

What is the real issue here? Should the criterion for holding the exalted Office of President be the way in which the relevant duties are performed, or should it be how he conducts his sex-life? How many of the President's accusers, I wonder, could lay claim to even a modicum of the sexual morality they are so self-righteously demanding of their President.

Such an unprecedented and unsavoury episode in the history of the U.S.A. must surely be reflected in its National Chart—and indeed it is:

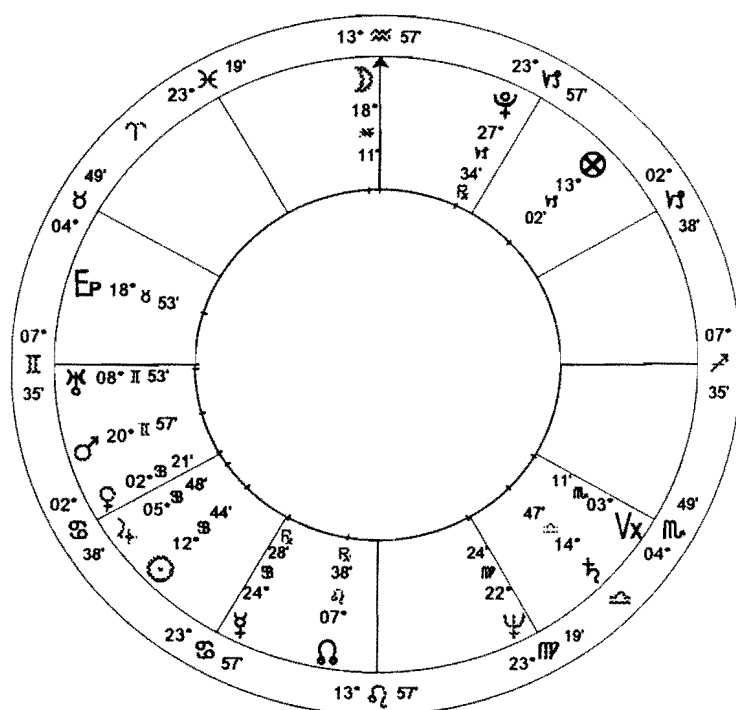

There are a number of Radices purporting to mark the birth of the Republic, but the one I favour has Gemini rising, and is timed for 2:14:14am on July 4, 1776, at Philadelphia. This Chart, which appears in the next column, has not only served well in the past but

In This Issue...

	Page
A Nation Falters.....	1
USA Independence Chart.....	1
USA Progressed Chart 4 July 1998.....	2
Kenneth Starr, Independent Counsellor	3
Results of Test 24	4
New Test 25	4

also gives a very apt description of the Nation's people as a whole. It may seem pedantic to have refined the time down to 14 seconds, but those 14 seconds make a huge difference to the House Cusps of Harmonic Charts when the multiplying factor is in the hundreds (222 for 1998).

USA INDEPENDENCE, 4 July 1776, 2:14:14am LMT
Philadelphia PA, 39N57 75W10.
Koch Cusps, Mean Node.

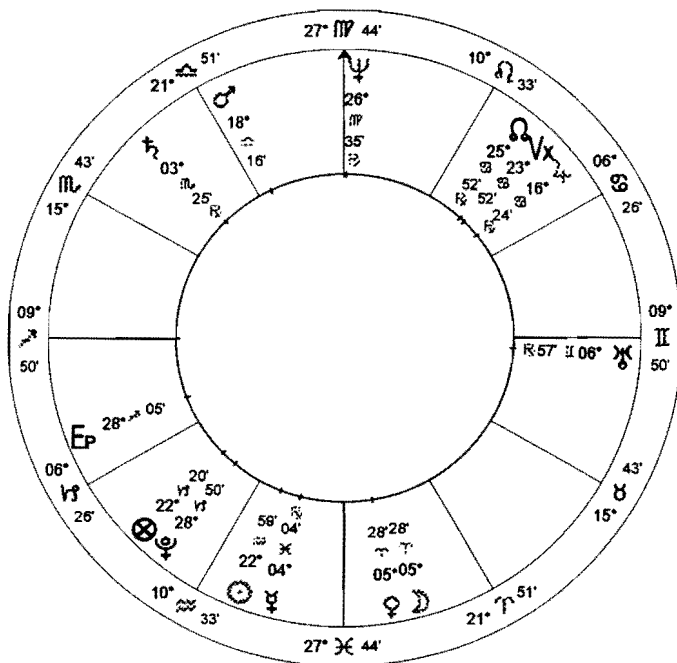

In relation to different Radices for the same subject, it should be remembered that a Chart can be highly informative, relevant, and truly reflecting life events by its Progressions and Directions even if it is not precisely the time of birth (when that can be determined). This is the experience and advice of Bernadette Brady (of Jigsaw fame), an Australian whose achievements in the computer field have persuaded many USA citizens, I am sure, that intelligent life does exist outside their own country.

The above Chart Progressed to 4th July 1998 shows in broad terms what is happening at the moment.

USA Independence 4/7/1776, 2:14:14am, PROGRESSED TO 4 JULY 1998.

MC Progressed by Solar Arc in Right Ascension

The most obvious and active feature is Neptune conjunct the Midheaven degree where it befogs policy, and casts a cloud over the Nation's prestige. The Nation has for the time being lost its sense of proper direction and is side-tracked by deceptive issues. This position of Neptune has been active for about three years, and is now passing away. It was exact in July 1997, and for about a year before that its influence was apparent in the Court proceedings against the President by Paula Jones and others alleging sexual harassment.

By January 1999 the conjunction will be more than 1½° past exactitude so I anticipate the Nation will by that time have recovered its sense of balance and reality.

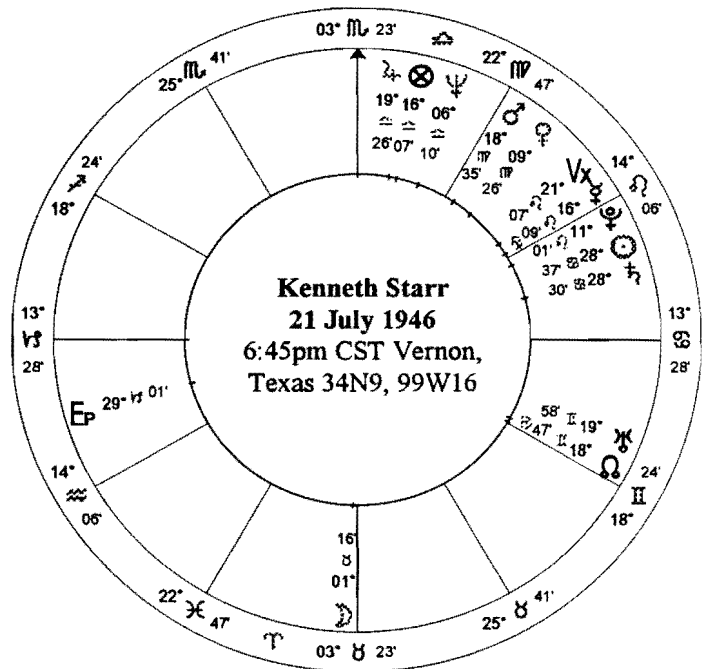

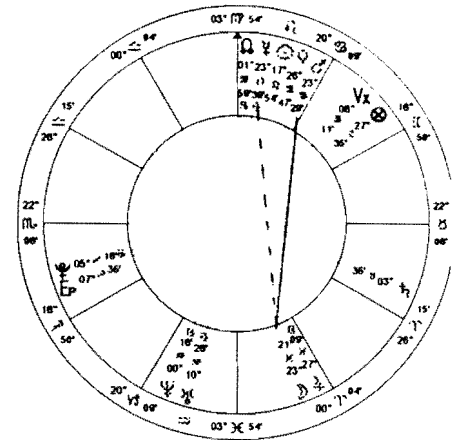

The Monthly Synodic Chart of the USA for the period August 10—September 8, 1998 gives a more detailed view of what is happening at the moment. The accumulation in the House of Law highlights the furore over Clinton's testimony to the Grand Jury on August 17. The intense public interest, excitement and discussion generated by this event is well depicted by Moon, ruling this House, trine to Mars on the Cusp, and quincunx to Mercury, also in the House.

It was, in fact, a public entertainment (Jupiter trine Venus).

What of the "Independent Counsel", Kenneth Starr, appointed to investigate the truth of allegations against the President? Starr's Natus, from the September Issue, is reproduced below (this time with the standard Moon position—not parallax-corrected.).

The revelation that Starr omitted from his voluminous report to Congress the one vital piece of evidence that was crucial to Clinton's defence, disposes immediately of the assumption that he was an impartial investigator seeking only in high-minded fashion to establish the truth of the whole matter. He is, in fact, an advocate, quite obviously determined to bring down the President and make a name for himself, however obnoxious, in the annals of the times.

USA Synodic Chart
10 Aug—8 Sep 1998

The vital piece of evidence that Starr chose to ignore was that Monica Lewinsky, in all her long examination at his hands, never once said or implied that the President had asked her to lie on his behalf—which was the one piece of evidence that Starr desired above all else. This is all the more remarkable in that Lewinsky (a woman scorned) might well have sought revenge against the President's casting her off, particularly as she was herself, by the terms of her agreement to testify, to be absolved from all legal charges that might otherwise ensue.

Starr's Synodic Chart Aug 14—Sep 12 1998 depicts his moment of triumph when he succeeded in having Clinton testify to the Grand Jury by closed-circuit TV on August 17.

KENNETH STARR
Synodic Return 14 Aug 1998

Jupiter closely trines Mars, ruling the 10th and 3rd Houses (success, communication). Pluto at 5Sag18', in and ruling his Midheaven, was sextile Natal Neptune (orb less than 1°) at 6°Lib9' in the House of Law, and ruling House 3 (reports, documents, etc.).

Things will not go so well for Starr in the period Nov. 10—Dec. 9, 1998. His Synodic Chart has the Moon his Ruler, square Venus, which shows he will be out of favour with the general public. The Moon's square to the Sun will also dim his lustre, though he is well protected by the Sun's close trine to Jupiter. Neptune in the 6th House squared by Saturn, Ruler of that House indicates an unsatisfactory outcome to his work, or that he will have to desist from it. It may occur to him that his years of indefatigable and poisonous pursuit of the President may not have been well spent. Perhaps he should have kept in mind the Biblical injunction, Let him who is without sin among you cast the first stone.

— Dymock.

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?

ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

RESULTS OF TEST NO. 24

The Birth Chart of the woman concerned is on page 6 of the August Issue (No.205). The Test was to discover what happened to her on January 28, 1984. Here is Ross Harvey's report:

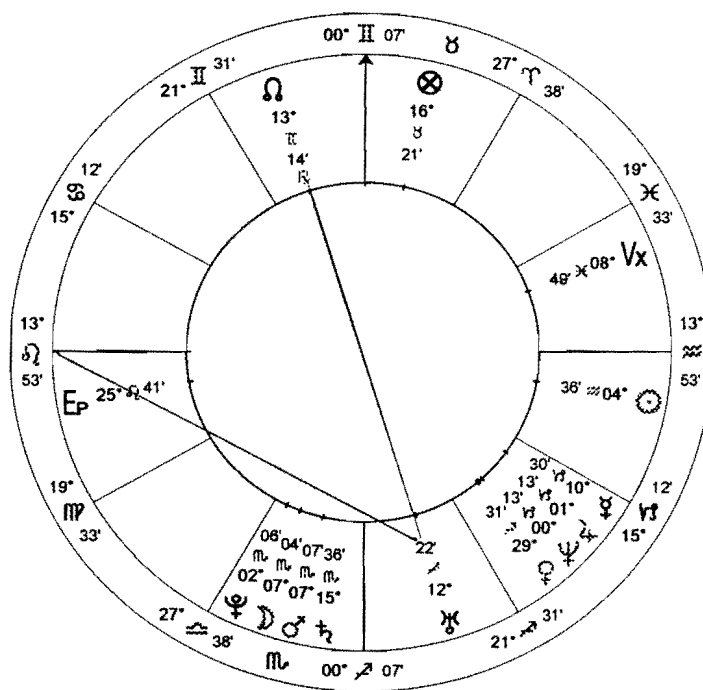

There were six entries for Test 24. Congratulations to Jack Nicholls (Vic.), Fay Jenkins (NSW), Dymock Brose (S.A.) and Marion Mendez (USA).

Jack suggested a romantic relationship; Fay that she underwent a complete transformation, moved house, and began a partnership or married—all correct; Dymock that she fell in love and married; Marion, that she married.

On 28th January 1984 the woman was married.

The Solar Return Chart told the story on its own: Uranus, ruling the 7th House, was opposite the Moon's N.Node and trine the Ascendant. The Node and the ruler of the 7th House almost inevitably means a close personal relationship, romance, etc. Furthermore, Venus was conjunct Jupiter, ruling the 5th (new undertakings, romance).

TEST 24: Solar Return, 25 January 1984. 7:31:19pm AEST.
Sydney, NSW, 33°S53', 151°E13'. Koch Cusps, Mean Node.

The Kinetic Solar Return, (Sun's Progression at the Q1 rate), (Feb 26, 1983, 1:37:14pm AEST) also told the story clearly. Venus, ruling the 4th was conjunct Mars ruling the 10th, and both were conjunct the MC and square the Moon's North Node. I have found in several annual charts involving marriage that the rulers of the 4th and 10th Houses were conjunct rather than the rulers of the 1st and 7th. The significance appears to be the same—the union of the self with the partner.

Furthermore, the EP was conjunct the Node, Mercury ruling the Ascendant was conjunct the 9th Koch Cusp (her husband was born overseas), and they happened at his place of birth. The time is from the Birth Certificate. Margaret is still in touch with the subject, who was a child patient of hers.

Here is the Birth Chart:

Kinetic Solar Return, Q1 for Test 24, 26 Feb 1983,
1:37:14pm, AEST, Sydney. Koch Cusps, Mean Node

Male, Test 25. Birth Chart. 28 Jan 1966. 4:20am, EST
Portland, Maine, USA 43°N39', 70°W15'
Koch Cusps, Mean Node.

conjunct the Descendant of the Birth Chart. Jupiter, ruling the 7th House was conjunct Uranus ruling the 9th!

The Prenatal Solar Return had the Sun, ruling the Ascendant, conjunct the Descendant, trine Mars ruling the 9th, and co-ruling the 4th. Uranus ruling the 7th was conjunct Venus ruling the 10th.

The 33rd Harmonic Chart had the Ascendant conjunct Radical Jupiter. Jupiter often turns up for marriage.

The 33rd Prenatal Lunar Return had the Sun ruling the 7th House conjunct Venus ruling the 10th, and both conjunct the Radical Ascendant, and Venus ruling the 4th conjunct Uranus ruling the Ascendant.

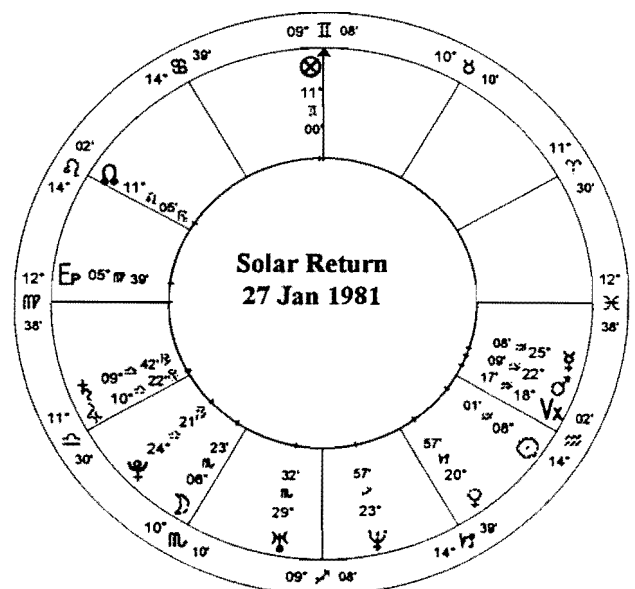

The other annual charts were not particularly informative.

NEW TEST NO. 25

Our new Test has been set by Dr. Margaret Millard of England. It concerns a male, born at 4:20am EST on January 28, 1966, in Portland, Maine, USA. (43°N39', 70°W15'). The time is from the Birth Certificate. What happened to him on March 21, 1981, and two months later on May 23, 1981? The two events are similar, and

Please send your answers to Dr Margaret Millard, 14 Gloucester Road, Painswick, Glos. GL6 6RA UK or by e-mail to her at 101771.1401 compuserve.com.

The closing date for receipt of entries will be October 25, 1998. Here is the relevant Solar Return:

My kind regards to all. — Dymock, 30 Sep 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 206 September 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

THE CLINTON/STARR CONNECTION

Since last month's Issue, a reader has kindly supplied me with the birth data of Kenneth Starr, the Independent Counsel, and thorn in the side of President Clinton, who is responsible for pressing the investigation into the President's affairs, public and private (very private), on the suspicion that they have rendered him unfit for the exalted office he holds. The rest of the world looks on in amused bewilderment, if not mortification, at the spectacle of a great nation apparently bent on destroying the public image of its leader, and subjecting his personal and private life to the scrutiny of millions of people world-wide. This in spite of the fact that the U.S. citizens as a whole want Clinton to remain in his role of President and continue his more-than-satisfactory handling of the duties of the Office. It says much for the strength and fortitude of Bill Clinton that he has not crumpled under the onslaught and the countless obscene jokes against him. A lesser man might well have left his post and withdrawn from the public gaze to retain whatever shreds of dignity remained to him.

Kenneth Starr was born at 6:45pm on July 21, 1946, at Vernon, Texas. As I surmised in last month's article, Starr is indeed powerfully influenced by the Sign Cancer which holds the Sun and his Ruler, Saturn, in very close conjunction (7' of orb). One of the more notable traits of Cancer is its unrelenting tenacity, like its symbol, The Crab, which will rather lose its claw than let go of its victim. Starr has amply demonstrated this crab-like trait over the four years he has already spent in the pursuit of his quarry, his tenacity being hardened into steely resolve by his Saturn/Sun conjunction.

Another characteristic of the Sign is its revelling in publicity, even notoriety. The dyed-in-the-wool Cancerian will delight in any kind of fame, good or bad, just so that it attracts notice, and he can feel the attention of the world focussed upon him. Starr answers well to this description. Notwithstanding that he has aroused the ire of millions of his countrymen he proceeds undeviatingly on his path, not merely undeterred but obviously delighted by the attention

In This Issue...

	Page
The Clinton/Starr Connection	1
The Knecht Test	2
Review of the Knecht Test	3
Federal Election 3 October 1998	4
Howard, Beasley, Hanson	4
Reminder re Test No. 24	4

Kenneth Starr

21 July 1946

6:45pm CST

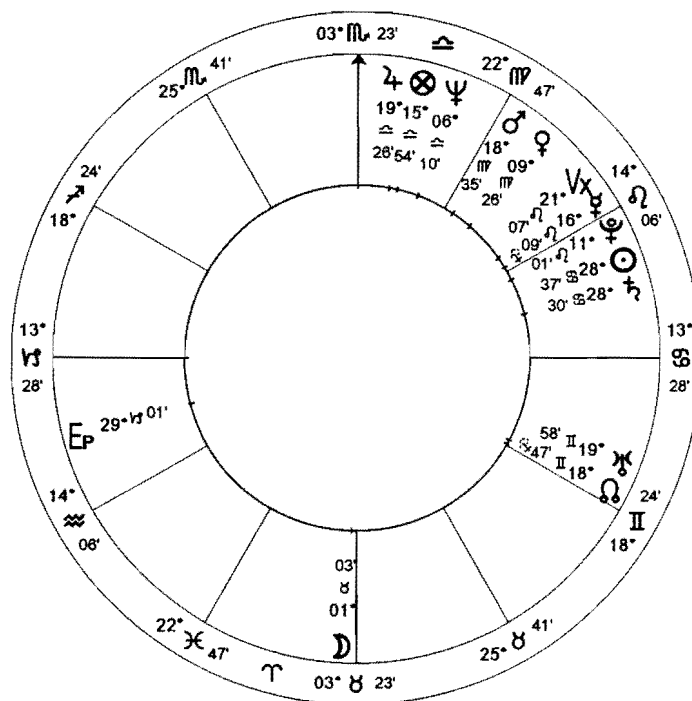

Vernon, Texas, 34N9, 99W16

Tropical

Koch

Mean Node

Parallax Moon

mixed with irritation, scorn and even contempt that he has aroused.

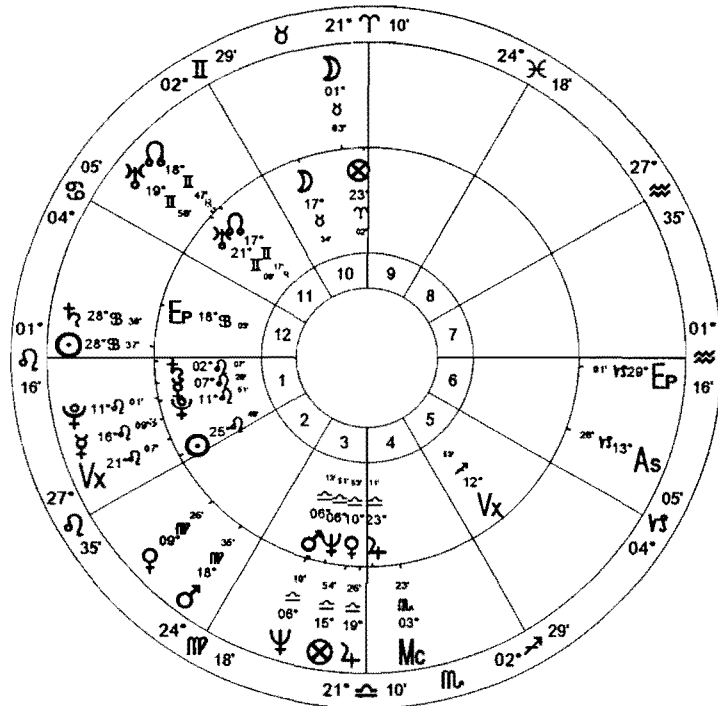

Starr's and Clinton's birth dates are less than a month apart, and on the next page I present Clinton's Chart, circumscribed by Starr's. It is enlightening to note the inter-Chart Aspects, revealing karmic links between them.

The most obvious and important link is Starr's Sun/Saturn conjunction right on the Ascendant of Clinton's Horoscope. This symbolizes the powerful impact Starr has had on Clinton's life. The authority of the Sun, combined with the rigidity and implacability of

Inner Wheel: Bill Clinton
19 Aug 1946, 3:44am CST
Hope, Arkansas,
33N40, 93W35

Outer Wheel: Kenneth Starr
21 July 1946, 6:45pm
Vernon, Texas,
34N9, 99W16.

Both Charts: Tropical, Koch, Mean Node, parallax-corrected

Saturn has determined the course of the events and their inescapable consequences, sufficient even to throw the President's life into turmoil and shake the foundations of his political power.

Starr's other Luminary, the Moon, is also prominent, elevated in Clinton's Midheaven, where it is closely square to both Clinton's Ascendant Point and Saturn (orb less than 1°). Here, it obviously obstructs the President's career and has a damaging effect on his status. Work and career are further impeded by Starr's Neptune, only 3' from the exact conjunction with Clinton's Mars, which rules his 10th House. Neptune's effect on Mars is to nullify or at least weaken its energy and drive. Aspects within 1° have several times the power of those 2° or 3° apart.

Finally, another close square from Mars in Starr's Natus to the Moon's North Node in Clinton's fittingly depicts the ill-feeling, annoyance and anger generated by the inquisitorial proceedings.

—Dymock.

THE KNEGT TEST

The best way to present the correct matchings for the Knegt Test (see Astrologers' Forum, No.203) is to reproduce each of the Charts accompanied by the personality description that applies to it. Here they are:

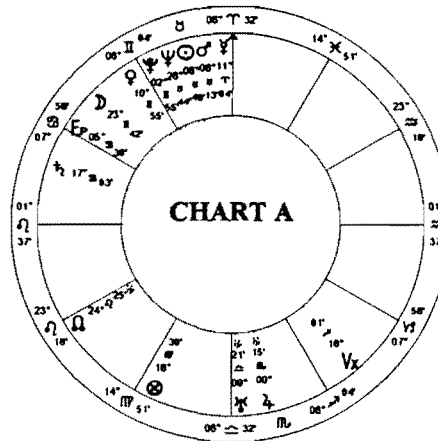

CHART A:
Description No. 4

A rambling, noisy personality, a windbag creating a reputation due to his clown-like traits. More promising than he eventually turned out to be. Little self-criticism.

CHART B:
Description No. 2

A pushy, very dominating person, hedonistic, egotistic, sarcastic; proud; a muddled mind; narrow in his ideas, marked vanity; wishes to play a role that is too far-reaching for him; likes to view himself as another Napoleon.

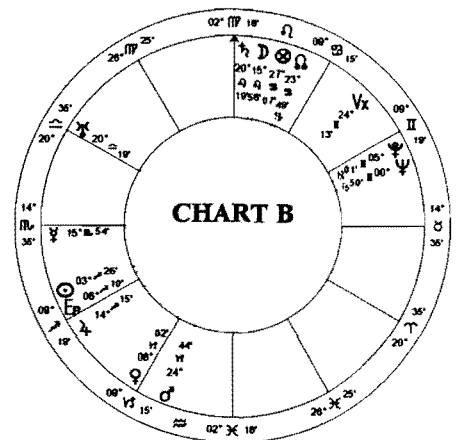

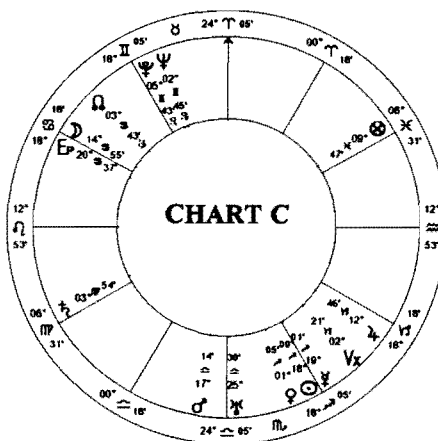

CHART C:
Description No. 5:
Great weakness and apathy. Many financial setbacks. Prone to be exploited, deceived and robbed; having given away his fortune he ended up very poor and only survived thanks to his relatives. Victim of his own great generosity. Negatively fated as regards contacts with the female sex. No chance of obtaining a happy and satisfactory experience in this respect. Mental disturbances resulting in long-term admission to psychiatric institutions.

CHART D:
Description No. 3

A well-known personality, wishing to play an ambitious social role, striving for influence and leadership, often asked for executive jobs; prominence in finance and agriculture; Midas figure—everything in his hands turns to gold.

CHART E:Description No. 1

A public and typically social figure; a well-known speculator; a big spender; a short-lived role as an author. Solid relationships in political and economic circles. He had a marked ascent in life followed by an inglorious end.

Now follows Rudolf Smit's commentary on the Test.

REVIEW OF THE KNEGT TEST by Rudolf Smit, Editor Correlation

The Knegt Test (#21) was a matching test. The participants were asked to couple a number of descriptions with the matching horoscopes. This type of tests in astrology is also known as Vernon Clark Tests, as it was the American psychologist Vernon Clark who initiated them in the 'sixties. Remarkably enough Vernon Clark appeared to be fairly successful: Relatively many astrologers managed to match the descriptions with the right horoscopes. This is also the reason why this VC test is often mentioned in books and articles that try to defend astrology. However, we now know that the success was due to a statistical fluke, which boils down to there having been too many astrologers participating on too few charts.

The more astrologers there are on a small number of charts to be matched with the same number of descriptions, the greater the chance there is of a positive result. It is similar to asking 100 people to knock a can of beer from a table by throwing a tennis ball from a distance of say 10 metres: There is a much greater chance of eventual success than with just one person having a try.

Since that first VC test there have been another 41 more, adding up to 42. They were all unsuccessful for the astrologers. The Knegt Test became number 43. It was my sincere hope that this Test would have some measure of success, simply because the descriptions were based on the correct delineations of five charts by the famous Dutch astrologer Leo Knegt in 1933. Knegt proved himself a real master-astrologer as his interpretations, containing verifiable descriptions of circumstances in the lives of the natives, were based on the birth data alone. Hence, if Knegt could do it, then in principle other astrologers could do it as well. In fact, it would have been easier—charts were there, descriptions were there. Now match them.

It did not work out that way: there were 21 astrologers participating. There were 5 charts and 5 descriptions. One would need to match 4 correctly to have all 5 right (the 5th by default: when 4 are right then the 5th has to be right also). Only two astrologers managed to get 3 correct matchings.

There were 6 who got 2 right. There were 11 who got one right and 2 who got none right. The correct combination Chart C with description 5 got the most hits, 9 altogether. The correct combination D—3 got 8 hits. The other matchings: A—4, B—2, and E—1 had each 4 hits. Altogether there were 29 hits, where, ideally, there should have been $21 \times 5 = 105$ hits. This 29 is slightly above what could have been expected by chance alone (21), but is mainly due to what I described before: There were already too many astrologers with too few charts.

As for the individual results in this test: the odds against chance of having none or one correct is about 1 in 3. The odds against chance of having two correct is 1 in 6. The odds against chance of having three correct is 1 in 13. The odds of having 4 (hence 5) correct is about 1 in 100. So I hoped for the latter.

What to conclude from this and the other 42 matching tests? The logical conclusion seems to me that on the whole astrologers appear incapable of successfully concluding tests aimed at matching descriptions with their correct charts.

It seems to me that astrologers should not participate any more in this type of tests because they are bound to be unsuccessful. However, based on the extraordinary results achieved by Leo Knegt in blind tests I suggest that, when it comes to testing astrologers, one should aim at performing double blind tests—only supply them the birth data and gender of the natives, and ask the astrologers to write brief delineations providing verifiable statements about character and circumstances in life. In the happy circumstance that they succeed they would make a strong case for their astrological skills.

I thank all 21 participants for their co-operation in this test, and Dymock Brose for making available his Astrologers' Forum.

A more detailed analysis of this test will appear in Correlation, Journal for Research into Astrology, Issue 17(2), Northern Winter 1998/99, and published by the Astrological Association of Great Britain.

Rudolf Smit

Editor Correlation. rhsmit@worldonline.nl

AUSTRALIAN FEDERAL ELECTION

Saturday, 3 October 1998

The Prime Minister, John Howard, has just announced the long-awaited date for the next Federal Election—3rd October 1998.

The two main contenders are the Liberal Coalition, at present holding Government, and the Labor Party, in Opposition. None of the minor Parties can expect to achieve Government, though they may have candidates returned to Parliament. So the issue is really to be decided between the present Prime Minister and the Leader of the Labor Opposition, Mr Kim Beasley.

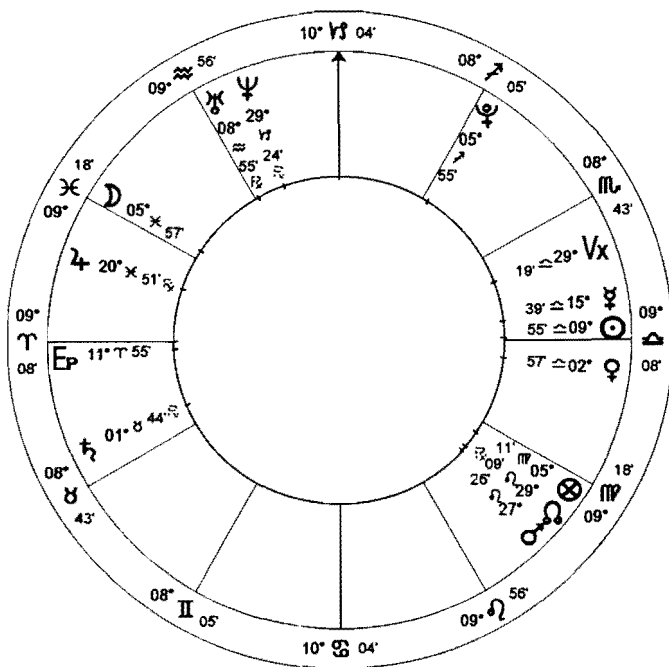

My practice is to predict the issue from a chart set for the time of the closing of the Polls, which in Australia is 6pm (it was 8 pm many years ago).

There is a two-hour difference between the closing of the Polls in Eastern and Western Australia. The Chart below is set for Canberra, the Nation's Capital, at 6 pm Australian Eastern Standard Time. I accept this as answering for the whole of Australia, even though voting does not finish on the West Coast until two hours later.

CLOSING OF THE POLLS

3 Oct 1998, Canberra, ACT, 6pm

Tropical, Koch, Mean Node, Moon corrected for parallax error

The Liberal Coalition will win: The 1st House represents the Party in power (Liberals), while the 10th shows their chances of success. Here the 1st House is ruled by Mars, conjunct the Moon's Node, and both trine to Saturn ruling the 10th House. The Ruler of the Ascendant in harmonious configuration with the Ruler of the MC, augmented by the N.Node, signifies success for the person concerned. No landslide victory, however, as Neptune square to Saturn, means considerable loss of seats.

The Opposition Party (Labor) is represented by the 7th House, and its chances of victory by the 4th. The Sun on the 7th Cusp conjunct Mercury shows a valiant effort, with much rhetorical communication, but Venus ruling the 7th is handicapped by its quincunx to Saturn. Worse, the Moon, ruling the 4th House in a close T-Square with Pluto and the Part of Fortune obliterates Labor's chances.

I regard the above method as the quickest and easiest to determine the result of an election, but the faint-hearted can confirm the findings by reference to the personal Charts of John Howard and Kim Beasley. John Howard's Natus was published in this journal in February last (Issue 199), and the data for Kim Beasley is 14 Dec. 1948, 11am, Perth, W.A. (kindly supplied to me by Esoteric Technologies, author of the renowned Solar Fire V4 Program).

Howard's Solar Return Chart has Jupiter at 27°Pis58', where it is elevated in the Natus, trine to the Moon (28°Sco38') and sextile to Mars (28°Cap55') ruling the 10th House. It doesn't have to be any better than that! Howard's Progressions are wonderful: The Sun trine Mars by Ascendant-Arc Direction on Oct. 3 (day of the Election), Venus parallel Jupiter on Oct. 4 in his Progressed Chart, and Prog. Mercury parallel the Natal MC on Oct. 8.

By contrast, Kim Beasley faces disaster: His Solar Return has Pluto (6°Sag8') conjunct the Midheaven (5°Sag28') of his Natal Chart, and square Natal Saturn (6°Vir12') opposing the Rising Degree. And there is nothing in his Progressions/Directions to ameliorate the situation.

My prediction re Pauline Hanson still stands—she will do well in the October Election. Her Chart for the revised time of 3:20am (see last Issue) gives a Phase-Return Chart (14Sep1998) where Jupiter ruling the Midheaven is rising, conjunct the Natal Moon and sextile the Natal MC. Her Progressed Moon trines the important midpoint MC/AS on 2nd October, the day before the Election.

—Dymock.

Remember you have until Friday, 25 September, to submit your answer to Test No. 24. The Standard Solar Return Chart on page 6 of the last Issue was inadvertently set for Adelaide instead of Sydney, where the event occurred. The planetary positions are identical, but the Koch Cusps and the Zodiacal points are: MC 0Gem7, C.11 21Gem31, C.12 15Can12, Asc 13Leo53, C.2 19Vir33, C.3 27Lib38, EP 25Leo41, Vx 8Pis49, P/Fort 16Tau25.

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 31 August 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 205 August 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

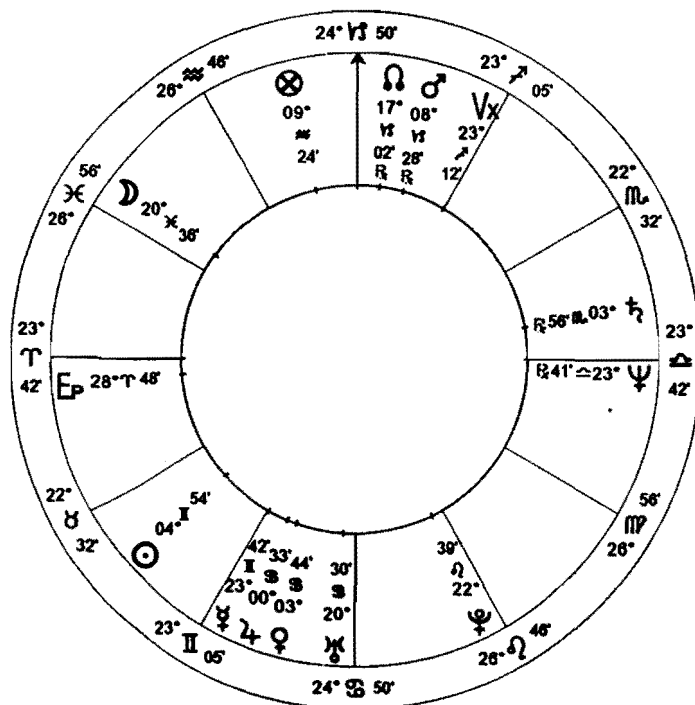

THE HANSON PHENOMENON

by Allan Johnson

Pauline Hanson is being called a phenomenon because nothing quite like her has occurred before. Her rise has been so dramatic that it is worth having a look at her Chart. Birth details have been supplied by her office. She was born on 27th May 1954, 3:20am, in Brisbane.

Pauline Hanson
27 May 1954
3:20am
Brisbane, Q. 27S28, 153E02.

Tropical
Placidus
Mean Node
Parallax Moon

One thing that is very unusual in this Chart is that it has five planets in Water Signs. The question of planets in Water Signs in political charts is something on which I have done quite a bit of research. It is very rare to find a political figure with many planets in Water. As an example, we have Paul Keating and Bill Clinton with not a single planet in Water, and with Tony Blair with just one. It is pretty much the rule in political figures. I think the reason for this is that they do have all their

In This Issue...

	Page
The Hanson Phenomenon	1
President Bill Clinton —The Moment of Truth?	2
Result of Test No. 23.....	5
Progressive Solar Return KSR Q2.....	6
New Test No.24.....	6
Solar Return for Test No.24.....	6

energies directed outwardly, they are so much in the public eye, whereas a lot of Water planets means the person is directed more inwardly, and the approach to life is more personal and emotional. So it can be a big liability for political figures to allow their emotions to get in the way of their attitudes and decisions. Politicians are never allowed to have a personal life. So how will she handle this set-up?

Maybe having Aries rising will help her out a lot here. This has given her the drive to get where she is now. Uranus on the Cusp of the 4th House powerfully influences the M.C. through the Opposition Aspect and this also accounts for her sudden and unexpected rise to fame. Heavy emphasis on the 3rd House, and Sun in Gemini, suggests more the writer working behind the scenes, rather than the public figure. Though we do have Mars in Capricorn in the 9th—very much concerned with political propaganda. But I would say this Chart doesn't suggest a long-term political career.

One very revealing point in this Chart is Neptune being right on the 7th Cusp, and therefore powerfully influencing the Ascendant by Opposition. I think this has resulted in a lot of fantasy in her political ambitions. Neptune is also part of a fairly close YOD pattern involving Pluto and the Moon. The fact that the Moon is also in Pisces adds to the fantasy pattern. Pluto can bring in an obsessive element and the desire to push extreme policies. All this has been happening. I think this YOD makes her feel she has a mission—but will she be able to ultimately substantiate it? Can she really get her act together? Having only one planet in Earth does suggest she has too much wishful thinking and not enough practicality. But despite all this she does have Jupiter trine to Saturn, and I have often found this Aspect in the charts of people who make a lot of money despite a poor start in life.

Now to look at the current Progressions. In 1998 the Progressed Sun is at 17° Cancer, which means it is just moving towards the end of the 2nd Decanate, which is Scorpio. I have found these decanates very effective. The Scorpio Decanate is very representative of what is going on at this very time. The obsessive drive and the stubbornness. She refuses to be intimidated. But looking ahead to three years time when her Progressed Sun reaches 20° it will be conjunct Natal Uranus and trine the Moon (and note that Uranus is square to Neptune natively). This looks like some very unexpected developments, but at the same time the Sun also enters the Pisces Decanate. It looks like a very messy situation, too much fantasy and not enough reality. She could get right out of politics at this time and get some financially fortunate offer elsewhere. This takes her to the year 2001.

Now to look at the Transits and see how they correlate. That is happening right now is that Pluto is in Opposition to her Natal Sun, and has been within orb since the beginning of 1997, and covers very neatly her spectacular rise to fame. And it will be within close orb right to the end of this year. Pluto is the planet for transformation, and this has most certainly applied to her life. She has leaped into massive prominence whereas her earlier life was pretty humble, and she is not likely to go out of prominence in the immediate future. In 1997 she had also Uranus trining her Natal Sun. Neptune will be trining her Sun through 1999 and on into 2000, and even into 2001—the very year that the Progressed Sun hits Uranus. Transiting Uranus will also be opposing Natal Pluto at that time, activating the Yod: An ending and new beginning. So it all correlates, and also Transiting Saturn will conjunct her Natal Sun in mid-2001.

So to sum up all this, I don't see Pauline Hanson having a long-term political career. She will continue to make her presence felt over the next few years, but could get right out of politics in the new millennium.

[Editor's note: Allan has obtained a different Chart from the one I presented in Issue 200, and my testing both Figures with monthly charts against two very important events in Pauline Hanson's life—her maiden speech on 10 Sep 1996, and her resounding success in the Queensland State Elections on 13 June 1998—does suggest that it is the correct one.]

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?

ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON

The Moment of Truth?

I suppose no man on earth more deeply regrets an amorous interlude than does Bill Clinton at this moment. He is now obliged to testify before a Grand Jury whether or not he had a sexual liaison with Monica Lewinski and, if it did occur, whether he influenced her to deny it. If indeed he did, it is assumed this would show a lack of personal integrity that would destroy his fitness to head the most powerful Government in the world.

The relentless fervour with which Independent Prosecutor Kenneth Starr has pursued the President over four years, and at a cost to the public purse of over $40,000,000, makes one wonder whether he is not conducting a personal vendetta, rather than being driven by a laudable desire to maintain the honour and dignity of the Presidential office.

Unfortunately, I do not have Mr. Starr's birth data, but I'd be willing to bet he is strongly influenced by the Zodiacal Sign Cancer, not only for his clam-like tenacity—a salient feature of the Sign—but also for his apparent desire to remain in the public eye (Cancerians love to be "on stage") and also to achieve some inverse fame for an expensive, and mistaken, crusade. He appears in public always with the same Cheshire-cat grin, like the smile on the face of the tiger, which again is a typical Cancerian mannerism.

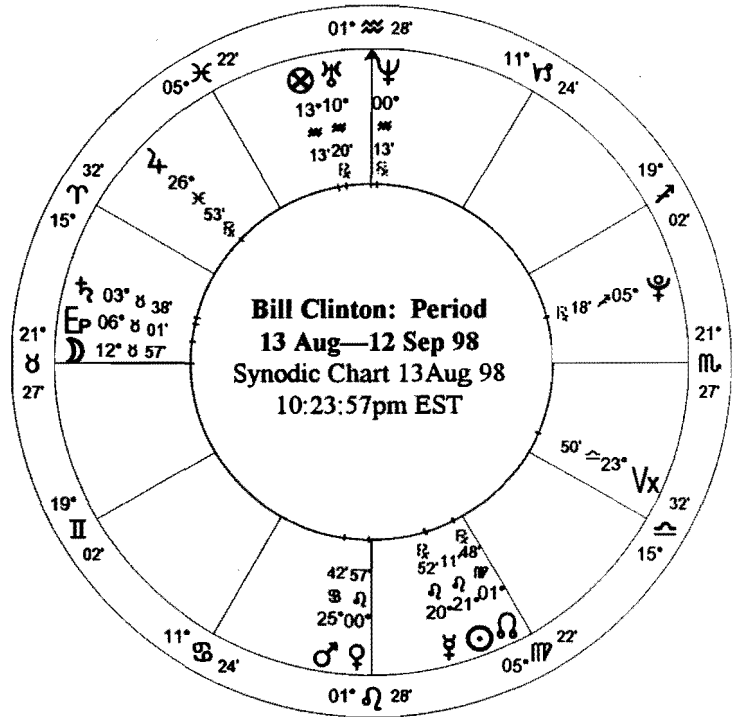

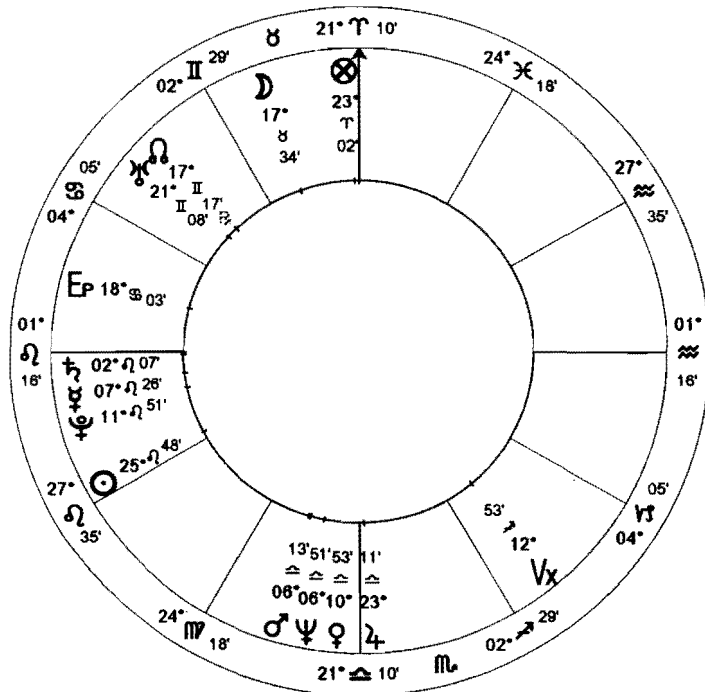

Bill Clinton has proved himself an able President and, according to opinion polls, is thus regarded by the great majority of Americans. So, while the rest of the world looks on in amusement or distaste, not to mention more lately irritation and impatience, this pillorying of an American President proceeds with little or nothing to gain but satisfying the ego of one man. There is a faint echo of McCarthyism about it, and surely the Americans have had enough of that. Joseph McCarthy was censured by the US Senate in 1954 for his wild accusations of communist infiltration. A similar censure might be appropriate for Kenneth Starr.

The interesting point is—how far will Kenneth Starr prevail in his campaign against the President? The next three months are probably the crucial ones for Mr. Clinton. His cyclic charts for the period will tell the story.

What I regard as the authentic Birth Chart of the President (for the time of 3:44am CST) appears on the next page. Convincing evidence for this Chart appeared in the excellent article by Rowena Wall of Georgia, USA, in Astrologers' Forum Issue 182 of September 1996. Without doubt, the President is a man of charisma and personal charm—charisma from Leo,

President Bill Clinton
19 Aug 1946, 3:44am CST
Hope, Arkansas
33N40, 93W35.

Koch Cusps
Mean Node
Moon corrected for Parallax.

and charm from Libra, with an earthy sensuousness from the Moon in Taurus. Mars, Neptune and Venus conjoined implies a volatile sexual response. He attracts women, and is attracted to them—almost inevitably leading to risqué situations, particularly for one always in the public eye.

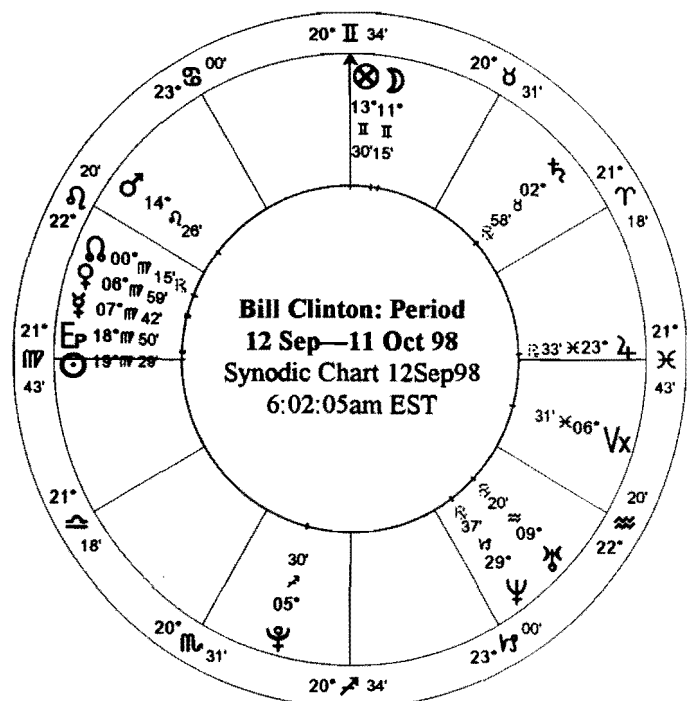

President Clinton is due to give his testimony to the Grand Jury on August 17, so the Monthly Synodic Chart (Moon-Sun Phase-Return) operating from 13 August to 12 September covers this period nicely. It appears in the next column. These Charts are all calculated for Washington (the centre of activities), with Koch Cusps, Mean Node, and the Moon corrected for parallax error.

Neptune is on the Cusp of Honour and Status, almost exactly opposite Venus, both planets being square to Saturn. This reflects the nature of the difficulty the President has to face—scandal (Saturn square Neptune) relating to an amorous encounter (Venus) with an employee—Monica Lewinski was employed at the White House. Venus rules the House of Employees, and Clinton's involvement is shown by Venus being Ruler of the 1st House also.

Uranus in the 10th square to the rising Moon shows the nervous strain to which the President will be subjected. This would be considerable for any one in the same circumstances, but for Mr Clinton with the eyes of the world upon him it is magnified many times over. It is noteworthy that Clinton's Natal Moon is in Taurus, the Sign accented in the Synodic Chart by the Ascendant, Moon, Saturn and the East Point.

The Grand Jury is represented by the 11th House. Jupiter ruling the House and trine to Mars is the judicial enquiry. The Moon being a Significator for Clinton, it's semisquare to Jupiter plus the close square of the Sun to the Rising Degree indicates that matters do not go well for him, at least initially. The probing and delving (Pluto quincunx the EP) by the hostile lawyers (Pluto ruling the 7th House) will be a rigorous test of the Presidential nerves.

We can surmise further developments from a study of the successive Synodic Charts.

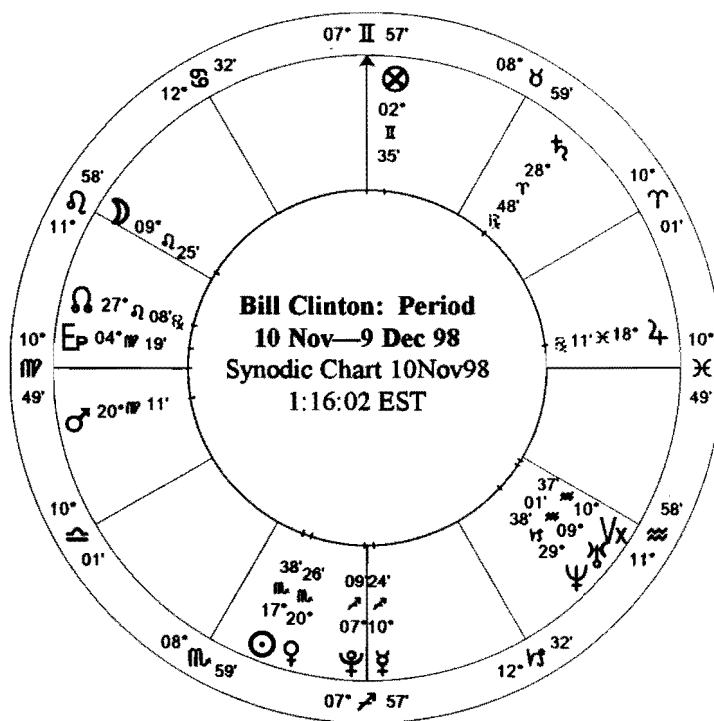

In the period 12 Sep—11 Oct 98, the Sun on the Ascendant shows the President is standing up well to the legal inquisition, (Jupiter opposite the Asc) though not without anxiety (Saturn sesquare the EP). The 1st and 10th Houses are ruled by Mercury, which is conjunct Venus but in a T-Square with the Vertex and Pluto which signifies a crucial time for him.

In the period 11 Oct—10 Nov 1998 Pluto sitting comfortably on the Meridian is sextile to Natal Neptune and Mars. This suggests a modification of policy, particularly as the Natal Houses involved are the 9th (plans and propaganda) and the 10th (government). Clinton's position, however, remains strong. Mars in the 7th opposing the EP shows his opponents are still hard at work to worst him. Neptune in the 12th quincunx the Moon's Node in the 7th indicates machinations by his enemies. The media are still playing up the situation for all its worth (Mercury opposed by Saturn in the 3rd and squared by Neptune), but Clinton retains the favour of the general public (Moon in the 5th trine Fortuna in the 9th).

The Chart for the period 10 Nov—9 Dec is the most favourable of the series. The Sun conjunct Venus and trine Jupiter assures a happy outcome for the President. The Moon at 9Leo25 is significant through its Opposition to the Vertex and its conjunction with the 12th Cusp. By an interesting synchronicity the Moon trines the Midpoint (8Sag47) of Mercury and Pluto on the 4th Cusp, and also conjoins the Midpoint (9Leo38) of Mercury and Pluto in the 1st House of the Natal Chart, so Clinton will score well here by his capacity to speak convincingly (Mercury/Pluto) and sway his public (the Moon). He still has his under-cover enemies (Saturn square Neptune, Co-Ruler of 7th) but whatever public favour was lost is now regained.

The Chart, for the period 9 Dec 98—5 Jan 99, the last in the current year, shows Clinton now "sitting pretty". A feature is dominant Jupiter, no longer Retrograde, and the Moon's North Node almost exactly conjunct Natal Sun. Fortunate indeed! Add to that the Grand Trine of the Node with Saturn and Venus. Saturn rules the 7th House and Venus the 11th. I read this Saturn-Venus trine as a peaceful end (Venus) to the opposition (7th House) experienced by Clinton.

True, there is discomfiture from the Ruling Moon square Pluto and quincunx Uranus, and Mars opposite Fortuna, but in my view the favourable factors prevail. There are many issues to claim a President's attention. The adverse aspects are probably related to some of these—difficulties with the workforce and the economy, for instance, rather than those relating relating to a Presidential dalliance.

In summary, therefore, I conclude that President Clinton's position and status will be re-established. He has an uncomfortable few months ahead of him but will survive—discomforted but not vanquished!

—Dymock.

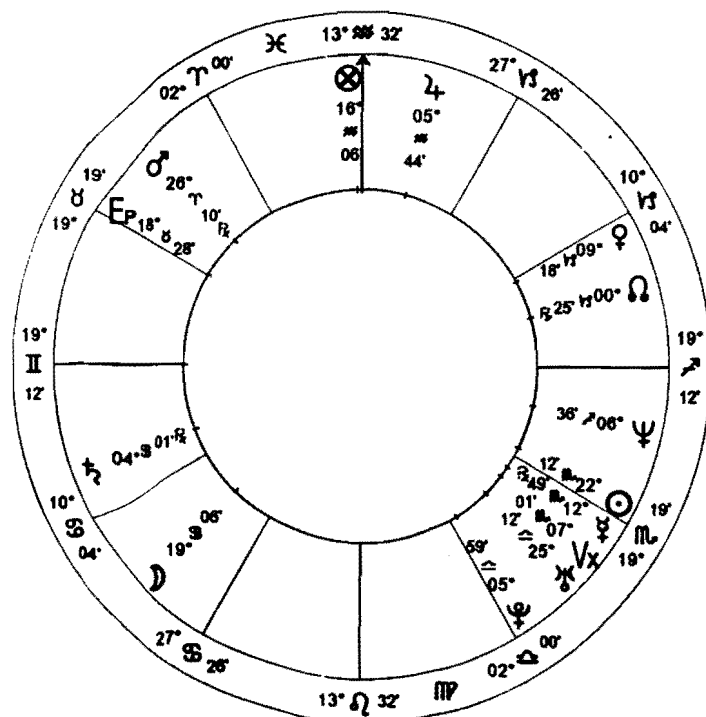

Result of Test No. 23.

Ross Harvey, who received and assessed all responses, reports as follows:

There were eight entries for Test 23. Unfortunately none was correct. The correct answer was—On February 15, 1998 the subject left for London for an extended stay to further his career. Here is the Birth Chart again:

Male, Test #23

14 November 1973, 5:30pm GMT London, 0W10, 51N30

This Test was not simple, and was further complicated by the subject's living far away from his birthplace. Therefore cyclical charts for both the place of birth and the place of residence should have been examined.

The Standard Solar Return set for London had the Sun conjunct the 9th Cusp and Jupiter conjunct the Natal MC. When set for Sydney, the Ascendant at 27Cap44 was very closely conjunct the Radical Koch 3rd Cusp (27Can30), that is, the SR Asc-Desc axis lay on the Natal 3rd-9th axis. This suggests that communications or travel were the principal concerns of the year. If Placidus Cusps had been used the conjunction would not have been nearly so close (Natal Placidus 3rd Cusp is 23Can59), and could easily have been missed.

The Prenatal Solar Return set for London was not significant, but when set for Sydney the Ascendant at 9Cap57 was conjunct Natal Venus at Koch Cusp 9 Cap16. So the year was very favourable. SR Jupiter at 27Cap14 was very closely conjunct the the Natal 9th Koch Cusp (and Regiomontanus at 27Cap41), but not very closely to Placidus.

The Precessed Solar Returns were not significant.

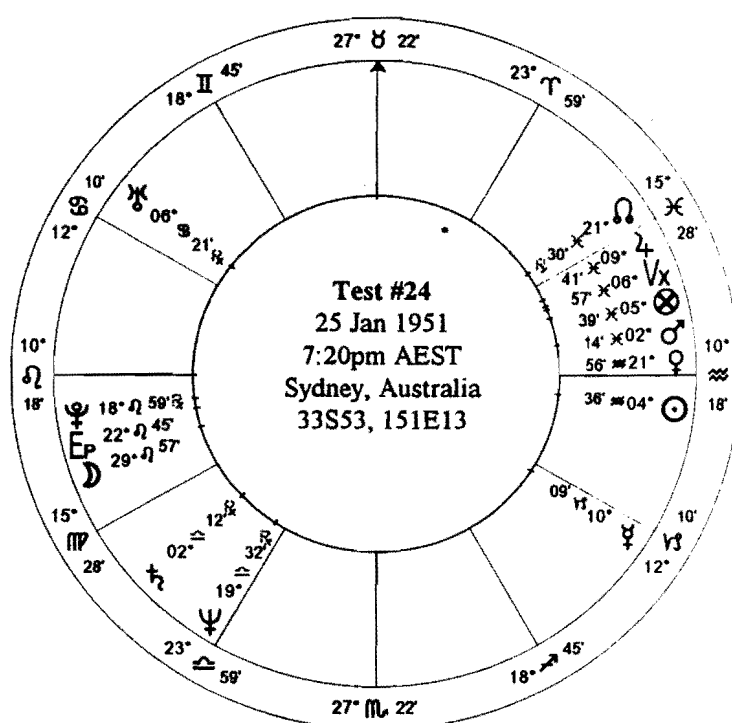

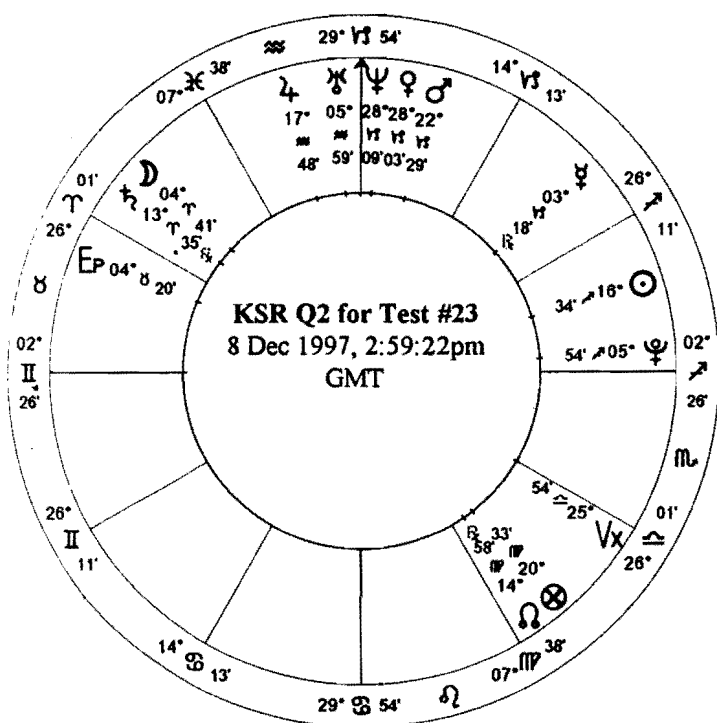

The 24th Annual Synodic Return set for London had the Sun conjunct Uranus(= change) and the Ascendant conjunct Pluto. Obviously an important year. The Angles for Sydney were not significant.

The Prenatal 24th Annual Synodic Return set for London had Venus at 9Cap28 conjunct the Descendant at 9Cap12, and the Sun conjunct Jupiter. This conjunction in an annual synodic return is very favourable, so it was a great year. Again the Angles for Sydney were not significant.

The 24th Annual Lunar Return set for London had the Ascendant at 27Cap10 closely conjunct the Natal 9th Koch Cusp, and opposite Saturn at 28Can28. Saturn in an otherwise favourable year may indicate that the principal event has something to do with leaving or giving up something—in this case his home of nearly twenty years.

The Q1 KSR, set for London, had the Sun conjunct the 9th Cusp and sextile Jupiter which ruled the 9th and was conjunct the Natal MC. The Q2 KSR set for London [see Chart next page] had the MC at 29Cap49 conjunct Venus at 28Cap3 and Neptune 28Cap9, all conjunct the Natal 9th Koch Cusp (but not the Placidian Cusp), and Pluto conjunct the Descendant.

In no less than five Annual Charts was there an emphasis on the 9th Cusp, and this, together with the favourable indications especially the Solar conjunctions in the Annual Synodic Returns, I would have interpreted as a favourable change involving a long journey or far-away places.

It is also interesting that it was the Koch (or Regiomontanus) Cusps that were significant, and not the Placidus.

Yet again this Test shows the importance of considering only the most significant indications, but in as many Annual Charts as possible. So to the next Test:

New Test, No. 24

In the next column is the Birth Chart of a woman born on 25 January 1951, at 7:20pm AEST in Sydney (33S53, 151E13).

What happened to her, in Sydney, on 28 January 1984? She was an unemployed part-time art teacher, and an unsuccessful artist. She was single.

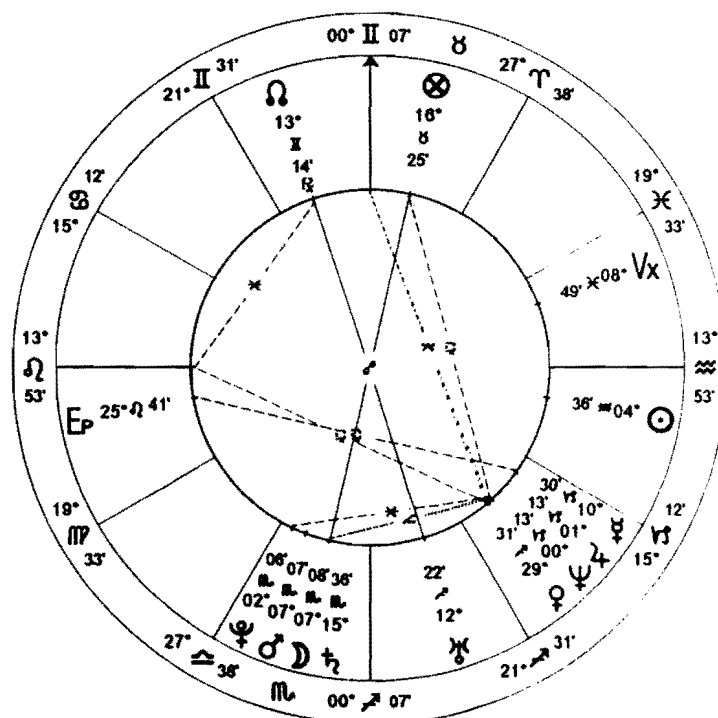

Thanks again to Ross for finding the Test material and writing his comprehensive commentary on the results.

To give readers plenty of time (over six weeks) to consider their answers, the closing date for entries to this Test No.23 will be Friday, 25 September next. Please send your answers either direct to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW Australia 2074, or to me by e-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au.

Give an astrological basis to your answer in a few sentences. There is no need to quote ALL the supporting factors you can see.

Readers who do not have the computer and program facilities to calculate all the charts mentioned in the article above should not lose heart but see what they can derive from just one chart—say the Solar Return or the Lunar Return. It is the effort put into the interpretation that brings the rewards of increased astrological insight and skill. Writing out your answer instead of just thinking it will give the greatest benefit as it requires precision. As a help, here is the Standard Solar Return Chart of 25 Jan 1984 for Test No.24. See what you can make of it.

I should be pleased to have suggestions for any improvements in our conducting of these Tests (or in any other aspect of Astrologers' Forum).

My kind regards to all. —Dymock. 9th August 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 204 July 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

TEST NO.21—RESULTS

Report by Ross Harvey

There were seven entries for Test 21 but none was correct. In March 1962 the lady left by ship for a long stay in England. She met a man on the voyage and subsequently became engaged to him. Congratulations to Marion Mendez who was partially right when she said 'the lady fell in love!'. Lea Breuer-Kantor also mentioned marriage or engagement among many possibilities.

The first step should be to ascertain whether the event was favourable or otherwise. In the second half of March Jupiter transited over the Descendant. This was most likely to have been positive. Furthermore if the Secondary Angles were progressed with the Solar Arc in Right Ascension, the Progressed Ascendant was exactly opposite Natal Jupiter. Jupiter contacts would have been positive, and the lady said she was "very happy".

I used to think that there had to be one correct method for progressing the Angles of all charts, but I now think that one has to find the method that works best for the chart in question. In the present case, the Solar Arc in Right Ascension gives by far the best results.

The annual charts give both positive and negative indications. That is why it is important to find out if the event is positive or not. The period has been found to be positive, so we should now look only at the positive indications in the charts.

The Solar Return has Pluto conjunct the 9th Cusp, and the Moon, ruling the 7th, trine the Node.

The Precessed Solar Return has MC conjunct both Jupiter and Saturn, with all trine Venus ruling the 7th (the MC almost exactly). The Moon is conjunct the 9th Cusp, trine Uranus on the 5th, with Uranus conjunct both the Node and the Radical Ascendant.

The Prenatal Solar Return has the Node conjunct the 9th Cusp and opposite Pluto, which rules the 7th.

In the Q1 KSR, Venus ruling the 9th is conjunct the Radical Sun, and Jupiter is conjunct the EP.

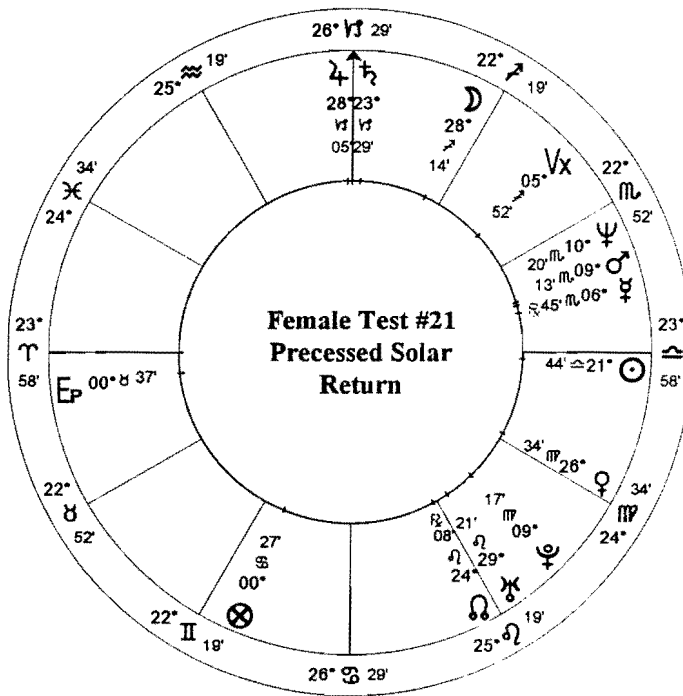

In the Prenatal Q1 KSR the Moon is conjunct the 9th and Jupiter ruling the 9th is conjunct the Radical

In This Issue...

	Page
Results of Test No.21	1
Best Chart for Test No.21	2
The Warnings of Fire.....	2
Shark Attack! An Extraordinary Chart.....	3
Results of Test No. 22.....	4
New Test No.23.....	4

MC.

In the 22nd Synodic Return the Sun, which rules the 7th, is conjunct Pluto, the 9th Cusp is conjunct the

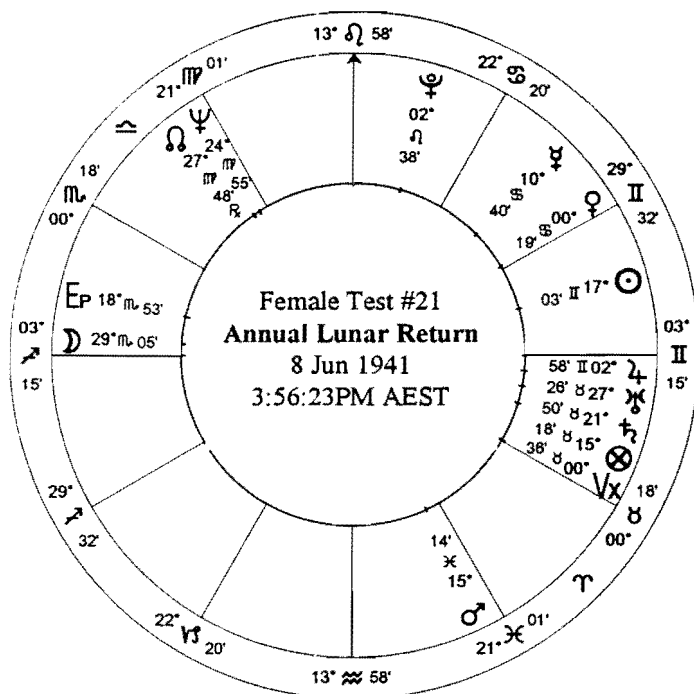

15 Oct 1961 6:15:06 PM AEST
Sydney NSW 33S53 151E06
Koch Cusps Mean Node

Radical Sun, and Venus ruling the 9th is conjunct the Radical Ascendant.

In the Prenatal Synodic Return the Sun is conjunct Venus on the 9th Cusp.

In the (Annual) 22nd Lunar Return (on the 8th of June 1941) the Moon ruling the 9th is conjunct the Ascendant, opposite Jupiter and Uranus on the 7th, with Uranus trine the Node and square the Radical Ascendant, and the Part of Fortune is conjunct the

Sydney, 33S53 151E06 Koch Cusps Mean Node

Radical 9th Cusp. Margaret Millard was correct when she said there was a break-up of a relationship—the Q2 KSR, for instance, had MC conjunct Mars and square the Node—but it was not the event in March. The engagement was broken off later in the year.

The Node is prominent in most of the Annual Charts, as is appropriate for a relationship.

This one was not easy. It was not a straightforward event, and the waters were muddled by an event of a different nature which occurred later in the same year. However, it is just the sort of event a client would seek advice about: "I am planning to go to England. Shall I, and what will happen?" is a very common question. ■

The Best Chart for Test No.21

Thanks to Ross for his comprehensive review above of the various Charts relating to this (difficult) Test. Ross advocates using as many relevant charts as possible to find the answer.

It is a question which one was the most indicative of the two events—(1) going on a sea-voyage from Australia to England, and (2) becoming engaged on the way. All the above Charts have indications for one or the other, but the one that shows both clearly (in hindsight!) is the Monthly Synodic, or Moon/Sun Phase Return for the month 9th March—8th April 1962. It appears in the next column.

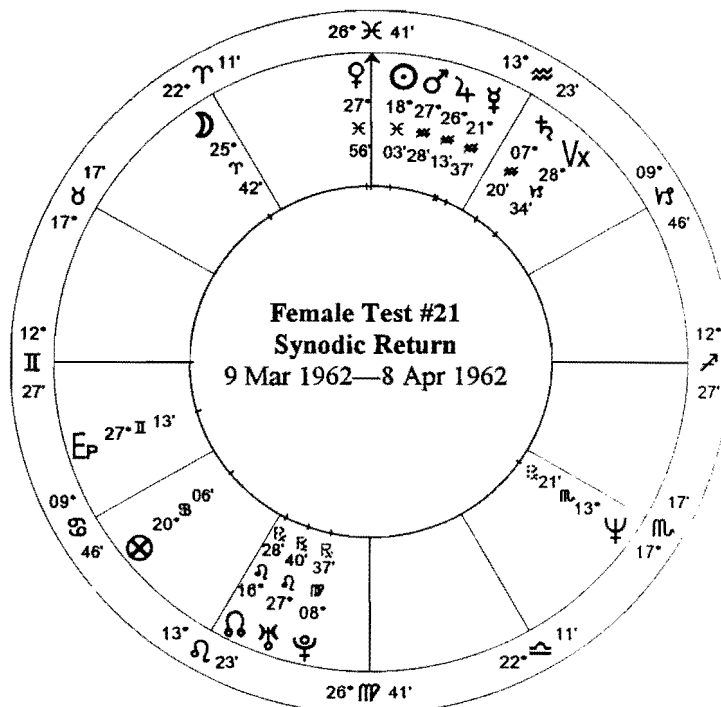

The accumulation of significant planets in the 9th House (including the Ruler, Mercury) immediately suggests long-distance travel.

The position of the planet of love, Venus, closely conjunct the upper Meridian and ruling the House of Love and Romance, is an equally cogent indication of the shipboard romance. This is supported by the conjunction of the Natal Sun (21Lib26 with the 5th Cusp (22Lib11)—a man in her life!

It's so easy when you look back on it!

Inability to find the correct answer to this Test should not discourage participants. It was a difficult one, and your Editor was no more successful than anyone else. The real value of the exercise lies in the increased astrological skill that results from the concentrated work necessary to derive a solution. So keep going on the Tests, and empower yourselves!

9 Mar 1962 12:38:11pm AEST
Sydney NSW 33S53 151E06

—Dymock.

The Warnings of Fire by Elva Howson

The Natal Chart for Domingas (last Issue) does not offer an immediately visual warning of danger from fire, however, as our Editor pointed out in Issue 198 of January this year, in the case of a murdered 10-year old, the parallels of declination should always be examined. In the Natal Chart for Domingas we find Mars parallel Asc (orb 17'). This contact alone is, without doubt, a warning of potential danger involving accidents—by steel (cuts, surgery) and, of course, fire.

Mars is also contraparallel Neptune (7') and the Sun (37', applying). By Secondary Progression that orb had narrowed to 4' at death. Mars is also sesquiquadrate the Neptune/Sun conjunction within 2°, and opposite the Vertex, the karmic/fateful point though by the wider orb of 4°43'.

The combined link-up of the Ascendant, Vertex, Sun, Neptune and Mars we could reasonably interpret as a threat to the life force through accidental fire causing smoke and poisonous fumes (carbon monoxide)*.

I want to mention the quincunx between the EP and Pluto as I have found in 13 out of the 15 cases of disastrous fires/severe burns I have to hand that there exists a natal Aspect between these two. Maybe Pluto is the ruler of Aries as some astrologers believe, or could we conclude that the interaction indicates a potential for some disfigurement (Pluto) of the physical body (EP)?

Should there be any doubt in readers' minds that the Natal Sun/Neptune conjunction was in fact the actual indicator of death by asphyxia one has only to check the Lunar Eclipse prior to death (4 April 1996). This powerful indicator (trigger) fell across 14°30' Aries/Libra in the Natal 4th/10th axis, very closely square Natal Sun/Neptune and the Ascendant.

For further evidence that these degree areas held high focus for the little girl following her 5th birthday it is informative to view her January '96 Solar Return on a bi-wheel with her Natal Chart.

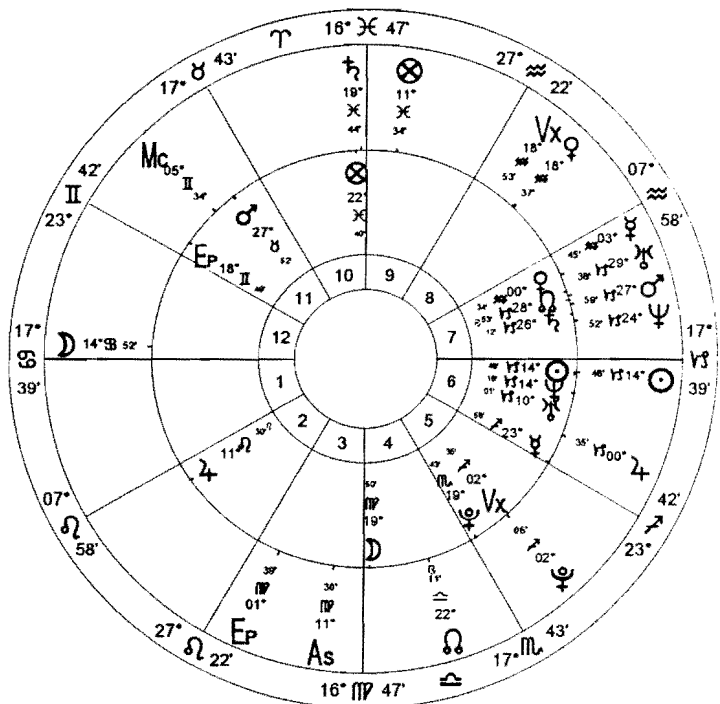

With SR planets on the outer wheel we see the SR Moon (14°Can52') conjunct the Natal Ascendant and opposite Sun/Neptune, with close orbs. When the Eclipse occurred it formed a Grand Cross at mid-Cardinals with the Bi-wheel. Also note that the SR Mars/Jupiter midpoint (often associated with large fires) is tightly holding this position in Capricorn as is SR Jupiter/Uranus (sudden release). Both Midpoints being closely involved with the Sun, Moon, Neptune and the Eclipse suggests that perhaps her little heart gave out quickly from the smoke and fumes.

We also note the SR Vertex square the SR Asc/Mars (fire) with SR Mars activating it's own Natal place, by close trine, and conjunct both Uranus and Neptune. These latter two planets are parallel within 4' of the Natal Vertex, indicating an unforeseen drama. As mentioned earlier, parallels should be checked in all charts, and in Solar Returns they are especially important when outer planets are within a few minutes.

By transposing the Natal Planets to the outer wheel we see Natal Vertex conjunct SR Pluto, both conjunct the 4th SR Cusp, and a double reinforcement from the

Inner Wheel Birth Chart of
Domingas van der Velde
5 Jan1991 4:56pm CET -1:00
Dirksland, 51N44 4E6

Outer Wheel
Solar Return 5 Jan 1996
at Birth Place

SR Vertex square Natal Pluto, which is also conjunct SR Ascendant/Mars. Also note that once again there is a square Aspect between SR EP and Pluto, reinforcing the natal potential! ■

*Elva writes, "During a personal discussion with a fireman from our local brigade it was confirmed that many fatalities in house fires, are in fact due to the inhalation of carbon monoxide and other poisonous fumes given off from burning wood and furnishings, etc. Many victims die due to such smoke and fumes some time before their body is actually burned. In fact, he stated that corpses have been recovered showing only minor and, in some cases, no evidence of actual burns.

"I know this is a technicality but from the astrological viewpoint it explains why some victims of house fires have a strong focal Neptune! I found a similar technicality in drownings. Some victims die due to hypothermia (e.g., falling overboard in cold ocean water) rather than from water-filled lungs (e.g., swimming in a river)."

[Elva appeals to readers for extra data with reliable birthtimes, not only for fires but also for drownings, plane crashes, cot deaths, vehicle deaths and major injuries.]

SHARK ATTACK!

An Extraordinary Chart

One of the rare fatalities from shark attack in Australian waters occurred less than a week ago off South Neptune Island near Port Lincoln on the South Australian coast. 26-year-old Doug Cheshier, diving in a wet suit for abalone, was attacked by a huge white-pointer shark less than three metres from the shore. With heroic bravery his mate jumped into the water and pulled him out but Chesher died quickly from shock and loss of blood.

The Chart for the estimated time of the tragedy, 2:15pm on 28th June is quite extraordinary in its stark relevance: This is an event chart, and the shark being the aggressor is represented by the Ascendant. The victim, Doug Chesher, is represented by the Descendant. The Significator of the shark, therefore, is Pluto, Ruler of Scorpio—most singularly appropriate for a fearsome predator of the deep. What is even more striking is that Venus, Significator of Chesher, is directly opposite to Pluto, and both planets form a T-Square with the Moon's North and South Nodes. This is a well-known and recognized indication of death in a Horary Chart.

Looking further, we see that Neptune is right on the Cusp of the House of Terminations, a striking correlation with the name of the place, Neptune Island, where the tragedy occurred. Not only that, but Neptune is almost exactly squared by Saturn, Ruler of portent.

Venus in the double-bodied Sign, Gemini, is indicative of the two fisherman, Chesher and his mate. Mercury, the Dispositor of Venus, is the saviour (Mercury trine Jupiter) who pulled Chesher from the water. His bravery is adequately depicted by the close semi-sextile of Mars. The mate himself suffered from shock as would be expected and this, too, is indicated by Uranus, planet of shock and suddenness, being Angular, parallel the Ascendant (17S49'/17S13') and trine the Midpoint of Mars and Venus (14Gem24).

This ominous astrological Figure is as clear an indicator as could be imagined of the extreme danger of entering that particular stretch of water at that time.

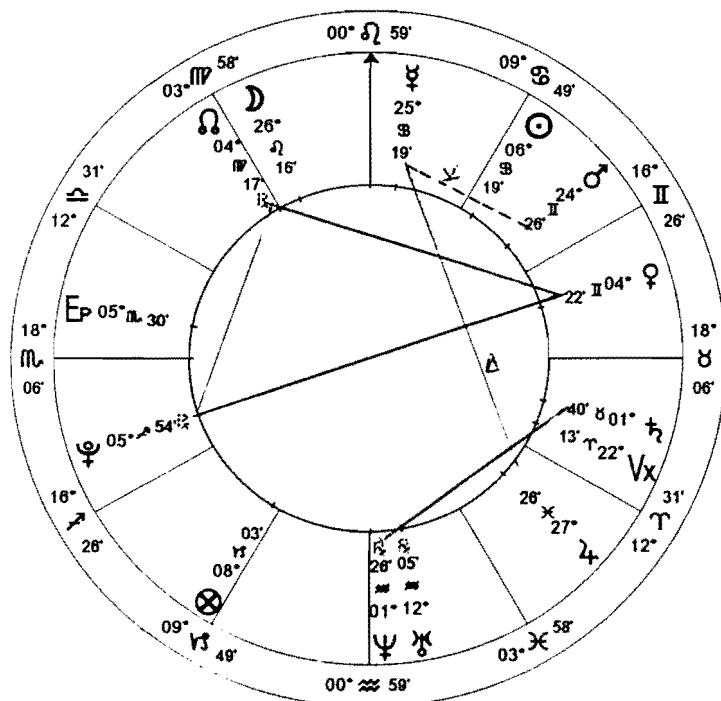

One wonders, had the fishermen been warned, would they have heeded the warning? Probably not, unless they were astrologically informed and understood the remarkable and constant correlation between things terrestrial and things celestial. Ignorance and lack of awareness carries its own penalty, which is sometimes dreadful in its consequences.

Fatal shark attacks in South Australian waters are relatively few. In the last 72 years only ten people have died in this way. However, a few areas are notoriously dangerous because they are feeding grounds for the sharks, one such being Neptune Island where the great white pointer preys on the sea lions that inhabit the coast.

—Dymock.

Shark Attack 28 June 1998
South Neptune Island,
South Australia
34 S47 135E52.

Koch Cusps
Mean Node

the House that Neptune occupies. I have commented before in these pages on the double efficacy of an Aspect involving a planet in a House connected with the planetary ruler of that House. Neptune on the Angular 4th Cusp, in Square with Saturn, is a dire

Results of Test No.22 (Knezt)

Rudolf Smit supplies the correct matchings:

A = 4, B = 2, C = 5, D = 3, E = 1

There were 18 participants. No one scored five correct. Only two astrologers scored three correct. Most had only one correct. There was a participant from Taiwan, who initially scored one correct, but at a second try (not valid for the Test) he had all five correct. However, he did not use astrology but some old Chinese divination system, called "tsu-wei-dour-su".

(A further Report will follow)

New Test, No.23

A man born at 5:30pm GMT in London on 14 November 1973 came to live in Australia as a young child, following his parents' divorce. He is a sound engineer and musician, and is single. What happened to him on 15 February 1998 in Sydney, where he was living? [London, 51N30, 000W10. Sydney 151E10, 33S52. Birth Chart ASC 9Gem12, MC 13Aqu32]

Answers, please, by 29 July '98 to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW Australia 2074, or to me by email [dymock@ozemail.com.au].

—Dymock, 30 June 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 203 June 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

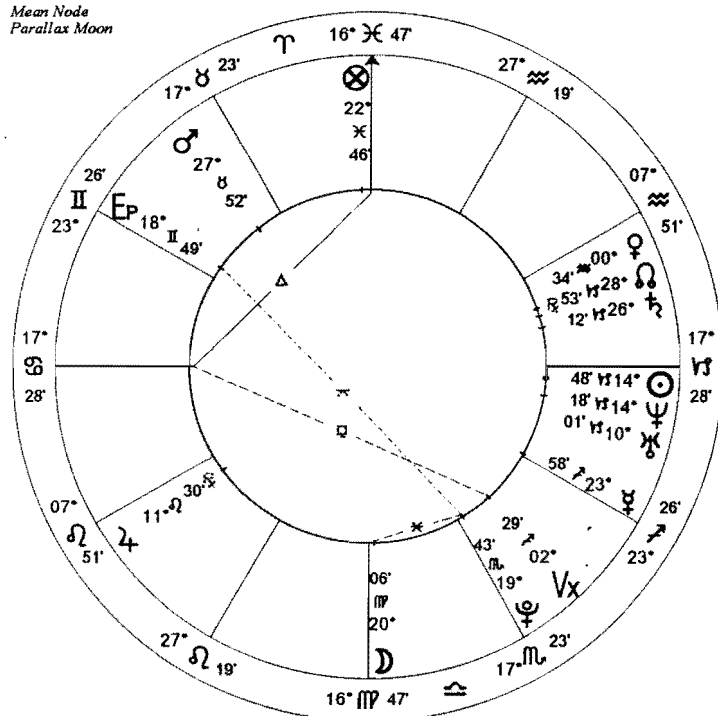

Where are the Warnings of Fire?

Readers will recall the sad story of Jan van der Velde of the Netherlands (Astrologers' Forum Issue 201, April '98) who lost his wife and two young daughters in a fire on 25th April 1996. The daughters were only four and five years old. Here is the Birth Chart of the elder daughter, Domingas:

Domingas van der Velde
5 Jan 1991, 4:57pm CET, -1hr
Dirksland, Holland, 4E6, 51N44

Koch Cusps
Parallax Moon
Mean Node

Mean Node
Parallax Moon

Every parent would want to know if their child stood in any danger from fire, whether life-threatening or not. Here, a little daughter died.

Where are the indications? There is only one planet in a Fire Sign—Mercury, square to the Part of Fortune, (orb 1°12') and the Moon (orb 3°52'), Ruler of the Chart. True, the Moon is on the terminal 4th Cusp, and Mercury on the Health Cusp. But this is a matter of life and death, not health.

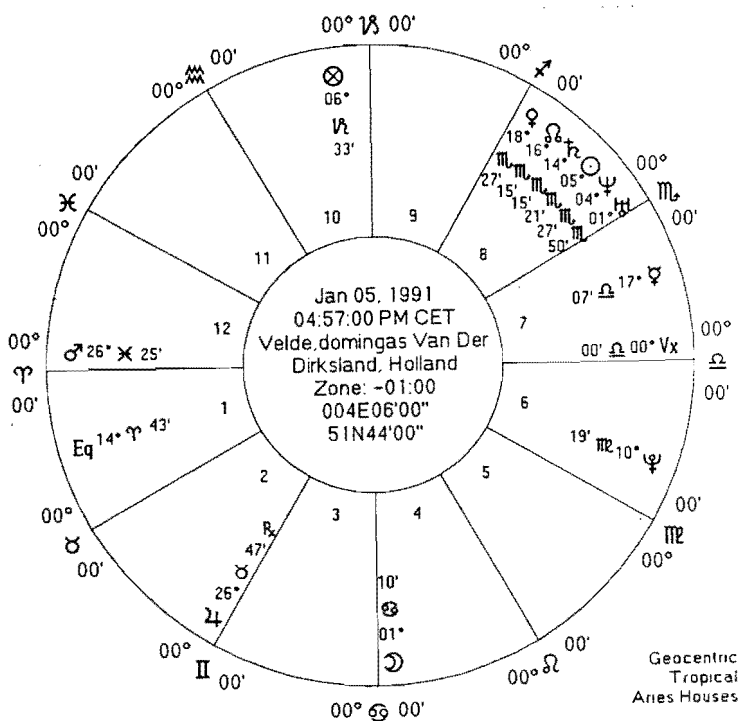

Mars, planetary signifier of fire, is square to the Moon's Nodes, and this is further evidence of my finding, previously mentioned in these pages, that the Node does enhance the meaning of any planet that it contacts in addition to its connection with relationships. A further (slight) indication is the Vertex in a Fire Sign and very closely sesquare to the Rising Degree.

But is this sufficient? The little girl died! She really died from smoke inhalation and super-heated air in her lungs (Sun conjunct Neptune, almost exact).

In This Issue...

	Page
Where are the Warnings of Fire?	1
Observation of the Moon's Nodes, Eclipses and Chiron in personal relationships	2
Extension of time for Test No.21	3
Test No. 22.....	4
Five Charts for Test No. 22	4

Once again we see that the HORIZON Chart is here a more powerful indicator than the standard Zodiacal Chart. The Horizon Chart, the invention of Michael Erlwine who named it "Local Space Chart", has the planets ranged around the local horizon instead of being portrayed in the Zodiacal belt. (This Chart can be printed out from either Nova or Blue Star.) Here it is:

The Signs in the Horizon Chart have no meaning other than for reading Aspects and establishing House position of the planets.

Now, Mars is rising just above the Eastern point (equivalent to the Ascendant) and is in very close Aspect to Jupiter. Jupiter—Mars is much associated with fires, and here Mars rules the House of Death.

The three Malefics, Saturn, Neptune and Uranus are besieging the Sun in the 8th House, and two of them, plus the Sun are connected to the Moon by trine aspect.

The indications here are indeed much more vivid than in the Standard Chart, and the overall picture is a distinct warning of an early death, probably by the effects of fire

—Dymock.

Observation of Moon's Nodes, Eclipses, and Chiron in Personal Relationships

by Lilian Erskine

For some time now I have been very curious about the less-well documented points in astrological charts, such as the Vertex, the Nodes, Chiron, etc. Your comments about the Nodes being active in forming close personal relationships and ties caused me to take a fresh look at the influences in my own life, and I was astonished at the correspondences I found from these bodies. At all the major junctures of relationship formation or breaking, throughout my life, one or more of these factors was prominent, with or without the supporting influence of Transits from the outer planets.

For example, when I finally found the courage to confront my husband re a divorce, the only really close Aspects were ♀♂♀/♂ and ♂♂♂!

Also prominent were eclipses on the axes or personal planets, along with the usual outer-planet Transits to the major points and personal planets.

The combination of stellar influences is astounding, and taken together each significant planetary grouping gives a very holistic view of the events taking place at that time.

I would be interested to know of other readers' experiences of these phenomena—either in Transit, or in inter-chart Aspects. [Readers please respond.—Ed.]

The following Transits of my Birth Chart (below) occurred at highly significant times in the forming or breaking up of important personal relationships:

Transits

October/December 1973:

♂♂♂ in 7th House. (N.B. ♀♂♀/♂ Cjn.)

♂♂♀ in 1st H., ♂♂♂ (within 30' of arc)

♀♂♂♂

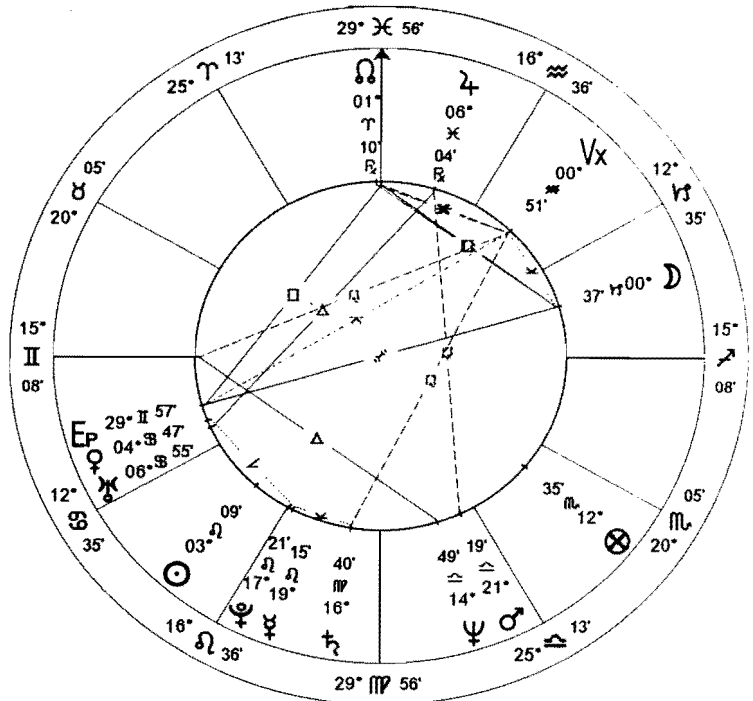

Dec.12 ♀♂♂ on the Asc/Dsc axis

Dec.24 ♀♂♂ in H.7 ♂♂♀

Events:

An emotional cataclysm occurred during this period—I introduced a new male acquaintance to another male friend of longstanding. The new male deliberately alienated my friend by creating a misleading impression about the nature of his relationship with me, leading to my friend's sudden disappearance from my life for a period of almost two years. During this period the new male made himself indispensable, and moved into my life in a very overwhelming way.

Late '74—'75: Although missing the former friend very desperately, I was unable to trace him, and finally

Lilian, 27 July 1950
3:40am AEST
33S47'58"

Koch Cusps
Mean Node
Standard Moon

gave up hope of ever seeing him again. I managed to convince myself that any feelings that had existed between us were entirely a figment of my imagination, and finally gave into the other's continuous proposals of marriage, on the rebound.

Approximately two weeks prior to the wedding the former friend suddenly returned (St. ♀♂♀/♂♂♂), but although overjoyed at seeing him again, and desperate to call off the wedding, I failed to do so and was trapped in a loveless marriage for 18 years!

February 1984:

The first friend again disappeared without trace after the marriage, and did not reappear till 1984, after nearly losing his life in a motor vehicle accident.

At this time the following Transits were strong in my Chart:

♀♂♂♂, in H.5, Grand ♀♂♀/♂♂♂, ♀♂♀ and ♀♂♀ ♀♂♀, H.7, ♂♂♂♂
♂♂♂♂, entering H.7
♂♂♂♂ Asc.

Results:

At the time of the accident I had exceptionally vivid visions of it, although I did not know my friend's whereabouts, or who was involved.

It was an intensely emotional and cathartic experience as buried feelings and emotions resurfaced to be dealt with. I had the full realization that I did not and never had loved my husband.

There was no happy ending—this time the friend suddenly married on the rebound just as our paths crossed again, and he once again disappeared.

October '91:

♄♂Vx♂☉: Intense feeling of dislike towards husband, and realization that I would have to leave him.

March '92:

At the time of my instigating the separation there were no major Transits of any Radical planetary positions, other than the following—

♄♂♀/♄
♄♂☉
♄, Rlr.H.7, ♄♀/♄

Another relationship, much happier and more enduring and captivating than any prior ones, commenced in 1988, and is still on-going.

Apart from the usual inter-chart Aspects indicating attraction, the partners also have this in common:

Lilian: ♄16♂♂Dsc. ♄☐♂/♀Oppsn.

Male: ♄13♄♂♀ ♄♂♀.

My Part of Marriage is opposite his Moon.

Our North Nodes are each conjunct the other's Sun
(in a double whammy!)

My Dsc. Ruler (♄) is conjunct his ♄.

His Dsc. Ruler (♄) is conjunct my Asc. Ruler (♄).

At the first meeting, during 1988, the following Transits were at work:

Lilian: ♄, ♄♂♂ in H.7 ♄♂♀ in H.1.

Male: ♄♂♀ ♄♂♀.

February—June '98:

Currently the following Transits are occurring, or due to occur in the very near future:

Lilian: Eclipse (8♄), Feb.98, ♄♄♂♀/♄.

Lunation, June 98, 2♄, ♄♀♂♂.

Male: Eclipse (8♄), Feb.98, ♄♀(orb 4°).

♄13♄♂♀, Appl. ☐♄☐As.

♄13♄♂♀ ♄♂♀.

♄, in H.7, ♄Dsc☐♀♂♄.

Additionally, in September '98 there is an eclipse on his natal ♄13♄!

With all these influences yet to unfold, I am waiting breathlessly to see what eventuates in the coming year.

TEST NO. 22

Rudolf Smit of the Netherlands, Editor of the astrological journal Correlation, has sent me an article about the late eminent Dutch astrologer, Leo Knegt (1882—1957). Knegt achieved fame in 1933 following his strikingly accurate results in a special astrological Test set for him involving the interpretation of ten horoscopes).

Rudolf has suggested that we take some five of the Charts used in the Knegt Test and ask readers to match them correctly with the descriptions (mostly Knegt's interpretations) of the five people concerned.

Here are descriptions of the five subjects, all of them male:

No. 1: A public and typically social figure; a well-known speculator; a big spender; a short-lived role as an author. Solid relationships in political and economic circles. He had a marked ascent in life followed by an inglorious end.

No. 2: A pushy, very dominating person, hedonistic, egotistic, sarcastic; proud; a muddled mind; narrow in his ideas, marked vanity; wishes to play a role that is too far-reaching for him; likes to view himself as another Napoleon.

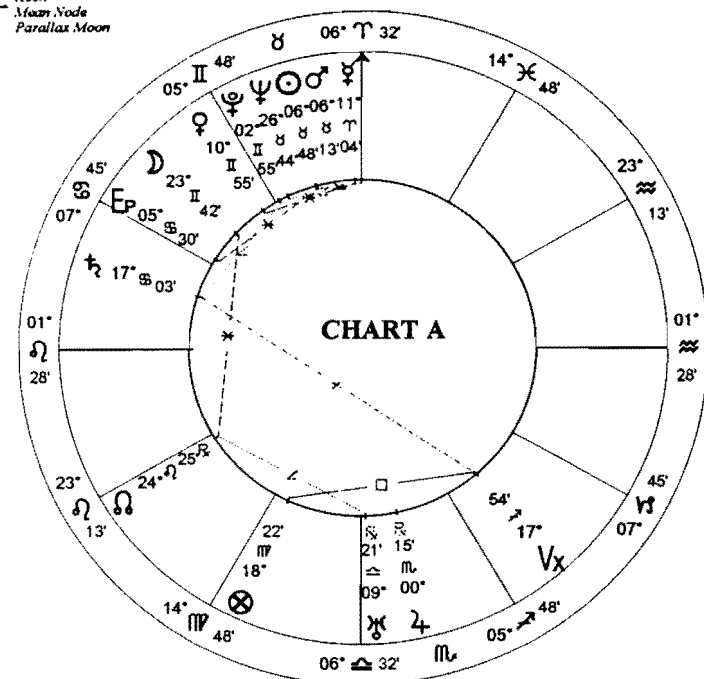

No. 3: A well-known personality, wishing to play an ambitious social role, striving for influence and leadership, often asked for executive jobs; prominence in finance and agriculture; Midas figure—everything in his hands turns to gold.

No. 4: A rambling, noisy personality, a windbag creating a reputation due to his clown-like traits. More promising than he eventually turned out to be. Little self-criticism.

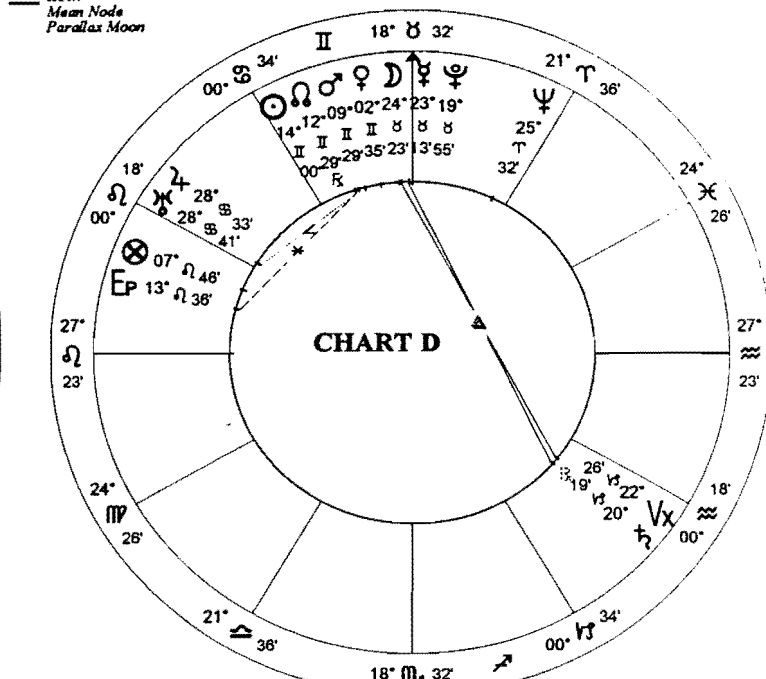

No. 5: Great weakness and apathy. Many financial setbacks. Prone to be exploited, deceived and robbed; having given away his fortune he ended up very poor and only survived thanks to his relatives. Victim of his own great generosity. Negatively fated as regards contacts with the female sex. No chance of obtaining a happy and satisfactory experience in this respect. Mental disturbances resulting in long-term admission to psychiatric institutions.

The Test: Your task, to answer this Test, is to match the five horoscopes appearing on the following page with the descriptions above. (No.1 with A, etc.). Send your answers in by 25 June to: Rudolf Smit, De Bes 9, 7722 PD Dalfsen, The Netherlands. Or to rhsmit@worldonline.nl

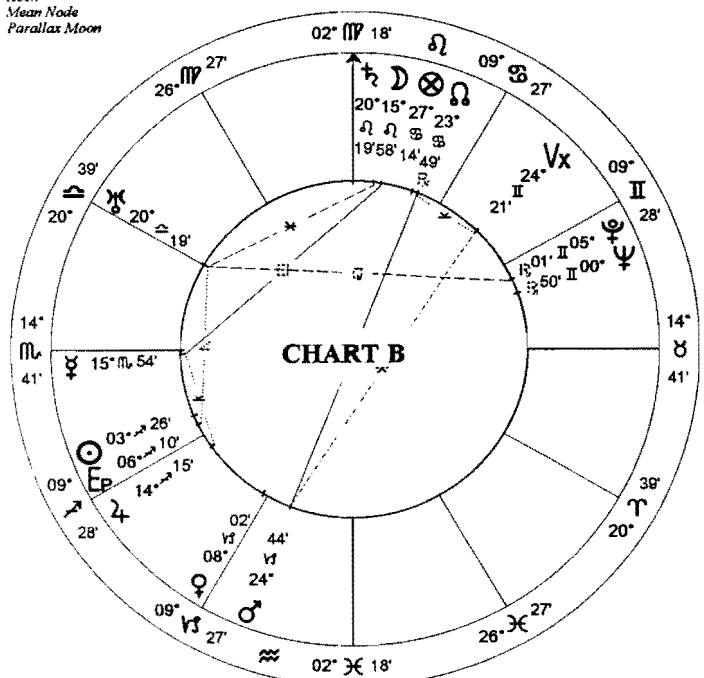

Koch
Mean Node
Parallax Moon

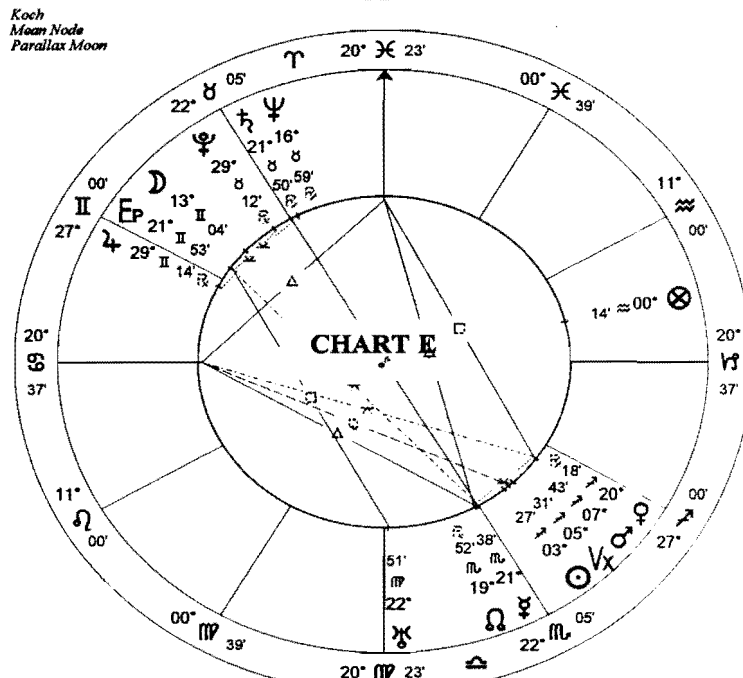

Koch
Mean Node
Parallax Moon

Koch
Mean Node
Parallax Moon

Koch
Mean Node
Parallax Moon

Koch
Mean Node
Parallax Moon

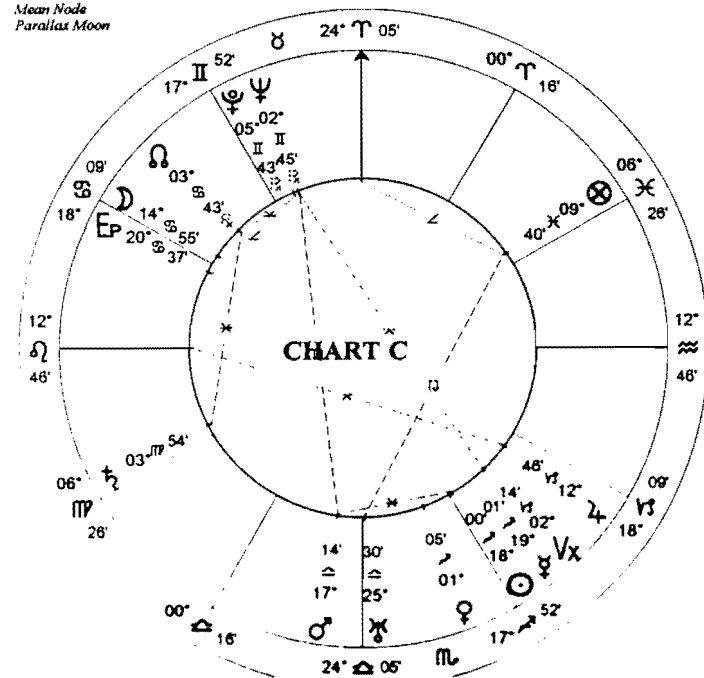

CHART A: 27 April 1887, GMT 9:44 52N22, 4E56.

CHART B: 25 Nov. 1888, GMT 5:39 52N22, 4E56

CHART C: 9 Dec. 1889, GMT 19:57 52N05, 4E18

CHART D: 4 June 1872, GMT 9:42 46N57, 7E26

CHART E: 25 Nov. 1882, GMT 18:46:30 52N22, 4E56

All Charts are calculated with Koch Cusps, Mean Node, and the Moon corrected for parallax error.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 202 May 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

TEST NO.20: THE RESULTS

Report by Ross Harvey

There were four entries for Test No. 20, which was to find what happened on 3rd November 1989 to a woman born on 16th October 1939, 3am Australian Eastern Standard Time (=5pm GMT on 15 Oct 1939), at Sydney, 33S53, 151E06.

The event was the death of the lady's husband.

Congratulations to Dymock Brose and Marion Mendez, who were both right. Dymock based his conclusion on the 50th Annual Synodic Return, and Marion on the prenatal 50th Annual Synodic Return.

In a woman's chart the husband can be denoted by the ruler of the 7th House, or sometimes by the ruler of the 10th.

The Transit Solar Return was not very informative.

The Precessed Solar Return had Mars, Ruler of the 10th House, almost exactly square the 8th (Koch) Cusp.

The Q1 KSR had Mars, ruling the 8th, conjunct the Radical 8th Cusp.

The Prenatal Solar Return was more helpful with the Sun conjunct Uranus which ruled the 8th (Solar conjunctions in Solar Returns are obviously of great importance) and the MC in the Radical 8th House.

The 50th Lunar Return after birth (a very useful chart, but usually overlooked) had Saturn, ruling the 8th, closely conjunct the Ascendant, and sesquare the Natal Sun. Jupiter, ruling the 7th House, was closely conjunct Natal Pluto.

The 50th Synodic Return after birth (1 Nov.1943, 1:21:23am GMT, Sydney) had the Sun ruling the 7th House square Pluto and conjunct Mercury ruling the 8th, while Venus ruling the 4th was conjunct the 8th and exactly square Mars Co-Ruler of the 10th.

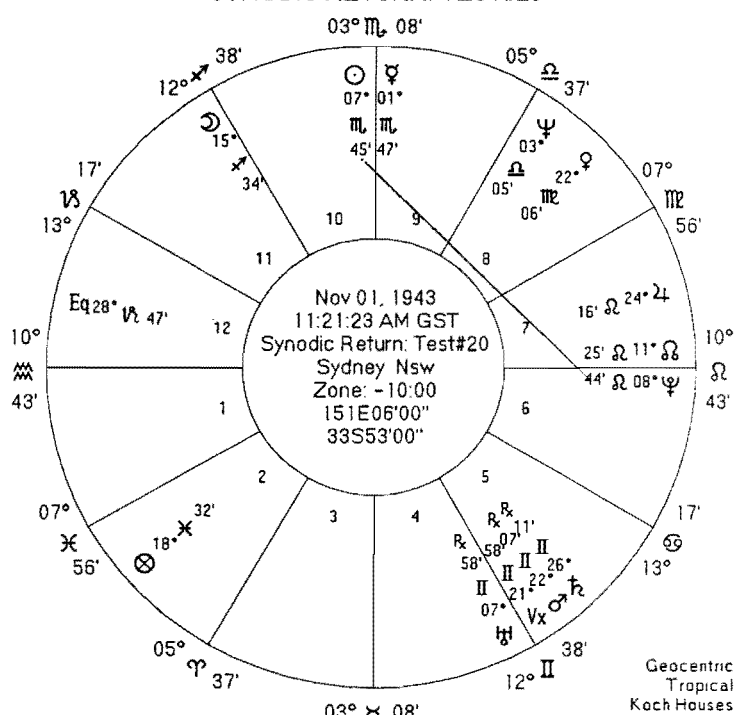

In the Prenatal 50th Synodic Return (10Oct1935, 2:29:54am GMT) Pluto was conjunct the 7th Cusp, and the Sun ruling the 8th House was in a Yod, quincunx both Saturn and Uranus.

As in previous Tests, the answer was given by the

In This Issue...

	Page
Test No. 20: The Results.....	1
New Test No. 21.....	1
History Made in Ireland.....	2
Australia's Water-Front Dispute.....	3
Astrology Foretells Government's Course	3
Response to Jan van Der Velde.....	4

SYNODIC RETURN: TEST#20

repetition of significant configurations in most of the annual charts, not just by indications in one chart, and not necessarily the usual solar return.

Thanks again to Ross for supervising this Test and and evaluating the answers. Here is the next one:

TEST NO. 21

This Test is still for the same woman (birth data above). Two significant and related events happened in March 1962. What were they?

Your answers should be in by May 20, which gives almost a fortnight for your investigations. Send them direct to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW Australia 2074, or to dymock@ozemail.com.au.

It is interesting how few astrologers send a response to these exercises. They are not designed as a competition, but to develop skill in applying practical Astrology, and they do search out weaknesses in one's understanding and techniques. Next month, we present a Test of a different type, submitted by Rudolf Smit of the Netherlands. The Exercise will be to match five Charts against five personalities. This should appeal to a lot of readers who perhaps find that the current type of Test is a little too difficult.

—Ed.

HISTORY MADE IN IRELAND

The most momentous event for decades in the political history of the United Kingdom is the signing of the Peace Accord in Belfast between Ulster and Eire—Northern Ireland, and the Irish Republic. Last month Allan Johnson wrote in these pages in relation to the Irish problem, "It now appears there is the possibility of a big break-through. This seems to be due to the emergence of a working compromise, and there could be a referendum in May to approve the whole process".

There is, indeed, a referendum to be held on May 22 for the ratification of the Peace Accord by both countries. Will this finally put an end to thirty years of bloodshed, murder and sectarian hatred?

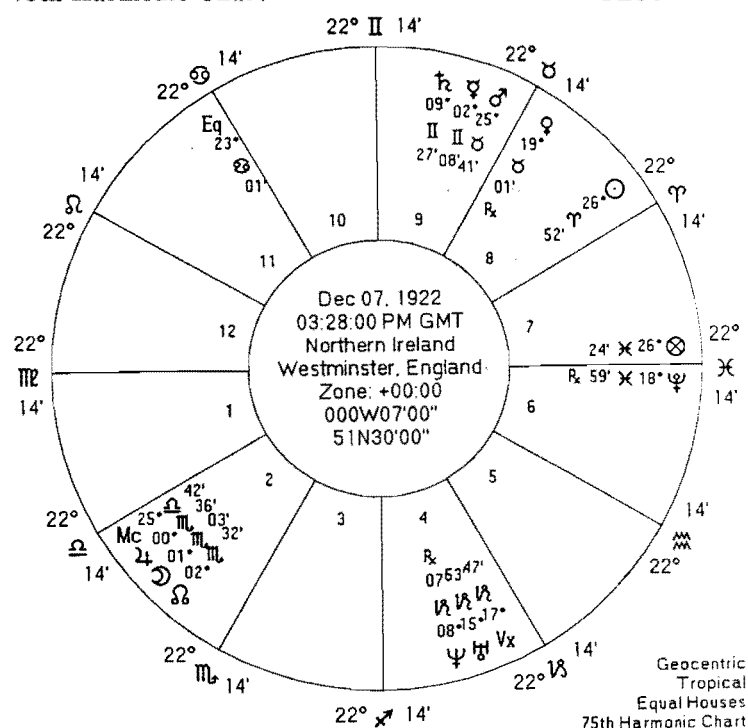

To answer this question I looked at the relevant Harmonics of the Charts of both Eire and Ulster. The Radix for Eire is 18 April 1949, 0:00am BST Dublin, 53°N20', 6°W15'. The Chart for Ulster appears on page 2 of last month's Issue (No. 201).

The 75th Harmonic of Ulster's Chart relates to the period 7 December 1997—7 December 1998. It appears in the next column. The most favourable indication is the conjunction of the Moon, the Moon's Node and Jupiter. The Moon stands for the people, Jupiter rules the 7th House (Unions), and the Node signifies an alliance. Pluto, just under the 7th Cusp is closely sextile to Venus ruling the 9th (international treaties). A further good augury is the Part of Fortune near the 7th Cusp—favourable for treating with other countries. A third plus is the Harmonic Equatorial Ascendant right on the 11th Cusp (a favourable placement). The difficulties in reaching the Agreement are shown by Mars, Mercury and Saturn in the 9th House.

Getting general approval for the Peace Accord will be more difficult in Eire. The 49th Harmonic relates to the period 18 April 1998—18 April 1999. The Moon, representing the mass of the people, suffers from a square to Mars, but on the other hand is Exalted in Taurus (peace) and very closely trine the Sun, ruling

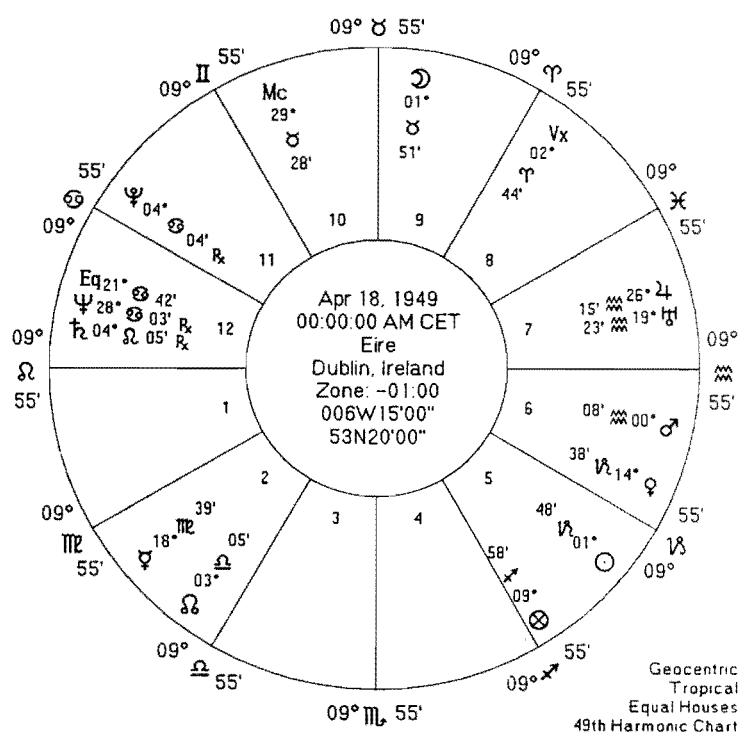

75th Harmonic Chart

ULSTER

49th Harmonic Chart

EIRE

the Ascendant. Moreover, Jupiter in the 7th House is in close sextile to the Natal Sun, Venus and the Moon, and closely trine to Natal Uranus, ruling the 7th. On the other hand, the Moon is square to Saturn, Co-Ruler of the 7th. Obviously, there are difficulties, but on balance it appears the Peace Agreement will hold.

—Dymock.

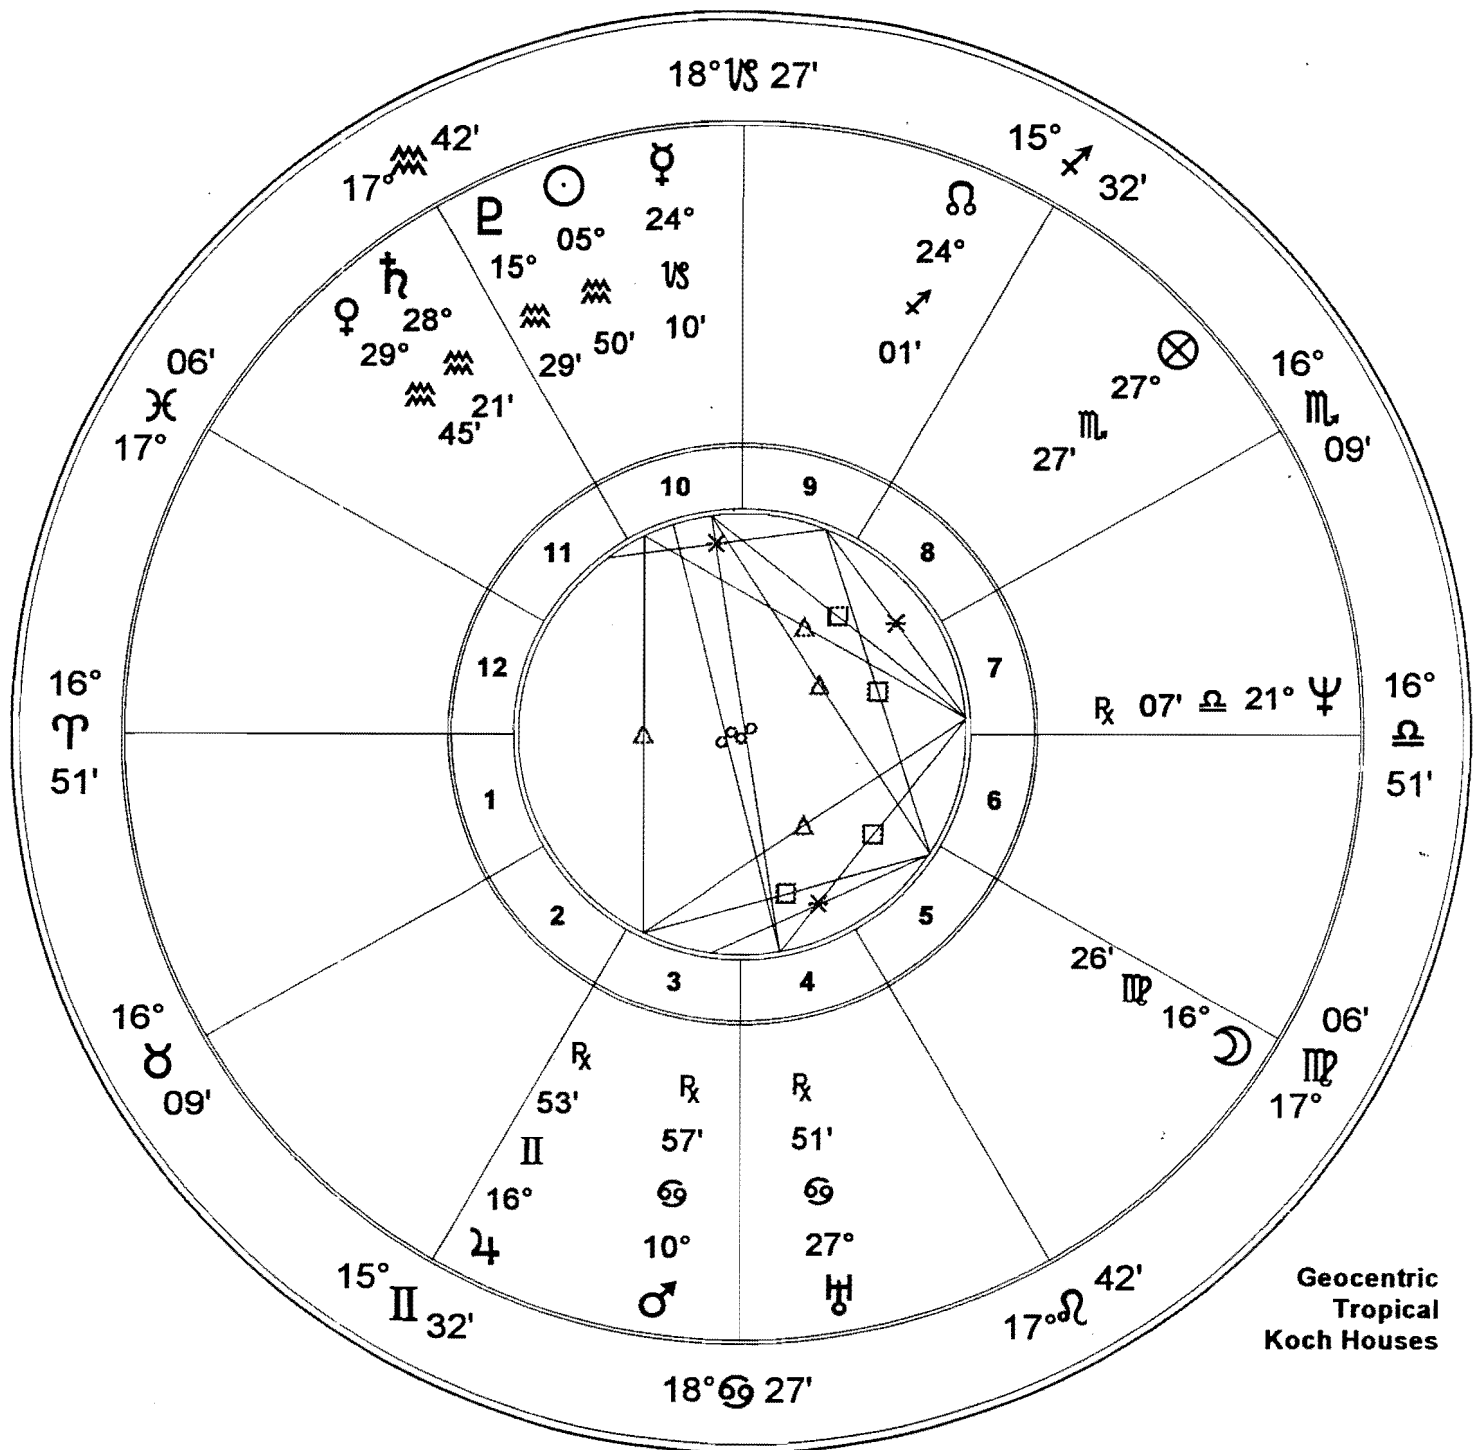

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?
ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

AUSTRALIA'S NATIONAL CHART

FOUNDATION 26 JANUARY 1788

11am LMT

Sydney Cove, 151°12' 30" E, 33°51'54" S.

This Chart is singularly appropriate to Australia and its people: Aries on the Ascendant typifies a land of heat, dryness and bushfires, with vast tracts of unproductive desert; the people enterprising and courageous in exploring and opening up the hinterland (Aries = Pioneer and Warrior). The strong Aquarian component accounts for the democratic ideals that guide our Parliaments and other political institutions. Capricorn at the Midheaven symbolizes the ambition, industry and business instinct that have produced our thriving economy. The Moon in Virgo represents the great mass of the workers, mostly formed into unions and having frequent recourse to the law (Moon Square Jupiter).

HARMONIC CHART FOR THE MONTH 26 APRIL—26 MAY 1998

Inner Wheel

Australia-Foundation/11am210.1667 Harmonic Chart

26 Jan 1788

11:00 AM LMT -10:04:50

Sydney Cove

33S51 54 151E12 30

Geocentric

Tropical

Equal

Mean Node

Outer Wheel

Australia-Foundation/11amNatal Chart

26 Jan 1788

11:00 AM LMT -10:04:50

Sydney Cove

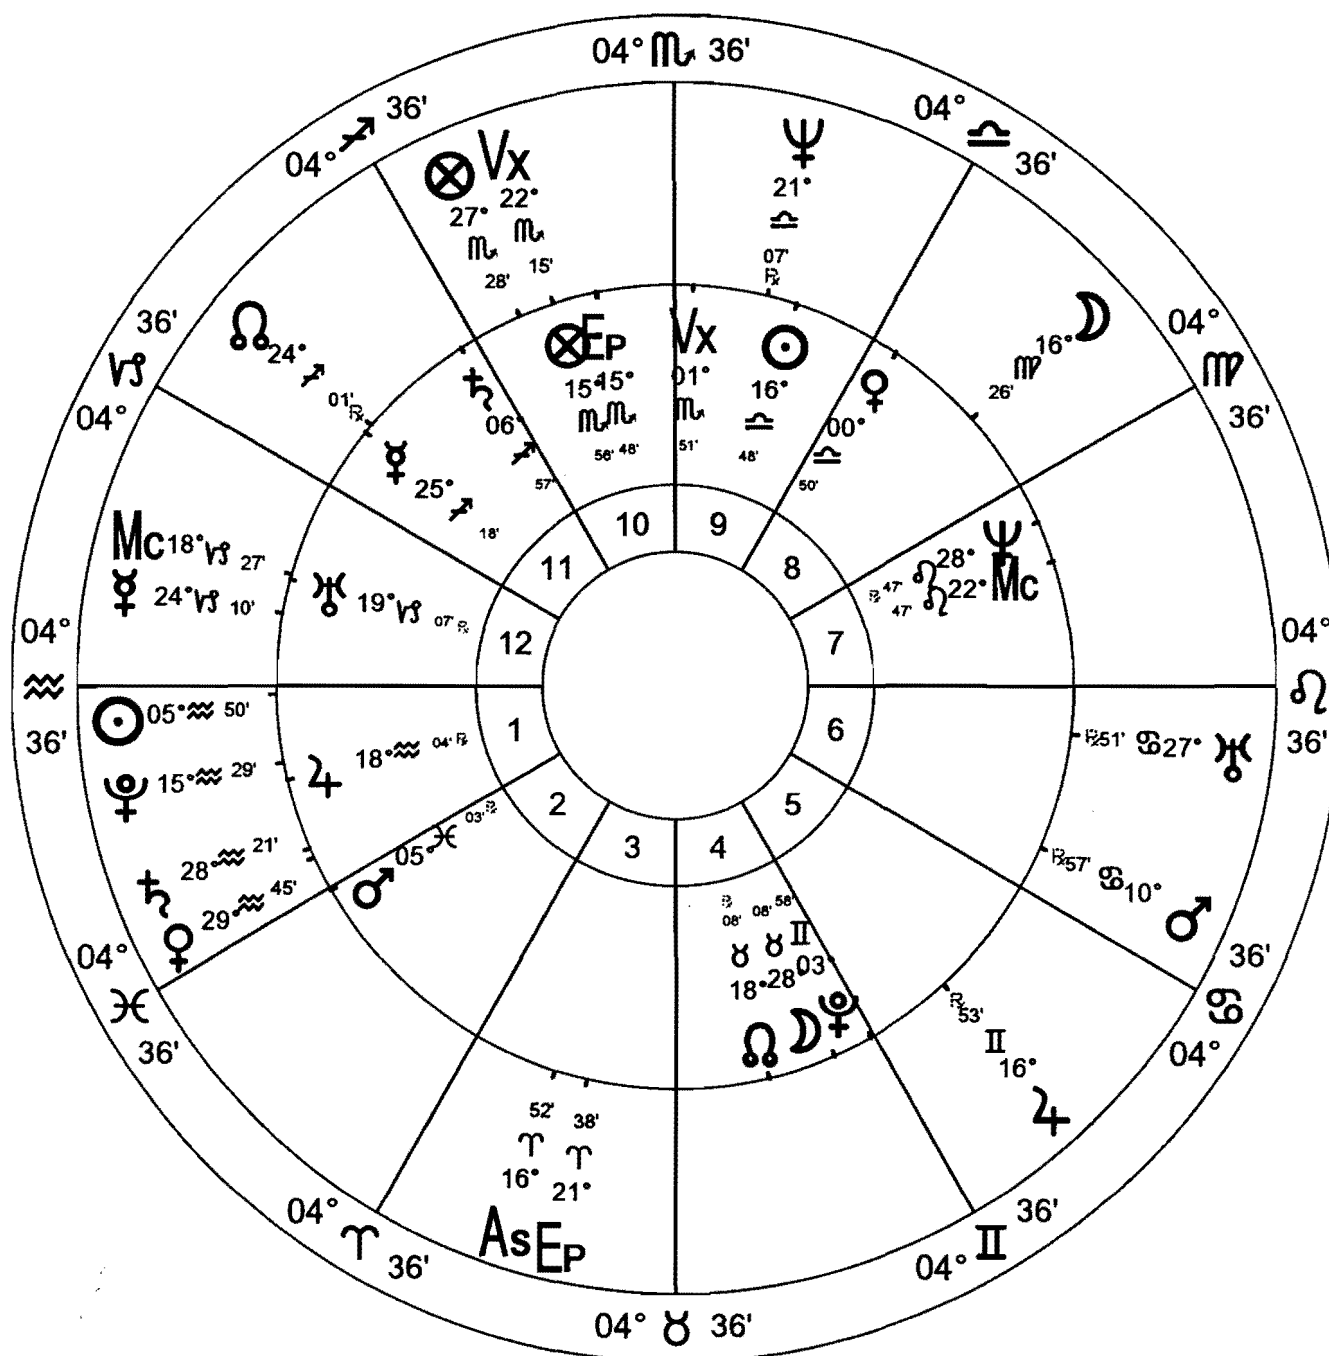

33S51 54 151E12 30

Geocentric

Tropical

Koch

Mean Node

Australia's Waterfront Dispute

On 7th April last a large stevedoring company in Melbourne, Patrick Stevedoring Pty. Ltd., sacked the whole of its work force, 1400 wharf labourers, with the aim of introducing a more efficient and productive operation. This provoked a violent reaction from the Maritime Union of Australia which blocked all mercantile activity on the wharves of all capital cities, threatening to maintain the blockade until the jobs were restored.

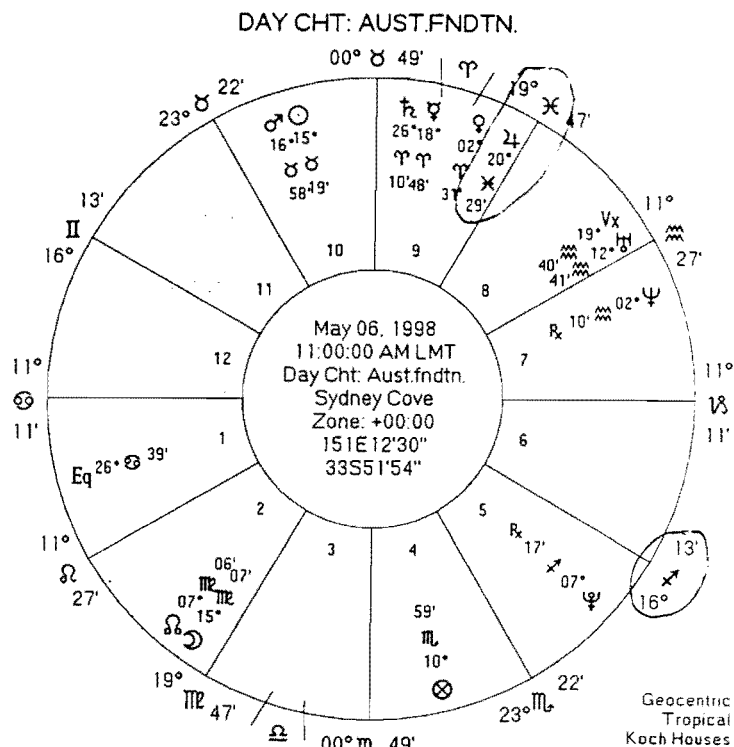

The Union has succeeded in gaining legal sanction for the reinstatement of its workers, and following an order of the High Court on 4th May many of them returned to work on 6th May, though not all issues have been resolved. It remains to be seen whether waterfront reform will be achieved in accord with the wishes of Patrick Stevedoring and the Government, or whether the Maritime Union of Australia will succeed in excluding all but Union members from employment on the docks.

Astrologically, it is not obvious how the matter will end, though the beginning was clearly shown in the Harmonic Chart for the month 26 March—26 April 1998. This Figure is obtained through the usual process of multiplying all planets and Personal Points by 210.1667 which correlates in Harmonic terms with the above month. The Harmonic Chart and Australia's National Chart both appear in the insert with this Issue.

The labour force is represented by the 6th House, here ruled by the Moon, as Cancer appears on its Cusp. Patrick Stevedoring, a large corporation, is represented by the 11th House, and the Government by the 10th and the Sun.

The Moon is in a T-Square with Mars and Neptune, a combination very much indicative of waterside workers, and conjunct Pluto, signifying the intensity of feeling and the demagogic leaders of the Union members. Saturn opposite the Moon terminated the employment of the Union stevedores, Saturn ruling the 12th House (distress and "self-undoing"—it was the inefficiency and corrupt practices in the industry that led to the crisis). The Moon, however, is wonderfully supported by the trine to Venus in the House of Legal Proceedings. This trine, being so close (orb <1°), and Venus being right on the Cusp of the House, overcomes even the power of the T-Square, which has wider orbs.

The chief Significator of Patrick Stevedoring is Jupiter, as Ruler of the 11th House, and the trine of the Sun to Jupiter symbolizes the support of the Federal Government.

The Chart for the day (May 6) when the Union members returned to work appears above. The 6th House, with Sagittarius on the Cusp, again portrays the workers, and its Ruler, Jupiter, on the Cusp of the 9th House in its Exaltation (Pisces), very appropriately signifies their success at law.

The Harmonic Chart for the following month 26 May—26 June (not reproduced here) does not indicate a final resolution of the waterfront dispute. Pluto right on the Cusp of the 6th House indicates passions being aroused, while the Moon again in a T-Square with Mars and Neptune points to more strife and some losses.

In the near future, opportunities for restoring harmony are offered by the Ascendant-Arc Directions Jupiter—Jupiter/MC on May 22, and Ascendant—Jupiter/MC on 4th June. In the last few days of June, the Progressed Aspect of Jupiter trine Mercury/Venus, and the Naibod Direction Venus trine Sun/MC, will bring some degree of harmony between the warring parties.

—Dymock.

Astrology Foretells Government's Course

"The social and economic impact of the gambling explosion will be investigated in a wide-ranging national inquiry." —South Australian Newspaper, The Advertiser, May 1, 1998.

Compare the above with my Forecast in January 1998 (Astrologers' Forum Issue 198, page 2):

Mars, Ruler of the [National] Chart, conjoins the Sun by Solar-Arc in early May, the Sun ruling the 5th House (gambling). This would be an opportune time for the Government to reduce the number of poker machines in operation and curb their further proliferation.

(Australia's National Chart is on page 1 of the January Issue)

The above Newspaper extract appears under the heading. "Tackling the toll of gambling". The Newspaper further reports, "Poker machines losses in Victoria are stunning, ballooning from $9 million at the start of the decade to almost $1.5 billion last year."

No, readers, I am not a wizard with prophetic powers or psychic faculties. My conclusions depend solely on a study of the prevailing planetary and Zodiacal factors. You can do the same thing! Try it!

JAN VAN DER VELDE

Responding to Jan's request for guidance (see last Issue, page 4) JENIFER POMMERIN writes:

Based on his Natal Chart, indications are for a new life overseas—Pluto, Uranus, Mercury in the 9th House, and the Sun close to the Cusp. All Cancer planets are aspected by Jupiter. The Ruler of the 7th, Mercury, is in the 9th, so it looks as though information, friendship (and possibly future partner), will come about through the Internet.

Someone out there will be instrumental in helping Jan start life in another country.

But a caution—the Transit of Neptune is in opposition to Mercury until 2000—so false assumptions and delusions are likely.

At the same time, he is not going to be an easy person to live with (many planets in Cancer fired by the square of Jupiter in Aries; 8th House emphasis. Then the Transit of Pluto in the 1st House quincunx the Moon and Venus ... I haven't looked at SR's etc.) So Jan should realize that anger and self-pity can mar future happiness.

He should not attempt to forget the past as this would go very much against his Cancer nature and the 8th House—but he could try to accept the past. (The horror of those scenes must be etched in his mind, poor man).

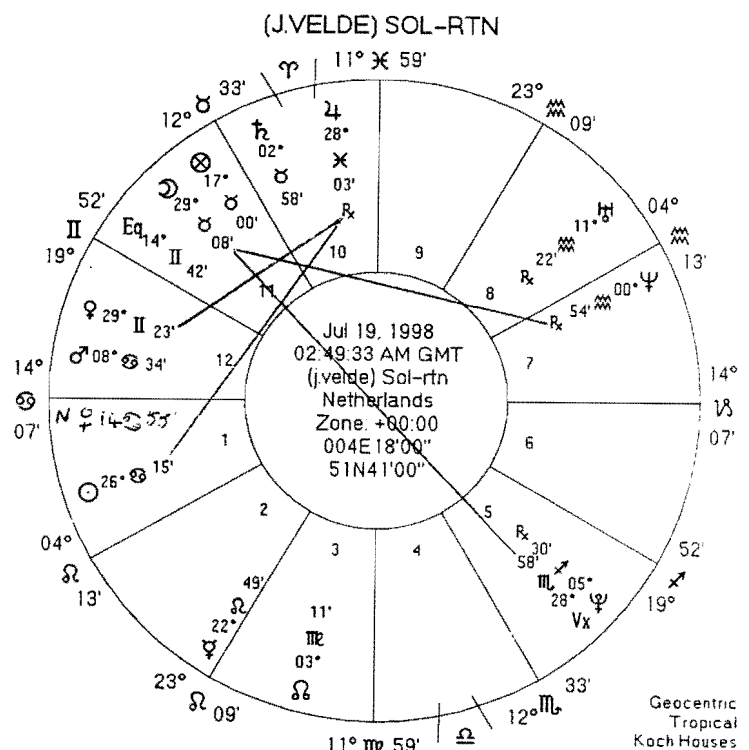

The Chart shows much compassion for suffering and that he could be a resourceful, supportive person. Maybe, while Jan is waiting for life to unfold he could study for a degree in Community Services or a similar qualification—particularly a certificate that would have recognition in other countries.

I passed the above to Jan by email, and he has sent the following reply:

Two weeks after I had placed my "post" in the Alt.Astrology news group I decided for myself to become a professional Astrologer and Homeopath and started right away with the Astrology course. It's been a hobby for almost 20 years, but I never studied it seriously. I'm almost halfway now through the three-year course.

For the Ninth-House part: My late wife was African, she was the one to travel half the world to meet up with her Plutonian Cancer in his home town. I must admit that foreign women attract me more than the regular Dutch woman, and there have been some Internet related "romances" lately, very Neptunian.

I'm afraid that my strong Uranian tendencies will not be helpful in getting any degree in a "normal" kind of Community service. Who knows, I might pop up in Australia after 2000 learning about the Aboriginal Dream time.

Jan's next Solar Return Figure, operating from 19th July 1998, is a good and successful one for him: A happy year is shown by the Ascendant conjunct Natal Venus (see his Birth Chart in the last Issue). Jupiter, elevated in the 10th House, trines the rising Sun (success in work and ambitions). S.R. Pluto is just below the Natal Ascendant, indicating a change in his pattern of living. Venus and Jupiter in Mutable Signs and square to each other point to a number of amorous episodes (aided by Natal Neptune on the 5th Cusp). The Moon, ruling the Ascendant and trine Neptune, will add to his sensitivity and understanding of occult principles. The opposition of the Moon to the Vertex gives added significance this year to Jan's personal life and activities.

—Dymock, 6 May 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 201 April 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

TABBATHA MYSTERY SOLVED!

Astrology Again Finds the Answer

Readers will remember the disappearance in August 1995 of the young Queensland woman, Tabbatha Hodge. Her mother, Mrs Vivien Hodge had asked astrologers to help in resolving the mystery of what happened to her daughter.

In Issue 178 of Astrologers' Forum (May, 1996) I referred to the Horary Chart (reproduced below) and wrote:

It is fairly obvious that Tabbatha is no longer among the living: The Moon is opposed by Pluto ("The Destroyer") and by Jupiter, ruling the House of Death, and is also sesquare to Mars, while Venus is in a Yod with the two major malefics, Saturn and Pluto.

It is this last configuration—the Moon quincunx both Saturn and Neptune—that to my mind spells out what happened to Tabbatha: She has drowned. No human agency was at work except her own careless driving, shown by the Moon ruling the 3rd House (cars) opposite Jupiter. As the Moon was also opposed by Pluto, and Venus is quincunx Neptune I would say Tabbatha was under the influence of alcohol, which destroyed her judgement and led to her death.

Apparently Tabbatha lost control of her car and, somewhere along the way home, ran off the road into the sea or other water hazard.

Apparently, the above is exactly what happened. The Queensland newspaper Courier Mail of 18th March 1998 reported that dredging operations in a canal half a kilometre away from where she was last seen driving her Ford Laser sedan have uncovered her skeletal remains inside her submerged car.

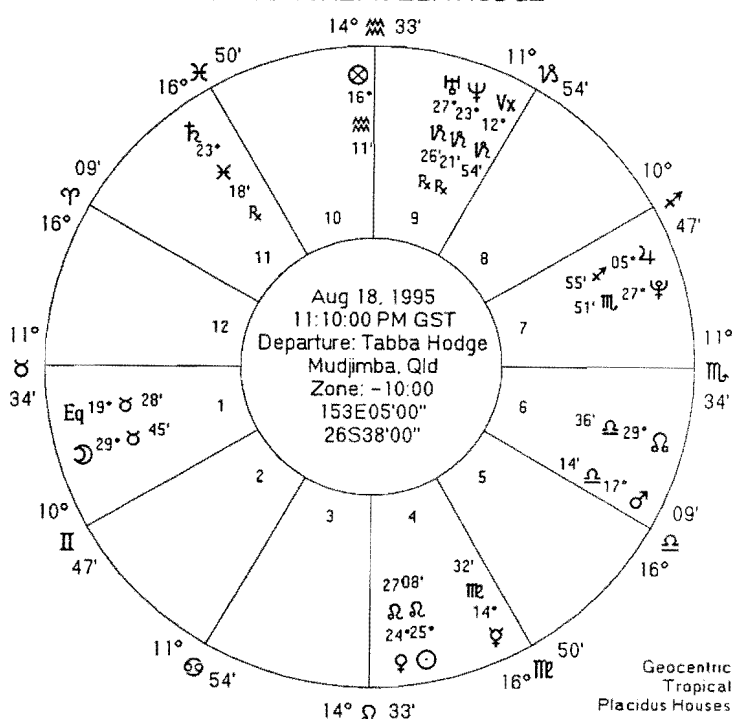

It was further reported that Tabbatha had been drinking heavily the night she disappeared, and police had reprimanded her for boisterous behaviour.

I had estimated that the accident would have occurred about six minutes after Tabbatha started driving (correlating with the 6° difference of the

In This Issue...

	Page
Tabbatha Mystery Solved! (Original Horary Chart)	1
A New Look at Northern Ireland	2
Report on Test No.19 (with Solar Return & Harmonic Charts).....	2
Test No.20.....	4
After Tragedy—What Direction?	4

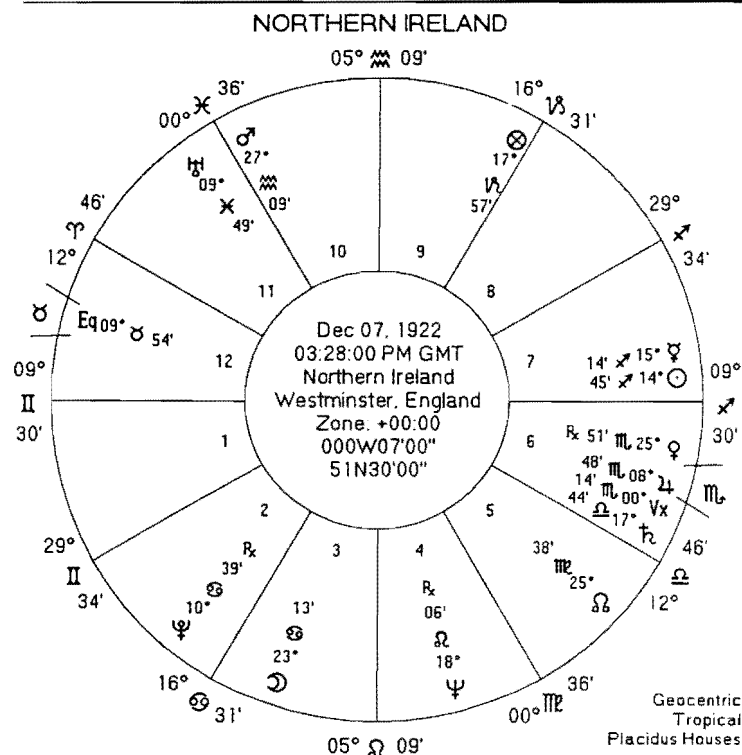

DEPARTURE: TABBA HODGE

Moon's applying opposition to Jupiter), but it is obvious that it must have happened much sooner than that—probably within half a minute. It is instructive that this correlates with the Moon's distance from the end of the Sign Taurus—15' of arc. Arrival of the Moon at the end of the Sign it occupied corresponded with the end of Tabbatha's life. This is a valuable clue for application in future tragic accidents of a like nature.

A further point of interest is that the remains were dredged out on the 17th of March when Uranus (discovery) was at 11°15' Aquarius, square to the Ascendant of the Horary Chart at 11°34' Taurus, and the Sun (The Timekeeper) at 26° Pisces was just past the conjunction with Saturn (fatality) at 23° Pisces.

—Dymock.

A NEW LOOK AT NORTHERN IRELAND

by Allan Johnson

In the December 1994 Issue of this Journal I looked at the Chart for Northern Ireland, using Nicholas Campion's Book of World Horoscopes. At that time I predicted that the Irish "Troubles" were not about to end and that the search for peace would continue to be a protracted process. That was a little over three years ago and there has not been a lot happening since that time, and a lot of people have become a bit cynical about the whole set-up.

However, it now appears there is the possibility of a big break-through. This seems to be due to the emergence of a working compromise, and there could be a referendum in May to approve the whole process. All this despite the fact that violence is at its highest level since cease-fires were declared one year ago.

What is happening is the mainstream politicians on both sides are united in pressing for a settlement, but are battling splinter groups of extremists determined to prevent peace, so it is still a very sticky situation—the great Irish paradox.

So it is interesting to see what the Chart's Progressions and Transits do reveal at this time. The current Progressions are not very helpful. Progressed Venus is now applying to the square of Saturn, and Progressed Mars is applying to the square of the Natal Moon. These don't give us a lot of hope, but at the same time they could correlate with the tortuous nature of the whole proceedings. A more hopeful sign is that Progressed Mercury has now reached the M.C. This could be quite important. Mercury is more appropriate for talking and communicating, than shooting.

It is to the Transits that we must look to get a clearer picture of what is happening, and in such a fateful set-up as this it is Pluto that is the key factor. Also, in Mundane Charts it is the Angles that are highly significant, and at the time of writing Pluto is within a very close orb of the 7th Cusp. Pluto is always identified with transformations, endings and new beginnings. This is exactly what Northern Ireland needs after 29 years of bombings and violence since the "Troubles" started in August 1969.

The 7th is the House of Relationships, and that is exactly what this whole problem is about. However, while Pluto conjuncts the Angle it also makes the square to Natal Uranus and the quincunx to Natal Pluto. But before throwing our hands up in despair, we have to look more closely at these Aspects in context. These two Aspects do mean a radical change, the "end of a chapter", but the end of what chapter? It could mean the end of the chapter of hate and violence.

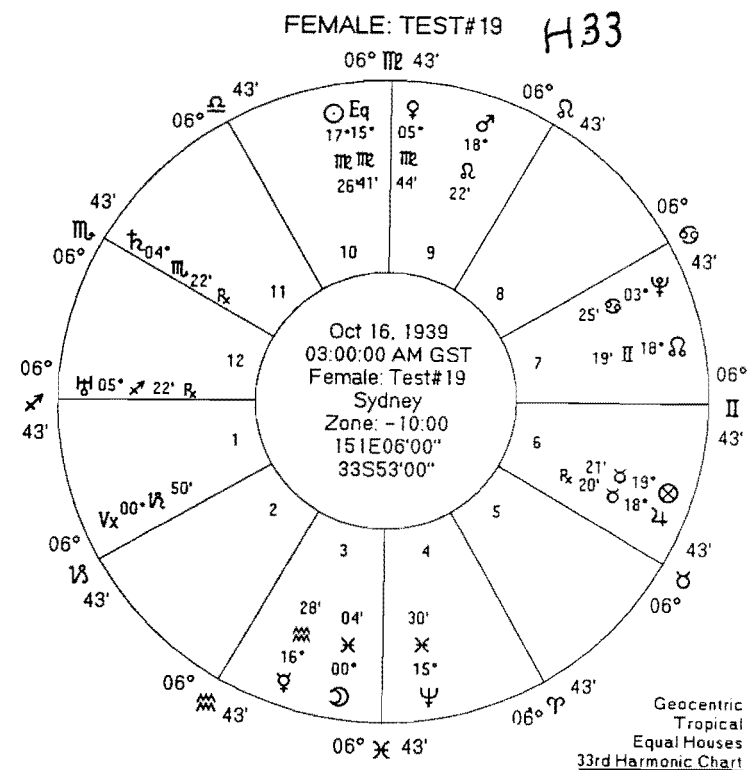

If the whole peace process fell apart it would not be a transformation but a continuation of the disastrous present. So we have an interesting point here. And Pluto will be within orb of the Angle this year, and next year too.

So what I see is a very complex situation developing over this year and next. The whole of the Northern Ireland problem won't be settled in a matter of the next few months—but there could be a break-through. The warring parties have got to the point of a compromise, which they never had before. There could never be a settlement without a compromise. That was the case from the beginning. In addition to this Pluto Transit, we also have Uranus in the 10th House, the House of Destiny. This adds to the picture of a change of direction for Northern Ireland, and out of this peace will come.

REPORT ON TEST NO.19

ROSS HARVEY, who conducted the Test, reports as follows: The correct answer: On the 1st of August 1973, the lady met her future husband.

There were six entrants for the latest Test. I am particularly glad to welcome several new entrants from the USA. Congratulations to Jack Nicholls who was exactly right, and to Barbara Novak and Marion Mendez. Jack said that "the lady commenced a romantic association". Barbara suggested a close relationship, and Marion a whirlwind romance. Dymock Brose was very close when he said "marriage".

—Ed.

TEST NO. 20

This relates to the same woman as in Test No.19, born 16th October 1939, 3am AEST (-10 hours = GMT), at 33S53, 151E06 (Sydney, Australia). She was married and still working as a pharmacist.

What happened to her on November 3, 1989?

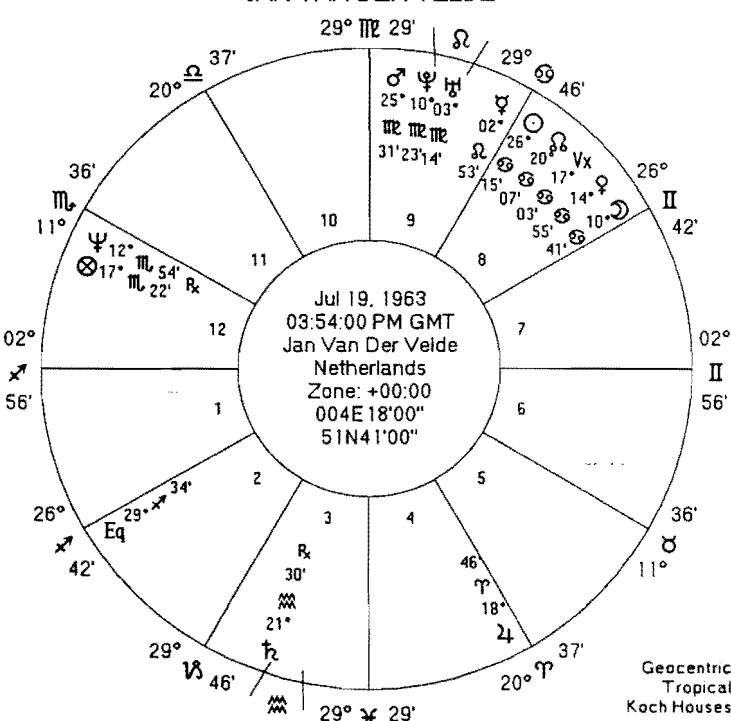

As before, please send your answers to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia 2074, or to me by e-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au, by the 20th of April. Correct answers will be publicized in the May Issue.

AFTER TRAGEDY—WHAT DIRECTION?

I am indebted to Chengyi-yi Huang (California) for relaying to me the following account on the Internet of a personal tragedy, and the victim's request for guidance that accompanied it.

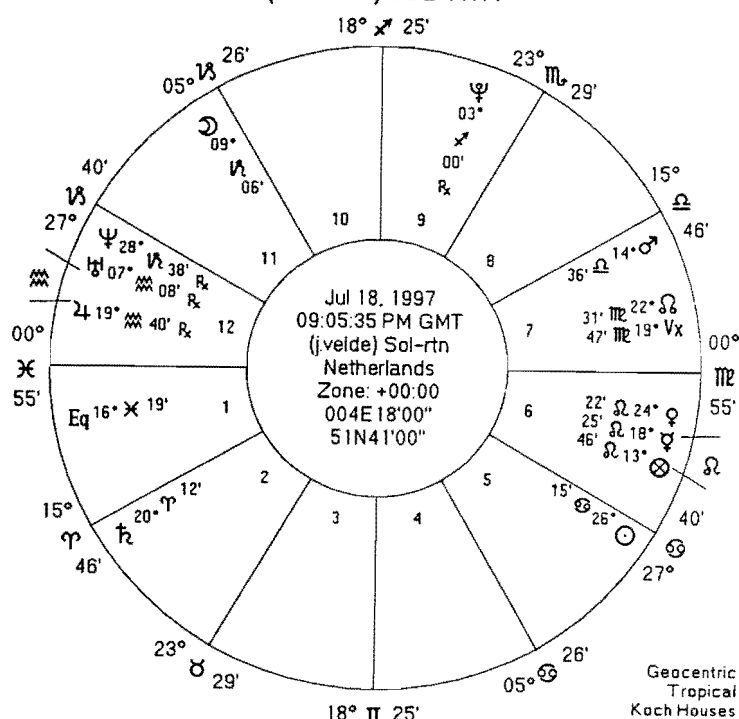

Jan Van der Velde of the Netherlands writes that last year, when Pluto transited directly over his natal Ascendant, a fire broke out in his house, killing his wife, his two youngest daughters and scarring his oldest daughter for life. He himself suffered from 50% burns, spent eight months in hospital and left it as an invalid.

JAN VAN DER VELDE

Jan now asks if astrologers (whom he trusts more than job-consultants) can help him to decide his future direction, having lost his family, his home, his business and all personal possessions. The devastating fire occurred on April 25, 1996 in the village of Middelharnis, Netherlands (4°E11', 51°N46), where Jan still lives. The time was approximately 2am (D.S.T).

(J.VELDE) SOL-RTN

As a preliminary I have examined Jan's current Solar Return, above. The Moon has been corrected for parallax error, so its position will differ slightly from that by the usual calculation.

What is immediately obvious is the opposition of Neptune to the Sun, along the 12th/6th axis (loss, suffering) and the Sun's square to Saturn (grief, stress).

Less obvious but also potent are the sesquare of the Moon to Venus (loss of family) and the sesquare of Uranus to the Moon's Node (disruption of associations). These discordant Aspects are within an orb of 1°.

Pluto, the transforming influence in life, is square the Rising Degree and, what is most striking and far more significant, it falls exactly on the natal Ascendant. This indicates the end of one phase in Jan's life and the commencement of another. That the transition will not be easy is apparent from the difficult aspects listed above. It is understandable if Jan is feeling angry and frustrated with all these planetary forces ranged against him.

So that is the present situation. Can we find something positive and constructive to give hope and stimulus to Jan in his present dire circumstances? Readers are invited to submit their suggestions for his rehabilitation. I hope to be able to transmit some useful advice from our combined efforts.

—Dymock, 30 March 1998.

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?

ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 200 March 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

ANOTHER WIN FOR ASTROLOGY!

Well, dear readers, now you know what I'm on about—Prediction, instead of post-event analysis! Two months ago, in Issue 198, dealing with Australia's National Chart, I wrote (page 2):

In February 1998 Mercury, the Sun and Jupiter link up in the 9th House of the Monthly Synodic Chart, which should bring some good news to Australia through the favourable conclusion of an international agreement.

Right on cue (February 23), the news broke that Kofi Annan, Secretary-General of the United Nations, had concluded an Agreement with Saddam Hussein that averted the risk of war in which Australia, along with Britain and the USA, had already agreed to be engaged.

So I say to all astrologers, join the predication brigade! Be a forward-looking astrologer! Working towards what will happen in the future instead of forever analysing the past (necessary although that is) will put a sharp edge on your astrology and reveal to you things of which you had never before been aware.

We may not always get it right, but if we don't try we never will.

Take heart from the fact that we can at least equal the results of the other prophets—political, business, economic, medical, weather, etc., and with practice we will do much better.

Who, other than an astrologer, can accurately forecast the crash of an airliner? My research over the years shows positively that this can be done. Hence the crashes can also be avoided!

For years I have been advocating that airports should have one or two astrologers permanently employed for just this purpose—to monitor the proposed take-off times of aircraft and, by vetoing them when necessary, avoid huge loss of life and needless destruction.

This, of course, is a Utopian Dream that cannot be realized until our materialistic society becomes occult-minded and is prepared to forego some of its goals in favour of those more in tune with the spiritual aims of the Universe. □

In This Issue...

	Page
Another Win for Astrology!	1
Solution to Test No.18	1
New Test No.19	2
Again—House Cusps!	2
Controversial Politician, Pauline Hanson	2
Notable Planetary Links & Stations to June ..	4

Solution to Test No. 18

ROSS HARVEY (NSW) who conducted this Test (See Issue 199) reports as follows:

There were five entries for Test No.18. Congratulations to Jenifer Pommerin (W.A.) who was exactly right: "A serious romance, possibly the future partner." Ross continues his report as follows:

The Solar Return had the Sun closely conjunct Venus, and both just as closely opposite the Moon, which was conjunct Natal Jupiter in the Natal 7th—already an emphasis on the 7th House. Uranus was conjunct the MC, both conjunct the Natal Descendant and opposite Mercury, which was conjunct the Natal Ascendant.

The Precessed Solar Return had the Sun conjunct Venus, and both conjunct the MC.

The 36th Harmonic (see Chart next page) was the clearest annual chart, and had enabled me to predict this event (one of my rare successes!).

Harmonic Sun is conjunct Natal Venus and opposite the Harmonic EP.

Harmonic Mercury, Ruler of the Natal Ascendant is conjunct the Natal 7th and opposite the Harmonic Node (the mean Node, which works better in Harmonics).

Harmonic Venus is trine the Natal Sun.

Harmonic Uranus is opposite the Natal Node (= a sudden attraction).

Harmonic Moon is trine Harmonic Jupiter, and, as Jenifer pointed out, Harmonic Neptune is closely opposite Natal Neptune, which "brings an irresistible fascination for the loved one".

The Node is usually strong in Harmonics for personal relationships, such as love affairs and marriage, and here, combined with the emphasis on Venus in the Harmonic and the Solar Returns, made it clear to me

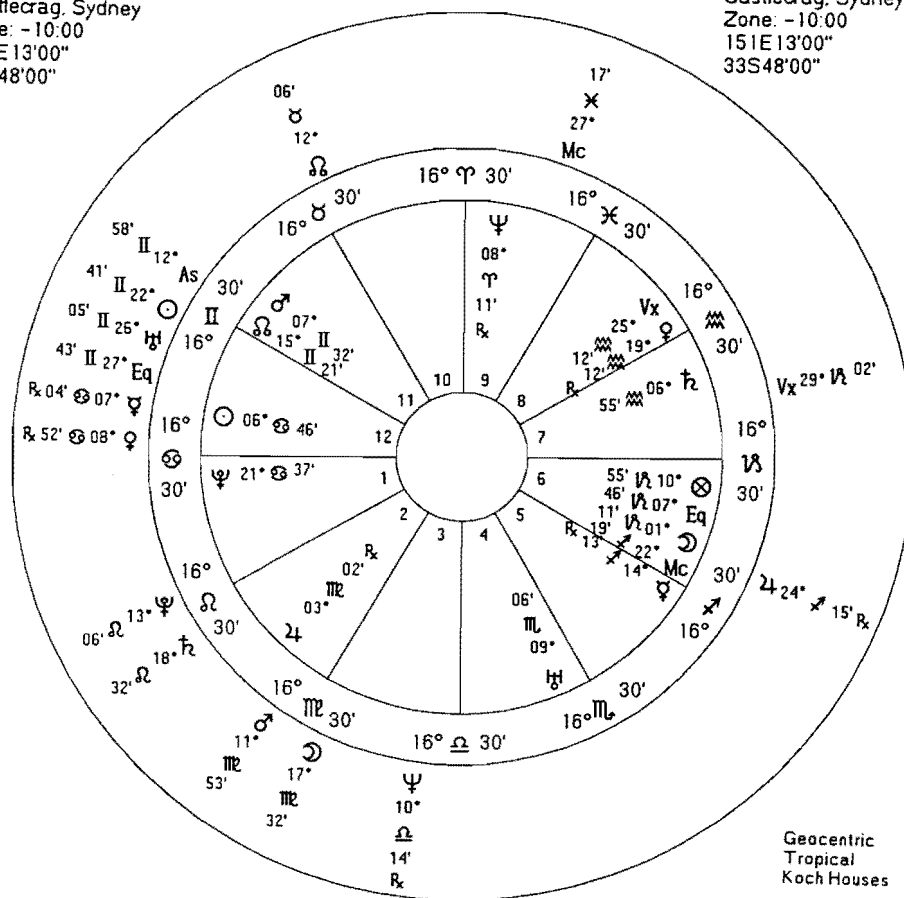

INNER CHART:

Test#18
Jun 14, 1948
06:17:00 AM GST
Castlecrag, Sydney
Zone: -10:00
151E13'00" 33S48'00"

Geocentric
Tropical
Equal Houses
36th Harmonic Chart

OUTER CHART:

Test#18
Jun 14, 1948
06:17:00 AM GST
Castlecrag, Sydney
Zone: -10:00
151E13'00"
33S48'00"

addressed envelope to Ross you will receive a personal notification of your possible success. Correct solutions will be publicized in the next Issue, due out in early April.

AGAIN—HOUSE CUSPS!

ROSS HARVEY has been pursuing the efficacy of various House systems, and writes that he has tried all the usual ones [Placidus, Koch, Regiomontanus] on many charts, looking mainly for the 2nd and 9th Cusps of people if they are rich or if they have pursued their careers overseas.

Ross looked at Kylie Minogue's and Rupert Murdoch's Charts recently. With Koch, Kylie has Jupiter conjunct the 2nd Cusp, the Moon ruling the Ascendant conjunct Mars ruling the 9th (different House systems do not alter this) both sextile the 9th Cusp, and the 9th Cusp sextile the Sun ruling the 2nd and sesquare Jupiter on the 2nd = lots of money from overseas. If Placidus were used, Saturn would be on the 9th Cusp and the Moon/Mars conjunction square the 2nd Cusp (orb 0°27' mundane), and Saturn opposite Pluto on the 8th. Surely an afflicted Saturn on the 2nd Cusp should mean no money!! Koch moves the 2nd Cusp away from Saturn, as does Regiomontanus, although the latter gives the same wrong indications for Kylie's Chart as Placidus. Kylie does have Jupiter opposite the Vertex, i.e., due East, and conjunct Fixed Star Regulus as well = success assured! And that doesn't depend on the House system. Koch does, however, indicate lots of money and shows the connection with overseas.

Ross is convinced that it has to be Koch, at least for birth charts. His sole reservation is that sometimes Placidus Cusps put appropriate planets on Solar-Return Cusps when Koch doesn't, but the Koch will often put the right planets on the right Cusps when the others don't.

Controversial Politician

PAULINE HANSON

Pauline Hanson has raised such a furore both in Australia and overseas (particularly in Asia) because of her outspoken policies that it is interesting to assess,

Test No. 19

The subject was a woman born at 3:00am AEST on the 16th October 1939, at 33°S53', 151°E06'. (GMT 5pm on 15 Oct 1939). She worked as a pharmacist, and was unmarried. What happened to her on the 1st of August, 1973?

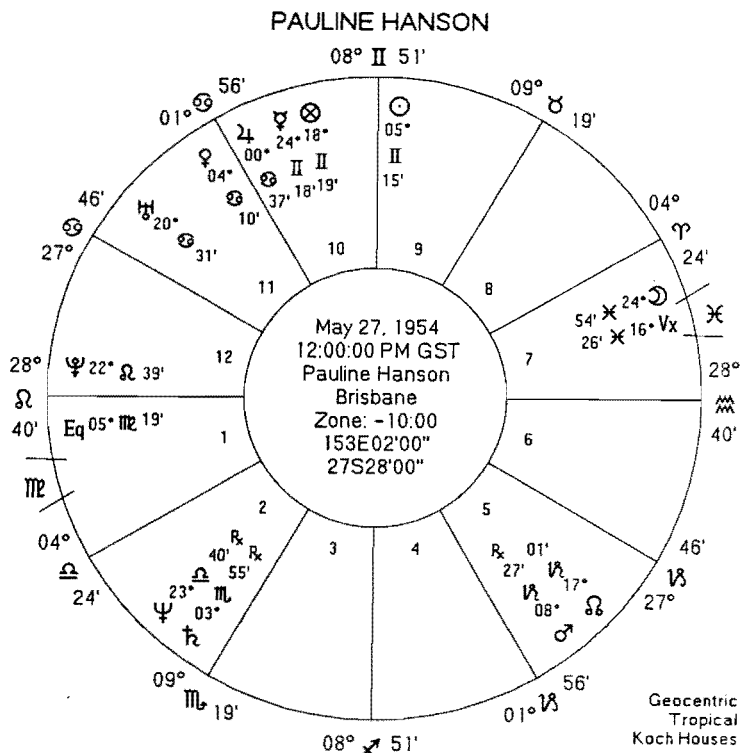

As before, please direct your answers to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW, Australia 2074, or to dymock@ozemail.com.au, by the 20th of March. If you also send a stamped, self-before the event that a romance would happen in this year. As an additional emphasis on Venus, Prenatal KSR Q2 had Venus closely conjunct the MC, and the Ascendant conjunct Natal Venus.

I suggest that the best approach might be to find the planet that is strongest in most of the annual charts, i.e., conjunct an Angle or the Sun or Moon, to find the most important influence of the year. Aspects apart from conjunctions in annual charts are not nearly as important. Two entrants made much of the T-square of Solar-Return Mercury, Uranus and Natal Mars, yet this was of little consequence compared with Venus, which was strong in four annual charts. Venus—North Node has to signify a romance.

astrologically, her future in Australian politics. It has recently been announced that she will stand for the Electorate of Blair in the next Federal Election (probably later this year).

Whether one agrees or disagrees with Pauline on the matter of curtailing Asian immigration and restricting the privileges of the indigenous population is not relevant to this discussion.

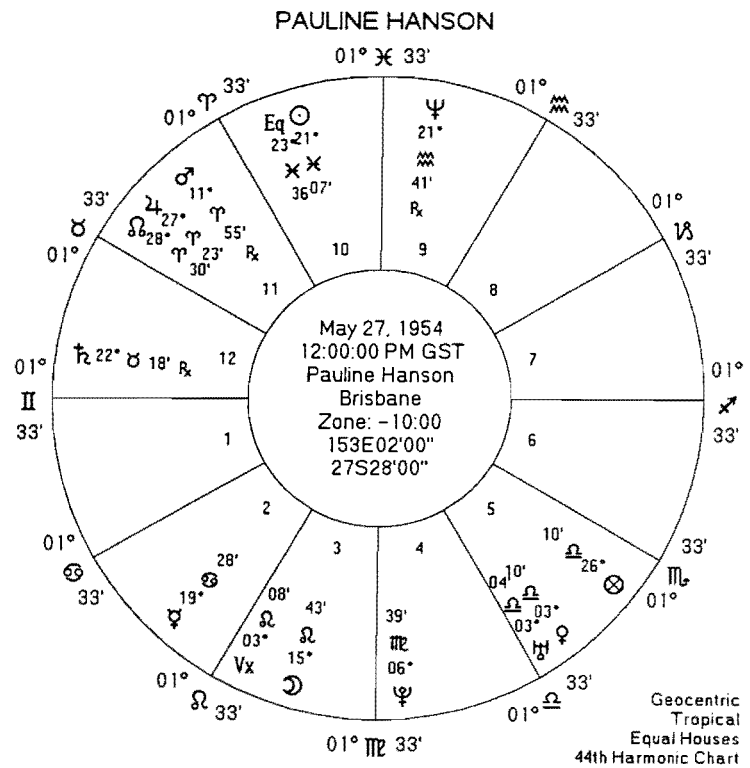

Here is Pauline's Birth Horoscope, obtained from the data bank supplied with Solar Fire V4.

The Chart shows Pluto rising sesquare Mars and sextile Mercury, endowing Pauline with the moral strength to stand by her pronouncements and ride out the storm.

Leo on the Ascendant, with the Sun at the Midheaven, shows she has the confidence and capacity to take a leading part in her special field.

Venus conjunct Jupiter in the House of Friends and Patrons indicates plenty of allies, and lovers among them. The Moon ruling the House square to Mercury, plus Mars opposite Venus, shows disaffection of some, though others have long-term loyalty (Saturn trine Venus).

The Fixed Stars, Aldebaran (9°Gem9') and Antares (9°Sag9') at the Upper and Lower Meridian respectively, are indicators of "success through integrity" and "success which can become obsessive" (Esoteric Technologies). Vivian Robson, in his book, The Fixed Stars and Constellations in Astrology interprets Aldebaran culminating as signifying honour, preferment, good fortune and favours from women

Now what of her future?

Pauline Hanson turns 44 on May 27, 1998. Hence her 44th Harmonic Chart relates to the period of her life from her 44th birthday to the 45th (27 May 1998—27 May 1999). This is the Chart above. Read it in conjunction with the Birth Figure.

I predict that the next Federal Election will be held in November 1998, after the dissolution of Parliament in October (See Astrologers' Forum Issue 198, p. 4). If so, Pauline Hanson, Leader of The One Nation Party, will do handsomely:

The "floating MC" is within 1° of the Natal Ascendant (success through effort), and trine to Harmonic Jupiter and the N.Node, also with only a 1° orb. Jupiter rules the Midheaven, so this is a clear indication of achievement in career, the N.Node adding emphasis.

The Natal Sun conjoins the Harmonic Ascendant—a further assurance of success through her own abilities, which include astuteness and a quick grasp of a situation (Ruler, Mercury, conjunct Natal Uranus).

An adverse note is struck by Neptune, secondary Ruler of the MC, square to Saturn ruling the 8th House. I interpret this as death threats from hidden enemies (12th House). The One-Nation-Party Leader is no stranger to these, but they will not interfere with her political success.

Pauline's finances will reach an unprecedented peak this year. (Natal Jupiter and Venus conjunct the Cusp of Income).

On a personal note, Pauline Hanson can look forward to an exciting love affair (Venus conjunct Uranus in the House of Love and Romance). As with most Venus/Uranus contacts, the episode will be electrifying but relatively short-lived. I time this event for the first week of September 1998, when Uranus sextiles Natal Venus by Naibod Arc.

Monthly Cyclic Charts for Pauline lead me to conclude that in March 1999 she will be making her presence felt in the Federal Parliament, and in April will be much in the public eye and winning more supporters.

This is a career to be watched with interest. If, as I predict, it goes ahead, her policies must reflect the sentiments of a considerable number of the Australian public.

NOTABLE PLANETARY LINKS AND STATIONS TO JUNE

Following readers' approval of the 1998 planetary aspects listed in the January Issue, I am repeating the main astrological phenomena up to the beginning of June 1998 together with the Zodiacal locations, so that any contacts with charts can be easily observed.

I have also added the Planets' Stations, these being important factors, as strong as a major Progression/-Regression, when they conjunct or closely aspect a Significator.

Look for contact with Significators, which are the Sun, Moon and planets, the Zodiacal points MC, Ascendant, Equatorial Ascendant (or East Point), Moon's Nodes, Vertex, Part of Fortune, and all the House Cusps.

The closer the connection the more pronounced are the effects.

Watch their action in your own Chart and in those of the people around you. I would welcome your reports.

This feature will be continued in future Issues if readers like it. Please let me know.

SR = Planet Stationary, turning Retrograde.

SD = Planet Stationary, turning Direct.

10 March 1998, Jupiter Square Pluto, 7°Pi44'—7°Sg44': Can result in loss of money or assets, more especially if it relates to the 2nd or 8th Houses. If the 5th is involved don't gamble—especially not in stocks and shares. Postpone elective surgery.

11 March 1998, Pluto SR at 8°Sg4': Pluto "The Destroyer") commonly ends a phase of living and inaugurates a new one. In conjunction, opposition or square it often forces confrontation with a problem that has to be dealt with. In milder Aspect it strengthens the will, empowers one physically, and gives application, concentration, thoroughness and ability to probe below the surface.

2 April 1998, Mars Conjunct Saturn at 27°Ar56': Has the potential for accidents and injury, but can also provide working energy and stamina. If it connects with one of your physical-body Significators (Rising Degree, Ruler, Sun and Moon) then be careful and deliberate in all your activities, especially if you are using tools, or working around heavy machinery. Avoid dangerous activities that could result in falls or collisions.

20 April 1998. Mercury SD at 9°Ar47': The planet of intellect and communication, Mercury absorbs the nature of the body it conjuncts. It induces thinking and discussion relating to the planet aspected—Mars, sharp; Saturn serious; Venus gracious; Uranus original; Neptune fanciful; Pluto penetrating; the Sun honourable; the Moon everyday affairs, news, letters, commerce, changes.

30 April 1998, Mars Square Uranus, 12°Ta37'—12°Aq37': A discordant Aspect that provides energy but has the potential for accidents with tools, firearms, electrical appliances and machinery, or the breakdown of the latter. If it is prominent in your Chart postpone travel plans, and elective surgery.

4 May 1998, Neptune Stationary at 2°Aq10': Neptune sensitizes, softens and dissolves. In hard Aspect it brings disappointment, loss and ineffectiveness. Thus, Neptune opposite Venus means disappointment in love. In favourable Aspect it increases awareness and gives fecundity of ideas.

17 May 1998, Uranus SR at 12°Aq45': "The Awakener" brings changes, of the nature of the Significator aspected. The changes are sudden and may be totally unexpected. Aspecting the Rising Degree, the Sun or the Moon, Uranus breaks up a habit of living that may have become too easy and unchallenging.

2 June 1998, Mars Opposite Pluto, 6°Ge33'—6°Sg33': Operates like Mars Square Pluto above, only more so. Use care in all situations of potential danger. It has the potential for creating antagonism and long-lasting enmity, so tread carefully. Utilize its drive and energy along lines of constructive achievement.

—Dymock, 6 March 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 199 February 1998

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

THE CANBERRA SCENE

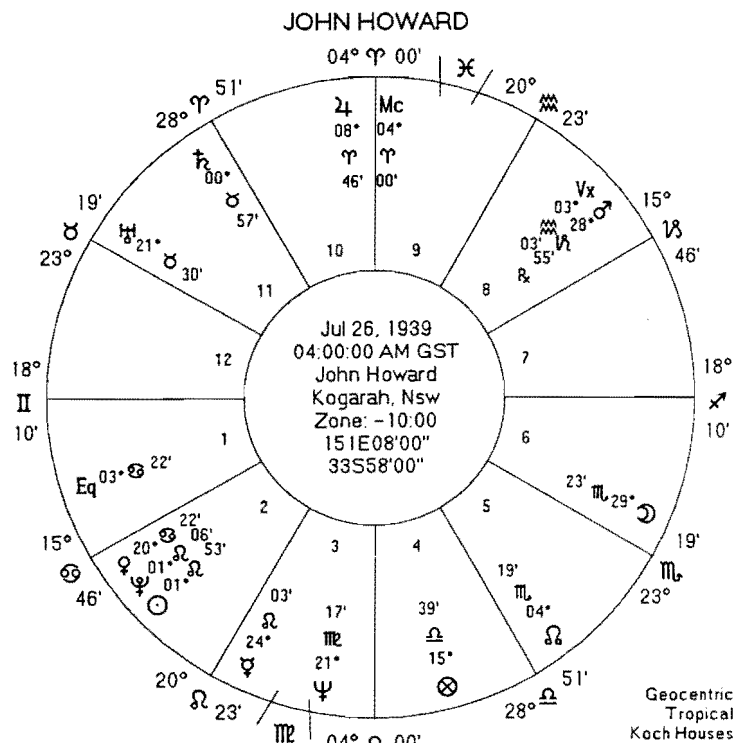

by Allan Johnson

The key figure in the Canberra scene right now at the beginning of 1998 is, of course, John Howard. He will be having an Election either late this year or early 1999, and there has been a lot of media speculation as to whether he will achieve a second term. This seems to be by no means a foregone conclusion, so this is the right time to do a bit of astrological prediction. We all know there are quite a variety of approaches to predicting elections. One way is to use a lot of these systems and then make something of a consensus. I like to do the opposite and keep it as simple as possible. This means focussing on the leaders. In Australian politics it is really the leaders who dominate the scene—and more particularly the Prime Minister. It is his destiny to win or lose. I think this is more important than looking at charts for election dates, or of charts for parties or other candidates. But before looking at charts it is worth noting that the Australian electorate is not such a volatile one as can often be seen in some other countries. This means that from an historical point of view, once a new government is elected, it rarely misses getting second term. This is partly due to the short three-year terms. The voters don't like to change their minds so quickly, especially after a landslide. So this has to be an initial advantage to Howard.

Before looking at Howard's Chart it is also worthwhile to look at that of his opponent, Kim Beazley. He is the alternative Leader. The fact that Cheryl Kernot has recently joined the Labor Party and is a high-profile candidate is not likely to alter this. Beazley is still the Leader. He was born on 17th December 1948, so like Kernot, he is a Sagittarian. But he was born too late in the Sign to get the Transit of Pluto over his Sun in the immediate period ahead. I don't have his birth time so I can look only at his planetary positions. Using Transits and Progressions, I don't see anything in his Chart to indicate a milestone in his career soon. But the positions of the Angles might tell another story. There we have a bit of speculation. All this could be another advantage to

In This Issue...

	Page
The Canberra Scene	1
P.M John Howard's Birth Chart	1
Australia's National Chart	2
Results of Test No.17	3
Test No.18.....	4
Will President Clinton Survive?	4

Howard.

I did do an article on John Howard in the January 1995 Issue, using the time of 4am, given me by a Canberra astrologer, Milton Black, and this is the one I am still using. He has a lot of contradictory factors coming up in his Chart, so predicting the result of the next Election on that score is not easy. This lines up with the fact that the writers in the Weekend Australian are having precisely that same trouble, and none are coming up with confident predictions about his future career. What we have is a very tight T-Square (Mars-Saturn-Sun-Pluto), Sun/Pluto being also part of a Grand Trine with Moon/Jupiter, and we can get yet another Grand trine of Mars to Uranus and Neptune in the Earth Signs. It is one of those double-barrelled charts than can bring him some very surprising lucky breaks but land him in some very drastic situations as well. Good and bad fortune go hand in hand. This doesn't make it easy for the astrologer! What we can say with certainty is that all the dramatic events in his destiny will correlate with Progressions or Transits to this complex configuration. This happened at the last Election when a lot of people were surprised by his landslide victory.

The two planets normally linked with the most dramatic events are Pluto and Uranus. These were most active in '96, but since then they have moved on to make the trine with Jupiter in the Midheaven—but this is by no means the whole of the story. First we need to look at the Secondary Progressions, and these are rather mixed. Progressed Sun makes the trine to Natal Mars and sextile to the Moon, but at the same time it also makes the quincunx to Natal and Progressed Saturn. So here we have some powerful contradictions. The Progressed quincunx can mean the end of a chapter. But is this the last word? Any person with the Sun conjunct Pluto and opposite Mars in the natal chart can work with immense energy to achieve what they see as their mission. What I can see is a very difficult situation building up for him, and he is likely to lose a lot of seats. The question is will he lose enough to be unseated?

What adds further confusion to an already confused picture is that Neptune by Transit will be hovering around the Cusp of Capricorn and Aquarius (the position of Natal Mars). He has already been experiencing this in the travel-rorts scandal and a lot of underhand activities. Transits of Neptune move very slowly and can spend several years over a sensitive area in a chart. What is also very interesting in Howard's case is that Transiting Saturn will also be activating this complex configuration in late '98 and early '99 and making a "Saturn Return" in October next. These two planets are not as dramatic as Pluto or Uranus but they will certainly be having an effect on John Howard's future and the Election. Neptune and Saturn represent opposite influences, Neptune being unworldly and visionary, while Saturn is very realistic and down to earth. So he will be going through a very messy situation and may have to make some hard decisions, and his health could be another factor. He may find himself again in hospital for a time.

What, then, is likely to be the final result? I think that deep down he is a rather tough personality and has the ability to cope with heavy circumstances. The Government will lose a lot of seats, but may be just able to hang on, but it will be no big victory. Where you get a lot of contradictory pointers, the end result is likely to be somewhere in the centre. I have to leave it at that.

AUSTRALIA'S NATIONAL CHART

26 January 1788

Regarding my article in the January Issue, Marie Casey (NSW) has written disclaiming the 11am Chart as the one she arrived at through her private research. Marie writes, "The actual time I have always advocated was 2:15pm ... Even through years of research I could not alter it in any way. It was then that the Flag was raised, not in the morning."

Here is the Chart advocated by Marie:

AUSTRALIA-FOUNDATN/1415

Age-Harmonic Charts are the best method yet discovered to determine the validity of charts and discriminate between different suggested birth times. Applying this test to the times of 11:00am and 2:15pm for the Foundation Chart, the earlier time comes out a clear winner. In the 187th Harmonic for the 11am Radix, Jupiter (Law and the Constitution) ruling the Chart and opposed by Mars ruling the 5th House, showed the uproar precipitated by the Governor General (5th House) when he dismissed the Whitlam Government. It unquestionably reflected the historic events of 11th November 1975 (see A.F. 198, p. 1).

The same Harmonic for the 2:15pm Chart has nothing that could be construed as a Constitutional crisis. On the contrary, the Sun and Jupiter are in close conjunction with the Radical MC! This would depict a well-established and prosperous Government. Other features of this Chart also contra-indicate the events.

Similarly, when the Australian States were federated on 1 January 1901, the 112th Harmonic Chart for the 11am time tells the story. This Chart relates to the period from 25 January 1900 to 25 January 1901 when Australia was 112 years "old". Jupiter on the 9th Cusp (Law and the Constitution), and ruling the 10th (Government) has a very close trine to Venus (Union) in and ruling the 5th House (the subordinate States). The same Harmonic for the 2:15pm time has only discordant and separative Aspects like Mars square to Venus and opposing both the "floating" MC and the Vertex.

When the Great Depression hit Australia in 1929 it was 141 years from the Foundation. Most appropriately, the 141st Harmonic of the 11am Chart shows Saturn rising (very close—only $1\frac{1}{2}^\circ$ below the Ascendant) and square to the Natal Sun. On the other hand, the 141st Harmonic for the 2:15pm time has absolutely contrary indications—Venus on the Midheaven conjunct Natal Jupiter!

It is a similar story as regards the two different times for all the other events that affected the Nation and which I have investigated.

Aside from that, I should say that Aries rising and Capricorn at the Midheaven as in the 11am Chart is more indicative of the pioneering and industrious Australian populace than Taurus rising and Pisces at the Midheaven in the 2:15pm Figure. The 11am Chart also has an exact sextile of Jupiter at $16^\circ\text{Gem}53'$ to the Ascendant at $16^\circ\text{Ari}51'$, in complete accordance with the concept of Australia as the "Lucky Country".

The upshot is that I prefer the 11am Chart. This is not to discount the labours of people like Marie Casey and Gwen Stoney who carefully research times and distances to settle on a likely Radix for the Nation. They provide a starting point, at least, or a number of alternatives, and the Harmonics technique can sort them out.

One might bear in mind also what Bernadette Brady has said about Radices for individuals: A chart to whose Progressions, etc., the person will uniformly respond operates as a Birth Chart, without it necessarily being timed for the exact moment of birth.

—Dymock.

Result of Test No.17

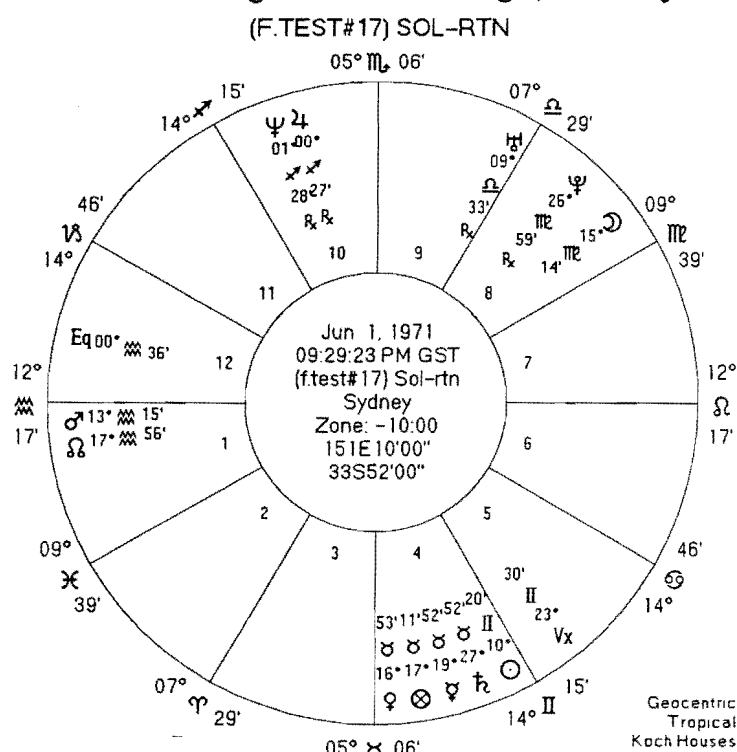

Ross Harvey, who conducted the Test, reports as follows:

There were six entries for Test No. 17. Congratulations to Jack Nicholls who was correct. He said that the event was an accident resulting in hospitalization. On the 13th January 1972 the woman was seriously injured in a car crash and was left partially crippled.

As always in these Tests, the event was the major event of the year, so I would have started by looking at the Annual Charts, and tried to determine whether the event was favourable or unfavourable. The Solar Return set for the birth place has the Ascendant conjunct Mars, which rules the 3rd House, and Uranus on the 9th Cusp—note that this is the 9th Koch Cusp, but not either Placidus or Regiomontanus, which are 5° earlier. The Solar-Return Ascendant is also opposite Natal Pluto and square Natal Mars.

That Mars forms a Grand Trine with the Sun and Uranus seems not to have been significant, certainly not favourably so. I have always found that Mars on an Angle of a cyclical chart portends trouble, usually serious, and even if it is favourably aspected this does not lessen the danger. Mars on an Angle, even conjunct a benefic, usually means troubles overcome. I have seen Mars conjunct the Ascendant of a solar return for death of the native (Princess Diana), death of a family member, loss of employment, serious illness, accidents, financial loss, etc. So far in my astrological studies I do not remember having seen it for an unequivocally favourable period.

So, had I been asked for a forecast of this year I would have at once suggested trouble coming, and advised caution, and with Mars ruling the 3rd House I might have suggested care in travelling.

The Precessed Solar Return has the Ascendant conjunct Saturn and opposite Jupiter and Neptune (for the birth place, but not for the place of residence). Once again malefics associated thus with a benefic —Dymock. 25 January 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 198 January 1998

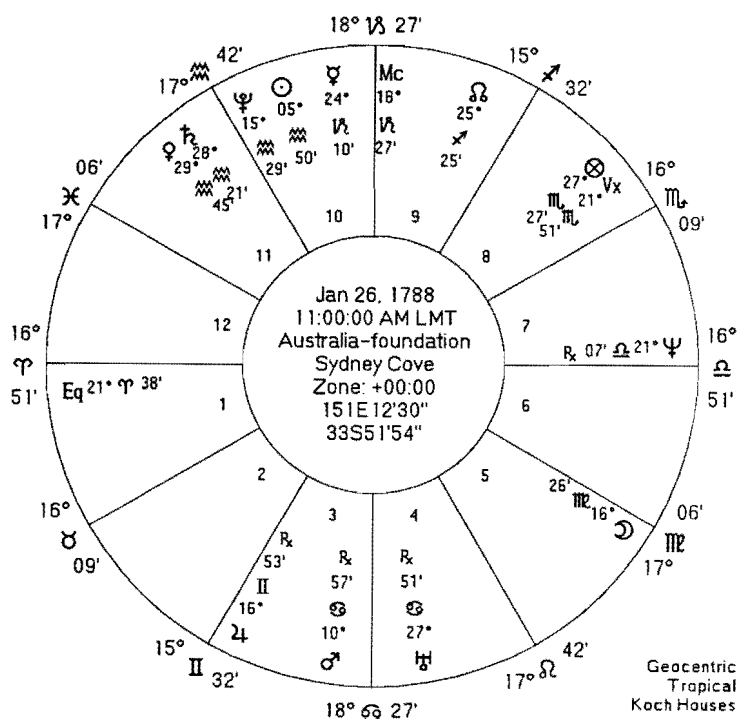

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: Dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

AUSTRALIA IN 1998

In 1998 Australia reaches the age of 210 years since its foundation in 1788. Here is the Birth Chart of the Nation for 26 January 1788 at 11am, the time established by Marie Casey of NSW:

AUSTRALIA-FOUNDATION

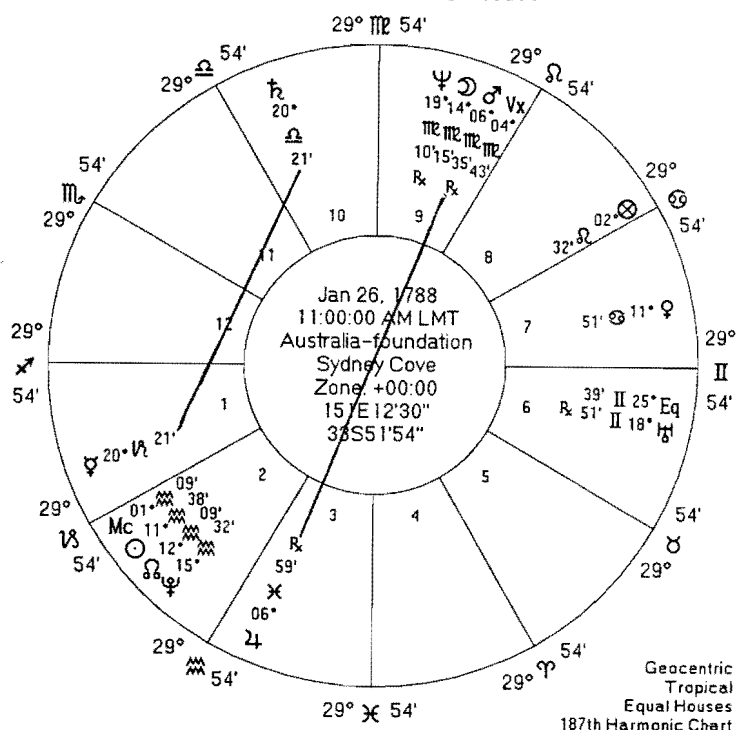

This Chart is supported by the Age-Harmonic for 11th November 1975 the date of the most sensational event in Australia's political history—the dismissal of the Whitlam Labor Government by the Governor General. Australia was 187 years "old" at the time, and the 187th Harmonic Chart (next column) clearly shows the constitutional crisis. Law and the Constitution are related to the 9th House, the planet Jupiter and the Sign Sagittarius. Leo is on the 9th Cusp, and its Ruler, the Sun, is conjunct Pluto, planet of drama and crisis. The Vertex, Mars, the Moon and Neptune are all assembled in the 9th, showing the turmoil (Moon conjunct Neptune), not to say the fury (Mars conjunct the Moon) of a large section of the populace at this unprecedented act of political despotism.

Sagittarius rises, and its Ruler, Jupiter, at 6°58' Pisces

In This Issue...

	Page
Australia in 1998.....	1
Foundation Chart.....	1
Harmonic for 1998.....	2
Indications of Early Death.....	3
Horizon Chart	3
1998 Forthcoming Aspects.....	4

AUSTRALIA-FOUNDATION

is closely opposed by Mars at 6°35' Virgo. Mars rules the 5th House—the Governor General as the Crown's Representative. The 10th House (the Government) has Virgo on the Cusp, and its Ruler, Mercury, at 20°23' of the political Sign Capricorn is closely squared by Saturn at 20°21' Libra and by Natal Neptune at 21°7' Libra, depicting the loss of power and cessation of the Government.

It is interesting to note also that, on the date of the Dismissal, Saturn was Stationary at 2°58' Leo right opposite the "floating" MC at 1°11' Aquarius. Numerologists may be intrigued by the repetition of the number "11"—the Dismissal occurred on the 11th day of the 11th month in 1975, coinciding with the time of 11am established by Marie Casey.

On 26th January 1998 Australia's age from the Foundation Chart will be 210, and here is its Harmonic Chart for that age, circumscribed by the Radix for easy Government because of the Sun (central issues) on the 8th Cusp (taxation) trine to Uranus (change) ruling the 2nd House (income and the economy).

What of the projected Constitutional change from a Monarchic to a Republican system? The 9th House is the significant one in this respect. It holds the Ruler, Saturn (traditional values) in the T-Square with Pluto and Mars previously mentioned. These are powerful forces of change. Mercury ruling the 9th opposite the Moon signifies much discussion and debate, with strong opposition from the opponents of any change (the Moon ruling the 7th). The final outcome is shown by the 12th House as the 4th to the 9th. Uranus on the Cusp signifies radical change. So in due course we may expect Australia to become a Republic.

In February 1998 Mercury, the Sun and Jupiter link up in the 9th House of the Monthly Synodic Chart, which should bring some good news to Australia through the favourable conclusion of an international agreement.

Mars, Ruler of the Chart, conjoins the Sun by Solar-Arc in early May, the Sun ruling the 5th House (gambling). This would be an opportune time for the Government to reduce the number of poker machines in operation and curb their further proliferation.

Around 17th May Uranus at 12°45' Aquarius is Stationary on Natal Pluto at 15°29' Aquarius, Ruler of the 8th House (taxation). It is likely that the Government will introduce taxation reform at this time.

In mid-July, Jupiter Stationary at 28°4' Pisces will form a Grand Trine with Uranus at 27°51' Cancer, and the Part of Fortune at 27°27' Scorpio, signalling a change in the monetary system through the inevitable advance of technology.

A month later, in mid-August, Saturn at 3°38' Taurus squares the Sun at 5°50' Aquarius. Though not a close square this is sufficient to give a minor setback to the Government.

Things are happening in October! Neptune is Stationary at 29°23' Capricorn where it conjuncts the midpoint (0°Aqu0') of the Sun and Mercury in the House of Government. This looks very like a dissolution of Parliament, especially as at the same time Neptune has reached the trine of the Moon by Solar-Arc Direction, and Uranus is Stationary at 8°49' Aquarius, 3° from a conjunction with the Sun.

In November, Jupiter Stationary at 18°10' Pisces correlation of the planetary positions in both Charts:

The Sign Capricorn rises, and its Ruler, Saturn, is closely opposed by Pluto and squared by Natal Mars. As the 1st House represents the Nation and the people as a whole we may expect Pluto to produce dramatic events, revision of the status quo and a major disturbance to the accustomed pattern of our living. These effects will be moderated by Jupiter rising conjunct the Natal Sun, which affords some general protection, but Jupiter is in a T-Square with the Moon, Mercury and Venus, so its benefits will be restricted. Mercury in the 10th House (the Government) opposed by the Moon, signifies indecisiveness with frequent change of plans or policy among our leaders.

The Opposition of Uranus to Mercury in the Radix now lies along the Horizon, and is augmented by Harmonic Neptune opposite Mercury. Mercury here rules the 6th House (employment) so Uranus will introduce frequent change and instability in jobs due to the advance of technology, and Neptune loss of jobs and dissatisfaction in the work force. Employment will, however, be one of the Government priorities as the "floating" MC is in the 6th House trine to Mercury in the 10th.

Taxation reform will be the principal concern of the

A more graphic portrayal of the possibilities is provided by the Horizon Chart hereunder.

One sees immediately the position of Neptune on the Eastern Horizon closely square to Pluto on the North point, and having Saturn at their Midpoint (16°32' Taurus). Moreover, Neptune's influence extends to the 12th House (self-undoing) because of Pisces on the Cusp. Pluto is in the terminal 4th House, and is also related to the 8th House (death) because of Scorpio on the Cusp. The Moon opposing Uranus is now more significant as the Moon rules the 4th House (end of life). The Opposition could be interpreted, literally, as a sudden (Uranus) end to life.

All this stands out clearly in the Horizon Chart, raises the alarm, and prompts the Astrologer to look further. Mars is trine the Moon but, more significantly, is contra-parallel Uranus (Mars 54°23' below the Horizon, Uranus 54°16' above). The combination of Mars and Uranus is well-known as a potent factor in violent occurrences.

The moral of all this is that if you have suspicions that more lies below the surface than appears in the standard Zodiacal Chart, then cast the Horizon Chart and investigate further. Both Nova and Blue Star will print these charts.

A parent who is astrologically advised could just possibly avert tragedy by watching the Cyclic Charts and Progressions/Directions as the child grows up, and taking extraordinary protective measures in periods of real danger. One need not assume that these things are "fated". We alter our "fate", and our karma every day by the things we do.

1998

Forthcoming Aspects

Here are important Aspects occurring in the year ahead. They will be especially effective in any Chart where either or both of the planets concerned contact a Significator. Significators are the Sun, Moon and planets, the Zodiacal points MC, Ascendant, Equatorial Ascendant (or East Point), Moon's Nodes, Vertex, Part of Fortune, and all the House Cusps. Watch their effect in your own Chart and in those of the people around you. I would welcome your reports.

4 February 1998, Mars Square Pluto: An unpleasant connection that can prove dangerous—violence and accidents. However, it does provide drive and energy that can be utilized constructively to push ahead with plans and projects. Avoid recklessness and haste, and situations that are potentially dangerous.

26 February 1998, Solar Eclipse at 7°55' Pisces (GMT 5:26pm): Often the forerunner of portentous events relating to the Significators contacted.

10 March 1998, Jupiter Square Pluto: A major configuration that can result in loss of money or assets, more especially if it relates to the 2nd or 8th Houses. If the 5th is involved don't gamble—especially not in stocks and shares. Postpone elective surgery.

2 April 1998, Mars Conjunct Saturn: Another Aspect that has the potential for accidents and injury, but can also provide working energy and stamina. If it connects with one of your physical-body Significators, then be careful and deliberate in all your activities, especially if you are using tools or working around heavy machinery. Avoid dangerous activities that could result in falls or collisions.

30 April 1998, Mars Square Uranus: Again, a discordant Aspect that has the potential for accidents with tools, firearms, electrical appliances and machinery. If this aspect is prominent in your Chart postpone travel plans.

2 June 1998, Mars Opposite Pluto: Operates like Mars Square Pluto above, only more so. Has the potential for creating antagonism and long-lasting enmity, so tread carefully. Utilize its drive and energy along lines of constructive achievement.

25 June 1998, Saturn Square Neptune: Tends to illness and emotional upsets. Keep away from sources of infection, adulterated food, contaminated water, etc. In bad situations, brings flooding and trouble with gas leaks or plumbing. Relationships with others may suffer through covert hostility, deception or misrepresentation.

2 July 1998, Mars Square Jupiter: Encourages quick and effective action but avoid undue haste and impulsiveness. Money goes out freely. Creates a fire hazard in bad circumstances. Don't get entangled with the law, superiors at work or other authorities.

22 August 1998, Solar Eclipse at 28°48' Leo (GMT 2:4am): See the notes for the February Eclipse.

1 November 1998, Saturn square Neptune: A repeat of the June Aspect above, but in a different Zodiacal position. This could make it more or less important for you.

REMEMBER! Your responses to Test No.17 (Issue 197) are due by the 20th of this month.

—Dymock, 6 Jan 1998.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 197 December 1997

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

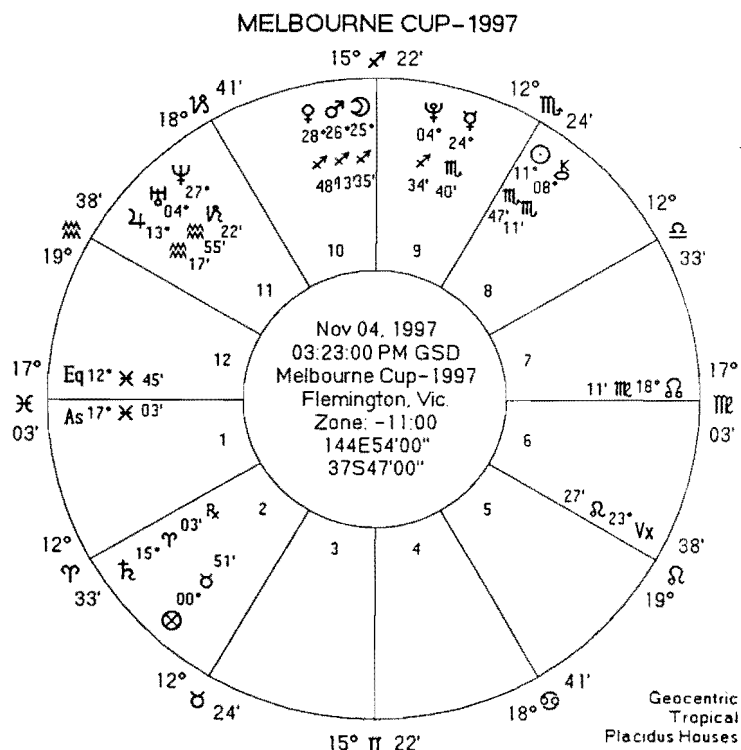

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

HORSE RACING

THE 1997 MELBOURNE CUP

Jack Nicholls (Vic.), who used his astrological expertise to win on last year's Melbourne Cup (see Astrologers' Forum 184, November 1996) has repeated the experience this year. His report:

A Chart drawn for the finish of the Cup using Placidus Cusps showed the Sun separating by 37' from the 9th Cusp, and Saturn applying by 2°30' to the 2nd Cusp. The latter would have been useful if the race had started minutes late. As it was, the start was only delayed by just over a minute according to my watch. Note that if the Regiomontanus system had been used, the Sun would have been applying by 1°13' to the 9th Cusp at the same assumed finishing time.

Horses that satisfied the Sun were Might and Power, Count Chivas and Grandmaster. However the betting that I went by in the morning before placing bets showed that Count Chivas and Grandmaster were beyond my odds limit, viz., 50:1 and 20:1. Might and

In This Issue...

	Page
The 1997 Melbourne Cup.....	1
A Case of Neo-Natal Death.....	1
Results of Test No.16.....	2
New Test, No.17.....	3
Cheryl Kernot	3

Power was backed for a win and paid $5.70 for a win on the tote. It had firmed from 8:1 with late support.

Editor's note: I might add to the above interesting account by Jack Nicholls that if Koch Cusps had been used the Sun would have been out of the picture entirely (separating by 4° from the 9th Cusp), and Saturn (Retrograde) would have been applying by 1°33' to the 2nd Cusp, leading to a false conclusion. On the other hand, the best indication would have been from the Regiomontanus Cusps where the Sun was applying to the 9th Cusp by 1°34', and getting closer and therefore more powerful by every minute that the race was delayed.

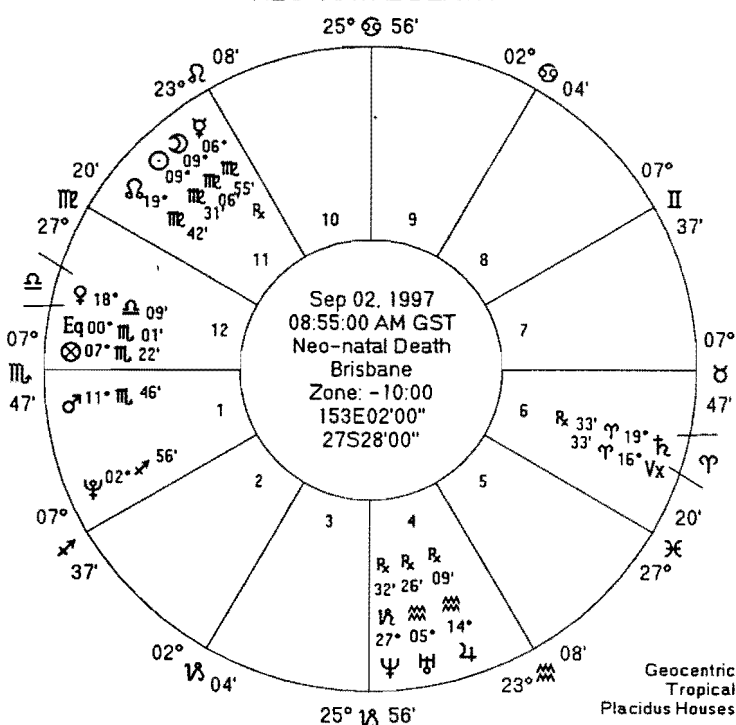

A Case of Neo-Natal Death by Lyla Williams (Qld)

The loss of a new-born baby is a tragic event, and some people might consider it insensitive to use such a chart for research into sudden death. However, the following Chart does seem to cry out for delineation. Perhaps the parents were aware of possible interest from astrologers, as they had the times of both birth and death included in the newspaper Notice.

The baby was born on the 2nd September this year at 8:55am, in the Royal Brisbane Hospital, and died at 10:45am. Mars rises in the 1st House, just 4° from the Ascendant at 7°47' Scorpio, square Jupiter Retrograde in the House of "beginnings and endings". Another planet in the 1st House (the physical body) is Pluto at 2°57' Sagittarius, squaring the Sun, Moon, and Solar Eclipse at 9° Virgo.

Ted Mann suggests that we look to the 9th House for clues to neo-natal health problems: With Cancer on the Cusp we find its Ruler, the Moon, sitting exactly on the pre-natal Solar Eclipse at 9° Virgo. The Moon also rules the 10th House whose Cusp is in opposition to

NEO-NATAL DEATH

Neptune.

How might one delineate the Chart, in hindsight, without knowing the actual cause of death? Mars in Scorpio close to the Ascendant suggests a surgical delivery, or one involving some surgical intervention, particularly in the light of the square from Uranus and Jupiter. Neptune not only rules the House of Health, but disposes the South Node in the 5th House (children). With Pluto square the Sun and Retrograde Mercury ruling the 12th House (hospitals and karma, among other things) one could postulate a chest weakness, breathing problems or even a mis-diagnosis.

As I always do when drawing up a chart, I checked the Fixed Stars, and was astonished to find Alioth at 8°49' Virgo conjunct the three planets (and Solar Eclipse). Ebertin gives a chilling warning for this Star when conjunct the Moon: Possible danger during pregnancy and delivery. It would be instructive to know whether the baby's mother had the Moon or any other planet or point at 9° Virgo, but as the family are unknown to me I cannot find this out. Ebertin gives a second example from his Pluto Book: The Birth Chart of a child suffering from an incurable congenital impairment of the metabolism—Alioth is conjunct Pluto, square the Moon = Venus/Neptune = Saturn/MC—all planets featuring strongly in our Chart.

A further example gives Mercury conjunct Alioth on the chart of a man struck down with infantile paralysis.

A final point about the 4th Fixed Star on the Chart: Mars conjoins the Southern Cross and Gemma. Ebertin warns that this latter star is associated with the Lord of the House of Death and, if connected with Neptune and Mars, infectious diseases and poisoning are indicated. Perhaps a reader proficient in Medical Astrology might examine the Chart and my delineation and give us further comments for a later Issue of Astrologers' Forum.

RESULTS OF TEST NO. 16

Here is Ross Harvey's report on the Test set in the November Issue:

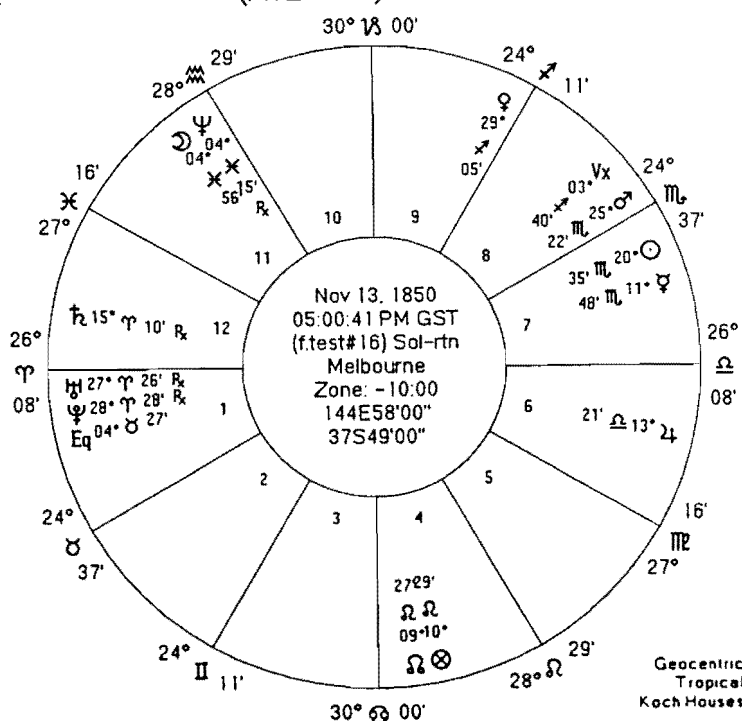

There were five entries for Test No. 16. Congratulations to Shirley Gray (Michigan, USA), Margaret Millard (England), and Dymock Brose (Adelaide), who were all correct. The event on 28th July 1997 was the death of the woman's husband. Shirley used a variety of cyclic charts, Margaret diurnal charts, and Dymock monthly Synodic returns.

I did think this one was easy, although I was surprised that no one mentioned the Station of Saturn on the 2nd of August. The woman's Birth Chart has the Sun almost exactly square Neptune on the 8th Cusp, with the Sun ruling the 7th and 8th Houses. Furthermore, Saturn was opposite her MC and conjunct her husband's Ascendant, and Mars transited over her MC on the 26th of July. I would have thought this would have suggested the death of the partner.

Her Standard Solar Return for the Birth place had Saturn conjunct the Vertex and opposite the Ascendant. The woman was 73 years old, and her 73rd Harmonic Chart had Saturn conjunct the Natal

Prenatal Solar Return, 13 Nov 1850
(Relating to period 14 Nov 96—14 Nov 97)

(F.TEST#16) SOL-RTN

Ascendant and the Moon, and the Ascendant opposite her Natal Saturn. Her Secondary-Progressed 8th Koch Cusp was square Neptune and quincunx Saturn. Her prenatal Solar Return (set for the birth place) was the cyclical chart that gave the most specific indications: The Ascendant was conjunct Uranus and Pluto, with Pluto ruling the 8th and Uranus ruling the 10th, and the Ascendant was also opposite Natal Saturn. The Sun was conjunct Mars, Co-Ruler of the 8th House, and both were conjunct the 8th Cusp.

Thanks to Ross for handling this Test (and others) which deprives him of the opportunity to attempt it himself. Happily he has supplied another one, details of which appear below.

Added to the indications cited by Ross, there was a very appropriate Direction by Naibod Arc, signifying a heavy loss, occurring on the very day of the husband's death (28th July 1997):

Saturn (8°59'Cap) square Jup/Nep (8°59'Lib)

—Dymock.

TEST NO.17

The subject is a woman born in Sydney on the 2nd of June 1947, at 2:30am AEST. She is married with two children. She and her family now live in Hobart, Tas., 42°53'S, 147°19'E. She is the second daughter of the subject of the previous Test, No.16.

What happened to her on the 13th of January 1972?

As the Christmas Season is now upon us, when multifarious activities shorten the leisure time available, the closing date for answers to this Exercise will be 20th January 1998, and the successful entrants will be named in the February Issue of Astrologers' Forum. The Test is open to all readers, whether subscribers or not. Please send your findings to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW, Australia 2074. Overseas readers who have the necessary facilities can if they wish send their entries to me by E-mail (dymock@ozemail.com.au).

CHERYL KERNOT

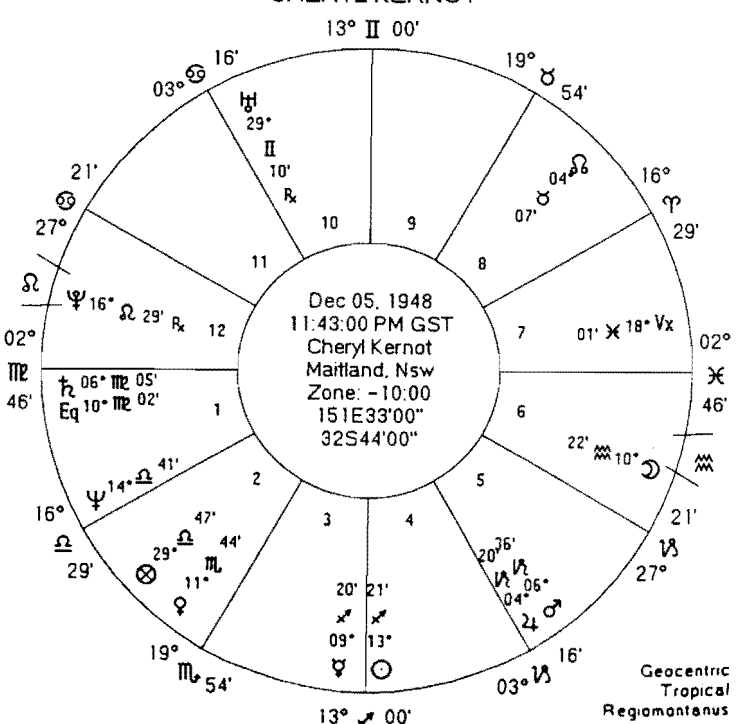

For the benefit of overseas readers unfamiliar with the Australian scene, Cheryl Kernot is a high-profile political figure who led the Australian Democrats Party with distinction for many years. Shortly after the South Australian State Election on 11th October last Cheryl created a shock and much controversy by leaving the Democrats and aligning herself with the Australian Labor Party, her stated reason being that she would be more effective as a political force with Labor than with the smaller Democrats Party, who are unlikely ever to achieve Government. She has yet to be elected, but if so is assured of a job on the Ministry bench. Her defection has aroused mixed feelings—joy and despondency, admiration and irritation among the public and politicians generally. Her future career and fortunes will be watched with great interest.

Birth data for the Chart below was supplied to Esoteric Technologies by Cheryl Kernot herself: Born 5 Dec.1948, at Maitland, NSW, between 11:30pm and midnight. Cheryl quotes her mother as stating the time was "somewhere in the last half hour before midnight, [nearer] 11:30pm", and her father saying "it was nearer to midnight".

FEMALE: TEST#17

CHERYL KERNOT

I have set the Chart for 11:43pm, with Regiomontanus Cusps, for the reason that in early October 1997 (the date of Cheryl's defection to Labor) this Chart has Transiting Neptune Stationary on the 6th Cusp, where it forms a perfect Mundane Trine to the MC, Neptune's latitude being very small (24'N).

This Neptune/MC trine exactly describes the event, inasmuch as the MC relates to career, and Neptune to secret dealings and "an intuitive awareness of how to promote one's professional affairs". The negotiations leading up to the change of Party were conducted in great secrecy, Cheryl's departure coming without warning or the prior knowledge of her own Party (the Democrats). It was mooted that such prior knowledge would have been leaked to the media and harmed her Party's chances in the State Election where, in fact, it performed well. Neptune, true to its nature, symbolized a plan engineered in secret and causing a sensation on its disclosure.

It is noteworthy that Neptune in the Birth Chart is in close Zodiacal trine to the MC (as well as trining the Moon), which gives added significance to the Mundane Trine in October/November.

Neptune came to its Station on 9th October at 27°11' Capricorn. The Regiomontanus 6th Cusp for the time adopted is 27°21' Capricorn. The Koch 6th Cusp for the same time is 0°58' Aquarius, the Placidian 6th Cusp, 0°18' Aquarius, and the Campanus 6th, 23°14' Capricorn, none of which allows a Mundane Trine of Neptune to the MC..

Cheryl Kernot's dramatic change in her career is, naturally, reflected in her Cyclic Charts. Cheryl made her move in October 1997 when she was 48. Her 48th Harmonic Chart very appropriately shows Pluto at 11°34' of Gemini conjunct the Natal Midheaven at 13°0' Gemini, and opposite the Natal Sun at 13°21' of Sagittarius. The Solar Return and Age Synodic Charts which I have inspected likewise depict the alteration in her life.

Cheryl is now 49, and her 49th Harmonic Chart applies to her current personal year, 5 Dec.97—5 Dec.98. This Chart appears in the adjacent column.

The salient points are the Sun conjunct Neptune and the Moon conjunct Saturn, both conjunctions being in square to one another. It cannot be said that this configuration portrays brilliant achievements in the coming twelve months, which view is strengthened when one examines the 10th House (career, status, etc.): Venus, ruling Libra on the Cusp, at 5°8' Gemini is square to the "floating" MC and Mercury and square to Natal Saturn at 6°5' Virgo. Furthermore, the MC itself, at 15°38' Libra is conjunct Natal Neptune at 14°41' Libra.

It appears, therefore, that Cheryl's career will be on hold during 1998.

In 1999, however, matters will be different. The Harmonic Chart for age 50 (5 Dec.98—5 Dec.99) shows Pluto (14°33' Pisces) at the Midheaven (18°24' Pisces) trine to Mercury ruling the Ascendant. I read from this an assumption of power for Cheryl, and full scope for her abilities in trenchant expression and rational persuasion. Mercury, closely sextile to Venus, will add grace and diplomacy to her articulation of policy. Jupiter, traditional Ruler of the Piscean Midheaven, is conjunct the Moon in the 11th House, lending weight to the prediction of a new position of authority and influence for her. This conjunction also shows public support, and a much increased income, the Moon ruling the House of Earnings.

So, not 1998, but 1999 will be the year of Cheryl Kernot's fulfillment and the flowering of her career. In her Natal Chart Cheryl has the Sun in Sagittarius right on the Lower Meridian trine to Pluto, plus Jupiter ruling the 4th (final issues) conjunct Mars and trine Saturn, so it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that Cheryl Kernot will become Australia's first female Prime Minister.

—Dymock.

QN: What is a good Christmas present for an astrologer friend? ANS: A $20 subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 196 November 1997

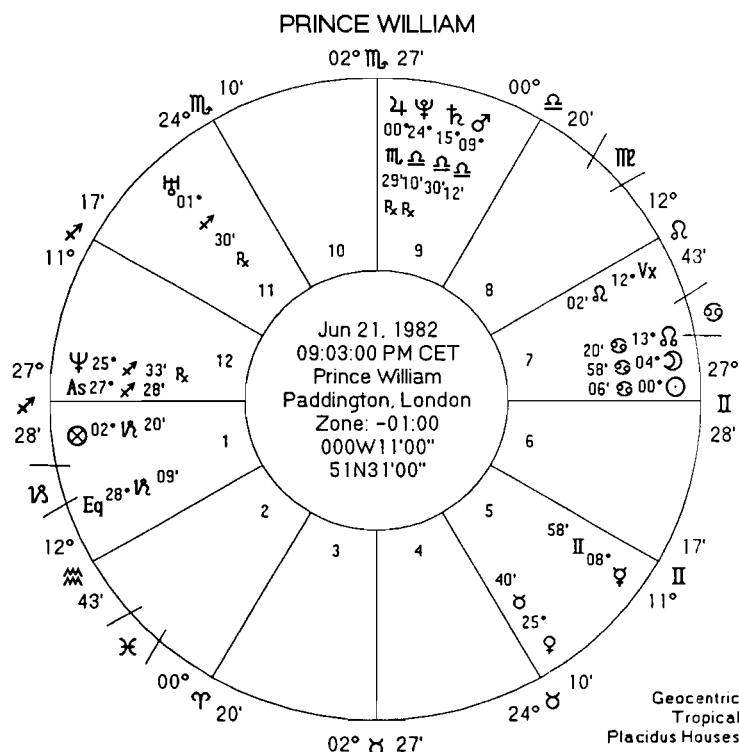

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: Dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

PROFILE OF A PRINCE

by Allan Johnson

In view of the widespread public interest in the dramatic death of Princess Diana, the question has been raised about the possibility of Prince William becoming the next King. Public opinion polls show that this would go a long way to rehabilitate the image of the Royal Family which has been somewhat tarnished by the behaviour of Prince Charles. So it is worthwhile having a look at Prince William's Chart to see what the indications are. Prince William was born on the 21st of June 1982, 9:02pm BST in London. His mother's charisma has been astonishing, so it will be interesting to see how his stands up by comparison. They both have Sun in Cancer and Sagittarius rising. What does Destiny say about his future?

Neptune is in Sagittarius right on his Ascendant, so it does give him an outgoing personality but also a lot of sensitivity—more suitable for an artist or musician, but at the same time it could generate a lot of glamour. Add to this the placement of Jupiter right on his Midheaven in conjunction with Pluto. He won't shun

In This Issue...

	Page
Profile of a Prince.....	1
Princess Diana's Chart—the Fame?	2
Test #16	3
A Plus for Astrology.....	3
The Year 2000 Bug	3
Date of the new Millenium	4
Solving Mysteries with the Event Chart	4

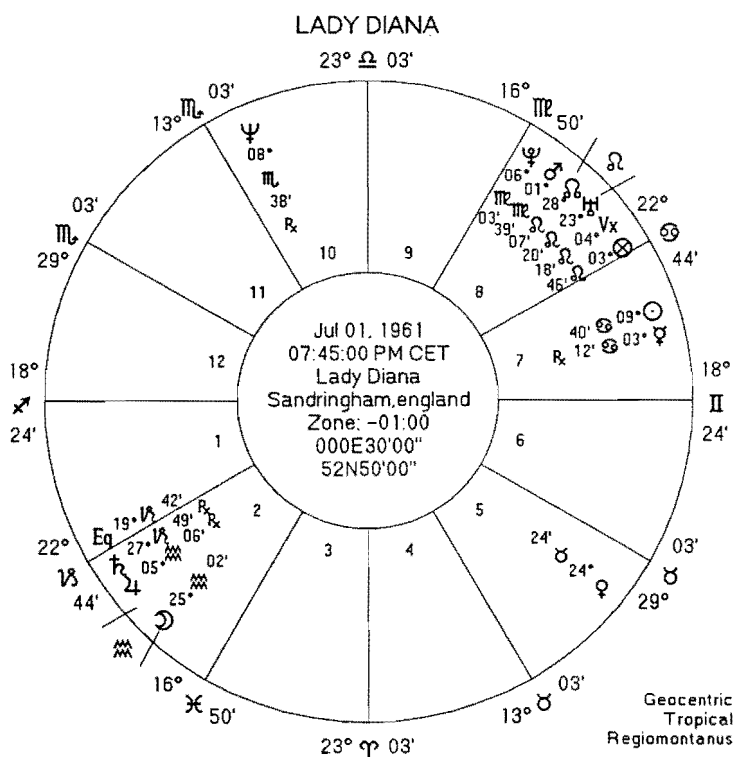

the limelight. So he is not really miscast for his future role. He will never be a recluse. There is nothing macho about his personality but the days are long since gone when monarchs led their armies into battle. So his type of temperament does fit in well with the type of monarch required for today's world—something more in the style of the film star. Neptune right on the Ascendant does suggest a lot of personal magnetism.

Looking at things more from a destiny point of view, Pluto and Scorpio have a strong connection with royal houses as they are linked with the hereditary principle. Scorpio is right on the M.C. and Pluto is virtually there due to its conjunction with Jupiter which is right on the M.C. Pluto is very much a fatalistic planet, so here it is playing a very strong part in his future destiny. Add this to the fact that Pluto is also part of the Yod pattern. The Yod is the "Finger of God", which does point very strongly to the fatalistic side of his life, and links Pluto with Neptune and Venus. Another interesting point is that William was born on the summer solstice, just after an eclipse. Eclipses have frequently been linked with fatalistic events in history. So we can see where fate is leading him. We don't get this type of fatalistic element so strongly in the Chart of his father, Prince Charles. The elevated Mars/Saturn conjunction in the 9th House also shows that a strong sense of duty is likely to be a powerful motivation in William's life.

So Prince William's Chart does make out a case for him to succeed Queen Elizabeth as the next Monarch, but I think there is little value at the present time in trying to predict when this will happen. However, there are some further points worth mentioning. He is not a macho type, and the Neptune rising points to a high degree of sensitivity, and although Neptune is much associated with art and music it also rules the sea. It has been traditional for Princes to enter the Services—so it looks like the Navy for him—he is no rebel. The Sun is also in opposition to Neptune, which would give him a great love of the sea, plus the 9th House being heavily tenanted, and with Jupiter on the M.C. Another interesting point is that although his Sun is in Cancer, it is exactly on the Cusp of Gemini. I see this Cuspal position as giving him a lot of adaptability, a person who could fit in with his historic role without rocking the boat too much. So, seeing that Jupiter is conjunct his M.C. and exactly trining his Sun, I think he will go down in history as the “lucky King”.

Princess Diana's Chart —Where is the Fame?

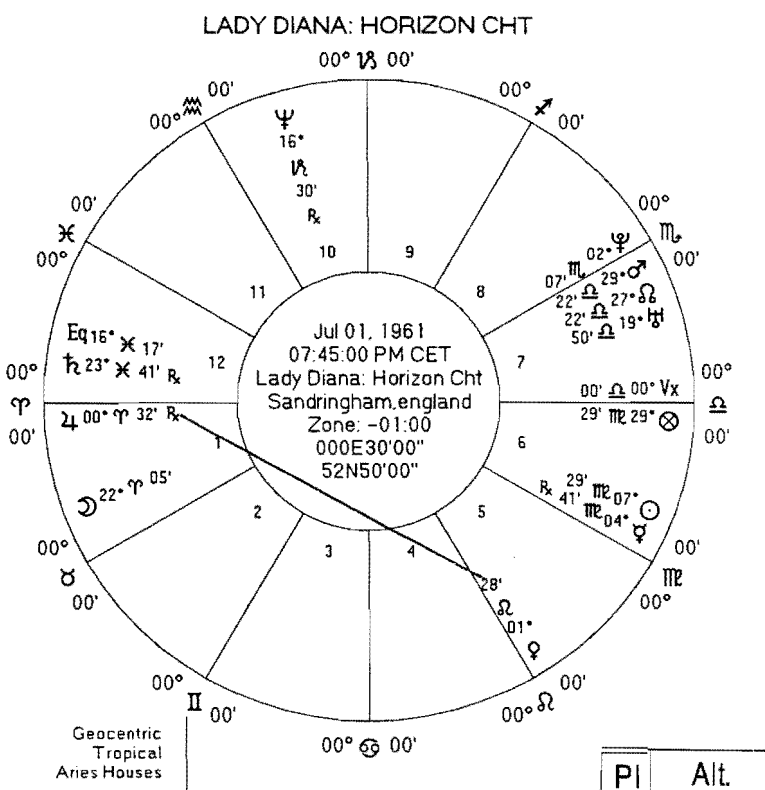

It seems true to say that Princess Diana was better known all over the world than any of the heads of state, international sports people, film stars, etc. This was due to the continuous media coverage—newspapers, magazines, television and radio. Her measure of fame has been unequalled in the present century, or perhaps in any century. One would therefore expect it to be obvious in the traditional Birth Horoscope (above). Fame is principally associated with the expansive planet, Jupiter, prominently placed and powerfully aspected.

In the Birth Chart above, Jupiter certainly is the Ruler, but is placed in a Succedent House, quincunx to Pluto and square to Neptune. These do indicate some measure of fame, but not on the scale of what actually happened, while the rather wide conjunction with Saturn inclines to privacy and secrecy. Obviously, we have to look elsewhere for the indications we are seeking.

The answer lies in the Horizon Chart, which has the planets ranged around the horizon of the birth place instead of along the Ecliptic in the traditional way. This Chart appears below.

Jupiter is almost exactly on the East Point, and is in close trine to Venus which is also accentuated by being very close to the Nor-Nor-West compass point (equivalent to the normal 5th Cusp). This powerful position and aspect of Jupiter accounts for the widespread and continuous publicity as well as the public adulation that Princess Diana received. The power of the planets in a Horizon Chart varies directly with (1) their closeness to Cardinal compass points), (2) the strength of their Aspects to the other bodies, and (3) their altitude above the horizon. The Zodiacal Signs have no significance other than to facilitate the calculation of the Aspects.

Jupiter obviously scores highest, being in the most powerful position (conjunct the East point), closely trine to Venus, and only 25°12' below the horizon (see the Table). Venus is the next most powerful, being only 1°28' off an intermediate compass point, and 16°1' below the horizon.

A sinister feature of this Chart, though irrelevant for our present purpose, is the conjunction of Mars and Pl	Alt.

☉	-31° 33'
☽	+12° 01'
♂	+04° 32'
♀	-16° 01'
♂	+34° 27'
♂	-25° 12'
♂	-21° 30'
♂	+32° 02'
♂	+23° 09'
♂	+46° 37'

Pluto on the 8th "Cusp" (horrific death).

—Dymock.

TEST NO.16

Ross Harvey has supplied a further exercise to challenge the skill of readers. The subject is a woman born 14th November 1923 in Melbourne, Victoria, Australia, at 10.00am AEST. Her Birth Chart appears below. She and her husband, who is retired (born 12th May 1917, approximately 4.00am AEST, Barraba, NSW, 30S21, 150E35) live near Gosford on the Central Coast. The coordinates of Gosford are 33S26, 151E20. They have three children, and she has three from her first marriage. The question is: What happened to her on 28th July 1997?

Ross notes optimistically, "This one should be fairly easy". Readers should remember that although it is pleasing to find the correct answer the main value of the exercise comes from the new insights and understanding that result from the investigative work needed. Please send your answers to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia 2074. The astrological reason for your answer should be included.

So that the solution can be published in the December Issue, entries should be in by Thursday, November 27. This will give about three weeks for readers to reach a conclusion, which should be sufficient time if you get cracking right away. Give the Test priority over the easy reading of pleasant but non-demanding astrological material. To allow some overseas subscribers about the same time for consideration of the problem (airmail from Adelaide takes a week to reach them) I propose to send the Test by E-mail to those who have this facility as soon as the present Issue, No. 196, is published. Their replies may also be sent by E-mail to dymock@ozemail.com.au and I shall relay them to Ross.

A PLUS FOR ASTROLOGY!

On July 21, 1982, well-known Australian Astrologer, Richard Sterling wrote of Prince William in The Australian Women's Weekly, "Provided this young Prince survives the difficulties which will occur in babyhood, advance cycles in the Horoscope show that he will have to face some extremely adverse circumstances in 1997 and 1998 when he will be 15 to 16 years of age".

William's mother, the Princess Diana, died in the car crash on 31st August 1997.

[Magazine cutting supplied by Elaine Taylor (NSW)]

The Year 2000 Bug

Will it Affect Astrologers?

[from Esoteric Technologies, Pty Ltd, the creators of Solar Fire, Solar Maps, Solar Spark.]

Astrologers may rest assured that the infamous "Year 2000" or "Millennium" bug which has been reported widely in the press, is unlikely to cause any significant problem with astrological software on their home computers.

Unlike some other business applications that run on mainframe computers, astrological programs have always needed to be able to cope with dates in other centuries, including dates beyond the year 2000. They are invariably designed to store dates using all four digits of the year number. This means that astrological programs will continue to operate quite normally beyond the year 2000.

However, there is a small possibility that some PC owners will find that their computers' clocks reset themselves to the year 1900 at the end of the 31st December 1999. Generally, this is only likely to happen on older PC's, and it is not a serious problem, because all you will have to do is to set the computer's clock to the year 2000 (using the Date/Time utility in the Windows Control Panel, for example), after which there should be no further problem.

Of course, with the vast array of software available today, it is always possible that there will be some other program on your computer that does not work correctly after the year 2000, but we suspect that this will be very much the exception rather than the rule.

Date of the New Millenium

The Australian Prime Minister, Mr Howard, has announced that the new Millenium will officially begin on January 1, 2001, not 12 months earlier as many had expected. "The year 2000 will be the last year in the current Century and Millenium. Both the 21st Century and the 3rd Millenium will begin on Monday, 1 January, 2001".

Confusion over the date of the dawn of each century stems from the beginning of the Christian era, when the year 1 BC was followed by 1 AD without a year zero. Without an official international body to determine the date, individual nations could be marking the millennium a year apart.

MP Barry Jones (former Pick-a-Box and Sale of the Century champion) said that in Britain the Millennium Commission has in fact made the mistake of celebrating the year 2000. "It's a matter of sheer logic because if you say the end of the millennium is 1999 you're actually creating two millenniums of unequal length, one of 1000 years and one of 999."

[Taken from The Advertiser Newspaper, Adelaide, 27th August 1997.]

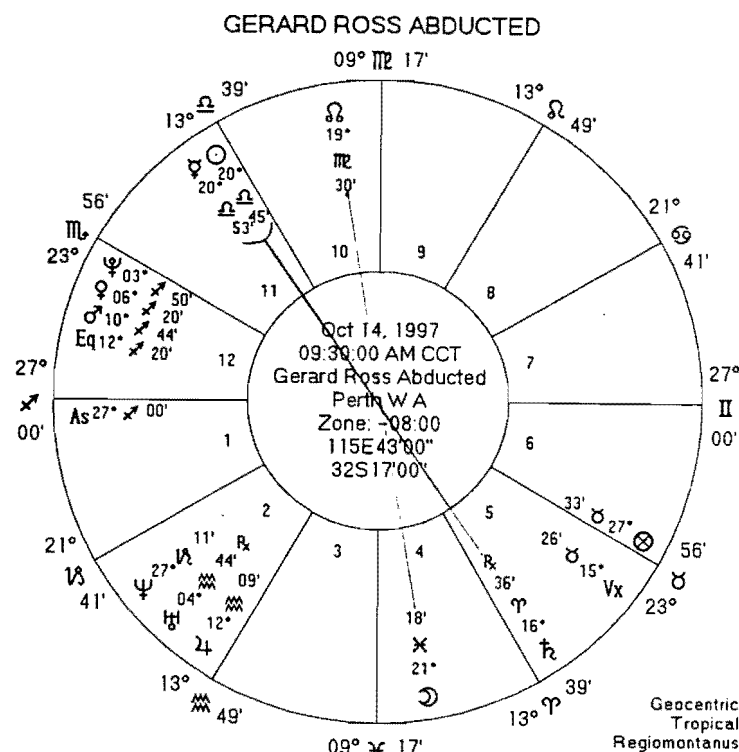

Solving Mysteries with the EVENT CHART

Event Charts are Horary Charts, with the distinction from the latter that they are not subject to the so-called "Strictures against Judgement", which the classicists regard as rendering a Horary Chart unreliable for assessing the outcome. When a horoscope is timed for an actual event, no such restrictions apply and it can be read without qualification, but still with all the facilities of judgement that are available for Horarys.

An example is the abduction of Gerard Ross, an 11-year old boy in West Australia, who disappeared on Tuesday morning, October 14, 1997. He was abducted in broad daylight when walking to a shop to buy comics. His body was found a fortnight later, on 29th October, in bushland South of Perth, about 16km from where he was last seen in Rockingham, 60km South of Perth.

The Figure in the adjoining column is an Event Chart, set for the time and place of Gerard's disappearance. If it were simply a Horary Chart, according to the "Strictures against Judgement" the late degree on the Ascendant would disqualify it from being read. As it is, the horoscope for the event depicts the tragic outcome of Gerard's abduction:

(1) Saturn in the House of Children opposite the Sun (destruction of the life force) and Saturn opposite Mercury, (offence against a child).

(2) The Moon in the House of Endings, ruling the House of Death, opposite the Moon's North Node, and therefore conjunct the South Node. Conjunction with the South Node is itself an indication of death, and being in the 4th House, and having regard to the Moon's rulership of the 8th House, signifies termination of the life.

(3) The Moon in Pisces applying by sextile to Neptune, Ruler of Pisces and the House of Endings. This connection with Neptune is strongly reinforced by the reciprocal effect of a Significator in a Sign being aspected by the Ruler of that Sign. Though the sextile is a relatively mild Aspect (though not necessarily a "good" one—which depends on the planets involved) the reciprocity makes it as strong as a Square.

(4) The 12th House becomes the House of Death for the boy through being the derived 8th House from the 5th (children), and it is tenanted by the two malefic Significators of death, Mars and Pluto, joint Rulers of the House.

(5) The Moon at 3°36' South Declination is contra-parallel Saturn at 3°59' North Declination.

The malefactor has not yet been found. It is obviously a man (the Sun opposite Saturn in the House of Children), and not one just passing through but living in the neighbourhood (Saturn ruling the 3rd House). I surmise that he will be discovered when Retrograde Saturn, having turned Direct, comes again to the opposition of the Sun, and Jupiter will be transiting the 4th House and the Moon. Both these events will happen in March 1998.

—Dymock.

The matter of the best House Cusps to use is again a matter of debate. If you have any experience in testing the different systems of domification, please send in your results.

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?
ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 195 October 1997

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

REPORT ON TEST NO. 15

by Ross Harvey (NSW)

There were five entrants for Test No. 15. Despite two entrants having tried several times no one was correct, although Ken Gillman (USA) did pick that the event had something to do with overseas by using diurnal charts, and at his third attempt Jack Nicholls (Vic.) suggested that the event could have been to do with a journey, communication or hospitalization, and Margaret Millard (U.K) did suggest travel as part of her answer.

On the 27th of March this year, the couple left on a two months' world trip. As this wasn't a life-changing event for either, it was perhaps harder than I at first thought it was. Nevertheless it was possible to get close by using cyclic charts, as it was the most important event of the year for both.

Had I been attempting this Test myself I would have at first tried to tell whether the event was favourable or otherwise. The wife's Q1 KSR (the Progressed Birthday Solar Return) had the Ascendant conjunct Jupiter, and her 37th Lunar Return after birth had the Sun conjunct Mercury, Venus and Jupiter, and Pluto, which ruled the 9th House was conjunct the Radical MC. All of this was obviously very favourable, and indeed I had told her several years before that this year would be especially good because of the 37th Lunar Return. In her Transit Solar Return, the Sun ruled the (Koch) 9th and was trine Jupiter which ruled the Ascendant, while her Prenatal Precessed Solar Return had Uranus ruling the 9th and conjunct the MC.

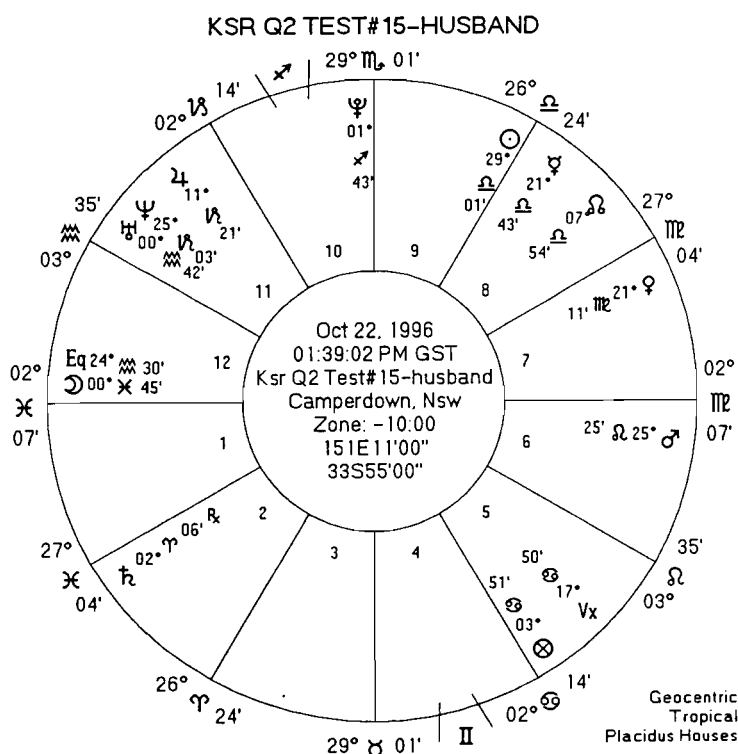

The 9th House emphasis was more clear in the husband's Chart. His Transit Solar Return had Venus and Mars conjunct the 9th Cusp, and Jupiter conjunct the 2nd, and Square Saturn (= considerable expense!), In his Q1 KSR the 9th Cusp was conjunct the Radical Sun. In his Q2 KSR, which gave the clearest indications, the Sun was conjunct the 9th Cusp and trine the Moon on the Ascendant, and the Ruler of the 9th (for the Placidus Cusp), Venus, was trine Neptune which ruled the Ascendant. If Koch Cusps were used,

In This Issue...

	Page
Report on Test #15.....	1
Diana and the Life-Span Revolution	2
Comments On Cusps	3
The Bija Rate of Progression.....	3
Diana and the Solar Eclipse	3
Diana's Primary Directions	3
Tri-Wheel: Solar Eclipse, Birth, Prgd Cht.....	4

the Sun was closer to the 9th Cusp, and Pluto, its Ruler, was conjunct the MC. I have had just this indication myself in a Q2 KSR for an overseas trip.

What we can all learn from this Test is the importance of planets conjunct the Cusps of the various Solar Returns and, as well, the importance of both types of KSRs.

Ross continues with the following interesting comments on CUSPS:

I've been looking again at Koch Cusps, despite my having rejected them some time ago. In particular, I have been looking at the 2nd Cusp in the charts of the rich, and nine times out of ten it is the Koch Cusp that is in aspect to Jupiter. Princess Diana had Koch Cusp 2 very closely semi-octile Jupiter, but the 2nd Placidian Cusp conjunct Saturn (!). Prince Charles has Koch Cusp 2 trine Jupiter; the Queen has Koch Cusp 2 mundane conjunct Jupiter; Elton John has Koch Cusp 2 sextile Jupiter and semisquare Pluto, and so on. Perhaps it's all more complicated than I thought.

And re Diana's death:

Regarding Princess Diana, her Solar Return had the Ascendant conjunct Mars which ruled the 7th and 8th; her Q1 KSR had the Ascendant conjunct Mars, opposite Saturn and square Neptune; her 36th Harmonic had the Ascendant conjunct Neptune and opposite Uranus and square Pluto, and Saturn opposite her Radical Sun. If the Chart Angles were Progressed with the Solar Arc in Right Ascension, her Secondary Progressed Ascendant would have been conjunct p.Saturn in December, and her birth time would have had to be only a very little later to make this close enough to the event. At her death p.Saturn was 25° Cap $13'$, and the p.Ascendant 24° Cap $35'$.

Had I known before that her parents had separated when she was six, and that that was the most traumatic event of her childhood, I might have made the correlation with the Life-Span Revolution p.Sun conjunct Pluto, which is always a disaster. This gave a life span of 35.5 years [Diana died aged 36]. Even had she lived to be 80, this conjunction must have happened before she was seventeen, and so the separation was the most likely event to which the conjunction could have related. As it was I had no definite dates for her before her engagement, and so I wasn't expecting an early death.

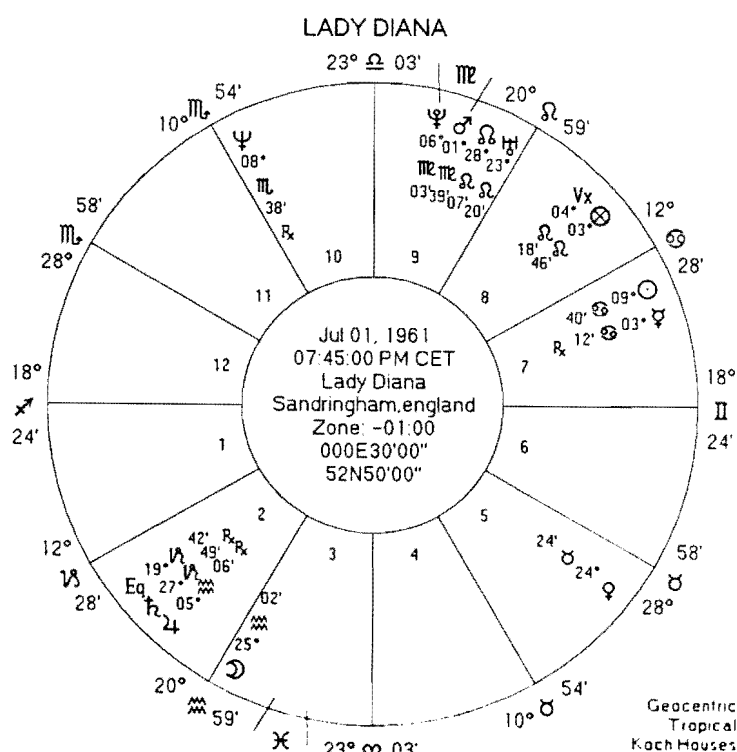

Her Birth Chart should have had some indication of her early death. As I said in the original article, the LSRev can't be reliably used for people who die young. There must be some indication in the chart. As it is, with Placidus Cusps, I can't see anything, but then I tried Koch: The Sun, which rules the 9th, is conjunct the 8th Cusp (orb $2^{\circ}48'$), and is semisquare Uranus which is on the 9th Cusp and rules the 3rd, and is itself opposite the Moon on the 3rd Cusp, ruling the 8th. All very clear for death in a traffic accident abroad.

Those CUSPS Again!

Ross Harvey has raised the point that if Koch Cusps are used on Princess Diana's Chart then a group of Significators (Uranus, Moon's North Node, Mars and Pluto) appear in the 9th instead of the 8th House as with Placidian, Regiomontanus and Topocentric Houses (apart from others). Ross points out that with Koch domification, the Sun rules the 9th House (travel abroad), is $2^{\circ}48'$ from the 8th Cusp (death), and is semisquare Uranus on the 9th Cusp, ruling the 3rd (short trips). Uranus is itself opposite the Moon on the 3rd Cusp, ruling the 8th, "all very clear for death in a traffic accident abroad".

The question of the "best" House System is a perennial one, though it has not bothered a lot of astrologers who simply use what they have been introduced to in the early stages of their learning, and others, the "cosmobiologists" don't use any. My own thought on the matter is that almost any House system is better than none, but undoubtedly some are better than others, at least for certain purposes. It is seldom we see such a clear demonstration of difference between the House systems as in the above instance—Koch as against Placidian and others. I recently changed from Placidian to Regiomontanus Cusps, having discovered evidence of their validity in several charts on which I was working. Before that, I used Placidian all the time for many years, and before that Topocentric. Just as I begin to feel comfortable with the Regiomontanus Cusps the question arises again. In view of the evidence brought forward by Ross I am now tempted to change once more and use Koch Cusps as the standard procedure. Here is Princess Diana's Birth Chart drawn with Koch Cusps.

In addition to the point raised by Ross, the accumulation of Malefics in the 9th House is very appropriate for the well-publicized trouble Diana had with her in-laws, the Royal Family, and also correlates with her extensive travels abroad..

This is a good case for Koch in the present instance. Will the question remain forever open? Readers are invited to add their experience to this discussion. If you have good grounds for preferring one House system over another, please let us hear from you.

—Dymock.

The Bija Rate of Progression

by Elva Howson (Vic)

Regarding the death of Princess Diana, your statement "The more usual Progressions/Directions yielded nothing of importance" may well be considered close to correct if one uses the most popular method of Secondary Progression based on one mean Solar day after birth equals one year of life. For some years I too have been disappointed with charts and the results from that method, and now use the more correct measure of one Sidereal Day equals one year of life. Solar Fire produces these charts by the selection of the Bija rate of Progression, and various preferred methods of Progressed Angles (I use MC Progressed by Solar Arc).

The Bija rate, as it is called, is slightly slower than the more commonly used rate, and when this is applied to Princess Diana's Chart shows strong and applicable planetary contacts for her accidental demise:

p.As ☐ p.♀ (orb 10'), p.♂ < p.♂ (1'), p.♂ ≈ n.♂ (15'), p.♂ ≈ n.♂ (27'), p.♂ ≈ n.♂ (26'), p.♂ ≈ n.♂ (30').

None of these is partile but all are within 30' of orb. Astrologers who have researched a large number of events over many years know that only rarely do we find Secondary Progressed Aspects exact on the date of an event but we do know that a catalyst uniting the Progressed planetary energies will be present in a major event. Such catalysts are any, or all, of the following: Secondary Moon, the Eclipse Chart, a Lunation or strong Transit contacts. The above-mentioned Bija rate-Secondary Moon for Diana on the day of the accident/death shows these very tight contacts:

p.♂ ☐ p.♂ (0°orb), p.♂ ☐ p.♂ (1'), p.♂ ≈ n.♂ (15'), p.♂ ≈ n.♂ (2'). ♂ rules the Natal 4th Cusp, and the ♀ rules the Natal 8th Cusp.

Over a period of some 12 years I have written and lectured on the importance of considering the Eclipse CHART as opposed to merely the degree of the Eclipse itself, and this event once again shows the value of adopting this procedure. Once the three Charts are placed on a Tri-wheel the overall picture satisfies me that the combined planetary energies tell the story of the event. For the sake of brevity I will not go into further detail but leave it for readers to examine the Charts for additional indications of the tragedy.

[The Tri-wheel referred to by Elva appears on Page 4]

MORE ON THE ECLIPSE

by Clair Bunnett (Vic)

In response to your excellent astrological analysis of the death of Princess Diana (Astrologers' Forum No. 194), I would like to add a note concerning the partial Solar Eclipse that occurred at 9°34' Virgo (00:52am 2 Sep. 1997, London Summer Time), two days after the death crash.

The Solar Eclipse at 9°34' Virgo was linked with Transiting Mercury Retrograde at 6°53' Virgo. This approaching planetary configuration could have affected Princess Diana's Natal Mars at 1°39' Virgo and Pluto at 6°53' Virgo, both placed in the 8th House (death) of her Natal Chart.

The death crash partook of the nature of Mars and Pluto, as it occurred in an armoured car (Mars), and in a tunnel underground (Pluto).

Misunderstandings complicated the short journey—a change of car, a change of driver, and the paparazzi (Transiting Mercury Retrograde).

No astrologers forecast this tragedy in 1997. However, astrologers were aware that, with Mars and Pluto in conjunction in the 8th House of her Natal Chart, Princess Diana's eventual death was likely to be both sudden (Mars) and fated (Pluto).

PRIMARY DIRECTIONS

RUDOLF SMIT (Netherlands) using the system of Primary Directions (known here as P.E.A.—Primary Event Analysis) initiated by his countryman Wim van Dam, has supplied the following Primary Directions relating to the death of Princess Diana:

Forward Primaries:

Vx♂♂ (3' orb). ♂ < ♀.

Converse Primaries:

As ☐ ♀ (Ruler 8th). As ☐ ☉ (Co-Ruler 8th)

♀ (Ruler 8th) ☐ ♂. As ♀♀.

If the time of the birth is adjusted to 30 seconds earlier, then — As ☐ ♀ (8th Ruler, in 8th).

Inner Wheel

Solar Eclipse 1/9/97Natal Chart

1 Sep 1997

11:51:44 PM GMT +0:00

London, U.K.

51N32 000W07

GeocentricTropicalPlacidusTrue Node

Middle Wheel

Princess DianaNatal Chart

1 Jul 1961

7:45 PM CET -1:00

Sandringham

52N50 000E30

*GeocentricTropicalPlacidusTrue NodeOuter Wheel: Princess Diana, Secondary Progression by Bija Rate.*MC Directed by Solar-Arc in Longitude.

31 Aug 1997, 2:30 am CET (-1:00 Hr) Sandringham, 52N50, 000E30.

Geocentric. Tropical. Placidus. True Node

How far away? Mercury at 29°46', 10th House, and Venus, Ruler of the 4th House (the grave), at 24°10', suggest 24 kilometres away. This distance South-

South-East of Parramatta gives us the Heathcote, Royal National Park area.

3. Who was responsible?

7th-House Ruler, Jupiter, in the 8th House, the derived 11th House from Mercury in the 10th, suggests an ex-friend, someone close to the family. With the Saturn/Jupiter/MarsYod, perhaps a neighbour is involved in some way, the presence of three planets and the Vertex in the House of "money from others", linked to the Mars neighbour, suggesting a Scorpionic lover or ex-lover (Mars ruling the 5th). The Ruler of the 7th House is not only the enemy, but also a partner. So what is the connection? Libel laws prevent further comment.

4. Further Thoughts.

Arabic Parts:

The Ascendant, 23°Gem1', exactly conjoins the Part of Danger or Peril, 23°Gem1'.

Mars, 17°Vir8', opposes the Part of Catastrophe, 16°Pis10'.

Fixed Stars:

Venus, 24°Tau10', conjoins Capulus, 24°Tau9', "Male, sexual, and/or aggressive".

Saturn, 14°Ari38', conjoins Alpheratz, 14°Ari15', "Wanting freedom and movement".

The Sun, 15°Tau30', conjoins Menkar, 14°Tau16', "A victim of the unconscious".

References:

Dymock Brose, Astrologers' Forum, Issue 192, July 1997, P.4.
William Lilly, Christian Astrology, republished by JustUs & Assoc, 1997.

The Horary Astrologer, Issue 12, Murders, Missing People, Death, Jan 1992, P.11.

Solar Fire interpretations of the Arabic Parts and Fixed Stars.

KERRY WHELAN: ABDUCTION CHART

Another relevant Chart for the disappearance of Mrs Kerry Whelan is the one in the next column, for the time when it was noticed that she was missing—about 5pm on 6th May.

In general terms, this Chart is more forbidding than the one analysed above by Rob Polglase. The violent and extreme Sign, Scorpio, rises, with the Ascending degree being opposed by a conjunction of both Luminaries. The malefic planet, Neptune (mystery, disappearance), is retrograde on the 4th Cusp (endings, the grave), and is very closely squared by Mercury Retrograde in Aries, another violent Sign, and ruling the House of Death.

The 4th House also holds Uranus at 8°Aqu39', in very close square to Mrs Whelan's Co-Significator, the Moon, at 8°Tau15'. This could be read, literally, as a sudden (Uranus) end (4th House) to the unfortunate victim (the Moon).

Mrs Whelan here has two other Significators—Mars in Virgo and Pluto in Sagittarius, Co-Rulers of the Ascendant. Mars occupies the Sign, Virgo, and rules the 6th House. Both Sign and House are associated with servants or subordinates, which immediately raises the question, is an employee involved? As Mars is trine to the Sun, it would be a male employee.

Mars in Virgo is in Mutual Reception with Mercury in Aries, thus linking the two planets, which together are much associated with accidents and injury. Mars at 17°Vir10' is right on the Critical Degree, 17°Vir9' ("the end of one phase of activity and the beginning of another"—Anthony Louis), and Mercury rules the House of Death, as already mentioned.

The Moon is combust (destroyed by) the Sun, a further indication that the kidnapping was followed by murder.

What was the motive for the abduction (and probable slaying) of Mrs Whelan, and who is the guilty party? The Chart gives multiple indications to its being a crime of passion:

1. There are three Rulers of the 5th House (romantic love): Uranus, ruling the Sign on the Cusp, Jupiter and Neptune ruling the Intercepted Sign. All three have significant Aspects connecting them with the victim or the crime: Uranus, 8°Aqu39', is square the Moon at 8°Tau15'; Neptune, 29°Cap57', squares Mercury (dispositor of the victim's Significator, Mars) at 29°Ari42'; Jupiter at 20°Aqu5' squares Venus (in and ruling the House of the perpetrator) at 24°Tau 32'.

2. Venus at Declination 18°40'N is contraparallel Uranus at 18°41'S (emotional tension).

3. The Node of Mars at 26°Sco25' (See Astrologers' Forum #180, July 1996) is opposed by Venus at 24°33' ("sudden outburst of extreme passion").

4. The Sun on the 7th Cusp, signifying a male partner—or enemy—and ruling the House of acquaintances and friends, is trine Mars, Mrs. Whelan's Significator.

5. Venus, ruling the House of partners and opponents, at 24°Tau 33' is precisely opposite the Arabic Part of Divorce, 24°Sco33', the opposition symbolizing the loss of a personal tie.

Who is the guilty party? The square of Neptune to Mercury draws attention as the most significant Aspect, because (1) it is nearly exact (orb only 15') and (2) Neptune is right on the Lower Meridian. Its Angular position adds greatly to its power. Mercury disposes Mrs Whelan's Primary Significator, Mars, and rules the House of Death. Symbolically, Mercury has "disposed" of Kerry Whelan by causing her death. Neptune co-rules the 5th House (lover or would-be lover) and is at the Midpoint Sat/Asc, 29°Cap10', Saturn ruling the House of Endings, the Ascendant signifying Mrs Whelan. Another Arabic Part that bears on the matter is the Part of Treachery at 27°Can50', which is conjunct the Midheaven (orb 15'): A former lover turned against her?—the midpoint of Mercury and Neptune is 14°Pis49', which is conjunct the Part of Passion, 15°Pis3'.

All this leads to the conclusion that Mrs Whelan's abductor was someone known to her, an ex-lover or infatuated admirer and would-be lover, and the reported ransom demand (Jupiter/Saturn, 17°Pis22' opposite Mars, 17°Vir10') was merely a blind to throw investigators off the trail.

We might read further aspects of the crime from two other Arabic Parts related to midpoint positions of the significant planets:

The Part of Bondage, 27°Lib23', opp. Moo/Sat, 26°Ari27': Close confinement of the victim.

The Part of Death, 20°Sag21', cj. Ura/Ep, 20°Sag31' and Nep/Asc, 21°Sag48': Death coming suddenly, possibly by gas poisoning—maybe carbon-monoxide exhaust fumes in a car. Neptune (gas) is square Mercury (car). Ominous times on the 6th May were 6:10pm, when the Ascendant came to Pluto, and 8:11pm when the Midheaven reached Mars.

It is now nearly four months since the disappearance of Mrs Whelan. Will the case be solved? I should say, yes: The Sun on the Descendant square Jupiter and trine Mars will bring the facts to light. I speculate on the 11th November, about 2½ months from date of writing, when Mercury transits the place of Pluto in the Chart.

—Dymock, 31 August 1997.

Vale PRINCESS DIANA

The world today (31st August 1997) is in a state of shock following the death in Paris of Lady Diana, Princess of Wales. Her glittering career was cut short at the age of 36 in a high-speed car crash in Paris, along with her new lover, Egyptian Prince Dodi al-Fayed and his bodyguard. Princess Diana's bodyguard survived, seriously injured.

It seems true to say that "Di" was the most photographed woman of our time, and was known to millions of people the world over, including many who would probably have difficulty in recalling the names of celebrated Prime Ministers.

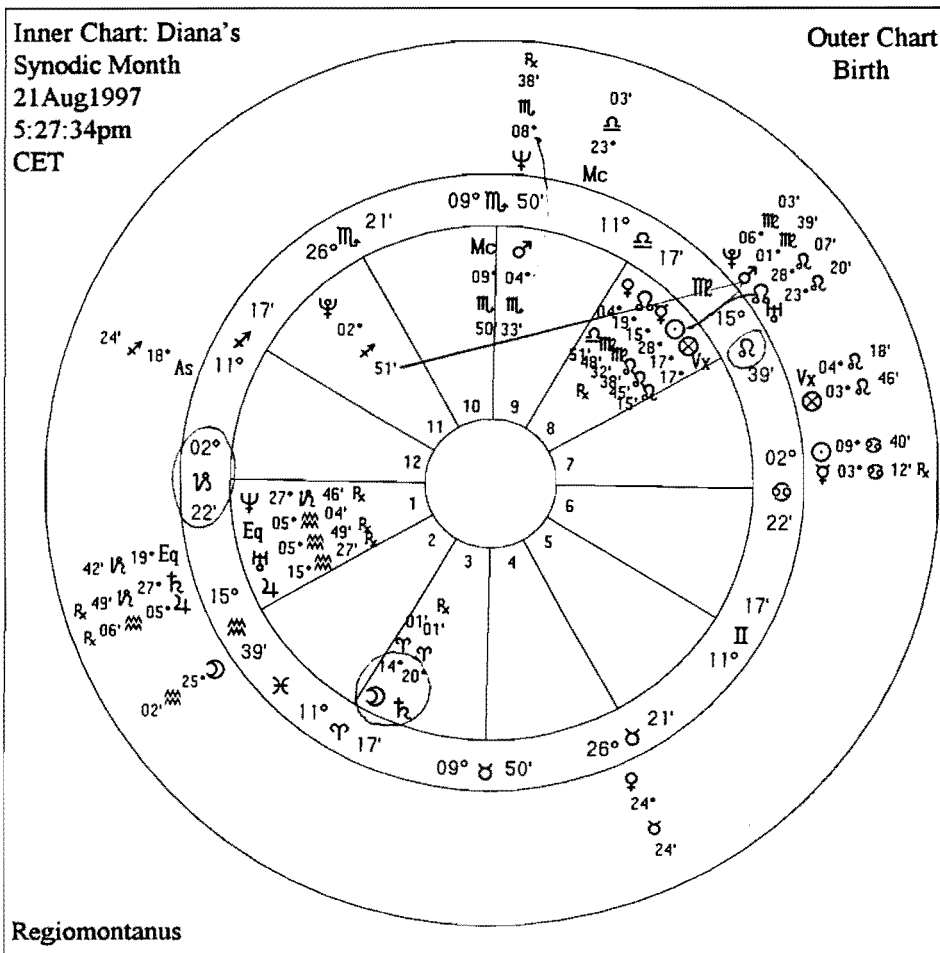

With all this publicity, and the close attention of numerous "Royal Watchers", it is extraordinary that not one English astrologer, for example, foresaw and gave warning of this calamity that has touched the lives and hearts of millions.

The natural response of an astrologer, once the initial shock has subsided, is to investigate the Natus and its current derivatives. The Birth Figure is above.

The Chart most clearly indicative of the fatality is the Month Synodic (Moon/Sun Phase Return) of 21st August, which was ten days before the event. It is shown below with the Natal Chart around it.

Inner Chart: Diana's
Synodic Month
21 Aug 1997
5:27:34pm
CET

Outer Chart
Birth

Regiomontanus

The conjunction of the Moon and Saturn in the House of Roads and Vehicles is immediately obvious, and a bad omen to start with, particularly as Saturn is the Ruler of the Ascendant. The Ruler of the House Cusp is Mars, which is the planet most associated with accidents and physical injuries. Mars conjoins Natal Neptune on the Meridian, and Pluto is in close square to Natal Mars ("violent assaults and injuries"). Thus the accent on Mars is doubled. The threat of physical injury and even death is confirmed by the position of the Sun, ruling and occupying the House of Death, conjunct the Moon's Node in the Birth Chart. Conjunction with the Moon's Node is widely recognized as an indication of fatality.

All this is clearly visible, yet not one astrologer has observed and warned about it. Are they looking at the wrong Derived Chart, or not looking at all? There is today so much emphasis on "psychological" interpretations and vague unprovable assumptions that many astrologers are forgetting to assess the basic physical requirement of being alive and alerted to the physical hazards of everyday life.

I recommend all serious astrologers to study Horary and Event Charts, to bring their astrology down to earth and make it of practical use to their clients.

Reverting to the Synodic Chart, if we look further several other warning factors appear:

Mars/Asc, 3°Sag25', conj. Pluto, 2°Sag 50', (accident, violence).

Mars/Sat 27°Cap17' opp. Natal Saturn, 27°Cap48' (injury, death).

Arabic Part of Death 4°Tau0' Opp. Mars 4°Sco33'

Node of Pluto 19°Cap11' Sq. Saturn 20°Ari 1' (destructive energy).

Diana's Synodic Chart for Age 36 (20th June 1964, 4:00:56am CET), shows the power of those often neglected Personal Points the Vertex, the Part of Fortune, and the Equatorial Ascendant (or EP). The Natal positions of these Points are, respectively, 4°Leo17', 3°Leo46', and 19°Cap42', and in the Age Synodic Chart the Vertex and Part of Fortune are closely conjunct the 3rd Cusp (Roads and Vehicles) while the Eq.As is right on the 8th Cusp (Death). Thus these supremely important areas of Diana's life were heavily emphasized and brought to the foreground this year. The violent accident is portrayed by a T-Square of Mars to Saturn and Uranus (very indicative!) and Uranus (6°Vir51') conjunct Natal Pluto (6°Vir3').

As regards Progressions/Directions, the only one of importance relating to the accident was Pluto square Sun by Ascendant-Arc. Though the only one, it was sufficient—Pluto, The Destroyer, cutting off the life (Sun). The more usual Progressions/Directions yielded nothing of importance.

This is not to say that even if the parties in this tragedy had been forewarned, the outcome would necessarily have been different. Many people either disregard or forget warnings. But it is a mistake to think we have no power to modify our destiny by the exercise of our intelligence, wisdom and initiative. Many difficulties or hurts, major and minor, can be avoided or reduced by simple precautions.

I am the master of my fate, I am the captain of my soul.

—Dymock. 1st September 1997.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 193 August 1997

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

THE CAREER OF TONY BLAIR

by Allan Johnson

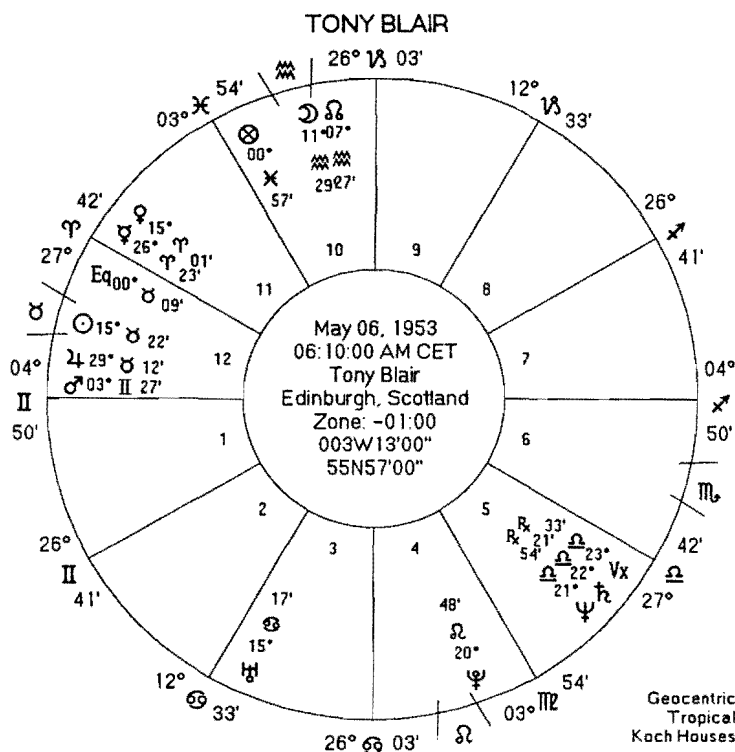

In my previous look at Tony Blair's Chart I concentrated on his Election possibilities for early '97 (June, '96, Issue 179). Just about everybody correctly predicted that he would become Prime Minister as a lot of things were pointing in that one direction. But having won the Election with a landslide majority, the next thing to consider is how successful he is likely to be in his aims, and this is where his Chart could provide a few answers. So I will have a look at his Progressions and Transits in the period through to the end of the Century. I think the best way to do this is to check out the major configurations in his Chart and to see how these are activated.

What I have found in political charts is that we will seldom find planets in Water Signs, and this Chart is no exception, with only Uranus in Cancer. None of the personal planets or the Angles are in Water Signs. What this means is that political figures have to be extroverts to cope with that style of life. Also political figures frequently have T-Square patterns as these provide the dynamism that such a competitive type of career requires. This Chart again is no exception as it has two T-Squares—one Cardinal (Venus, Mercury, Uranus, Neptune, Saturn) and one Fixed (Moon, Sun, Pluto).

Taking the Progressions first, the Sun is the major factor as this gives the general pattern of the life. Over the next few years it is not making any drastic aspects and this correlates with the fact that he has a very safe majority in the House. Right now the Progressed Sun is in the last degrees of Gemini, which puts it in the Aquarian decanate, and in '99 it will move into Cancer, and of course the Cancer decanate. I have done a lot of research with these Progressed Decanates, and find them very effective. So in 1999 we should see some changes of direction for Tony Blair. We can see the quite contrasting natures of Aquarius and Cancer. Aquarius is the individualist approach—"I'll do it my way"—and he has done just that, despite a lot of criticism from his own Party. But as the Sun moves in Cancer we will see a more cautious approach. Although it

In This Issue...

	Page
The Career of Tony Blair	1
Test #15	2
Fashion-Designer Versace and
Killer-Playboy Cunanan	3
Cunanan's 27th Harmonic Chart	4
Arrest in the Jaidyn Leskie Abduction	4

is a Water Sign, Cancer can be more down-to-earth in a sense, more related to the domestic side, and of course this means a sharper focus on welfarism. He could be under a lot of pressure from the Left in the Party on this issue. So '99 could be a more difficult year for him. And the Transits emphasize this too. In addition, Progressed Mars makes the semi-square to Pluto in the 4th House, which is a correlation. But I see all this as more of an internal Party upheaval, but not necessarily a threat to his leadership.

Looking at the Transits in detail, it is Uranus that is the key planet. It will conjunct the Moon in '98 and square the Sun in '99, and oppose Pluto in the year 2000. The 10th and 4th Houses are involved, which have to do with his career and public standing as well as the domestic side of his life. In addition, Saturn in Aries will be connecting with the Cardinal T-Square and then moving on to Sun in Taurus and the link with the Fixed Signs. So all this points to some strife and difficulties in Blair's term as Prime Minister—not a smooth ride despite his landslide victory at the polls. It points to the factions in the Party itself and Blair's attempt to recast the Party's orientation. Basically he is a Sun-Taurus and therefore a very stubborn man, so I feel he will ride out these storms and end his term in the new Century on a much more comfortable level. Over these years the planet Neptune will also be in his 10th House, which could put him in the headlines quite a bit. Neptune has a lot to do with mass publicity.

There remains only Pluto to deal with, and this is always associated with dramatic events. The Mutable Signs are not emphasised so much in Blair's Chart, except for Mars in Gemini on his Ascendant. Pluto is right on his Descendant now and opposite Mars. I think this applies very much to all the drama of his being elected earlier this year with his landslide victory, and the fact that 101 women were elected to his team, plus all the early pressures of taking Office, and so on. I think Pluto will not affect him much in the long term, and will not make any impact on the upheavals that are likely to arise in the years 1999 and 2000. So I would predict that he will still be at the head of affairs in the U.K. at the dawning of the new Century.

Try Your Skills on This One!

TEST #15

In the adjoining column are the Birth Charts of a husband and wife, both born in Camperdown, NSW, on 8 Sep. 1951 and 2 May 1959 respectively. He is a draftsman, and she a part-time office worker. His parents are dead, and so is her mother. They both have brothers and sisters. They do not have children. They own their own house, which they are doing up themselves.

What happened to both of them on the 27th of March this year (1997)?

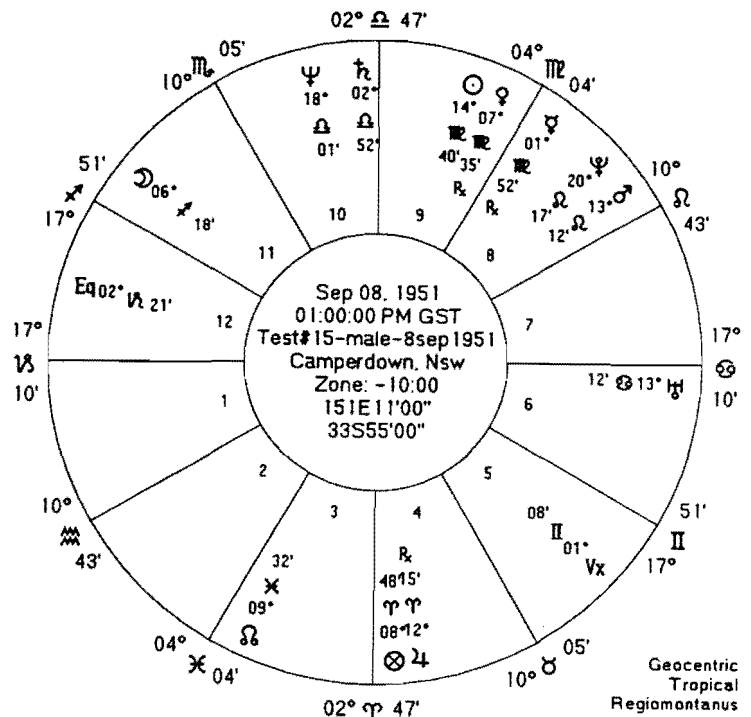

It was the most significant event for both of them since their last birthdays.

This exercise comes from Ross Harvey, so please send your answers directly to him at 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia. 2074, or you can E-mail your answers to me at dymock@ozemail.com.au.

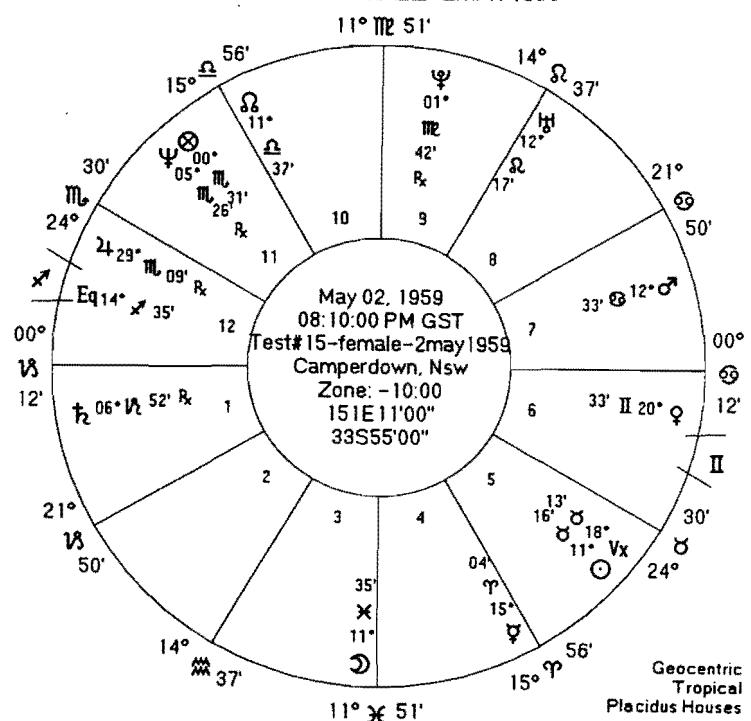

The closing date for answers will be 15th Sep. 1997, which I hope gives you sufficient time (about five weeks for overseas readers and six weeks locally). The astrological basis for your answers should be given as evidence that it is not just a guess.

I realize it is a more laborious task for readers who don't have access to a computer. If you send me a couple of stamps I will post back to you any one of the following Cyclic Charts, applicable to the date of the event, which will help you in finding the answer—the Solar Return, the Age Harmonic, the Synodic (Annual) Chart or the Lunar Return.

TEST#15-MALE-8SEP1951

TEST#15-FEMALE-2MAY1959

Re Test #13, just concluded, I am pleased to report that, in a late entry, Shirley Gray (Michigan) was successful in finding the date (1st January 1996) of the brother's suicide. Shirley based her inference principally on the Solar Return and the monthly Synodic

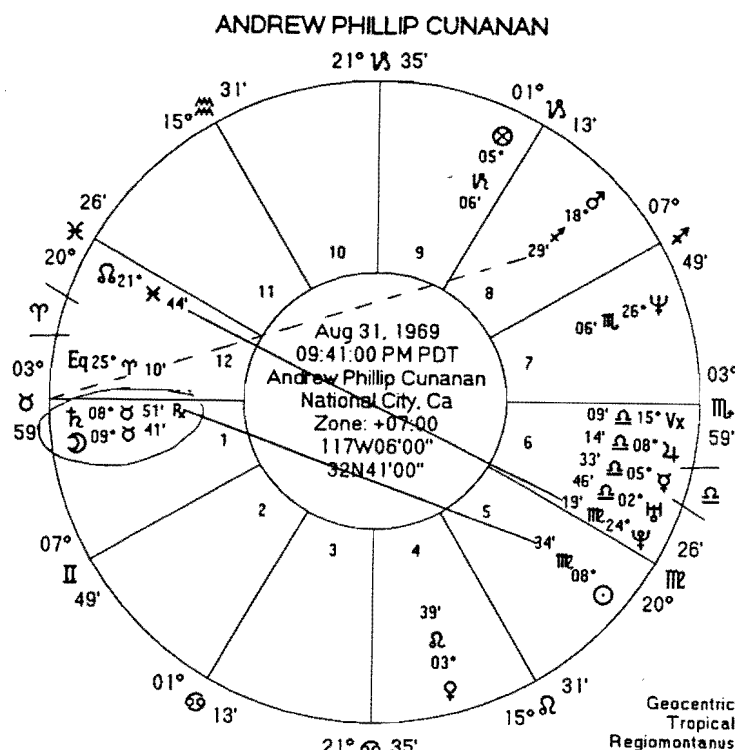

Chart. In brief, the Solar-Return Chart of 4 Dec.1996 has Mercury conjunct Natal Mercury in the House of Brethren, forming a T-Square with the Rising Degree and the Natal conjunction of Uranus and Pluto. The monthly Synodic Return (4Dec95, 6:23:48pm GMT) has Saturn conjunct the Natal Ascendant in T-Square with Mercury and the Vertex, while Mercury, Venus and Mars are all in close Parallel at South Declination 24°31', 24°36' and 24°22' respectively.

FASHION-DESIGNER VERSACE and KILLER-PLAYBOY CUNANAN

The birth data of the above two notables, so recently in the news, has come to me by E-mail. Cunanan's data is from his Birth Certificate, Versace's from The Internet Movie Database.

Gianni Versace, who died aged 50 on 15th July at the hands of Cunanan, was a fashion designer of international fame and unlimited wealth. Resident in Miami, Florida, his billion-dollar fashion empire comprised four luxury homes around the world and a constant entourage of models, movie stars and other notables in the world of art, music and sport. My purpose here is not to examine the Horoscope of either man in detail but to unearth the astrological signifiers in Andrew Cunanan's Chart that led to his (fatal) impact on Versace. However, a brief investigation of both Genitures is illuminating. The salient characteristics of Gianni Versace were his genius for fashion designing, his fabulous wealth and privileged life-style. These are accounted for principally by the accumulation of Venusian and Jupiterian influences in his Chart. The Venusian characteristics (sense and appreciation of beauty) are amply portrayed by Venus conjunct both Mercury and Jupiter (and right at the Midpoint of both planets—orb only 1!), square Pluto and semi-sextile Mars. His general aesthetic sense and artistic inspiration come from the Moon in Pisces trine Venus, Neptune sextile the Sun, and Jupiter at the centre of Mars/Neptune (14Sco28—orb only 6').

Versace's great wealth and affluent life-style are accounted for by the Moon conjunct Pars Fortuna in the fecund Sign Pisces, closely trine Jupiter and quincunx Pluto, plus Sagittarius rising with Ruler, Jupiter, conjunct Venus trine the Moon.

Andrew Cunanan's distinguishing characteristics were his desire for social status and the good things of life, his personal charm and unstable personality. Saturn rising, ruling the Capricorn Midheaven, conjunct the Moon and trine the Sun accounts for his social ambitions. The emphasis on the two Venusian Signs Taurus and Libra correlates with his love of sensual pleasures.

Cunanan's final bout of violence when he killed five people in the space of two and a half months seems to be out of character, unusual in one with Libra strong. However, it is fully explained by the powerful Midpoint of Mars and Uranus at 10°38' Taurus in the Angular 7th House and directly opposite the Moon-Saturn conjunc-

Inner Chart: Cunanan's
27th Harmonic

Outer Chart: Cunanan's Birth Chart

position along a Cuspal line enhances its power.

(2) Pluto in an Angular House is almost exactly conjunct the Radical Equatorial Ascendant.

(3) Natal Pluto opposes the A-H Moon, again along a Cuspal axis.

(4) Uranus and Neptune are closely joined and conjunct Natal Mars.

(5) The Midpoint of both Mars/Neptune and Mars/Uranus (17° Libra) is right on the Harmonic Ascendant.

(6) Saturn is only 2° from the square of Natal Neptune.

The above concatenation of all the malefics was bound to trigger off the latent violence in Cunanan's nature, especially as Mercury, planet of the intellect, was conjunct Saturn and square Natal Neptune in the same Harmonic Chart.

Cunanan's planetary links with Versace, when he cut off the latter's life in his fiftieth year, are also to be found in the Harmonic Midpoints. Here they are:

tion in the Ascendant. Ebertin (The Combination of Stellar influences) characterizes this as "violent destruction", and it is here given special power through its placement across the Horizon. The sesquare of Mars to the Rising Degree, with the small orb of 30', and Pluto conjunct the Moon's South Node (opposite the North Node), are contributing factors.

Both men were reportedly homosexual, all the more surprising with Versace since he was constantly surrounded by beautiful women. With Cunanan it was evidently more a means of income through financial favours from his wealthy lovers, which enabled him to indulge in the hedonistic life-style he craved but could not, at the end, maintain.

Cunanan shot Versace dead on 15th July 1997. What was the astrological connection between them?

As with O.J. Simpson and his ex-wife Nicole (October Issue 183) the answer lies in the the Age Harmonics. Cunanan was 27 years old at the time, and his 27th Harmonic Chart (above) tells the story.

To start with, it can be seen that Cunanan's trait of violence has come to the fore through the emphasis on the malefic planets and their connection with the Radix:

(1) Mars is elevated and directly opposite the Equatorial Ascendant and the Sun. The placement of this op-

Cunanan's 27th Harmonic

Versace's Natus

♄/♄ 14♈46	☐	♄ 13♋22
♄/♄ 22♌7	♂	♄ 21♌16
♄/♄ 7♏43	♂	♄ 8♏46
♄/♄ 23♐15	♂	Eq.♄ 23♐0
♄/♄ 21♑45	♂	♄ 21♑16
♄/♄ 21♒40	♂	♄ 20♒12
♄/♄ 7♓43	♂	♄ 8♓46
♄/♄ 22♔48	♂	♄ 21♔16

Thus, all the malefics are involved, and their small orbs, especially for an Age-Harmonic Chart, are remarkable.

There is little doubt that a strong karmic relationship existed between the two men. Perhaps the balance on a spiritual level has now been adjusted. —Dymock.

Re Jaidyn Leskie (See last Issue, #192):

The boy-friend of Jaidyn Leskie's mother has now been arrested. This is the person referred to in the Chart of the Abduction (P.4). The 4th House shows Jaidyn's mother, the 10th (Derived 7th) is her partner. It is ruled by Saturn—the Peregrine planet in an Angle that identifies the offender.

As we have now caught up with the calendar through a series of fortnightly Issues, future A.F.'s will appear monthly. The aim is to publish them in the first week of each month. Your copy should arrive not later than the second week. —Dymock.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 192 July 1997

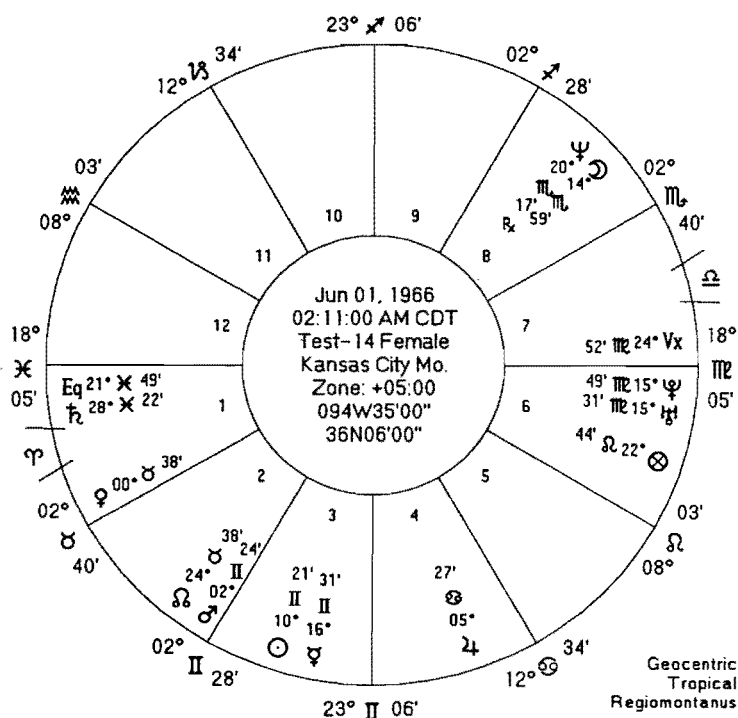

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

TEST #14

Woman born 1st June 1966, 2:11am CDT, Kansas City, Missouri.

TEST-14 FEMALE

The exercise was to determine which of four given dates applied to four specified events. The correct answers were the following:

- (1) 12 Apr 1989: Birth of son.
- (2) 9 Feb 1995: Suicide attempt.
- (3) 4 Dec 1995: Car accident (no one injured).
- (4) 1 Jan 1996: Brother's suicide.

This has turned out to be a more difficult exercise than anticipated, difficult because the Cyclic Charts appeared to give indications for more than one of the above events, and it was not easy to see which. There were three well-researched entries, and I am pleased to report that Jenifer Pommerin (W.A.) correctly ascribed Event 1 to its proper date, 12 April 1989. This does not mean that the other participants wasted their time.
The close analysis that accompanied their entries can

In This Issue...

	Page
Test #14—Results and Analysis of Charts ...1
Annual Synodic Chart for 22nd Year2
Solar Return, 19942
29th Harmonic Chart3
Missing Persons. Jaidyn Leskie.....3
Readers' Comments.....4

only have been of great benefit to them, and will lead to successes in the future—not just with exercises such as these but with astrological interpretation generally.

Birth of Son: ☿ rising, ☾ in 5th H. ☿ Vtx
Interchart Aspects, Solar Return—Natus
♂ Δ ♀
Equatorial Ascendant conjunct Cusp 5
Nth Node conjunct Ascendant

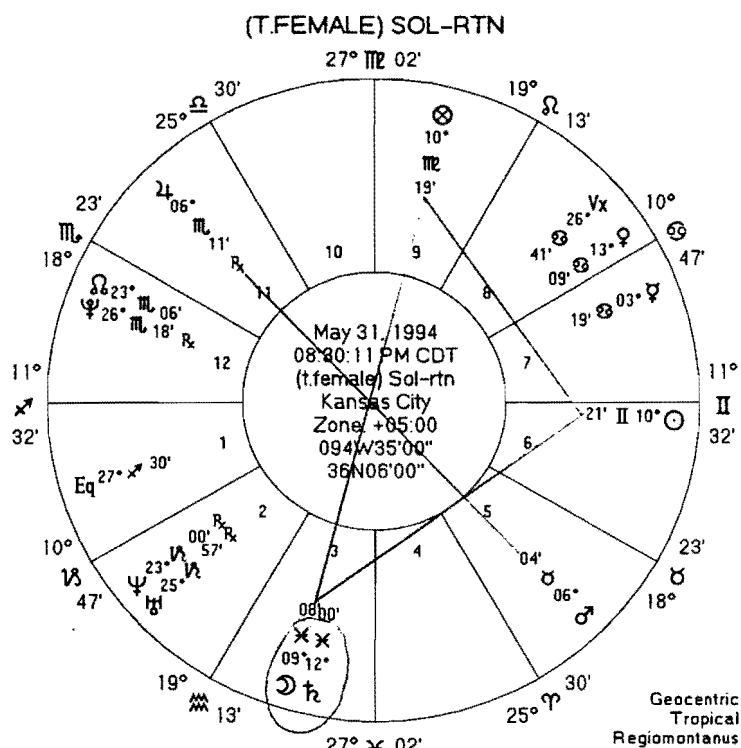

I find that the clearest indication of the birth of the son was given in the Solar Return (above). The Sign Cancer rises, so attention is immediately drawn to the Moon's position in the House of Children, where it conjuncts the Vertex. This close conjunction of the Moon with the Vertex in the 5th House gives it great importance and is the major indication of a birth. Mars, ruling the 5th is in the 8th, (also associated with parturition) closely trine to natal Jupiter (productivity, fruition).

Further indication is given by the conjunction of the Moon's North Node with the natal Ascendant in the fertile Sign Pisces. The Equatorial Ascendant at 12°52' Cancer was right on the natal 5th Cusp with Regiomontanus domification (but 2°26' away if Placidian Cusps are used). As is well-known, Cyclic Charts should be read not only as single Charts but also in conjunction with the Radix. As well as superimposing the natal Chart on the Solar Return, if the Cyclic Chart is set outside the natal Figure it more clearly points up the connections of Solar-Return Significators with those of the Natus. This is not done here for reasons of space, but the interchart connections are printed below the Solar Return Figure.

Mars trine Jupiter (two Masculine planets), together with the Moon and the Vertex being in the Masculine Sign, Sagittarius, accounts for the birth of a male. The natal Moon and Neptune conjoined in the fertile Sign Scorpio, and close to the Solar-Return 5th Cusp, was a supporting indication of the birth. {I hope readers are aware not to use the Cusps as the boundaries of the Houses.)

occurred on March 12, 1968 at 8:38:20 pm GMT, has the indication of The Moon rising conjunct Jupiter ruling the House of Children. One could be thrown off the track, however, by the square from Neptune (Ruling the 8th House) and the opposition from Venus. Presumably, as these are fertile planets they all had a part to play in the reproductive process. Another diversion, however, is the position of Pluto and Uranus on the 3rd Cusp opposing the Sun, which rules the Ascendant. One would be justified in assessing this as the car accident. It probably depicted personal relationship troubles that we know not of.

In the case of a Chart such as this with several possible solutions it is better to go to one or more of the other Cyclic Charts with the hope that the indications will be more one-pointed.

The Suicide Attempt of 9th February 1995 is depicted adequately in the Solar Return Chart of May 31, 1994.

Jupiter, Ruler of the Chart, is in very close opposition to Mars (orb 7'), signifying violence against the self (though not necessarily by the self). However the subject's depressed state of health that could induce such a misguided action is very well portrayed by the Moon conjunct Saturn in the Sign Pisces. Of all the Signs, the Mutable Water Sign Pisces is the one most prone to self-destruction. The Moon here rules the 8th House which relates to death and near-death experiences. Added to this we have a close square from the Sun (lack of vitality) and the T-Square completed by Pars Fortuna. In spite of its

SYNOD/YR22 TEST-14 FEM

The Synodic Annual Chart for year 22, that is the 22nd return after birth of the Sun—Moon angle which name the Part of Fortune is not by any means always a happy symbol of Fortune, whether financial or otherwise. I, and others, have found that it operates also (even principally) as an emphasizing factor, bringing out the nature and effects of the bodies it contacts by Aspect, much as do the Moon's Nodes and the Vertex. Speaking of the Vertex we see it here performing this self-same role by being in the 8th House and trine to Pluto (The Destroyer) in the 12th House (Self-Undoing).

The Annual Synodic Chart for Year 28 (Sep 4, 1968, at 9:42:57pm GMT) is not reproduced here to save space, but its main features do relate to the attempted suicide: Capricorn rises, and Ruler Saturn is quincunx an elevated Neptune (planet of suicide, orb 50'). There is a gathering of Sun, Jupiter, Pluto and Uranus in the Death House, Uranus there being in opposition to natal Saturn (orb 9'), and Jupiter, Ruling the House of Self-Undoing conjuncts natal Pluto, which threatens self-destruction (orb 19').

This Chart is shown surrounded by the positions in the natal Chart because of the important connections between the two Figures. The car accident involves the Ascendant (for the Native) and Mars (violence). Mars is thrice implicated here as it also rules the Ascendant and is within 8' of an exact sesquare to the Moon's North Node (an emphasizing factor, as mentioned earlier). Mars is in a very close Grand Trine with Pluto and Jupiter. Pluto/Mars accounts for the accident, and Jupiter (The Preserver) for the fact that no one was injured, though "the car rolled down a 20-foot embankment". Fortunately, Jupiter was elevated and strengthened by being in its own Sign.

The much more serious matter of the brother's suicide is portrayed by appropriately more powerful Aspects. The 3rd House relates to brothers. Gemini on its Cusp is ruled by Mercury. As can be seen, Mercury conjoins natal Mars (orb a little over 3¼°), and is directly opposite the Sun which, so far as the brother is concerned, means a lack of vitality and will.

Other more general indications of a fatality are given by Saturn opposite Pluto, ruling the Deaths House, and natal Moon on the Cusp of this House closely opposed to Harmonic Moon. Uranus sextile to Mercury could also be added as, when combined with adverse indications, it relates to nervous disorder and promotes thoughts of suicide (see Transits by R. Ebertin).

Other Cyclic charts covering the period of the car accident and the suicide (Synodic Chart, Solar Month, Lunar Return, converse charts, etc.) were less specific, though with searching once could find appropriate correlations.

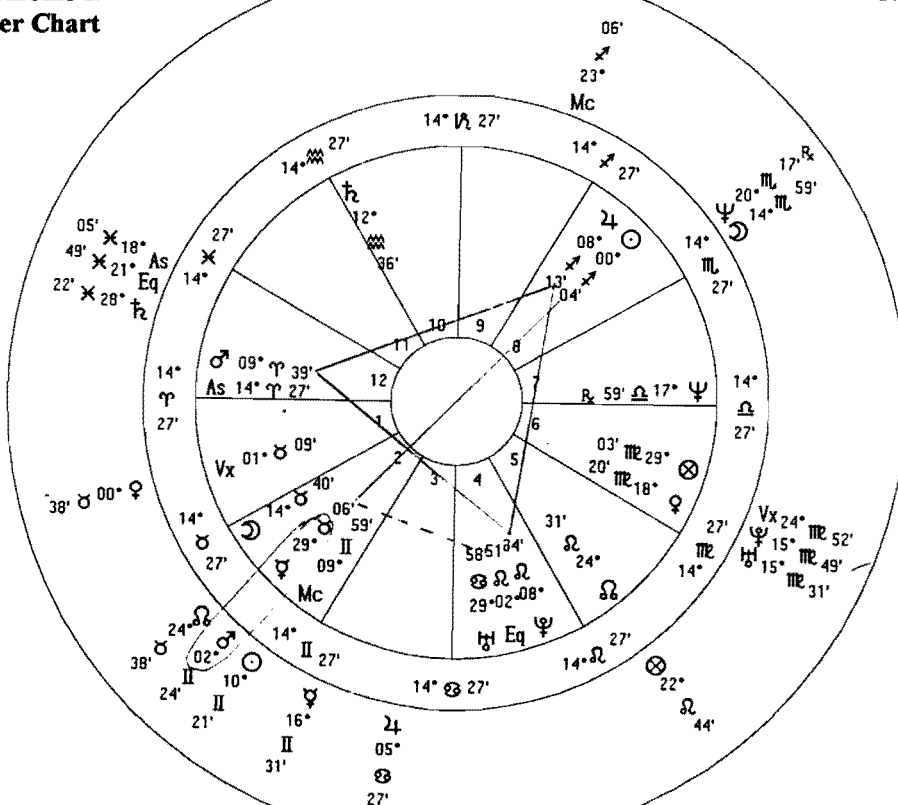

As I say, this was a difficult exercise. All credit to those who attempted it. —Dymock.

MISSING PERSONS

The disappearance of people is a perennial and distressing feature of today's society. As astrologers bent

Test #14
Harmonic 29
Inner Chart

Outer Positions:
Natus

Indications for both the car accident of 4th December 1995, and the suicide of the brother on 1st January 1996 are present in the 29th Age-Harmonic Chart that relates to the period 1st June 1995—1st June 1996, when the subject was 29 years old.

on making our art of practical service in the world we should do more towards solving these mysteries, judging where the missing person is at the moment, whether living or dead, whether he/she will return, whether there has been foul play and, if so, who and where is the person responsible.

These are usually difficult matters to resolve, and to acquire expertise in this field we need to make a practice of investigating astrologically every disappearance that comes to our knowledge. We need also to learn what is the best chart to use for the missing person—one for the last sighting, the presumed time of the disappearance or kidnapping, or a Horary Chart for the time when the case first makes an impact on the astrologer's mind. These are all matters than can most readily be decided by constant work and observation. As a trial case, here is a recent and unsolved disappearance in South Australia:

Jaidyn Leskie Abduction

According to newspaper reports, on June 15 the mother of a 14-month old boy, Jaidyn Leskie, left her baby son in the care of her boy-friend while she visited a hotel some distance away. The boy-friend left Jaidyn alone reportedly between 2:30am and 3:30am while he went to pick up the boy's mother from the hotel. When they returned, the baby was missing.

The Chart below is calculated for 2:30am. Here is a suggested reading.

JAIDYN LESKIE ABDUCTION

1. Is the baby dead or alive? Aries rises, so the baby's Significator is Mars. Mars is in close trine to Neptune, ruling the 12th House. Both this planet and the House are symbolic of disappearance and mystery. Mars is out of Dignities in Virgo, which augurs badly for the condition of the missing baby, and is square to the Sun (injury or death), and closely quincunx to the Equatorial Ascendant. I reluctantly conclude that baby Jaidyn is dead. This is supported by the Ruler, Mars, being also the Ruler of the 8th House.

2. Where is the body? Jaidyn's Significator, Mars, being in an Earth Sign and trine to Neptune (the closer of the two adverse Aspects) would indicate that Jaidyn is buried near water (probably a lake—Neptune more indicative of still than rushing water). Mars on the 6th Cusp represents a direction West North West from the house. But how far away? The 4th House and its Ruler, the Moon, represent the grave. I would equate the difference in Zodiacal longitude of the Moon and Mars to the distance in kilometres of the grave from the place where Jaidyn was abducted. This would put the grave nearly 12 kilometres away in a West North West direction.

3. Who was responsible? In Horary Charts a Peregrine planet in an Angle is taken as the wrongdoer. Saturn on the Ascendant answers this description. It is out of Dignities and receives only the sesquare from Malefic Pluto. Using the Derived Houses, I have little doubt to whom this refers, but to protect myself from a libel action here in South Australia where the abduction occurred I must keep silence until a conviction is recorded in the law courts.

—Dymock.

Readers' Comments:

"I really enjoyed your interpretation of 'Did the two accused nurses murder Yvonne Gilford?' My major interest is Horary Astrology, and your reading so inspired me. Any time you want to step us through a horary chart, feel free, I am one reader that really appreciates the exercise. Oh, and I agree with you—yes, they did murder her—Mars, their Significator, recently separated from (recently murdered) Venus, Significator of Yvonne Gilford, in the 8th House (Death). And they won't lose their heads. Their Significator is conjunct the very fortunate North Node and beneficial Part of Fortune, with no bad Aspects from heavy planets. They will go to gaol (Mars trines Neptune, Ruler of confinement and gaols). Thanks again for a great Chart."

—Margaret Hughes (W.A.)

"I continue to get more from the seemingly sparse pages of the Astrologers' Forum than I ever do from the thick 120+ pages of the commercial astrological magazines. It's the difference between objective, practical astrology and the now too-prevalent opinionated, smoke-screen stuff. Keep going."

—Ken Gillman. (USA).

"I was thrilled to bits to learn that I managed to get at least one Event correct in Test #14. I honestly thought all would be wrong. And as you say, this sort of 'work experience' in Astrology is so beneficial. Your analysis of the Tests, and Ross Harvey's who organized some of the other Tests, are always read carefully because they pinpoint key areas or points that I missed out on. It is a very good way to learn from my mistakes."

—Jenifer Pommerin (W.A.).

"I do so agree with your comments regarding astrologically adverse charts marking the start of various enterprises! It has always been one of our basic tenets that—when asked—we can advise clients of difficult, dangerous or merely unfavourable and unpropitious periods they are likely to encounter over the coming weeks or months. I look forward to future issues of the Forum. Thank you for your continued dedication to practical Astrology."

—Lyla William (Qld).

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?

ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 191 June 1997

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

AVOIDANCE OF AIR CRASHES

Long-time readers of Astrologers' Forum will remember my plea years ago to have airplane travel astrologically monitored in order to avert the disasters that happen so frequently. I wanted to see all take-off times of aircraft approved by competent astrologers who could veto set times if the planetary indications were adverse. Though this proposal of mine was regarded with scepticism as being unworkable, I am convinced it is entirely feasible, given the speed and versatility of modern computers.

This was again brought to mind when I received recently precise details of the 1972 crash of Flight 401 out of Kennedy Airport, New York. The details are given in an article by Neville D. Strachan in the June/July Issue of Acrux, Newsletter of the Queensland Federation of Astrologers Inc. Of 176 passengers and crew, 99 died when the plane crashed in the Everglades, Miami, Florida. 60 of the 77 survivors were seriously injured.

Neville has many interesting things to say about the doomed Flight, including the spectral reappearance later of the dead flight engineer giving a warning on a pending trouble in another aircraft.

My concern at the moment is the Figure for the take-off as an indicator of the fate of the aircraft and those on board. This Chart appears in the next column.

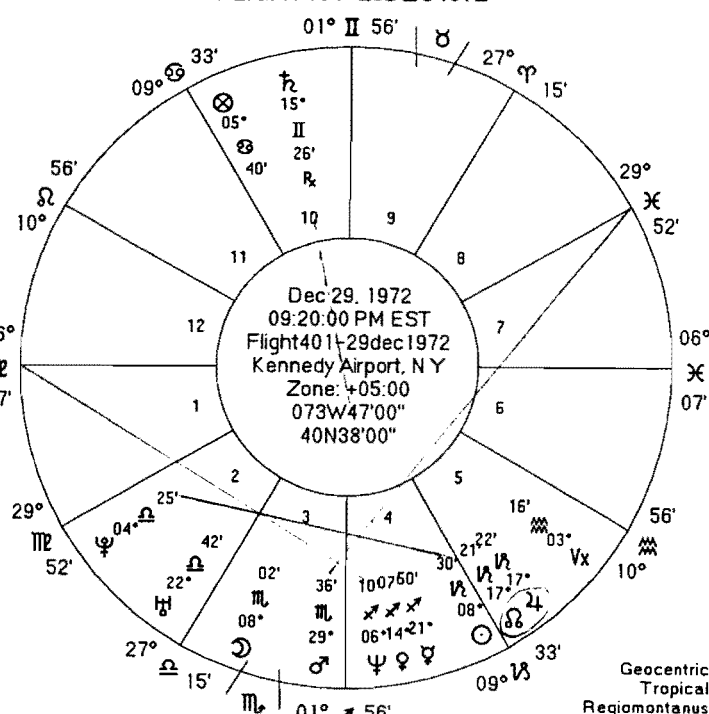

It is not difficult to see from this Chart that disaster is looming. The precise departure time has 6°7' Virgo rising, which is exactly square Neptune (within 3' of arc!) in the House of Terminations—and Neptune rules the House of Death. Further, the malefic Mars on the Terminations Cusp is also almost exactly trine to the Death Cusp (Regiomontanus). Mars and Neptune share the same degree and minute of declination (19°47' South). The famous Astrologer Alan Leo declared "The Zodiacal Parallel is of more importance than any other Aspect. The effect is similar to a close conjunction but even more powerful." This observation was echoed by Simmonite, another famous astrologer of earlier times.

There are still more adverse portents: Venus, also in

In This Issue...

	Page
Avoidance of Air Crashes	1
Horizon Chart for Air Crash	3
Fatal Journey.....	3
Horizon Chart for Fatal Journey	4
The Two Nurses	4
Re The Tests.....	4

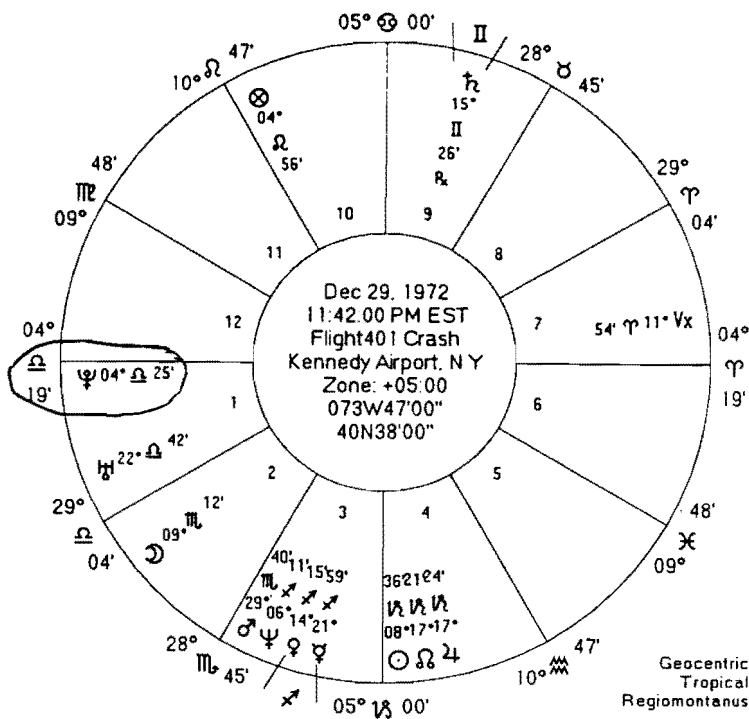

FLIGHT401-29DEC1972

the Terminal 4th is weighted down by the opposition of Saturn, high in the heavens above it, where its malefic effect is accentuated. Jupiter, Co-Ruler of the Deaths House, occupies the same degree as the Moon's Nodes. This is a well-known indication of fatality in Horary Charts. Finally, Pluto (The Destroyer) is square to the Sun.

Now, here's something else of dramatic import: The aircraft crashed into the marshes of the Everglades at precisely 11:42 pm, 2 hours 22 minutes after take-off. If we re-set the Departure Chart for this time (see Figure on the next page) one highly significant feature is immediately obvious: Pluto, The Destroyer, harbinger of death, is exactly conjunct the Ascendant! It is no less than amazing how the celestial phenomena correlate with terrestrial happenings. It would be an invidious procedure for an astrologer to work out beforehand the exact time of the plane's crash and the death of the people on board, but this amazing correlation shows it would certainly be possible. The technique could be useful in other applications—for instance, to assist the police in judging the time when specific events occurred following a robbery, a kidnapping, a hi-jacking, a taking of hostages, etc. or, in the medical field crises following the "decumbiture" of a sick person or the progress of recovery after a surgical operation. When planets that are Significators in relation to the particular happening come to the Ascendant, they must be marking a critical juncture in the course of the events. This could be used in various ways. For instance, in the recent long-term holding of hostages in the Japanese Embassy in Peru, the rescue assault could be made when Jupiter or Venus was on or aspecting the Ascendant (or perhaps better, the Midheaven). As it happened, the rescue was indeed accomplished with a minimum loss of life apart from the unfortunate revolutionaries inside. (If anyone has the precise time and date of the commencement of the affair I should be glad to investigate it astrologically.)

FLIGHT 401 CRASH

Astrologers should bend their efforts to making our art of practical value in this way. Retrospective analysis has its uses as a learning procedure but to realize the full potential of Astrology we must bring it to bear on the future, or outcome, of the critical situations that are forever arising in our society. Over the years I have advocated this in previous Issues of Astrologers' Forum (with regrettably little response so far).

But we have not yet finished with Flight 401. If, instead of doing the normal Zodiacal horoscope, we range the planets around the Horizon as in a Local Space Chart, the result is no less dramatic and dire. It is a pity that these Charts do require a computer program, unless one is something of a mathematical whiz and is prepared to do the tedious calculations required. The Horizon Chart appears below.

HORIZON/CHT-FLIGHT 401

Newcomers to this field of Astrology should note that the Zodiacal Signs ranged around the Figure have no significance except to facilitate the calculation of Aspects. Horizon Charts always have Aries 0° on the 1st Cusp, and the other Cusps follow at 30° intervals. I find, however, that the Houses do have significance, just as in a Zodiacal Chart, and the Ascendant, Descendant, MC and IC are represented here as the East, West, South and North points of the compass respectively.

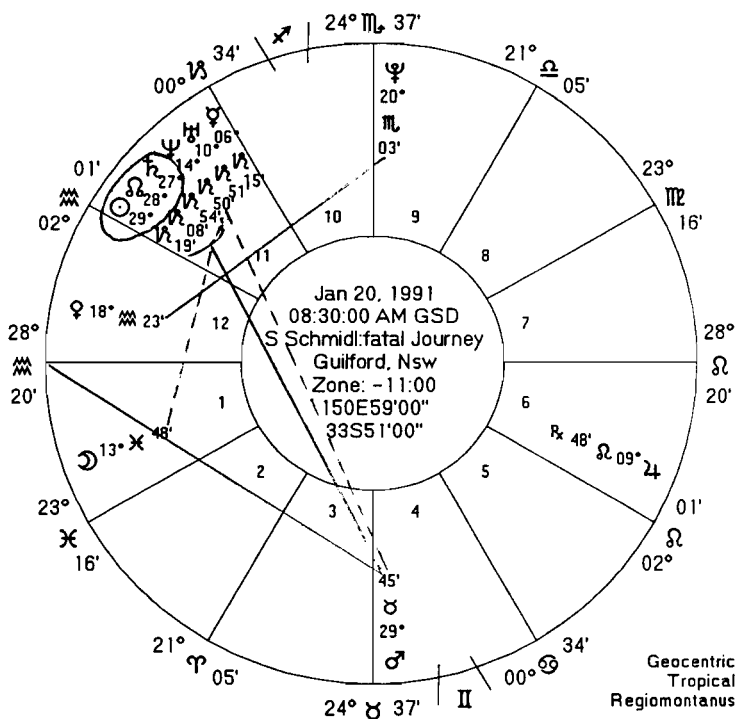

If anything, this Horizon Chart bespeaks tragedy more eloquently than the standard Zodiacal Chart. The Moon is "besieged" by the two malefics, Uranus and Pluto (sudden disaster), and the trio are all square to the malefic Saturn, the Moon being in almost exact square. Venus completes a T-Square, so "Lady Luck" was denied any saving part to play. The Radical Ascendant (located here just below the East point) is square Neptune (again exact to within a few minutes of the compass). The only other malefic, Mars, squares Jupiter. Thus all the malefic bodies are involved.

Blind Freddie could see that this was no time to launch an omnibus into the air, especially not one carrying 176 people.

Of course, the results would have been just as dire had there been only one or two people aboard, and this is the other point I wish to make—these Inceptional Charts work just as well for a lone traveller, a family going on holidays, or a business group attending an overseas conference, as they do for the hundreds carried on the biggest of our airbuses. A case in point is the fatal departure at 8:30am on Sunday, 20th January 1991, of Simone Schmidl, the ill-fated German tourist who fell victim to Ivan Milat, the evil perpetrator of the "back-packer murders" in the Belanglo State Forest in Southern NSW.

S SCHMIDL:FATAL JOURNEY

The profoundly disturbing Aspects in the above Chart for a young woman setting out alone on a hitch-hiking trip are obvious enough. They have been detailed in the September/October Issue (No.146/147) of Astrologers' Forum, but for convenience I list them again:

- Saturn (Ruling Asc and 12th) conjunct the Sun on the 12th Cusp and trine Mars
- Mars square the Ascendant and sesquare Neptune (orb 4')
- Pluto dominant and square Venus and the Equatorial Ascendant
- The Moon semisquare Saturn (orb 55')

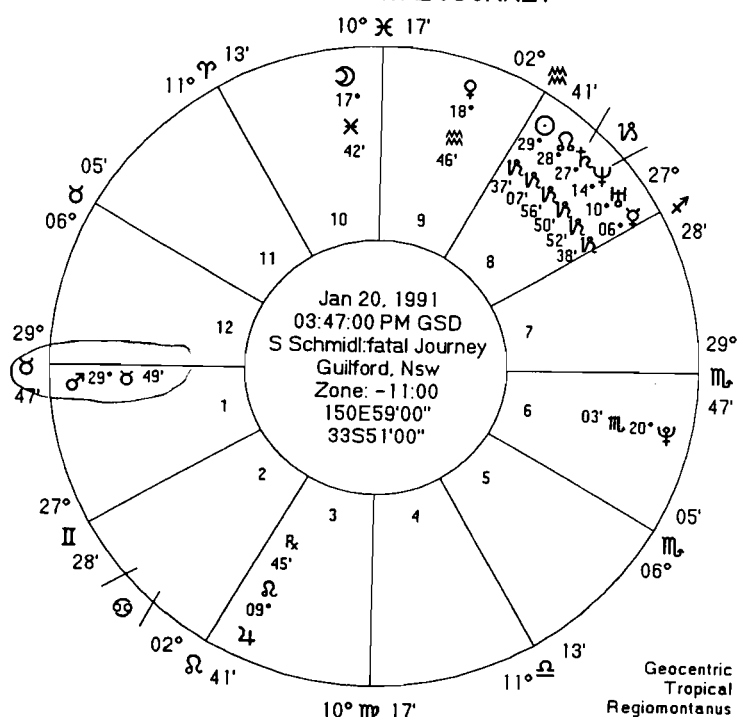

Anyone with the least understanding of planetary symbolism would veto this date and time as safe or suitable for commencing a journey. Unfortunately, no such guidance was available to Simone on her fateful day.

Following the idea put forward in the earlier part of this article, in the above Chart the Ascendant coming to the Moon by the Earth's orbital rotation would have signified a crisis in the course of the day. The Moon rising in Pisces in the Radix is the Significator of Simone—guileless and passively trusting. Being a reflector of influence, it also takes on the nature of the bodies it Aspects—parallel Pluto (orb 0°15') and sextile Neptune and Uranus, apart from being semisquare the Sun, Saturn, and the North Node (with small orbs).

The Ascendant came to the conjunction of the Moon's Radical position at 9:44am, and it was most probably at this time that Simone came to the fearful realization (Neptune/Uranus) that she was in the hands of a rapist/murderer (Pluto/Venus).

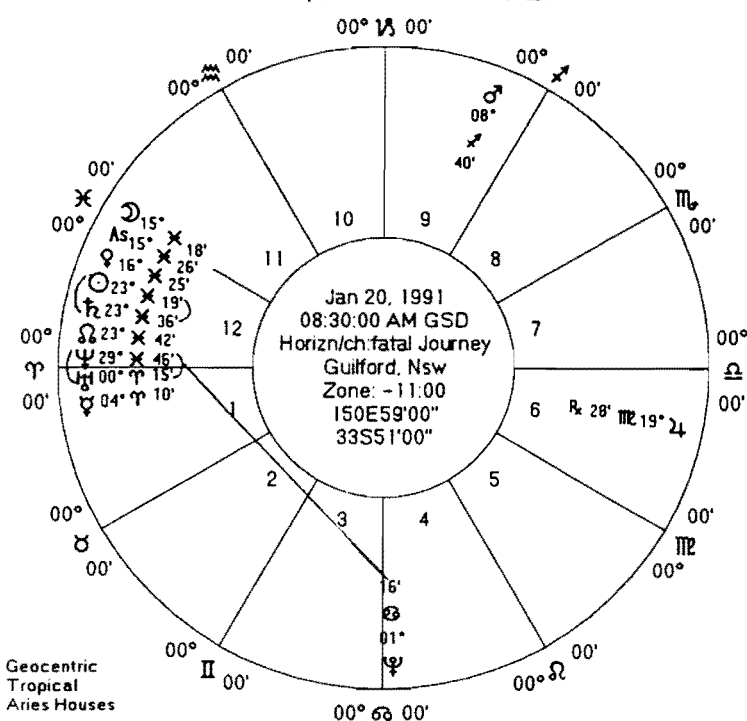

Continuing the dreadful progress of events, the Ascendant came to the Radical position of Mars at 3:47pm, which no doubt signified the end for Simone, particularly as at that time the House of Death was heavily tenanted. Here is this final Chart, with Mars on the Ascendant. Mars is shown just 0°4' past its Radical position due to its progress in 5¼ hours.

S SCHMIDL:FATAL JOURNEY

The Horizon Chart for Simone's starting her journey bears out everything shown in the Zodiacal

HORIZN/CH:FATAL JOURNEY

Figure, and even more graphically (Chart above).

One's attention is drawn immediately to Neptune and Uranus on the Eastern Horizon, in almost the identical degree, then to the extremely close Sun/Saturn conjunction, and then the powerful position of Pluto on the Northern point of the compass (corresponding to the Terminal IC) where it is square to Neptune and Uranus.

This Chart also was, indeed, a symbolic and clear representation of things to come. —Dymock.

THE TWO NURSES

The Trial of the two nurses in Saudi Arabia, for which a Horary Chart was analysed in the last Issue, has been adjourned for some weeks. This is ostensibly to allow an approach to the murdered woman's relatives with a plea for clemency if they are found guilty.

In my report on the Horary Chart I drew attention to the Arabic Part of Decapitation (Cusp 8+Mars-Moon) as being right on the Ascendant. This is so if Placidian Cusps are used. Though I first set the Chart with Placidus, when I changed to Regiomontanus Cusps—much favoured for Horary work—the Part of Decapitation dropped to 3°21' below the Ascendant because of the difference in the 8th Cusp. I was pleased to see this as it has a much less dangerous implication for the accused nurses. —Dymock.

Re the Tests: I am pleased to report that Test #13 was solved successfully by Jack Nicholls (Vic), though his answer arrived too late to be included in the last Issue.

Jack used various cyclic Charts to arrive correctly at the conclusion that marriage was what happened on the given date to the young woman concerned.

But where are our enthusiastic astrologers? The mysteries of Test #14 are still not unravelled. Only one reader has so far sent in an answer. Merit lies in attempting the solution, not necessarily in being correct. I doubt whether most readers appreciate the great value of these exercises. You will gain far more from spending an hour or two working on these problems than in many hours perusing voluminous pages of speculative ideas or imaginative theories that do nothing towards furthering your skills as a practical astrologer.

How would it be if someone came to you and said, "I understand that you, as an astrologer, have an understanding of the correlation between 'things terrestrial and things celestial'. Tell me, then, what the planets disclose about an event I am expecting on such-and-such a date."? Would you feel competent to undertake this challenge? I assure you that you won't become competent unless you make a practice of applying your knowledge to practical questions like this. Astrologers' Forum is one of the few, very few, publications that give you the opportunity. It is, in effect, a teaching and learning experience that is absolutely invaluable for sharpening your insights and practical ability. Will you then send in your attempt?

Notice, I say send in your attempt, not just work it out in your mind and think, "I'll wait to see what the answer is". If you discipline yourself to write the answer and post it, you will really be gaining maximum benefit from the exercise. In this respect it's rather like betting on a horse race—you can either work out, rather casually, what horse you think will win, but if you are risking your own good money on a bet, it will sharpen your judgement wonderfully.

Closing date for Test #14 is July 15. For details, see Astrologers' Forum Issue 189 (April).

Rectification Using JigSaw (the graphic rectification technique developed by Bernadette Brady) will be demonstrated at the next meeting of the South Australian Computer-User Group on Thurs. July 24, at 7:30pm. Admission is free. For location and other details phone Stephanie Johnson on (08) 8331 3057, or E-mail solafire@dove.mtx.net.au.

QUESTION: What is a good present for an astrologer friend?

ANSWER: A subscription to Astrologers' Forum.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 190 May 1997

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

TWO NURSES—AND THE SHADOW OF A SAUDI SWORD

The trial of the two nurses, Deborah Parry and Lucille McLauchlan, in Saudi Arabia for the alleged murder of nursing sister Yvonne Gilford has now become a matter of world-wide concern. The harsh Islamic code decrees that if the nurses are found guilty they are liable to be executed by public beheading at the hands of a Saudi swordsman. Their legal system, however, decrees that the relatives of the murdered woman have the option of extending mercy to them and saving them from execution. The relative concerned in this case, a brother of the murdered woman, one Frank Gilford who lives in South Australia, has so far declined to exercise his prerogative, and unless he relents, and the nurses are found guilty, they face a barbaric death.

What can Astrology say in this matter? Are the two accused nurses in fact guilty? Will they be executed?

I do not have the birth data of any of the persons concerned—the two accused, the victim, or her brother. If such birth data were available the use of Age Harmonics in relation to all three Charts would surely shed light on the situation, just as it did in the O.J. Simpson Civil Trial (reported in Astrologers' Forum No 183 of October last year).

With nothing else available, I was prompted five days ago, on reading a newspaper report of the proceedings so far, to erect a Horary Chart and to try to decipher its meaning. This Chart appears in the next column, and also on page 3, put there for ease of reference while you are reading the text.

My question was, "Did the two accused nurses murder Yvonne Gilford?"

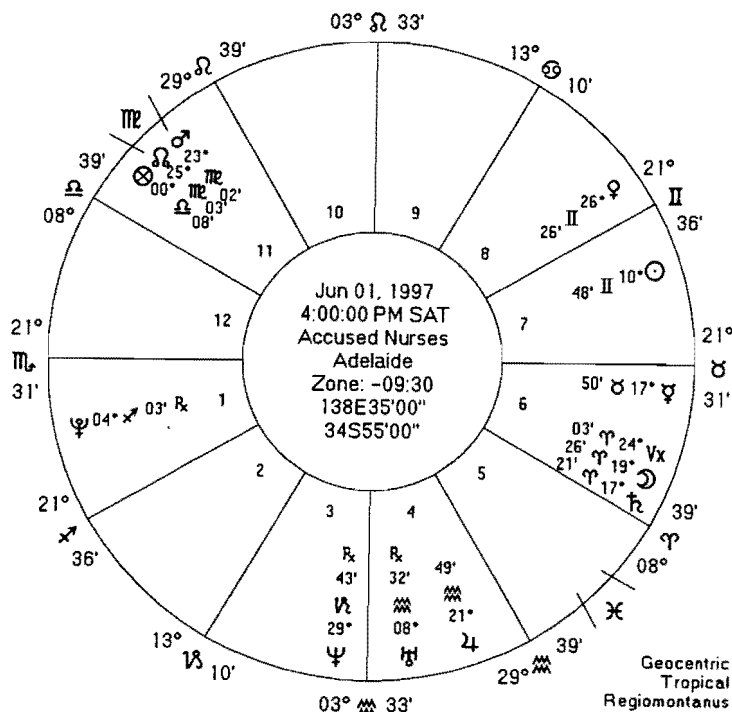

What makes this Chart, in Horary terms, "Radical", or fit to be judged? There are a number of factors that establish its reliability:

1. Scorpio rises—highly appropriate for a murder investigation.
2. The Horary Ruler of Scorpio is Mars, which is conjunct the Moon's Node in the Sign Virgo, very

In This Issue...

	Page
Did the Two Nurses murder Yvonne Gilford?1 The Horary Chart.....	1 & 3
4th Harmonic of the Horary Chart.....	4
Did you receive Issue 189?	4

HORARY CHART: Did the two accused nurses murder Yvonne Gilford?

appropriate for nursing sisters. Two nurses are shown, because of plural nature of the Node—a multiplying factor.

3. Mars and the Node placed in an intercepted Sign is symbolic of the imprisonment of the two nurses.

4. Venus, as Ruler of the 7th House, is Significator of the murdered woman, and it occupies the House of DEATH.

5. The principal Significators are linked by Aspect.

6. The murder occurred six months ago on December 11, 1996, and the two accused women have spent that time in a Saudi jail. If we look back six months in the Ephemeris we see that Mars on December 15, 1996 was exactly transiting its position in the Horary Chart, and on December 24 it was exactly square to Yvonne Gilford's Significator, Venus.

The above is more than sufficient to establish the "Radicality" of the Chart.

In questions of public interest such as this the Querent (the person asking the question) is not represented in the Chart, only the parties directly involved.

The two nurses are represented by the Rising Degree, its Ruler, and Pluto in the 1st House. The slain woman is represented by the 7th House and its Ruler. Her brother is shown by the 9th House (the 3rd House to the 7th) and its Ruler.

Yvonne Gilford, the nurse who was murdered (in most horrific fashion) is represented by Venus, Ruler of the 7th House in the Sign Gemini and occupying the House of Death.

What does the Chart tell us? There is a Square, which has adverse import, between the principal Significators, Mars and Venus. After Mars transited Horary Mars on 15th December it progressed into Libra becoming Stationary in February, retrograding back into Virgo, and turning Direct again on 27th April. It squares Venus (Yvonne Gilford's Significator) on 11th June, six days from now. The trial is to be resumed in just ten days time, on 15th June, and this will be a critical juncture for the parties concerned as on that date the Sun will be at 26°Virgo, conjunct Venus in the Horary Chart, and square to Mars.

What will the verdict be—Guilty, or Not Guilty? If Guilty, what will the sentence be—imprisonment or execution?

This is not a trial by jury, but by three judges. The judges, or tribunal, in Horary Charts are represented by the 10th House, its Ruler (the Sun) and by Jupiter. The Sun in Gemini trine Uranus signifies a tribunal of learning and open mind, which is fortunate for the accused, but what is more unfortunate for them is that Jupiter is almost exactly square the rising degree, representative of the two nurses.

It does appear to me that the two nurses are in fact guilty as charged. The victim's Significator is in the House of Death, and the Square from her Significator to that of the accused shows who are responsible for her death, particularly in view of the fact that at the date of the murder, six months back, Mars was actually square to Venus. Mercury disposes the Significators of both victim and accused, which again links the two nurses with the death of Yvonne Gilford, made more certain by the Mutual Reception between Mercury in Taurus and Venus in Gemini.

Scorpio and Mars, associated with the two nurses, are both indicators of violence, and add to this the close sesquare of Mars to Uranus (135°30'—only 30' away from perfection). Mars linked to Uranus is well-known as a configuration of violence and ungovernable temper. Mars being in the Term of Saturn (Virgo 18°—24°) by no means adds gentleness. Pluto in the 1st House, though some distance from the Cusp, is a secondary Significator for the nurses, and its sesquare to the Moon is symptomatic of extreme feeling and violence against a woman. The trine of Mars to Neptune suggests that a hallucinogenic drug has played a damaging part in the sequence of events.

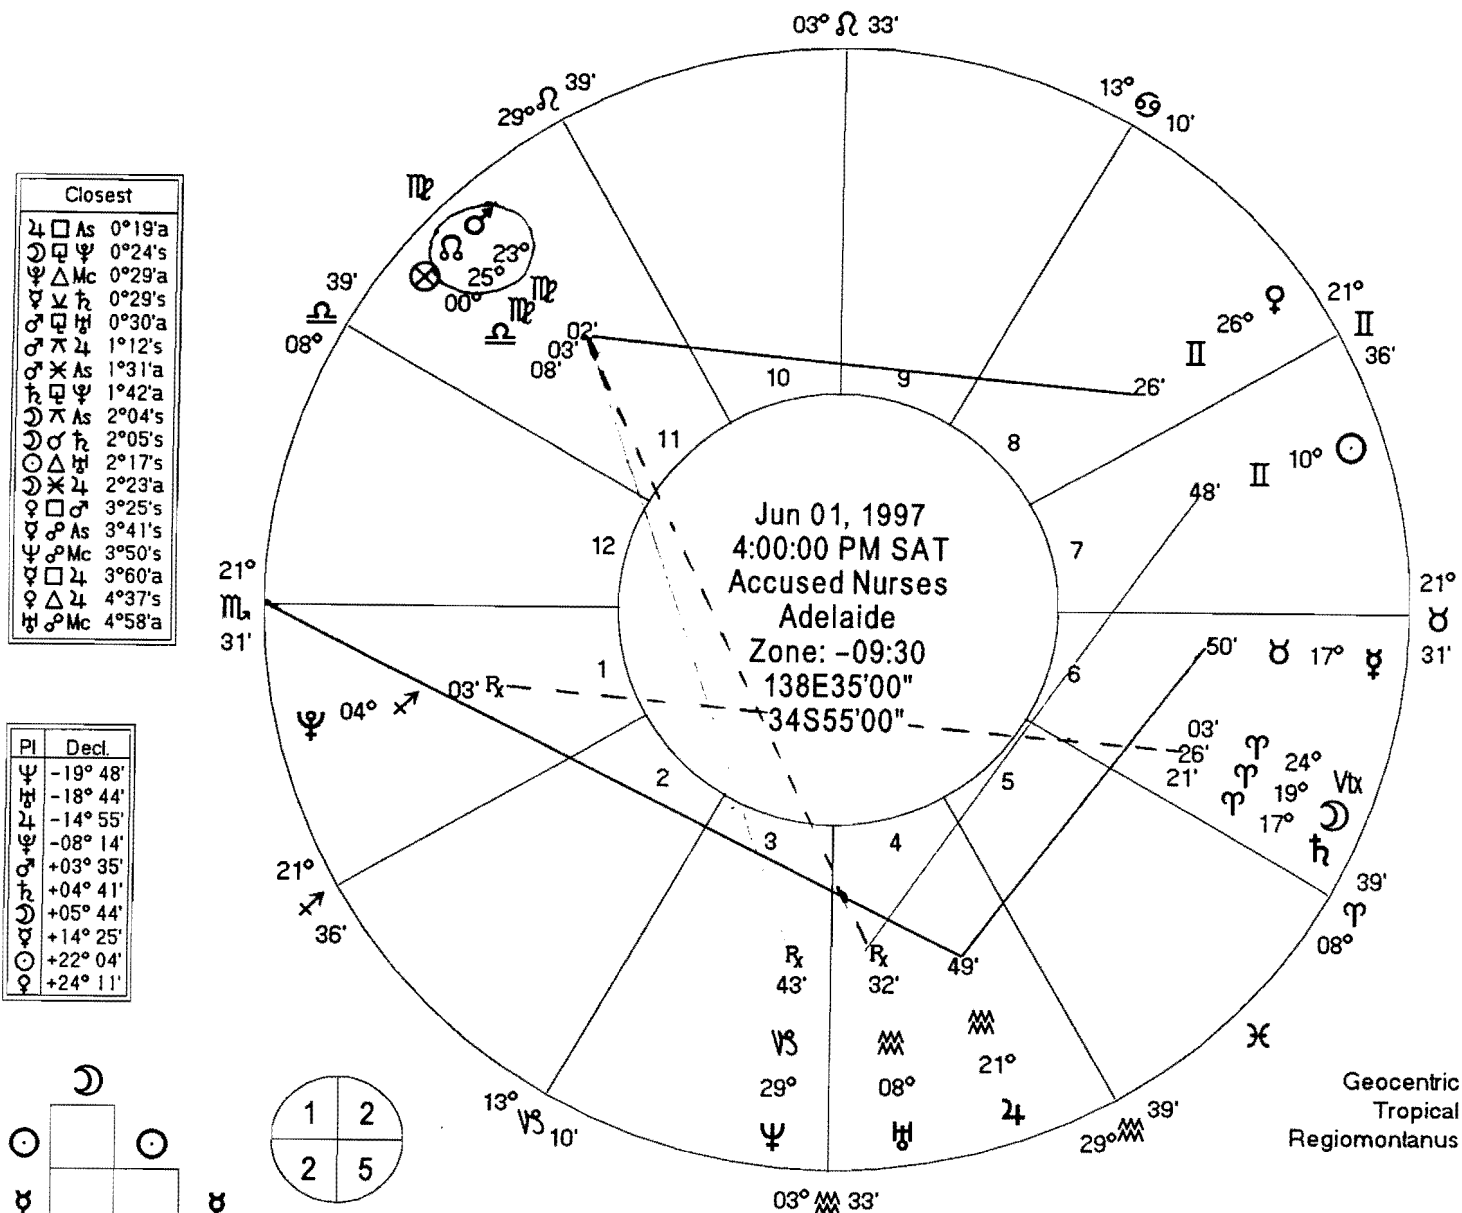

The Verdict is shown by the 4th House which is occupied by a retrograde Uranus and Jupiter (the judges). Uranus is adversely aspecting the Significator of the accused, as already noted. The Horary Ruler of Aquarius is Saturn, which is here conjunct the Moon, a bad omen. Jupiter being closely square to the rising degree is another adverse factor for the accused.

Another element in this case is the alleged confession of the nurses. They claim that it was extracted under pressure and with false promises that it would allow them to go home to England. In the Horary Chart the confession is represented by Mercury and the 3rd House, ruled by Saturn. Mercury has recently passed over the Moon—was, in fact, stationary on it on 23rd December, about the date of the arrests. The Moon here takes over the nature of Pluto, because of its very close sesquare (orb only 23') to that planet, combined with the nature of Saturn conjoining the Moon. This does, indeed, imply coercion of a physical and psychological nature. But were the accused women simply confessing the truth in order to be speedily on their way home, and without a proper realization of the import of their statements? It is a question whether two people, no matter how frightened, would so lightly confess to a heinous crime they had not committed. Mercury is square to Jupiter, the planet that stands for justice and probity, so it is quite possible the women were speaking the truth, albeit unwillingly (the square).

Altogether, I judge that a Guilty verdict is to be anticipated. If so, what of the sentence? Saudi law prescribes death by the sword, unless clemency is sought by the relatives of the victim. This means that Frank Gilford, brother of the deceased, will have the power to grant a reprieve from beheading.

At the present time Frank Gilford stands by his assertion that if found guilty the two nurses should suffer the extreme penalty. Will he relent? It is surely inconceivable that, as a product of a 20th Century supposedly enlightened society, he will insist on the

Did the two accused nurses murder Yvonne Gilford?

[illegible]

	Crd	Fix	Mut
Fir	2	1	1
Ear	1	1	1
Air	0	2	2
Wat	0	1	0

Sunday Jun 01, 1997
The 152nd day of the year.
4:00:00 PM SAT -09:30
LMT: 16:44:20
UT: 07:30:00
UT-LMT: -09:14:20
ST: 08h23m28s
RAMC: 125°52'
Local Apparent Time: 16:46:33
Equation of Time: 02m13s
Planetary Hour: Moon (☾)
11th Hour of Sun-Day
Sunrise (approx): 07:19 SAT
Sunset (approx): 17:08 SAT
Moon in 4th Quarter
☉/☾ Angle: 308°38'
☾'s Motion: +14°00'39"
Julian Day: 2450600.77083
FVP: 05°X17'47"
Fagan/Bradley
Ayanamsa: -24°42'13"

Pl	Geo Lon	R _x
☾	19° ♍ 26' 10"
☉	10° ♊ 48' 25"
♊	17° ♋ 49' 34"
♋	26° ♊ 26' 27"
♌	23° ♎ 01' 33"
♍	21° ♎ 49' 06"
♎	17° ♍ 20' 59"
♏	08° ♎ 31' 37"	R _x
♐	29° ♏ 43' 07"	R _x
♑	04° ♏ 02' 33"	R _x
♒	25° ♏ 02' 38"
♓	03° ♏ 33' 27"
♈	21° ♏ 30' 32"
♉	24° ♍ 02' 32"
♊	08° ♏ 14' 16"
♋	00° ♏ 08' 16"

Adjusted Calculation Dates
0h= Feb 7 12h= Aug 8

4TH HARMONIC OF HORARY CHART + RADIX (OUTER CIRCLE)

death penalty, which is a relic of a mediaeval age. Still, in times of stress human beings do strange things. What indication does the Chart give? Frank Gilford's Significator is the Moon, Ruler of the 9th House (3rd House to the 7th, the brother of Yvonne Gilford). The Moon's conjunction with Saturn portrays his hard line. But the Moon is separating from the conjunction and applying to the sextile of Jupiter, which is of opposite tendency. Thence it is further lightened by coming to the trine of Venus. My judgement is, therefore, that Frank Gilford will NOT insist on execution.

But there is still another factor to consider: The Arabian Part of Decapitation (Cusp 8 + Mars - Moon) in this Chart is at 21°55' Scorpio which is right on the Ascendant, Significator of the two nurses. This is a very disturbing feature about which I do not care to speculate beyond hoping that it refers to the threat of decapitation rather than its literal application.

As a further measure to determine the outcome, I have erected a fourth Harmonic of the Horary Chart—fourth because it corresponds to the 4th House which relates to the verdict of the Court. This Chart appears above, and it is revealing: The most heartening aspect is the position of Jupiter ("The Preserver") right on the Ascendant and closely trine to Radical Venus. Thus the two astrological Fortunes are in complete harmony as well as being powerfully placed. The Ascendant is strongly related to life and health, so I am optimistically confident that Deborah Parry and Lucille McLauchlan will not be executed. Neptune squares Jupiter, and this would refer to the emotional euphoria induced by their release from the shadow of the Saudi sword.

Mars and the Moon's Node, the Radical Significators of the two nurses, appear on the 12th Cusp (Confinement) so I judge they will be sent to prison.

What will be the term of the imprisonment? Mercury rules the 12th House, as well as occupying it, so is doubly significant in relation to the gaol sentence. Saturn's trine to Mercury indicates a long period of incarceration. As Mercury is 16° from the conjunction of Jupiter in the 1st House (liberation) I hazard a guess that the period would be 16 years.

In one or two weeks time (perhaps on 20th June when the Sun transits Radical Venus) we should have an answer to all the above questions. Many people around the world with different views and strong feelings on the matter will be waiting to see how the issues are resolved. Let us hope we are not going to revert to the Dark Ages.

—Dymock, 5th June 1997.

Did you receive Issue 189 (April 1997)?

A curious thing happened with the posting out of the last Issue. Four of the posted envelopes were returned to me with the address of the recipient expunged! Apparently something untoward happened in the Mail Sorting Centre. Unfortunately, I cannot tell which subscribers missed out. So, if you did not receive Issue No.189 please let me know and I shall send you a copy immediately.

—Dymock.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock-Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 189 April 1997

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

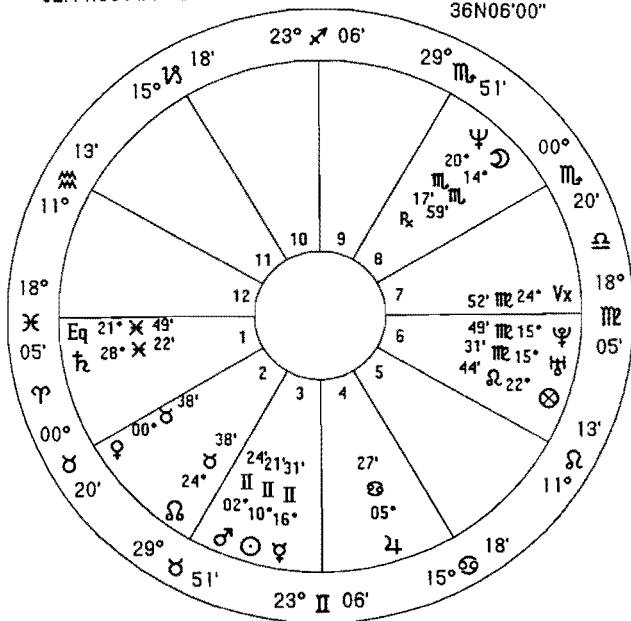

SOLUTION TO TEST NO.13

This Test evidently did exercise the mind of a number of readers, though only two sent in solutions. Neither was correct but I'm sure all who made an attempt would have found it a valuable method of refining and focussing their skills. The correct answer was marriage.

The question asked was what occurred on 20th October 1990 in the life of the woman whose Chart appears below.

Test-13 Female
Jun 01, 1966
02:11:00 AM CDT

Kansas City Miss
Zone: +05:00
094W35'00"
36N06'00"

In tackling this type of exercise, it is usually not possible to tell what happened from a study of the Progressions and Directions (Forward and Converse) alone. After various approaches, many attempts and numerous failures, I have settled on what appears to be the most promising method for finding the correct answer to questions of this "What happened?" type.

One has to examine the Cyclic Charts, and with repeated experience learn to establish a hierarchy of charts—which ones are more important than others. Unfortunately, the hierarchy you establish in one

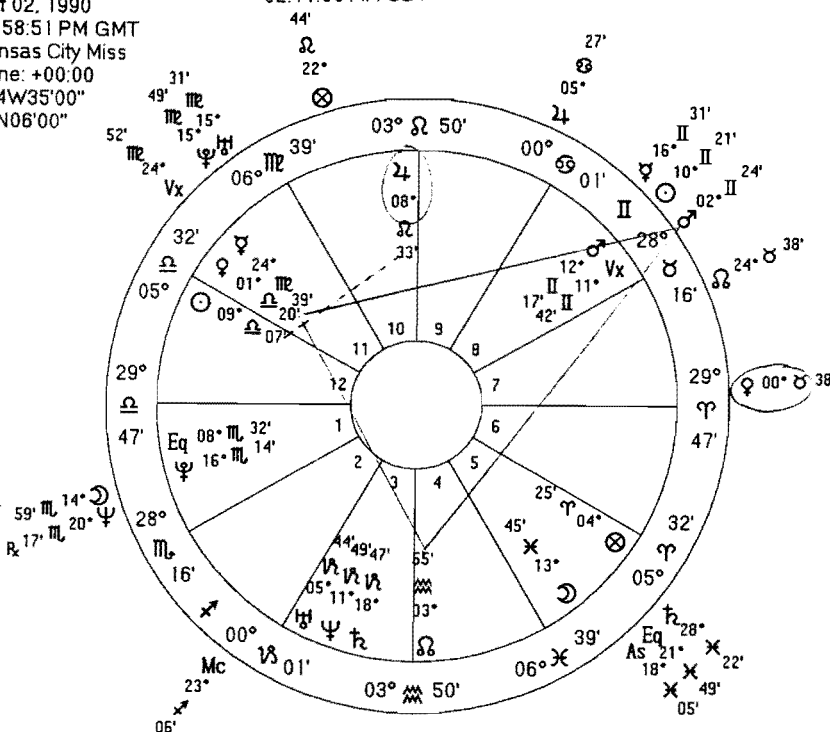

In This Issue...

	Page
Solution to Test No.13, with analysis of Cyclic Charts	1
New-Type Test, No.14.....	3
Ex-Prime Minister John Major—Birth Chart and Cyclics	3
A Pluto Transit.....	3
Abducted Child	4

INNER CHART:
Syn Mth Female-1jun96
Oct 02, 1990
01:58:51 PM GMT
Kansas City Miss
Zone: +00:00
094W35'00"
36N06'00"

OUTER CHART:
Female-1/6/1966-kansas
Jun 01, 1966
02:11:00 AM CDT

Geocentric
Tropical
Placidus Houses

particular case may not hold good for all cases. One clue is to consider first the Cyclic Chart that is closest to the date of the event, prior to its occurrence. It is a curious fact that many of the important events in a person's life come right at the time when a Cyclic Chart is superseded by the next in the series. You are likely to find that the second Chart tells the story even though it is chronologically too late.

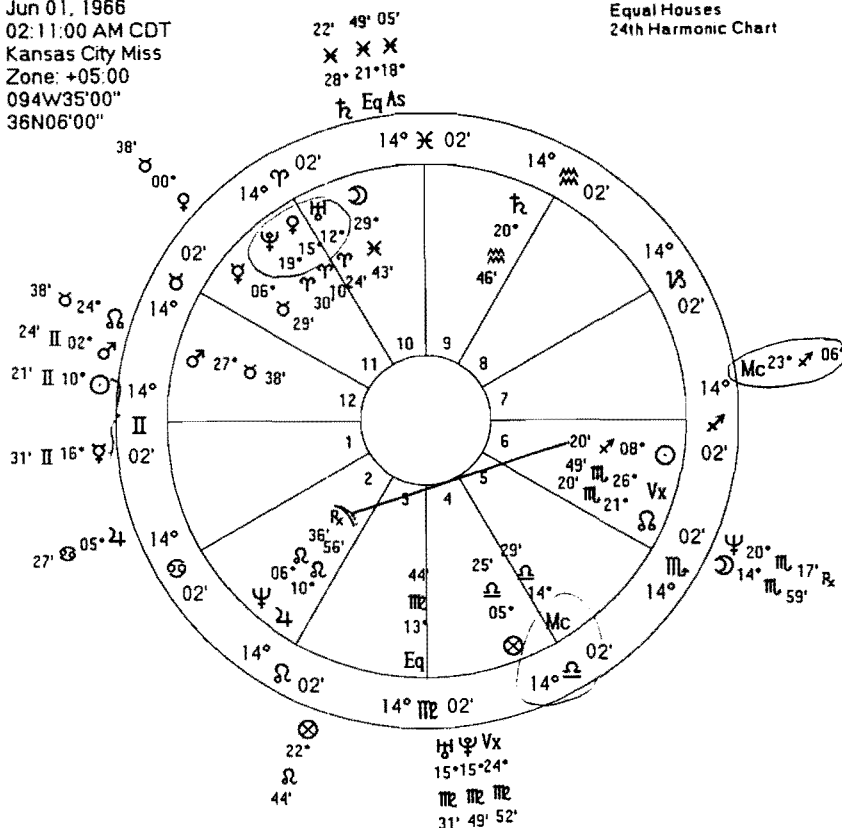

The second essential step is to filter out the insignificant Aspects from the important ones. The most important Aspects will almost invariably be those with the smallest orbs. It doesn't matter whether the Aspect is a semisextile or an opposition, the small-orb aspect is the one that will count most.

Very indicative in the present instance was the Monthly Synodic (or Phase-Return) Figure, which recurs each month when the Sun and Moon return to the same phase or angular distance they had from one another in the Radix. This Chart, with the Radix superimposed appears on the preceding page..

INNER CHART:
Test-13 Female
Jun 01, 1966
02:11:00 AM CDT
Kansas City Miss
Zone: +05:00
094W35'00"
36N06'00"

Geocentric
Tropical
Equal Houses
24th Harmonic Chart

The conjugal Sign ♌ rises, and its Ruler, ♀ , forms a Grand Trine with the Moon's North Node and Natal ♂ —the trio signifying love and passion. Very appropriately, ♀ rules the 1st House, and ♂ the 7th, relating to the two parties involved. Of more immediate impact, however, is ♄ at the Midheaven and Natal ♀ on the 7th Cusp. These two planets are operating like a Paran, which combines the effect of two bodies through their simultaneous approach to different Angles. ♀ and ♄ from the 7th and 10th Houses together signify love and union. ♄ , moreover, is closely sextile the ☉ which rules the MC (rise or beneficial change in status)

Other Cyclic Charts were also significant, if less spectacular in their indications. The woman concerned being 24 years old at her marriage, her 24th Harmonic Chart should also provide the answer, as it in fact does: ♄ ruling the House of Marriage is closely trine to the ☉ and conjunct ♅ , ♄ and ♅ being joint Rulers of the Status House. The "floating" MC is on the Cusp of love and romance, and the Natal ☉ and ♅ conjoin the Ascendant, signifying the impact of a male on the native's life and fortunes. Fittingly, the Natal MC is in the Marriage House. That all did not go well with the native's love-life prior to her marriage is evident from the position of ♀ "besieged" by ♂ and ♅ .

For lack of space the other Cyclic Charts are not shown, though analysed. The Solar Return of May 31, 1990 has its Ascendant conjunct the Natal Midheaven, which puts an emphasis on status/achievement. ♄ is trine to the Natal ♄ ruling the Natal House of Romance and Love (good things happening in this area). ♀ is conjunct Natal ♀ (accent on "The Unifier"). The ☉ forms a Grand Trine with the ♄ 's North Node and the Upper Meridian (physical relationship and upgrade of status).

The Solar Month Chart (Oct3/Nov1,'90) has meagre indications this time: ♂ ruling the Status House is sextile the ☉ and conjunct Natal ☉ . The ♄ ruling the Marriage House is sextile to Natal ♂ but opposite ♀ .

Finally, the Lunar Return: For marriage on October 20 the appropriate Chart is for 2:3:6am on October 20, but just recently I learned that the marriage had actually occurred on October 10, and it "involved travel to Washington on October 20". So the appropriate L.R. for the marriage is the one that occurred on Sept. 22, 1990.

Indications in this Chart, however, are singularly lacking. It is only when the Birth Chart is superimposed that there is a hint through the Angles of the two Charts coinciding and Natal ♀ conjuncting the 7th Cusp. The Chart of October 20 is actually more significant with a triple conjunction of the ☉ , ♅ and ♀ in ♌ .

None of the other Cyclic Charts is affected by the

12th INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE of the Federation of Australian Astrologers Inc.
1998, January 22—26
University of Queensland, Brisbane Australia

Speakers include Alan Oken, Jeff Green, Melanie Reinhart, Babs Kirkby, Michael Lutin, Sue Tompkins, Rae Merriman, Caroline Casey.

Enquiries to Cyndi Walls: Tel: 61 07 3802 1422.
E-mail: cyndi@powerup.com.au change in the marriage date. —Dymock.

TEST NO.14

Here is an exercise of an easier type, though still not really easy. It relates to the same Radix as Test No.13—the female born in Kansas City on June 1, 1966. See page 1 of this Issue, or page 3 of Issue 187, for the Birth Horoscope.

The test here is to match four events in the subject's life with the date on which each one occurred, taken from the list of dates provided.

The events are:

1. A car accident—no one injured, but the car rolled down a 20' embankment.
2. The birth of a son.
3. Suicide attempt.
4. Brother's suicide.

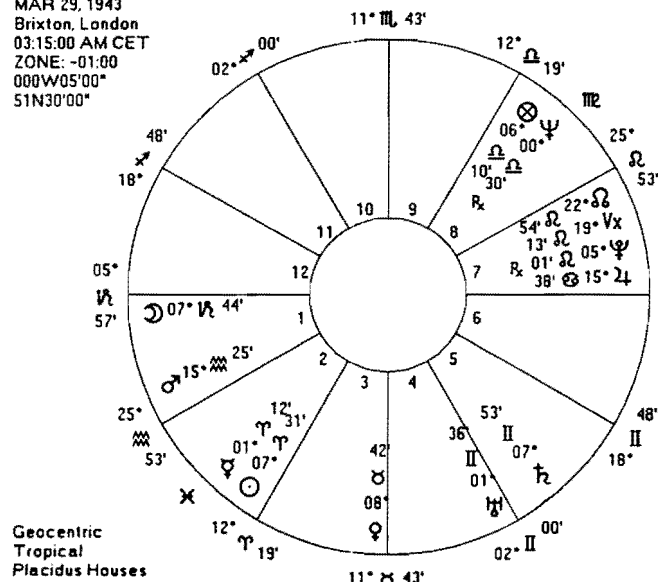

The dates connected with the above events are: 12 Apr 1989, 9 Feb 1995, 4 Dec 1995, and 1 Jan 1996.

Can you match each event with its correct date? Please send your answers to me at 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073. To give you plenty of time, the closing date is July 15. Include your astrological reasons with your answers, to show they are not just a guess. I promise you that attempting a series of questions such as these Tests will marvellously hone your astrological skills. You will then become an astrologer, not just a dilettante.

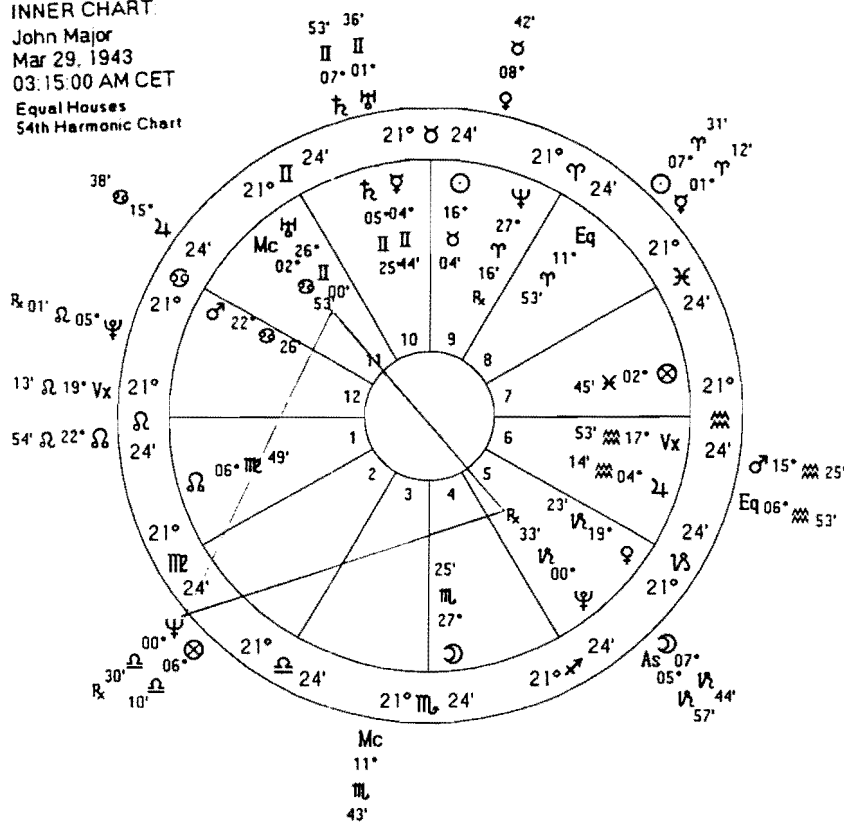

EX-PRIME MINISTER JOHN MAJOR

What appears to be an authentic birth time for John Major has now come to light through the William Lilly

JOHN MAJOR
MAR 29, 1943
Brixton, London
03:15:00 AM CET
ZONE: -01:00
000°W05'00"
51N30'00"

INNER CHART
John Major
Mar 29, 1943
03:15:00 AM CET
Equal Houses
54th Harmonic Chart

Among numerous adverse indications, the outstanding one is ☿ ☿ the "floating" MC, both ☐ to Natal. ♀.

List on the Internet (william_lilly@halcyon.com). The time given is 3:15am BST, at Brixton, London, on 29th March 1943.

This Chart is borne out well by the derived Charts—the 54th Harmonic and the Synodic Return—operating when John Major lost the U.K. Election on 1st May.

The return on 11th July 1947 of the Natal Sun-Moon phase angle gives the Annual Synodic Chart for the year 29 March 1997–29 March 1998. It appears on the next page, circumscribed by the Natal Chart.

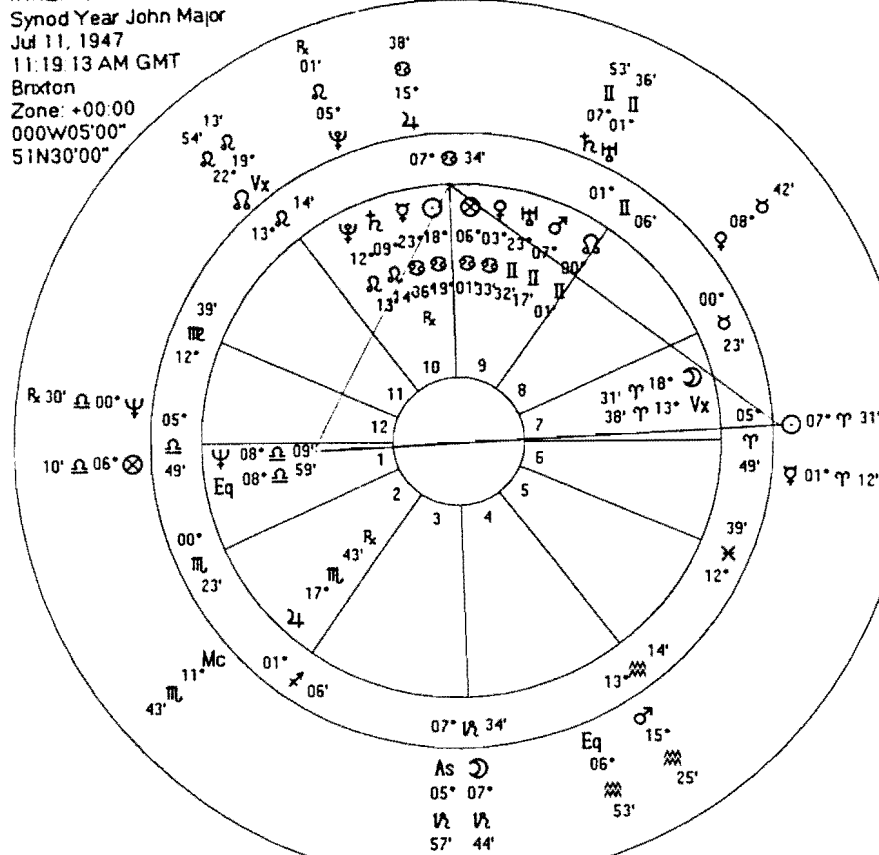

A PLUTO TRANSIT

On 14th April the Leader of the Opposition in the Tasmanian Parliament resigned, which may not have been noticed much outside Tasmania. This is Michael Field, born on 28th May 1948. This puts his Sun in 6° Gemini with the Transiting Pluto within 1° orb of Opposition—so a spot-on Transit. He will be resigning from Parliament altogether in June (endings and new beginnings). I had been wondering about him as there had been no blow-up or crisis in his leadership, and he himself had ridiculed any possibility of stepping down—but politicians always do till the last moment. He comes up to 49 this year, which is very young to end a career. But these Pluto Transits do work. Another additional point is that his Progressed Sun is in 23° Cancer. This puts it in the Pisces decanate, and I have found that these Progressed decanates can be very effective. The Sun in a Pisces decanate can be a sticky one.

—Allan Johnson (Tas.).

INNER CHART:

Synod Year John Major
Jul 11, 1947
11:19 13 AM GMT
Brxton
Zone: +00:00
000W05'00"
51N30'00"

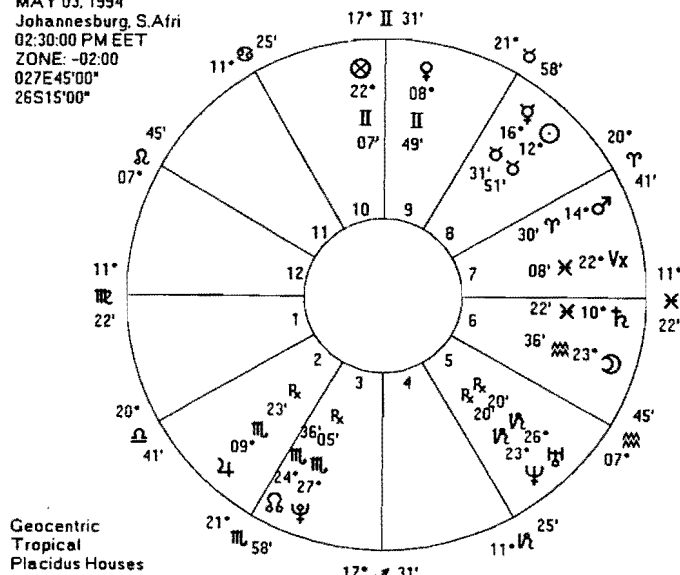

John Major's Electional defeat is graphically described by $\Psi \sigma$ Asc ρ Natal \odot , both \square MC.

ABDUCTED CHILD

Here is the Birth Chart of a baby born on 3rd May 1994 in Johannesburg, South Africa. The baby was abducted the next day, and returned two years later, on 4 March, 1996. The Chart was sent to me by Doreen Gilbert (NSW),

ABDUCTED CHILD
MAY 03, 1994
Johannesburg, S. Afri
02:30:00 PM EET
ZONE: -02:00
027E45'00" 26S15'00"

Geocentric
Tropical
Placidus Houses

The Chart for the actual abduction is in the next column. The two Charts invite us to decide whether as astrologers we could foresee the abduction, and the outcome.

Certainly, the Birth Chart does carry a warning of kidnapping: Ψ conjoined with \times , Ψ with Ω , and the linked to all of them is as clear an indication of kidnapping as one is likely to get. The actual deed occurred when the \mathcal{D} on the day after the birth came to the conjunction of \mathcal{h} .

Foretelling the date when the baby would be re-united with its mother is a more difficult proposition. We should like to be able to read this from the Event Chart. The abductor is represented by the 7th House, which has ρ on the Cusp and so is ruled by \mathcal{L} posited, appropriately, in \mathcal{M} —and Retrograde. Retrogradation in Horary Charts is an indication of returning, so we might judge that the abductor would bring the baby back to its mother. But when? I doubt whether the two-year period of abduction can be read from the Event Chart.

However, the Synodic Return Chart of 14 March 1996, where Leo is on the Children's Cusp, has the $\mathcal{D} \sigma \mathcal{L}$ at the Midheaven in the 14th degree of \mathcal{V} trine to the Natal \odot (ruling the House of Children) in

EVENT: THE ABDUCTION

CHILD ABDUCTION
MAY 04, 1994
Johannesburg, Sth Af
09:00:00 AM EET
ZONE: -02:00
027E45'00" 26S15'00"

Geocentric
Tropical
Placidus Houses

the 14th degree of \mathcal{O} . This is so symbolic of a joyful re-union of child with parent that I would say the date of restoration was the 14th March, not the 4th, and that a mistake has been made somewhere in the transmission of the information. The previous Synodic Chart does not give any indication of the child's return to its mother.

My kind regards to all. —Dymock, 28 May 1997.

Thanks to Ross for handling this Test, and for his report. My regret is that only four entries were received (none of them correct). If you want to technique and whether it can be sharpened up, or whether it should be discarded for a more appropriate method. Applying your Astrology to real-life situations and questions is the surest way to acquire practical skill—and that's what Astrology should be about—not just a theme for superficial small talk at parties.

There is another Test (No. 13) on page 3 of this Issue. I urge you, as a serious astrologer, for your own benefit to make the time to tackle this exercise and send in your solution (whether you have confidence in it or not).

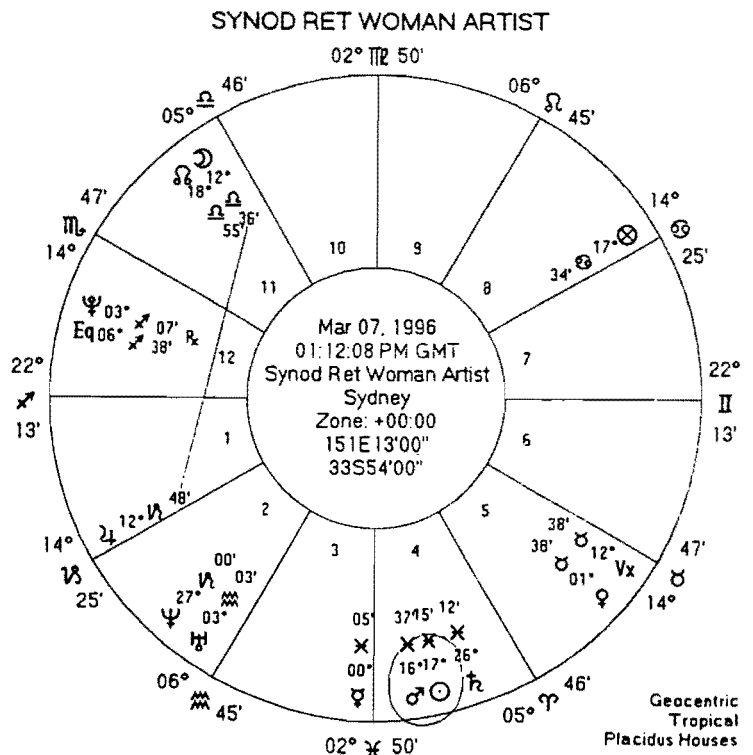

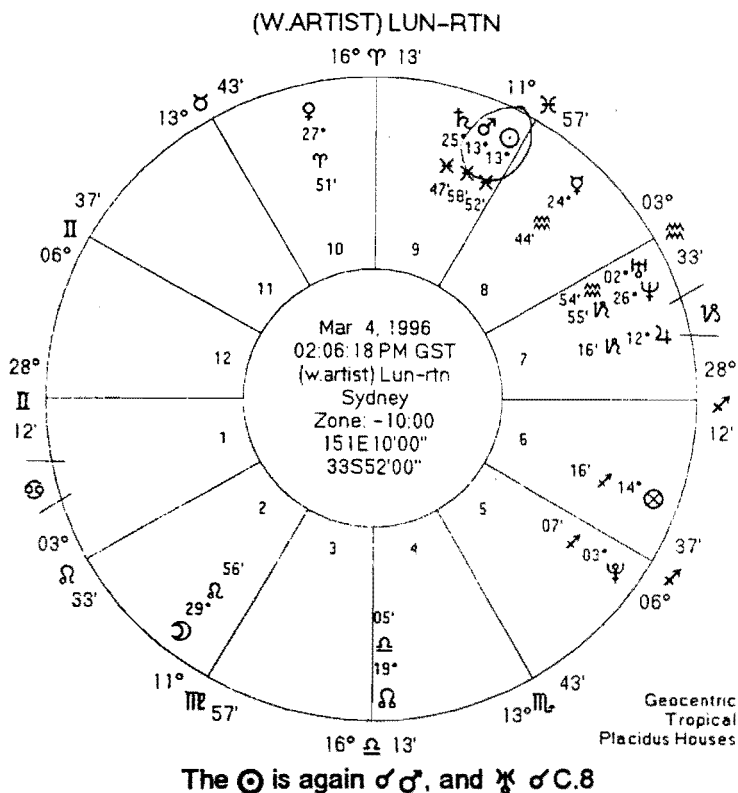

As an addendum to Ross's Report, I could add other Dynamic Aspects that were current at the time of the father's death on 30th March 1996. They were:

♂♂♀ (Solar-Arc Direction) on 29 March 96
(disruption of a love bond).

♂ Transiting Asc and ♀ on 30 March 96.
(emotional distress)

[PEA Primary Direction ♂ d. ☐ Asc, 27 March 96]

In addition to the Charts cited by Ross, there are two others of interest—the Synodic Return of March 7,

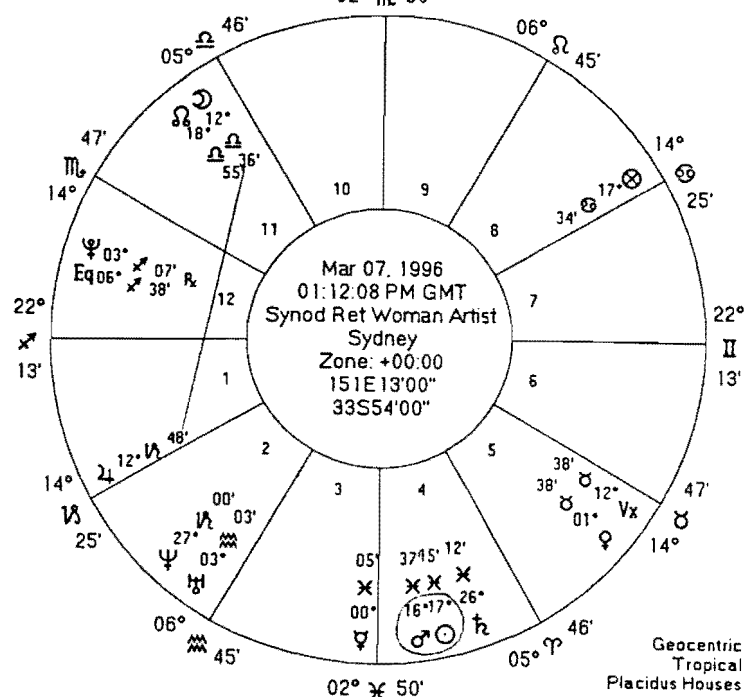

♂♂☉ in 4th House (the father), ♀♂ Natal ☉, and ♂ ruling House of Deaths ☐ 4 point to death of the father.

improve your astrology and make it highly practical, there is no better way than attempting a solution to the various tests and exercises offered in this Publication. It will search out deficiencies in astrological understanding and technique. It is hardly relevant whether you find the correct answer or not—the great benefit comes from doing the exercise and learning by it. You discover for yourself just how good (or bad) is your 1996, that is the time in March when the Sun and Moon returned to the same phase angle that they had at the subject's birth, and the "Solar-Month" Chart for the time in March when the Sun returned to the degree, minute and second it occupied at the birth though in a

SYNOD RET WOMAN ARTIST

02° 17' 50"

The father's death shown here by ☉ ☿ ☿, ☿ ☿ Natal ☉, and ☿ ☿ ☿.

SU INCREMENT: 059 66'

Indications of the father's death are ☉, ☿, ☿, ☿ ☿ ☿ in the Derived 8th H. of the father, ☿ ☿ ☿, and N. ☿ ☿ ☿.

different Sign.

In the Synodic Chart the indications of the father's death are even more specific: ☿ closely conjoins the ☉ in the 4th House, traditionally associated with the father: ☿ at ≈3°3' is conjunct the Natal ☉ at ≈4°36' (shock), and the ☿ ruling the House of Deaths is square ☿ (loss of family member).

The Solar-Month Chart has the ☉ ☿ ☿, ☿ and ☿ a stronger affliction to the ☉ than from ☿ alone. These bodies are all in the 11th House, which is the 8th to the 4th, the 11th therefore being the House of Death in relation to the 4th which has Leo on the Cusp and so is ruled by the Sun. Natal Pluto ("The Destroyer") afflicts the 4th Cusp by conjunction. Pluto in the Chart afflicts the Sun by trine (only less powerful than the square). Notice that the aforesaid ☉, ☿, ☿ and ☿ are all transiting the 8th House of the Natal Chart, pointing to a death.

All these Cyclic Charts are of interest, and it is a matter of debate just which is the more indicative of the event. From my experience, no one Chart is consistently more useful than another in this respect, though my vote in the present instance goes to the Synodic Chart. In view of the offer made in the next Test (below) readers are invited to judge for themselves.

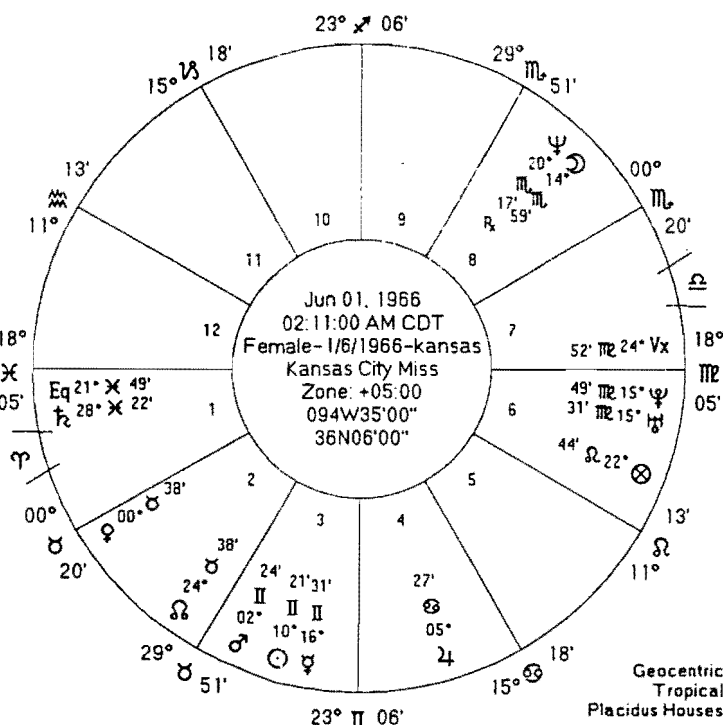

—Dymock.

TEST NO.13

Now here is another Exercise on which you can try your skills. Below is the Birth Chart of a woman born on 1st June 1966 at 2:11am CDT (+5h = GMT) in Kansas City, Missouri. What happened in her life on 20th October 1990?

On this occasion I am unable to supply personal details of the subject, but to make the task easier for those who do not have a computer or an appropriate program, I'll supply a relevant Cyclic Chart to any one who sends me a stamped self-addressed envelope. The Cyclic Charts are those that have been discussed in the previous pages—Solar Return, KSR Q1 (Progressive Solar Return), Lunar Return, Synodic Return, or Solar-Month. Each Chart will be a laser print-out circumscribed by the Natal Horoscope. Just let me know which print-out you want.

FEMALE-1/6/1966-KANSAS

I hope there will be many prepared to devote some time to this Test. Send your answers to me at 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia. 5073.

The closing time for entries will be 20th May.

—Dymock.

HORARY QUESTION

Horary Astrology can be very useful in determining whether a projected course of action will be advisable or not. In the Horary Chart below, the Querent asked whether she should proceed with her wish to do compassionate work as a Life-Line Telephone Querent, and it closely trines Ψ , ruling the Piscean 10th House (compassionate vocation). The two planets together are characteristic of telephoning. The Querent's Co-Significator, the \mathcal{D} , is conjunct Ψ , Traditional Ruler of \mathcal{K} on the 10th Cusp (orb only 44'). The \mathcal{D} rules the 3rd House—communication.

The Querent accordingly did undertake the Training Course and is glad that she did. She is now a practising Life-Line Telephone Counsellor and finds it fulfilling as it not only satisfies a social need but is also a personal development.

Horary Astrology has proved its value over the years with this type of question—whether to undertake a specific course of training, study, etc. When the matter is one of special importance the Chart gives a clear, correct answer, most valuable when all the factors involved are not necessarily apparent or understood.

Comments on Planets' Stations

Ross Harvey reports:

You asked for comments on the planetary Stations in February/March. In February I was asked to do a term's teaching, which has extended to two terms. It started on the 7th, and Mars was almost exactly Stationary trine my 11th Cusp on the 6th.

On the 22nd of February I won first prize in the Easter Show Still-Life Competition, and Pluto was Stationary closely conjunct my 5th Cusp on the 8th of March. □

Any other observations by readers? Recent approaching planetary Stations that would affect Natal Significators near the given positions are:

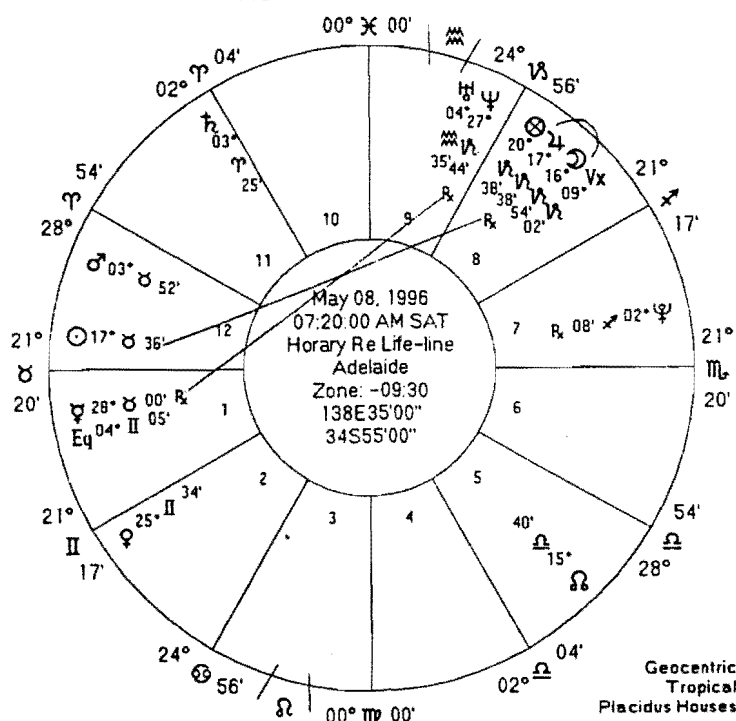

Ψ R at	\mathcal{K} 5°36'	on	March 8
\mathcal{F} R at	\mathcal{O} 9°39'	on	April 15
\mathcal{D} at	\mathcal{M} 16°45'	on	April 27
Ψ R at	\mathcal{V} 29°58'	on	May 1
\mathcal{K} R at	\approx 8°40'	on	May 13
\mathcal{L} R at	\approx 21°56'	on	June 10

Michael Edwards (U.K.) has kindly responded to my request for the Birth Data of Prime Minister John Major, and has written extensively on the General Election to be held there on 1st May. I hope to present at least some of his material in the next Issue, which should still be prior to the Election. John Major was born on 29 March 1943 in SW London, 51N2° 0W13, in the early hours of the morning. Cheston Kemp's rectification is 1:54 UT with the \mathcal{D} rising in \mathcal{V} .

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 17 April 1997

HORARY RE LIFE-LINE

Counsellor. It would mean a twelve months training course followed by an obligatory years voluntary service.

The Chart left no doubt that the Course should be undertaken: The Sign \mathcal{O} rises, and the Ruler \mathcal{F} is in \mathcal{I} . This correlates with the Querent's Birth Chart which has the Venusian Sign \mathcal{L} on the Ascendant and the \mathcal{O} in \mathcal{I} . \mathcal{F} being in the 1st House is a Significator of the

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 187 February 1997

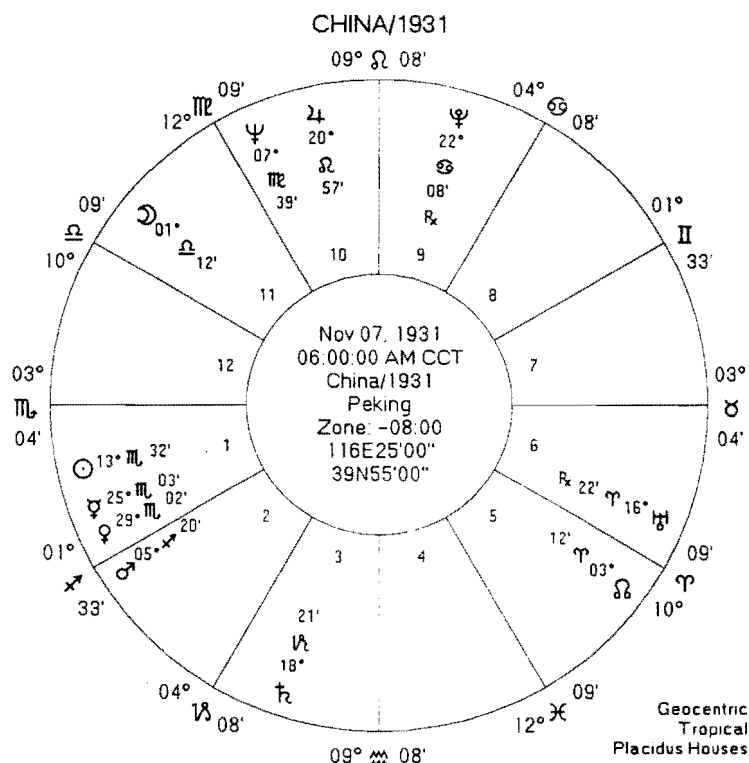

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

THE FUTURE OF HONG KONG

by Lyla Williams

I found Allan Johnson's article, The Future of China, of great interest (January Issue) but I am even more interested in the future of Hong Kong, which will pass from British to Chinese jurisdiction on the 1st July this year. However, the Chart I have used is not the 1949 Chart given by Allan Johnson but the 1931 Chart given in The Circle Book of Charts for the Congress of Soviet Republics: "The opening ... was heralded by the sounding of a trumpet at exactly 6am on November 7th, 1931" (N. Forrest).

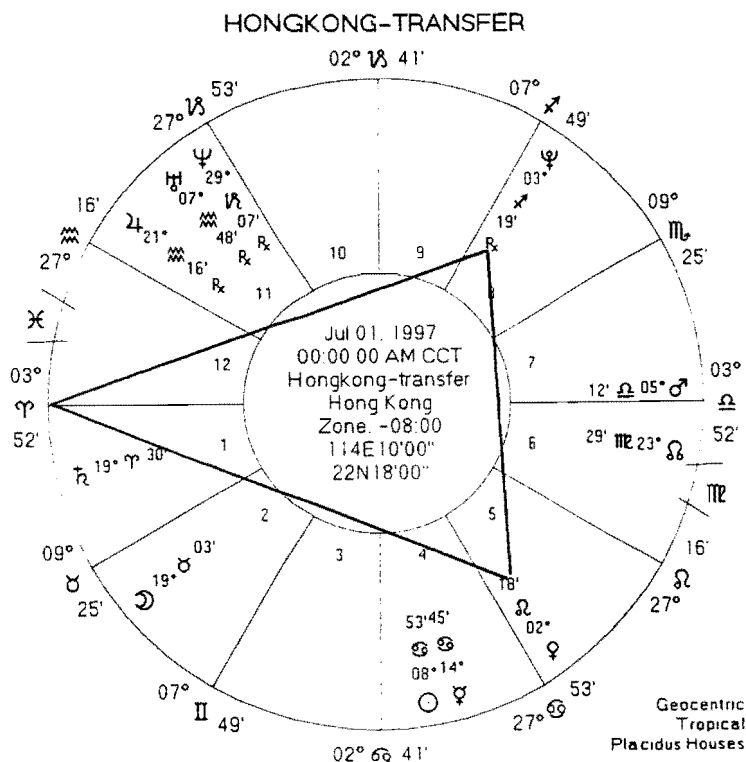

[No coordinates were given for this Chart, so I have used those for Peking. Angles and Cusps differ slightly from the original.]

My reasons for preferring this Chart include a Scorpio Sun and Ascendant—the Republic was achieved through revolution and has consistently shown aggressive tendencies within its own borders and towards its neighbours; ♂ in Fiery and

In This Issue...

	Page
The Future of Hong Kong.....	1
Helicopter Disaster	2
Crisis in New Guinea	3
Latest Developments.....	4
Comments from Readers	4

"adventurous" Sagittarius; a stern Capricorn, ♄ in the Third House (the family) (see China's draconian birth control methods as example). The ♃ conjunct the South Node in the 11th House (there are friends and "friends"), ♀ in the 9th House (Foreign Relations) and ♃ ♁ in the 10th—Deng Xiaoping (♁♁) and Mao-Tse-Tung (♂♁) add weight to this planet/Sign position.

Transfers of power normally happen at midnight, so my Chart for the Hong Kong handover is calculated for that time, July 1st. The first thing to notice is the tight Grand Trine between the Aries Ascendant, ♀♂ and ♀♁, an Aspect pattern encompassing enthusiasm, passion and dramatic events!. China's ♂ conjoins ♀, China's North Node conjoins the Ascendant, suggesting (in Aries) aggressive imposition of China's will, and China's MC is but 6° from ♀, suggesting China's need to be seen to receive cooperation from the business, artistic and financial world. The quincunx aspect from China's ♀ to ♈ brings two quite different approaches into the picture: A Virgoan ♀ will take a highly critical if practical line, whilst ♈ in its own Sign of Aquarius is freethinking, humanitarian and modern. It may also be relevant that ♈ lies on China's IC—"the end of life"!

The Chart shows five Cardinal planets plus Ascendant and Midheaven; six Positive planets against four Negative planets which together emphasize an active, forceful, eventful period—fewer Negative planets means a decreased tendency to accept the inevitable. The Hong Kong Taurus ♋ (need for security) falls into China's 7th House ("other people"), and opposes three Scorpio planets including China's ☿. This gives a strong Fixed Quality to the Chart. With the ♋♂♀ we would expect problems of over-sensitivity and hurt feelings; ♈♂, problems with communication between the two sides, and ♈☿, the possibility of an unbalanced relationship—with the "☿ country" dominating. The ♈'s are square, generally taken to suggest a contradictory or conflicting approach to the partner's sense of responsibility. Hong Kong's ☿ falls in China's 9th House where, being in the Sign of the homeland, I would expect an automatic assumption by China that Hong Kong had "come home"!

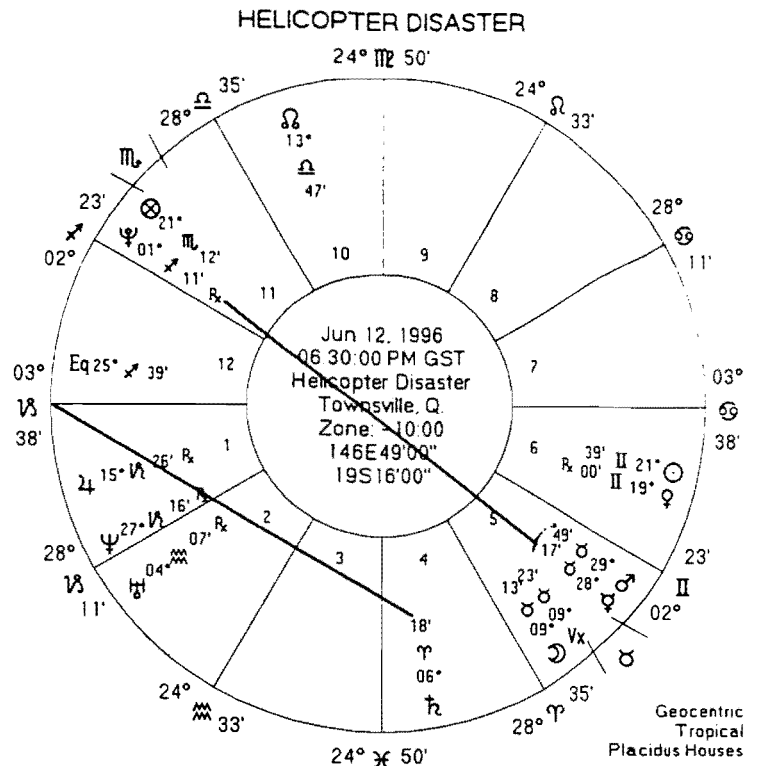

Using this Chart, China's Progressed ☿ at 18♊ applies to Hong Kong's ♈ in the 1st House and Hong Kong's ♋ in the 11th House in the next couple of years. I would suggest that the astrological indications are for an attempt by China to swallow Hong Kong whole, as it were, imposing harsh laws to stifle the Colony's current democratic longings, misinterpreting or ignoring the people's legitimate expectations (Scorpio ☿/Asc) with undue emphasis on the greater family (China's ♀ in Cancer) at the expense of one small but populous branch.

I hope I am wrong—but doubt it.

HELICOPTER DISASTER

A Tragedy that Astrology Might Have Averted

At 6:30pm on 12th June 1996 six Australian Black Hawk helicopters took off from their base in Townsville, Qld., on a night training mission.

Approaching the target area, a series of errors led to the collision of two of the helicopters which plummeted to the ground, killing in all 18 members of the Special Air Services personnel.

When we look at the Chart for the commencement of the exercise it is obvious that disaster would attend it: ♀ and ♂ are in close conjunction and closely opposed by ♀ in the House of Self-Undoing. The late famous astrologer, Charles Carter, declared that ♀ and ♂ in combination are the two planets most frequently associated with personal injuries. Here their violence is increased by the opposition of ♀, planet of extremes. ♀ rises in the Chart, and its Ruler, ♈, is square to the Ascendant Degree with an orb of 2°40'. This orb is quickly diminishing through the action of the fast-moving Ascendant.

On more than one occasion in the past ten years I have advocated the use of Astrology to minimize tragedies in the air and elsewhere by choosing a suitable time for the commencement of journeys. This has been sceptically regarded by some astrologers but it is in fact entirely feasible. With modern high-powered computers a chart for the commencement of every flight by air-liners can be printed out in a few minutes, and it doesn't take an astrological genius to see disastrous planetary combinations like the one above. Proceedings would then be halted until a safe commencing time is found. In the above instance, by delaying the exercise for a couple of weeks the project would then be subject only to the normal hazards of military exercise but not the additional ones imposed by malefic planetary configurations. —Dymock.

CRISIS IN NEW GUINEA

by Allan Johnson

Papua New Guinea is very much in the news lately, and a lot of things are coming to a head. At the time of writing (21st March) the picture coming across is immensely confusing over the problem of Bougainville and the mercenaries and the rioting in Port Moresby. So it is interesting to look at the relevant Chart. Papua New Guinea received its independence from Australia in 1975, and the Constitution for the new State was set up for zero hours on 16th September at Port Moresby. This Chart is from the Book of World Horoscopes, and there is no controversy about it at all. At the outset it is not an easy Chart for a country to have. \odot is right on the Ascendant and making the square to the \odot , which is an indicator for violence. In addition to this there is a Grand Cross right on the Cusps of the Cardinal and Fixed Signs (\mathbb{A} , \mathbb{T} , \mathbb{M} , \mathbb{D}). This does not make for a lot of stability.

New Guinea is right on Australia's doorstep we could say, so it is interesting to note that the Prime Minister John Howard's own Chart links up so strongly with the P.N.G. Chart. He has a T-Square pattern right on the self-same Cusps of Cardinal and Fixed Signs and involving the \odot , Ψ , \mathbb{T} and \odot . So it is hard to see him not getting involved in the outcome of the conflict. His \odot is exactly on the \mathbb{D} in the P.N.G. Chart, with his \odot/Ψ right on \mathbb{T} and, finally, his \mathbb{T} exactly opposite the P.N.G. \mathbb{M} , an amazing correlation. He came into Office when the New Guinea crisis was very active. And, in addition, Howard's Ascendant is 18°II , identical with that of Papua New Guinea.

At the time of writing, he has made no definite moves. For nine years the Government of New Guinea has battled rebels on Bougainville Island, and the stakes are the huge copper mines that have been temporarily closed down due to the conflict. So the time had to come when things would erupt to boiling point, which is what is occurring right now. When we are looking at the question of massive upheavals it is usual to find the planets \mathbb{M} or Ψ involved by Transit. Looking back over the last couple of years when these traumatic developments have been accentuated, Ψ has not been active in the P.N.G. Chart, but \mathbb{M} certainly has. For the whole of these two years \mathbb{M} has been right on the \mathbb{V}/\approx Cusp and activating the rest of the Grand Cross pattern as well. So this period has set in motion what is now happening—the introduction of the mercenaries to clear up the issue once and for all. But it is not working out that way, hence the present turmoil and the looting and shooting.

In this same period John Howard went through quite a traumatic period when he could have sunk or swum. For this was the period when he had to throw his hat in the ring for the leadership of the Liberal Party, and it culminated in his successful bid for the Prime Ministership in March 1996. So there was a definite parallel with his Chart and the of the P.N.G. Chart, but in his case he also had a highly favourable Transit of Ψ to his Grand Trine pattern, which flung the balance in his favour. The P.N.G. Chart hasn't got that.

Now we have arrived at the point to look at the Transits for 1997/98. \mathbb{M} has now passed out of this Cuspal area at the beginning of Aquarius, and what we have is Neptune. Ψ will be right on the Cusp of Capricorn/Aquarius for both '97 and '98, which means it will be on the New Guinea Grand Cross as well as on Howard's T-Square. The two Charts converge. We all know that Ψ can be a very tricky planet. It is not connected with violence but it is connected with behind-the-scenes subterfuge. And nothing could be more appropriate for the kind of confused and messy situation that we have in Port Moresby right at this moment. The Prime Minister has sacked the head of the Army, and the head of the Army is trying to sack the Prime Minister—a very Neptunian setup. So we are getting a pretty chaotic situation with nobody quite sure what to do next. But I don't expect any large-scale civil war to eventuate. But the muddle and confusion is likely to continue. John Howard could find himself in the position of being compelled to take some action, but being subject to some heavy criticism whichever course he takes. That is a typical Neptune situation.

NEW GUINEA—LATEST DEVELOPMENTS

News has just come through (26th March) that Sir Julius Chan, Prime Minister of Papua New Guinea, has bowed to public pressure and stood aside while the matter of the employment of the mercenaries is cleared up. The country's troubles are not over, by any means. A study of the next three Monthly Synodic Charts set for Port Moresby points to April being a critical time also. Below is the Chart for April 17, 1997, when the Sun and Moon repeat the same phase that they had in the Country's Radix. It rules for a month, to May 17. The Radix itself is circumscribed around the Synodic Chart. It can be seen that the ☉ now forms a close and therefore powerful Grand Cross with Natal ♄, ♃ and ♅. Thus the ☉ (the head of government, whoever it is—and several are waiting in the wings) now faces another insurrection (♄) and the opprobrium of the mass of the people ([♃ ♀ ♅] ☉). Within the Chart, ♅ ☉ ♀ points to more mob violence, emphasized by the Vertex forming a T-Square. ♄ ♃ ♀ (orb only ½°) suggests another uprising of the Armed Forces.

These events will likely be precipitated in April by transiting ♄ Δ ♀ on the 21st and Stationary ♄ ☐ ♄ Radical on the 28th. Prior to that, we have transiting ♄ ♀ on 12th April, indicating insecurity and deaths (♄ ruling the 8th House and ♀ occupying it).

—Dymock.

Comments from Readers

Anne Fryer (S.Aust.) reports:

Re your request for planetary observations, on 8th March I went to a public-speaking adjudication workshop as part of my hobby—Rostrum (a public-speaking Association). ♄ was stationary at 6♈ in my 3rd House opposite my Natal ☉ at 4♌58 in the 9th and square my Natal Mars at 6♌ in the 5th. I am sorry to say I didn't experience "blind love" or a high degree of excitability! [But the connection with the Houses of communication and discussion is obvious. —Ed.]

From Doreen Gilbert (NSW):

Have you found a lot of bone fractures occurring at the time of the Saturn Return? I've just had a spate of these. [I haven't, Doreen, but it could well be expected. Readers may add to this. Ed.]

From Fred Klerk (NSW):

Most of the world's weather phenomena are triggered by Geocentric Transits to the Heliocentric planetary Nodes. Local weather changes are triggered by Transits to the Ascendant and Midheaven of a planet's Ingress Chart set up for your locale. These account for approximately 70% of weather phenomena

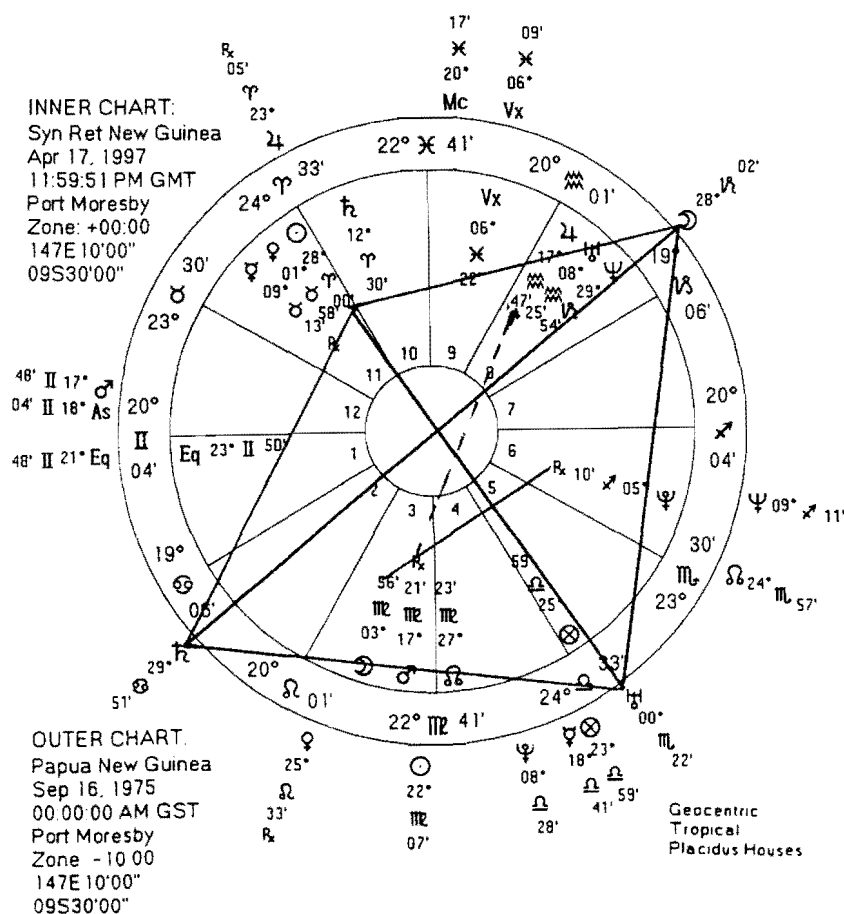

Have you sent your answer to last month's WHAT HAPPENED Test?

HELP FOR SMOKERS!

Nicotine addicts who want to give up smoking are helped by a ♄ aspect to the Ascendant, the Ruler or the ♅. ♄ is the great Eliminator—frees us from all sorts of detritus, emotional problems and bad habits. More help is available from a homoeopathic pharmacy: Homoeopathic Caladium-6x, three drops three times a day, will reduce the taste for nicotine. The discomfort of withdrawal is greatly relieved by four-drop doses every twelve hours of the homoeopathic complex Avena sativa-1x + Passiflora-1x.

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 26 March 97.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 186 January 1997

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

O.J. SIMPSON DRAMA CONCLUDED

...Murder though it have no tongue, will speak with most miraculous organ. O.J. Simpson has finally been found "responsible for causing the deaths" of his ex-wife, Nicole, and her friend, Ronald Goldman. The idiosyncrasy of American law which, on the one hand, can acquit him of murder in a criminal trial yet on the other hand in a civil case brought by the dependants of the victims find him guilty of causing their deaths is not luminous in its logic but satisfactory in its conclusion. The Court, thankfully, achieved finally what I believe most people will regard as the right verdict.

To my mind, the Harmonic Charts depicted and analysed in the October 1996 Astrologers' Forum, at the outset of the civil trial, settled beyond doubt that O.J. Simpson did indeed perpetrate the murders. I regard it as a triumphant demonstration of the power of Harmonics to reveal the truth in the fog of legal argument. The linking of Simpson's Age Harmonics with Nicole Simpson's Birth Horoscope was simple, clear and devastating for O.J. Readers are referred to Page 2 of the October Issue where the links between O.J.'s 46th Harmonic and Nicole Simpson's Natus are clearly shown. [Line 10 in the second column should read Semisquare her Mars, not "Semisextile her Mars".]

—Dymock.

MADONNA'S TRIUMPH

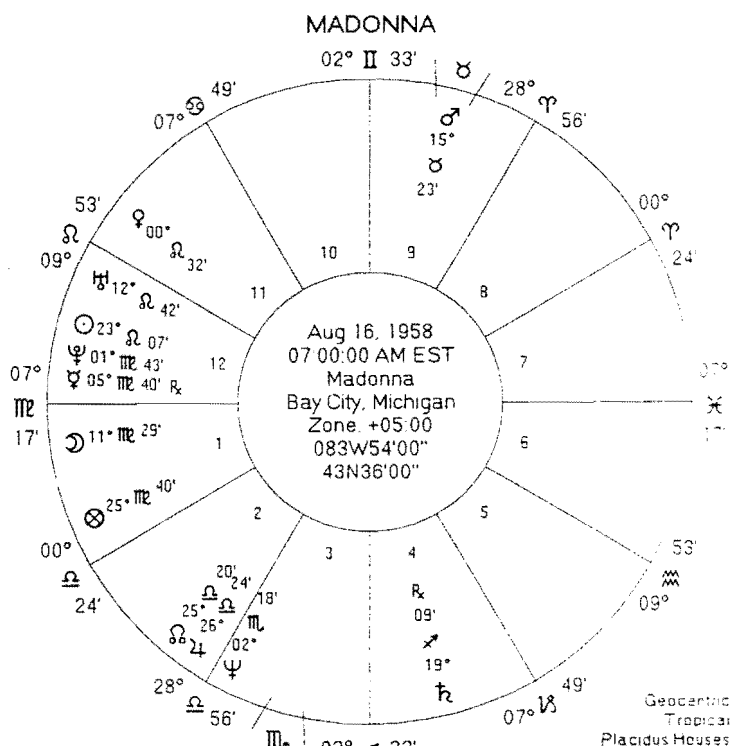

In view of entertainer Madonna's brilliant career success in the film Evita which is currently showing round the world, it is interesting to review her Horoscope published in Astrologers' Forum, June/July 1994 (next column).

Madonna's achievement is adequately portrayed by the current Solar Return, with the super-imposition of her Birth Chart (see next page). In fact, unless you do superimpose the Birth Chart you might very well miss the great importance of this Solar Year for Madonna.

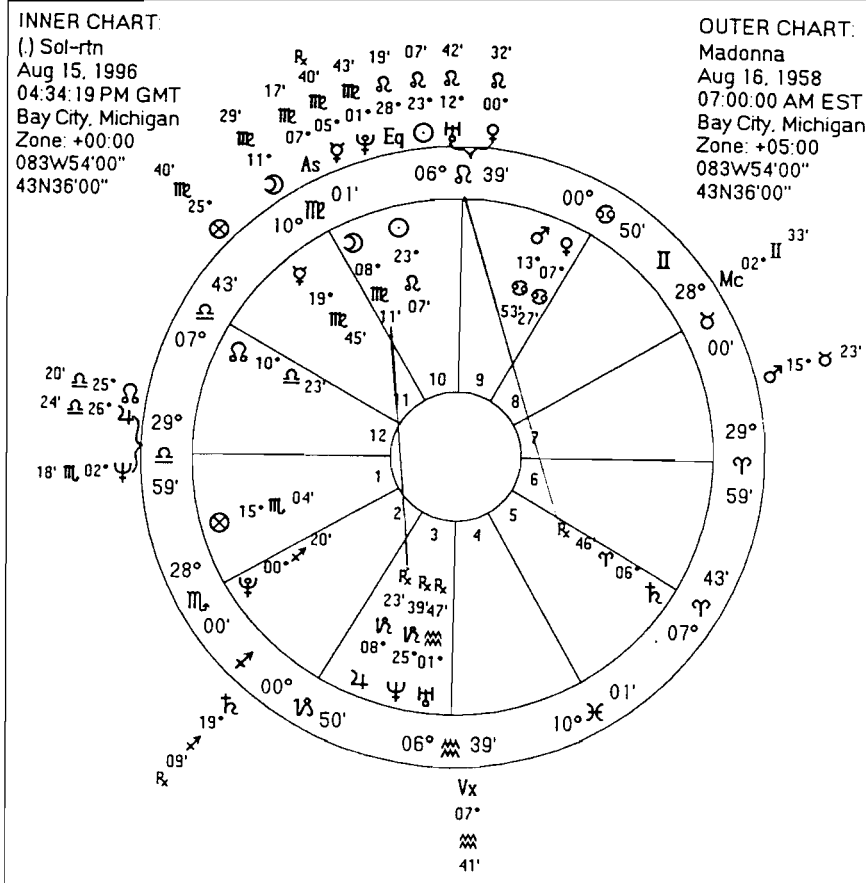

The outstanding factors are Natal ♄ and ♀ on the S.R. Ascendant, and Natal ♀ and ♄ on the S.R. Midheaven. It is quite striking that the Midpoints of

In This Issue...

	Page
O.J. Simpson Drama Concluded	1
Madonna's Triumph	1
Tony Blair—Next Prime Minister of the U.K.?	2
The Future of China	2
Readers' Letters	3
Test No. 12	4

these two groups of Natal planets are almost identical with the two Natal Angles: ♄/♀ at 29°21' conjunct the Ascendant at 29°58', and Natal ♀/♄ Midpoint 6°37' conjunct the MC at 6°39' (2' orb!). Aside from that we have in the S.R. Chart ♄ in close trine to the MC (orb 7' only). ♄ is a powerful show-business success indicator for Madonna as natively it rules her 5th House and is trine to her Sun. The ♄ also plays a very significant part in the Solar Return. It is strongly placed on the 11th Placidian Cusp (the public), Δ ♄ (orb only 12') and conjunct the Natal Ascendant. The combination of its position and Aspects means fame and fortune for Madonna (the ♄ ruling the Sector of Publicity and ♄ being Co-Ruler of the Income Sector).

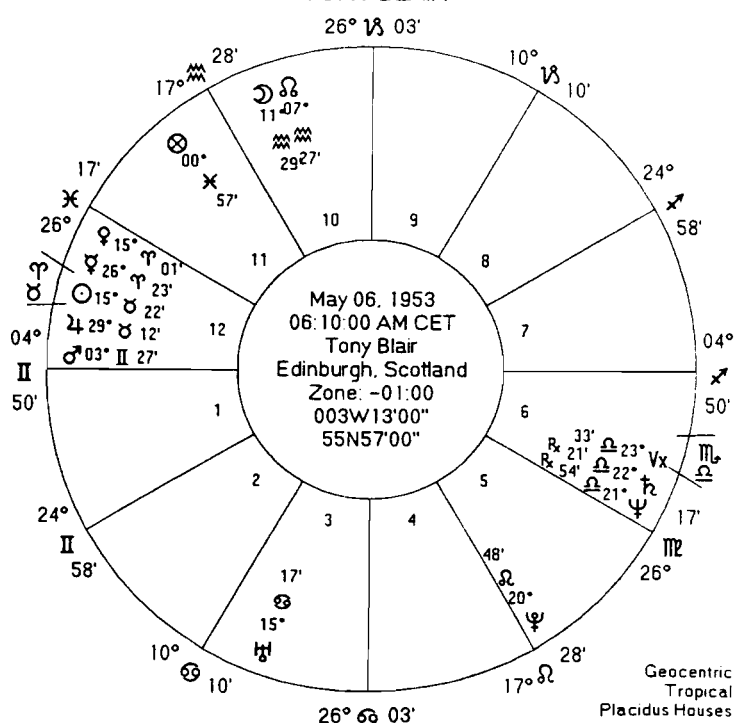

his Solar Return for the period May 5, 1996—May 5 1997.

TONY BLAIR—NEXT PRIME MINISTER OF THE U.K.?

The United Kingdom will have a General Election this year, and it must be held by May. Tony Blair, the Leader of the Labor Opposition is in line to succeed John Major, the present Leader of the Conservative Government. What does Astrology say about his chances? Below is Tony Blair's Birth Chart and also

TONY BLAIR

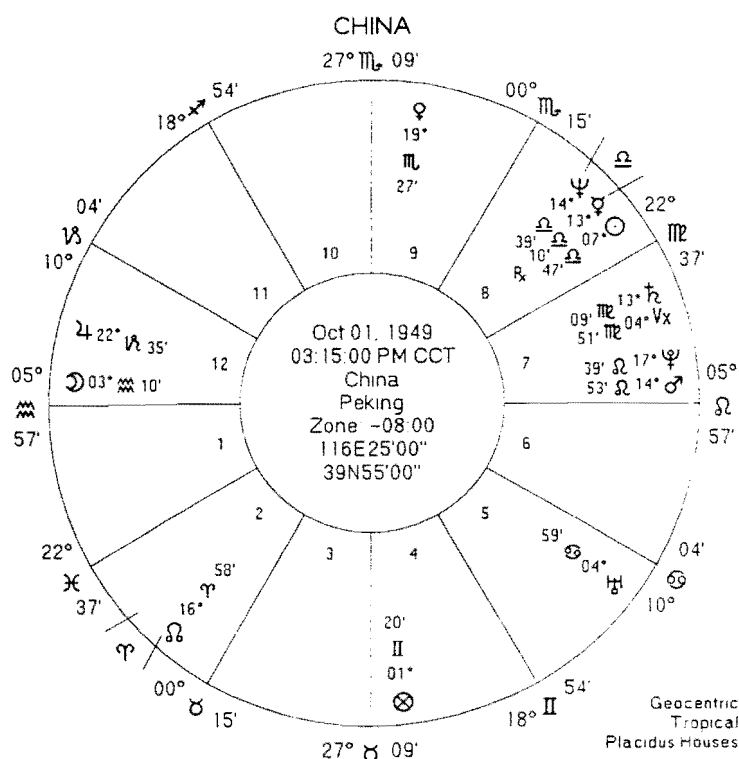

Even without relating the Solar Return to the Birth Chart, it is evident that Mr Blair is going to win. The sight of Lady Luck, ♀, beautifully placed at the Midheaven, only 2½° from the Angle, is just about enough to justify a prediction of victory. On top of that, however, we have ♄ Δ ☉, with the small orb of 2°. It would of course be advisable to examine John Major's astrological portents also. It is well to remember that Mr Major won the last Election in the face of all the predictions and evidence against his doing so. However, not having his birth data I must forego that precaution. If any reader can supply the particulars of birth we will look into it, though I am confident that Tony Blair will be the next Prime Minister.

— Dymock.

THE FUTURE OF CHINA

by Allan Johnson

The recent death of Deng Xiaoping has resulted in a lot of speculation about China. China is the great paradox of a communist dictatorship embracing capitalism, without relaxing the levers of power. China now has its own millionaires. Journalists who love to forecast the future are not having it easy. So it is a good time to have a further look at the Chart of China. The Book of World Horoscopes mentions the difficulty in getting a precise date and time for the birth of the Communist regime, and gives several possibilities. Charles Carter in his Introduction to Political Astrology gives 3:15pm, 1st October 1949, for the proclamation in Peking. Champion's book mentions this, and also that astrologers have found it gives suitable results. This is the Chart I have used myself in past articles, so I will do so here. Right at the outset it can be seen that with Deng's death, ♄ was right on the Ascendant of this Chart, and also links up with the ☉ and ♀. This is a good correlation.

If we go back to the death of Mao Zedong on 9th September 1976 we find ☿ in exact conjunction with ♀, and both making a conjunction by Transit of the Natal ☉ in the 8th House. On June 4th 1989 there was the massacre in Tiananmen Square, with ♄ in opposition to Natal ♄, activating the Natal ☉ square ♄, and also ♄/♄ squaring ♄/♄ in the 8th House. These are quite impressive correlations with dramatic events. ♄ is a Sign that has always been traditionally linked with China. ♀ square ☿/♀ in the 7th House showed it was inevitable that the partnership of the Soviet Union and China had to break up.

Today, China with its enormous population occupies a very strategic position in world affairs, so its future interests a lot of people. Looking to the future, no one is expecting any immediate repercussions from Deng's death. Deng, in his 90's has not been politically active for a number of years, but the Chinese as a people have always revered aged leaders, and this has still applied regardless of Communism. So while he still lived, no matter how inarticulate, his mere presence was still a force. The new President is Jiang Zemin, but he has not become a major figure. Basically, China has been ruled by the Central Committee of the Party for several years. This has created a stability—but it could be deceptive. There are unlikely to be any major dramatic events in the immediate future.

This Chart does not have a really major configuration, such as the T-Square in that of the Soviet Union. The 7th and 8th are the key Houses. So it is not such a dynamic Chart in itself. ♀ in the 9th squares a close ☿/♀ conjunction in the 7th, so we have to look for Transits to this pattern—and we get them. ♄ in the 1st House is the key, and it comes to the opposition of ☿ in May 1998, and in 1999 will oppose both ☿ and ♀, and at the end of the century comes to the square of ♀ and the M.C. These years could produce some interesting developments, which could be major splits in the Central Committee. Of course, the split is already there between the old-line Communists and the new-line liberationists. Deng himself was the personification of that split, and was thrown out by Mao for that reason. But he made a come-back. He was the man who introduced capitalism into China at the beginning of the '80's. So what I am predicting is that the last years of the Century will see the intensification of that split. Looking at the Progressed ☉, we can see it reaches 27° ♍ in 1999, and if this Chart is correct this is the M.C., and there will be a Progressed New ♀ at the same time. This could mark the beginning of a new era, lining up with the New Millenium.

READERS' LETTERS

re A WARNING?

[Aborted book review reported in last Issue]

I have no doubt whatever that you were protected from proceeding any further with that book review—thank your good angel! Many demonic forces are at work in the world at this time, and unfortunate people can be possessed. You must admit there was nothing "human" in the the individuals in question. I wonder whether there have been any recognizable planetary influences to account not only for the massive human tragedies in Africa, India, Indo-China, etc., the intensive crime waves inhumanly conducted, the deliberate lighting of terrible fires, but also the natural disasters—floods, landslides, avalanches, etc., also many aerial "accidents".

We are approaching the year 1998 which is the third intensity of the Year of the Beast spoken of in Revelations and in history. Year 666 the first, Year 1332 the second, when Philip the Fair of France sadistically tortured and then burnt at the stake the Order of the Knights Templar—the order of chivalric esoteric men who were the first bankers in the world and the protectors of the poor. At the same time were destroyed all the centres of Mystery Wisdom in France and roundabout—the Albigenes, the Cathars, and others.

The third visitation is Year 1998—the third Year of the Beast.

This must sound a bit like journalese but I have studied it for a long time and know that before we leave the 5th Post-Atlantean Era the Light Forces have to be strengthened or evolution will go astray before the 6th Era can come about when Manicheism must show the basic conflict between good and evil.

I am so thankful that you abandoned that project, and that Marguerite helped to get the date for the Horary Chart which showed you so clearly where you stood.

—Sylvia Brose (NSW).

[Sylvia Brose is an esotericist and founder in Australia of the Anthroposophical Schools based on the spiritual insights and teachings of the late Rudolf Steiner.]

I appreciated your concern about reviewing the West book, and I think you chose a wise path. After all, you've had the kinds of medical experiences that must leave you a bit vulnerable.

About the "Coming Significant Aspects", I think it's a helpful item but my own experiences of outer planet Transits is that the real significance may not be obvious until a long time, even years later.

—Peggy Hetherington (NSW).

Your "curious experience" was one of the most fascinating things I've ever read. I passed it on to Dennis Elwell who is very interested in the charts of criminals.

I have some predictions to pass on, made by Henry Jackson, a Vedic astrologer who claims only Hindu methods are capable of predicting accurately:

- (1) Tony Blair will win the coming U.K. Election, but
- (2) Labour will not get an absolute majority.
- (3) It will be on April 10, 1997 (not May 1).

Also, I have a very sensitive area in my Chart. The ♃ at 5♊48 opposes ♀ at 4♋16. When my daughter Bronwyn died, ♀ was transiting through my 8th House in 5♋16. (Helio position of Pluto was 6♋.) On 6th February ♂ went Stationary on 6♋. My husband, Ben, came down with pneumonia on Feb.6, and it was touch and go whether he would survive.

I continue to marvel at the quality of your Newsletter—glad you survived your operation.

—Margaret Millard (U.K.)

Congratulations on your analysis and prognosis for the 2nd O.J. Simpson trial—it was fascinating.

—Lilian Erskine (NSW).

My Ascendant is 27° ♊, and the best I can tell you about having the Jupiter/Neptune conjunction in January is that it expanded the chaos in my life!

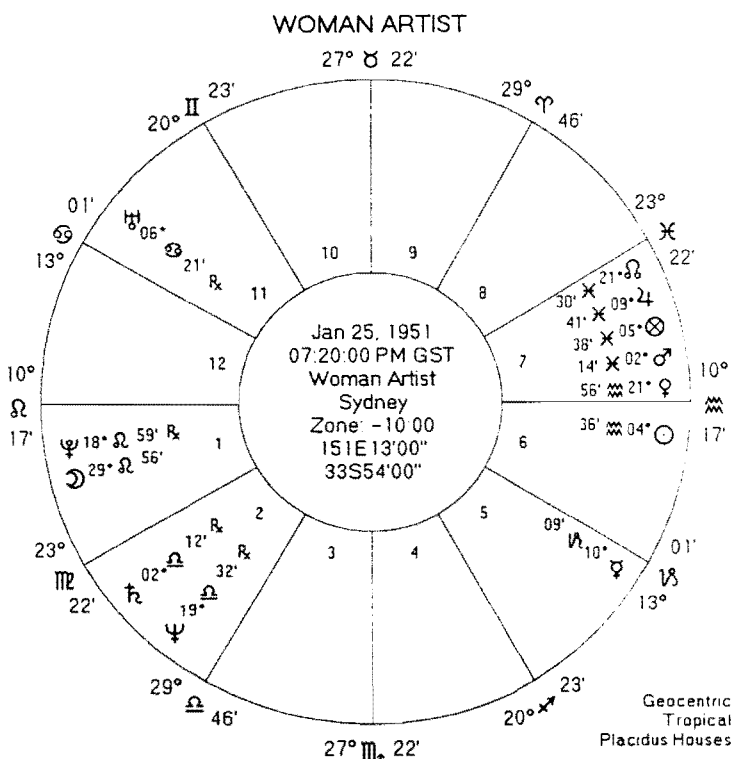

—Rosalind Park (U.K.)

TEST NO.12

Ross Harvey has supplied another test to exercise your skills, and please send your answers to him at 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia 2074.

Below is the Birth Chart of a woman, an art teacher, and the following particulars are given: She is happily married with two sons, born 13 May 1986 and 27 Feb 1991. Her husband was born on 28 Mar 1951 in Port of Spain, Trinidad (time unknown). She studied painting at art school for five years, but has never made it as a painter, these days mainly because she has little time to paint because of her children. Her husband works part-time in an arts related field, and she teaches art part-time in a community workshop. She still has artistic aspirations. They are not very well off. They live in a flat built onto the back of his parents' house. She has one brother seven years younger than herself. Her parents are retired and now live in Queensland.

What happened on 30th March 1996?

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 27 Feb 1997.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 185 December 1996

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@Ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

A WARNING?

There are more things in Heaven and Earth, Horatio... said Shakespeare, and I was aware of this lately when I had a curious experience in relation to a book review that I was preparing to write. Readers will remember the "House of Horrors" — No.25 Cromwell Street, Gloucester, England, which concealed the dismembered remains of young women who had been sadistically tortured and murdered there by Frederick West and his wife Rosemary.

In June 1996, the English author Geoffrey Wansell wrote An Evil Love, The Life of Frederick West. I applied for a review copy, which was duly sent, thinking to write an article about Frederick West from the astrological angle, correlating his Horoscope and Progressions with his character and deeds.

A curious thing happened. I had worked on the Birth Chart in the computer, and had arrived at what I considered to be a likely Ascendant-Sign for West (the book gave only the birth date and place, not the time, on which of course the Ascendant depends). The next step was to print out the tentative Chart. But at the first key-stroke the Chart and data disappeared completely from the screen and could not be recovered. I do not remember this ever having happened to me before.

However, I persevered and asked my wife to read out dates and events from the book so that I could attempt a rectification, using the Jigsaw Program. This she did, and I soon had a list of about 13 events which promised to point the way to the degree rising. The next step was to print out the data, but as soon as I attempted it the data once more completely disappeared and could not be recovered.

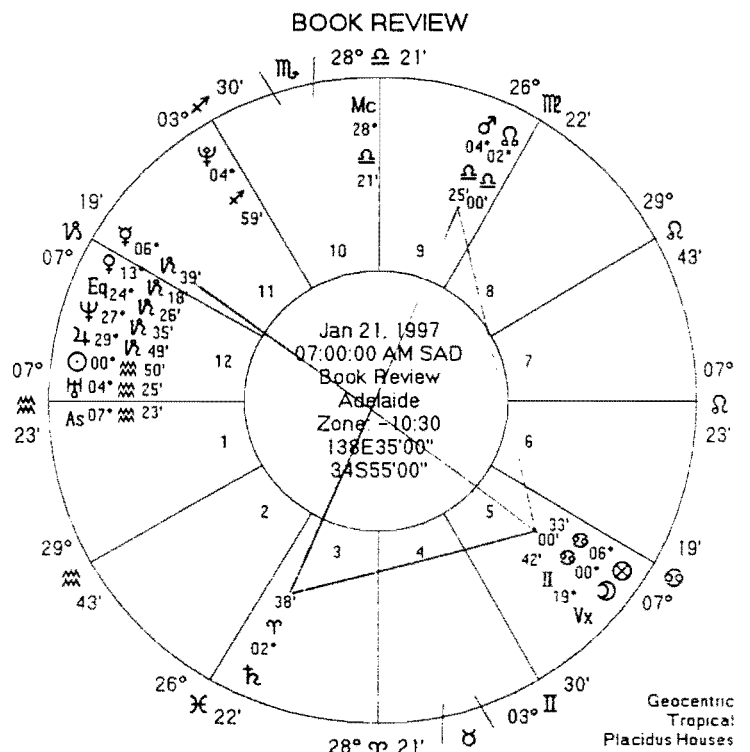

It was then late at night and I was too tired to go through the work again, apart from having an unaccustomed misgiving about it.

In the morning I awoke with the distinct feeling that I should not pursue the matter any further. I mentioned

In This Issue...

	Page
A Warning?	1
Will my trip be a good one?	2
Should I return to Australia?	2
Should I move house?	3
Should I separate from my husband?	3
Closing of the Polls—Revised Chart	3
Coming Significant Aspects	4

this to my wife and she immediately suggested that I should do a Horary Chart in relation to the proposed review of Geoffrey Wansell book. Here it is:

The Chart is a revelation. It is just about as bad as it could be: The Ruler, ♈, is in the 3rd House (book reviews) in a Grand Cross with the ♃, ♀ and ♂. The ♃ (my Significator) applies to the square of ♈ (Ruler also of the 12th House — occult forces), then the square of ♂ in the 9th House (publications) and then the opposition of ♀, right on the Cusp of the 12th House ("self-undoing"). Could there be a clearer signal to abandon the project?

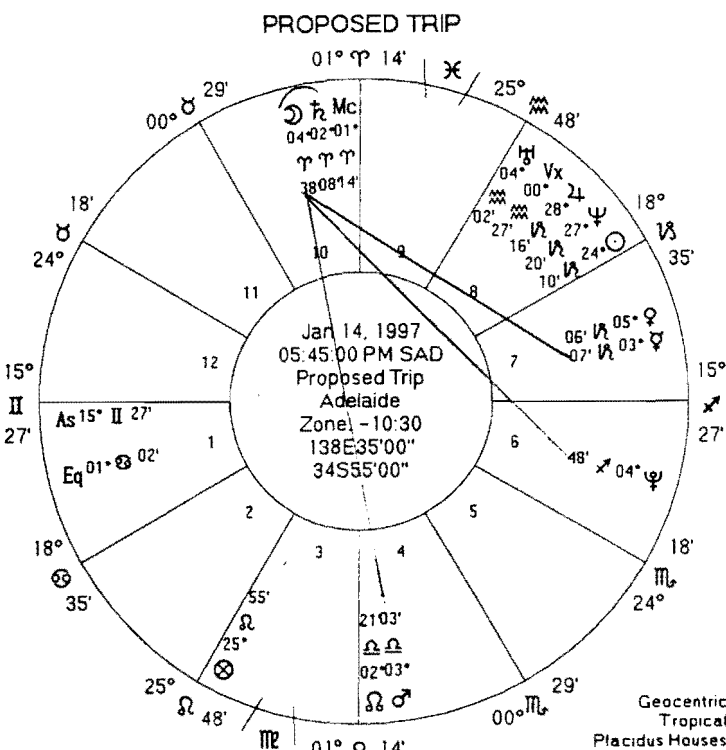

It now dawned on me that by getting deeply into the ideas, moods and abominable cruelties described in the book I was possibly laying my psychic body open to invasion by the same occult and evil forces that had motivated the Wests. The Horary Chart convinced me that my misgivings were well-founded. I decided forthwith to return the book to the publishers.

On reviewing the whole episode I feel sure I received a spiritual warning, of which I was well-advised to take good heed.

— Dymock.

Several other recent Horary Charts may be of interest to readers. In the first, the Querent wanted to know if his proposed trip to Europe in May would be happy and successful.

Will my trip be a good one?

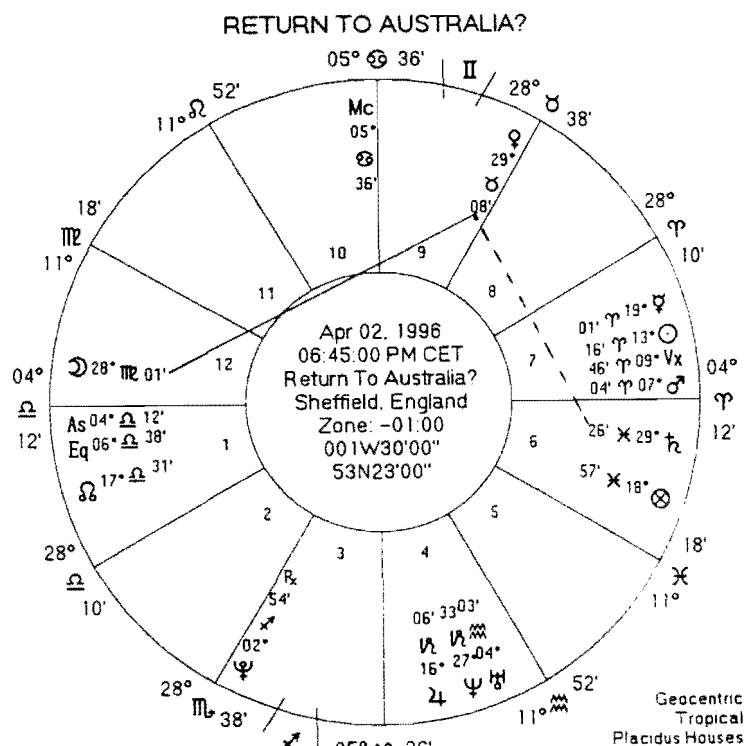

The indications are negative: The Querent is represented by ♄, ruling the Ascendant, and the ☽. These two are in square to one another, which is not a good start. The proposed travel relates to the 9th House, which has ♄ on the Cusp and ☿ intercepted. So the Significators here are ♄ and ♄. The ☽ is separating from the two malefics, ♄ and ☿, and applying to a third malefic, ♄. The ☽ thus carries the influence ("translates the light") of ☿ to ♄ in and ruling the 6th House — a bad omen for health on the trip. The ☽ then applies to the squares of ♄, ☿, ♄ and ♄ in succession — not a single good aspect among them. The Querent was therefore advised to postpone his trip. A search of his Progressed Aspects revealed a better period for travel a month or two later.

Should I return to Australia?

In the next Chart, the Querent, who is her own Astrologer, asks if she should return to Australia, where she had been living for some time, but had been finding life a struggle.

As both Astrologer and Querent she cast the Chart for herself. The Figure left no doubt about the answer — yes, she certainly should return: Her two Significators are the ☽ and ♄, and they are in a beautiful close trine. ♄ is very appropriately situated in the 9th House (long journeys) and particularly strong in ♄, one of the two Signs that Venus rules. A further point of assurance is the close applying sextile between Venus and Saturn, Lord of the 4th House, the homeland. The applications of the ☽ signify things to come, the separating Aspects things that have already happened. The ☽ ruling the 10th House and trining ♄ ruling the Ascendant and the House of Finances signifies that life will improve after the change — a better job with more income. The Querent is now safely returned to Australia.

Should I move to a different house?

The Querent in the Chart below asked whether she should accept tenancy of a house she had just come across in her search for a new home.

The 4th House represents her present home, and the 7th House the place to which she would remove.

HORARY: MOVE HOUSE?

♊ rises, so the Querent's Ruler is ♊, which is posited in ♋ (the Querent's ☉-Sign at birth). Her Co-Significator is the ☿ placed in the 4th House, which it also rules, and opposed by ♀ and ♈, showing she is not happy in her present location.

On the other hand, ♋ on the Cusp of the 7th House is ruled by ♀, elevated in the Chart, and indicates that the proposed new place would be better and happier for her. The Querent is going to make the move about the end of February which is when ♀ and ♋ have moved into ♊ and complete their conjunction.

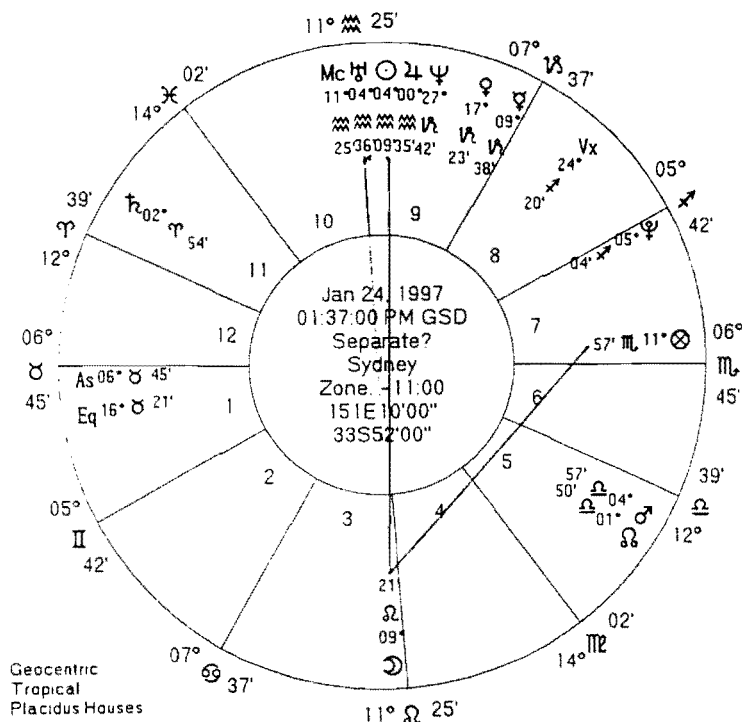

Should I separate from my husband?

In this final Chart, the Querent in an unhappy marital situation asks whether she should now separate from her husband of 11 years. Examination of the Figure shows that in effect the separation has already occurred: The ☿, in ♏ in the 4th House, representing the Querent, is some degrees past the opposition of ♀ and the ☉ (the husband), showing that an emotional separation has already occurred, probably about five years ago (all the Significators being in Fixed Signs and the Opposition having an orb of approximately 5°).

The ☿☉ in the House of Marriage shows that the situation has not improved. Separation would give the Querent the chance of a making a better union. However, the ☿ being "void-of-course" suggests that no action will be taken at present.

SEPARATE?

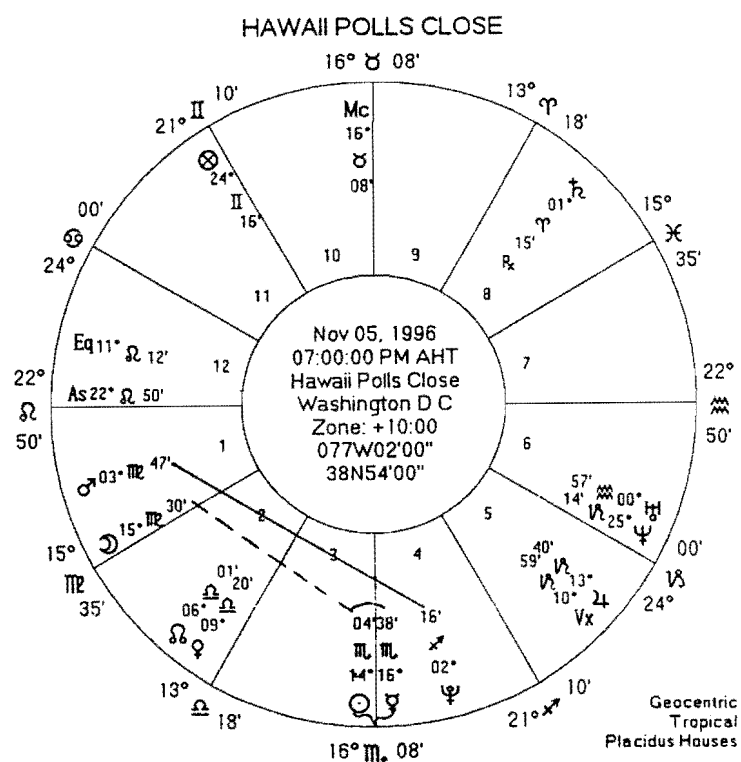

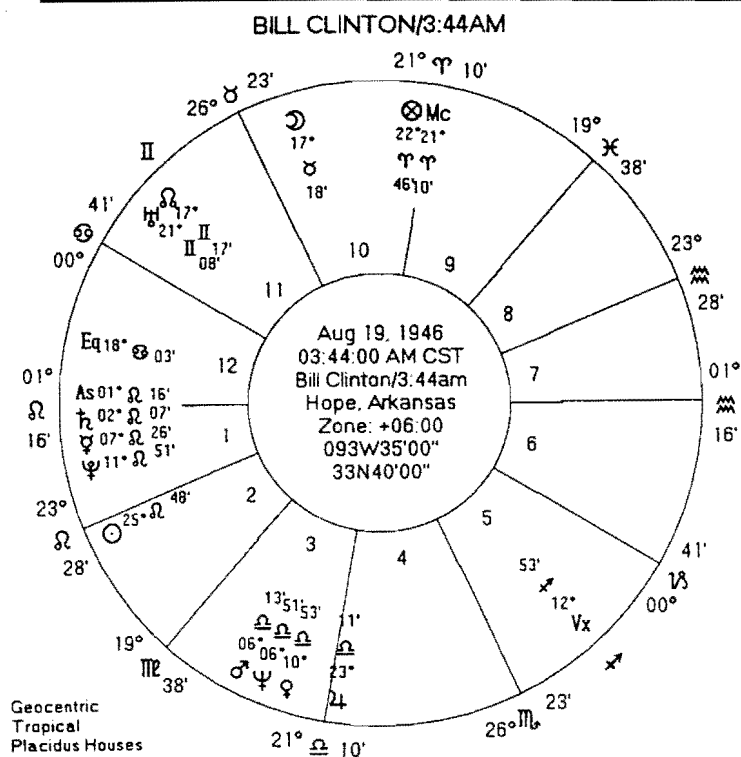

CLOSING OF THE POLLS—REVISED CHART

The Chart in the last Issue for the closing of the polls in the USA Presidential Election was incorrect, the wrong longitude having been entered. Unfortunately I did not discover this in time. The Chart was drawn for 7pm in Washington D.C. on the suggestion that the Election would be decided at that time even if the Western States had not yet finished voting.

Well, the Chart for the proper coordinates of Washington was not at all indicative of Mr Clinton's win. So I have recast the Chart for the 7pm official closing time of the Polls in Alaska/Hawaii, using the geographical coordinates of Washington. According to my best information the standard time in Alaska/Hawaii is 10 hours behind GMT.

The Chart appears on the next page together with Clinton's Birth Horoscope, and it does support the Clinton win:

Bill Clinton, as the President in office, is represented by the Ascendant, and the Midheaven. His principal opponent, Bob Dole, is represented by the Descendant and the Lower Meridian (which becomes Dole's Derived 10th House).

22° 50' rises, which is close to Clinton's Natal ☉ at 25° 48'. Clinton's Significator is the ☉, which is ☿ ♀ and ♄ ♀, the ♄ being Δ the Midheaven. The ☉ and ♄ midpoint is 15° 21' ♍, which straddles the Meridian (orb 13'). On the other hand, Bob Dole's Significator is ♄, which is Retrograde, and does not receive any helpful aspects. The ♄ to ♄ and the Δ to ♄ cannot be considered a plus. The joint Rulers, ☿ and ♄, of his Derived 10th House are in ☐ to one another. So this Chart did forecast a win for Clinton.

In Clinton's Solar-Month Chart for 18th October the wrong latitude was used for Hope, Arkansas. It was inconsequential, however, as the correct Chart (see below) only varied the Ascendant from 23° 38' to 18° 05', the Midheaven and all the planets remaining the same. The favourable outcome for Clinton is shown principally by ♄, ruling both the Ascendant and Midheaven, being ☿ ♀, and the S.R. ☉ ☿ Natal ♄.

Coming Significant Aspects

No one has yet reported any effects from the planetary conjunctions and parallels listed in the last Issue. I am still hoping that some reader will send in his/her observations as this is an educational exercise and helps to extend our knowledge of planetary action.

Did no one observe the effect of ♄ ☿ ♄ at 27° 13' 9th January? Planetary phenomena to come in the next few weeks are ☿ Stationary at 6° ♍ on 6th February, ♄ ☿ ♄ at 6° ♍ on 16th February, and Pluto Stationary at 6° ♍ on 8th March. Do they make contact in your Chart?

My kind regards to all,

— Dymock. 28 Jan. 1997.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 184 November 1996

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

WINNING ON THE MELBOURNE CUP

From Jack Nicholls (Vic.):

Another Melbourne Cup has been run, with a very acceptable result for astrology. At least my bank balance assures me that this is so. I used the same method as reported last year. A chart was generated for the finish of the race, viz., 1523.20 hrs AEDT. The 9th Cusp, 13°36' Scorpio, has Mercury at 14°59' Scorpio applying, and the Sun at 13°01' Scorpio separating within the acceptable orbs. I considered both planets in case of a delayed start. This was wise as the race started 3 minutes late according to my watch.

On a name basis I could not find a suitable horse for Mercury but Count Chivas and My Kiwi Gold were chosen for the Sun. Circles of Gold (jewellery) was considered to be associated with Venus rather than the Sun.

The numbers for the Sun are 1, 10 or 19, that is, 1. Doriemus, 10. Crying Game, and Circles of Gold, and for Mercury, 5. Saintly and 23. My Kiwi Gold.

At the time I was considering my bets (Tuesday morning) My Kiwi Gold and Crying Game were at odds of 33/1 and 80/1 and were not considered. That left me with Saintly 6/1, Doriemus 7/1, Count Chivas and Circles of Gold at 25/1. The latter price is my limit. Marie Casey's idea that the Moon away from the Angles is a sign not to back the favourite was comforting with respect to Oscar Schindler.

The betting strategy used was 2 units on Saintly and Doriemus, and 1 unit on Count Chivas and Circles of Gold for a win, together with 1 unit for each of the 6 combinations as Quinellas. Saintly won, paying $6.80 and Saintly with Count Chivas as a quinella paid $125.70 ($62.80 for 50c). Thus I laid out $6.00 for a return of $69.60 for which I thank my lucky stars.

From Clair Bunnnett (Vic.):

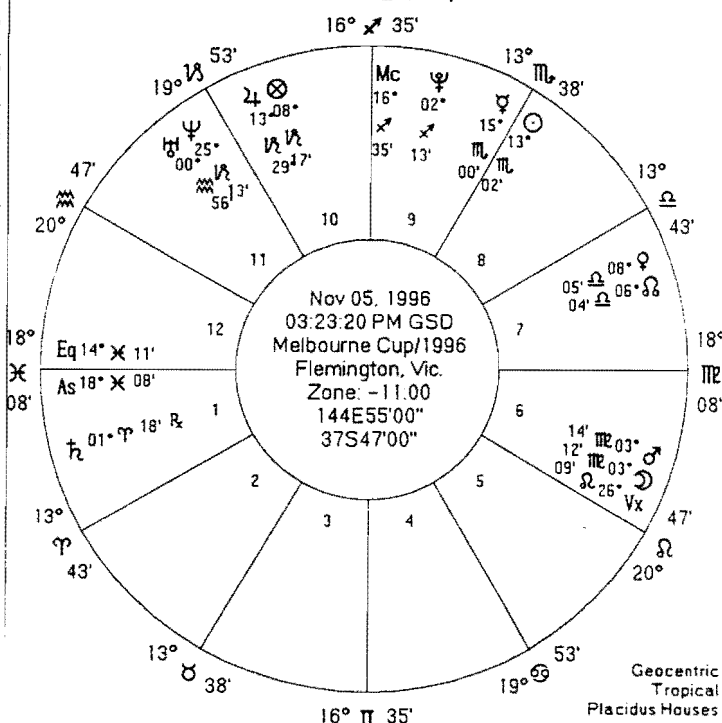

I found it very interesting that the aspects on Cup Day and leading up to it stressed the planets ♃, ♀ and the ☉: T.☉ conjunct T.♀ on 1 11/96, T.♀ sextile T.♂ on 4/11/96, and T.☉ sextile T.♂ on 5/11/96 (Race Day).

The winning jockey (Darren Beadman) wore bright

In This Issue...

	Page
The 1996 Melbourne Cup.....	1
The USA Presidential Election	2
Downs Syndrome	3
Significant Coming Aspects.....	4

MELBOURNE CUP/1996

- | | | |
|------------------------------|---------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1. Doriemus | 2. Count Chivas | 3. Court of Honour |
| 4. Oscar Schindler | 5. Saintly | 6. Grey Shot |
| 7. Nothin' Leica Dane | 8. Sapio | 9. Istidaad |
| 10. Crying Game | 11. Senator | 12. The Phantom Chance |
| 13. Beaux Art | 14. Magnet Bay | 15. Arctic Scent |
| 16. Super Slew | 17. The Bandette | 18. Cheviot |
| 19. Circles of Gold | 20. Few Are Chosen | 21. Alcove |
| 22. Skybeau | 23. My Kiwi Gold | 24. Centico | yellow sleeves (☉) and a black/white check top. This seemed like a ☉/♀ influence. The ♀ was in ♏ (♏).

The winning horse, Saintly, was a 4-year old gelding, and his number was 5 (♀). The date was the 5th (♀).

As for the ♃ influence on the day, the horse's part-owner was Dato Tan Chin Nam (from Malaysia). The barrier position was 3 (♂).

Trainer, Bart Cummings (☉♏) won his tenth

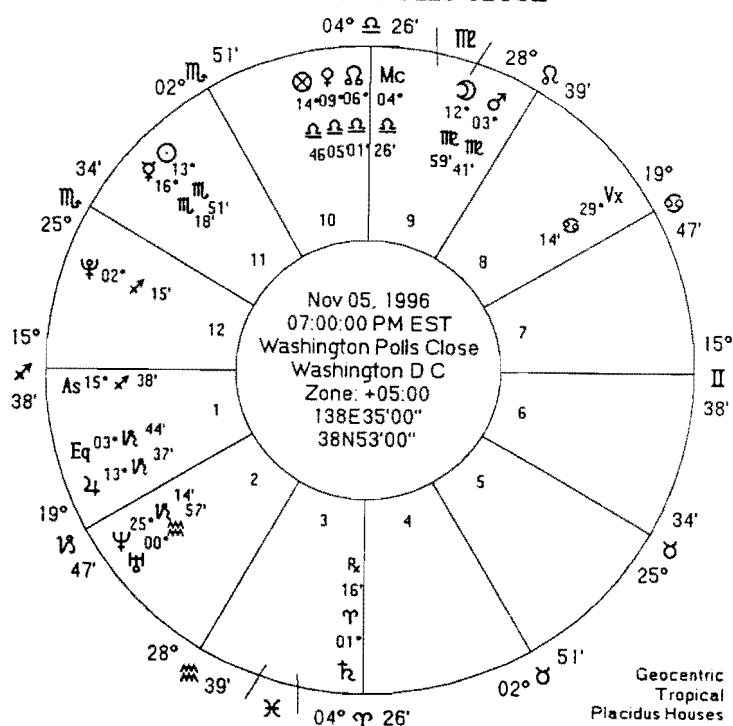

Trainer, Bart Cummings (♊) won his tenth Melbourne Cup (♊ = 1) with this win. T.♊ ✕ T.♊.

THE USA PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

Another event of the 5th November 1996 (of secondary importance to the sporting section of the Australian population) was the election of a President in the USA. As was predicted by all the polls, Bill Clinton was a clear winner. Readers know I like to use a chart for the closing of the polls to make an astrological judgement. There was a difficulty here due to the large range of time zones in the USA. I was advised by Rowena Wall, a resident of Georgia, that the polls open at 7am and close at 7pm in the Eastern Standard Zone, but the Central time is 8pm EST, the Mountain time would be 9pm and the Pacific region 10pm. But I am further advised that an Election is in effect decided by the voting in the Eastern zone, the votes in the other States being superfluous.

In the circumstances I decided that a Chart for 7pm at Washington, DC would therefore show the result—and it did. Here it is:

WASHINGTON POLLS CLOSE

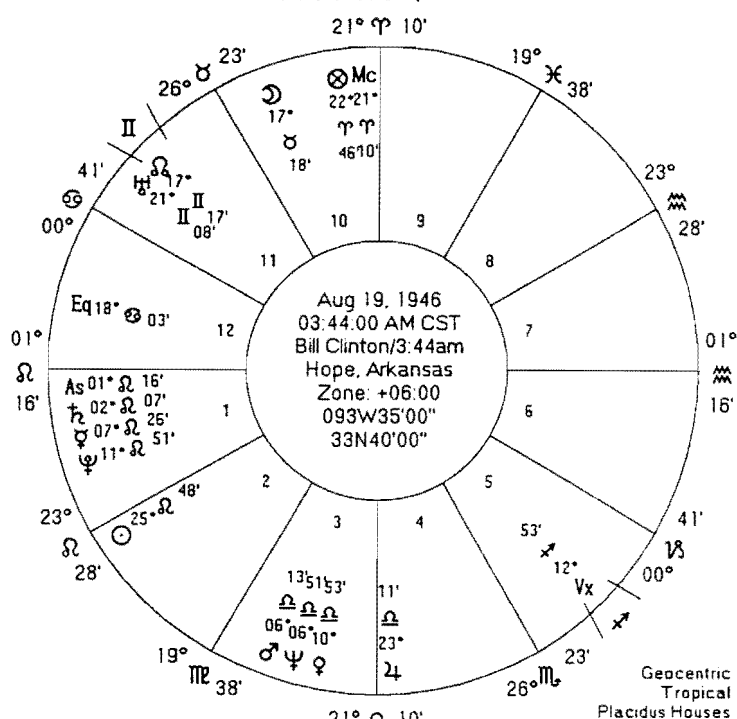

The incumbent, Bill Clinton, is represented by the Ascendant and Midheaven. His chief opponent, Bob Dole, is represented by the Descendant and the Lower Meridian. The issue is decided immediately in Clinton's favour through the Ruler of the Ascendant, Jupiter, being in close applying trine to the Moon, plus the Moon's N.Node, Venus and the Part of Fortune being in the 10th House. Bob Dole, on the other hand, has a retrograde Saturn in his Derived 10th, and its Ruler, Mars, square to Pluto.

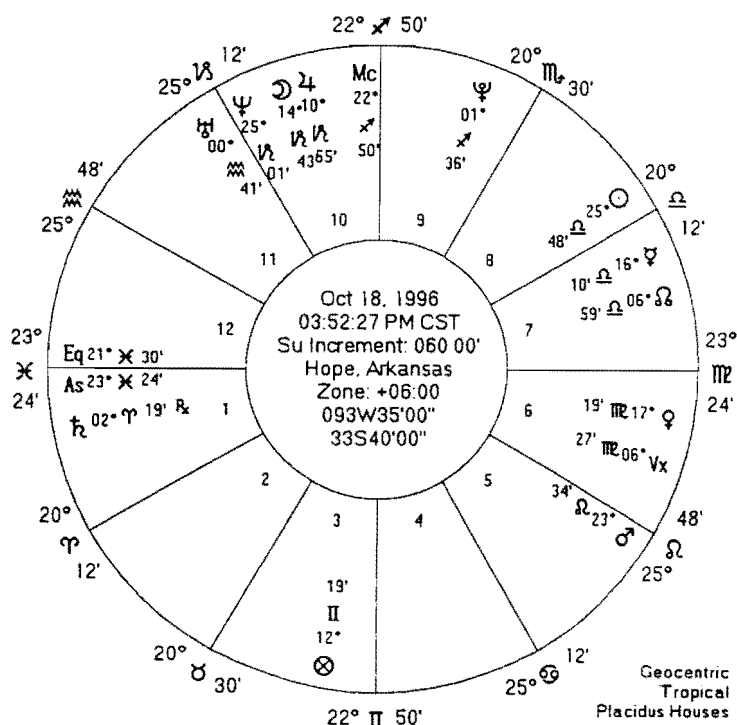

Confirmation, if required, is supplied by Bill Clinton's Solar-Month Chart of 18 October 1996. Here it is, with the Birth Chart for 3:44am, taken from his Birth Certificate (see Astrologers' Forum No. 182, page 4).

Bill Clinton's 50th Age Harmonic Chart (not shown here) supplies further evidence of his success: The

BILL CLINTON/3:44AM

SU INCREMENT: 060 00'

Jupiter, ruling both the Ascendant (the self) and the Midheaven (achievement) is conjunct the Moon and trine the Part of Fortune. In addition, if we relate this Chart to the Natus, the S.R.-Sun conjoins Natal Jupiter, and S.R. Mars conjoins the Natal Sun. The Sun is Clinton's planetary Ruler.

Moon conjunct Natal Jupiter and sextile the Natal Sun (orb only 36'), the A.H.-Moon and Sun in trine, A.H.-Mars just below the Ascendant, ruling the House of Achievement, and in very close trine to Natal Venus (orb 1').

SELECTING A DATE FOR SURGERY

My recent open-heart surgery is now over, though the heart will not be fully healed until the end of December and there is still lingering soreness of the breast-bone and surrounding tissues. Several readers have asked me to outline the procedure by which I selected the date, 15th October.

It was a question of finding a date within the allowable time limits, and one that would fit in with the operating schedule of the surgeon and the hospital. My condition of a faulty aortic valve (a probable legacy of rheumatic fever in 1944) was assessed by the surgeon on 15th May 1996, and set down for surgery about the end of July.

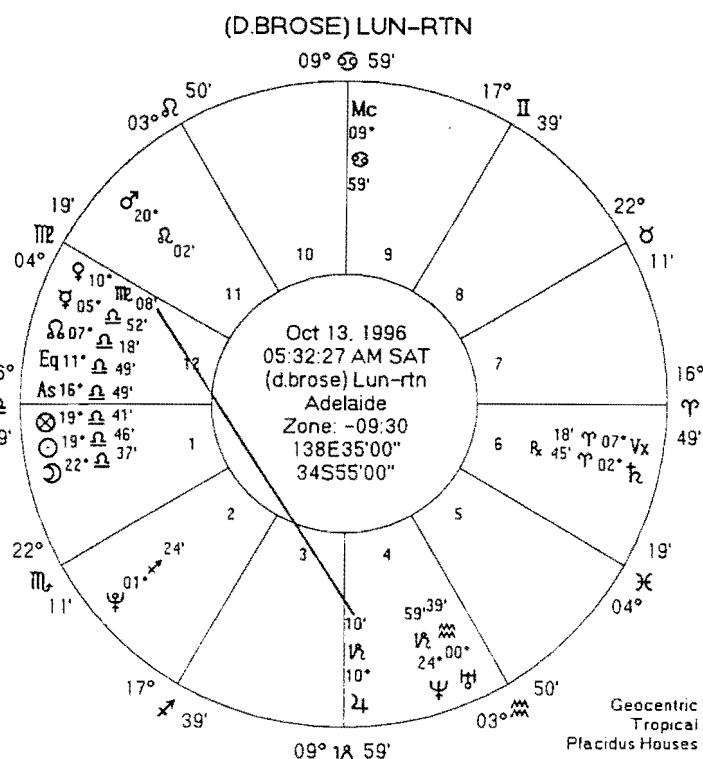

Stationary Pluto early in August closely square my Natal Ascendant was not a propitious Aspect for surgery, so I decided to search astrologically for the best date. As the condition was not specially urgent, I allowed myself a period of months. I reviewed all Direct and Converse Progressions, plus Naibod-Arc Directions to the end of the year. (Solar-Arc Directions were not considered because of their inaccurate timing.) The search did not reveal any Aspects that were very favourable for major surgery, so I examined the period, month by month, through Lunar Returns.

The first three Lunar Returns were unfavourable—23 July—19 August: Pluto (surgery) on the 2nd/8th axis closely square my Natal Ascendant, plus the Sun opposite Uranus.

19 August—15 September: Uranus rising opposite the Sun across the Horizon. The Moon ruling the Health House square Neptune in the Hospitals House. Natal Saturn directly opposite the Ascendant.

15 September—13 October: Mars and Pluto ruling the House of Health in a Grand Trine with Saturn. Mars opposite Uranus.

The next Lunar Chart (13 October—9 November) was by far the most favourable: Libra on the Ascendant, and Ruler, Venus, at 11°20' Virgo in the Hospitals House, ruling the Health House, was trine to Jupiter on the Lower Meridian and sextile to Natal Jupiter at 11°11' Cancer.. Venus was also conjunct my Natal Equatorial Ascendant. The Chart is reproduced in the next column.

The close linking of the two Fortunes, Jupiter and Venus, with the latter ruling the Ascendant, promised good conditions and attention in the hospital which, indeed, was the case. The Sun conjunct the Natal Moon, close to the Ascendant, was indicative of a new phase commencing, and this was certainly true of heart surgery, which is a fundamental operation. The Moon square Neptune, ruling the Health House was unfortunate, but one cannot create the ideal situation. An examination of the Day Charts suggested that the 14th October was the best for me, but this was not a surgery day, so I had to settle for the 15th. A Transit of Mars over Saturn on the 16th October was also unavoidable, but not too serious as Mars was not Stationary. Mars on Saturn is indeed indicative of injury to bone, in this case splitting the breast-bone, a necessary procedure in heart surgery.

The outcome of the hospitalization was as good as it could be, and I am recovering well.

DOWN'S SYNDROME—IS THERE A PATTERN?

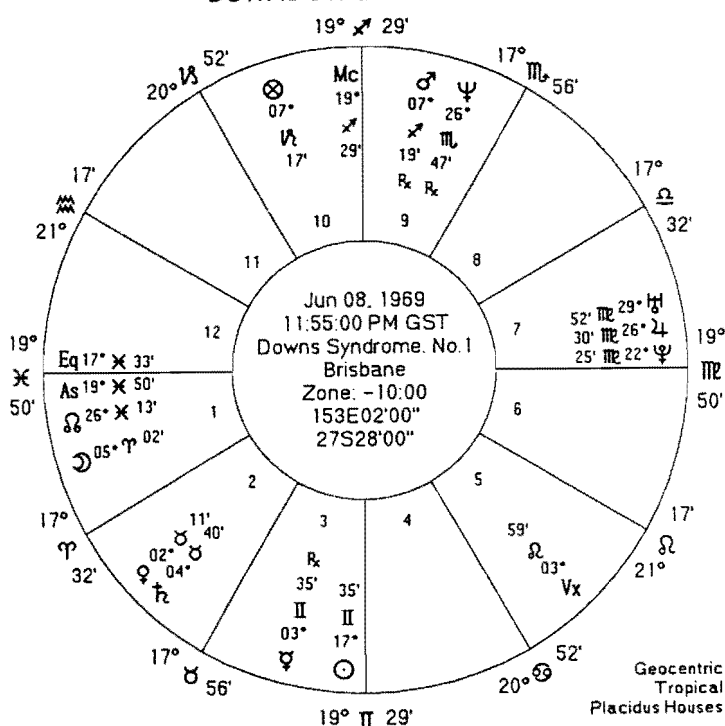

by Lyla Williams

In Margaret Millard's book, Case Notes of a Medical Astrologer, she mentions various theories concerning such medical phenomena as haemophilia and diabetes, and quotes from Dennis Elwell's study of children with Down's Syndrome, formerly known as Mongolism. When I obtained data of two children born Elwell's theory was supported, with quite surprising results.

The older child, now 27, was born at 11:55pm on the 8th June 1969 in Brisbane, while the younger was born on the 8th June this year, also in Brisbane at 6:05am. Before I look at the Charts for clues, I will précis Elwell's theory: He states that there should be a "sympathetic" link between the Sun and Saturn, between Mars and Mercury, and the 12th House. He suggests using all types of connection from planetary or House rulership, parallels or any Aspect between them, even unusual or little used Aspects.

DOWNS SYNDROME. NO.1

On the first Chart we find a 43° aspect between the Sun and Saturn (semisquare). Mars at 7° Sagittarius is in opposition to Mercury at 3° Gemini. Mars is in the Sign of Mercury's Detriment.

The second Chart (see next column) does not contain any Sun-Saturn Aspect, but Mars and Mercury are just 2° apart in the 12th House, both being trine Neptune in the 8th House and opposing Pluto in the the House of Health. I have found that Mercury in Taurus can bring speech or hearing problems, particularly if afflicted by Mars, as it is here.

Tad Mann writes extensively about the pre-natal, post-conceptual period in his book, Astrology and the Art of Healing. Looking at the important 9th House (the conceptual point), we find the Moon in Pisces squaring the 6th-House ♀ and the Ascendant. I did enquire whether the mother had received any medication during the early part of the pregnancy, but received a definite negative answer. The ☾ on the Chart is at the midpoint of ☉/♀, ♄ at the midpoint of ☉/♀, and ♄, Ruler of the 9th House, at the midpoint of ♄/♀, ♄/♄ and ♄/♄!

DOWNS SYNDROME. NO.2

♄ rules not only the Ascendant but also the 4th House in which we find ♄, North ♄ and the Pre-natal Lunar Eclipse. The ♄-ruled Aries Solar Eclipse lies in the 11th House.

I think we have found links aplenty between the relevant planets as named by Dennis Elwell—the ☉ and ♄, ♄ and ♄, with some assistance from ♀ and ♄. I also found three Fixed Stars on the Chart—the dreaded Algol conjunct ♄, Rigel conjunct the ☉, and Capella conjunct ♄. Algol has ♄'n influence, Rigel (according to Ebertin) can bring a constant battle to retain one's position, difficulties but strong will-power, and Capella which, says Ebertin, has a ♄-♄ nature!

I am indebted to both sets of parents for their kind permission to use their child's birth data.

Coming Significant Aspects

There are four significant Aspects coming in the next few weeks, on which your Editor would like to receive a report from readers who are affected by them. You are likely to feel their impact if the planets concerned are already strongly connected in your birth chart. They are: ♄||♄ (good luck; socializing) on 29 Dec 96, ♄♄♄ (fruitfulness, gain) on 9 Jan 97 and ♄||♄ (same) on 28 Jan 97.

My kind regards to all. —Dymock, 15 Dec 1996.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 183 October 1996

Fax 08 8336 1600, Tel. 08 8336 1956
E-mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

O.J. SIMPSON DRAMA—2ND STAGE

O.J. Simpson, notorious American sporting hero acquitted on 3rd October 1995 of the double murder of his ex-wife and Ronald Goldman, now faces a civil action for damages brought by the families of the two victims. This is a peculiarity of American law that we find surprising—in Australia and England once a person is acquitted of a crime no further action lies against him unless a re-trial is ordered because of new evidence or for other reasons as ruled by the Court.

O.J., having survived the criminal trial (against the expectations of most of us) now faces what will probably be a more difficult battle than previously as evidence against him, formerly disallowed, can now be admitted. Further, only a majority verdict, from 9 out of 12 jurors, is required—not a unanimous one. If O.J. loses the case, apparently he is liable only to pay damages—not to be confined in jail (unless, perhaps, he defaults in the payments). His Natal Sun Trine Jupiter, The Preserver, (see Chart in adjacent column) has stood him in good stead, preserving his life and fortunes. This was noted in the original discussion of his murder trial in Astrologers' Forum Issue No. 174 for January 1996. Will this super-lucky Aspect continue to protect Simpson from an adverse judgement?

Your Editor was one of many who believed the verdict in the original Trial to be a perverse one, contrary to reason and the evidence.

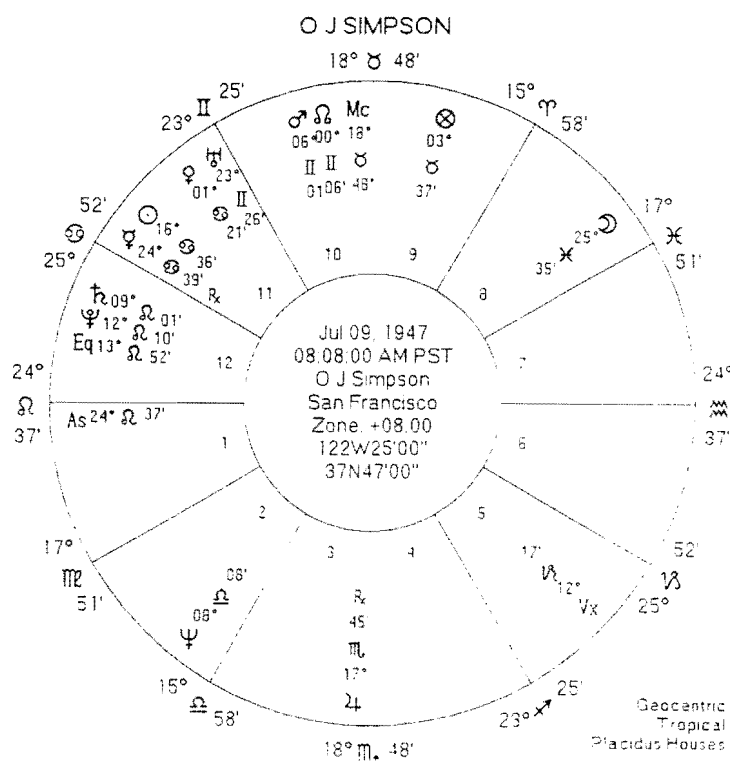

An astrological basis for this belief is afforded by Simpson's 46th Age-Harmonic Chart which relates to the period 9th July 1993 to 9th July 1994, and thus covers the date 12th June 1994, when the bodies of Nicole Simpson, Simpson's former wife, and a male companion, Ronald Goldman, were found.

Simpson's 46th Harmonic Chart appears on the next page with his Natal positions circumscribed around it. One's attention is immediately drawn to the close conjunction of Saturn with the Harmonic Ascendant, and its even closer opposition to the Natal Moon. Further, Saturn is squared by Natal Uranus, also with a small orb ($1\frac{1}{4}^\circ$).

The Harmonic Moon is closely joined to Mars in the

In This Issue...

	Page
O.J. Simpson—The Second Round	1
Age—Harmonic 46	2
Simpson's A-H 46 with Nicole Simpson's Natus	2
Simpson's A-H 48 and Solar Ret. 9 July '95 (for the previous Murder Trial)	3
Simpson's Prospects in This Year's Trial	4

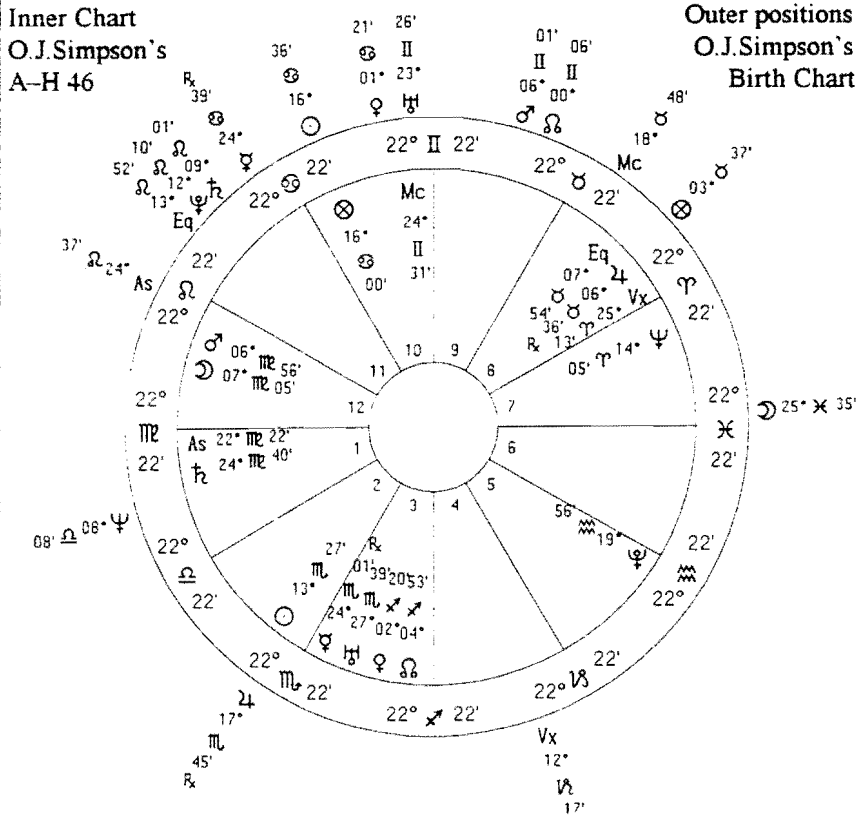

12th House, both being square to Natal Mars, which effectively doubles the Martian influence, justifying an interpretation of furious anger and uncontrollable passionate impulses. Jupiter, planet of increase, aspecting all these Significators simply amplifies the effects.

Mercury conjunct Uranus in Scorpio in the 3rd House Square to the Natal Ascendant indicates thinking distorted by vengefulness.

The Natal Ascendant is conjunct the 12th Cusp (secrecy and concealment).

Taken together, and in the light of the adverse Aspects already present in O.J.'s Birth Chart (Saturn conjunct Pluto, semisquare Uranus, sextile Mars, sesquare the Moon; Mars trine Neptune, etc.) these powerful configurations paint a picture of murderous with her in that fatal year prior to her murder.

The links are, in fact, multiple, and are highly significant: In relation to Nicole's Birth Chart, the Moon/Mars conjunction in Simpson's Harmonic Chart is—

Opposite her Ascendant (physical violence)

Conjunct her Pluto (extremes of passion)

Trine her Saturn (vindictiveness)

Sextile her Venus (sexual passion)

Semisextile her Mars (rage and turmoil).

The linking does not finish there: Additionally, Simpson's Harmonic Uranus at 27°39' Scorpio is in almost exact opposition to Nicole's Natal Sun at 27°20' of Taurus. It also activates Nicole's unlucky Opposition of Jupiter to the Sun.

Of lesser import, though still significant, is the Opposition of Simpson's H. Jupiter and Equ. Asc to Nicole's Neptune, her planetary Ruler.

Note that we are not talking about Transits, but about the more powerful and intimately involved Harmonics — more intimate because they are drawn directly from the Birth Chart.

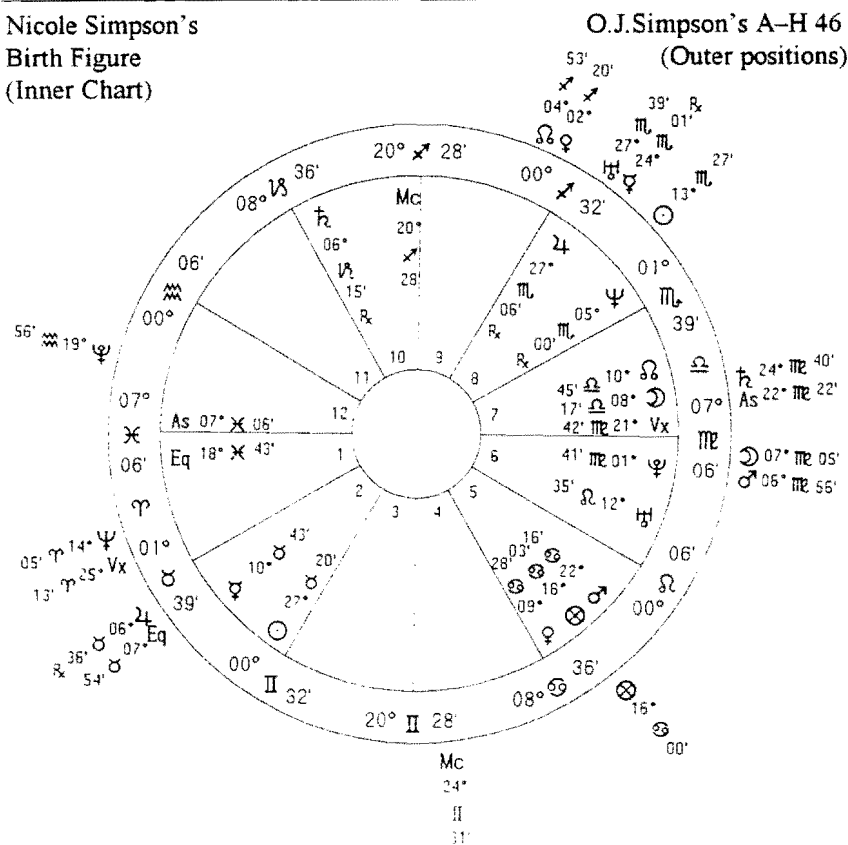

All these connections are easily seen from the combined Figure of Simpson's Age-Harmonic with Nicole's Natus, above.

From the astrological point of view, this is damning evidence against O.J. Simpson and, though not likely to be recognized in a Court of Law, quite sufficient to establish his guilt.

The second trial is expected to last four months or more, and was due to start in Santa Monica, California, in September. The trial proper has to wait on the selection of a jury, which could take weeks.

What are O.J. Simpson's prospects in this second Court proceeding? Will his Natal Sun Trine Jupiter save him again?

When O.J. was acquitted in October 1995 a favourable outcome for him was shown by both the Age-Harmonic and the Standard Solar-Return Chart. These Figures also adequately portrayed the personal trauma of the trial and the enormous expense incurred impulses out of control, and certainly suggest that O.J. at the time was at least capable of the murders of which he stood accused.

What is particularly significant and revealing is that the Harmonic Chart shows a link between Simpson and his ex-wife, Nicole, and Simpson's interaction for his defence. See the Charts and their notes on the next page.

For the period of the second Trial, the Charts that apply are Age-Harmonic No. 49, and the Solar Return of 8th July 1996, both covering the period 9 July 1996 to 9 July 1997. These are certainly less

O.J. Simpson's Age-Harmonic Chart covering the period of the Murder Trial leading up to his acquittal on 3rd October 1995.

The personal stress and strain is shown by Saturn conjunct the Sun in the 12th House (emotional trauma), plus Mercury (ruling the 12th) on the Ascendant trine to Pluto, opposite Mars and the Natal Vertex (nervous stress).

The enormous expense for him is shown by Jupiter on the 2nd Cusp (financial assets) square to Pluto and Uranus and conjunct Natal Pluto. Pluto = mass; in this case, massive expenditure.

The acquittal follows from (1) the Moon ruling the Ascendant and hence representing Simpson, trine to Neptune ruling the 9th House (legal proceedings), and (2) Venus ruling the 4th House (end of the matter) and the 11th (the jury) trine to the Equatorial Ascendant and to Natal Neptune ruling the 9th (legal proceedings).

Venus is also conjunct Natal Mars, ruling the Midheaven (victory).

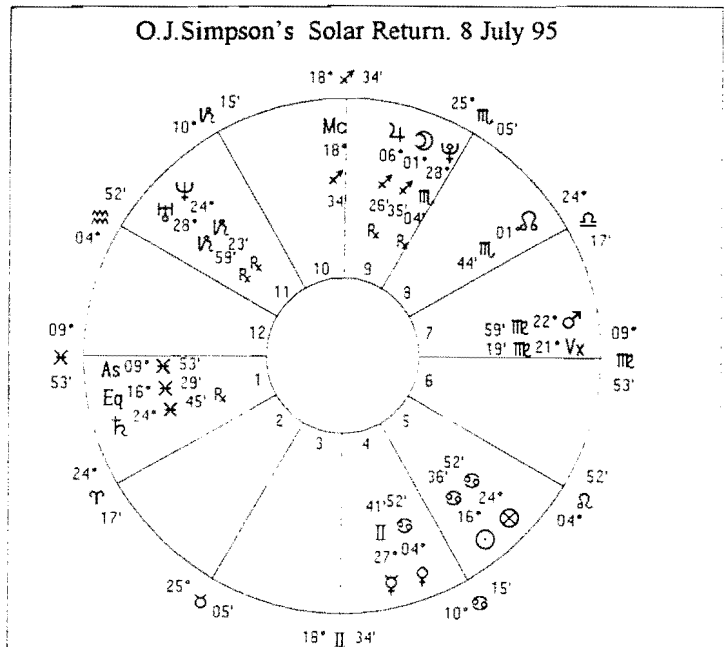

See Simpson's Chart on page 1 for the Natal positions referred to above.

attractive from O.J.'s point of view than those applicable to his first Trial. In fact, they are quite foreboding. See page 4 for these Charts.

Sagittarius rises in the 49th Age-Harmonic Chart, which is a priori a favourable indication. In this case, however, its Ruler, Jupiter, is afflicted by conjunction with the malefics Pluto and Mars, both ruling the 12th House (personal trauma).

Again, the appearance of Venus almost exactly on the Upper Meridian at first sight seems very favourable for success, but its apparent good promises are nullified by the square to the Moon's North and South Nodes, and its close semisquare to Saturn in the House of the Jury, which itself is ruled by Venus. As one has often noted, an Aspect from the Ruler of a House to a planet in that House has a more than usually powerful effect.

The House of Legal Proceedings is also under heavy

The Solar-Return for the period of the Trial is principally indicative of Simpson's acquittal (Moon, Jupiter and Pluto conjunct in the 9th Cusp—legal proceedings). However, personal anxiety and stress is shown by Saturn rising in Pisces conjunct the Natal Moon and opposite S-R Mars, with Ruler, Neptune, conjunct Uranus and opposite Natal Mercury.

The financial drain is apparent from the Ruler, Mars, of the Finance House in a T-Square with Saturn and Mercury, plus the Ruler of the Ascendant, Neptune, opposing the Part of Fortune.

See Simpson's Chart on page 1 for the Natal positions referred to above.

affliction from Uranus, plus Natal Saturn and Pluto. Uranus there, very close to the Cusp (the most potent place) squares both Mercury (nervous stress) and Neptune ruling the 4th House (loss at the end).

Mercury ruling the House of Status, and sextile to Venus there, looks promising but is stultified by its conjunction with Neptune (disappointment). Venus also suffers from the square of Natal Mars, so little of good for O.J. can be expected from it.

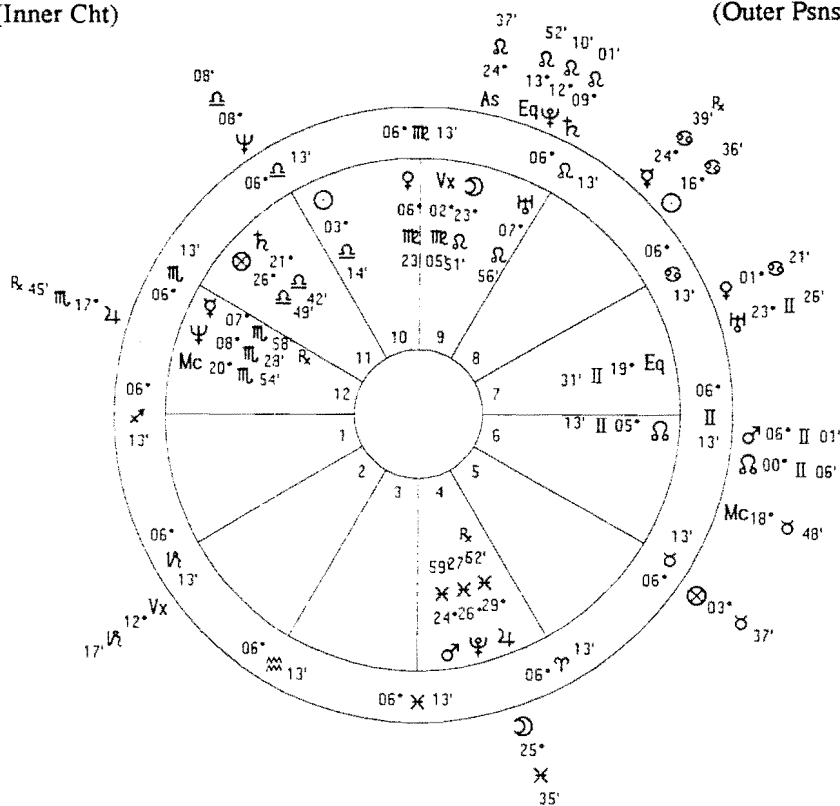

Confirmation of the adverse legal proceedings is provided by the Sun, Ruler of the 9th, opposite both Jupiter and Pluto (big losses). This is made more certain by the fact that Jupiter is the Ruler of this Harmonic Chart.

The Solar-Return Chart is just as definite in its own way—and adverse for Simpson—as the Age-Harmonic. Most prominent is the opposition of Jupiter to the Sun (and Mercury) across the Chart. This is a clear indication of conflict with the law and adverse results. Confirmation comes from the Moon, Ruler of the Ascendant, closely square to Neptune, joint Ruler with Jupiter of the Status House.

As the Moon rules also the Money House, its square

O.J. Simpson's A-H.49
(Inner Cht)

O.J. Simpson's Birth Cht.
(Outer Psn.)

sesquare to the Natal Sun (1° orb) and quincunx Natal Venus could even precipitate a break-down.

All told, it appears that this time luck will desert Simpson, despite his Natal Sun trine Jupiter.

If the families win the action, which looks certain, it is problematical what they can gain other than a sense of justice being done. Financial damages may be a chimera, given that Simpson is already deeply in debt to his lawyers in the murder trial.

—Dymock.

DOOMED

A fierce gust of wind blew 45-year-old Vittorio Luise's car into a river near Naples, Italy, in 1983. He managed to break a window, climb out and swim to shore—where a tree blew over and killed him.

George Schwartz, owner of a factory in Providence, Rhode Island, narrowly escaped death when a 1983 blast flattened his factory except for one wall. After treatment of minor injuries, he returned to the scene to search for files. The remaining wall then collapsed and killed him.

A man hit by a car in New York in 1977 got up uninjured, but lay back down in front of the car when a bystander told him to pretend he was hurt so he could collect insurance money. The car rolled forward and crushed him to death.

Surprised while burgling a house in Antwerp, Belgium, a thief fled out the back door, clambered over a nine-foot wall, dropped down and found himself in the city prison.

—Gleaned from the Internet.

This Issue is earlier than usual as your Editor is going into hospital for open-heart surgery on 15th October. The date is chosen astrologically as the best for surgery within the allowable time-span, and I have no qualms.

My kind regards to all.

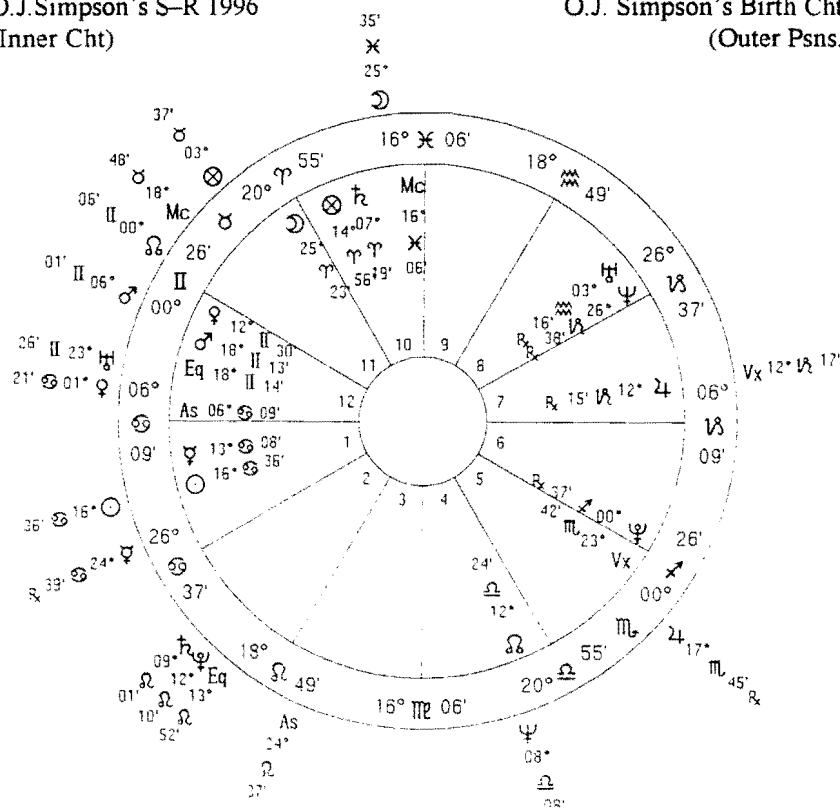

—Dymock, 5 Oct 1996.

to Neptune shows financial losses. The afflicted 8th House further signifies debts incurred, emphasized by Uranus there square to the Natal Part of Fortune.

The year will be very taxing on Simpson's health: Pluto Retrograde on the Cusp of the Health House.

O.J. Simpson's S-R 1996
(Inner Cht)

O.J. Simpson's Birth Cht.
(Outer Psn.)

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 182 September 1996

Fax 08 336 1600, Phone 08 336 1956

E-Mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

LOST KEYS—HORARY CHART READING

by Lee Miller (Houston, Texas)

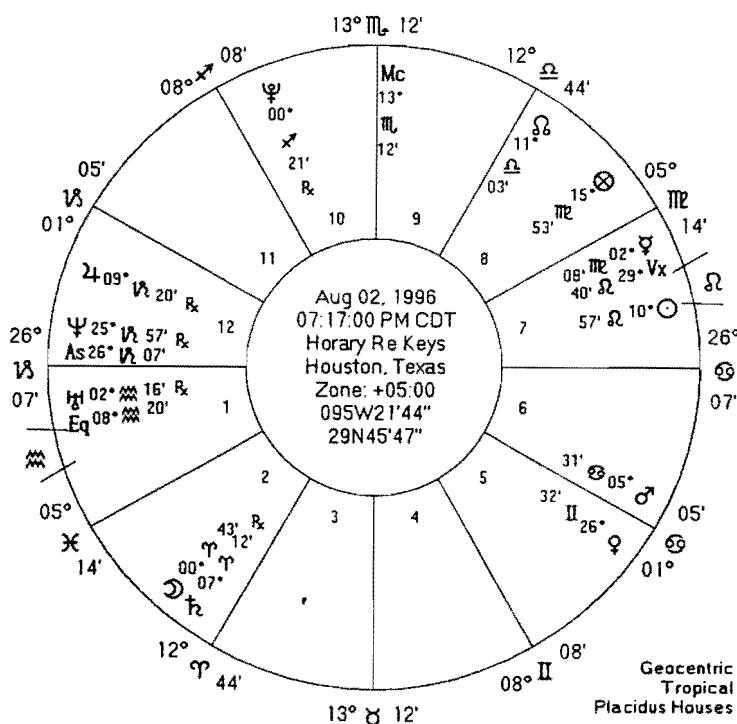

with comments by John Somoza (New York)

This is the solution to the Horary Chart given in the last Issue.

The Chart was set for Aug. 02, 1996, 7:17PM CDT
(+5:00 = GMT) Houston, Texas,
95°21'44" W, 29°45'47" N.

A man asked where his keys were. He had been working in a warehouse area. His boss had come through briefly. When the man went to close up he found that his keys were missing.

HORARY RE KEYS

In looking for the keys I first went to the 2nd House Ruler, Jupiter, which was in the 12th House, and Retrograde. That could describe their location or their condition.

Next, is the Ruler of the 2nd House in Aspect to the Querent's Ruler? (Querent is the 1st House, the person who asked the question). Yes it's separating from a square (describes a past action).

Now Neptune which also rules the 2nd House

In This Issue...

	Page
Lost Keys—Horary Chart Reading	1
Russian Up-Date (Contd.)	2
Natal Chart of Alexander Lebed	2
President Bill Clinton—Claim for an.....
Authentic Birth Time	3
Two Age-Harmonics for Bill Clinton	4

(possessions) is also in the 12th House—no Aspect to Saturn but it is returning to conjunct the Ascendant. (It looks like he will get the keys back.) We know that he has lost the keys—they are out of his sight in H.12.

Now Saturn is also the Co-Ruler of the keys by its presence in H.2. Saturn is also Retrograde (those keys really want to come back).

Mercury (the generic Ruler of keys) is in H.7 (they could they be on the other person's body). Let's look for an Aspect between the Querent and Mercury (yes, the Moon, Co-Ruler of the Querent, is applying to quincunx Mercury). We have seen with the retrogrades that the keys are coming back. Now we have an applying Aspect between the keys and the Querent, so I am going to go with the keys as Mercury.

The 7th-House Ruler of the other person is the Moon which is quincunx Mercury. As it is his (H.7) Primary Ruler I believe he is the one that will have to make the adjustment in regard to the keys (Mercury) that are on his person (Mercury in the 7th—Angular House = at home or on your person). This is backed up with Taurus on the 4th-House Cusp. (4th House = beginning and ending of the matter.) Olivia Barclay says with Taurus here we should look to cloth and clothing.

Now I have: On his person, cloth or clothing (wait
—we also have Mercury in Virgo, which is pockets).
I'm betting they are in his pocket.

But which pocket? Since we are not going to be able to frisk the fellow it really doesn't matter but I want to see what the Chart has to say.

Well, Mercury is within 5° of the 8th-House Cusp indicating water or plumbing. John Somoza [Horary Astrologer] says that with Moon and Mars in Mutual Reception we can read the Moon as back in Cancer.

There is also an emphasis on Mutable/Earth. Mutables give very good capacity for compromising, making deals and pulling strings. Bob Hawke was very notable for that and he had a heavy emphasis on Mutable Signs. Also, like Hawke, he has Scorpio Ascending. This gives a lot of ruthlessness when it is needed. Lebed hasn't got the emphasis on Cardinals that Yeltsin has. He is not the type to "crash through". Rather he is one who will bide his time and act at the opportune moment. The emphasis on Earth Signs shows his practicality, not the dreamer of great visions, as Russia has had in its past.

But are there elements in his Chart that might show that fate will play a part in his rise? On that score it is worth noting the Yod pattern with Saturn as the prime Significator, set squarely in the Tenth House—the “Finger of God”. And Pluto, linked strongly with fate, is part of this pattern. It does look as if the potential to achieve the top job is there, and he could be the pragmatic type to guide Russia through this difficult phase ahead. There can be no going back.

Looking at the current indications in his Chart, we see the Progressed Sun making a trine to Neptune and a sextile to Pluto—and of course these two planets are part of the Yod pattern. 1997 could be a fairly critical period for Yeltsin, and during that year Transiting Pluto will be opposing Lebed’s Natal Moon, and Transiting Uranus trining it, and these could bring some very fundamental changes to his life. But of course the bottom line is that Russia, being an Aquarian Nation, will always have an element of the unpredictable. □

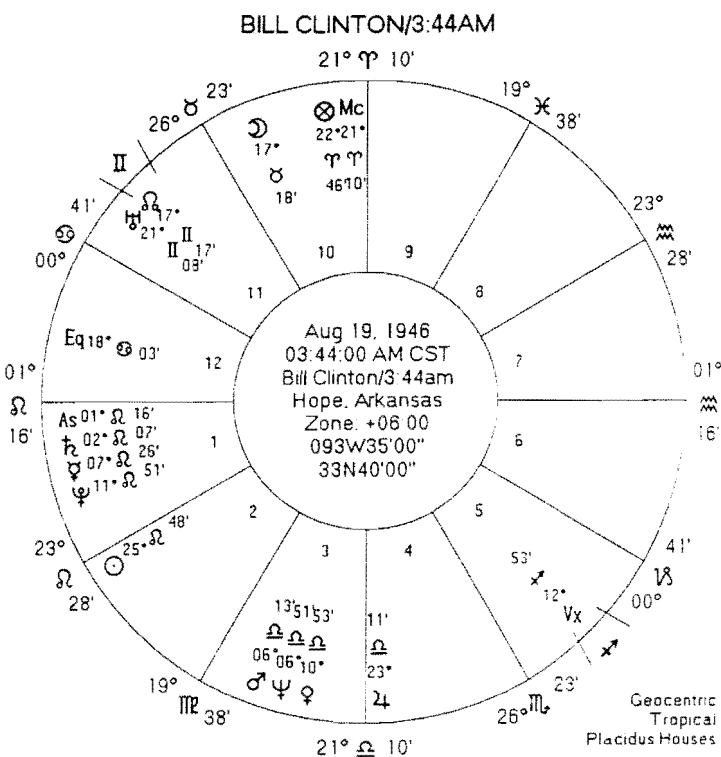

PRESIDENT BILL CLINTON Claim for an Authentic Chart

Here is something that may settle the controversy over the time of President Clinton’s birth. It comes from Rowena Wall in Georgia, USA, who declares that 3:44am CST is the time on the Birth Certificate of the President, as seen, written down and remembered by her mother.

Rowena writes:

The 3:44am time is one that my mother got for me WAAAAY back before he was elected. She saw the Birth Certificate in a book. (I’ve told the story of this several times). I find this Chart to describe him perfectly. This man is clearly a double Leo. He is NOT a Libra Rising. He has none of the natural social graces and gentleness that Libra Rising brings. He does have the acting ability and the force of personality of a double Leo however. Also, if all else failed, the hair is a major tip off!

Saturn in the first does not necessarily bring a “look”. And this especially when it is in the Sign of Leo the Actor! Clinton is capable of affecting any number of “looks” on demand. Note the closeness of Mercury to that Saturn along with Pluto. There is a complexity here that clearly describes him. I think with some rectification that the Saturn might ease back to the 12th, but whether it did or not is not the point. He had a VERY hard childhood. He was illegitimate and lost what was supposed to be his real father as a baby. All of those things affected him. He and his family were very poor until his Mother married his stepfather, Mr. Clinton, who adopted him. Saturn in the first like this is the perfect description of hard times as a child and a sense of abandonment and loss. Saturn-conjunct-Ascendant people burn their karma early. It in no way means their ENTIRE life is bad in some way. It just reflects the early times. The Mars/Neptune/Venus Stellium is quite fitting for the 3rd House—thinking and speaking. And the Moon in the 10th tells clearly who elected him.

Bill Clinton is a man concerned with power. This double-Leo Chart clearly depicts that. He has no “softness” such as that attributed to Libra. As to the “good looks and charm”, well that is debatable, and in the eyes of the beholder, I think. But I still say that Libra Stellium in the 3rd explains the waffling, the smooth talk and every other thing you attribute to him.

The 3:44am time came from an excellent source—my mother, the numbers freak. She is a whiz at this sort of thing and never makes errors. It is most unfortunate that neither she nor I thought to get a copy of the book at the time. But no one thought he would get very far, and by the time he DID, the book was no longer available ANYWHERE. The book was in the library and was the history of his 12 years as Governor. IT had a copy of the birth certificate. It was a “vanity” publication, and the writer thought we would all be enchanted by this. (Of course, I’m sure the writer had no idea that the astrological community would INDEED be enchanted.) [I am told a “vanity” publication is an American term applied to a work whose publication is paid for by the author, though in this instance it was paid for by the State of Arkansas. —Ed.]

I understand when he got the nomination, they ordered all documents relating to his actual birth data to be closed tight as a drum. They (or at least the President's wife, Hillary) apparently believe in Astrology. I don't think they use it, but they certainly believe in it. Hence, as with Reagan, the birth time has become a State secret. But I will tell you this—my Mother is so good about this sort of thing, I consider her an unimpeachable source. She is, by the way, a retired accountant. If she ever knew your birth data, she would remember it now, even if she was told this information YEARS ago. She remembers dates like no one I've ever seen. But in this instance, she actually wrote it down in addition, and so I have every faith it is correct. I just can't prove it, and at this point no longer care to. I just know it's right. The Chart doesn't intrigue me so much as does its fitting the man, and since it is the truth, I use it.

Age Harmonics Confirm the Chart of Bill Clinton—3:44pm

In confirmation of the above Chart of President Bill Clinton, here are Age-Harmonic Charts for his marriage to Hillary on 11th October 1975, and his becoming Governor of Arkansas in November, 1978, when he was aged respectively 29 and 32.

Marriage Chart (Age-Harmonic 29)

1. Venus (love), Jupiter (increase) and Vertex (destiny) all conjoined in Leo (love Sign), and all trine to Floating MC (status), Equat.Asc (the person) and Natal Vertex (destiny). Venus rules 10th House (status) and 5th House (romance).

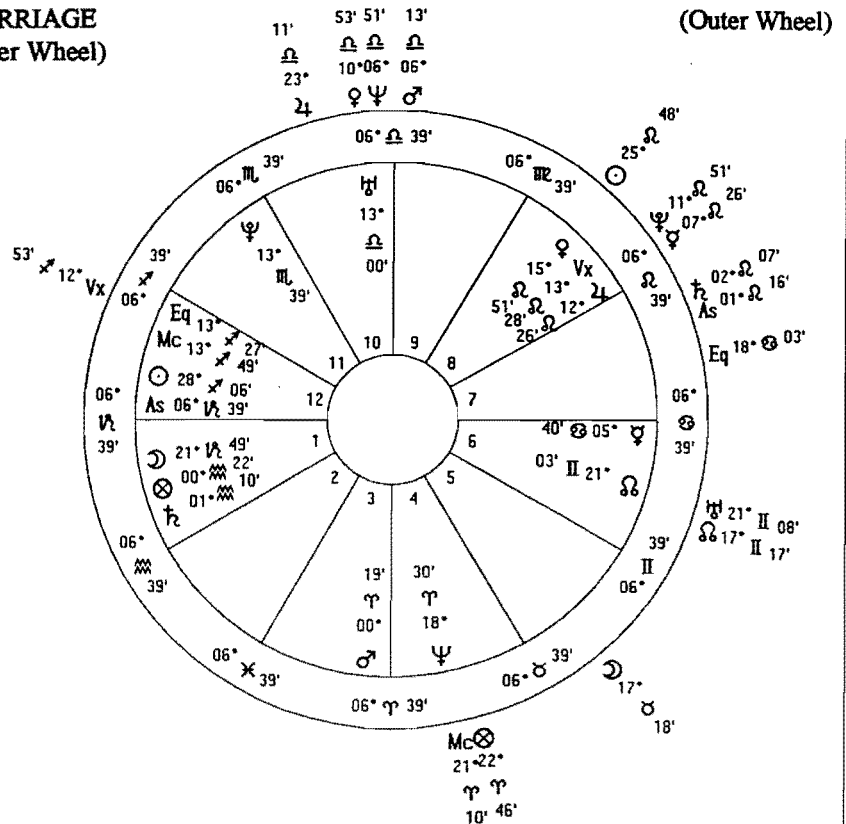

2. Natal Mars, Venus and Neptune (together signifying amorous urges) all conjunct the MC (emotional state).

3. Mercury on Marriage Cusp (marriage vows).

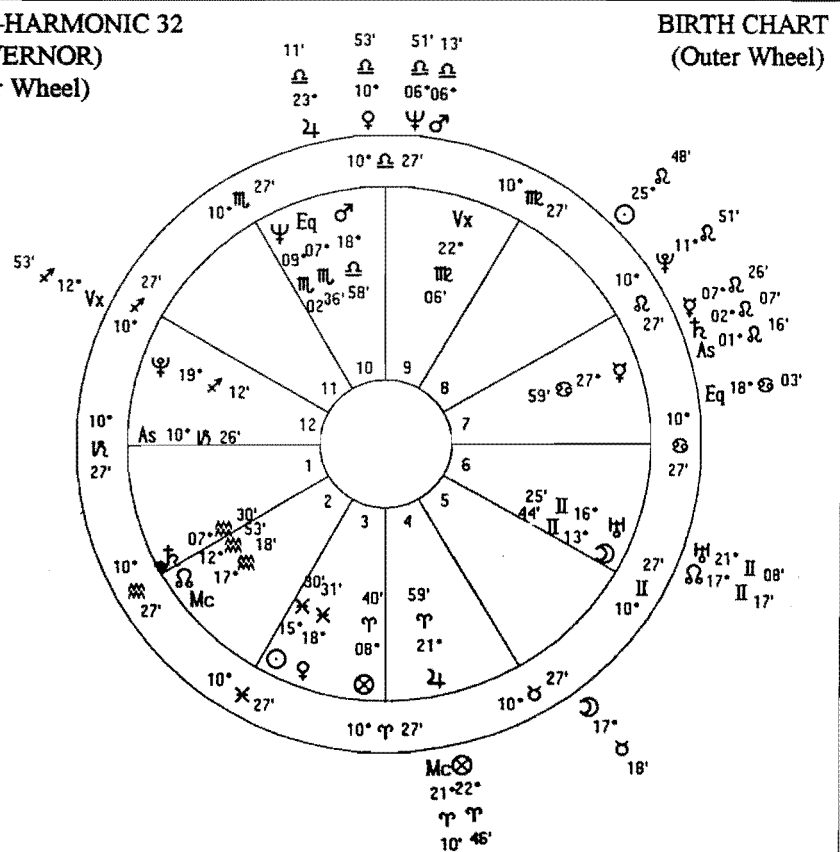

Elected Governor of Arkansas (Age Harmonic 32)

1. Natal Venus at 10°53' Libra conjunct the Harmonic M.C. at 10°27' Libra, and trine Saturn ruling the Ascendant.
2. Jupiter at 21°59' Aries conjunct Natal M.C. at 21°10'

AGE-HARMONIC 29
(MARRIAGE
(Inner Wheel)

AGE-HARMONIC 32
(GOVERNOR)
(Inner Wheel)

Aries and Pars Fortunae at 22°46' Aries, also in a Grand Trine with Pluto and the Natal Sun. ☐

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock,
23rd September 1996.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques
Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.
Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: A$25.

Issue 181 August 1996

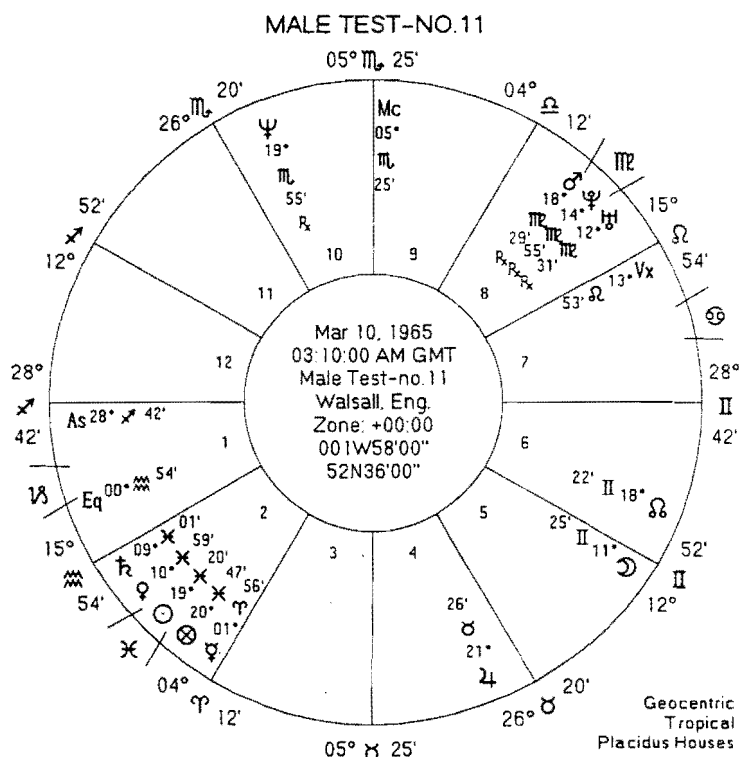

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

Fax 08 336 1600, Phone 08 336 1956
E-Mail: dymock@ozemail.com.au

COMMENTS ON TEST NO.11

Death of Young Man

This is the solution to Test No.11, held over from the last Issue. Here again is the Birth Chart of the young man, the subject of the Test:

The question was, what happened to him on 20th October 1984, about 2am, in Adelaide? The answer (published last month) was that the young man died, following two accidents. No one succeeded in deducing this; a "serious accident" was close. Here is Miriam Laister's interesting comment.

Miriam Laister (S.Aust.) writes—

There were two accidents, the first was on 18th October in which he wrote off a motor-bike but escaped without a scratch, and the second on 20th October at approximately 2am, when he was badly burned. He was spending the night at his future in-laws place. He heard a noise from the shed. On the way to investigate he wrapped a sheet taken from the line around himself for warmth. When he opened the door his two teenage brothers-in-law-to-be were there with a lighted candle on the floor. The coroner never

In This Issue...

	Page
Comments on Test No.11.....	1
The Games and the Bomb—Can Astrology Help?.....	2
Russian Update.....	3
Where are the Keys? —Develop your skill in Horary Astrology.....	4 discovered what they were doing, but the suspicion is that they were sniffing petrol or drinking (Neptune). The draught from the door being opened blew the sheet on to the candle. Unknown to the young man, the sheet had been in the boot of a car with a lawn mower and, having been soaked with petrol, was hung out to dry. The sheet caught fire and burned the man badly. He died on November 22nd.

The Natal Mars-Uranus-Pluto conjunction certainly fits. Transiting Uranus was at 11°8' Sagittarius, turning the Natal T-Square (Moon-Uranus/Pluto-Saturn) into a temporary Grand Cross. The previous Solar Eclipse was conjunct the Natal Moon on the 6th Cusp, signifying health and work as the focus at that time. He had been unemployed but was to start a new job that day. The Eclipse also touched off the configuration by conjuncting the Moon.

On the Solar-Return Chart [see next page] the Natal Stellium is on the S.R. Ascendant, S.R. Uranus on the IC (end of life). The Lunar Return often shows timing by picking up the theme of the current Solar Return. The Relocated L.R. (Adelaide) had a conjunction of Mars and Jupiter (fire) on the 8th Cusp (death), the Moon rising opposite Uranus, and the Natal Stellium of Mars, Pluto and Uranus on the IC. The Lunar Return for the Birth Place had Pluto exactly on the MC, Neptune on the Ascendant, a close conjunction of Mars and Jupiter also rising, the Moon in the 6th House opposed by Uranus, and both aspecting the Vertex on the 8th Cusp.

Early in the year I had cast the Progressed Chart and Solar Return and looked at Transits. I was fairly new to Astrology, and the boy was a friend's son whom I had known for some years. To say that the Charts gave me the heebie-jeebies was an understatement. I felt something would go badly that year.

SOLAR RETURN 1984.

Natal Mars on Ascendant, together with Pluto and Uranus. Mars rules the 8th House, and opposes Ruler, Mercury. Pluto conjuncts the Natal Midheaven at 5°25' Scorpio. Neptune conjuncts Natal Ascendant. Uranus on I.C. opposite the Natal Moon, along the Meridian.

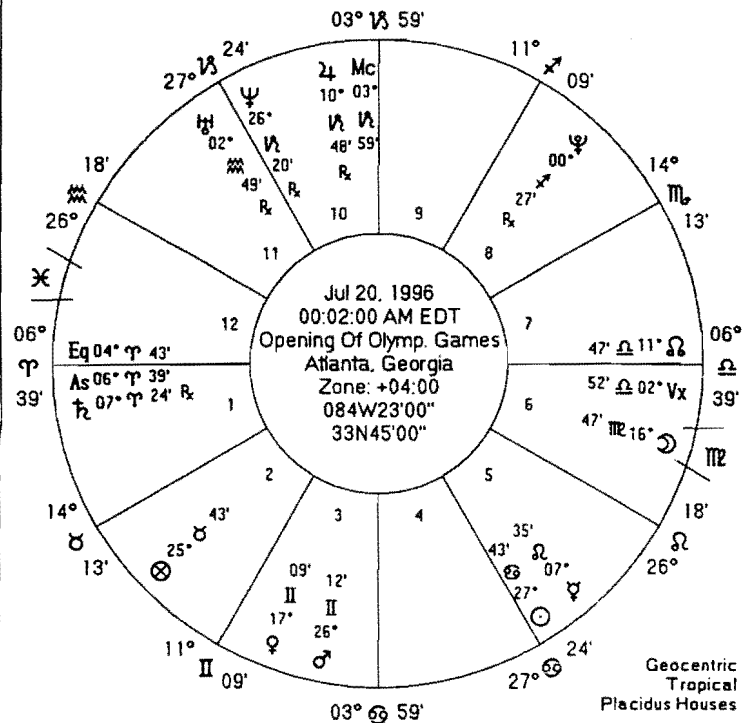

THE GAMES AND THE BOMB

Can Astrology Help?

In the adjacent column you see the Chart for the time President Bill Clinton declared the Olympic Games open on 20th July 1996. The issue that particularly concerns me at this time is not which country was most distinguished in the final results, but the matter of the bomb that exploded in one of the Pavilions on 27th July.

It is noteworthy that at the precise time of the Opening, the Sun was right on the 5th Cusp. This is a very appropriate position. The 5th House relates to games, recreations, and showmanship. The Sun illuminates the House and highlights its activities. One wonders if President Clinton had the benefit of astrological advice for choosing the time of his crucial pronouncement, "I declare the Games open!". It is more than likely, as I understand the President's wife, Hillary, is a believer in astrology, and for such an important National event might have put pressure on her husband which he heeded, even allowing for the fact that he may himself be a sceptic. However, Saturn on the Ascendant square Jupiter was not such a good choice.

OPENING OF OLYMP. GAMES

But the point at issue now is, could the bomb explosion on 27th July be foreseen?

Looking at the Chart at this late date it is apparent that secret, hostile forces were at work. The Sun is opposed by both Neptune and Uranus, and these two Malefics have rulership over the 12th House (secret enemies), Uranus ruling the Cusp, and Neptune the intercepted Sign. There is an additional adverse factor, in that the Traditional Ruler of Aquarius, Saturn, is right on the Ascendant and square to Jupiter, itself Traditional Ruler of Pisces, intercepted in the 12th. Thus there are three Malefics involved in the House of Secret Enemies, giving it very considerable emphasis.

Jupiter in itself stands for law and order, and here it rules the House of Law (9th) which has Sagittarius on the Cusp, so Saturn's square shows a contrary influence, and a powerful one, powerful because Saturn has such a strong Mundane position, right on the Ascendant, and is in Aries, the Sign of its Exaltation, where it's influence is transmitted without let or hindrance. Saturn's dispositor, Mars, is itself in a tight quincunx with Neptune, Co-Ruler of the 12th, confirming the presence of hostile, secret conspirators.

The Saturn-Jupiter square, in fact, suggests someone involved in, but obstructive of, law and order—could it be a renegade Security Officer? Suspicion has indeed fastened on the the Security Officer who "discovered" the bomb, but nothing has as yet been proved.

This is the first step—establishing that danger exists through the agency of secret antagonists. The next step is to establish the specific times when the danger would be most threatening. Bearing in mind that the Games last only a fortnight, it is hardly likely that there would be any significant Transits by the slow-moving Malefics except, perhaps, Transits over Midpoints. More important, however, are Directions to Midpoints, and a very appropriate one occurs on the day of the bombing: By the Naibod-Arc measure of $0^{\circ}59'$ a year (the mean daily motion of the Sun) the Moon moved to the trine of the Mars/Saturn Midpoint on the very day of the bombing. This Direction brought into play the two Malefics so important in the Inceptional Chart—Saturn on the Ascendant, and its dispositor, Mars.

For the timing we might also use the Horary technique of equating degrees to days. The explosion occurred seven days (almost to the hour) after the Opening. In the Inceptional Chart a very significant factor is the position of Uranus just $6\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ from the position of Neptune, to which it would be carried by rotation of the Earth, as distinct from its movement in the Zodiac. Thus the Radical conjunction of two planets ruling the 12th House, Uranus and Neptune, would be perfected, and they would then both be opposite the Sun and quincunx Mars.

So there are at least two indications in the Radix of the time of danger.

This is hindsight—too late for this event but may be of value in assessing danger times in regard to future events of importance where the disposition of the planets suggests deadly inimical forces. Our experience here could be invaluable, perhaps life-saving, as a guide in relation to convocations of heads of state, national celebrations and festivities, launching of major projects, etc., wherever a starting time can be determined.

A further step is desirable—to find the perpetrators of the deed. It is possible this might be revealed by a chart for the time of the explosion—if we learn how to read it correctly. The Chart in the next column is for the date and time the Olympic bomb was detonated.

If we are looking for secret enemies, obviously the 12th House must be carefully examined—and the same two Malefics as before are seen to be prominent. We find Saturn in the 12th, Retrograde in Aries, and its dispositor, Mars, closely quincunx Neptune (orb $0^{\circ}7'$) and, very significantly, at the direct Midpoint of Uranus and Pluto (orb $0^{\circ}29'$). This suggests to me that two people were involved—an older man (Saturn) working from cover and organizing the operation, with a younger man (Mars) out front and detonating the bomb. The combination of Mars, Uranus and Pluto spells violence and fanaticism in the younger man. Mars in Cancer could describe a person of less than average height, heavy build, pale complexion, and possibly in uniform. He seeks notoriety (Mars in Cancer wants to be "on stage").

Where do we go from here? It would certainly be useful to be able to deduce from either of the above Charts, or another one altogether, just where the persons responsible for the blast are presently located and whether they will be apprehended. It is not too much to hope that Astrology can achieve this. Thought, experience, and application are needed. Readers who have ideas along these lines are invited to submit them for publication.

—Dymock

RUSSIAN UPDATE

by Allan Johnson

Russia is still the country that presents the greatest enigmas to the world. Few commentators are very sure about the ultimate outcome of the collapse of communism. There is an unpredictability. Traditionally Russia has always come under the rulership of Aquarius, which in turn is ruled by Uranus. So we have to expect surprise developments. So it was fitting that Russia became the father of the world communist empire. It became the great utopian experiment, very much in line with Aquarianism. But Aquarius also is associated with democracy, which Russia did not embrace, but rather continued the absolute rule of the Tsars under a new label. This resulted in an enormous contradiction—and it ended up in destroying the whole regime. Russia has never had democracy any time in its history. So its people have always looked to all-powerful leaders, so in seeking to predict the future for this great Nation we have to look at the charts of its leaders, perhaps more so than any mundane charts.

Since the beginning of the 1990's Boris Yeltsin has been at the centre of the stage in Russia, and his Sun is in Aquarius, very fittingly. I did have an article in Astrologers' Forum in December 1992 on the future of Yeltsin. At that time Uranus and Neptune were very close together and activating the powerful T-Square pattern in his personal Chart that embraced the Moon, Pluto, Jupiter, Node, Uranus, Saturn and Mercury (seven points in all) and he was going through a very drastic and dangerous period in his life. All this correlated very precisely with what was happening at the time. But he has survived it all, and reaffirmed his position as President in June of this year. He is still at the top—but a big question mark still hangs over his head. The reason this time is not a question of revolt from below, but of his own health. He has already had several heart attacks, and that can certainly be a threat to a Head of State.

So it is time for another look at his Chart. And once again the T-Square pattern is activated, this time not by Transits but by the Progressed Sun. This has now reached the conjunction of the North Node. This in itself is not adverse, but Nately the Node squares both the Moon and Pluto. When a major Progressed planet hits a point of a major configuration, it activates the whole pattern. Right now the Progressed Sun is within a 1° orb of the Square of Progressed Pluto, and a year later of Natal Pluto. This Aspect could be quite dangerous to a person of his health background, added to the pressures of his Office. Also, by the middle of 1997 Saturn will activate the same T-Square. So August '97 could be a dangerous month for Yeltsin. Transiting Uranus will also be in Opposition to Natal Mars in 1997, so next year could be rather an adverse year for him, and lends a lot of credence to general speculation about his future. His demise could throw the country into a lot of confusion. ■

WHERE ARE THE KEYS?

The Querent (a man) who lost his keys had been working in a warehouse area where he had seen another man pass through briefly. The Querent thought that he had put the keys down after he opened a locked area. When he went back they were gone.

The keys were found.

This Horary question is supplied by Lee Miller of Houston, Texas. Can you deduce from the Chart where they were, and if they were recovered? No prizes are offered, but it is well worth attempting as an informative exercise to increase your skill with Horaries. Lee Miller's full explanation will appear next month.

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 21st August 1996

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Non-Profit Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 180 July 1996

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

PLUTO AND JUPITER

—a Personal Odyssey

by Polly Eskenasy (USA)

Since I was born, (October 21, 1947, 3:55AM, Holyoke Massachusetts), Pluto has been periodically zapping various and sundry significant parts of my Chart.

My Natal Pluto is conjunct Saturn and Mars in Leo in the 11th. Natal Mars is at 11° and Pluto at 14°—so the first retrograde of Pluto never reached back to Mars. My life has been a series of Pluto Transits. In 1950, Pluto was edging up to conjunct my Saturn. I lived with my parents, near-aunts, uncle, cousins, grandparents. My dad and uncle worked with my grandfather. They were just beginning to fight over whether they should really be paid or the money should be reinvested in the family business.

When Pluto was transiting back and forth over my Saturn, squaring my Mercury, quincunx my Moon (in the Home Sector) and moving into squaring the Moon's Nodes, my cousin and her family had moved to New York, my Dad had moved to Texas, and my aunt and her new husband had moved to upstate New York. My mother became pregnant, we lived in three different places, then we moved back North for my sister's birth. By the time it was over, I was starting school, Dad had returned to work for Grandpa, Mom went to work, we lived in a home I didn't like, and I had mysteriously lost two boyfriends. Having moved to a school where I was an outsider, I gradually changed from a self-confident, boisterous and out-going child to one who was self-consciously losing all self-confidence.

The six years between 1953 and 1959, with Pluto successively transiting Mercury, and squaring Jupiter and the Moon's Nodes, are a blur of discomfort and desperate attempts to disappear. My life was devoted to making sure I made no mistakes. I was quite forgetful.

In December, 1956, Jupiter retrograding square to Jupiter brought the death of my closest uncle. The trauma of that event was one I felt in jealousy as my father bent over backwards to cater to my uncle's orphaned children. I was consumed with fear that I had lost my own father. My eyesight quickly deteriorated into near-sightedness.

In This Issue...

	Page
Pluto and Jupiter—A Personal Odyssey	1
Virgo—Realistic, Not Perfectionist!	2
The Nodes of the Planets	3
Hitler's Horoscope	4
Crashed Boeing Flight 800—Chart	4
Answer to Test No. 11	4

In May of '58, with Pluto squaring my Jupiter (in a Travel House) and sextiling my Sun, while on a trip with Dad and my cousin to visit his California relatives I had my first menstrual period. Jupiter Stationary on Natal Jupiter in March and May 1959 started an upward trend, and our business was flourishing.

In August '64, with Jupiter on the North Node, I was flying high with academic, leadership, and social success—which continued through most of '65. Jupiter was Stationary on my MC in October.

In March '65, with the Progressed Moon conjunct the North Node, I met my first husband (b. 17Aug43), and in October, when Jupiter was retrograding back over my MC, I obligated myself to marry. Our marriage in June, '67 was a Neptunian one of deception, in which each of us wanted the other to be what we thought the other should be—with his Saturn conjunct my Uranus I literally felt as if our marriage was a ball and chain—and I knew I had used him in order to disappear from the obligations I felt my success was bringing, and to escape from the competition of who of my friends would be married first. Neptune was Stationary on Mercury in August. After our marriage, with Jupiter conjunct Saturn, I became disciplined through teaching in a Catholic school, studying violin, and learning to be a military wife.

I went to Iran (Summer, '70) with Jupiter conjunct the Sun. With Saturn conjunct the North Node (September) and Neptune conjunct Jupiter (October) I left my husband and returned home to find who I was.

In November/December '70, (Pluto conjunct the Ascendant, Neptune conjunct Jupiter, Jupiter conjunct Mercury) I dreamed I met with a convocation of professors and philosophers of the past and my future was set. I went to visit two professors about graduate work. One said I only needed to learn Greek, German, and Hebrew, and he would accept me. German was already underway; I met a Smith professor who gave me a book to complete to catch up with his class, and astonished him by completing all the exercises correctly in the two weeks that I was visiting my grandparents in Florida over Christmas; I didn't quite learn the Hebrew—so I could still stay behind.

The Pluto Transit of my Ascendant also meant I was divorced, lost my family inheritance to my ex-husband, and lost my desire to dress well and look good. I entered the graduate program of my dreams and fears. On the 4th June 1974, when Pluto was again Stationary close to my Ascendant, I met and married the most idealistic, well-versed, genteel musician-composer, who shared my birthday (21 Oct 1945, 11:57pm, NYC) and always claimed he was "crazy". We had the most idyllic and dream-like existence for seven years—hard work, poverty of students and artists. For our honeymoon, we hiked in Switzerland for six weeks.

Interesting, when Pluto hit my first house Neptune in 1976 I decided not to live in the dream-world of "can't" and "we're poor" anymore, and I buckled down to prove myself by actually taking the general examinations—which coincided with my 30th birthday and Saturn return, and Grandpa's death.

With Jupiter Stationary trine Jupiter in March 1979 my son was born (March 11, 1979, 3:47pm, Boston Massachusettes). His Jupiter is exactly trine mine. This ushered in some good years.

By the early 80's, Pluto was about to do some real work with me. Pluto had entered my 2nd House and I needed some financial responsibility. I completed outstanding papers to be published, learned to type without mistakes, and applied to law schools. The '82 Pluto/Saturn conjunction conjoined my Sun. I started acting as if I had been shot out of a cannon; my husband slowed down to turtle-pace and slower, claiming incompetence and confusion. I was divorced a second time, became a single parent, and changed from student to business woman—a complete lifestyle change. Then life became ever more disrupted as Pluto transited Venus, Mercury, the South Node and Chiron—all squaring the Mars-Pluto-Saturn Stellium in the 11th House. Needless to say, my finances, health, love-life and everything else were all blown out of all proportion and I was left exhausted and rather a mess. I worked all the time, went into business, kept my dissertation going, studied astrology every spare moment I had, entered a Zen monastery, earned three black belts, then threw everything out as Saturn and Uranus were conjunct opposite Natal Uranus and conjunct my IC in February '88. I gave everything away and found myself selling fruits and vegetables—a Pluto-Venus Transit in October was causing me to transform all my values.

When Pluto squared Mars in '88, an article that was accepted for publication in 1981, at the beginning of all this, suddenly reappeared in my mailbox and was published. I returned to complete my dissertation and did so when Pluto squared Saturn, conjuncted Mercury, and sextiled my Capricorn Moon. Then I turned around, moved to idyllic circumstances in the North Carolina mountains, wrote a 700-page book in 6 months, hosted an international Bar Mitzvah for my son, started teaching, etc.

Those were the transits I focused on. The thing is, I totally ignored Jupiter at 29°26' Scorpio, sextile my 0° Libra Ascendant. Now that I look there, everything has opened up since Pluto started nudging into Jupiter and entered my 3rd House. I started going places and being noticed again.

Joe (b. 7 April 1932, 2:34pm, Evanston, IL, a physics teacher, father of 11, former priest, and soul-mate) read my book, and we started keeping company. We married on 2nd March 1995 when Pluto was Stationary sextile the Ascendant and Jupiter was trine to Natal Pluto. When Pluto retrograded back over Jupiter, Joe left me, and returned when Pluto reached the other side of Jupiter again.

Since last Christmas we have been together, set up a great combined home, logged perhaps 30,000 miles in travelling to seminars and to visit and heal family ties. We've linked up with the Internet, I'm back in scholarship, book revisions are proceeding rapidly, I'm a new person—and it has all been without the struggle that marked almost every one of the other Transits of Pluto. This one is very busy—but like a huge sigh of relief. ■

VIRGO—

REALISTIC, NOT PERFECTIONIST!

By Barbara Banfield (USA)

I want to share some thoughts about Virgo. I have Sun-Jupiter conjunct in Virgo and have done a lot of thinking and, yes!, analyzing this Sign. A very common description of Virgo is "perfectionistic". Yet, the most accurate thing I ever read about Virgo was by Liz Greene.

She says Virgo is an Earth Sign and hence it is realistic. Perfection is an ideal state, and thus much more associated with Air Signs. Now, Virgos will be the first to tell you that we aren't perfect, we know we never will be, and aren't really trying to be. I am going to do a little Virgoan hairsplitting here and try to be more specific about what Virgo really is all about. Virgo is a mutable Earth Sign. Mutable Signs are primarily concerned with gathering information, learning, and making use of that learning. Therefore, since Virgo is in Earth, it is especially tuned into material reality. It is very good at discerning details and patterns and understanding how this material world (including our bodies) fits together and works. It is interested in using this knowledge to make things and fix things and do things and generally improve things here on the Earth plane. It has a natural talent for noticing when and how things are not as they should or could be. Yes, Virgo is EXACTING. Virgo strives for EXCELLENCE. But this is a very grounded kind of exactness. It knows what degree of exactness is possible to attain for any given task and once it has reached that, it says Great! Good enough! and cheerfully lets go.

It is my observation of people who are weak in Virgo or heavy in Air Signs that they are in fact perfectionists. I used to own a business and had the interesting task of training and supervising others. My perfectionist employees had a very hard time finishing something. It was NEVER good enough. I would finally look it over and say—great, this is fine, this is good enough! Virgo is eminently practical and knows when something is good enough for its intended purpose. Here is the use of the Virgo discernment. It is not only used to find endless faults but also used to determine what level of exactitude is necessary for every task and to know when something has reached that state.

The other thing I noticed is that my heavy Air or Water-Sign people had no idea whether something was accomplished properly. Several employees had the idea that something should be clean because they "cleaned" it—but paid absolutely no attention to whether they had actually gotten it clean! Or something should be finished because they had spent X amount of time on it and that is about how long it should take, regardless of whether they had effectively accomplished the task.

I think that all the other Signs look at Virgo's natural ease and skill at working with the material world, her ability to achieve excellent outcomes, her keen eye for detail and pattern, her relentless realism and cry "Perfectionist!" because it is not nearly so easy or so natural to the other Signs to operate in that fashion. When they attempt to achieve excellent results they often DO resort to perfectionism and frequently have a hard time knowing when something is "good enough".

This is why so many people with heavy Virgo have sloppy houses, messy kitchens, and do NOT spend endless hours house-cleaning. Virgo discerns what level of excellence is needed and necessary for every endeavour. A super-clean house is often not on the priority list. Remember, Virgo is a realist, and if she knows that she only has 24 hours in the day and if she is truly going to achieve excellence in the things that matter most to her she happily tolerates disorder and sloppiness in the areas of life that are less important to her. Yet, if she is a Virgo-Moon in the 4th House, that house-cleaning may just be at the top of the list!

So, yes, Virgo is exacting, she strives for excellence, she notices all the details, and even though she is aware of all the imperfections, she knows when something is good enough. It is just that the level of excellence she is capable of attaining often looks and feels like perfection to others. But she knows it's not, because she can still see the remaining flaws!

There—I have had my hairsplitting, nitpicky, analytical say.

If you want something done right, do it yourself — or hire a Virgo!

THE NODES OF THE PLANETS

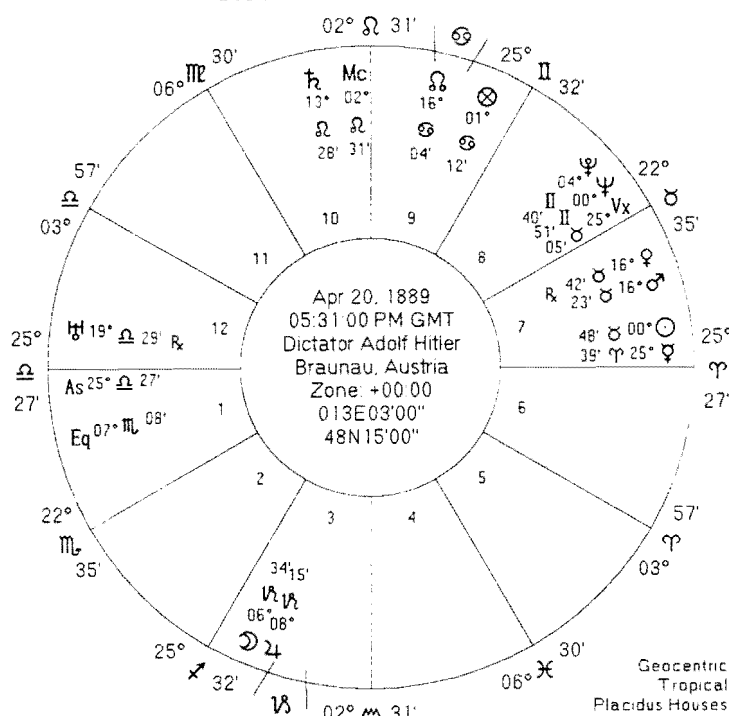

Dr Theodor Landscheit of Nova Scotia has opened a new vista to astrologers with his research into the geocentric nodes of the planets. We are all familiar with the nodes of the Moon—they are commonly used in astrological charts of all kinds—but Dr. Landscheit has pointed out that all the planets have their nodes where their orbits intersect the Ecliptic, and what is so important for astrologers is that these nodes produce effects just like the planets themselves. This is a remarkable additional factor that explains a lot of what was hitherto unexplainable in many charts.

For example, Dr. Landscheit cites the Horoscope of Adolf Hitler (see next page). "...there are three outstanding conjunctions that point to a positive disposition: Jupiter conjunct the Moon (kindness, good heart, religiosity, readiness to help others); Mercury conjunct the Sun and the Desc. (common sense, power of thought, circumspection and prudence; cultivates the exchange of ideas); Venus conjunct Mars (the impulse to love, a warm heart, creativity in the arts, sensitivity). The interpretations are from Ebertin's Combination of Stellar Influences. There is also a conjunction of Neptune and Pluto that could be linked to negative interpretations. Yet it is not individual; the Native shares this wide conjunction of these slowly moving planets with many other persons. Uranus near the Ascendant could be critical, but its position is in Libra, the Sign of harmony, peace and diplomacy. Finally, there is a square between Mars and Saturn. Yet Mars is conjunct Venus and forms a trine and a sextile with the Moon's Nodes. Does this Chart properly

DICTATOR ADOLF HITLER

Planets' Nodes

(North)

(South)

Mars 11°28' Taurus

Saturn 16°31' Cancer 28°26' Capricorn

Pluto 17°26' Cancer Neptune 12°26' Aquarius

It is a point of interest regarding the planetary nodes that the ascending and descending nodes (here designated North and South) are not diametrically opposite one another as with the Moon's nodes.

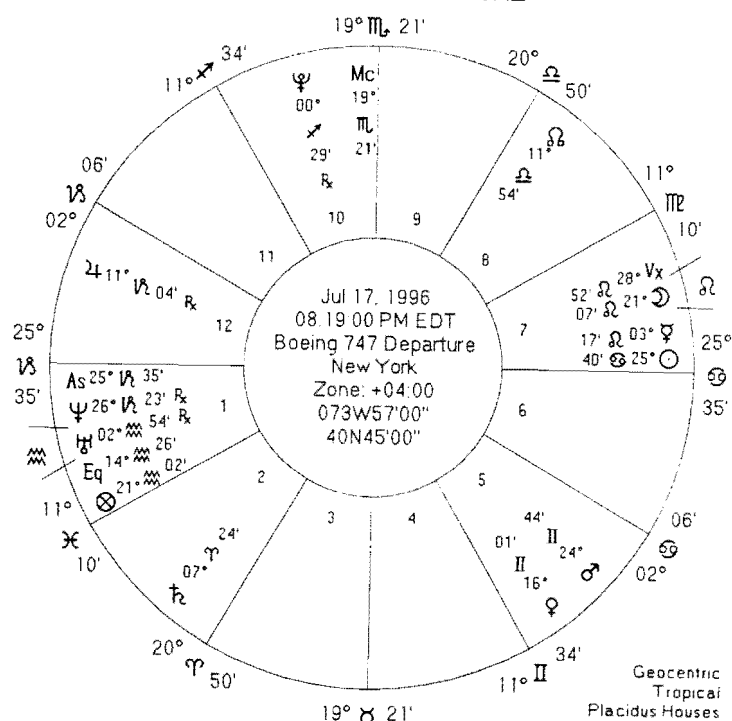

reflect the dictator Hitler's personality?

"The geocentric nodes set the picture right. The Moon's Node forms a triple conjunction with the Nodes of Saturn and Pluto, which is squared by Uranus. Saturn opposes Neptune's Node and squares Mars' Node and also Mars, thus changing completely the nature of the conjunction between Mars and Venus. This configuration is accentuated by Saturn-68.8°-Pluto, an exact golden aspect (Ebertin: Cold-heartedness, tendency to violence, fanatical adherence to one's principles). ... At the time of Hitler's suicide (April 30, 1945) Mars' transiting Node squared Natal Saturn, and Saturn's transiting Node was conjunct the Natal Moon's Node and close to the square with the Natal Uranus."

[The above quote is taken from Considerations X:4, published by Ken Gillman, Mount Kisco, New York.]

The above is certainly a striking illustration of the power and importance of the planets' nodes. Another and very topical illustration is provided by the tragic air crash of the Boeing 747 (Flight No. 800) on 17 July this year in the Atlantic Ocean off Long Island, New

BOEING 747 DEPARTURE

York. The Chart for the take-off time from the J.F.Kennedy Airport, New York is above.

The Ecliptical positions are bad enough—Neptune right on the Ascendant opposite the Sun and quincunx Mars; Uranus rising opposite Mercury; Ruler, Saturn, sesquare the Moon; etc., but the adverse indications are considerably magnified by the aspects of the planetary Nodes:

The Sun's Node at 15°43' Gemini, Mars' N.Node at 15°48' Gemini, and Uranus' N.Node at 15°53' Gemini, are all conjunct Ecliptical Venus at 16°01' Gemini. Note that Venus rules the 9th House (travel) and the 4th (terminations). Venus' S.Node at 10°59' Virgo is conjunct the 8th Placidian Cusp (deaths) at 11°31' Virgo. Saturn's S.Node at 23°24' Capricorn conjoins the Ascendant, and Pluto's S.Node at 20°06' is just above the Ascendant.

All the above positions have been calculated by Dr. Landscheit's own computer Program, which covers the period 1600 to 2100 and has an accuracy down to seconds of arc. It costs $US35 and is obtainable from him at 11227 Cabot Trail, Belle Côte, N.S. BOEICO, Canada.

—Dymock.

ANSWER TO TEST NO.11

(See Chart, P.3, Issue 178)

The young man died, following two accidents. Miriam Laister's interesting report on this will be given in detail in the next Issue. My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 22 July 1996.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 179 June 1996

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers means your subscription is

MORE ON MISSING TABBATHA

Lyla Williams (Qld) gives her view of what happened to Tabbatha:

In addition to the Natal Chart for Tabbatha, and the 11:10pm Chart for her last sighting [See the May Issue], I also drew up a Chart for the 13th Harmonic, which I believe holds clues to the possibility of a person becoming a victim of violence.

This Chart was very revealing—Aquarius on the Ascendant and Scorpio on the MC, and several combinations of planets pointing to violent events, most notably Mars/Uranus conjunct in Mercury-ruled Gemini, squaring Mercury/Jupiter conjunct in Pisces, they in turn trining Saturn in Cancer and Venus in Scorpio. Venus itself squares the Sun in Leo and is quincunx the Mars/Uranus conjunction. There is also a Moon/Pluto conjunction in Scorpio squaring the Ascendant!

The 13th Harmonic Chart therefore contains five squares and a quincunx, showing it to be a chart of tension.

I find it hard to accept the suggestion that Tabbatha

In This Issue...

	Page
More on missing Tabbatha	1
The Future of Tony Blair.....	2
Bob Dole's Chart—Best Rectification yet! ...	3
Three Harmonic Charts for Bob Dole	4
Test No. 11 (See May Issue, No. 178. p.3)
Closes 16th July!.....	4

was by nature a predictable, thoughtful, safety-conscious young woman. At 20 she had already entered and left one serious relationship, and her actions on the night she disappeared were careless, to say the least—after several hours drinking and dining with friends she set off for an unknown destination, alone, in a car she was not licensed to drive, with no money and without her mobile phone. Her Natal Chart shows her to be a Leo with an Aquarian Jupiter (Retrograde) in her 11th House (gregarious), Pluto, Venus and Uranus all in Libra in her 7th House (wide spectrum of partners, some unusual or even dangerous) and the Moon in Gemini—restless and emotionally changeable.

Mars in her Natal Chart is conjunct the fixed star El-Sheratain (Mars/Saturn) of which Ebertin (Fixed Stars) says, “danger is indicated when acting impulsively and in a foolhardy fashion”. Mars is also squaring her 11th House Jupiter and trining her Sun, which suggests that it is a very important planet indeed in the Chart.

Comparing the disappearance Chart with the Natal Chart I read the sequence of events as follows:

After leaving her friend at 11:10pm Tabbatha changed her mind about going home and started to drive to the nearest coastal town (Saturn in Pisces ruling Neptune in Capricorn in the 9th House). On the way she stopped to pick up a hitchhiker (transiting Mars in her 7th conjunct Natal Uranus). The Progressed Moon at 29°Pisces (anaretic and deceptive) was quincunx her Leo Sun and opposite her Natal Pluto in her 1st House. It makes a mundane opposition to all the 7th-House planets, plus transiting Mars. This “known enemy” at 17° Libra is making only one aspect on the disappearance Chart—a trine to the MC which also happens to be square the midpoint of Tabbatha's Pluto/MC and Venus/MC!

I do not expect that Tabbatha was alive for many more hours as Pluto (27°51' Scorpio) on the disappearance Chart has now trined Jupiter on the 13th Harmonic Chart (27°23' Pisces), squared her Natal Sun (29°9' Leo), opposed the transiting Moon (29°45' Taurus) and trined her Natal Lilith at 26° Cancer.

I believe her car was taken by the hitchhiker and Tabbatha was transported by him—possibly down to the Gold Coast and even interstate. ■

THE FUTURE OF TONY BLAIR

by Allan Johnson

Tony Blair is the man who is widely tipped to be the next British Prime Minister. He is the current Leader of the Labour Party which has been in opposition for the past seventeen years. So from that point of view he is odds-on favourite to win, having stabilized his position in the Party itself. Add to this the fact that John Major, the present P.M. has been having an extremely rocky ride, struggling with a very small majority, and getting a lot of flack from his own Party. So it looks as if a change of government is certain. In these circumstances is it worth while making a prediction? But nothing is really certain until the numbers go up, so it is worth having a look at Blair's Chart to see 'what the stars say'. Incidentally, John Major's Progressed Sun is moving to the conjunction of Uranus. So he is in for a surprise—but what sort of one?

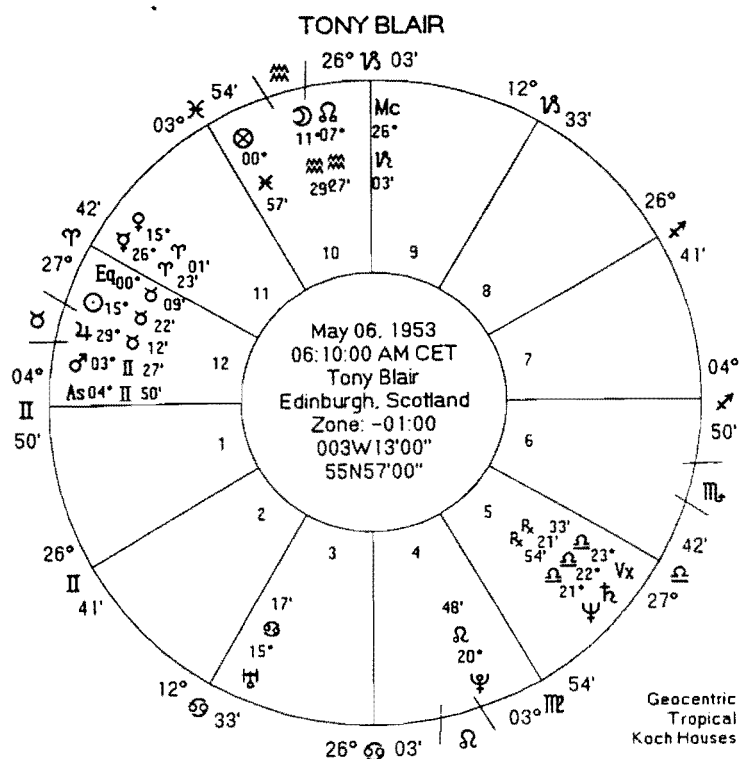

Tony Blair was born on the 6th May, 1953, at 6:10 am in Edinburgh. Scotland is one of those countries that put the time of birth on the birth certificate (which doesn't apply to England or Ireland). So this gives some reliability to the time. At first this Chart is not so easy to come to terms with, and it raises the question of House division. The City of Edinburgh is in a very high latitude (55°57'). The main reason there has been a lot of debate about House division systems is because Placidus does not give such good results for very high latitudes. This is not a live issue so much for Australian astrologers as we don't have any latitudes above 43°. So Placidus can serve us very well. But this is not the case with countries such as Scotland. High latitudes tend to push a chart out of shape and give a high number of intercepted Signs with Placidus. Margaret Hone introduced the Equal House system as a counter to this, but this could be an over-simplification. At about the time I was getting into professional astrology in the '60's the Koch system was developed in Germany, and Koch did claim to have done an immense amount of research into House division systems. So I decided to use the Koch system, and found it did go a long way to overcome the problem of high latitudes. Tony Blair's Chart is a case in point.

We have to decide if the Chart does fit the person as a whole, and how that destiny has worked out. The Placidus system applied to Blair's Chart gives us a heavily-tenanted 12th House, as well as two more planets in the 6th. So what we have is six planets in the Cadent Houses—which I feel is not at all appropriate for an active political leader. We often get famous personalities with a heavily-tenanted 12th, but in most cases these are in the entertainment field, seeing that Neptune is the natural Ruler of the 12th. Politics may be entertaining at times—but that's not what it is supposed to be all about. So re-casting the Chart with the Koch system gets us a more appropriate distribution of planets, though of course the degrees on the Angles remain the same.

Of course, the Sun remains in the 12th House, but this is not a bar in itself to political leadership. Is this Chart valid for a successful political leader? Capricorn on the M.C. certainly figures, but a key point is that Mars is closely conjunct the Ascendant. A Gemini Ascendant is the talker and debater, but Mars makes him the man of action as well. Mars is also closely conjunct Jupiter, and the Jupiter element does reveal itself in his appearance. He comes over as a benign personality, persuasive rather than vituperative or abrasive, as is Paul Keating's style. Having the Sun in the 12th would account for a more subtle or "soft" approach. In his policy he avoids extremism and pushes a Christian background and middle-of-the-road approach, which has drawn a lot of criticism from members of his own Party. I think a lot of this would have much to do with Gemini rising. The Chart has two T-Squares (Sun, Moon, Pluto in Fixed Signs, and Venus, Mercury, Saturn, Neptune, Uranus in Cardinal). T-Squares are frequently a feature in leadership charts as they give the dynamism necessary to get to the top.

The last British General Election was held on 10th April 1992, and with a five-year term the next Election must come up well within the next twelve months. Will this be his hour of destiny? Right now Neptune is right on his M.C., which is very good for mass publicity, but Uranus and Pluto are the planets for dramatic events, and these are both being involved. Uranus has recently crossed his M.C. and in 1997 will conjunct his North Node, which is trine his Natal Mars. This is quite favourable for his prospects. But where destiny is concerned we have to look to Pluto, which played such a strong part in John Howard's victory in the Australian Elections.

Pluto on the Angles can be immensely important, and right now it is in opposition to his Natal Jupiter/Mars conjunction. These are the keys to his political career. The opposition is a most dynamic aspect, and puts him under immense pressure, but it could also accelerate his rise to power.

So my prediction is that Tony Blair will be the next Prime Minister of Britain. ■

BOB DOLE'S CHART

Jack Nicholls (Vic.) writes:

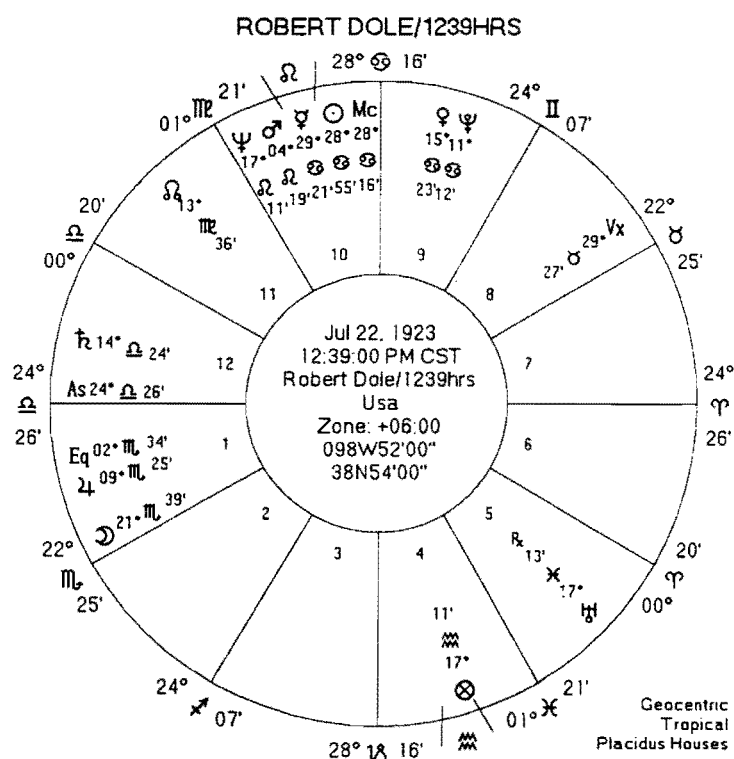

I have discussed the Bob Dole rectification by correspondence with Ross Harvey. He emphasizes that the estimate he obtained using his Solar Technique [see last Issue] is only accurate to an hour either way at best.

Sixteen usable events provided 135 units with the Jigsaw software, to give a time of 12:38 hrs. CST. The planets featured were the Sun, Mars, Jupiter, Uranus, Pluto, Chiron and the North Node. Three only well-defined peaks were obtained, which is excellent with this Program. The Dynamic Chart Display facility was used to look at times of one minute on either side of the 12:38 hrs. estimate, but that time produced the tightest orbs with acceptable Transits to the Angles.

Five events were tried with my Solar-Return method, and the result produced a time of 12:39 hrs., which supports the Jigsaw time, for what it is worth. The Chart has an Ascendant of 24°26' Libra. The only photograph I have seen of the subject is one that appeared in The Bulletin for 12th March 1996, and several characteristics are apparent that support the Libran Rising Sign, according to Laurie Efrein's How to Rectify a Birth Chart. The subject is seen to have long fingers, eyebrows somewhat thick, the space between the brow and eyes wide, the eyeline is low on the face, and the hair tends to be straight.

Furthermore, the time of 12:38 hrs. would agree with Ross's estimate of 13:12 hrs. in view of the accuracy he attributes to it. I offer this time in the hope that it is a plausible one and might allow a correct prediction for the Presidential race. ■

Editor's Note: This Rectification by Jack Nicholls appears to be the most accurate one to date. One good way of testing rectifications is by using Age-Harmonic Charts for specific Events. Three important events in Bob Dole's life were his being wounded in the right shoulder (with spinal injury and subsequent paralysis) on 14th April 1945, his first marriage on 12th June 1948, and the death of his father on 7th December 1975. The Harmonic Charts associated with these events are shown below, each one circumscribed by the Natus, and there are appropriate features in all three of them. What is significant for the accuracy of the rectification is closeness of the appropriate Significators to Cusps, especially to the Angles, as also conjunctions with what I call the True Harmonic Midheaven—not only the one derived from the Harmonic Ascendant.

Chart 1: 21st Harmonic, & Birth Chart

In Chart No. 1 (for the wounding), Natal Mars and Mercury are conjunct Harmonic Saturn on the 6th Cusp (health), while the Moon on the 8th Cusp (traumatic experiences) is square the conjunction of Harmonic Mars and Uranus. Mars and Uranus spell gunshot or other injury.

Chart 2: 24th Harmonic, & Birth Chart

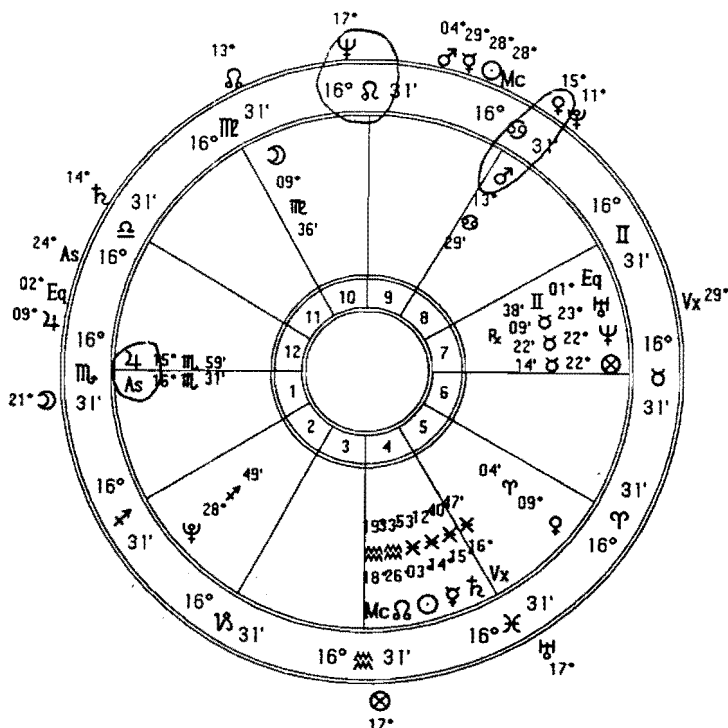

Chart 2, for Bob Dole's first marriage, has Jupiter conjunct the Ascendant and the Natal Moon, which is typical of marriage. Physical attraction is indicated by Harmonic Mars conjunct Natal Venus and Pluto, on the 9th Cusp. The 5th House (romance) is accented by the Harmonic Vertex, Saturn and Mercury plus Natal Uranus all conjunct the Cusp, while Natal Neptune, ruling the 5th conjoins the Midheaven..

Chart 3: 52nd Harmonic, & Birth Chart

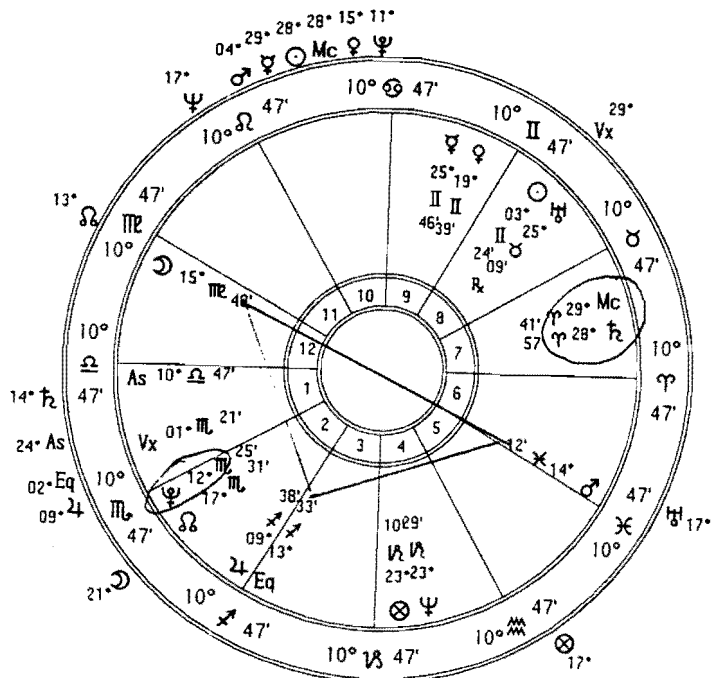

Chart 3, for the death of Bob Dole's father, has several indications of this: Saturn is conjunct the Harmonic True MC (29°41' Aries) and Harmonic Pluto sits on the 2nd-8th axis. The Natal Sun is closely square to Harmonic Saturn, which is typical of a father's death, but this does not of itself validate the time of birth because neither body is connected with a Cusp or other sensitive point. Loss and sorrow is shown by the Moon in the 12th House conjunct the Natal Node on the 12th Cusp, opposite Mars and square to the Equatorial Ascendant. The Equatorial Ascendant is the sensitive point that permits this aspect to be used for validating the birth time. ■

READERS MAKE HASTE! 16th July is the last day for sending your thoughts on Test No.11 in the May Issue ("What Happened..."). Send your answers to Miriam Laister, 8 Plaza Avenue, Sellicks Beach, South Australia 5174. Anyone getting the correct answer will receive a free year's subscription to Astrologers' Forum. This is the way to develop your astrological skills. So, have a go!

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 1st July 1996.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 178 May 1996

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers means your subscription is more than two months overdue.

WHAT HAPPENED TO TABBATHA HODGE?

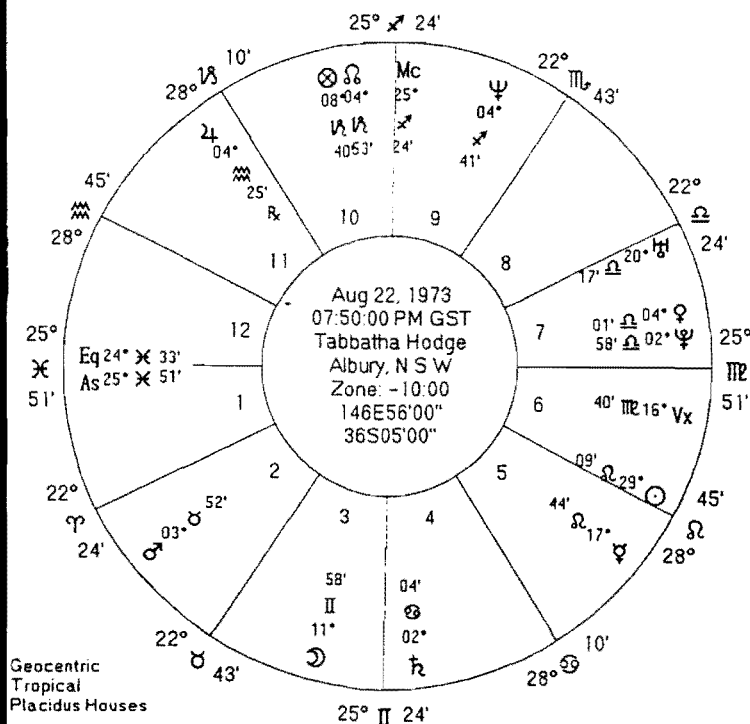

In the last issue the question was posed to readers, "What happened to Tabbatha Hodge on 18th August 1995?". Tabbatha disappeared mysteriously on that date. Her photo appears above, and her Birth Chart in the adjoining column.

So far, only two readers have responded to the challenge, apart from my own analysis. From their extensive investigations of the Birth Chart and Cyclic Charts, both Jillian Boton (Tas.) and Ross Harvey

In This Issue...

	Page
Analysis of the Tabbatha Hodge Mystery.....	1
More about Pluto.....	2
Neptune and Water.....	2
Test No. 11.....	3
Pluto Again.....	3
Bob Dole, Presidential Candidate.....	4

TABBATHA HODGE

(NSW) conclude that Tabbatha is dead.

Jillian used the Chart for Tabbatha's leaving the home of Olivia at 11:10pm on 18th August (see next page), as the the Chart of Olivia saying goodbye to her friend, Tabbatha. Jillian then reads the 11th House as the Ascendant of Tabbatha. Pisces on the Cusp correlates with Tabbatha's Natal Ascendant, and puts the Venus/Sun conjunction (focal point of the Yod—Venus, Saturn, Neptune) in the 6th House (health and employment) which confirms her quitting work earlier that day. Mars in the 8th House (death) is parallel Pluto, planet of death. As Mars is in Libra, the Sign of partnership, Jillian infers that Tabbatha may have met her death through violence at the hands of another. The Moon-Pluto opposition suggests turmoil whilst travelling as it overlays her 3rd/9th travel Houses. The square to Venus ruling the derived 8th House is misfortune while travelling. Tabbatha's Rulers, Saturn and Neptune, could indicate that drugs, alcohol or toxic gases played a part. The MC of the moment (14°36' Aquarius) moves forward to re-ignite Venus/Sun/Moon at 24°25' of Leo and Taurus. This would have happened approximately 40 minutes from the moment she was last sighted.

Ross Harvey thinks that the combination of planets activated by Solar-Return Mars suggests a sexual assault (Venus, Mars and Pluto), emphasized by the Solar-Return Moon, ruling the 4th House, being in the Radical 12th. If the Solar Return is re-located to the place of residence the 8th Cusp is conjunct Pluto and square the Sun. Ross's guess is that Tabbatha drove away, probably a long way, from where she was, and perhaps from where she said she was going, and that a friend or acquaintance who may not have been known to her family or other friends was involved.

For my own analysis I have also used the above Chart for Tabbatha's departure from Olivia's place, treating it straightforwardly as the commencement of her journey.

The Ascendant, its Ruler and the Moon represent Tabbatha. Taurus rises, so Venus is Tabbatha's personal Significator, with the Moon as Co-

Significator. Both are prominently placed in Angles. The Moon is Void of Course, showing the journey was not completed.

It is fairly obvious that Tabbatha is no longer among the living: The Moon is opposed by Pluto ("The Destroyer") and by Jupiter, ruling the House of Death, and is also sesquare to Mars, while Venus is in a Yod with the two major malefics, Saturn and Pluto.

It is this last configuration—the Moon quincunx both Saturn and Neptune—that to my mind spells out what happened to Tabbatha: She has drowned. No human agency was at work except her own careless driving, shown by the Moon ruling the 3rd House (cars) opposite Jupiter. As the Moon was also opposed by Pluto, and Venus is quincunx Neptune I would say Tabbatha was under the influence of alcohol, which destroyed her judgement and led to her death.

Apparently Tabbatha lost control of her car and, somewhere along the way home, ran off the road into the sea or other water hazard. Judging from the Moon's applying distance to the opposition of Jupiter, I estimate the accident would have occurred about six minutes after Tabbatha left Olivia's place, which may give the police and searchers an indication of where to look along the coast line.

—Dymock.

MORE ABOUT PLUTO

Miriam Laister (S.A.) reports an effect of Pluto transiting the 4th Cusp (the home): In the process of laying some pavers a builder was wheeling a barrow full of dolomite to the work area when he found himself being dragged into a hole. The heavy weight had gone through the crust of an old septic tank that no one knew was there. The builder obviously did not have a Mars Transit as he was badly shaken but unhurt.

NEPTUNE AND WATER

A client who had the Neptune/Uranus conjunction on her Solar Return I.C. was told by Miriam that she may move house and that there might be problems with water in the home. A recent letter from the client said she had fallen in love and unexpectedly moved interstate. Her new home has been plagued with water problems. The client reported that taps leak, water has come into the bedroom, flooding the carpet—builder's fault. An old washing machine leaked gallons of water on the floor, and they have not tapered the floor—nor in the shower recess—so the water doesn't go away very easily. An air-conditioner has a blocked overflow pipe so water stays inside and goes all down the wall.

The fishtank sprang a leak after Christmas when they were not at home—70-80 litres of water everywhere. Luckily it is all tiled and the fish were in 6" of water. The storm-water pipe from the roof is not sealed, so the torrential downpours come onto the balcony. The 'fridge also leaks water!

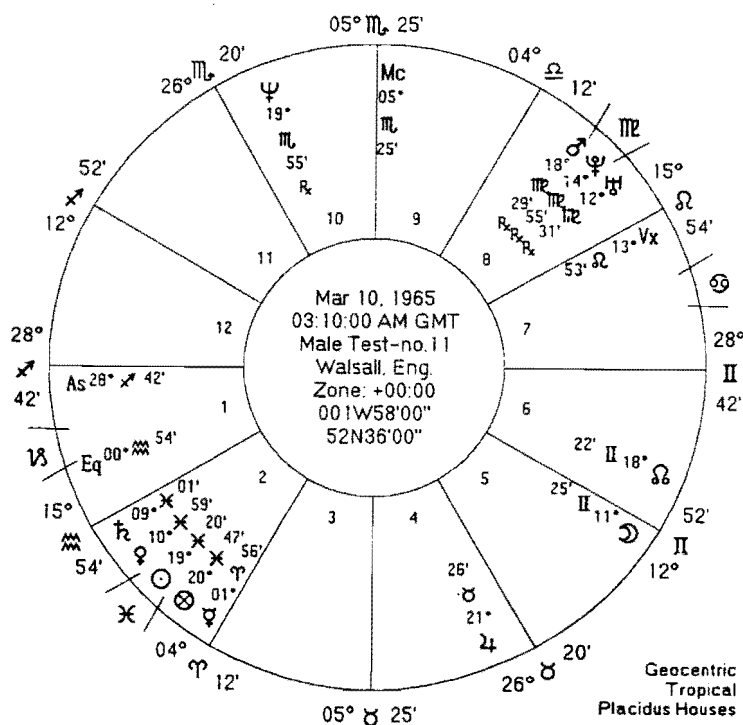

Miriam says that the client's re-location chart for Darwin has Neptune on the I.C. ■

Miriam has submitted this further Test (below) of the What Happened variety to exercise your skills. Please send your answers to Miriam Laister, Editor, The Cosmic Experience, 8 Plaza Avenue, Sellicks Beach, South Australia 5174. Correct answers will be published, and rewarded with a year's subscription to Astrologers' Forum. The closing date for entries is 16th July 1996.

TEST NO.11

Male born 10th March 1965 at Walsall, England
52N36, 1W58, 3:10am GMT

MALE TEST-NO.11

What happened to him on 20th October 1984, about 2am, in Adelaide?

Here are some biographical details that will put you in the picture: At the time of the incident the young man was unemployed. He had no particular work training. His hobbies were motor cross and scuba diving. He had two living parents and a sister; no children, but his fiancée had a young baby who is not his natural child but was accepted by all concerned as his, and would bear his name. ■

PLUTO AGAIN

Pluto's Stations from January 1996, and for the next few years, are all in Sagittarius and are—

3°07' on 5th March 1996,
0°20' on 10th August 1996,
5°36' on 8th March 1997,
2°50' on 13th August 1997,
8°04' on 11th March 1998,
5°18' on 16th August 1998,
10°30' on 14th March 1999,
7°44' on 19th August 1999.

Jenifer Pommerin (W.A.) writes:

About the Station of Pluto: My husband has Natal Sun 3°20', Jupiter 3°51', Moon 8°25', all in Sagittarius and in the 9th House, square to Saturn at 3°49' Pisces. Because the Transit of Pluto is there right up to October 1999 I can't make a full report on its effect, but two events out of the usual were my going overseas for two weeks, and on the day I went he won $500 on a Scratch and Match. I "disappeared", and money "appeared".

A strange coincidence is that while I was away my husband had an experience similar to Margaret Millard's [see last Issue]: In the pre-dawn he got out of bed and looked out of the window to check the weather. He saw lightning flashes across a pitch-black sky. He looked again, puzzled, and saw trees framed against a grey sky with some clouds. For about ten seconds he had been totally blind. When he asked the doctor about this, the answer was "a drop in blood pressure". Neptune at 27°25' Capricorn was directly opposite Natal Pluto.

In myths, Pluto owns the Helmet of Invisibility (so can't be sighted at times), and is associated with darkness.

Other Transits were the conjunction of Mars and Saturn in trine to Natal Pluto. Uranus was square to Natal Uranus. Natal Uranus and Natal Pluto are in aspect to the Natal Sun and Jupiter, the Ruler of the Sun Sign, so perhaps there was a triggering effect there.

This year Pluto is square to my MC and trine to Natal Venus. A major event was my going to India to see Sai Baba (something I never thought to do, and which was a struggle to accomplish). Once I was there everything was so much more pleasureable than anticipated. Transiting Jupiter was conjunct Natal Jupiter, so there was this influence as well.

I am also winding up several activities in which for many years I was heavily involved. [Typical Pluto effect.—Ed.] There is a sense of release, and even joy, because I don't have to do "that" any more. ■

[Other readers are invited to send in their experiences with Pluto. —Ed.]

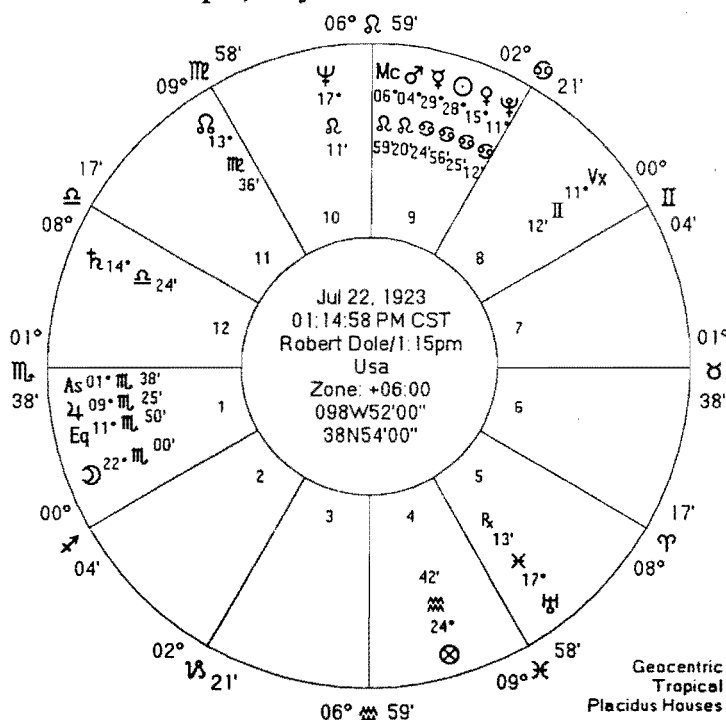

BOB DOLE

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE FOR THE U.S. PRESIDENCY

November 5, 1996, is the U.S. Election Day, and one of the contenders is Senator Robert Dole—the chief threat to President Bill Clinton.

Unfortunately, Bob Dole's birth time is unknown. Nick Sutherland (USA) writes that the office headquarters of Bob Dole did not answer Lois Rodden's query about his birth time.

Nick has furnished an extensive list of events in Bob Dole's life, and has come up with a speculative time of 1:14:58 pm CST, with 1°38' Scorpio on the Ascendant. This Chart appears below. Ross Harvey (NSW), applying his Solar-Return Technique, has arrived at a time of 1:12pm, only three minutes different.

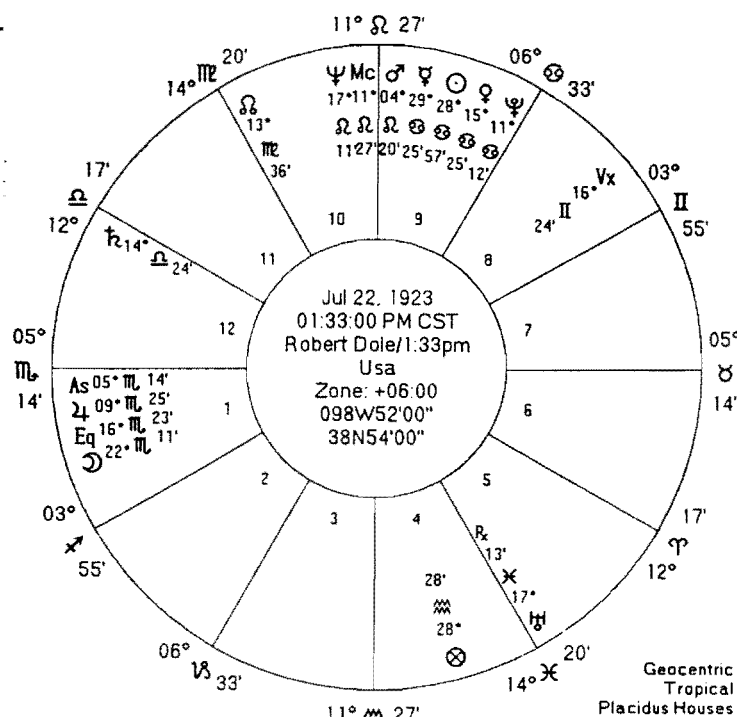

Using the following list of dated events supplied by Nick, I have come up with the Chart in the next column, not vastly different but with 5°14' Scorpio on the Ascendant which is closely square to Mars, correlating with Bob Dole's war injuries.

14 Dec 1942: Signed up for the Army's Enlisted Reserve Corps.

14 Apr 1945: Wounded in right shoulder.

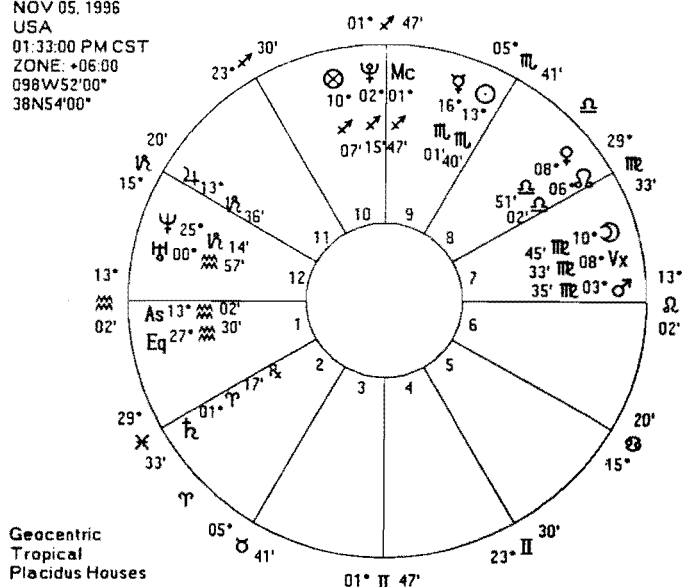

11 July 1945: Right kidney removed.

18 Oct 1945: Birth of daughter, Robin.

- 3 Jan 1963: Took oath as U.S. Senator.
- 14 Apr 1969: First speech in Senate.
- 11 Jan 1972: Divorce.
- 6 Dec 1975: Married Eliz. Hanford, b. 20 Jul 1963.
- 7 Dec 1975: Father died (heart attack).
- Feb 1981: Kidney stone removed.
- 5 Sep 1983: Mother died in hospital (heart attack).
- 9 Nov 1987: Withdrew his candidacy for President.
- 18 Dec 1991: Surgery to remove prostate.
- 10 Apr 1995: Declared his candidacy for President.

DAY 5 NOV 1996 BOB DOLE
NOV 05, 1996
USA
01:33:00 PM CST
ZONE: +06:00
098W52'00"
38N54'00"

The above is Bob Dole's Day-Chart for the date of the U.S. Election, 5 Nov 1996. It is based on the speculative birth time of 1:33pm. What conclusions do you draw?

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 1 Jun 1996.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 177 April 1996

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers means your subscription is more than two months overdue.

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

Mrs Brenda Bellamy (Qld) has written enlisting the help of Astrologers' Forum readers about a mystery disappearance of a woman in Queensland, Australia, last August. Here is the story in Brenda's own words:

TABBATHA HODGE

born 22nd August 1973, 7:50pm

Albury, NSW

(Time verified by Hospital Records)

Tabbatha was last seen on 18th August 1995, at 11:10pm, driving away from Yango Street, Pacific Paradise, Mudjimba, Qld., in a silver-grey Ford Laser Sports. The car has not been found.

As this case is now six months old I have included a thumb-nail report of all the data I have received from her mother, Vivienne Hodge.

I have double-checked everything herein with Mrs Hodge, and I am satisfied that it is correct.

With your help and the Forum members' expertise we might be able to shed some new light on the case.

I have spent hours on the phone with Mrs Hodge, not only collecting data, but also explaining how responsible astrologers work—given correct times and places we are able to envisage probable scenarios. If enough of us can come up with similar clues that have not already been explored, of course she will bring them to the attention of the police.

Mrs Hodge appeals for complete honesty—that nobody “pulls their punches” to spare her feelings. I have reassured her we deal in recognized scientific data that can be found in any reputable astrological book—fact, not fantasy. She appears to be very realistic, and knows that the longer this case goes on the less chance there is of a positive outcome; she has an excellent rapport with the police who work closely with her on any ‘X-File’ (clairvoyants'/astrologers' material). Like Mrs Hodge, they are prepared to look at any theories. Over eighty clairvoyants have been in touch with her during the last six months.

In the months prior to her disappearance Tabbatha burned up a lot of energy and kilometres catching up with relatives and friends she'd lost track of. She also

In This Issue...

	Page
Mystery disappearance of Tabbatha Hodge	1
Birth Horoscope of Tabbatha Hodge	3
A Fright from Neptune	3
The Power of Pluto	4

terminated her ‘live-in’ relationship. Although they no longer lived together they remained friends and continued to be an ‘item’ for some weeks. This behaviour reminds me, as an ex-nurse, of the ‘leave-taking’ pattern of behaviour that is commonly exhibited by either terminally ill patients or people suffering from endogenous depression. According to the professionals Tabbatha did not fit into either of these categories.

Tabbatha had many friends but no known enemies. To this day a lot of her friends keep in close touch with her mother, seeking news and/or emotional support.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

EMPLOYMENT

Tabbath was employed by the Kings Beach Tavern Hotel, Caloundra, Qld. She had a second, casual, job at a Surf shop, which she resigned on 18th August 1995, the day she disappeared.

PERSONAL RELATIONSHIPS

Many friends, both sexes. Heterosexual. Predominantly long-term friendships; loyalty on both sides.

In January 1995 ended live-in relationship; had known the man for some time and had been living together with him for four months. Despite the break-up the friendship continued. She spent part of the weekend before her disappearance in his company, fishing.

At the time of her Solar Return in 1994 she was living at Caboolture, Qld., but moved to Wurtulla, Caloundra, Qld. in early July 1995. Here she shared a house with a male ‘flat-mate’—not an emotional set-up, a financial arrangement only. No current relationship; had made new friends on the coast—Olivia, who worked in the same shopping arcade, and a couple of males her mother hadn't met.

HABITS

Predictable. Always told people who she was with, where she was going, who she would be with, how long she expected to be there. When she visited her mother she tended to ring first. This behaviour pattern appears to have been instilled into all the Hodge children. It was second-nature to her to announce her plans, and she rarely deviated from them once made, again not without announcing her new intentions.

Her mother had recently spoken to her about her lack of attention to her diet, and suggested she should reduce her alcohol consumption, advice she agreed to take.

Safety-conscious. Locked her parked car, avoided driving in unfamiliar/dark areas at night, never been known to pick up hitch-hikers, carried a mobile telephone—except on 18th August 1995...

Emotionally, had her ups and downs, but her mother feels no more so than anyone else.

Mentally stable, not depressed. Had sufficient confidence to 'know' she would be able to find another casual job in the near future. No money problems. Had arranged a birthday celebration party to be held at her new abode (Wurtulla). The invitations she sent out said "7pm on 19/8/95". Although she had lost her licence she did drive the car on occasions.

Physically, enjoyed good health; social drinker (never drank alone); not involved in drugs—if anything, 'anti-drugs'; had one cardinal rule she lived by—never had sexual intercourse during menses; known to be menstruating on the 18th.

Currently, was undergoing dental treatment (grinding her teeth during sleep). Panadol prescribed for pain; was taken only when necessary.

People involved in the evening out: Tabbatha, Olivia, three female friends of Olivia's whom Tabbatha had not met before. They all travelled in one car—Olivia's. Both Tabbatha's and the other females' cars were left in Yango Street, Paradise Point, Mudjimba. Some time during the evening Tabbatha borrowed $1.50 from Olivia to pay the Sunshine Motorway Toll fee, the road that would take her home to Wurtulla. If she had planned on going home to her mother's house she would have needed another 50c for the second toll fee. She had a $50 note in her purse, but no small change. She left her bank book, A.T.M. card and mobile phone at home (Wurtulla), the latter in case she 'lost' it. Her mother now has both the bank book and card, and her account has been frozen. No attempt has been made to withdraw money from it.

18TH AUGUST 1995

Tabbatha went to her casual job (Surf Shop) in the morning. Hadn't really settled into this job—felt it didn't come up to the standards she expected. She had been used to working in a Southern store (the further North one goes the more relaxed and friendly trade becomes).

Shortly before lunch she resigned and left the premises (no argument reported). She waited for Olivia to finish her shift at 3pm. Olivia drove Tabbatha's car to the suburb of Mooloolaba where they had a drink and played a game of Pool. They went from there to Tabbatha's home in Wurtulla where she changed her clothes, rang the Kings Beach Tavern Hotel and told them she wouldn't be coming in because she was sick. She paid her rent before they left to go to Olivia's house, arriving at Yango Street at approximately 6pm. The other three females arrived around 7pm. After the introductions they decided to go to Noosa for dinner. They wine and dined at the Cafe Lamond, leaving the restaurant shortly before 9:30pm, and went to the bar next door where they had a couple of beers. From there they went on to a local nightclub. While there Tabbatha consumed a Bourbon.

They left for home shortly after 10:30pm. The journey home took approximately 30 minutes.

They discussed going on to another nightclub (in Mooloolaba), but en route one of them became ill, and they abandoned the idea. One of the females was dropped off at home in Coolumb, and the remaining four arrived back at Olivia's at approximately 11pm. Olivia's friends departed. Tabbatha and Olivia stood talking on the drive (this could be when she borrowed the money for the toll fee). As Tabbatha climbed into her car Olivia climbed into her own car, parked behind Tabbatha's. Both cars reversed out of the narrow driveway onto the street. As Tabbatha drove away she tooted her horn and waved to Olivia who then drove into the empty parking bay. The time was approximately 11:10pm.

Tabbatha has never been seen since then.

To enter the Motorway Tabbatha would have to make a right-hand turn off Yango Street (Pacific Paradise, Mudjimba, Qld) heading towards Ocean View Drive. In less than one minute she would have reached the David Low Way intersection and entered the slipway road leading onto the Motorway. As the motorist has a clear view of on-coming traffic from their right-hand side it is doubtful that she would have been required to come to a full stop at this junction. This is not a busy road as most of the traffic now uses the nearby Motorway, furthermore no aeroplanes landed at the Aigret on the night of the 18th of August.

It wasn't until nineteen and a half hours later (19th August 1995) that anyone realized Tabbatha was missing. At 6:45pm her friend, Jackie, rang from Wurtulla asking Vivienne (Tabbatha's mother) "Where's Tabb?" Apart from her stomach "churning over" Vivienne was not alarmed at this stage. She was running late to pick up her youngest daughter from a friend's.

At 7:15pm there was another phone call, this time from Tabbatha's brother, Mitch, "Where's Tabb?". Vivienne was now very alarmed. She rang all of Tabbatha's friends. At 7:45pm Vivienne rang the police and reported her missing.

THE SEARCH

Maroochydhore C.I.B have eliminated both the suicide and runaway theories in this case. From Day One they have treated it as a homicide. They have left no stone unturned in their attempts to solve the case. Nightclub staff and patrons both in Noosa and Mooloolaba have been interviewed. Likewise family, friends and acquaintances have also been eliminated. Police divers have dragged umpteen waterways. Helicopters have scoured the local terrain which is heavy with cane fields, all of which have now been 'burned off' (harvested) in the last six months. Police, volunteers and the public have walked the length of the Motorway, but there has been no trace of Tabbatha or her car. Likewise, the terrain leading to her mother's home has also been searched to no avail. A $50,000 reward failed to reveal anything new.

So now the case is referred to Astrologers' Forum. Tabbatha Hodge's Birth Horoscope appears in the next column. Readers are asked to apply their knowledge and skills and offer their solutions to the mystery of Tabbatha's disappearance. I look forward to receiving them. Excellent submissions will be published and rewarded with subscriptions or extensions of existing subscriptions. No time limit is set. Just think and write as soon as you can.

—Ed.

A FRIGHT FROM NEPTUNE

Margaret Millard (Eng.) writes:

A very interesting thing happened to me. I never believed in Astro-Cartography, but now I do! I had mine done, and noticed that my Natal Neptune is on the Ascendant in Perth. "Maybe I'll meet some Neptunian astrologers!" I thought.

But this is what actually happened. As soon as we got to our hotel in Perth I went swimming. The hotel pool was very cold. I swam five lengths, and half-way through the sixth I felt chilled, so I turned around and swam back to the shallow end. As I reached the steps that led up to where Ben [husband] was sitting I suddenly became blind—all I could see was a kaleidoscope of colour like a honeycomb, with a pattern of green and purple.

I said, "Ben, I'm blind!" and he got up and came to help me to a chair. But I fell across the table and was rolling onto the floor—concrete, of course—when he grabbed me and laid me down. My eyes were open and staring, fixed, unseeing. I was as pale as a ghost, completely limp and icy-cold. I had no pulse or respiration. Ben thought I was dead.

But I came out of it after about five hours in semi-coma. Putting up the Chart, I found that the only planet that aspected any of mine was Neptune, in 27° Capricorn. My South Node is 27° Cancer, with my Venus and Saturn. And my Natal Sun in 13°53' Virgo was in opposition to the Transiting Mars/Saturn midpoint in 13°53' Pisces. And Ben's Sun is in 13° Sagittarius.

So how about that for Neptune?

I was checked out when we got home, and my electrocardiogram was normal, and all my blood tests. I seem to be OK.

The final conclusion was that it was a reflex action due to the cold water which set up a series of events in the brain. My blood-pressure must have dropped, and my pulse was on 40 instead of 80 when it finally came back. I was ice-cold and pale because the blood was keeping my internal organs warm, not my skin. And my brain was asleep.

One of the effects of Neptune is unconsciousness. It rules anaesthesia, sleep and coma. ■

PLUTO'S POWER

I have already received several responses to my request in the last Issue for illustrations of the working of Pluto. This was prompted by the recent Station of Pluto at 3°7' Sagittarius on 5th March. Here are some of the results already recorded. More comments from readers are awaited.

Lilian Erskine (NSW) reports that coinciding with Pluto Stationary trine the Sun and the MC, she acquired an extra, interesting sideline through work—assisting the Marketing Co-ordinator of Blue Mountains Tourism in setting up and establishing a film/image library for the Blue Mountains—a line of work that she finds interesting and enjoyable.

Lilian's niece has the Sun and Venus conjunct the MC in the early degrees of Leo, where they are trine to Stationary Pluto. The niece had a breakdown approximately 1 year ago and couldn't continue in the line of work she had chosen (dental nursing). She returned home and applied—successfully—for a fine arts degree she had always wanted to do. This has totally transformed her life. She is happy, succeeding at what she loves, has a new circle of friends and someone she is romantically interested in. It is a total transformation—Pluto at its best, developing latent talents and abilities in a very dramatic way.

[Lilian writes also, "I am curious to see if your readers have noticed any differences in effectiveness/achievement potential in people that can be ascribed to predominant types of aspects in the nativity, e.g. Stelliums, Oppositions, Squares, Trines, etc.; or Aspects to Asc/Dsc or MC/IC, versus no Aspects to these points in the chart." Readers' comments will be welcome. —Ed.]

Ethel Bundell (W.A.) has had stationary Pluto conjunct the Moon in her Natal Chart. The drama of Pluto has been prominent. There have been dramatic disturbances in the family. Without going into the details, suffice it to say that her son's ex-wife has had manic episodes of major proportions, and a daughter has suffered what must be described as schizophrenic attacks. [This is an illustration of the "splitting" effect of Pluto, which I have previously observed with schizophrenics. —Ed.]

Ethel also records that in May/June 1995, when Transiting Pluto was trine Venus in her Natal Chart, she and husband demolished the existing garden, sending all shrubs, etc., to the rubbish tip, and had the whole thing landscaped—no more lawn, winding paths and garden beds. This was a nice Plutonic exercise—destruction and regeneration!

In my own life Pluto is square my Ascendant and Ruling Planet (Mercury), as a result of which I find myself booked for surgery of the prostate, hernia repairs and possible heart-bypass. Pluto's connection with surgery is well established.

Pluto has also been instrumental in completely changing my environment after 23 years, moving from one Australian State to another—from a rural to an urban setting, a transformation that is clearly starting me on a new phase of life (Pluto = endings and beginnings).

Miriam Laister (S.A.) who edits The Cosmic Experience, an attractive and informative astrological newsletter in booklet form has submitted the following observations on Pluto, taken from her Moon Notes.

Pluto on an Angle: One-parent family, or one parent distant and not involved with the child.

Pluto aspecting Venus or the Moon in a male chart: Marries a woman like his mother.

Pluto in the 6th or 12th House, particularly when aspecting the M.C.: Likely career in medicine or healing.

Pluto quincunx the Ascendant: Possible self-destructive tendencies.

Pluto-Mars-Saturn conjunction: Strong energies which need patience to deal with.

Pluto-Transits of Personal Points can indicate skin problems, as with Saturn. Pluto-Transits can also indicate tumours, not necessarily malignant.

Pluto in the 2nd House: Finances uncertain.

Pluto conjunct Jupiter: Leadership qualities.

Pluto conjunct the 7th Cusp: Marriage break-up.

[Miriam, 8 Plaza Avenue, Sellicks Beach, S.A. 5174.
Phone or fax, 085 574029.]

Remember you have until 15th May to send your attempts at Test No. 10 in the last Issue.

My kind regards to all,

—Dymock, 13th April 1996.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 176 March 1996.

Tel. 61 08 336 1956. Fax 61 08 336 1600.

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is two months or more overdue.

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

The Liberal/National Coalition won the Federal Election as predicted. Allan Johnson here adds a few more thoughts to the result:

POSTSCRIPT TO THE ELECTION

by Allan Johnson

I always think that the personal Charts of the leaders of the rival parties in an election can be the most important in election predictions. This is where we are dealing with human destiny itself, and being elected Prime Minister can be such a powerful event. And where fate or destiny is concerned, Pluto can be such a compelling influence. This was shown clearly enough in the recent history of the Royal Family.

Having done a lot of professional predictive work, I have always found Transits in themselves very effective, but have also found Secondary Progressions very useful as a back-up. In particular, the Progressed Sun can give a long-range account of a person's progress through life. A thing I have focussed a lot of research on is the Progression of the Sun through decanates of each Sign. This can be very impressive. I have done a lot of research with the biographies of notable people, and have often been amazed at how accurate their life stories line up.

The Progressed Sun hitting the Cusp of a new decanate can be particularly worth watching. And this applies to Paul Keating. In 1996 his Progressed Sun is in 19° of Pisces, and therefore right on the Cusp of the Scorpio decanate. And what does Scorpio and its Ruler Pluto represent? Endings and new beginnings. How appropriate for not only his defeat in the Election—but the ending of his political career. Where will he go from here? Seeing he is only 52 and has Aries rising as well as a Capricorn Sun, he is unlikely to simply put his feet up and rest on his laurels. So he will feel impelled to get into other pursuits as Bob Hawke has done. In that case it could mean a Scorpio orientation, and what that means. It might mean a role in the United Nations.

But to go back to Keating's Chart for the Elections, I think the most significant Transit is Pluto, stationary, and in opposition to the Natal Uranus/Mars conjunction. This can be a shock-creating aspect, a stroke of destiny. So Pluto played a major part in his defeat.

In This Issue...

	Page
Postscript to the Election	1
Astrology and Homoeopathy	1
Test No.10—Sorting	2
Wanted—Readers' Observations on Pluto..	2
Could Fellow-Worker's Death be Foreseen?	3

To go on to John Howard's Chart, we have Progressed Mars conjunct Natal Mars—thus stirring up the whole T-Square pattern, resulting in a 'make-or-break' situation. But in addition there are the other very powerful Transits which key in on the same pattern, and which I dealt with in my previous article twelve months ago—Transiting Uranus opposite his Natal Sun/Pluto, which indicated a shock result, plus Pluto trining both planets also. It was an incredible line-up, activating the Grand Trine as well as the T-Square, so it had to be a highly dramatic event, which is more appropriate for a landslide than a narrow win. It had to be a 'make or break' drama, which it turned out to be. I think you will never get half-measures where Pluto is concerned. So it was a gladiatorial contest—each would end his career in the event of losing—but of course well-cushioned from a financial point of view. ■

ASTROLOGY AND HOMOEOPATHY

Homoeopaths regard their calling as the true art of healing, and those who practise it in conjunction with their Astrology will be interested in the following ideas from Radu Serban, who is a doctor of medicine in N.S.W. In his own words—

I've had a thought for a long time regarding one way of combining Astrology with Homoeopathy to increase the efficacy of healing. The principle is simple. Whatever the problem is, as well as selecting the homoeopathic remedy, you make an astrological diagnosis based on the Transits or Progressions that are 'causing' the problem. Typically, one would expect a malefic natal syndrome to be activated by another malefic Progression and/or Transit. The key then is to pick one or more points on the Chart that provide 'relief' to the causal syndrome by forming harmonious Aspects to all of the problem planets involved. Then the homoeopathic remedy is taken at times when the Asc, MC, Moon or any other appropriate planet passes that point.

For example, in 1990 my mother had a series of disasters within a month of each other, around May/June. First, she fell and broke her wrist. A few weeks later the house was ransacked and robbed. A few days later she fell, broke her hip, and had emergency surgery. A few days later she was dying from post-operative complications.

I can't remember exact dates but essentially what happened was—

Natal Sun opposite Uranus was activated by Solar-Arc Progression of Pluto (opposite Uranus, conjunct Sun/Mercury) along roughly the 19° Virgo-Pisces axis.

Then, according to the principles I'm postulating the relieving points would be 19° of Taurus, Cancer, Virgo, Capricorn, so that homoeopathic remedies such as Arnica, Hypericum or Symphytum would be administered when the Ascendant, Midheaven, Moon, Sun or Jupiter passed over these points.

Perhaps further refinements, following this example, would be Hypericum when the 19° Virgo point was activated (as both Virgo and Hypericum correspond to surgery, and Symphytum when the Capricorn point was activated (as Capricorn has the best correspondence to bones). One of my mother's complications was uncontrolled diabetes—the Taurus point would relate there.

When a case is complicated so that a number of remedies seem indicated, perhaps this approach could be used to determine the best time to give each individual remedy, or if a single constitutional remedy is used, the nature of the problem would determine the optimum astrological point for its administration.

To conclude the story about Radu's mother, though the above method was not tested out in this instance, Radu writes—

"I did a very intense distant healing on her (I was in Sydney and she in Melbourne), and the following day she turned the corner, having also had a 'mystical experience'! This was particularly significant because (1) it came about 18 hours after I did the healing, and (2) she didn't 'believe in these things'. She then made a slow painful recovery over about a year". ■

TEST NO 10—SORTING

On the adjacent page are the Birth Charts of four women. Two of them are sisters. All are married.

Three of them are, or were, teachers.

One is a high-school English/History teacher, with a son and a daughter.

One is a former primary-school teacher, with a son and a daughter and three step-sons.

One is a part-time art teacher, with two sons.

The fourth woman is a part-time office worker, with two daughters.

Can you find which is which?

Which, in particular, is the non-teacher?

Which are the sisters?

Send your answers to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia 2704, not later than 15th May 1996. Only correct entries, astrologically based, will be published. They will be rewarded as follows:

For an answer correct in all particulars—12 months extension of subscription.

For finding the non-teacher—3 months extension of subscription. ■

WANTED: READERS' OBSERVATIONS ON PLUTO

Pluto was Stationary, turning retrograde, at 3°7' Sagittarius on 5th March 1996. If it was conjunct, opposite, square, trine, sextile, quincunx (150°), sesquare (135°) or semisquare (45°) any planet or important Zodiacal point in your Natal Chart, you can add to our understanding of this planet by writing to the Editor and telling us your observations of its effects. Typical Keywords of Pluto (according to the context and the particular Significator aspected) are—Critical juncture; crisis. Important new phase.

Fundamental change. Transformation. Isolation.

Emotional upheaval. Drama.

Resuscitation. Rejuvenation. Streamlining.

Splitting.

Investigation, probing, delving, detecting, bringing to the surface.

Eliminating, discarding, cleansing, disposing of waste.

Revivals from the past. Karmic results.

Purgation. Surgery. Destruction. Death.

How did Pluto affect you? Write and tell us. Your comments will be published unless you indicate otherwise. Remember that the more thought and effort you put into your Astrology the more significant and meaningful it will become.

—Dymock.

CORRECTION

In the Uranian Astrology article, page 7 of Issues 172/173, the position of transiting Jupiter on August 11, 1994, was 7°3' Scorpio, translating to 37°3', not

CHART 1, TEST-10

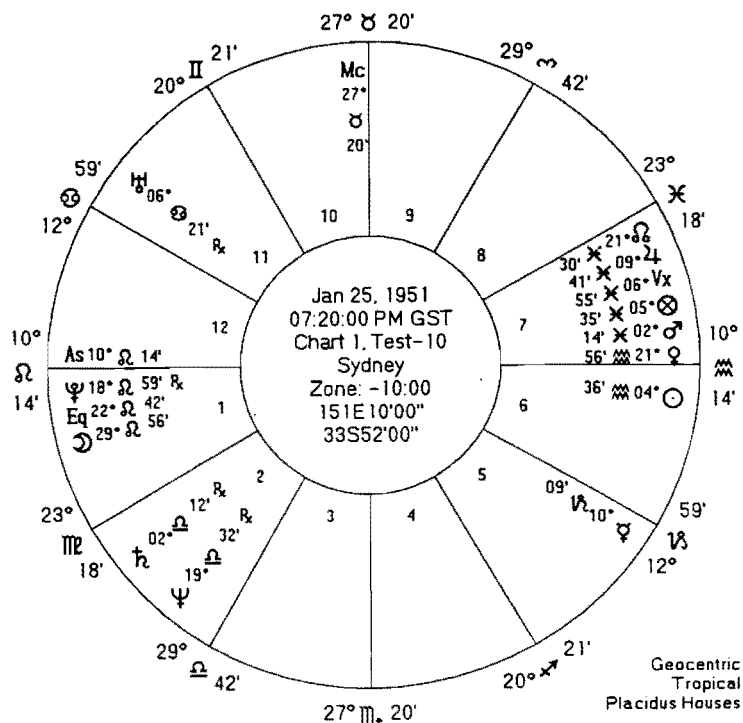

CHART 3, TEST-10

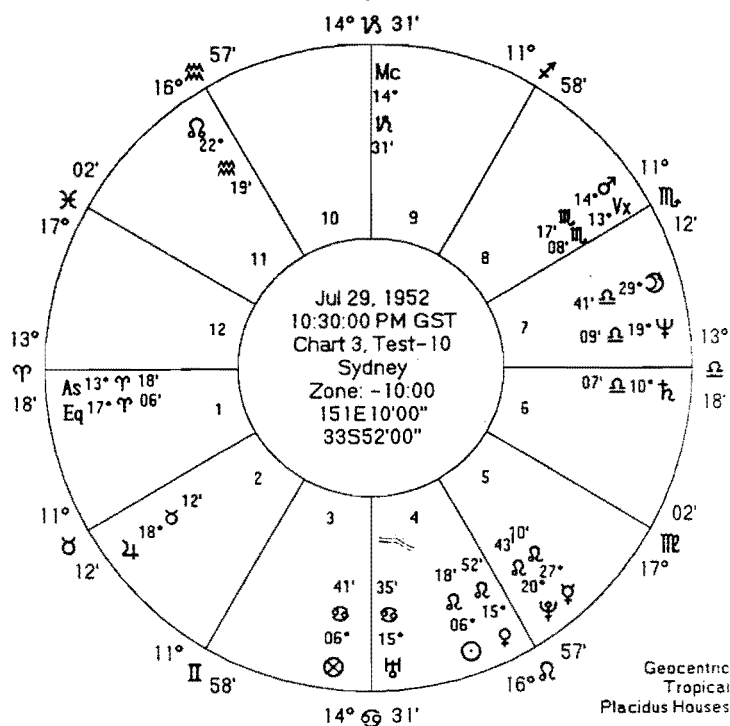

CHART 2, TEST-10

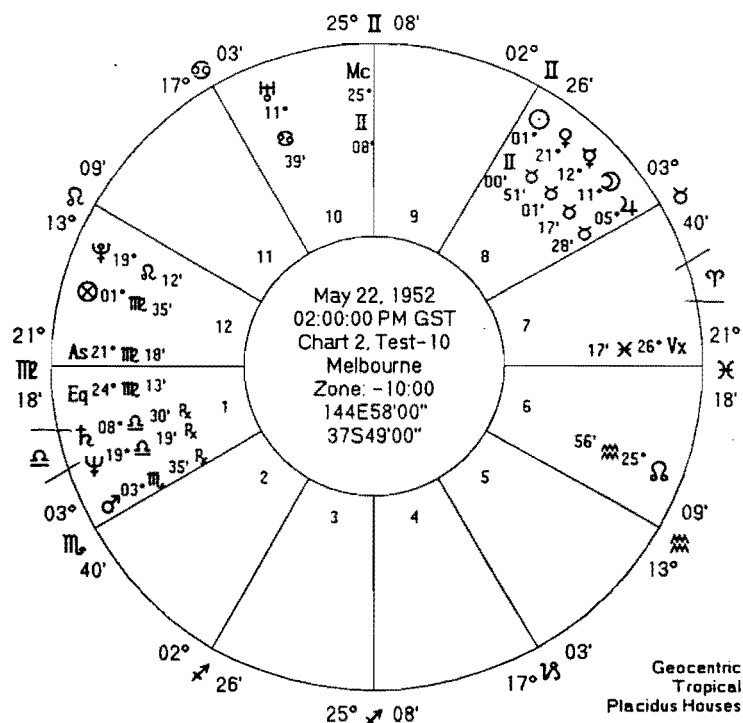

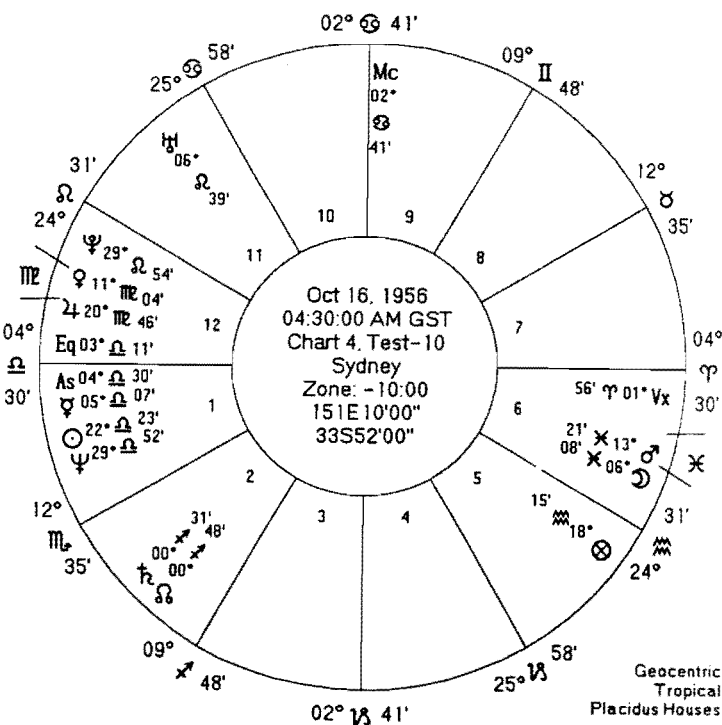

CHART 4, TEST-10

33°3'. In the paragraph beginning "What triggered Mary's sudden good luck?", the final sentence should read, "On August 11, 1994, transiting Jupiter (37°3'-22.5° = 14°33') hit MC-n, 14°33', triggering the accompanying good-luck/big-money pictures mentioned earlier. ■

REFLECTIONS ON TEST NO. 9

In the above Test, discussed in the last Issue, a young man driving heavy machinery at work accidentally ran over and killed a fellow worker. In the previous Issue I asked myself and readers the question, "If you were doing a 12-months Forecast for this young man, how could you foresee his accidental killing of a work-mate?" No one has yet essayed an answer to this question.

My own experience is that Cyclic Charts give the best clues to forthcoming events. Secondary Progressions, Transits, Primary Directions and Symbolic Directions will usually give the TIMING of significant events, but the actual NATURE of the event may be impossible to determine from these factors alone.

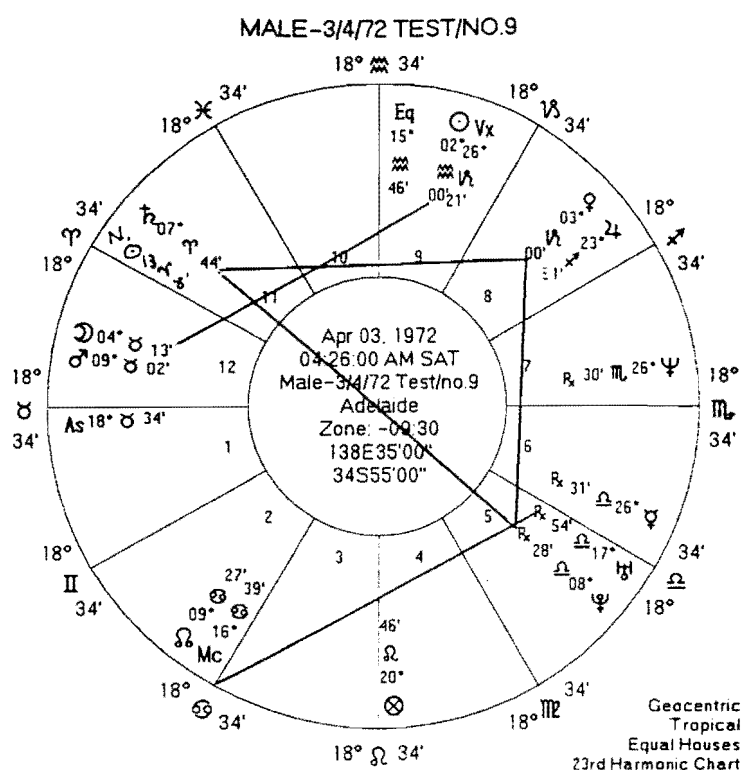

This is not to say that the coming events can be infallibly seen in a Cyclic Chart, but certainly one has a better chance of doing so from the greater number of judgement factors available.

Under the heading of Cyclic Charts I include Solar Returns (Standard, Progressive and Precessed), Synodic Charts (for the times when the natal Sun-Moon angle is repeated each month), Lunar Returns and Age Harmonic Charts.

Presented here for comparison are the Standard Solar Return and the Age Harmonic Chart covering the period of the Accident:

In the Solar Return the Natal Sun-Uranus opposition lies on the Horizon, indicating shock and misadventure. The Moon is on the Cusp of the House of Deaths, square to Mars. Libra rises, and Ruler Venus is in the House of Employment, square to Natal Mars. Saturn, Mercury and the Vertex are also in this House, giving it added significance. The 1st and the 8th Houses are linked through Venus ruling them both. All this points to something rather drastic happening in the work-place, but would it be possible to read the fatal accident that killed a fellow worker? What is likely to attract more attention is the close Grand Trine involving the Sun, Jupiter and Mars, pointing to a successful initiative on the part of the Native. (This did eventuate later in the 12 months, apparently.)

In the Age Harmonic Chart, Venus is again the Ruler, and is placed in the 8th House in a dire T-Square with Saturn and Pluto—a strong portent of a death. Venus ruling the 6th suggests a death in the work-place. Uranus on the 6th Cusp and opposing the Natal Sun more specifically shows just where the shock and misadventure originate.

The Moon conjoins Mars in the 12th House signifying emotional trauma, and is square to the Sun, an additional and powerful upsetting influence. A further indication of emotional suffering is Neptune in Scorpio closely conjunct Natal Moon.

The accident occurred through the movement of heavy machinery, shown here by Uranus, conjunct Natal Uranus, and square to the the 3rd Placidian Cusp, the latter being emphasized by the Harmonic MC.

All in all, the Age Harmonic gives a better picture of the event than the Solar Return, but it still defies exact definition.

My kind regards to all,

—Dymock, 17th February 1996.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 175 February 1996

Fax 61 08 336 1600. Tel. 61 08 336 1956

A red sticker on your copy means
your subscription is due. Two red stickers mean your subscription is
two months or more overdue.

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

FEDERAL ELECTION 2ND MARCH 1996

The political event of greatest interest in Australia at the moment is the struggle between the two Federal Parties, Labor and the Liberal Coalition, that will culminate with the General Election on Saturday, 2nd March next. A minor group, the Democrats, may hold the balance of power in Parliament but are not serious contenders for Government.

Events such as these provide opportunities for astrologers to test their predictive skills, the result being of special interest when the two major contenders are apparently fairly evenly matched. At the time of writing this (3rd February), the Liberal Party is leading Labor by several points in the Gallup polls, but there is still a month before the Election.

The Polls close at 6pm in all States, but West Australia is normally two hours behind the Eastern States and now, due to Eastern Daylight Saving Time (which finishes on the next day, 3rd March), Canberra in the Australian Capital Territory will be three hours ahead of West Australia.

So a Chart for the closing of the Polls Australia-wide if set for Canberra, our political centre, should be timed at 9pm Australian Eastern Daylight Time, which will be 6pm West Australian Standard Time in Perth, the West Australian capital. (Chart in next column.)

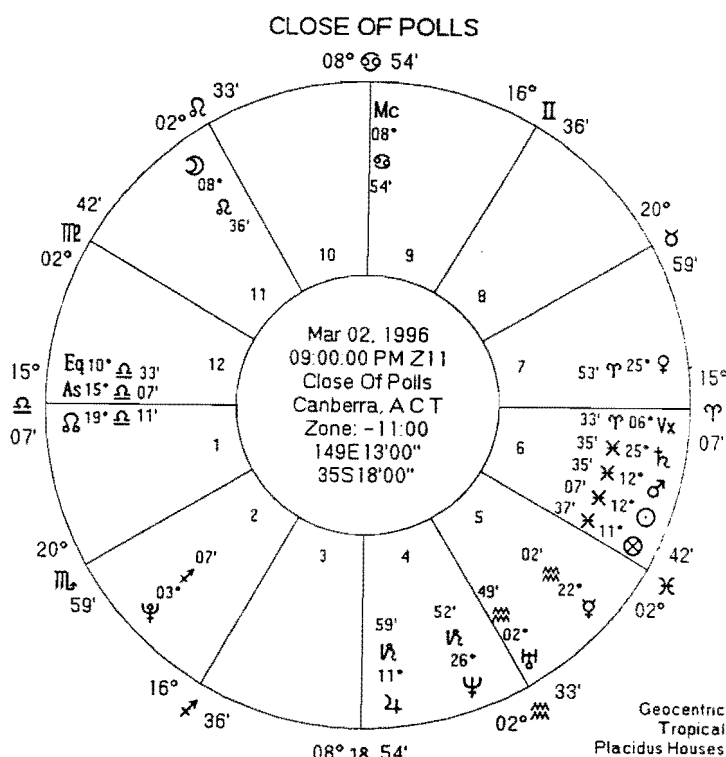

The 1st House and the 10th represent the incumbent Party (Labor), while the 7th and 4th Houses represent the opposing Liberal Coalition Party.

For Labor, the Sign Libra rises, and its Ruler, Venus, is in the 7th House in Aries. Mars disposes Venus, and Mars being the Ruler of the 7th House is the Significator of the Opposition Party. I read this as an indication that the Liberal Coalition will displace the Labor Party. Labor's chances of victory hang on the 10th House. Its Ruler, the Moon, is separating from the opposition of Uranus and the trine of Pluto, and applying to the sesquare of Saturn—not by any means a happy omen, three malefics being involved.

For the Liberal Coalition, Mars not only displaces the Labor Significator but is sextile Jupiter in the Derived 10th House, and conjunct the Sun. This is a double indication of a successful outcome for the

In This Issue...

	Page
Australian Federal Election, 2nd March '96 ..1
Letter re Astrological Research	3
Answers to Test No.9	3
Solution to Test No. 8	4

present Opposition Party. The margin of victory may be small as Mars is in the Sign of its Fall, and Jupiter in the Sign of its Detriment.

The individual Charts of the protagonists should give us confirmation of the outcome as judged from the Closing-of-the-Polls Figure. For Paul Keating I use the Chart that appeared in Issue 165, as rectified by Jack Nicholls. This, I believe, is correct, or as near correct as we are ever likely to get it. It appears on the next page, together with Keating's 52nd Age Harmonic Chart, which covers the day of the Election.

In the Figure for the 52nd Harmonic, Cancer rises, and the Moon, the Ruler, is separating from the Square of Neptune and the quincunx of Uranus, and applying to the conjunction of the Sun. The separating Aspects are manifestly bad, and the application to the Sun in the Sign of its Fall means that the Moon is "Combust", "burned-up" or destroyed, another ill omen for Keating.

The Career House of the Chart is ruled by Mars, which is conjunct Uranus and square to Saturn. Though these Aspects are not particularly close, they are by no means healthy, and their cumulative effect must be damaging to Keating's career. Even worse, however, is the the close opposition of Natal Neptune (4°12' Libra) to the Harmonic Midheaven (4°18' Aries), signifying disappointment and loss.

The Solar Return is similarly afflicted: The 10th House, ruled by the Sun, is conjunct Neptune, Mercury and Uranus, and the rising Moon is square Saturn.

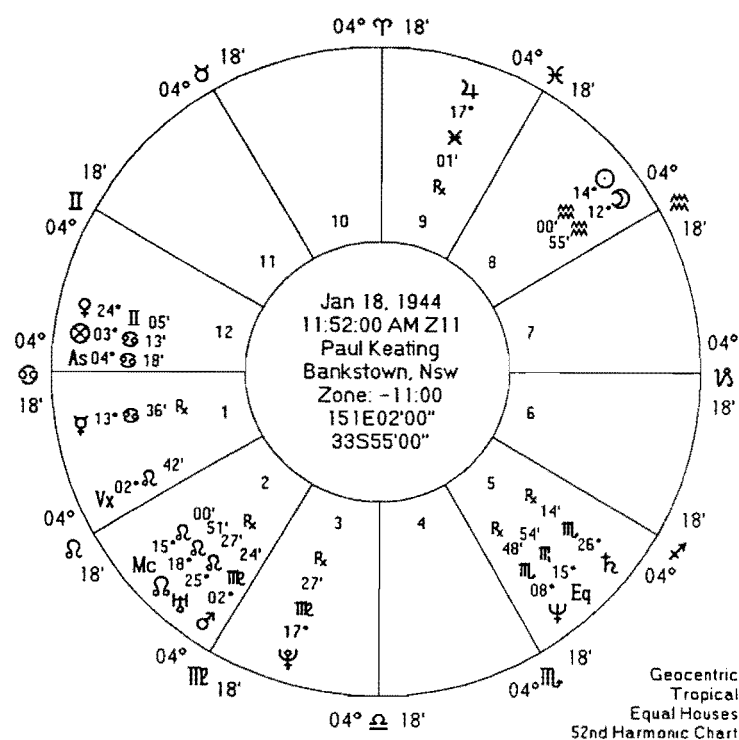

Paul Keating's prospects are not enhanced by the Transits. On 6th March Pluto is stationary opposite Natal Mars, Ruling the House of Career. Neptune Transits the Sun in the 10th House on 29th February and Venus Transits square to the Sun on 3rd March.

There are no Progressions, Direct or Converse, that might change the scene.

Turning now to John Howard, Leader of the Coalition and aspirant for the Prime Ministership, his precise birth time is in doubt, but the accompanying Figure appears to be reasonably accurate. His 56th Harmonic Chart covers the period of the Election, and appears below.

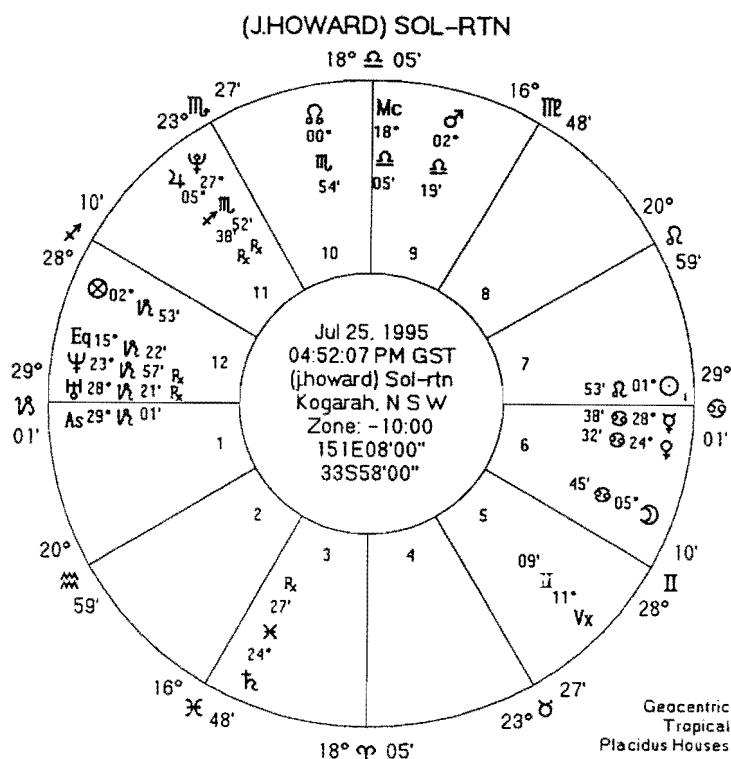

Taurus rises, and the Ruler, Venus, is well-placed just under the Horizon in a Grand Trine with Pluto and Mars, signifying a favourable initiative and new phase of life. To complement this, a second Grand Trine involves the Sun, Harmonic Midheaven and the Moon's Node. (The Harmonic Midheaven is to be distinguished from the degree that appears on Cusp 10, which is drawn from the Harmonic Ascendant by Equal House division.) Saturn and Uranus are Rulers of the 10th House, and an adverse feature is the opposition of Mars to Uranus. This is outweighed, however, by the previously mentioned configurations and by the trine of Saturn (23°7' Capricorn) to Natal Uranus (21°30' Taurus).

John Howard's Solar Return for the period of the Election (next column) is likewise positive, though with fewer elements, as regards his prospects for winning. The single, most important indication is the very close trine (orb only 3') between Saturn and Venus. Saturn rules the Ascendant, and Venus rules

—Dymock, ■

This was based on the Native's Natal Chart showing a tendency to speak out of place when provoked. Pluto ruling the 9th House (the law) in the 7th House (judgement of a legal nature); Pluto bringing karmic problems/confrontations.

Transiting Jupiter protects. [T.Jupiter at the Natal MC] This was true in that the Native was not to blame and no court case will come of it.

Transiting Uranus trine Pluto (the closest transiting Aspect): Sudden change due to traumatic life events, leaving physical or psychological scarring.

He is certainly psychologically scarred and is now on anti-depressants, has taken up smoking, occasionally drinks to excess, and is having counselling. He sleeps too much and has difficulty making new friends. After 9 months and moving to a new State, his natural strength of character has asserted itself and he is slowly recovering. Sport and other personal victories are building up his self-esteem.

Entry 2: "Sudden news concerning some personal accomplishment."

Entry 3: "Native's mother died"

Thankfully, no, (this is my son's Chart). In her work papers Entrant 3 mentioned "separation through disaster, death, bereavement, accident", and T.Uranus opposite Mars/Pluto for sudden disaster.

But why was his accident at work and not involving a woman or mother? I think the incident is most closely shown by the closest aspect. T.Uranus trine N.Pluto involves the 11th and 7th Houses, and by rulership the 12th and 9th Houses. None of these are parental Houses, but then none of these are work either.

Could he have been warned not to go to work that day? His Natal Chart shows one who is accident-prone (impulsive, intense) and he has had minor accidents before, but none where another person was injured.

The victim had T.Pluto conjunct his N.Sun that week, and was also having his first Saturn-Return.

SECOND INCIDENT, 11th August 1995:

Now in a new job 2000-kms from home, the same Native made a large sale of paint.

This was the turning point to regaining his self-confidence and was a commission sale, so quite lucrative. He had T.Venus exactly trining the MC. It is interesting that it occurred with T.Jupiter conjunct Neptune (paint) in the 9th House (long-distance travel).

Entry 1: "Accident on the way to work."

Entry 2: "Health matter requiring hospital treatment."

Entry 3: "Motor-car or motor-cycle accident."

Entrants 1 and 3 also discussed the Native's depression, pessimism, loneliness. All of this is true of this whole period, but the actual incident was a good one. ■

[A further exercise: If you were doing a 12-months forecast for this young man, how could you foresee his accidental killing of a workmate? —Ed]

TEST NO.8 RESULTS

See page 8 of Issues 172/173 for details of this Test. Four charts were presented, all of women. Three were medical doctors, and one was not. The exercise was to determine which chart represents the odd one out. Ross Harvey undertook to report on this Test, and here are his comments:

"Margaret Millard who supplied the data for this Test kindly gave the answer in a sealed envelope, so for once I could try it myself. My reasoning was as follows.

"I have noticed that in accurate charts of doctors the common indications are that the Moon and Saturn are in aspect to the Angles and sometimes to each other as well, though the latter is not crucial. If these criteria can be relied on, then Charts 1 and 4 are obviously of doctors: Chart 1 has Moon conjunct Asc, and Saturn square MC—I need look no further—while Chart 4 has Saturn conjunct the Asc and Moon square MC, with the Moon and Saturn 9/19ths apart, with an orb of only 0°4'. So the non-doctor is either No.2 or No.3.

Chart No.2 has Saturn square MC and the Moon 10° from the MC and 105° from the Asc. 10° is an extremely weak Aspect, if it is an Aspect at all, that is, and 105° is an experimental Aspect. Some people think it is, but my own observations so far are not conclusive.

Chart No.3 has Saturn sextile MC and bi-quintile Asc, and the Moon is three semi-octiles to the Asc, while the Moon is 3/14th to Saturn with an orb of 0°33'. Both Charts have some indications that could point to some aptitude for or association with medicine, however Saturn in Chart 3 is much stronger, being in Aspect to both Angles, and the semi-octile (22½°) is, I am sure, an important Aspect, whereas the Aspects of the Moon in Chart 2 are unproved. Therefore, it seemed to me that Chart 2 was the less likely to be that of the doctor. At this point I opened the answer and discovered that I was correct."

Congratulations to Ross—and a three-months extension to his Subscription.

A further Sorting Test will appear in the March Issue, with the same Subscription benefits for correct answers.

We need more material to continue our series of educative exercises. Please send to me whatever data you have that could be useful.—Ed.

My kind regards to all,

—Dymock, 17th February 1995.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 174 January 1996

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

The O.J. SIMPSON drama in the U.S.A. is over (for the moment). The principal protagonists were O.J Simpson and his murdered ex-wife, Nicole. Their Charts below, with brief notes, will be of interest to readers. Birth dates and times are taken from a recent issue of, Ken Gillman's excellent publication, Considerations (P.O. Box 491, Mount Kisco, New York 10549). Biographical details were supplied by Nick Sutherland in the same publication.

Born under Pisces with her Ruler in the House of Deaths afflicted by the Ruler of the Marriage House was a tragic portent for Nicole. It was augmented by the Moon in the House of Marriage in a T-Square with Saturn and Venus (emotional deprivation, sorrow in love, anxiety and fear). Two Midpoint configurations also had dire consequences for her: Uranus conjunct Mars/Pluto (orb 38'), interpreted by Reinhold Ebertin in The Combination of Stellar Influences, as "Cruelty, violence, brutality. Sudden disasters or calamities of great consequence", and Pluto conjunct Mars/Node (orb 11'), "a violent or forced separation of a partnership or union".

The opposition of Jupiter to the Sun in Taurus

In This Issue...

	Page
The O.J. Simpson Drama
Nicole and O.J.	1
Horary Astrology—Place and Time
"Will my son move? Will he marry?	3
Comment on Test No.6
Family connections	4
A Time for Planting	4

separates her from good luck which, indeed, was conspicuously absent in her life. The Sun's square to Pluto, ruling the Death House, was indicative of her fateful end.

O.J. Simpson's Chart, on the other hand, shows amazing good luck—his Ruler, the Sun, trine Jupiter. How did he escape a "Guilty" verdict? Jupiter Angular also brought him public acclaim for his prowess as a footballer. (Mars in the Career House in Gemini (speed) trine Neptune: Large-scale promotions; Jupiter ruling the 5th House, Sport and Showmanship, emphasized by Leo rising.

The sinister conjunction of Saturn and Pluto in the 12th House is sesquare the Moon in the House of Deaths. According to Ebertin, this configuration is to be read as "The tragic destiny of a woman". Saturn ruling the 7th House, linked to the Moon, clearly connects the conjunction with the marriage partner but does not alone establish the husband's guilt. It is recorded, however, that O.J. had repeatedly assaulted Nicole, as a result of which she needed hospital treatment on at least one occasion.

The squares of the Moon to both Uranus and Venus speak loudly of his marital troubles (he was married twice and divorced twice).

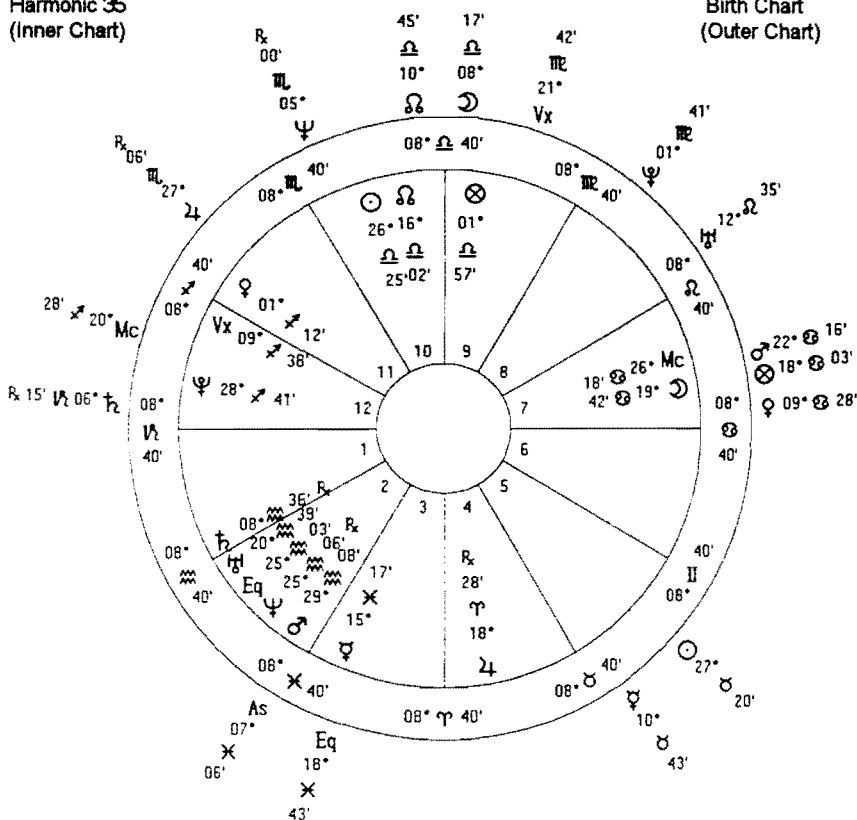

Pluto is also quincunx the Vertex (orb only 7'), so this planet is a Destiny Planet for O.J.

The bodies of Nicole and a male companion were found on 12th June 1994. In Nicole's Chart, there are no relevant Secondary Progressions or Solar-Arc Directions, but there is a very appropriate Naibod-Arc Direction (based on the mean motion of the Sun in longitude—0°59' a day). It surprises me that many astrologers continue to use the inaccurate Solar-Arc. The Naibod-Arc Direction is Pluto square Saturn, exact on 14th June 1994—just two days after the discovery of the bodies. Pluto, The Destroyer, rules Nicole's 8th House (Deaths) and is square Saturn (the major malefic). In addition, Natal Pluto is also square the Sun. So here is a cumulative effect of Pluto, 8th House, Saturn, and square Aspect all pointing the same way—terminus vitae. A trigger was transiting Mars square Uranus on 10th June. Note that the mean in time of the Direction and the Transit is exactly 12th June.

In O.J. Simpson's Chart the event is marked by the Transit of Saturn stationary on 23rd June at 12°24' Pisces, quincunx Natal Pluto at 12°10' Leo. This is particularly powerful as it activates the malefic conjunction of Saturn and Pluto in the 12th House. The quincunx may not be as strong as the square, but it is strong enough, and a stationary Transit is as powerful as any Progression or Direction, Secondary or Primary. It was triggered by Transiting Mars square Pluto on 9th June.

The Harmonic Charts also have a story to tell. In the next column is Nicole's 35th Harmonic, encircled by her Natal Chart. Capricorn rises, and the Ruler, Saturn, lies on the 2nd–8th axis opposite Natal Uranus, an aspect of violence. The Sun, ruling the Deaths House is afflicted by the trine of Mars, Neptune and the Equatorial Ascendant. The trine here is an affliction by virtue of the planets involved. The Natal opposition of Saturn and Venus lies on the Ascendant, thereby fulfilling its Karmic destiny of suffering in love.

NICOLE SIMPSON
Harmonic 35
(Inner Chart)

O.J. SIMPSON
Harmonic 46
(Inner Chart)

O.J. Simpson's 46th Age Harmonic Chart is similarly indicative: Saturn conjunct the Ascendant opposes his Natal Moon, both being squared by his Natal Uranus right on the Meridian. Notwithstanding O.J.'s acquittal, I would certainly read this as an initiative on his part for the infliction of bodily harm on his ex-wife (7th House), particularly as Mars is conjunct the Moon in the 12th House, both being square to Natal Mars (injury to a woman). Stealth, or the secrecy of night, is suggested by the 12th-House conjunction, and by Neptune quincunx the Sun ruling the 12th. The attack on Nicole and her companion took place at night.

O.J. should be forever thankful to his Natal Aspect of the Sun trine Jupiter, The Preserver, for saving him from a life in gaol. If he is, indeed, guilty, he will be called on to pay his debt in other ways.

—Dymock.■

HORARY ASTROLOGY—TIME AND PLACE

It has been a matter of debate among Horary Astrologers whether the Chart should be set for the place where the astrologer is situated, or where the querent is located when the question is asked.

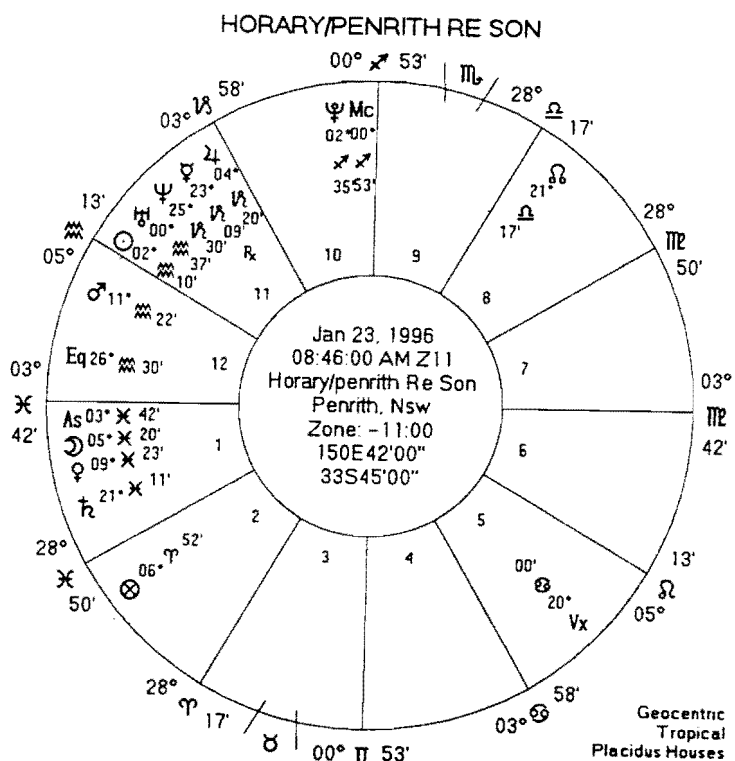

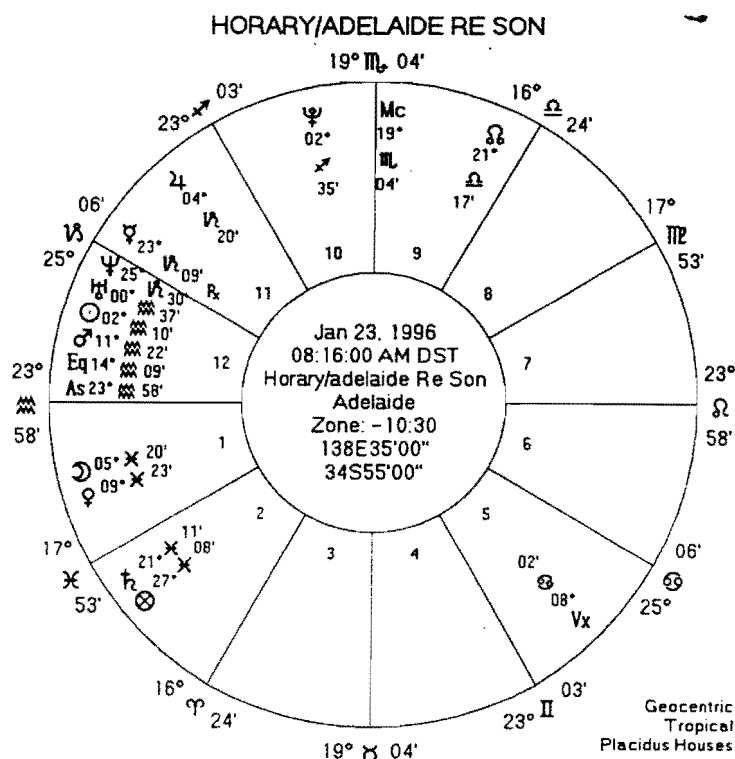

In bygone years this problem usually did not arise as questions were asked personally of the astrologer, both querent and astrologer being in the same place. But since the introduction of telegraph, telephone, fax and now E-Mail, it becomes of real importance. People communicate freely not only between cities, but across the world. I am frequently asked questions by people living interstate or overseas. In general, I have found that the place of the querent is the one that most easily yields the answer.

This was demonstrated again recently when a woman asked me the dual question, "Will my son move away in 1997, because of his work? Will he ever marry?" (The son is 28 years old.)

The querent was telephoning from Penrith, NSW, to me in Adelaide, South Australia. The Charts for the two different locations appear below. Chart 1 is set for the Querent's location (Penrith), and Chart 2 for my location (Adelaide). The difference in geographical longitude between the two places is 12°7', making a difference on the MC of 11°49' and slightly less on the Ascendant, which of course is also affected by the difference in latitude. In both Charts the planets occupy identical Zodiacal positions, as they have the same GMT, but the important difference is in the House Cusps. Chart 1 has Aquarius rising, and Chart 2 has Pisces.

The question is about the Querent's son, who is represented by the 5th House. In Chart 1, Gemini appears on the 5th Cusp, and its Ruler, Mercury, is in Capricorn, which does not bear any relation to the son's Birth Horoscope. In Chart 2, Cancer is on the 5th Cusp, and its Ruler, the Moon, is in Pisces, which is directly related to the son because he has both Sun and Moon in Pisces in his Birth Figure.

Furthermore, In Chart 1 Aquarius on the Ascendant does not describe the Querent (the mother), whereas the Moon conjunct the Ascendant in Chart 2 is the same aspect that appears in her Natus.

It is obvious that Chart 2, cast for the location of the Querent at the time she asked the question is the preferable Figure.

As a matter of interest, I judged that the son would, in fact, be moving because of his work. Jupiter rules his Career House, the Derived 10th (the Radical 2nd), and is sextile to the Moon (change). The move will be a beneficial one because of Venus also being sextile to Jupiter.

The second question also has a positive answer. The son will indeed marry as his Significator, the Moon, is applying to a conjunction of Venus in its Exaltation Sign, Pisces. It will be a happy marriage to a charming wife.

A further question arises when a question is sent by letter. Usually the time of receipt of the letter has to be taken by the astrologer, but if the querent is familiar with Horary procedures and gives the date and local time of writing the letter, this will provide the better chart. It should be set for the place where the letter was written.

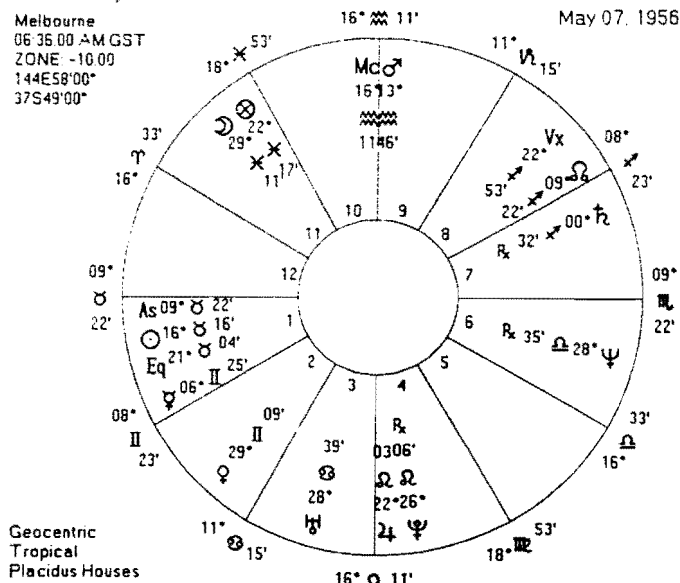

In the case of a long-distance telephone call there is no difference in the GMT but, again, the chart should be set for the location of the querent.

Another possibility is the case where the querent has been considering a matter for some time (days or weeks), then suddenly decides to ask a Horary question about it. The time of asking the question provides a good chart, but I have also found that if the querent can identify the date, time and place when the matter was most deeply concerning him or her, then that specific data will also give clear indications. —Dymock.■

FURTHER COMMENT ON TEST 6 in the last Issue

It was discovered that Chart 3 of the above-mentioned Test, of which the results were given last month, should have been 10 minutes earlier, and set for Melbourne, not Sydney.

From the point of view of the Test this varies the Chart only slightly, but Jenifer Pommerin points out the following links with Chart 4 (page 4 of A.F. 170/171):

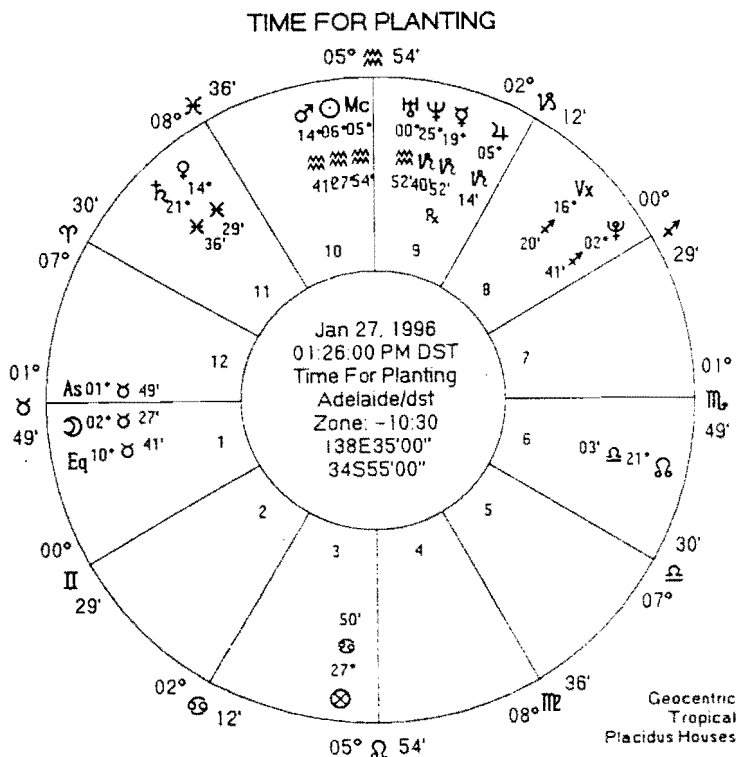

Map 3: ☿△♂, ♀♂♂, ♀♂♂, ☿♂♂, ☿♂♂.
Map 4: ☿♂♂, ♀♂♂, ☿♂♂, ☿♂♂, ☿♂♂.

So there are some connecting links between the Charts of the two brothers, not perhaps as much as we would expect to see, but enough to establish a family relationship. The multiple connections that readers noted between Charts 2 and 4 did not indicate a blood bond, but was there some other significant relationship?■

A TIME FOR PLANTING

Having to plant a lemon tree, a passionfruit vine, and sundry native shrubs, I selected the Chart below for best results.

The Earth Sign Taurus rises, with the Moon also in Taurus, just under the Ascendant. The Moon is applying to Jupiter (The Preserver), and is increasing in light. Experience proves that it does pay to plant in accordance with good astrological indications.■

I wish to remind readers that they have until 15th February to send in their answers to Tests 8 and 9 in the last Issue. For the sake of improving your astrological skills, do make an attempt. Only correct answers will be published, and will be rewarded with extensions to your subscription.

Answers to Test No. 8 should go to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, NSW, Australia 2074. Answers to Test No. 9 go to Anne Elliott, P.O. Box 5191, Manly Qld, Australia 4179.

My kind regards to all,

—Dymock,
27th January 1996.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, South Australia, 5073.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issues 172/173 November/December 1995

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

RESULTS OF TEST NO. 6 in the last issue

Ross Harvey conducted the Test involving the sorting of four charts, and his report follows. Readers should view the Charts (page 4 of Issue 170/171) while reading the commentary. The Charts are not reproduced here in order to save space.

There were four entries for the latest test. The correct answer was 1, 2, 3, 4, i.e. physics professor, business executive, mining engineer, and naval helicopter pilot.

Entry 1: 3, 4, 1, 2. Second attempt: 2, 3, 4, 1.

Entry 2: 3, 4, 1, 2. Second attempt: 3, 4, 2, 1.

Entry 3: 1, 3, 2, 4.

Entry 4: - 3, 2, 4. This entrant supplied Chart No.1., so his task was easier.

Congratulations to Brenda Bellamy who got the professor and the pilot, and to Dymock Brose who got the pilot.

As I have said before, Uranus is the planet of science and technology, especially when in aspect to Mercury. Only Chart 2 has neither a Mercury-Uranus aspect nor Uranus in major or close aspect to any personal point. This should have suggested that this person was the one whose job did not involve technology, i.e. that he was the businessman. Furthermore, when I set this test I looked through the Gauquelin Book of American Charts which contains many company executives. I had expected to find that Jupiter was the common factor, but instead saw that Mars and Pluto were almost always strong in the charts of business executives—Mars for energy, initiative, enterprise and aggression, and Pluto for power. Jupiter rather seems to indicate the sort of success that brings the person before the public eye, as is the case with the cartoonist in the first vocational Test.

In Chart 2 the Moon is the dominant body, being conjunct the Descendant, and is trine Mars in the 2nd House, ruling the 10th (income from career, appropriate enough), and is also almost exactly 9/20th (orb only 0°1') to Pluto in the 1st.

Chart 1 has Uranus biquintile the Ascendant and 1/11th to the Sun, and ten degrees to Mercury. So

In This Issue...

	Page
Results of Test No. 6.....	1
Results of Test No. 7.....	2
New Test No. 9 (What happened—?).	2
The Melbourne Cup In Retrospect.....	3
Planetary Aspects (Contd).....	3
Mary's Lottery Win (Uranian Astrology)	7
New Test No.8 (Sorting).....	8

the criteria for science are satisfied. A little traditional astrology explains which one this is: Neptune, the Ruler, is conjunct Pluto, ruling the 9th House (higher education) in the 3rd (communications)—the university teacher.

In Chart 3, the dominant aspect complex is the Grand Trine of the Moon, Uranus and Saturn. Mercury is septile Uranus. Uranus is for science, and Saturn is often associated with the earth and mining. Moreover, the Sun is conjunct the Ascendant in an Earth Sign.

The strongest indication in Chart 4 is Pluto conjunct the MC, suggesting either power, or a power-complex, or a career that involves power or danger. Here, Pluto is sextile Neptune (the sea) in Scorpio, a Water Sign. Jupiter, the Chart Ruler, is also in a Water Sign. The Moon is opposite Mars (appropriate for the armed services), and forms a Yod with Neptune and Pluto. The Neptune-Pluto sextile, which was in orbs for years, is here personal because Pluto is conjunct the MC, and disposes of the Chart Ruler. Jupiter is sextile to the Sun in the 10th House (career) and ruling the 9th, and Jupiter is square Venus in the 9th ruling the 6th (work). The 9th emphasis is appropriate for someone whose work takes him overseas.

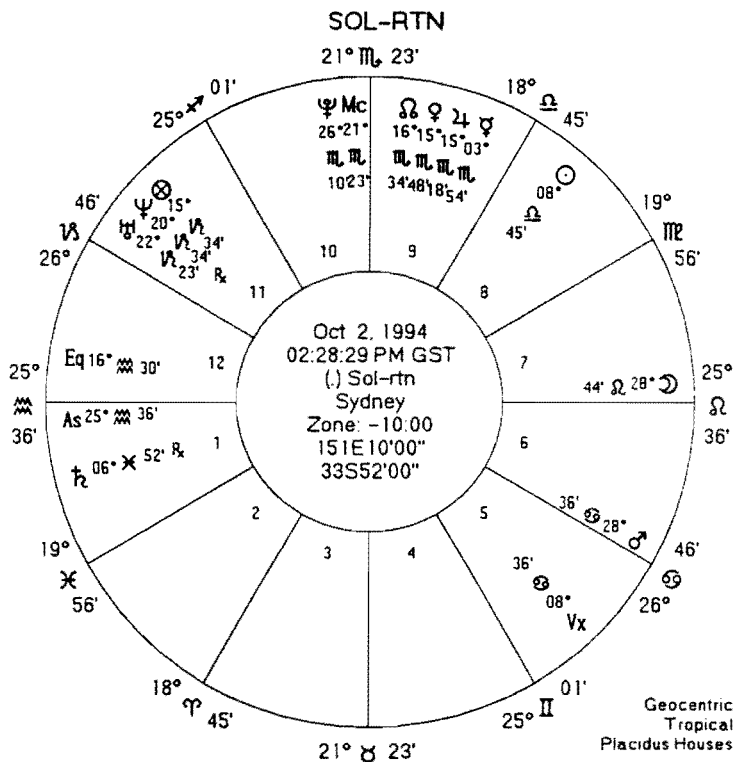

[The addendum to this Test was to distinguish the two family members.] The relatives were Charts 3 and 4—brothers. No one was correct. Everyone thought that 2 and 4 were father and son, but the similarities were just coincidental. I couldn't have done this myself, but I threw this in just to show that things aren't always as straightforward as they might seem.

Brenda Bellamy, having supplied two correct answers, has her subscription to Astrologers' Forum extended by six months.
—Ed.

RESULTS OF TEST NO. 7

The challenge was to determine what happened to the Finnish Woman on 16th September 1995, in Sydney. Her Natal Chart appears on page 6 of the last Issue.

Ross reports: This Test attracted only two entries, neither of which was close. She was married. The Solar Return for 1994, set for Sydney, had the MC conjunct Venus, Jupiter and the Node (the Node emphasizes relationships), while the Moon was opposite the Ascendant (emotions identified with the partner).

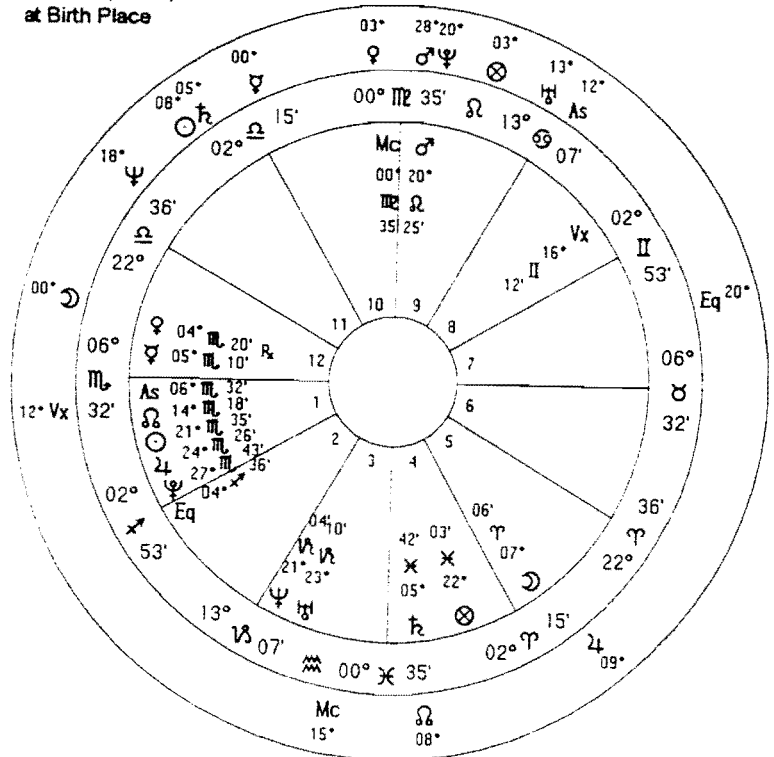

The Progressed Birthday Solar Return set for the Birth Place [see Chart in adjacent column] had MC conjunct Radical Venus, and the Ascendant conjunct Venus and Mercury, with Venus ruling the 7th House, and Mercury the 10th, a typical marriage indication. Furthermore, the Sun was conjunct Jupiter. Jupiter transited sextile the Sun three days after the event.

Editor's Note: Readers will note that the "Standard" Solar Return Chart above was set for the place of residence of the subject, and the Progressed Birthday Solar Return for the place of birth. Once again we are faced with the question—which is the better procedure? There seems to be no conclusive answer to this question. My own experience suggests that it is better to employ them both. Often one of the two will give clear indications that are rather nebulous in the other.

Brenda Bellamy has her subscription to Astrologers' Forum extended by six months for her her two correct

INNER CIRCLE: PRGV. S.R.
 NOV 14, 1994, 4:47:35am GMT
 at Birth Place

OUTER CIRCLE: BIRTH
 CHART

answers.

The big surprise in this latest Test is that the subjects of Charts 3 and 4 are brothers, and yet there is no obvious connection between them, and I am assured that the two people concerned are blood-brothers, not brothers by adoption or one of them having a different parent. We are used to seeing similar themes in the horoscopes of family members—the same planets emphasized by major aspect, for example, or the Signs related. A frequent occurrence with Signs is the Sun-Sign of a parent becoming the Ascendant-Sign of the child, or being placed on one of the other Angles.

So what is the answer? Is there another link of which we are not aware, or is it not always possible to discern blood ties? If you have any ideas about this please write to me.

What is also abundantly clear from the results of these Exercises so far is that we definitely need them to sharpen up our knowledge and application of Astrology. If we can't apply Astrology accurately to matters of everyday life, it loses most of its value. We may talk theory for hours, but the acid test is how our ideas work in practice. I urge all readers to attempt the Tests offered in this publication and reap the benefit of increased skill and ability.

To maintain these very useful exercises we need a continuing flow of data from readers. If you have material suitable for a test, please send it in.

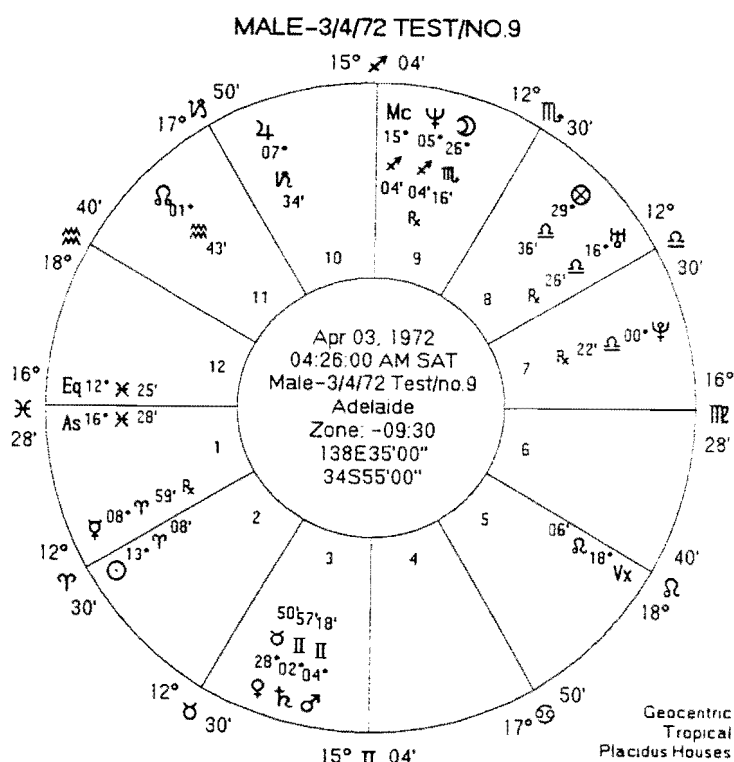

Dr Margaret Millard (Eng.) has supplied a further sorting exercise—TEST NO.8—on page 8. Four Charts are given, three of which represent medical doctors, and one that doesn't. Can you pick the odd one out? As before, an extension of three months will be added to the subscription of any reader who succeeds in this Test. The answer has to be accompanied by the astrological reasons on which it is based. Again, please send your entries to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW AUSTRALIA 2074. The closing date will be 15th February 1996. ■

TEST NO. 9

Test No.9, of the "What Happened" variety, is supplied by Astrologer Anne Elliott of Qld.

The Birth Chart below is that of a male. There were two incidents in his life that you are asked to define. The first occurred at 11am ACST on 27th April 1995, at 34°55' S, 138°44' E.

The second was at 8:55am on 11th August 1995 AEST at 27°28' S, 153°02' E. What were they?

Anne writes that the incidents are unrelated, and, "the first is a good example I think of interpreting outer planet to outer planet transits. The second incident was minor in comparison but serves to show how clear things can be in retrospect."

As this is a more difficult Test, each correct answer, accompanied by the astrological reasons for it, will be rewarded with a six months extension to the annual subscription. If you get both incidents correctly you will qualify for a 12-months extension.

Please send your answers to Anne at P.O. Box 5191, Manly Qld. Australia 4179. The closing date will be 15th February 1996. Remember, the chief value of all these Tests is the attempting of them, not necessarily getting them right! ■

THE MELBOURNE CUP

In Retrospect

Jack Nicholls (Vic.) writes—

Astrology did very well in today's (7th Nov.'95) Melbourne Cup. You set out some requirements for Jupiterian characteristics, but only the foreign-sounding names were applicable. The runners satisfying this criterion according to me were: Jeune 12/1, Doriemus 10/1, Daacha 20/1 and Nothin' Leica Dane 20/1. In addition Vintage Crop 8/1 would be selected because it was Number 3. According to De Vore, the colours for Jupiter include deep blue—Jeune and Bullwinkle 40/1, and red and indigo, close to the colours worn by Doriemus [the winner]. The colours were printed in colour by the Melbourne Sunday Age. A further characteristic of Jupiter is joviality, thereby nominating It's All in Fun, 20/1.

In previous reports on the subject you have suggested a sensible cut-off for runners at large odds. Putting all this together, the group for investment would have been Jeune, Doriemus, and Vintage Crop [ran third], a satisfactory result as it forecast 1st and 3rd from three runners, or 1st, 2nd and 3rd from six, depending on the price cut-off. ■

PLANETARY ASPECTS (Contd)

by Jenifer Pommerin

MERCURY CONJUNCT VENUS: Those with this aspect are more likely to seek and enjoy social contacts than those without the aspect. They are fair to all sides when there is dissension. In female charts, the naturalness and ease of manner make for popularity. Their ideas are readily accepted, hence may be leaders in their social circle (where this is sought). In male charts, usually a lot of communication with women, or the female influence is strong in the life.

MERCURY CONJUNCT MARS: Not swayed by the opinions of others—have the strength of their own convictions. Conscious of future trends, and thus are often the vanguard of new developments. Tend to be tactless. Can be very talkative (female charts). Can be very opportunistic (male charts).

MERCURY SQUARE MARS: When in charge are very quick to pull others into line—will not brook interference or a lack of respect. Say too much when in a temper. A liking for gossip.

MERCURY OPPOSITE MARS: Can think on their feet.

MERCURY TRINE JUPITER: Too prone to allow others do the decision-making. In other cases, where the initiative is taken, the results can be poor due to one misjudgement after another. Losses in both instances seem to be due to a lack of discrimination. Are too lax at crucial moments, so their opinions are not sought, or are ignored. Have a lot of wisdom but not many are prepared to listen.

MERCURY SQUARE JUPITER: Very rarely stuck for a word; a chatterbox in childhood. Can be the good talker or the quick wit or the diplomat. Very kindly and are able to lift the spirits of others by the right words at the right time.

MERCURY OPPOSITE JUPITER: Strong views, and much enthusiasm about the chosen subject. Very talkative (female charts). Undertake projects without full understanding of difficulties ahead (male charts). Business losses, generally through an inability to discern obvious future problems, or a misplaced trust in an associate.

MERCURY CONJUNCT SATURN: May suffer from a speech impediment. Keep their opinions to themselves, to the extent of keeping silent when a word of warning would have been appropriate. Rarely confide in others, and are very close-mouthed in general. Do not gossip unless there is an aspect to Jupiter or Pluto. Very conscientious and will take on responsibilities in looking after friends or family.

MERCURY CONJUNCT URANUS: Acutely observant of the passing scene. Will pick up on points missed by others. Are rarely confused or "thrown". Lightning-fast thought processes—are generally ten steps ahead of everybody else.

MERCURY TRINE URANUS: Can be unthinking in group discussions. A good grasp of the subject but innocently oblivious of any adverse reactions towards what is said.

MERCURY CONJUNCT NEPTUNE: Self-undoing when a discussion would result in a more satisfactory outcome.

MERCURY SQUARE NEPTUNE: May be hypochondriacs, or fond of visiting the health profession. Will give the impression of being more fragile in health than is the case (female charts). May withdraw from social life periodically. Avoid people, conditions, situations, that are unpleasant or uncongenial. Avoid open controversy or dissension (unless impelled by a Mars/Uranus aspect). Can misread the cues of others, getting the incorrect message. Substance abuse is possible, or a health condition where medication must be taken for life. Mental illness, short or long-term, is sometimes experienced.

MERCURY TRINE NEPTUNE: In early life are too trusting, accepting everything at face value. In later life, are very aware of the environment around them.

MERCURY CONJUNCT PLUTO: Compulsive talkers or writers (when in congenial company). Words flow. Have the ability to communicate truths clearly and with impact.

MERCURY SQUARE PLUTO: With the most extreme influence, the mind is cruel, revengeful, and scheming. There can be unpredictable eruptions of rage, where words are used to cause the most lasting hurt or harm. Strong and implacable opinions—cannot be convinced or persuaded otherwise, and to try is not advisable. Never forgive and never forget. Can chew over the same subject again and again. Tend to be vehement and overpowering; others must perceive and believe the same way. Contradictory opinions are given short shrift, either annihilated or politely put to one side. A one-track mind. Convictions become more deeply entrenched with age. In some cases, this aspect indicates a close association with a person possessing the above traits.

MERCURY TRINE PLUTO: The influence is very similar to the above, especially if Mercury is in Scorpio. An important distinction is that advancing age sees less insistence on others obeying their dictates. The trine of Pluto is a redemptive influence in that there can be a change of perceptions, leading to a greater tolerance in a lesser or greater degree. Confident speakers. Can give right words of comfort in unhappy or distressing situations—make good counsellors in this regard. Long memories for past slights. Can be scathing when crossed or ignored. Tend to have specialized interests and a retentive memory in that field. Like to be informed of the latest developments, be they trivial or important.

VENUS SQUARE MARS: Truthful and outspoken. Reduces the number of close friends, either because of the person's nature, or because of the lifestyle. Appear to lack a close tie in family relationships. Parenting-time might be limited through outside interests, e.g. the working mother or the socialite; the working father. Or there may be a lack of common ground between the child and the parent, or outside circumstances prevent a greater familiarity. In marriage, there may or may not be an amicable bond. But different interests or some other separative influence affects the closeness between the partners. In male charts, can be well-meaning and kindly, but have a poor understanding of women and a poor sense of timing. In the worst case, can be chauvinistic with the belief that women are inferior and should 'stay in their place'. In female charts, may be left in charge of business or domestic concerns periodically (due to absence of partner). Will stand up for their rights.

VENUS SQUARE JUPITER: Are givers or takers. Very obliging and like to help; or a somewhat immoral, greedy nature.

VENUS CONJUNCT SATURN: A preference for shared responsibility in making decisions of an important nature, hence advice from someone close is often sought. An aspect of divorce or of a partner who can be selfish and unbending. In male charts can indicate a marriage later in life.

VENUS OPPOSITE SATURN: In female charts, can indicate a cold-hearted, unsympathetic attitude to the spouse. In its most extreme, there is a cruelty that is the very opposite to love. Motherhood is enjoyed while the children are young, but estrangement may occur in adult years due to rigid demands. In general, must hold the reins of command in all relationships. Have a highly developed critical sense.

VENUS SQUARE URANUS: Very tolerant or accommodating towards the marital partner. The partner's wishes or needs are given first preference. Circumstances can bring separation from family and friends, or contacts are infrequent. Can denote divorce.

VENUS TRINE URANUS: At different times will receive, or give, much aid to family or friends. Like to maintain close links with members of family (brothers/sisters, children/grandchildren).

VENUS CONJUNCT NEPTUNE: In male charts, often content to be at the beck and call of the spouse. In early years, the sensitive nature may suffer through unsympathetic treatment from the mother. Fervent religious convictions. Extremely kind—but can be impractical in actual service.

VENUS TRINE NEPTUNE: An abstract or nebulous sort of influence. An undemanding and placid nature largely due to an acceptance of others as they are, be they close-family or strangers. Little or no interest in people as people—are more drawn to some vague ideal in human relationships. May gloss over or deny anything that deviates from 'what should be'.

VENUS OPPOSITE NEPTUNE: Tend not to deal with unpleasant reality or serious problems in connection with a loved one. The domestic life may be affected by a family member who is psychologically unbalanced or physically ill or drug-addicted. Or may themselves possess one of these traits.

VENUS CONJUNCT PLUTO: Not bound by convention in love relationships. The partner may be of a lesser calibre, or immoral, or uncaring in some way. Circumstances (e.g., death) sever associations. Very loyal friends. In female charts, a dependent bond to the mother. May manipulate own sons and grandchildren.

VENUS CONJUNCT PLUTO: The influence can vary from a lack of mother-love to a very possessive mother-love, in male charts. With both sexes, there is a strong bond, or unconscious reliance on the mother-figure. The death of the mother can have a shattering effect on an otherwise stable personality. The ability to cope is poor. A sensitivity to pain and suffering on the world level, and a belief in doomsday-type philosophy.

VENUS TRINE PLUTO: The dying experiences of loved ones and pets are deeply felt and not forgotten. Very sensitive to the pain and suffering of others. The trine of Pluto is a transformative influence in that there is a greater understanding of love in all its manifestations.

VENUS OPPOSITE PLUTO: In female charts, a jealous streak (mostly in sibling rivalry or partnership relationships). There is a strong desire to remain in close contact with adult children—can be an inopportune visitor, 'helpful' suggestions, etc. In some instances, the aspect indicates a hurtful rejection of the mother, without due cause. The spouse often has a deeper involvement and commitment to his work or hobbies than to his wife.

MARS SQUARE JUPITER: A restless influence. Short-term but whole-hearted involvement in different activities. Always have faith in the latest pursuit. Self-confident, with the ability to give confidence to others.

MAR TRINE JUPITER: One of the luckiest of aspects. Good fortune and success in endeavours. Opportunities to do what is wanted when it is wanted are available, and difficulties are quickly overcome. Support from friends and from those in authority. A sociable, open-hearted person, firm and confident.

MARS SQUARE SATURN: Capable of sustained effort and feats of endurance, e.g., long-distance truck-drivers, triathlon competitors, the painstaking worker. Often do things the hard way when there is an easier and less strenuous option.

MARS TRINE SATURN: Reliable worker. Often have to cope with arduous and demanding work loads. Carry out duties efficiently and with the least possible effort.

MARS SQUARE URANUS: Too tolerant or too assertive in family relationships.

MARS TRINE URANUS: Very capable of independent action. Like to be in charge but will step away from leadership because it lessens freedom of action.

MARS OPPOSITE URANUS: Enjoy group work—but others must follow their plans. Very sensitive to leadership challenges. Quick to take umbrage, and will react by a refusal to co-operate and (in extreme instances), severing all ties.

MARS SQUARE NEPTUNE: Practical decisions are too often made on the spur of the moment, or are based on false assumptions. Commonsense takes a back seat to the desire for something richer than ordinary life. In some cases, there can be resultant financial disasters or the need to live with one's mistakes.

MARS TRINE NEPTUNE: As above, but many special favours and strokes of luck as well (e.g., at right place at right time).

MARS CONJUNCT PLUTO: Great reserves of energy—rarely tired. Goal-oriented—very ambitious. Hidden agendas. Very confident. Will not admit failure in self or others. Put own capabilities to the test, regarding different situations or conditions as challenges to be overcome. Compulsive achievers. An underlying desire to be a strong influence in the lives of others.

MARS SQUARE PLUTO: Brave fighters, but usually confronted by forces too strong for them. This can vary from a bodily condition, to unfortunate circumstances to dealing with a power-hungry person. Tend to be overwhelmed at the crucial moment by uncontrollable emotions. In some instances, can be set back or destroyed by the machinations of someone close.

MARS TRINE PLUTO: Much belief, warranted or not, in ability to succeed. Have the knack of having others do what is their own personal duty.

MARS OPPOSITE PLUTO: Very little sense of fear. Competitive in minor matters. Have a trigger-temper of which only those close are aware. Often have to struggle against powerful forces for what is wanted, and success is not always forthcoming.

JUPITER CONJUNCT SATURN: Would like to soar, but wings are clipped.

JUPITER SQUARE SATURN: Dislike authority figures, but are adept at dealing with them, and at getting the system to work for their benefit. Take direction badly because of the conviction that they know better, but responsible positions or duties are either refused or avoided.

JUPITER SQUARE NEPTUNE: Tend to pussy-foot around or avoid dealing with troublesome issues. Minor problems thus gradually become major worries. Unhappiness and losses occur through leaving things unresolved or being too late in acting. In female charts, one whose life is affected by the habits of a family member, e.g., duplicity, gambling, alcoholism, mental illness. The partner may be a 'weak reed' when emotional understanding or support is needed.

JUPITER TRINE NEPTUNE: A ministering urge. The wish to 'make the world a better place'. In female charts, one whose life is affected by the habits of a family member, e.g., duplicity, gambling, alcoholism, mental illness. The partner may be a 'weak reed' when emotional understanding or support is needed.

JUPITER OPPOSITE NEPTUNE: Trust the wrong people—can be led astray through false promises. Have faith in their own judgements. The judgements are often influenced by worldly or spiritual ambitions. May ignore the psychological needs of offspring; can be domineering when there are conflicts, otherwise indulgent and over-generous.

JUPITER TRINE PLUTO: Receive payouts (government claims, insurance, etc.), or cash in hand from other resources such as legacies, sale of property, spouse, but make unwise use of what is given. Easy come, easy go.

JUPITER OPPOSITE PLUTO: Physical or mental or spiritual exploration. A gambling instinct. Have a blind sort of optimism in the face of standstill or no growth.

Editor's Note: I have been struck by Jenifer's percipience in her notes to the above planetary aspects and those that appeared in the previous Issues. Many of her comments I can verify from my own experience, and I have not seen them in any printed book or text. They are a great help to the expansion of our knowledge of aspects and to the comprehensive résumé I am planning to produce at a later date. Well done, Jenifer, and many thanks!

Other readers are invited to add their experience also. You do not have to produce a lengthy article—even a sentence or two would be useful, and appreciated. ■

MARY'S LOTTERY WIN

from the standpoint of Uranian Astrology
by Nicholas D. Sutherland

The fact that Mary won the lottery (Issue 165) reminded me of an earlier article I wrote on a lottery winner showing how Uranian Astrology picks them.

Rather than show an actual 90° dial, I've included the numerical equivalents for the planetary positions and pictures. In some cases 45° is added/subtracted to bring a position to the vertical axis, or 22½° is added/subtracted to bring a position to the horizontal axis.

Pl	Planet	Geo Lon	R _x	90 Dial
Asc	Ascendant	09° 47'		009° 47'
Vix	Vertex	21° 18'		051° 18'
Eq	Eq. Asc.	03° 40'		063° 40'
⊗	Part Fortn	11° 32'		011° 32'
Mc	Midheaven	29° 33'		059° 33'
☾	Moon	05° 24'		065° 24'
☼	Sun	03° 39'		063° 39'
☿	Mercury	02° 32'	R _x	062° 32'
♀	Venus	17° 52'		017° 52'
♂	Mars	01° 33'		001° 33'
♃	Jupiter	25° 56'		025° 56'
♄	Saturn	25° 34'		025° 34'
♅	Uranus	23° 20'	R _x	053° 20'
♆	Neptune	11° 17'	R _x	041° 17'
♇	Pluto	06° 57'	R _x	066° 57'
Ω	Node	06° 34'		066° 34'
Mc	Midheaven	29° 33'		059° 33'

Mary is likely to be a participant in a lottery. The Uranian picture is Jupiter+Neptune-Ascendant, and it equals her MC. But the crucial question is, if she participates in a lottery will she be a winner?

A study of Mary's MC (I, me) at her birthplace shows the following significant pictures:

MC = 59°33', I...
Jup+Nep-Asc = 57°17', Participant in a lottery.

Jup+Apo-Asc,
12°33'+45° = 57°33', Participant in a vast amount of money.

Jup+Ura-Moo
13°53'+45° = 58°53', Unexpected good fortune of a female.

Jup+Nep-Ura
13°54'+45° = 58°54', Suddenly getting money which is easily earned.
Apo+Vul-Jup = 59°06' Great fortune, prosperity, wealth and success.
Jup+Apo-Ura = 59°10', Sudden great gains.
Jup+Ura-Sun = 60°38', Luck of the day.

Mary's birthplace-Ascendant (this place) also shows the possibility of winning money:

GLASGOW-ASC 9°47', At this place...
Jup+Vul-MC = 9°54', Have good luck.

And then Mary moved from her birthplace, Glasgow, to Australia. How did this new location affect the luck promised at birth?

NSW-MC 11°24', I...
Jupiter/Neptune 11°07', Easily acquired money.
Jupiter/Apollon 11°15', Multitude of money.
Jup+Ura+Ari
79°17'+22.5° = 11°47', Lottery.

So moving from Glasgow to NSW did not negate her chance to win.

What triggered Mary's sudden good luck? True Solar-Arc is used to Direct the positions. We find that MC-d (read as "the individual at this age") is approaching Natal Jupiter (25°57'), and Jupiter-d, 14°21' is approaching MC-n, 14°33'. On August 11, 1994 transiting Jupiter (33°3'-22.5° = 14°33') hit MC-n, 14°33' triggering the accompanying good luck/big money pictures mentioned earlier.

MC-n 14°33', I...
Jupiter-d 14°21', Good luck at this age.
Moon-d 14°36', A female who has reached this age.
Jupiter-t 14°33', Good luck on this day.
Sun-d+Sun-t+Sun-r 14°30', An individual (Sun-n) who has reached this age (Sun-d) on this day (Sun-t)

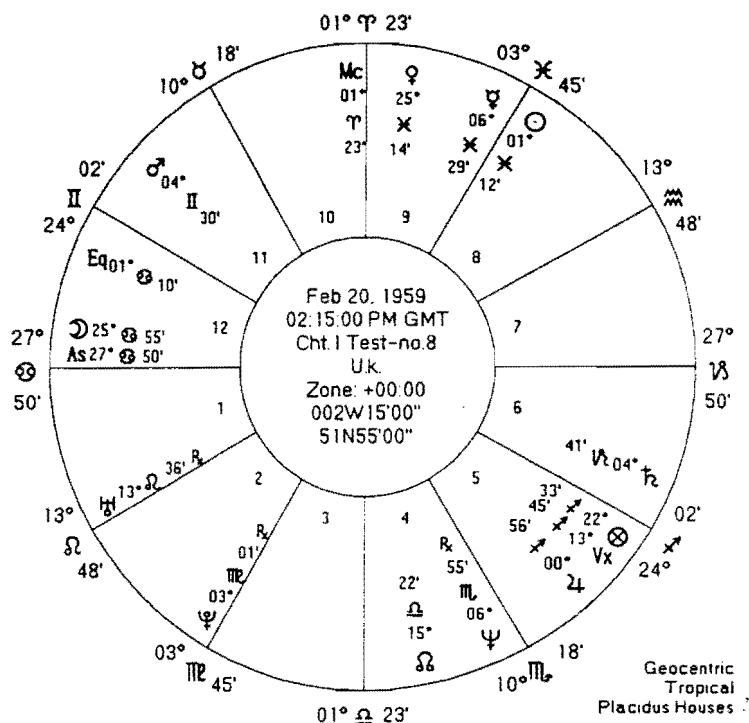

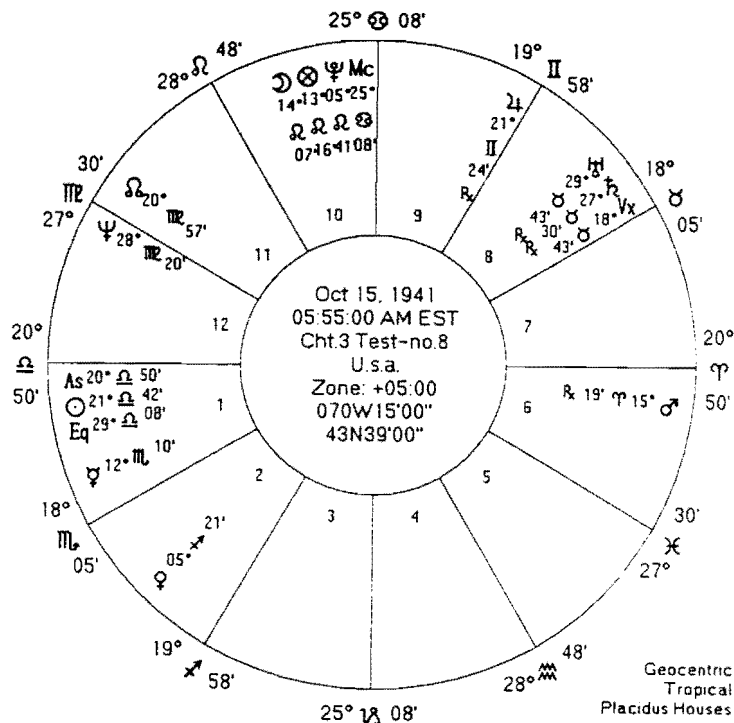

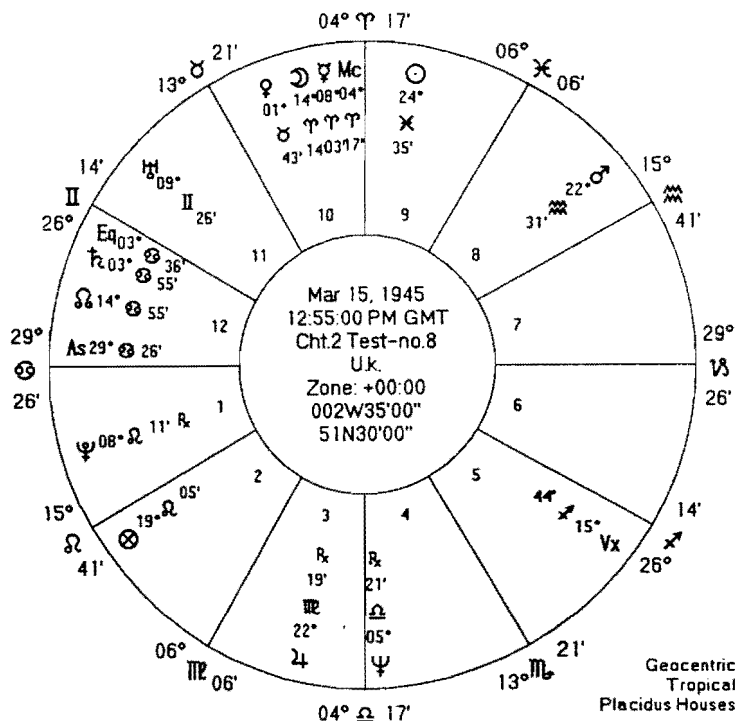

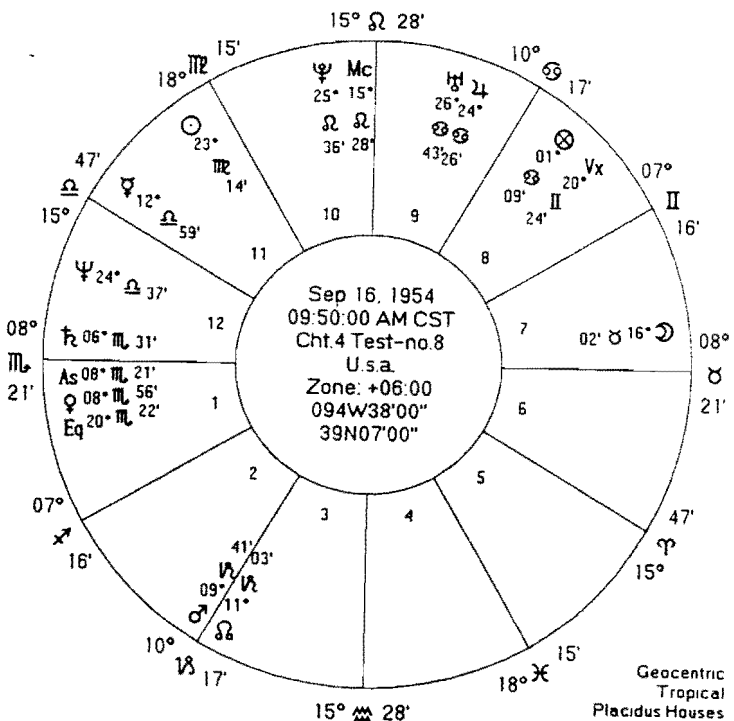

Mary's Directed MC [Solar-Arc] points to the same conclusion:

MC-d [2°57'Aries] 2°57', At this age, I...
Jupiter-n 3°27', Good luck.
Jup+Plu-Ari 2°53', Fortunate change.
Jup+Vul-Nod 47°53'-45° 2°53', Connected with mighty luck.

[AP = Appollon, VU = Vulcan, AR = 0° Aries] ■

TEST NO. 8Supplied by Dr Margaret Millard

The four Charts below are all of women. Three are medical doctors, and one is not. Which is the odd one out?

CHT.1 TEST-NO.8CHT.3 TEST-NO.8*CHT.2 TEST-NO.8*CHT.4 TEST-NO.8

Please send your entries to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW AUSTRALIA 2074, not later than 15th February 1996.

Your subscription will be extended by three months for a correct entry. Include the astrological reasoning that inspired your answer. ■

More Horary Charts are wanted for practice by readers. If you have any, whether or not you solved them correctly at the time, please send them in. The Charts generally need to be free of the astrological

"Strictures", that is, apposite to the question asked, not with a void-of-course Moon, or an Ascendant within the first or last 3° of a Sign.

My kind regards to all. —Dymock, 30th Dec.1995.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath, NSW, Australia, 2785.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issues 170/171 September/October 1995

A red sticker on your copy means your subscription is due.

Editor's new address
Page 8

Answering the Question in our last Issue—

WHAT HAPPENED TO HEIDI on 4th August 1990?

She disappeared, and was murdered. Nick Sutherland (USA), who supplied the information and data, writes as follows:

"Shortly before noon on August 4, 1990, 11-year old Heidi separated from a friend less than a mile from her home and disappeared. They were walking towards Heidi's house along a wooded, deserted stretch of Stahl Road after spending the night together. A red car reportedly drove past the girls three times just before the disappearance, which was reported to authorities at 12:01 pm."

A three-week search for Heidi ended on Saturday, 25th August 1990. Her body was found by a rancher around 4:30 pm in a desolate area about eight miles north of Wimberley, Texas. She had apparently been bound with ligatures, wrapped in a blanket, and stuffed inside some plastic bags. The bundle was tied together with rope. Due to the state of decomposition Heidi may have been killed shortly

In This Issue...

	Page
What did happen to Heidi.....	1
Test No.4—Results	3
New Test, No.6, Sorting Four Charts.....	4
Test No.5 (Pregnancy)—Results	5
New Test, No.7 ("What Happened...")	6
Sequel to Sorting Test No.2	6
Planetary Aspects	6
The 1995 Melbourne Cup.....	8

after her abduction. The identification was made through dental records.

So far the case has not been resolved. The father is in the military. His boss was and still is under suspicion, but nothing has ever been proved.

Nick analysed the case using Uranian (Hamburg School) methods, which pointed to murder. (See later in this article.)

In Heidi's Birth Chart (adjacent column) the potential for trouble is shown by the Ruler, the Moon, in the 12th House (misfortunes, etc.) opposite Neptune and square Saturn. Ominously, Saturn rules the House of Death. A conjunction of Mars, Mercury and Neptune in the 6th House is square to Saturn in the 4th (end of life), ruling the 7th and 8th (the 4th, 6th, 8th and 12th all being traditionally "unfavourable" Houses). Traditionally, also, a life was rated as being short if "malefics" afflicted both Sun and Moon, or if either Luminary was afflicted by two "malefics".

Heidi's Solar-Return Chart above is notably adverse—Neptune and Saturn in almost exact conjunction right on the Ascendant and afflicting Venus, all four points being sextile to Mars in Scorpio on the M.C. (The sextile does not improve matters.)

Neptune is pre-eminently the planet associated with mysterious occurrences and disappearances. It's dominant position here just below the Ascendant afflicted by Angular Saturn and Mars fully justifies the gravest interpretation. How else could the planets show an abduction and murder?

The conjunction of Venus with Saturn and Neptune suggests a sexual assault (as also the conjunction of Mars with Natal Venus), and the opposition of Jupiter to Neptune, Saturn and Venus implies that Heidi's luck was out, and she probably went unsuspectingly with her murderer.

LUNAR RETURN - HEIDI

The train of planetary afflictions continues with Heidi's Lunar Return and her Day Chart for 4th August 1990. In the Lunar Return above, covering the date of the disappearance, the Moon rules the Chart and is almost exactly on the 12th (Placidian) Cusp. The 12th House has a correlation with Neptune and is associated with mystery disappearances. Saturn ruling the 7th and 8th Houses (other people, and death), opposes the Sun and Jupiter on the Ascendant, the Ascendant being representative of the native. Jupiter's traditional benefic nature is vitiated by the opposition of Saturn, and was not sufficient to save Heidi.

DAY 4/8/90 HEIDI

Heidi's Day Chart (above) for the 4th of August is ruled by Saturn, which is conjunct the Moon in the 12th House, together with Uranus and Neptune. Pluto is elevated and dominant, almost precisely opposite Mars (orb only 10') and both form a T-Square with the Sun—a configuration typical of violent death.

On 4th August, the day of the disappearance, Venus was transiting square to Natal Pluto at 11:41am—almost exactly the time of Heidi's disappearance. Transiting Mars was opposite Uranus just four days later.

Midpoint Progressions were equally sinister: Progressed Mars/Neptune square Progressed MC on 3rd August, and the Solar-Arc Direction of Mars/Uranus to Natal Mars on 5th August.

Nick Sutherland, analysing Heidi's Horoscope by the Uranian methods, points out that the MC at 66°11' (90° dial) = MA+SA-NE, 66°22', indicating that she could experience death through treachery or cunning. In addition, her birthplace Asc 5°55' (near environment/others) =

SU/UR 5°46': Sudden events caused by others.
UR/VU 5°46': Suddenly exposed to violent acts of others.

MA+SA-UR 6°21': Sudden death through others.

This Exercise—to discover what happened to Heidi—was not an easy one, however clear it looks in hindsight, and only three readers essayed the task. They are to be commended for their efforts. They are rewarded by the additional insight into Astrology that they will have gained. Only those who seriously attempt the various Exercises and Tests presented in this publication will realize what a benefit they are. Summarized, the answers were—

Entrant No.1: The Annual and Monthly Charts having both favourable and unfavourable indications, Heidi survived some threat to herself, probably an accident.

Entrant No.2: A tonsillectomy—from Mars and Saturn in the Solar Return indicating surgery, Venus, the throat.

Entrant No.3: A big win or inheritance. ■

TEST NO. 4, sorting the Charts of the antique dealer, the physician and the research chemist, (see page 7 of last Issue) was conducted by Ross Harvey, who reports as follows:

There were five entries for the latest test. The details are as follows. The correct answer is 1, 2, 3, i.e. chemist, doctor and antique dealer.

Entry 1: 3, 2, 1.

Entry 2: 1, 2, 3.

Entry 3: 1, 3, 2.

Entry 4: 3, 2, 1.

Entry 5: 3, 1, 2.

Especial congratulations must go to Dymock Brose, who got all three right at his first attempt. Dymock has shown us that it is possible to correctly determine the vocations by using traditional methods, as has one other person previously, although she didn't send in her results. Congratulations also to Jenifer Pommerin and Susan Camilleri, who both got the doctor, and to Margaret Millard, who got the chemist.

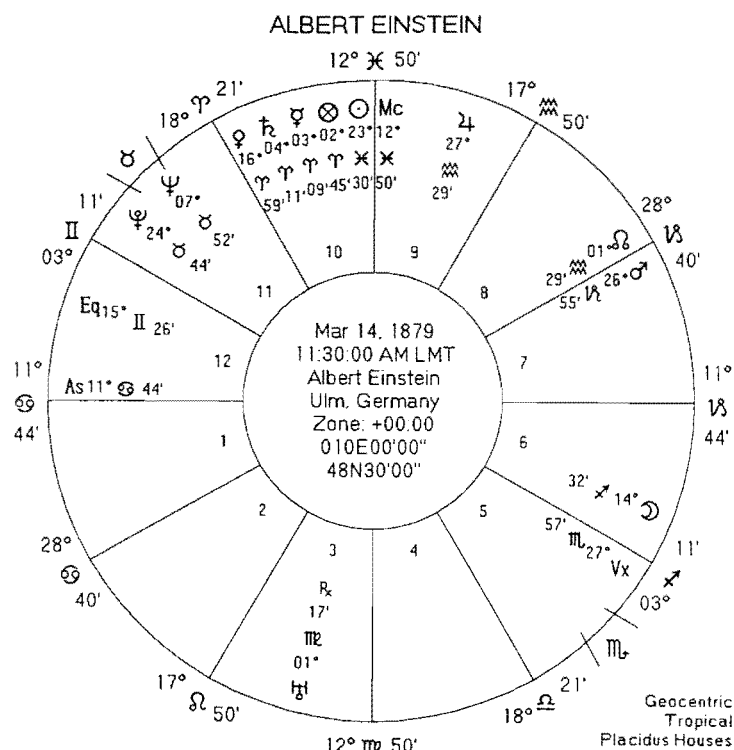

It is worth quoting Dymock's answers in full:

Chart No.1 is the research chemist—Venus, ruling the 10th House (profession) in Scorpio (research, probing) in the 12th House (laboratories, etc.) trine to the Vertex and Pluto (research) in the 8th House.

Chart No.2 is the physician—Strong emphasis on Virgo (health and healing); Taurus rising (healing power); Saturn, Co-Ruler of 10th House, in Taurus conjunct Jupiter; The Moon in the 6th House in Scorpio; Uranus, Co-Ruler of 10th, trine Neptune (empathy).

Chart No.3 is the antique dealer—Aquarius at the Midheaven; Ruler of 10th, Saturn (old things), trine the Moon; Uranus (antiques), Co-Ruler of 10th, contra-parallel the Sun.

Here are my own suggestions. I would have found this test easy, as should anyone who had read my comments on the previous test. Uranus is overwhelmingly the planet of science and technology, and when it is closely aspected by the personal points (Sun, Moon, Ascendant and MC), a scientific or technical career should be suspected. Einstein's Chart is a typical example: Uranus is in close aspect to all four personal points, 50° to the Ascendant (orb 0°27'), seven semi-octiles to the Sun (157°30', orb 0°17'), biseptile Moon (orb 0° 24') and 7/15ths to the MC (orb 0°27'). Chart No.1 has Uranus almost exactly conjunct the Moon, both sesquare the Ascendant and again almost exactly 110° to the Sun. He is the chemist.

I have noticed that doctors frequently have the Moon and Saturn strong, either by being in aspect to each other or by having each in aspect to an Angle. Chart No. 2 has the Moon almost exactly opposite Saturn (and Jupiter) across the Ascendant-Descendant axis. He is the doctor.

I would have had more difficulty with the antique dealer, as much as anything because I have not seen any other charts of antique dealers. However, I think it may be significant that Chart No.3 has the Venus-Jupiter conjunction also conjunct the Sun/Neptune midpoint, with Venus closely novile Neptune, and the Sun novile Jupiter. Saturn, which is associated with old things, is 100° to Jupiter, and 140° to the Sun, both with small orbs—and opposite the MC. Venus-Neptune aspects, when close or when one or the other planet is also in aspect to the personal points, give a love of art and, in combination with Saturn, give a love of art and antiques. To make things more difficult, both the other Charts have Venus-Neptune aspects, but they are not as strongly placed as here, and Saturn is not connected with them.

CHART 1 TEST 6 SORTING

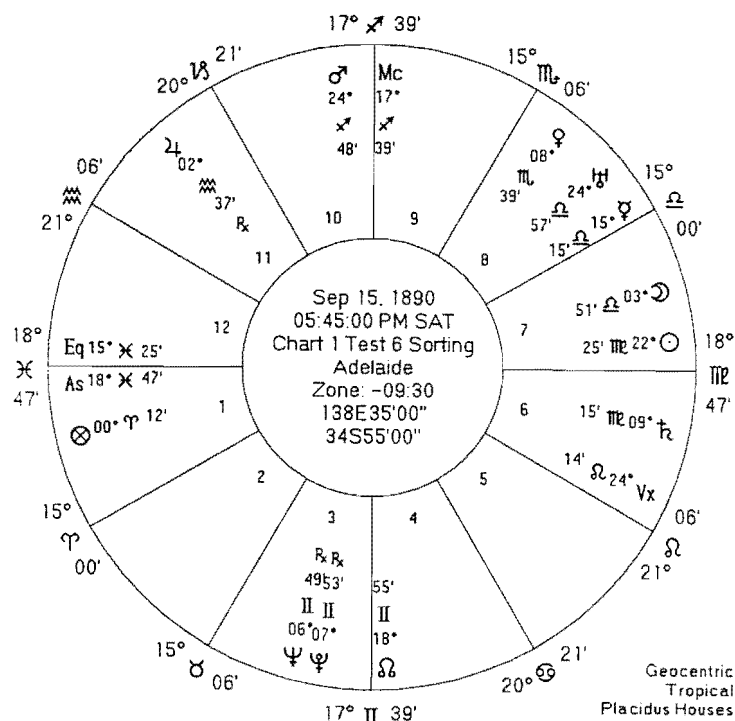

CHART 3 TEST 6 SORTING

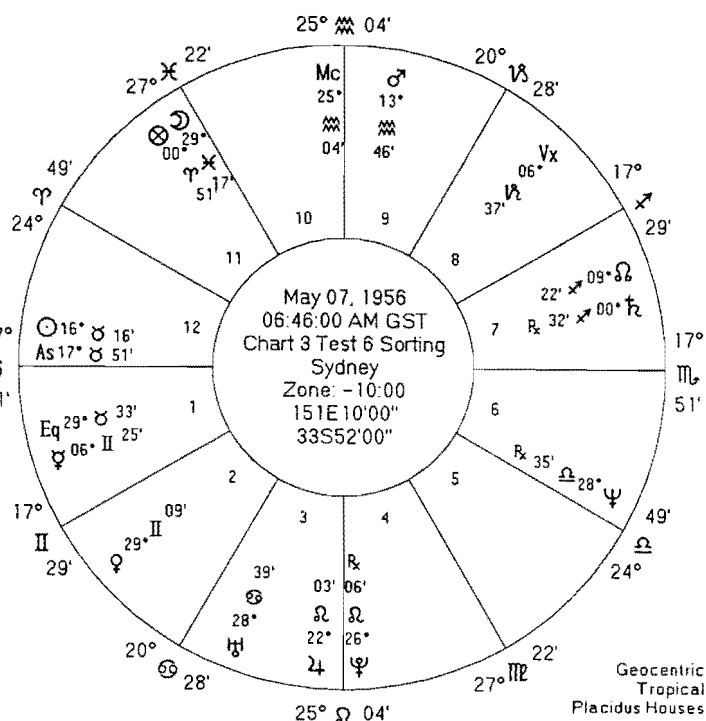

CHART 2 TEST 6 SORTING

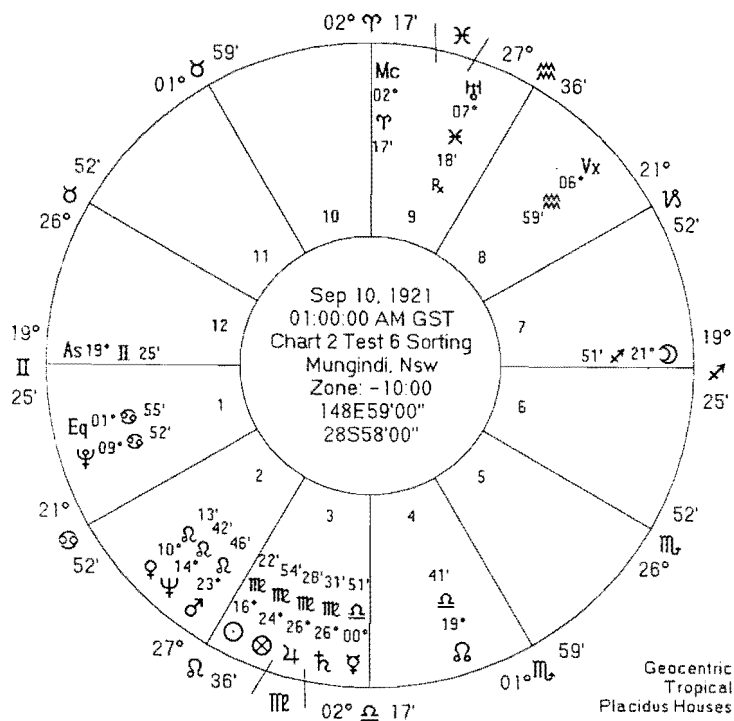

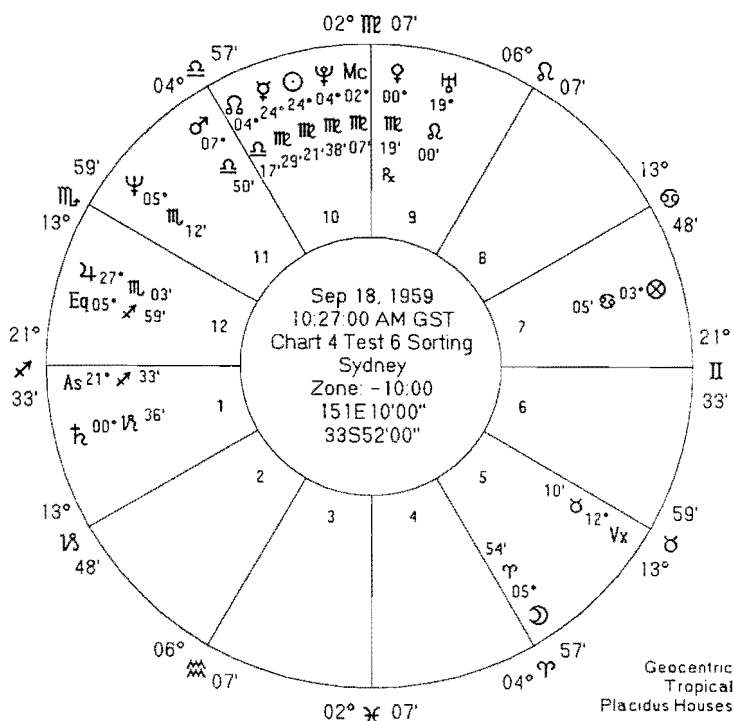

CHART 4 TEST 6 SORTING

TEST NO. 6 Sorting Four Charts

And so to the next Test. All are men, and the first is deceased. One is a naval helicopter pilot, one a successful company business executive, one a mining engineer, and one a professor of physics.

Can you sort them out? As a further test, two are very close family members. Which are they? ■

Editor's Note: As an incentive for readers to send in their answers instead of sitting on them at home, I am offering three months' free subscription for each correct answer. If you get one Chart right you get a three months' subscription, for four Charts correct, a year's subscription. Three months' subscription also for sorting the relatives correctly. To qualify, your answer should be accompanied by the astrological reasons on which it is based, to show it is not just a lucky guess. Send your replies direct to Ross Harvey.

PREGNANCY CHART NO.1

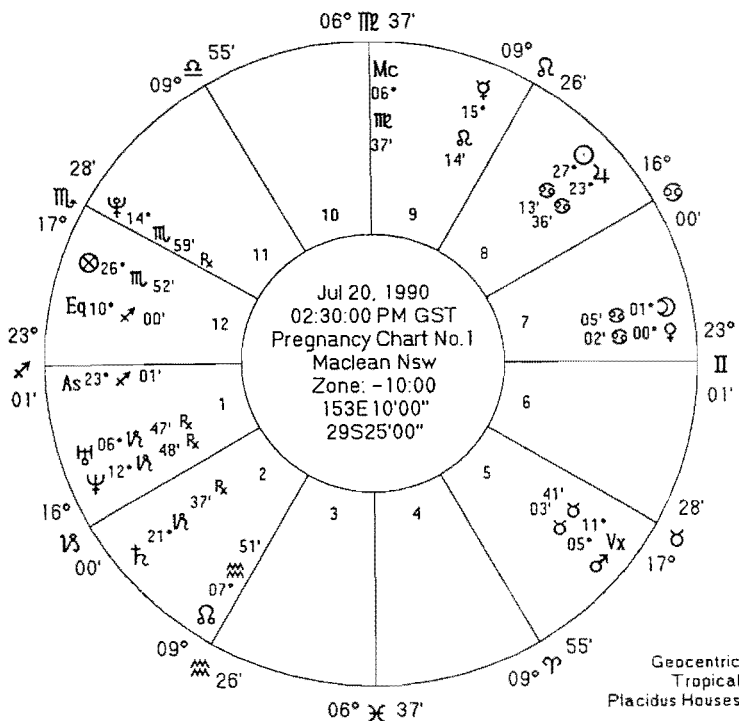

Chart 1

"The Fruitful Signs are Cancer, Scorpio and Pisces. There are no Fruitful Signs on the Ascendant or 5th House Cusp. The benefic planet Venus is in an Angle but weakened by being opposite Uranus. The Ascendant Ruler, Jupiter, and the Moon are in mixed mutual reception from an Angle, which gives hopes but no real assurance. The Moon is sextile the 5th House Ruler. On balance I would say there is not enough to indicate pregnancy, only the hopes for one."

Chart 2

"The 5th House Ruler, Venus, is in the 1st House, which is a positive sign. Venus as a benefic is in the 1st House with Gemini on the Cusp and the Moon in a Mutable Sign, all of which is an indication of twins. The sex is probably male as the Signs on the Ascendant and 5th House are male, and Mercury, Ruler of the Ascendant and the hour, is in a male Sign." [The birth was, indeed, male. —Ed.]

From my own reading of Chart No.1 I would say that Susan Camilleri, Ross Harvey and Jillian Boton, the three other entrants who judged that it showed pregnancy were not wrong, because the woman was pregnant at the time the question was asked, but the pregnancy did not progress to full term.

My approach is that the astrologer has to look at the separating aspects of the Moon to see if the woman has conceived. The House to be looked at is the 8th (for conception), not the 5th (for birth). In Chart No.1, the Moon ruling the 8th House is separating from Venus, The Unifier, in the 7th House, showing that there has been sexual union with the partner, and conception has actually occurred, but the Moon then applies to Uranus and Neptune which indicates a spontaneous abortion (not an uncommon thing) about five days after the question was asked (the Moon 5°+ from the opposition of Uranus). So I consider Susan, Ross and Jillian were right about the pregnancy even though it was not followed by a birth.

In Chart No.2 the Moon is Angular in Pisces (the most fertile Sign) and separating from the trine of Mars and Pluto (conception), both in Fertile Signs, so the woman is pregnant. The Moon being "void of course" I interpret as meaning that nothing will interfere with the pregnancy, as it did in Chart No.1.

Traditionally, questions of pregnancy were answered by reference to the Moon, the 1st and 5th Houses and their Rulers. This was before the discovery or utilization of Uranus, Neptune and Pluto which have made the resolution of these questions more reliable.

PREGNANCY CHART NO.2

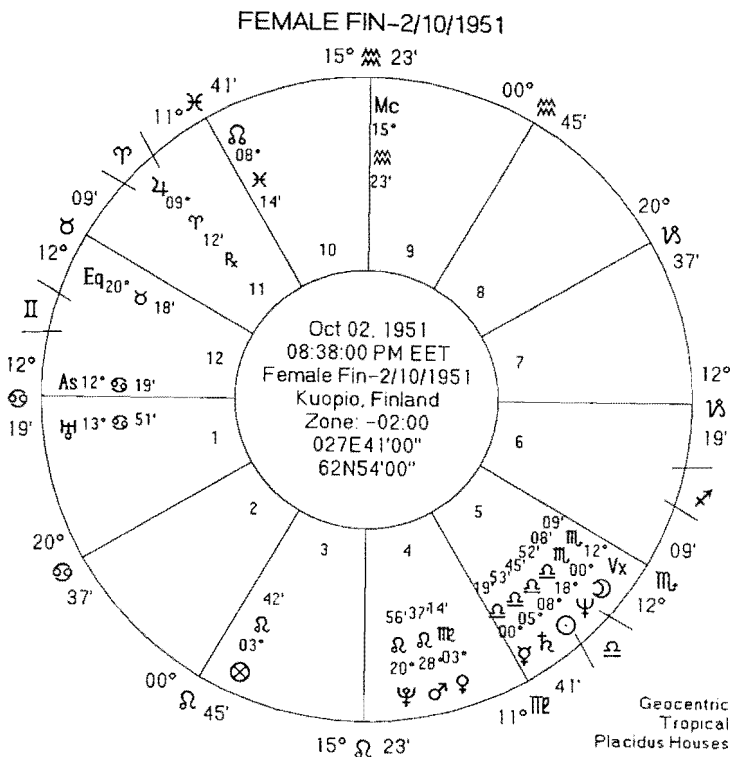

7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW Australia, 2704, by 15th December.

TEST NO. 5: Am I pregnant?

The woman who asked the question, which related to herself, supplied the answers, which were—

Chart No.1: NO. Chart No.2: YES.

The two Charts are reproduced on the next page. There were four entries, and Anne Elliott (Qld.) is to be congratulated on obtaining the correct answer to both questions. Anne's reasoning was—

TEST NO. 7

Ross Harvey asks a further question relating to the Finnish woman who was the subject of an earlier Test. Her Birth Chart is reproduced above. The question is: What happened to her on the 16th of September 1995 (in Sydney)?

As before, please send in your answers to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW 2074 by 15th December.

A SEQUEL TO SORTING TEST NO.2

by Jack Nicholls

Ross Harvey pointed out that when he set the Test he examined the charts of a number of astrologers and found that they commonly had Neptunian rather than the expected Uranian aspects.

When I worked on the Test and looked for the astrologer I started by examining Uranian aspects, and arrived at an erroneous answer. There was a close trine between Uranus and the Ascendant in No.2 Chart, and a 135° aspect between Uranus and the Ascendant for No.3.

These sorting tests are valuable practice and I decided to derive some belated benefit from the exercise. I first established a data base of 100 astrologers, gleaned this information from a variety of sources. A further mixed group of non-astrologers was obtained from Astro-Data II by Lois Rodden. Contacts between Uranus and Neptune, and Sun and Moon were sought for the nine standard aspects (0°, 30°, 45°, 60°, 90°, 120°, 135°, 150°, and 180°) using an orb of 3°. Aspects to the Angles were not examined in case of imprecision in the birth data.

The results showed that for the astrologers there were 56 aspects to the Sun and 55 to the Moon, with 53 involving Uranus and 58 Neptune. For the non-astrologer group, the proportion was 24% for Uranus, 30% for Neptune, 20% for the Sun and 38% for the Moon. Clearly, Neptune must be considered equally with Uranus, thus supporting Ross's finding. The combined aspects for the astrologers totalled 82%, compared with 54% for the non-astrologers. Therefore, using the combined approach in a sorting exercise would not definitely select the astrologer.

Mid-points were examined next with the orb reduced to 2°. Ebertin suggests that the Mercury/-Uranus midpoint is the indicator for astrologers. The two lists were examined for aspects between the Sun, Moon and this midpoint. The astrologers registered 24% contacts compared with 10% for the non-astrologers. Ross believes that the Mercury/-Uranus midpoint is relevant for science and technology, and hence would be more applicable to those astrologers who are involved with computers and programming.

Other midpoint possibilities are Uranus/Neptune with the Sun and Moon, and Sun/Moon with Uranus and Neptune. The results were indifferent, with Uranus/Neptune versus Sun and Moon giving 45% contacts for the astrologers and 57% for the others, Uranus or Neptune versus the Sun/Moon producing 55% contacts for each group, and Uranus/Neptune versus Sun/Moon yielding 65% for the astrologers and 77% for the non-astrologers.

Ross has suggested that minor aspects, and indeed micro-aspects yield good results for this work. I suggest an orb of 30' for the Quintile and Septile series, and 8' for the micro-aspects would be appropriate in the present case. However, I have reservations about the latter, as in the interval from 0° to 180°, with only harmonic numbers up to 25 under consideration, there are 81 aspects. Nevertheless, applying these criteria to the two lists there are no significant differences in the number of acceptable aspects between the astrologers and non-astrologers.

PLANETARY ASPECTS

Anne Elliott (Qld) writes—

Jenifer Pommerin is a lovely person, but Moon conjunct Jupiter!! There are some of us out here who say we are not hidden bigots. Yes, I'm adaptable and had marked mood swings until I got old enough and wise enough to hide it back there with the bigotry. Whoops! And all the rest of what she says I can't relate to at all. Jenifer, did you do this to stir?

Now on the lovely interpretation from the Editor. I lay claim to all those good qualities except forgiveness. Hard for some Cancerians. My conjunction is in Libra in the 3rd House conjunct the I.C. It seems to give a love of learning, of moving to bigger houses, of sloth, the good life, over-indulgence, optimism and some luck.

I'll be interested to hear others on Moon opposite Jupiter as my son has that. The only comment I get from his astrologer is "I see you are the cause of most of his problems". which is not a useful interpretation. Nearly all mothers are the fault of nearly all their son's faults aren't they? His opposition is across the 3rd-9th axis in Virgo-Pisces. He has to be encouraged to study, came to tertiary study later than his friends, and takes sloth to an art form. He will never discuss his school marks so doesn't do it for recognition, though he likes certificates for achievement. He hates owing money, plays lots of sports, which is the only time he moves. He collects martial art weapons, practises with them and hates violence. He has studied all martial arts forms superficially. He has been heard to say, "There was a fight at indoor cricket last night. I was going to get involved but it was too far to walk". His motto is surely, "Suppose they gave a war and nobody came."

Re MOON CONJUNCT JUPITER in the last Issue: Jenifer Pommerin writes that it was not her intention to give the possessors of this aspect such a bad press, although it reads that way. The other [desirable] traits listed in the last Issue are equally valid. Jenifer wanted to emphasize the less well-known traits and known ones that were 'right' time and again. Moon conjunct Jupiter can be indicative of a very high level of spirituality, but because this occurrence is fairly uncommon (with most astrologers being theoretically aware of it) it wasn't included.

Jenifer adds, "I found the Natal Chart of D'Jango O'Hara [murder-suspect] very interesting with the placement of "good-natured, amiable, tolerant and forgiving" Jupiter prominently placed in the public sector of the Chart. Zeus, with his irrational outbursts of rage and his megalomania often comes to mind when I think of Jupiter!"

PLANETARY ASPECTS (Contd.)

by Jenifer Pommerin

[Readers are reminded that what follows are experiences of Jenifer with the effect of the various aspects she writes about. They are not meant to be definitive but simply an addition to our current knowledge. Contributions from other astrologers would be most welcome.]

MOON SQUARE JUPITER: The obvious is often not seen, or else is deliberately ignored. Impractical in at least one direction—the judgement being greatly affected by personal desires. Can be thoughtless or regardless of the feelings of others. Easily get what is wanted in adult life. There is a self-indulgence, a "me first" in the nature. Or there is a close relationship with a person who has the aforementioned traits. In female charts the partner may be a heavy drinker or very impractical in some way.

MOON TRINE JUPITER: A very honourable and truthful nature. High morals.

MOON CONJUNCT SATURN: The effect can be shyness or inhibitions, with the concern to behave appropriately. Some will have a grasping, mean attitude where money is concerned. The nature will be either very unselfish (self-sacrificing) or quite uncaring about the needs of others. May be disliked by the father, or the father is absent for long periods (male charts); or disliked by the mother, or the mother is absent for long periods (female charts).

MOON TRINE SATURN: Reliable and conscientious. Takes life seriously. Exercises much self-control, especially in marital life. The partner may be narrow-minded or "difficult" in some way.

MOON OPPOSITE SATURN: In female charts, can be an aspect of divorce where marital unhappiness, unkindness and frustration is experienced, especially if the Sun is in adverse aspect to Uranus. The same unhappiness is more likely to be endured where there are few separative aspects in the chart. In male charts, the home life may take second place to the demands of the workplace, but there can be a longing for the warmth and affection of family life. In the latter years of life, there can be a welcome improvement with more time spent with the family, and a greater closeness.

MOON SQUARE SATURN: In its worst form, a bitter, mean and resentful nature. There can be jealousy of another's success, and considerable self-pity. Will withdraw from, or not undertake, any activity if personal satisfaction or benefit is non-forthcoming. Can be suspicious of people in general, including friends and family. Like to be in sole charge of their own life, and of family members. The above is greatly modified if Saturn should be in aspect to Venus or Jupiter. Early experiences deeply affect the child (sometimes unconsciously), resulting in a hardening in some way of the adult's thinking or reasoning processes. In formative years the mother is absent or dislikes the child (female charts). In formative years, the father is absent or dislikes the child (male charts). Are capable of functioning at a greater capacity or higher level—but the opportunity for this may not eventuate; or the opportunity may be rejected (a fear of failure).

MOON OPPOSITE URANUS: Tend to be loners even where there is an active social or family life. An isolating factor is present, e.g., a physical disability, foreign birth, a dislike of 'ties that bind'. In female charts, divorce is a possibility.

MOON SQUARE NEPTUNE: The same urge to help others is present as in the opposition—but the help may be more effective. Often are in situations where their services are required, e.g., serious sickness in the family, accommodation for visitors, provision of transport, etc. Where there is not a strong Saturn influence, the tendency is towards an over-estimation of one's gifts or abilities. There can be a "saviour" complex. In its most negative form, the considerable charm is used to cheat and delude others. There can be illegal activities with subterfuge on a major scale.

MOON TRINE NEPTUNE: Seem to receive a great deal of help from others, and this is taken for granted. Will often gain and hold a job for reasons other than expertise or qualifications.

MOON OPPOSITE NEPTUNE: In its worst form, can indicate the ability to successfully deceive others—a charming but scheming nature. Slander is freely dispensed—a skilled story-teller where the truth becomes lost. In the more positive form, which is that of a kind and sympathetic nature, it is white lies that may be told in order to help boost spirits. There is usually a strong urge to bring comfort to others, e.g., visiting the sick, preaching the gospel, etc., but the ministrations may not always be welcome.

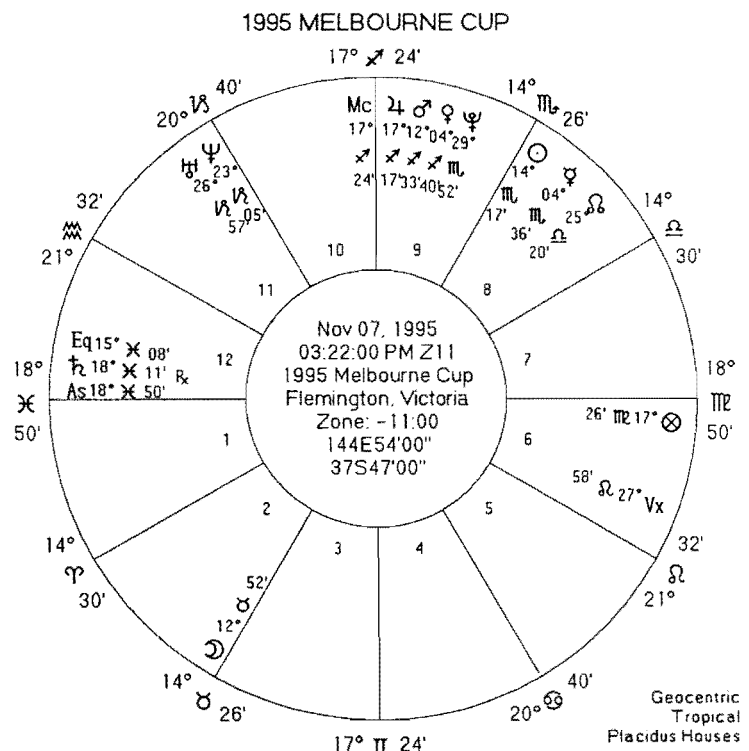

MOON-PLUTO: Women with the Moon (the nurturing womb) in aspect to Pluto, a planet that "destroys", are less likely to nurture a foetus. This can be due to a natural physical condition, or a deliberate decision to terminate or prevent a pregnancy.

MOON CONJUNCT PLUTO: Rarely re-consider judgements or decisions—tend to get fixated on certain character traits of an individual, or certain aspects of a problem, and ignore all other considerations. Very conscious of their worth and will not forgive those who humiliate them—in some cases, will sever all ties and avoid any future interaction. Deeply attached to family members (either parents or children, etc., female charts). There is emotional turmoil when such attachments are threatened or undergo change.

MOON TRINE PLUTO: Traumatic experiences in the domestic spheres—there can be a sort of "brainwashing" atmosphere that seeks to demolish self-confidence. The partner may be domineering or unknowingly demanding. There is a denial of self-expression in some way, in various degrees. The trine can lead to a slow transformation where an inner detachment is developed, or to a great inner strength, a wisdom that will help others in similar circumstances. [More next Issue—comments and additions reflecting your own experience are welcomed.—Ed.]

THE 1995 MELBOURNE CUP

Australia's most famous horse-race will be run again on Tuesday, 7th November. Many a non-gambler is tempted to try his luck on this one occasion. From the point of view of the astrologer it is another opportunity to test the applicability of planetary influence.

The above Chart is drawn for the estimated finishing time of the race. Note the prominence of Jupiter, dominant in its own Sign conjunct the MC and ruling the Ascendant. Look for a name that suggests Jupiterian characteristics—foreign-sounding, legal, religious, affluent, large, etc.—and the number 3.

After 23 years in the Blue Mountains of N.S.W. your Editor is removing to South Australia. As from November 22, 1995 my address will be—4 Leabrook Drive, Rostrevor, S.A 5073.
Phone 08 336 1956. Fax 08 336 1600.

My kind regards to all,

Dymock,
 21st November, 1995.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath, NSW, Australia, 2785.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 168/169 July/August 1995

PLANETARY ASPECTS (Contd.)

by Jenifer Pommerin

SUN CONJUNCT PLUTO: In its worst form, an unfeeling person, or one who is closely linked to such a person. Decisions are made to profit themselves—but the personal rationale is "I did it for you". Must be in control of finances and will not share (or there is an association with such a person). The intensity and determination of Pluto is well-hidden. Can appear sweet and helpless (female charts); or upright and open (male charts). A major crisis (illness, bankruptcy, etc.) can strip the heart and bring about a reformation of character through the profound realization of spiritual (or other) values.

SUN SQUARE PLUTO: In female charts, usually manifests as a physical or material condition. Check the House position of the two planets, e.g., 1st House = severe and devastating health problems that cause a major and lasting change in thinking or attitudes. Generally quite reserved until a degree of familiarity is established—then very forthright with opinions. Are excellent and loyal friends. Have a personality that is not easily overlooked, and are often respected for their courage and ability to rise above very adverse circumstances.

SUN TRINE PLUTO: Often have to cope with uncongenial situations where the exercise of personal power is denied. Individual reactions vary from explosive rages and revengeful plots to the practice of acceptance and tolerance. The trine can be a redemptive influence in that there can be a transformation within the character to a greater or lesser degree.

MOON SQUARE MERCURY: Poor understanding of offspring and children in general. Often influenced by book knowledge or "experts", and fail to cope with the real child.

MOON OPPOSITE MERCURY: As the square. Have too strong a belief in the powers of verbal encouragement. Will push the child to achieve. This aspect is often found in the charts of teachers and coaches where there is the practice of child-theory but no real understanding of individual needs. Excellent ability to adjust to all levels of society.

In This Issue...

	Page
Planetary Aspects (Continued).....	1
Reader's Digest, Atlas of the World	2
The Cycles of Time —Numerology	2
A Further Look at Yugoslavia	3
Test No.3— What happened to Heidi ?	4
Paul Keating's Birth Time.	4
Ascertaining the Influence of Fixed Stars	4
Sorting Test No.2—Results	5
Test No.4—Sorting Charts	7
D'Jango O'Hara (murder suspect).....	8
Test No.5—Horary, Am I Pregnant?	8

MOON SQUARE VENUS: The marital partner may be unreliable or self-indulgent (female charts). In male charts the marital partner may be "too" independent. The partner could be a disappointment in these respects, but otherwise there is conjugal happiness (depending on other chart considerations).

MOON TRINE VENUS: The confidence of the trine can manifest as a decided "pickiness" in female charts. This is more noticeable in family circles and with close friends. There is a sensitivity to anything that is not polite or nice, and the tendency to take comments personally.

Women with the Moon (the nurturing womb) in aspect to Mars, a planet that "destroys", are less likely to nurture a foetus. This can be due to a natural physical condition, or a deliberate decision to terminate or prevent a pregnancy.

MOON CONJUNCT MARS: Like to be mentally or physically occupied. Find it difficult to be idle—are very purposeful. Can be forgetful in everyday matters. Clumsy in action. Either acutely aware and caring of how others feel, or quite insensitive and uncaring.

MOON SQUARE MARS: Can be too slow in coming to a decision where this means having to make an unwelcome but needed change; will procrastinate. An excellent memory for what interests them, otherwise do not bother. Not concerned about the feelings of others, and little thought given to their own feelings. Not well-organized in personal life or domestic matters—often run late. Careless or slapdash in action (modified if the Sun has an aspect to Saturn or Pluto). A compulsion to gamble (sometimes literally, especially if the Sun is in aspect to Pluto or Mars).

MOON TRINE MARS: Confident and sure in action. Excellent memory, becoming more forgetful with advancing years. Assertive and protective of own interests. Careless of others' sensibilities—can tread on toes.

MOON OPPOSITE MARS: A somewhat chaotic domestic life—chores, jobs, etc., not attended to until the last minute. Can be very untidy in personal habits thus constantly mislaying articles. Acutely aware of own emotions, and of how other people are feeling. Very fast reactions in a crisis or when under threat. A gambling urge (sometimes literally, especially if the Sun is in aspect to Pluto or Mars).

MOON CONJUNCT JUPITER: Can be very bigoted. This trait is not always apparent to outsiders. Very adaptable to different classes and types of people. Have marked mood swings. Capable of presenting a false image of themselves to others; or there is a close tie to a person who behaves in such a fashion. Can deliberately misrepresent a domestic or financial situation, business interests, state of health, etc. Can cheat, lie, or steal, and not get caught; or be in a relationship with such a person (willingly or unwillingly).

Editor's Note:

Jenifer's experience of Moon conjunct Jupiter will surprise many. The conventional interpretation goes something like—

Good-natured, generous, amiable, tolerant and forgiving. Socially successful, mix easily. Partial to having a good time and may neglect work and responsibilities on this account. As many of the good things of life come easily there may be a tendency for the native to relax too much.

Material affluence and physical comfort. Large-scale enterprises. In the 9th House, much travel, foreign contacts and investments. In the 10th, a career in marketing. Weight problems, especially if the conjunction occurs in a Water Sign, and particularly if in the 1st House. Liver and gall bladder ailments.

Readers are invited to submit their own findings with regard to this (or any other) planetary aspect. Accumulated experience from many quarters will help to define the effect of aspects more precisely.

What are your thoughts on MOON OPPOSITE JUPITER?

This theme will be continued in the next Issue.

Book Review:

READER'S DIGEST ATLAS OF THE WORLD

This most up-to-date atlas is an impressive production in beautiful colour that should interest all astrologers who want to see where places are—not just their coordinates. Australian astrologers are getting clients from all over the world—from places we had barely heard of a decade or so ago. It is a pleasure to look them up in this splendidly produced reference work. The pages are of strong glossy paper measuring 10½" x 14½" (26½cm x 37cm) and the maps themselves are artistically tinted and shaded to give a three-dimensional effect. The book is bound in a hard dark-blue cover with attractive gold lettering, and looks as if it would last indefinitely.

The 1995 Atlas of the World edition is revised to show new boundaries in former Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, democratic South Africa, the new Russian republics, independent Eritrea and others. It also includes a special 17-page section covering Australia New Zealand, New Guinea and Pacific Islands.

The book is not just a series of maps, beautiful as they are. There is an introductory section of no less than 64 pages dealing with the formation of the Universe, the Galaxy, our Solar System, space probes, the continental plates, oceans, mountains, rivers and lakes and a dozen other topics of absorbing interest, not to say educational value. Astrologers will be particularly interested in the depiction of the Solar System showing, in beautiful colour, the relative sizes and spacing of the planets—including Pluto, a tiny dot in comparison with the other outer planets.

The book is priced at $80, and is worth every cent.

—Dymock.

THE CYCLES OF TIME

The Cycles of Time is a computer program designed to analyse the nature and life cycles of any person born between 1583 and 2199. It utilizes the combined resources of Numerology, Astrology, Moon Phases, Bio-Rhythms and other cyclic factors into one comprehensive analysis tool. A major emphasis of the Program is to permit the rapid assessment of any period in an individual's life span. Thus in one screen you are able to overview the first 78 years of a person's life, and overall you are able to analyse any day, month or year in a 120-year life span. The Cycles of Time creates new approaches in the science of forecasting because it not only forecasts the future but also looks closely at the past as well. The reason for this is not only to provide some confidence level in future forecasts but also to tune in to the chart. There are many variables that can be in play in any life span, and one effective way to assess them is to see what events are shown or represented in the past.

The Program is the culmination of more than six years research and investigation as well as more than twenty-five years of experience of Numerology and Astrology.

The full Cycles of Time Program is not small. It contains the full interpretations of Numerology, Astrology, Moon Phases and Bio-Rhythms and takes up about 8 megabytes of hard-disk space. The full Program not only provides the means to assess the future but also, with the aid of Cycles and Fractals, gives a rationale of why forecasting is possible in the first place. The demonstration copy is a fully working program but, by necessity, is much smaller than its bigger brother and has to leave a lot out. The main functions and charts are all included, however many readings and graphics are missing.

Travel in Time with the Cycles of Time.

The Cycles of Time, Version 8.01, is the Full Cyclic Analysis Program. It requires—

IBM/Intel 386, 486, 586 or Pentium

400k Free Ram

Hard Disk with 8 megabytes of free space

VGA or SVGA Colour Monitor ONLY

MS or PC DOS 3.xx, 4.xx, 5.xx, 6.xx

All-inclusive price $99.00 (Australian).

The Cycles of Time, Version 3.08, is the Demonstration Program. It requires—

IBM/Intel 386, 486, 586 or Pentium

400K Free RAM

Hard Disk with 2 megabytes of free space

VGA or SVGA Colour Monitor ONLY

MS or PC DOS 3.xx, 4.ss, 5.xx, 6.xx

All-inclusive price $10.00 (Australian).

Please contact

John Tatler, Phone and Fax 047 826 198,

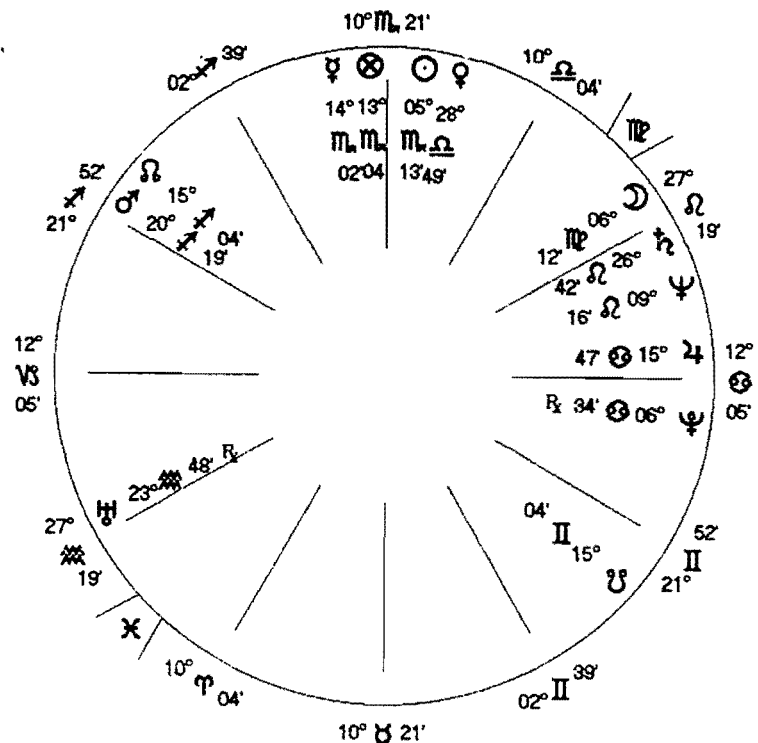

Address: 5/2 William Street, Katoomba, NSW 2780.

A FURTHER LOOK AT YUGOSLAVIA

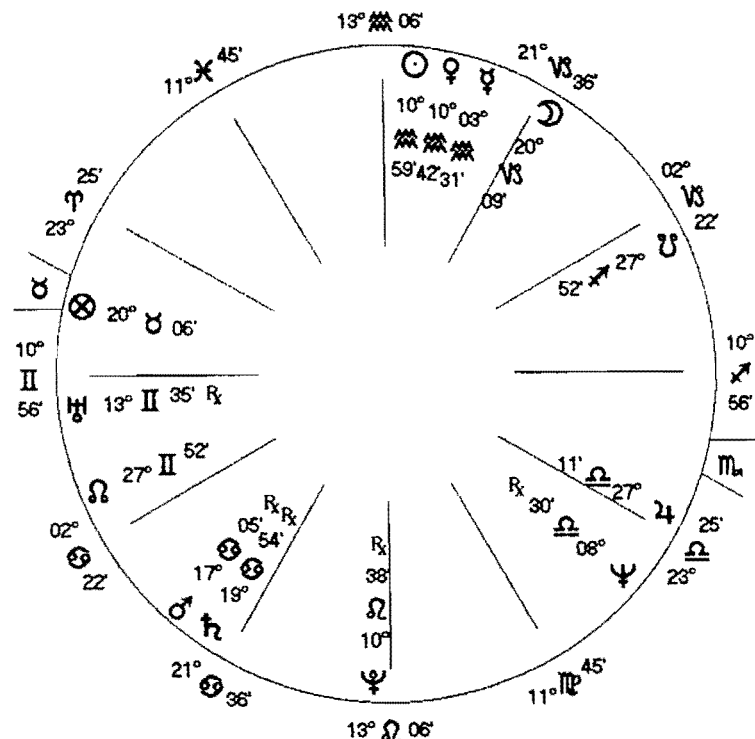

by Allan Johnson

I previously wrote an article on Yugoslavia for the November 1992 issue of Astrologers' Forum. I made use of two Charts for that country, the first for the original Yugoslav State, 29th October 1918, and the second for the communist takeover, 31st January 1946. Although officially there are no longer any communist states in Europe since the great collapse at the beginning of the '90's, we do get an overlap of YUGOSLAVIA, 29 OCT.1918, 12PM CET ZAGREB, 45°48'N, 15°58'E, PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

YUGOSLAVIA, COMMUNIST, 31 JAN, 1946, 12PM CET, BELGRADE, 20°30'E, 44°50'N. PLACIDUS.

influence due to the long period of communist rule plus the difficulties of setting up effective governments in the wake of communism. That is why there was strong correlation of transits on the Yugoslav Chart at the very time that the present upheavals and civil war situation commenced in April 1992. In that very month the close conjunction of Uranus/Neptune by transit was exactly on the Natal Moon, and Stationary. This activated the opposition of the Moon—Mars/Saturn axis, which can be a violent pattern. At the same time, by Secondary Progression, Mars was also conjunct its own Natal position and stirring up the same Natal axis.

When I was writing there were some hopes expressed in the media that something might come out of the peace talks going on at the time. But my prediction was that there was not much chance of any early peaceful settlement from what I could interpret from the Charts. Since that time almost three years have passed and the war is still going on despite all the efforts of the United Nations. So it is worth having another look at these two Charts to see what the prospects are for the future.

One major reason that the war has continued for so long is because of the absence of decisive action on the part of U.N.O. This is deplored on all sides. There has been an enormous amount of confusion of aims on the part of the peace-keepers in Yugoslavia, and a constant call for more decisive action. But if we look at the Chart for 1946 we can see the correlation of Transits. At the start of the conflict Neptune was right on the Natal Moon, and being such a slow-moving planet has remained with close orb right through the years from 1992 till 1995, and will make a final conjunction within a 2° orb in October next. On its negative side Neptune is very much the planet for confusion, indecisiveness, shattered hopes, misplaced optimism, and so on. Added to this the Progressed Mars has also been moving very slowly over the Mars/Saturn conjunction in the very same years. So this is pretty spot on.

As Neptune moves out of orb of the Natal Moon and its link in opposition to Natal Mars/Saturn, the chances of more decisive action to end the war will get much stronger. However, it should not be overlooked that Moon opposite Mars/Saturn is also part of a wide T-Square to Jupiter in Libra. So in 1996 Neptune will move on to the square of Jupiter. This could mean further deceptiveness and some dashed hopes—but the over-all pattern does give more promise of an early end to the War. Another interesting pointer is the fact that the Progressed Sun has now moved out of Pisces into Aries—and I see this correlating with more decisive action on the part of U.N.O.

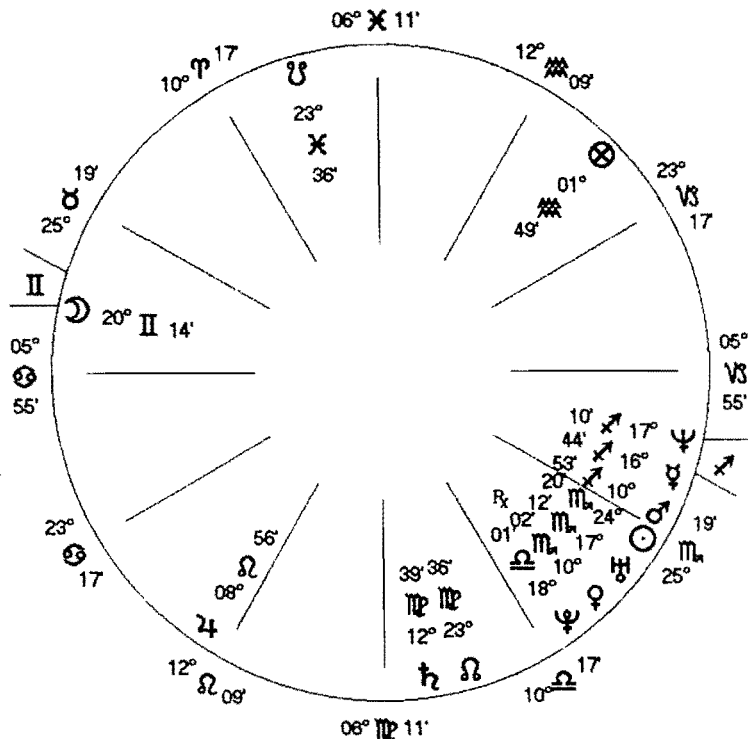

If we take a further look at the 1918 Chart, there is also a definite correlation with Transits over the 1992—1995 period. This time it is Pluto linking up with the Natal Mars opposition to Saturn axis. And this also comes to an end in the later months of this year. September/October could be eventful. My prediction is that the the Bosnia War is nearly at its end, but I would not like to predict a definite date. There is still too much Neptune in the picture for that.

TEST No 3—HEIDI

HEIDI

BORN 16 NOV 1978, 7:17 PM CST

AT GRANDFORKS, NTH. DAKOTA, 97°3'W, 47°55'N. PLACIDUS.

Something happened to Heidi on 4th August 1990?

What was it?

I was hoping to print Heidi's Solar Return Chart also, but found that I had run out of room. Those who set it up will find it very revealing.

I hope many readers will send me their answers to this Test No. 3 by 15th October, in time for the next Issue. Correct, or near-correct interpretations will be published.

More astrologers should take part in these Exercises. They are invaluable for readers who are serious about improving their skills. Very few other publications give you this opportunity. It is something that you could be paying a tutor to provide. The Exercises are both interesting and educative to puzzle over. If you take the trouble to write out your answers and send them in it will sharpen your judgement.

Ross Harvey comments on —

PAUL KEATING'S BIRTH TIME

All the birth times given for Paul Keating in the last Astrologers' Forum are not of equal merit. Lyla Williams, who is my source, said that it had been put to Mrs Keating the Paul was born in the early morning, and she replied "No, that's wrong. He was born around noon [DST]." I don't think that there can be any doubt that he was indeed born near noon; the only problem is exactly when.

FIXED STARS—PREMIER CARR'S CHART

I have been looking at the possible influence of fixed stars in Solar Return Charts—one way to see if the stars really do have any effect—and have concentrated on the mundane positions, i.e., on the Meridian or the Horizon. Bob Carr's Birth Chart has Altair on the western horizon (Altair's Placidian longitude equivalent is 4°19' Capricorn) and his Solar Return for winning the Election has Regulus on the MC with only ¼° orb in Right Ascension (a clear indication of success, or at least something out of the ordinary, while his Progressive Solar Return has Sirius on the western horizon (longitude equivalent 3°24' Leo).

—Ross Harvey.

SORTING TEST NO.2—RESULTS

[See the three Charts on page 3 of last Issue]

Ross Harvey reports as follows:

There were nine entries for Sorting Test No.2, and especial congratulations must go to Mignon Halford and to Elva Howson who, at their second and third attempts respectively, got everything right. Ken Gillman correctly got the astrologer and the sisters but did not attempt the other two careers. Dymock Brose got the Telecom employee, and Ricky Corcilus the sisters. It was particularly pleasing to have received entries from several people who had not previously attempted these tests.

Chart 1 was the astrologer, Chart 2 the Telecom employee, and Chart 3 the geologist. The sisters were Charts 2 and 3.

When I set this test I looked at all the charts I have for astrologers, and found that what they mostly had in common was Neptune aspects, not Uranus ones, even though Uranus seems to be thought to be the planet of Astrology in some quarters. Ebertin had Sun trine Neptune, Charles Carter biseptile, John Addey semisquare, Robert Hand quintile, with Neptune also in aspect to the Ascendant and MC. All these aspects have very small orbs. I have Neptune in aspect to the Ascendant, MC, Sun and Moon, all again with small orbs, but I do not have any significant Uranus aspects.

Neptune is the planet of the occult, Uranus of science and technology, especially if it is in combination with Mercury. All this tends to support my original point that minor aspects with very small orbs are as important as major ones and should not be overlooked.

Chart 1 has the Sun closely trine Neptune. Chart 3 also has the Sun trine Neptune but the orb is wider. In Chart 1 the slightly more than seven degrees that separate Mercury and Uranus seem to me to be too great an orb for a planetary conjunction (even though several entrants thought that this was still a conjunction) and are too close for any sort of aspect, so I would have said that in this Chart Mercury and Uranus are not in aspect at all, whereas Chart 2 has them semisextile (actually they are closer to an eleventh of 360°), and Chart 3 has them semisquare. The Solar Return (both for birth place and relocated) for the year of the accident leaves no doubt that Chart 1 is the astrologer, as the Ascendant is conjunct Mars and opposite Radical Pluto. The Moon on the Ascendant of Chart 3 makes this person able to deal with others sympathetically, and therefore she is more likely to be the one who works at conferences.

Ken Gillman pointed out that if the MC's of Charts 2 and 3 are multiplied by 13 (the Dodekatemoria) the results are close to each other in Sagittarius, meaning that they had the same parents. I noticed that they both have Saturn as the most elevated planet. Ricky Corcilus pointed out that Charts 2 and 3 have the Nodes in the 3rd and 9th Houses, emphasizing relationships with siblings. Several people thought that the Sun-Neptune trine in Charts 1 and 3 meant that they were the sisters, but that was just coincidence, as was the similarity of the Angles of 1 and 3—in fact most people thought that these were the sisters because of their similar Angles.

I hope that these tests encourage people to put aside their preconceptions and to try to see just what charts of people in various occupations do have in common.

The results in detail are as follows. The Charts are listed by numbers. The correct answer is 1, 2, 3, (astrologer, Telecom employee, geologist), the sisters being 2 and 3.

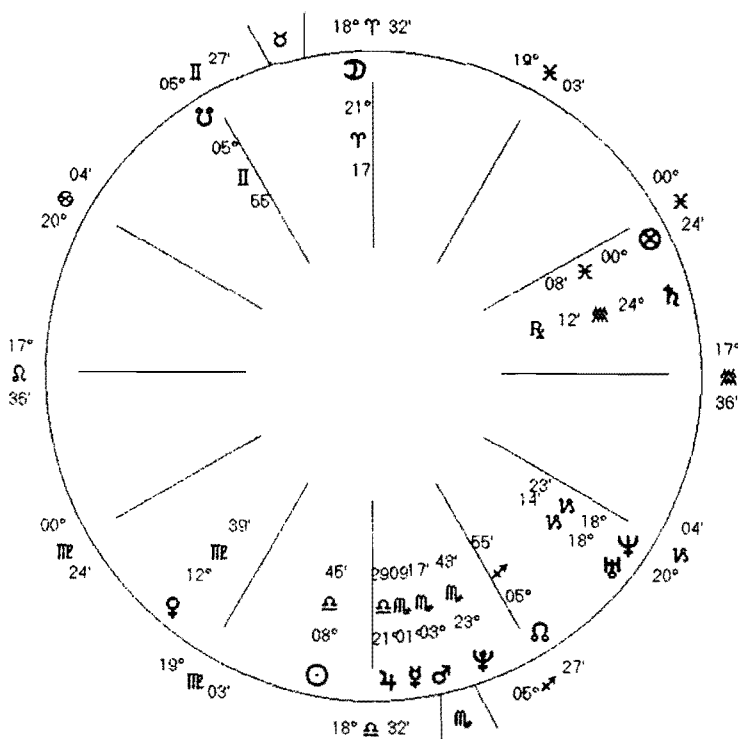

- Entrant 1: 2, 3, 1. Sisters 2 and 3.
- Entrant 2: 2, 3, 1. Sisters 1 and 3. Second attempt: 3, 1, 2. Sisters 1 and 2.
- Entrant 3: 2, 3, 1. Sisters 1 and 2. Second attempt: 3, 1, 2. Sisters 2 and 3. Third attempt: 1, 2, 3. Sisters 2 and 3.
- Entrant 4: Astrologer 1, sisters 2 and 3.
- Entrant 5: 3, 2, 1. Sisters 1 and 3.
- Entrant 6: 2, 1, 3. Sisters 1 and 3. Second attempt: 1, 2, 3. Sisters 2 and 3.
- Entrant 7: 2, 3, 1. Sisters 1 and 3.
- Entrant 8: 2, 1, 3. Sisters 1 and 3.
- Entrant 9: 2, 1, 3. Sisters 1 and 3.

There were five entries for the second test. Suggestions were a meeting with a former lover, the wealth due to the death of a female relative, birth of a daughter, being shot, and "a beneficial change in the lady's employment". The last suggestion, from Jack Nicholls, was exactly correct. She was promoted to be head of her department. Congratulations, Jack. I can do no better than to summarize his reasons: Transiting Uranus was conjunct her 8th Regiomontanus Cusp, and Pluto was trine the 2nd Cusp. The Solar Return [for the birth place] had Venus in the 2nd House and the Moon in the 10th House opposite Jupiter. "The Transit of Uranus indicates a sudden happening; Pluto, a change, while the Venus and Jupiter connections suggest it will be a beneficial change." The Moon in the 10th House in the Solar Return, and Venus aspecting the 10th, suggest a beneficial change in employment.

SOLAR RETURN 1ST OCT 1993,
10:34:58PM GMT FOR FINNISH WOMAN BORN 2ND
OCTOBER 1991.

SET FOR BIRTH PLACE, KNOPIO, FINLAND,
27°41' E, 62°54' N. PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

AGE HARMONIC 42 FOR FINNISH WOMAN
BORN 2 OCT 1951, AT KNOPIO, FINLAND

LUNAR RETURN FOR FINNISH WOMAN
25 APRIL 1994, 11:39:41 AM GMT
SET FOR BIRTH PLACE, KNOPIO FINLAND

Editor's Note: Jack Nicholls read the situation correctly from the Solar Return Chart. I was interested to see that further evidence, even more indicative, was provided by the Harmonic Chart for the subject's age (42). (See Chart in next column.) The Sun is almost exactly on the Cusp of the 2nd House (Income), conjunct Natal Jupiter, and trine to Saturn right on the upper Meridian (Career, Status, etc.). Mercury and Jupiter also occupy the 2nd House adding their weight to the increase in finances. Jupiter is in 26°20' of Aries, trine to Natal Mars, Ruler of Aries, at 28°37' of Leo. This again is an example of increased potency of a planet in a Sign being aspected by the Ruler of the Sign. Pluto on the Descendant conjunct the Part of Fortune = a change in circumstances (beneficial, because of the Part of Fortune).

It is interesting also that the Lunar Return Chart, if set for the place of birth gives further indications of an advance in career: Venus is close to the MC in its own Sign, Taurus, (the Money Sign), and the Natal MC at 15°23' Aquarius is closely conjunct the 6th Cusp at 14°49' Aquarius. The surprising thing for me, and one that led me astray in my assessment of the situation, was that if this Chart is set for Sydney, the place of residence, it invites quite a different interpretation, the emphasis being mainly on the 5th House. The issue of whether to use the place of birth or the place of residence/activity for cyclic charts has been, and still is, controversial. The present instance certainly lends weight to the argument that the locus should be the place of birth.

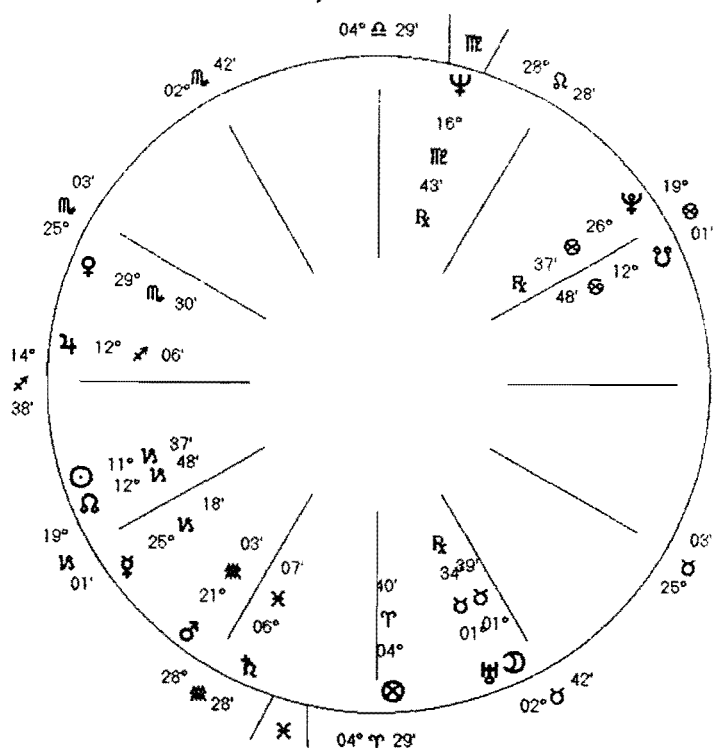

TEST NO. 4

Ross supplies a further test to increase your skills as an astrologer:

All the following three Charts are those of men. one is an antique dealer, one a physician, and one a research chemist. Can you sort them out? Answers, please, to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra NSW, Australia 2074. by 15th October.

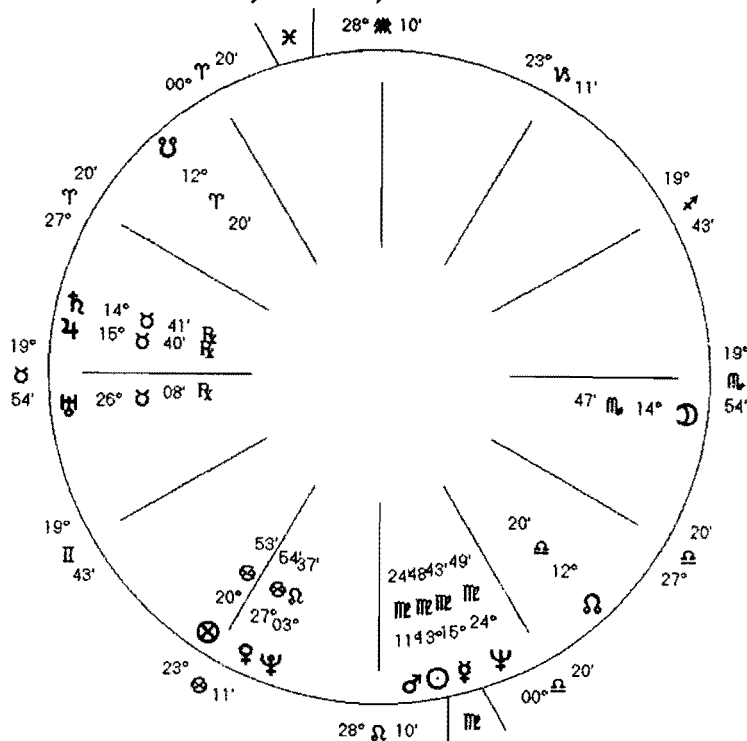

TEST NO.4, CHART 1

MALE BORN 3 JAN 1936, 4 AM GMT,
AT 40°30'N, 22°30'E PLACIDEAN CUSPS

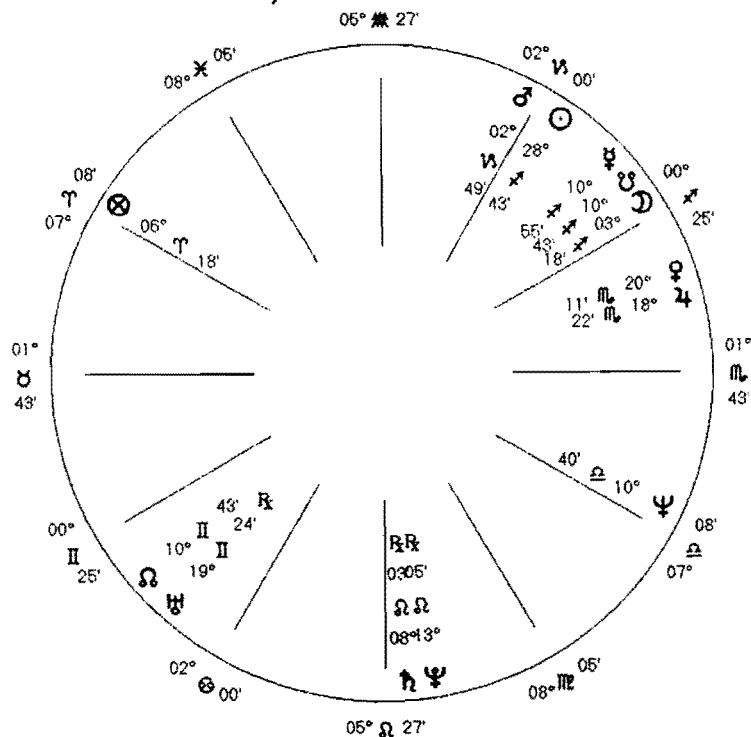

TEST NO 4, CHART 2

MALE BORN 6 SEP 1940 ADELAIDE, 11:15PM ACST
138°35'E, 34°55'S, PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

TEST NO 4, CHART 3

MALE BORN 21 DEC 1946, SYDNEY 2:30PM AEST,
151°10'E, 33°52'S. PLACIDEAN CUSPS

"The first Lunar Revolutions after and before birth are as significant as the Diurnal and Solar Revolutions. Stations in it are particularly important: Nixon's Saturn turned Direct when he became President. That was the only Station in his first Lunar Cycles. The Angles, Progressed by the lunar motion, don't differ much from those for the other two Cycles, but the Progressed planets do. For Nixon's marriage there was converse MC conjunct converse Venus conjunct Radical Moon. He also had a Regressed New Moon (they are especially important) conjunct his Radical Ascendant in the Solar Cycle."

—Ross Harvey.

D'JANGO O'HARA

19 NOV 1975, 9 PM, SYDNEY, 151°12'E, 33°55'S.

PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

Kim Layton (NSW) submits the above Birth Chart of D'Jango O'Hara, the youth charged with the murder of the security guard at Roseville in June. D'Jango's mother gave Kim the data two years back when D'Jango was charged with a couple of other offences. The murder trial will come up later.

TEST NO. 5

Mignon Halford (NSW) offers the following two Horary Charts as an exercise for readers: They both have the same question: Am I pregnant?

Treat this as another useful practice for a question that often arises. Send your answers to me by 15th October. The truth will be revealed in the next Issue. The questions were actually asked, and of course the results are known.

I invite other readers to send in their Horary Charts that can possibly be presented in these pages as a stimulating exercise.

TEST NO. 5—CHART 1

20 JUL.1990, 2:30PM AEST, 153°10'E, 29°25'S.

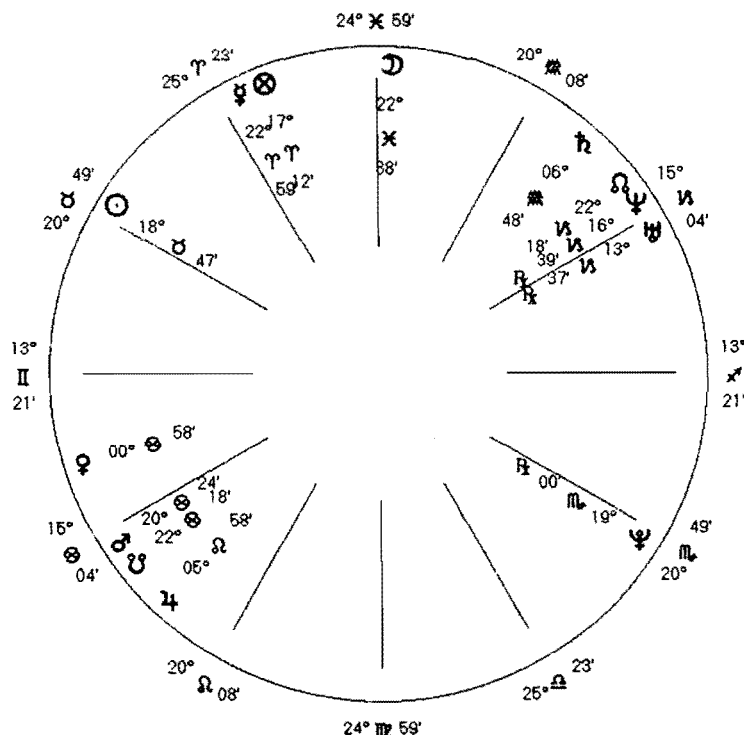

PLACIDEAN CUSPS

TEST NO. 5—CHART 2

10 MAY 1991, 8:20 AM AEST, 153°10'E, 29°25'S.

PLACIDEAN CUSPS

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 1 Sep. 1995

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

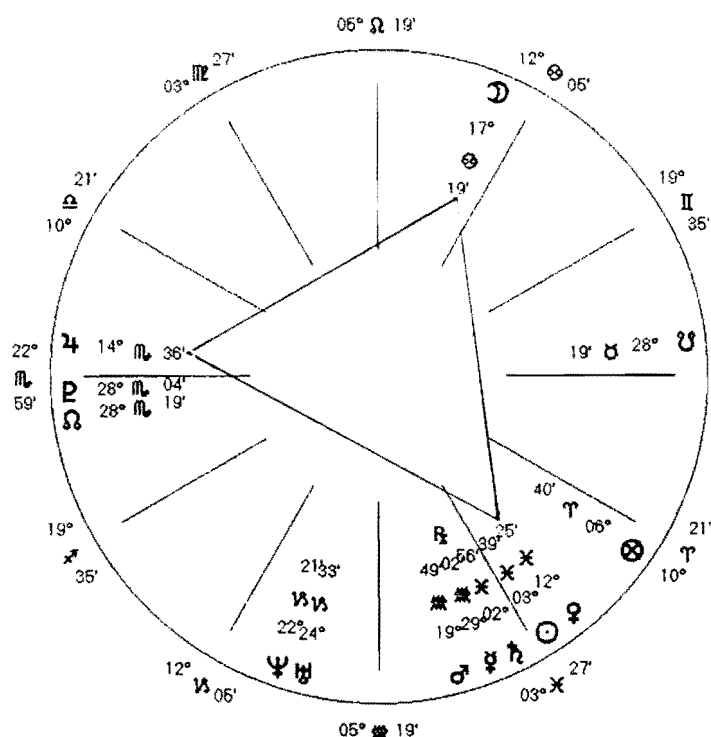

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose,
86 Clarence Road, Blackheath, NSW, Australia, 2785.
Phone & Fax, 047 87 8874
Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25
Issue 166/167 May/June 1995

WHAT DID HAPPEN TO MARY

The Charts and Exercise suggested in the last Issue attracted a response from three readers. I commend them for their willingness to "have a go", apart from the energy and time required for their thoughtful analyses.

Here again is the Solar Return Chart that depicted the event

Here is what actually did happen to Mary: She won $100,000 dollars in a lottery—a momentous event indeed for her, as it enabled her to buy a home for herself and family.

Deducing from the given data what would happen was not an easy task, even if it looks that way in hindsight.. Prediction never is easy, but anyone who wants to succeed in forecasting must practise along these lines and attempt exercises that are typical of the situations constantly faced by a predictive astrologer.

Two of the participants, though only partially correct, were well on the right track—

Ross Harvey (NSW) deduced correctly that the momentous event was "positive", and there were messages "concerning...money". [the news of the lottery win].

In This Issue...

	Page
What did happen to Mary	1
Results of first Sorting Exercise.....	2
Sorting Test No.2	3
Skin Disorders	4
American and Hindu Astrology	5
P.M. Paul Keating—Birth Time?	6
Planetary Aspects	7

Jenifer Pommerin (W.A.) saw "success and happiness (plans accomplished)...fulfilment and joy...life-changing.. a winning pattern". Well done, both.

All the necessary clues to interpretation were in the two Charts presented for readers to work on—the Standard Solar Return (Tropical Zodiac) and the Natal Chart . There was no real need for reference to the Sidereal Zodiac, Progressive or Converse Returns Tertiary Progressions, New-Moon Charts, etc. The employment of too many techniques can have the negative effect of leading the astrologer astray.

I suggest that one should look first at the Solar Return Chart provided. There is an obvious emphasis on the 5th House with the Sun, Venus, Saturn and Mercury, (plus the Natal Midheaven and Mercury), all grouped around the 5th Cusp which is THE point of power so far as the House is concerned. This, then, brings to mind the 5th-House matters—Love and Romance, Children, Schools, Gambling, Hazardous Investments and Show Business. It is a matter of selecting the appropriate one in the present instance.

A closer look at the Chart discovers the beautiful trine from Venus (Exalted in Pisces) to Jupiter. The trine is a "Harvest" aspect, reaping benefits for the recipient. Jupiter and Venus linked spell LUCK and often, LOVE. The power of this aspect becomes apparent when we see the small orb involved (2°10'), that both Significators are linked to the Moon, forming a Grand Trine, and that Jupiter as traditional Ruler of the Sign Pisces, disposes Venus . It is the classic example of potency—a planet in a House being aspected by the Ruler of that House.

The Moon is one of the Significators of money;

Jupiter trine Venus, the "Harvest Aspect", signifies gain without effort; and Jupiter, disposing Venus, rules also the 2nd House (Money), where Sagittarius is on the Cusp. So the greater emphasis here is on MONEY rather than Love or any of the other 5th-House matters.

Mary received news of her win on 11th August, and the Progressions/Regressions point to the date:

10th August—Regressed Venus trine Jupiter/Pluto Midpoint, and Tr.Jupiter sextile Pluto. The combination of Jupiter and Pluto when favourably aspected signifies large amounts of money.

11th August—Tr.Sun trine Venus (both in the Radical 5th House) pinpoints the date exactly.

This first sorting exercise brought a reply from three serious astrologers, and I'm sure they all feel that they have benefited from the attempt. It is an excellent way to improve your astrology, bringing it out of the realm of the "dream-dancers" and making it effective in the practical world.

Now, here is another exercise, which I hope will attract more entries. It is supplied on this occasion by Ross Harvey, so please send your attempts to him at 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW, Australia 2074. Your replies should be with him by the 10th of August:

The Birth Chart below is that of a woman born in Knopio, Finland, on 2nd October 1951, at 20h 38m local time (= 18h 38m U.T.), and now living in Sydney, NSW. Something important happened to her in Sydney on the 23rd May 1994. What was it?

CHART SORTING

The three Charts in the Sorting Exercise of the last Issue are correctly assigned as follows:

Chart No.1 belonged to the piano teacher,

Chart No. 2 was that of the woman with six children,

Chart No.3 is the Radix of the woman without any children.

Ross Harvey, who conducted the Exercise, reports that there were finally six entrants who gave detailed reasons for their conclusions. These are listed below [Readers should have in front of them the three Charts on Page 3 of the last Issue, No.165]

First entrant—Piano teacher, No. 2; second attempt, piano teacher No.1.

Second entrant—Piano teacher No.3; woman with six children, No.1; woman without children, No.2.

Third entrant—No children, No.1; six children, No.3; piano teacher [also] No.3. Second attempt, piano teacher No.1; six children No. 2; no children No.3.

Fourth entrant—No children, No.1; piano teacher, No.2; six children No.3. This entrant had originally suggested that No. 2 had six children, but then changed her mind.

Fifth entrant—Piano teacher, No.1; No children, No.2; six children, No.3.

Sixth entrant—No children, No.1; six children No.2, piano teacher No.3.

Ross writes, "Congratulations to Jenifer Pommerin who got all three right at her second attempt, and to Allan Grant who got the piano teacher, and to Ken Gillman who got the woman with six children.

"I would have found this difficult myself, so these observations are what I noticed after I knew which chart was which. Chart No.1 has MC square Mercury, sextile Venus, and sesquare Neptune. I would interpret these indications as communication and art, very appropriate for a music teacher.

"The other two Charts do not have these planets so emphasized. Chart No.3 has Venus sesquare Neptune, but neither is in aspect to the Angles, while Chart No.2 has Neptune square Sun and Mercury, and sextile MC, but none in aspect to Venus. Venus and Neptune together are the quintessential artistic combination, but to be really effective, one planet at least should also be in aspect to the Angles, or if Venus and Neptune are not in aspect to each other, both should be in aspect to the Angles.

"Margaret Millard alerted me to the significance of Moon—Saturn aspects in a woman's chart, which she describes as being 'deadly for childbirth'. I do not know whether No.1 has any children, but No.3, who desperately wants children has Saturn rising sextile Moon [which is] conjunct the I.C. In my rather limited experience of charts of women who have difficulty conceiving I have found that even favourable aspects of the Moon to Saturn can delay childbirth. I know of one woman who has Saturn opposite Sun square Ascendant sextile Moon and sesquare Venus, who had her only child after sixteen years of marriage.

"Significantly, Chart 2 has no aspect at all, no matter how minor, between the Moon and Saturn; rather the Moon is conjunct the Ascendant, sextile Venus, quintile Sun, novile to Uranus, and two-elevenths to Jupiter.

"Interestingly, one entrant thought that Chart 2 was the woman without children because the 5th House was vacant, but once again this merely shows that traditional rules can't be relied on."

SORTING TEST NO. 2

Ross then supplies a further test:

All three of the charts below are of women.

- ♦ One is an astrologer with two children, who was seriously injured and left partially crippled in a car crash in Hobart on the 13th January 1972.

- ♦ One is of a Telecom employee, formerly a "lines-person", now an office worker.

- ♦ One is of a geologist who works part-time as a company representative at conferences. Can you link each Chart to the person it represents?

As an additional test, two are sisters. Which is the odd one out?

SORTING TEST NO.2—CHART NO.1

2ND JUNE 1947, 2:30AM GST

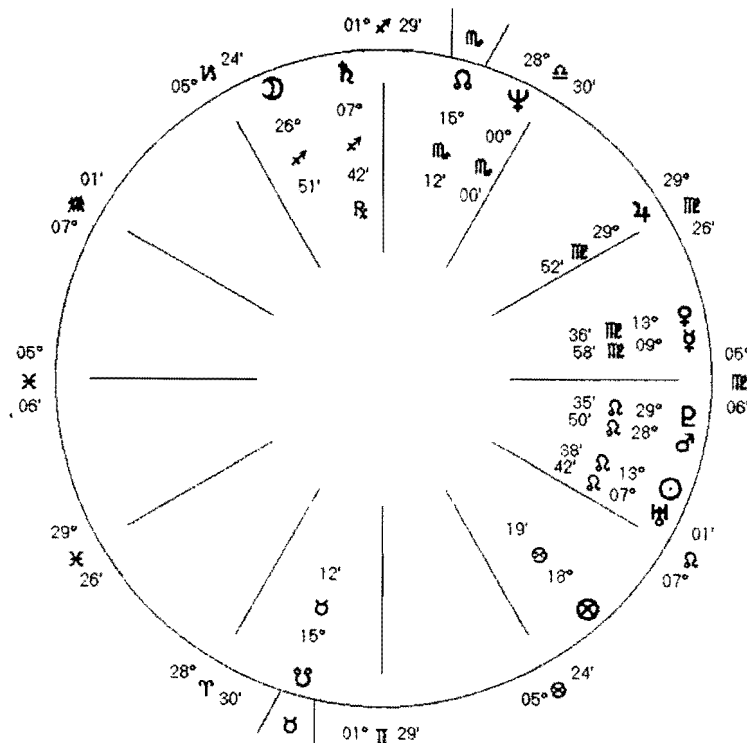

DARLINGHURST, NSW. 151°13' E, 33°53'S

SORTING TEST NO.2—CHART NO.2

6TH AUGUST 1957, 7:19PM GST

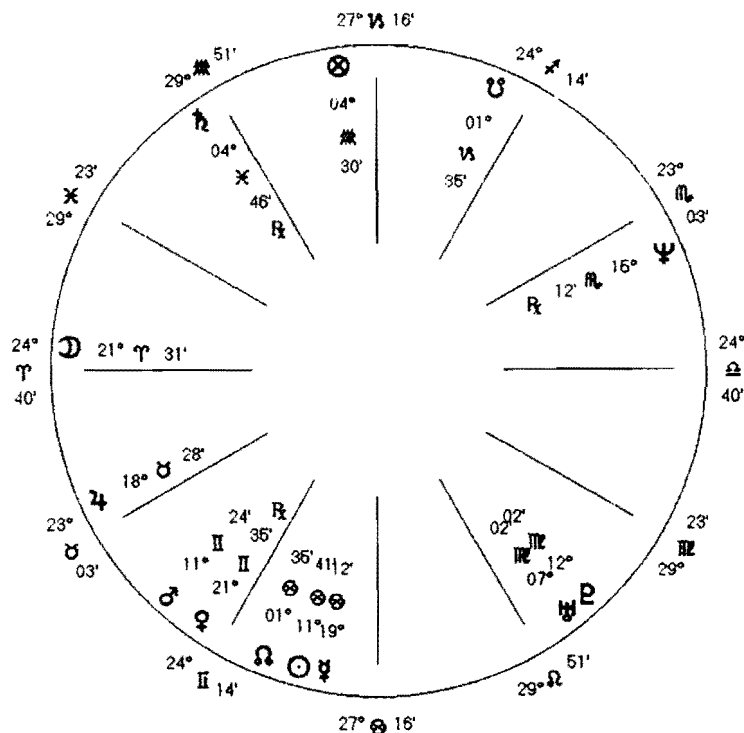

MELBOURNE, VIC.. 144°58'E, 37°49'S

SORTING TEST NO.2—CHART NO.3

4TH JULY 1964, 1:6AM GST

SYDNEY, NSW. 151°10' E, 33°52'S

Remember to send your answers to Ross (address above) by 10th August. That should give plenty of time even for overseas participants. The value of this sort of exercise is in doing it, not necessarily getting it right.

SKIN DISORDERS—SOME ASTROLOGICAL INDICATORS

by Ricky Corcilius

Recently I came across four people with skin complaints—eczema in particular, but also problems with related symptoms. Their Charts show many correspondences, and if other astrologers have similar experiences, seeing these planetary indicators in a natal chart would prove an easy diagnostic tool.

It seems that a person who has some affliction of Jupiter or Sagittarius, and an Aquarian influence, will be prone to skin complaints of varying degrees of severity depending on the strength of the planetary indicators. In astrology Jupiter rules the liver. In some ancient societies the liver was considered the seat of the soul, and anything affecting it was central to the functioning of the biological system. The liver eliminates toxins; its associated gall-bladder makes sure you can process nutrients you take in. The blood is purified by the liver, and any dysfunction, i.e., an afflicted Jupiter in the natal chart, can show up as skin complaints.

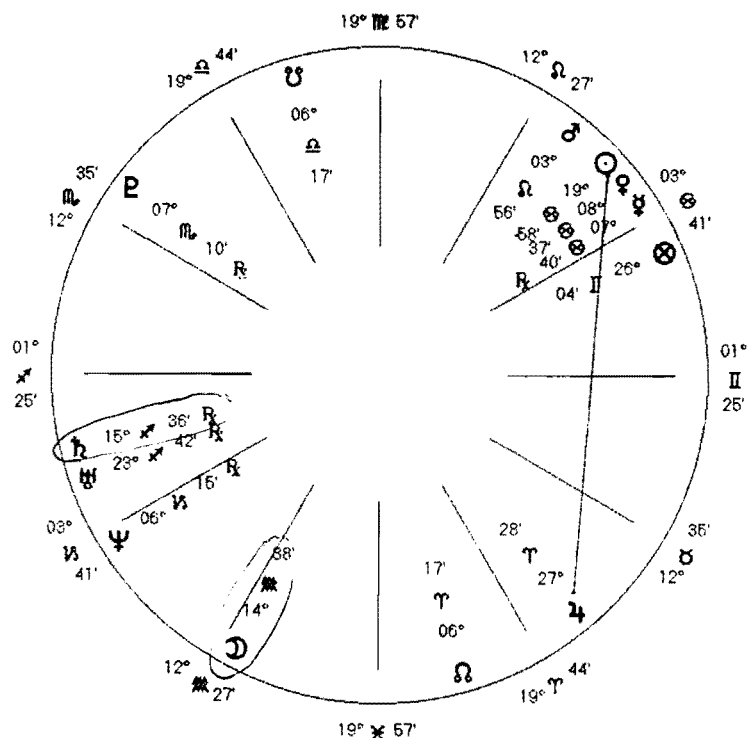

Jupiter rules growth in general, and excess Jupiterian function can be over-production of growth hormones. Both the skin and the liver are defences against toxins for the organism.

It seems however that the tendency to skin problems represented by liver dysfunction as represented by Jupiter afflicted needs also some placement in Aquarius, most particularly the Moon, to to really manifest as a chronic or serious problem. Why this should be so can perhaps be traced to the traditional rulership of Aquarius by Saturn which, again, corresponds to the skin, the outer barrier of the body.

In the case of Boy No.1, whose Natal Jupiter is conjunct Mars (a traditional malefic), the Progression of Mars over this Natal Jupiter marked the first outbreak of eczema, and heat and anger (Mars) certainly make his condition worse, as does stress (Mars) for the man aged 66. The Moon is in Aquarius, and Jupiter is conjunct Mars in Taurus in the 8th House. The eczema first appeared in September '94 as Saturn in Pisces transited his Pisces Sun (co-ruled by Jupiter) in the 6th House, Progressed Neptune in Capricorn exactly conjuncted his Natal Saturn (Ruler of the 6th) and, as above, Progressed Mars conjuncted Natal Jupiter at 29° Taurus. So far the eczema has not responded to any but conventional treatments, mostly cortisone.

BOY NO.2, 12TH JULY 1987, 4:55PM EDT
BURLINGTON, USA, 73°12'W, 44°29'N

With Boy No.2, The Moon is in Aquarius, The Sun is square Jupiter, and Saturn is in Sagittarius in the 1st House. He has had chronic rashes and intermittent skin eruptions since earliest childhood.

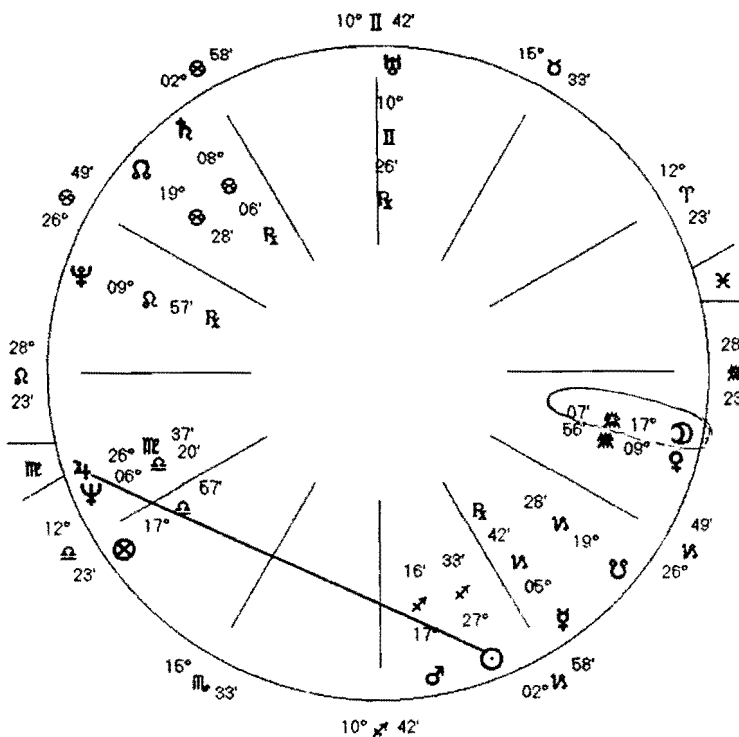

Man No.1 has had severe chronic eczema since childhood. It has never responded to any treatment except cortisone. He also has the Moon in Aquarius, and the Sun square Jupiter in detriment in Virgo in the 1st House.

[See Chart next page]

BOY NO.1, 5TH MARCH 1989, 8:30PM AEDT
HORNSBY, NSW. 150°6'E, 33°42'S

MAN NO.1, 19TH DECEMBER 1944, 11PM ACST
ADELAIDE, SA, 138°35'E, 34°55'S.

In the man's Chart below, Aquarius rises, the Moon is opposite Mars in Aquarius, the Sun is conjunct Jupiter square Pluto, and Saturn is in Sagittarius. The Man complains of skin rashes when under a lot of stress.

MAN NO.2, 1ST APRIL 1928, 2:14AM AEST
WAVERLEY, NSW, 151°16'E, 33°54'N

In Raphael's Medical Astrology Jupiter in Saturn's Sign of Capricorn is said to incline toward eczema and skin trouble, due to sluggish circulation of blood, but in the above cases we have Saturn in Jupiter's Sign. Maintenance of the composition of the blood is, however, the function of the liver, ruled by Jupiter and Sagittarius.

AMERICAN AND HINDU ASTROLOGY

[Extract from a letter to the Editor of The Mountain Astrologer (California)]

... The origin of all styles of astrology was prophetic, giving the recipients very valuable information that they could not receive from any other source... it has nothing to do with pre-determinism or fatalism. It simply is information that, because of its unique nature, can have an incredible impact on how one chooses to live the rest of one's life. Astrology in America, however, is often a session in transpersonal analysis. Practitioners of this form seem to be proud of it, viewing it as being more evolved, sophisticated, or spiritual. I suggest it is more of a reversion, because the practitioners are technically unable to perform astrology's original function.

[I] recalled to mind my last astrological reading in America. After 90 minutes and $100, I had some very helpful information, but it could have been given to me by any keen and sensitive observer of human nature after talking to me for ten minutes. My mother could have told me the same things for free, although she couldn't have used the newly-invented transpersonal multi-syllabic terms.

On the other hand, the astrologer on the Indian subcontinent makes objective statements, often in detail, which no Westerner I've consulted is willing to attempt. They are willing and able to describe potential pratfalls and opportunities using specific terms.

As an example of this difference, before hearing about my future, I always first test Hindu astrologers about my past. I ask them a question about something verifiable, such as "How many children do I have?" If they prove their skill by answering it correctly, I then pay for a reading. They've never failed my test. On the other hand, I've not met a Western astrologer who was willing to see if their skill indeed matched their reputation.

I anticipate some astrologers reading this will simply say that what they do is more important than mere predictions. And yet, I still can't help but feel this comes from not being able to do it rather than not wanting to. An example of this repressed desire to do real astrology is the "retrospective analysis", which is a common feature in all astrology magazines and most books. These are seen everywhere...A person's horoscope is printed, and then astrological explanations are given as to why something happened, usually a notable disaster or success. Happened? Why the past tense? This unusual practice has become so pervasive that no one within the trade seems to question it.

Anyone can explain an event that has already happened. It doesn't take an astrologer to do that. This is the function of newspaper reporters and, indeed, all the objective information in these retrospective analyses does come from common newspaper reports. The authors merely add their own opinion as to why it happened in astrological terms. This is a cheap trick and is already performed by countless indignant newspaper columnists, politicians, Christian preachers, and others trying to capture the public with their own brand of world view.

The logic of retrospective analysis is based entirely on "truth by association", using "reverse linear thinking". These are inherently erroneous forms of reason, as explained in logic classes taken by college freshmen. When employing reverse linear reasoning, any astrological explanation, or any explanation whatsoever for that matter, will always appear to be correct, since the event indeed took place as described. This gives astrology a bad reputation because clear-thinking people can see the illogic of this process and are thus turned off to the whole practice, consequently losing the real benefits astrology has to offer.

Hindu astrologers perform this same process, but in the correct order. Instead of a retrospective analysis they describe the same events, in the same detail, with the same explanations, suggesting the same opportunities for personal change and growth—all before the events take place. Obviously, this makes a lot more sense! This ability is one of the vital reasons to see an astrologer in the first place. Otherwise, it would be simpler to have a quality talk with a lifelong friend and read the headlines in the newspaper. As a result, astrologers are far more revered in India than they are here.

I haven't the slightest knowledge or information on how Vedic Astrology works. I offer the above testimonial in support of Ms. Johnsen's article [in the Californian The Mountain Astrologer] and forthcoming work, in the hopes of alerting Western astrologers to the potential of their craft. My little diatribe certainly focused on a few aspects of astrology as practised here that I consider aberrant and non-useful. I hope any negative tone in my letter is not taken as an attack on the industry as a whole and every individual, but rather as a fresh and helpful perspective from one who has experienced both traditions. I hope it is a stimulus for astrologers here to reach out and increase their goals and abilities. This is not being righteous or altruistic. I just don't want to suffer horrendous jet-lag every time I need a good consultation!

—Buzz Burrell, 4439 Driftwood Place, Boulder, CO 80301. e-mail: 72253.2101@compuserve.com

PRIME MINISTER PAUL KEATING

Natal Birth Times

Compiled by Neville D. Strachan

The examination of Mr. Keating's Natal Chart is not easy because there are at least seven suggested birth times in two groups some ten or eleven hours apart.

From the 3rd of October 1943 until 26th March 1944 Daylight Saving Time was in operation in New South Wales.

Paul Keating was born on the 18th of January 1944 at Bankstown, NSW, latitude 33°55' S, longitude 151° 2' E.

The following suggestions for a birth time are current:

- (1) The FAA Journal, Volume 22, No.1, March 1992, pp.50,51: Time 1:04am (EST?—article does not clarify). Rectified by Gwen LStoney, "...a speculative time of birth rectified...using life events."
- (2) FAAJ, Vol.22, No.1, March 1992, P.53: 12:10pm DST.
- (3) FAAJ, Vol.22, No.2, June 1992, pp. 16—23, 00:05pm (= 12:05pm) DST. Research by Douglas Parker. From "his mother, 'very close to midday'."
- (4) Mercury Hour, 72nd Edition, April 1992, p.11: 1:50am GSD, quoted by Doris Greaves as being from Mr. Keating's Office. I presume that Doris has equated DST to GSD, and does not mean GST (Guam Standard Time). Guam was occupied by the Japanese when Mr Keating was born.
- (5) Astrologers' Forum, Issue 137, December 1992, p.4: 11:30am (Chart for EST). Quoted as being from his mother, but stated as uncertain.
- (6) Alan Lander, "Paul Keating, The Leader We Had to Have", Astrological Monthly Review, May 1992, p.20, 11:00am EST.
- (7) ACRUX, Vol.1, No.2, P.2: 0.00pm (noon) AEDT. Chart from Lander's article.
- (8) A member of the Queensland Federation of Astrologers Inc.: 10:46:50am EST, no source given.
- (9) Ross Harvey & Jack Nicholls, Astrologers' Forum, Issue 165, April 1995, p.2, 11:52am DST, rectified by using Jigsaw Program. "His mother said he was born around noon."

From this list it can be seen that the speculative times have quite a range—

- | | |
|------------------------|--------------|
| (1) 01:04 am EST? DST? | 01:04am EST? |
| (2) 12:10pm DST | 11:10am EST |
| (3) 12:05pm DST | 11:05am EST |

(4) 01:50am DST(?)	00:50am EST?
(5)	11:30am EST
(6)	11:00am EST
(7)	12:00pm EST
(8)	10:46:50am EST
(9) 11:52am DST	10:52am EST.

(1) and (3) differ from the other times by a considerable amount—ten or eleven hours—and the type of time seems to be in doubt.

Overall, there are quite a number of projected times for Mr. Keating's birth, each felt by its advocate to be correct.

PLANETARY ASPECTS by Jenifer Pommerin

Jenifer Pommerin (W.A.) has responded to my request for input from readers regarding the effect of planetary aspects in Birth Horoscopes or in Progression/Regression. Jenifer has sent a lengthy article detailing her experience with a wide variety of aspects in the Birth Chart. The first part of her article appears below, and follow-ups will be published in the next Issues. Elva Howson (Vic) contributed information on Sun-Pluto in the March Issue. I look forward to receiving more contributions from readers. When enough new material is available it will all be collated into a modern guide on planetary aspects.

Jenifer prefaces her remarks with the caution, with which most astrologers will be familiar, that interpretation must always take into account the Sign, House and other aspects of any Significator. The PARALLEL can be very potent, and is considered as a conjunction or opposition (Parallel or Contra-Parallel). The QUINCUNX is also powerful, symbolizing unpre-dictable twists and turns. "It seems to encourage some sort of tunnel vision whereby a certain direction is taken rather than another." Planetary aspects to the Ascendant also have a definite effect upon the character and interests, but along with the quincunx have been omitted in the present article.

SUN CONJUNCT MOON: Self-centred and touchy. Like to be consulted, and are highly sensitive to any "other" suggestion. Little insight about own nature, and the feelings of others, yet very supportive and helpful to those outside the family circle. Hold fast to the ideal of the family, especially in traditional roles.

SUN SQUARE MOON: Feelings of inadequacy. Suffer from bouts of indecision and inner conflicts. Marital woes. Private sorrows. Unfulfilled goals or desires difficult to achieve. Hindrances rather than help in career matters. Good knowledge of human nature (unless an inner planet is in adverse aspect to Neptune or Jupiter).

SUN TRINE MOON: Natural self-confidence. Rarely indecisive. Good social skills. A well-balanced personality. Rarely suffer from inner conflict, doubts or regrets. Conjugal harmony, (unless Venus is in an adverse aspect to an outer planet, especially Saturn). Goals achieved comparatively easily, aided by favours or help from peers or superiors. Poor judge of character—are guided by affinity, or no affinity.

SUN CONJUNCT MERCURY: Prone to dwell on minor details at the expense of those more in need of attention. Can be "without thought" in that once an idea is accepted its influence remains in the life for a long time without further examination. Can get stuck in a non-productive phase of life needlessly. Not easily upset by the ups and downs of life, and can be very good in a crisis. Have the knack of saying the right thing at the right time. Frequent routine trips a common occurrence. Often preoccupied with own interests.

SUN CONJUNCT MARS: Abundant energy. In female charts, the dominant partner.

SUN SQUARE MARS: Often a lack of affinity with employer, or open conflict. The occupation may take a mental or physical toll.

SUN CONJUNCT JUPITER: Have tremendous faith in themselves. Like to associate with or know important people, yet are genuinely interested in and caring for all classes of people. Very adaptable (short-term) to different situations and places. Luck in obtaining or being given information that can be advantageous to themselves, or for those they wish to help.

SUN SQUARE JUPITER: Excellent at learning foreign languages. Likely to travel overseas more than once, but the experiences are not always happy. May marry someone from a different country, culture, or station in life, or may live in a land distant from the birth place. Prone to make one or more major errors in big-money items because of impatience or imprudence. May gain what is desired in material affairs, but sometimes this leads to unwise decisions and a serious loss of one sort or another. Can be very extravagant or wasteful in daily living (unless Saturn is also in aspect). Seem to reach a peak of easy living or good fortune in the age period of 20 to 30, or 40 to 50, and then there is a cessation and life becomes more of a struggle.

SUN TRINE JUPITER: Rarely worry much about anything for long. Challenges or hardships in life are very often eased through help given by others. This is most evident in the age period of 35 to 55. Few personal responsibilities (unless Saturn is in aspect to an inner planet) and usually a lot of freedom in regard to personal expenditure. Can be wasteful but not extravagant in daily living. Tend to be lazy in regard to routine or uninteresting work (unless the Sun or Moon is in aspect to Saturn).

SUN OPPOSITE JUPITER: Often an active member of a church or spiritual organization. Find it difficult to live life away from the mainstream. Like to be out and about, and to be important in the lives of others. Will strive to be well-known and popular. Are generous and warm-hearted. Can be wasteful but not extravagant in daily living. May marry someone from a foreign country, or settle in a foreign land. The cushioning effect of this aspect wanes sharply in the last decades of life. In general, the protective influence is strongest in the age-period of 35 to 55.

SUN CONJUNCT SATURN: The life path causes some sort of isolation from one's peers or culture. Hardship, of a physical or emotional nature, is experienced. However, there is an inborn toughness that ensures survival. The influence is stronger in childhood, and the last years of life. May indicate a divorce because of marital unhappiness. In male charts, the mother may dislike the child, or is absent for long periods. In female charts, the father may dislike the child, or be absent for long periods. The character is reliable and conscientious, especially in work matters. The aspect tends to delay parenthood or limit the number of children.

SUN TRINE SATURN: Have a good business sense, and are often presented with the opportunity to use it. However, where there is not this opportunity, or the inclination, the influence may manifest in the character as one who is not overly concerned with luxury. There is the ability to cut the coat according to the cloth. In female charts, where the Moon is in aspect to Mars or Pluto, may delay or prevent childbearing.

SUN SQUARE SATURN: Hard-working and practical. Like to be in charge or exercise some sort of authority. Tend to take over the decision-making in family life. Like to benefit personally for any effort made, be it monetary return or promotion or acclaim. A firm belief in the virtues of self-discipline (although this is more likely to be exercised only if something is to be gained by it). These influences are much modified if Venus or Jupiter should be conjunct or in trine to Saturn. In female charts the likelihood of motherhood is much reduced; or the partner is much older, and a rigid disciplinarian where the children are concerned. Major upheavals may occur because of the partner's occupation or state of health, e.g., travel and residence overseas, or early retirement.

SUN CONJUNCT URANUS: An inspiring and magnetic leader, but this gift is strongest in early childhood and often fades away in adult years. Friendly and kind, but seem to have a personality that prevents ordinary closeness. Very resistant (but politely so) to taking advice of any kind. This characteristic can be responsible for losses that may impinge on others, e.g., failure of a business, estrangement from children.

SUN TRINE URANUS: Are rarely found in the place of birth. Either the parents move to a different country, or the native migrates, or moves to a different part of the country.

SUN CONJUNCT NEPTUNE: May become addicted to alcohol or other substances. Are kindly and try to avoid offending others. In some instances, the life path is from comparative poverty to a position of considerable wealth. May be a frequent overseas traveller. Can renege on promises but will fulfil contracts. May manipulate the system to cheat, e.g., tax evasion. Can have a blind spot and misjudge the motives and nature of others, and thus be taken advantage of. But Neptune can be a protective influence—many mistakes may be made, but all works out in the end. There is often an avoidance of any sort of religion but a belief in things mystical.

SUN SQUARE NEPTUNE: The (usually unconscious) desire for something strange, something exciting, something inexplicable, is an influence. This can lead to physical risks, a preoccupation with the supernatural or magical, or a constant dissatisfaction with the day-to-day life. The desire to escape the humdrum, the painful or the unpleasant, may cause over-reliance on prescription drugs or alcohol. Others cope by a busy social life, or a withdrawal from life, or by travelling in remote places. Rejection is felt very deeply, so there is a reserve in the nature, especially in revealing the feelings (unless the Moon is aspected by Pluto). The tendency to procrastinate in important decisions is marked. The life is often lived according to the actions of others—it is reactionary rather than initiatory. In female charts, marriage is delayed, avoided, or the partner may be a cause of considerable worry (perhaps an alcoholic, a taker, or unreliable). There may be a de facto relationship.

My kind regards to all,

Dymock, 4th July 1995.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath, NSW, Australia, 2785.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 165 April 1995

THE REPUBLIC QUESTION

by Allan Johnson (NSW)

As we are getting closer to the end of the Century the idea is being promoted that this is a good time to change the Constitution from the monarchic one to that of a republic, so it is worthwhile to look at Australia's Natal Chart for any indications of the possibilities. There have been debates about the correct time for the Federation in 1901, but seeing that this question is very much a constitutional one, the actual starting point of the legal constitution should be the Chart we should use. All legal constitutions of that type start from zero hours, and this Chart is given in Campion's Book of World Horoscopes for 1st January 1901.

As a backdrop to this whole question of the Republic, we have to note that from an historical point of view it has been extremely hard to change our Constitution, and nearly all referendums for that purpose have been thrown out. Will this be an exception?

To change from a Monarchy to a Republic is quite a big historical event, so that fact should show up in the Transits for the end of this Century. Pluto and

In This Issue...

	Page
The Republic Question.....	1
Prime Minister Keating—
New, Rectified Chart	2
Sort the Charts! Exercise No.3	2
The Missing Portrait—
A Reader's Solution.....	3
What Happened to Mary?	4

Uranus are, of course, the key Transits to look at. On the 1st January 2001 Pluto will be at 13°47' Sagittarius, which puts it exactly on Natal Uranus in the Federation Chart, and closely opposite its own Natal position, stirring up the Natal T-Square.

This is highly appropriate for a cross-road situation of that sort—Third House/Ninth House activation. This is spot-on for a war of words. We should expect some furious debates, and there may even be violence, as it is a violent T-Square, including Mars. Pluto has a lot to do with things of the past, and there were a lot of violent debates about Republicanism in the early stages of the Federation. All this will be replayed. It looks as if a lot of people who don't normally get very excited about political issues might find themselves getting very stirred up emotionally. At the moment the community is pretty apathetic about the whole issue. But this won't last. In 1999 Pluto moves to the square of Natal Mars, and I would say that from that point the community is likely to become very polarized down the middle, and political parties very cautious of conducting a referendum in such an atmosphere.

“A lot of people who don't normally get very excited about political issues might find themselves getting very stirred up emotionally”.

So I am predicting that no major decision will be made in 2001. All through 2001 and on into 2002/3 Pluto will continue to activate the Natal configuration. So I can see the fires of debate continuing through those years.

Bob Hawke has suggested a postponement of the question during the life of the present Queen, and think this will be the solution adopted as the present century runs out. If we look at the Transit of Uranus we find it at 18°39' Aquarius in 2001. This makes the trine to Natal Pluto, but separating, not really suggestive of radical changes. Transiting Saturn will be stationary in January 2001 at 24° Taurus, so does not throw further light on the issue. Nor do the Progressions, with Mercury squaring Jupiter (confusion). All this means that the Republican issue won't go away but could become a much more protracted one.

EXERCISE NO. 3 SORT OUT THESE THREE CHARTS!

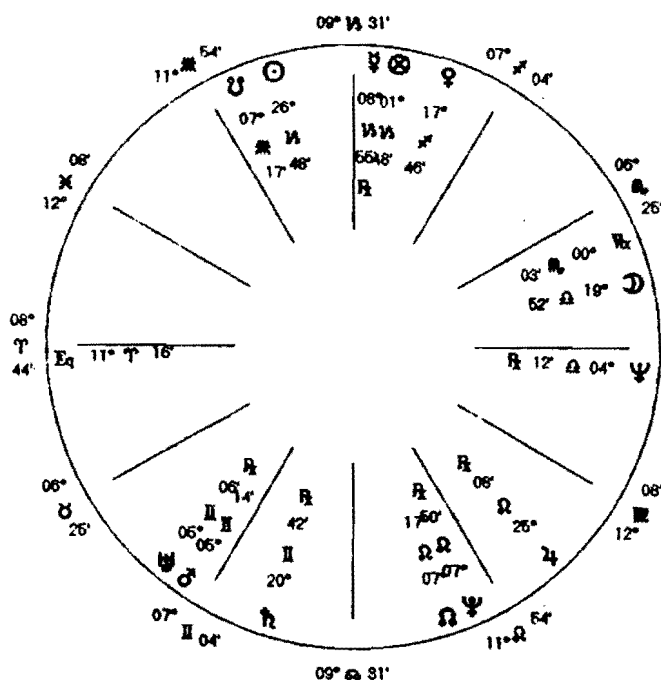

Here is another test to try your skills: In the three Charts below, which one represents—

- A piano teacher,
- A housewife with six children,
- A housewife without children?

You have until 15th June to decide on your answers. Please send entries direct to Ross Harvey 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW, 2074.

PRIME MINISTER PAUL KEATING

18TH JANUARY 1944, BANKSTOWN, NSW, 11:52 AM DST
151°2' E, 33°55' S. PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

The above Horoscope for our present Prime Minister has been furnished by Ross Harvey, who writes, "Paul Keating's mother said that he was born 'around noon'. Jack [Nicholls] subsequently used the Jigsaw Program to get 11:52 am, Daylight Saving Time.

I'm sure that this must be within a minute or two of the correct time. The Ascendant is 8°—9° Aries, with Mercury conjunct the MC. Saturn is stationary conjunct his Ascendant in July next year, and he also has Secondary[-Progressed] Sun square Progressed Saturn later next year. Obviously bad, but if the political commentators are to be believed, the next Election has to be before May."

The new Chart for Prime Minister Keating is very useful information for those astrologers (I hope there are some!) who will essay a forecast for the result of the next Federal Election.

I should like to see dozens of entries for these exercises, instead of the usual six or seven. Don't be worried about failure. Just make the attempt. The more you put your astrology to a practical test, the more you will become an effective astrologer, instead of one who merely talks and philosophizes about astrology without making it a valuable tool in everyday life.

Relevant to this, I have received the following comment from Michael Edwards, QHP, (Qualified Horary Practitioner) in London: "I like the fact that Astrologers' Forum is devoted to practice of astrology, especially on the concrete and predictive side. I can do without psychological, philosophical, pseudo-scientific waffle!"

Theory has its place, but there are plenty of publications giving scope to the ideas/fantasies of enthusiastic theorists.

CHART NO. 1

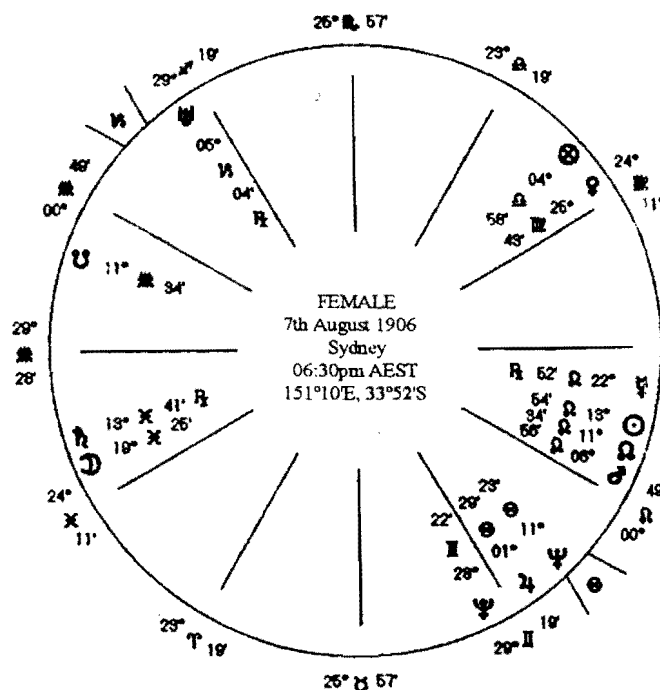

CHART NO. 2

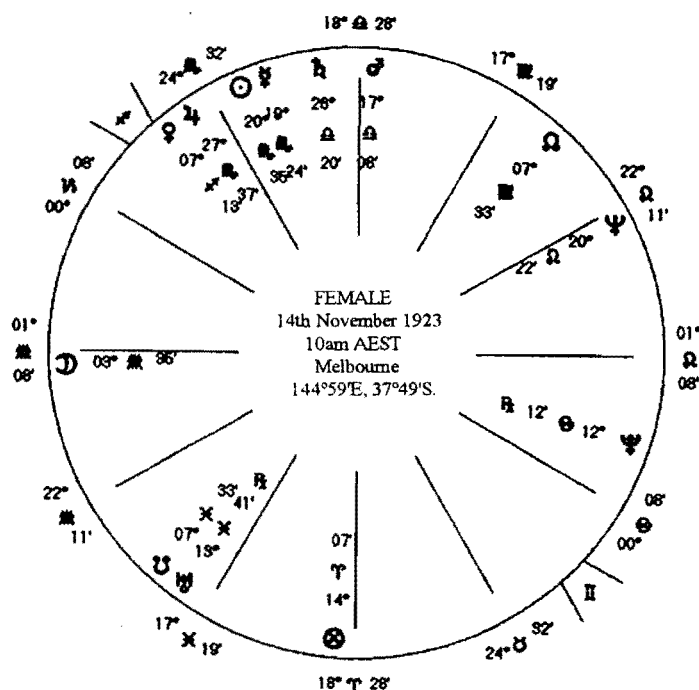

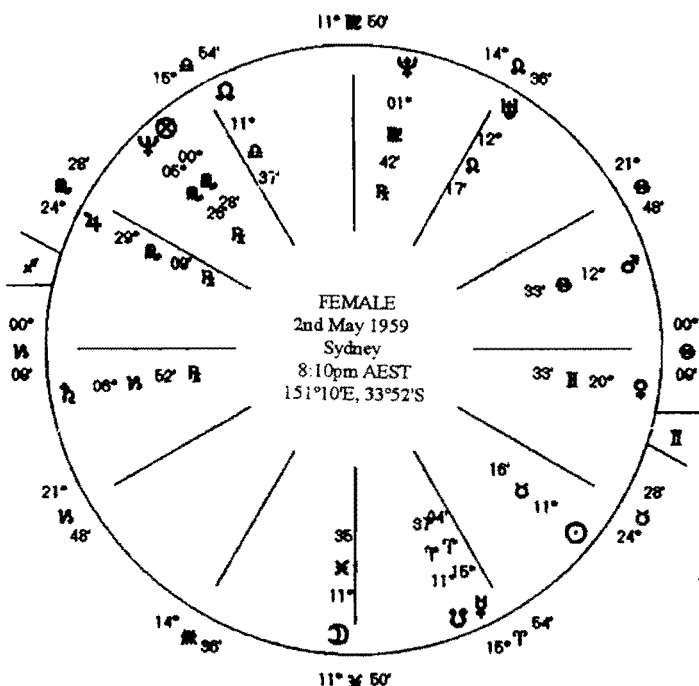

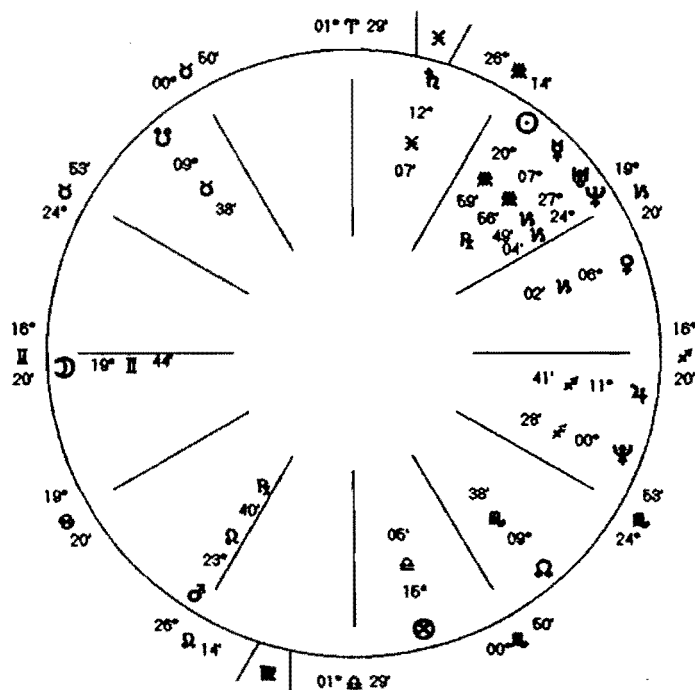

CHART NO. 3

WERE IS MY PORTRAIT?

Finding the missing portrait was offered as an exercise for astrologers in the January Issue of Astrologers Forum. Evidently readers were dubious of their abilities in this respect, as only one reply was received. Unfortunately, there was a basic misunderstanding about this Exercise. My impression was that the portrait had been found by the owner, who then propounded the question. But the portrait has never been found and the Horary Question was put at a later date, not the date when awareness of the loss first occurred. By traditional standards this, of course, invalidates the Question from a Horary point of view, though it is possible that if there had not been a previous Chart, this Chart for the time when the loss was very much on the Querent's mind could still be Radical.

The reply that was received from MIGNON HALFORD (NSW) is worthy of printing as a well-thought-out attempt, and possibly does provide an answer. Here it is:

The Horary Chart seems fit to be read—that is, no obvious strictures again judgement.

I look at the Significators for the Querent—

1. Mercury, Ruler of the Ascendant.
2. The Moon, Co-Ruler of the Ascendant, as well as being situated in the 1st House.

I chose the 2nd House, the House of movable possessions to rule the missing portrait. The Significators are:

1. The Moon, Ruler of the 2nd House.
2. The Sun, Co-Ruler of the 2nd House.
3. Mars, situated in the 2nd House, as well as
4. Venus, the natural Ruler of Possessions.

Since the Moon, the Significator of the portrait, is located in the 1st House, the House of the Querent, it suggests to me that the portrait is where the Querent spends most of her time—maybe at home.

The Moon is applying to a trine to the Sun, then a sextile to Mars suggesting a favourable outcome.

Where? The predominance of the 8th House, suggests to me something secret or hidden. Retrograde Mercury, the Ruler of the Querent (and natural ruler of thieves) is applying to a semi-sextile to Venus, the natural ruler of possessions, located in the 7th House, the House of the partner. The 8th House is also the Possession House of the partner. Does this mean the partner may be responsible for the disappearance?

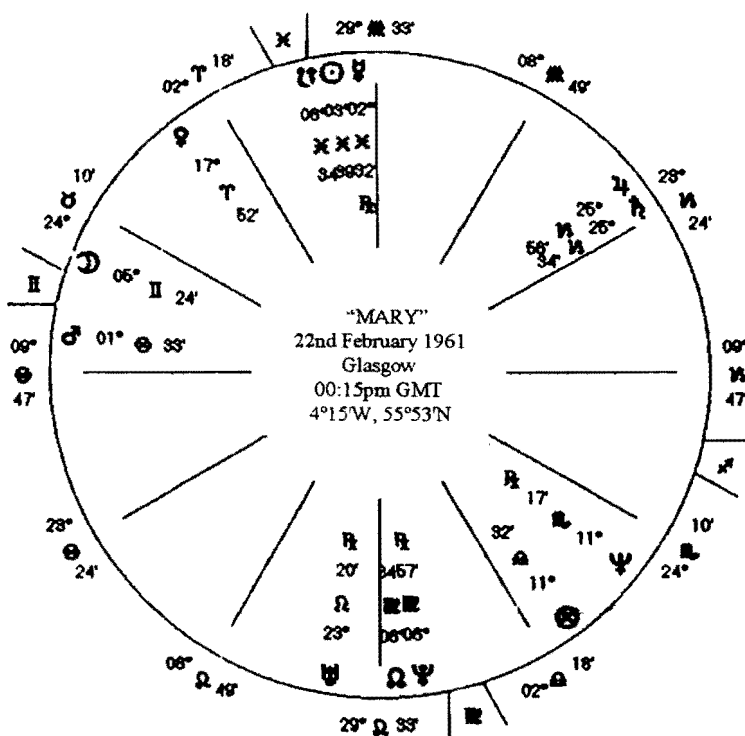

I suggest the Querent look South-West of her home, and somewhere hidden and high up.

Editor's Note: Mignon could very well be on the right track as regards the 7th-House influence. There is a suspicion that the portrait was taken away by a former partner.

Transits, and the Solar Return Figure for the period involved—

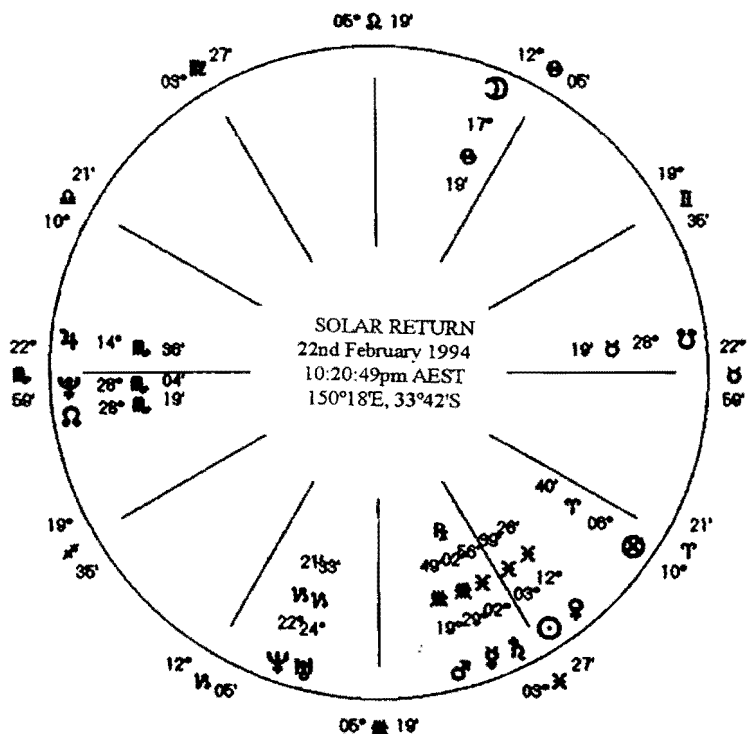

- 5 Aug 94: Pluto Stationary (25°17'♈) sextile Natal Jupiter
- 9 Aug 94: Prog.Moon trine Moon/Mercury Midpoint
- 10 Aug 94: Regr. Venus trine Jupiter/Pluto Midpoint
- 10 Aug 94: Tr. Jupiter sextile Pluto
- 11 Aug 94: Tr. Sun trine Venus
- 11 Aug 94: Tr. Venus trine Equatorial Ascendant.
- 12 Aug 94: Regr. Mercury trine Neptune/Node Midpoint.
- 12 Aug 94 Tr. Mercury trine Venus
- 13 Aug 94: Tr.Venus trine Moon.
- 16 Aug 94: Mars trine Mercury/Node Midpoint (by Naibod-Arc Direction)
- 20 Aug 94: Regr. Moon parallel Natal Mercury
- 26 Aug 94: Prog. Moon trine Sun/Moon Midpoint.

WHAT HAPPENED TO MARY?

The Chart above is the Horoscope of "Mary", a woman born in Scotland but living now in New South Wales, for whom something momentous happened on 11th August 1944. Can any reader work out what it was? This is another small practical exercise that will help to develop your astrological skills.

To aid in your efforts I supply also the Progressions, Regressions and Directions around that date, the

This is the typical of the situation that one meets when making forecasts for a client. The astrological factors show something of note—but precisely what?

Please send your deductions/comments to me by the 15th June. The solution will be published in the next Issue.

The Life-Span Revolution booklet mentioned in the last Issue is now available direct from Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra NSW 2074.

My kind regards to all,

—Dymock, 15th May 1995.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath, NSW, Australia, 2785.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 164 March 1995

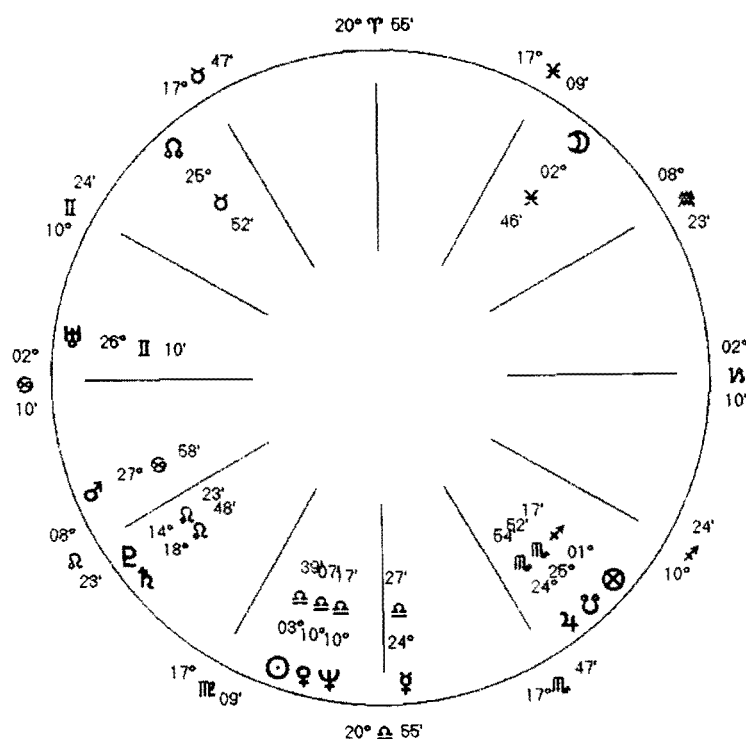

PREMIER BOB CARR

Now that Bob Carr has won the NSW Election, as predicted in the last Issue, it behoves us to consider what sort of a Leader he will be. Here, once more, is his Birth Horoscope.

PREMIER BOB CARR

28 SEPTEMBER 1947, 12:50AM AEST, MAROUBRA NSW

151°16' E, 33°57' S. PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

Bob is born under the Sign Cancer—The Prophet or Teacher—with the Sun in Libra, the Sign of The Statesman or Arbitrator. From Cancer he receives the gifts of retentive memory and vivid imagination, plus tenacity of purpose, and a dramatic quality that enables him to strike an attitude and gain the attention of his hearers when he wishes to deliver an important message. Another trait, important among our free-spending politicians, is a certain frugality that augurs well for the saving of public monies in NSW now that Bob is at the helm.

From the Sign Libra Bob derives a laudable impartiality and a sense of honour. His weakness may be great difficulty in coming to a decision on matters, this because of his sense of fairness and judicial capacity to see both sides—or all sides—of a

In This Issue...

	Page
Premier Bob Carr	1
Standard and Progressive
Solar Returns	2
Bob Carr's Progressions	3
Find the Lawyer! —Results	4
Sun—Pluto Aspects	4

question. No doubt he will be helped in this respect by those of his colleagues who are not too much troubled by impartiality.

In view of the close and very attractive conjunction in Bob's Geniture between the planets Venus and Neptune, which proclaims aesthetic sensibilities, a love of beauty and a keen sense of delicate nuances in music, art (and romance!), we may expect more than nominal support for the arts during Bob's régime. This will gladden the hearts of many.

So far as policy is concerned, the 10th House of the Chart should give us some clues. The Sign Aries there typifies the person who likes to be in the vanguard of thought and entertain new projects. To quote Isabelle Pagan (From Pioneer to Poet, now reprinted as The Signs of the Zodiac Analyzed) his outlook is "bright and hopeful, expectant and progressive".

Though Mars, Ruler of the 10th, occupies the Sign Cancer which tends to be conservative, its trine to Jupiter signifies an expansionist outlook, an enterprising attitude and many successful undertakings. The Moon, Ruler of the Chart, leaving the trine of Uranus and applying to the square of Jupiter, indicates that Bob is not bogged down in outworn ideas, but may on occasions be more hopeful and optimistic than circumstances warrant.

It is obvious from the position of the Moon (The Ruler) in Pisces plus the Ascendant in Cancer (two accented Water Signs), and the Sun conjunct Neptune, that Bob is far from being an insensitive politician. He must actually be very thin-skinned—a considerable disadvantage in the rough world of politics—but his Cancerian shell will conceal it, and the conjunction of Pluto and Saturn (orb 4°24') endows him with toughness and endurance. Pluto is emphasized by its opposition to the Vertex, and Saturn by its contra-parallel to the Moon.

The Sun conjunct Neptune, plus the Moon in Pisces, also confers on Bob a keen intuitive feeling that will be of inestimable value to him in finding his way through the labyrinth of politics, intrigue, scheming and infighting that is endemic in the world in which he is now cast in the role of leader.

Could one deduce from his Birth Horoscope that Bob Carr would achieve his current eminence? What is there to suggest that a battling politician would indeed become a Premier, with its attendant fame and emoluments? This is the sort of question that might very well be put to an astrologer if he were consulted by an aspiring politician whose career was just starting.

For eminence and fame we should look both to the 10th House, which signifies the potential for worldly elevation, and to the planet Jupiter which carries the potential for fame. In Bob Carr's Radix these two Significators are linked by the "Harvest" aspect—the trine. It is true that this aspect appears in many charts without always a commensurate elevation of the native in the eyes of the world, though I have noticed there is always some degree of leadership displayed, if only within a limited circle.

However, in the Premier's Chart additional factors enhance the Harvest aspect: Mars and Jupiter are in Mutual Reception—Mars being in Jupiter's Exaltation, and Jupiter being in the Sign Scorpio, traditionally ruled by Mars. Mutual Reception produces something like the power of a conjunction. Further, Jupiter, principal Significator of fame, is conjunct the Nodal axis of the Moon, which adds considerably to its significance.

STANDARD AND PROGRESSIVE SOLAR RETURNS

More attention should be paid to the Progressive Solar Return. In many instances I have found it to be more indicative of circumstances and events than the standard variety. The Progressive Solar Return is calculated for the time the Sun arrives in any year at the Secondary-Progressed position of the Sun on the birthday. The Chart thus derived applies to the following twelve months.

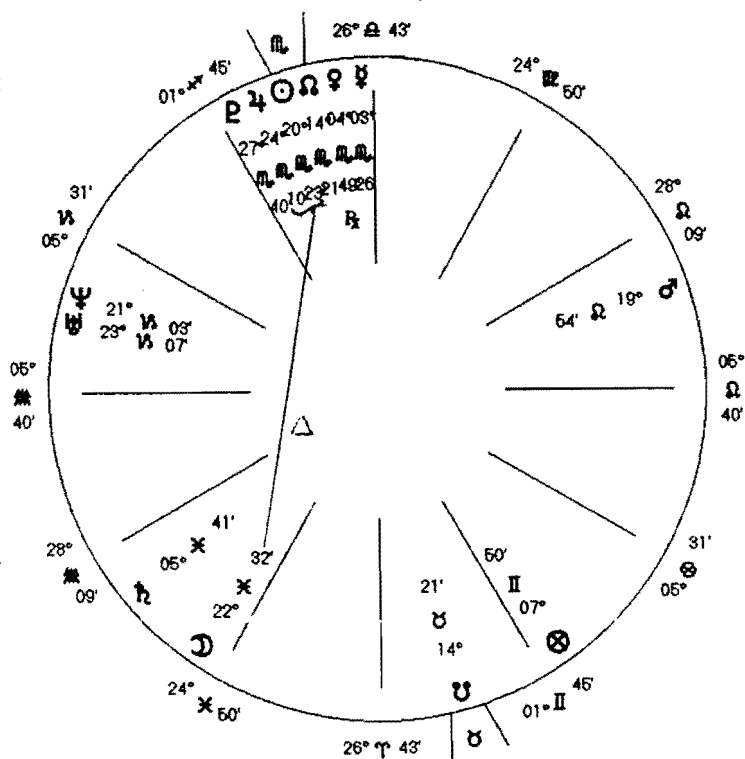

The Progressed Sun on Bob Carr's 47th birthday (28th September 1994, 12:50am AEST) was at 20°22'55" of Scorpio, and the Sun transited this point exactly on 13th November 1994 at GMT 0h 6m 58s. The Chart thus derived applies for the twelve months following, until the new Progressive Solar Return comes in on 14th November 1995. See below.

There is a close sequence of Sun—Jupiter—Pluto in the Figure, forming part of a powerful stellium in the 10th House. Jupiter is not only close to its Natal position but is also at the midpoint of the Sun and Pluto. Reinhold Ebertin (The Combination of Stellar Influences) interprets this as "successful striving for power...a person who establishes his position in life successfully", which is certainly appropriate in view of Bob Carr's recent victory at the polls. Apart from that, Venus ruling the Midheaven is conjunct Mercury and trine to Saturn ruling the Ascendant, giving promise of worldly elevation.

BOB CARR: PROGRESSIVE SOLAR RETURN

13 NOVEMBER 1994, 00:06:58 AM GMT

SYDNEY, 151°10' E, 33°52' S. PLACIDEAN CUSPS

Compare the above Figure with the Standard Solar Return on the next page. This Chart also relates to the period in which Bob Carr won the Election. Jupiter, ruling the Ascendant, conjoins Venus within a 1° orb—a sign of good fortune, among other things, particularly as Sagittarius rises—but not specifically referring to a major advancement in career. The only direct links with career are the Part of Fortune in the 10th House, and the elevated Sun on the 11th Cusp trine to Saturn. The latter aspect is very favourable for sustaining his position of authority, particularly as both bodies are well-placed mundanely—Saturn Angular close to the 4th Cusp, and the Sun less than 1° from the 11th Cusp. Apart from its relevance or otherwise to the attainment of the Premiership, this Solar-Return Chart is certainly favourable to Bob Carr in the pursuit of his objectives this year: Sun trine Saturn maintains his position (against any challenges), Sagittarius rising with Venus conjunct Jupiter brings him luck, and Mars trine Pluto signifies drive and determination to achieve his objectives.

This is, of course, borne out by the Progressive Solar Return for the reasons beforementioned and also because of the Moon trine the Sun, and Saturn, traditional Ruler of the Ascendant, being trine to

BOB CARR: STANDARD SOLAR RETURN

27 SEPTEMBER 1994, 9:42:22AM GMT

SYDNEY, 151°10' E, 33°52" S. PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

Mercury and Venus in the Midheaven. Thus the Sector of Career, Status and Advancement is well fortified.

The Premier's Progressed Aspects on the following dates suggest periods that will be highlights of the current year:

20th April 1995, Regressed Saturn conjunct Regressed Pluto at 13°7' Leo: Slow-moving Progressions/-Regressions such as this make their influence felt over lengthy periods. This converse conjunction has already been operating for months, and will continue during the present year. The Premier will be applying himself to his governmental tasks with zeal, energy and determination. This is an uncompromising aspect, and Bob Carr's natural tenacity, toughness and capacity for hard work will be evident. He will demand much of himself, and much of others.

14th to 19th June 1995, Progressed Moon contra-parallel Natal Pluto: This marks a few days especially adapted to clearing out impedimenta and generally streamlining one's operation. The Premier should take advantage of the planetary energies to get rid of dead wood, out-moded methods and anything else that stands in the way of progress and a new order.

6th July 1995, Saturn Stationary trine Natal Jupiter: A favourable period of about two weeks around 6th July for enacting legislation, settling legal disputes, and paring down expenses.

17th July 1995, Progressed Moon conjunct Progressed Venus at 9°44' Sagittarius: This benefic conjunction, occurring right on the 6th Cusp of Bob Carr's Radix, will focus his attention on his undertaking prior to the Election regarding health matters. Good results will surely follow, and the Premier will grow in popularity.

31st July to 3rd August 1995, Progressed Moon contra-parallel Natal Uranus: A time to inaugurate changes. The two bodies being already in favourable aspect in the Premier's Natus will facilitate progress and departures from old-style procedures.

1st to 4th August 1995, Jupiter stationary sextile Natal Sun: Revenue flows in and benefits come from past activities. This is a generally fortunate influence when the Premier will find most things go well, and he will enjoy considerable popular esteem.

4th to 12th August 1995, Pluto stationary trine Natal Mars: Some notable achievement. Success through persistent, determined effort.

5th September 1995, Solar-Arc Neptune trine Natal Mars: The voice of Intuition will help in deciding policy matters. The Premier should also be attending to the claims of the Arts.

5th October 1995, Neptune stationary square Natal Mercury: Adverse publicity possible through mistakes, confusion and/or misrepresentation.

6th October 1995, Uranus stationary square Natal Mercury: Disconcerting news, upset plans and trouble through news reports are probable.

October 1995, Solar-Arc Pluto square the Natal Ascendant: A challenging time necessitating fundamental (even fateful) changes.

November 1995, Progressed Venus sextile Natal Venus, (plus other favourable influences from Venus, the Moon and Jupiter): Calm after the transition period. A time for relaxation and enjoyment of the good things of life and the perquisites of Office.

—Dymock.

FIND THE LAWYER!

ROSS HARVEY reports that there were five entries for the FIND THE LAWYER competition. One person made two attempts, and one person was correct. The Lawyer's Chart was No. 2. The draftsman was No.1, and the repairer, No 3. [See the Charts in Issue 159/160. page 6.]

FIRST ENTRANT: Lawyer, Chart No. 2. This entrant had supplied the third Chart for the competition, so had only two to choose from.

SECOND ENTRANT: Lawyer, Chart No. 1. Second attempt: Lawyer, Chart No. 3.

THIRD ENTRANT: Lawyer, Chart No.1; sailor/-repairer, Chart No. 2; draftsman, Chart No. 3.

FOURTH ENTRANT: Lawyer, Chart No.1; sailor/-repairer, Chart No. 2; draftsman, Chart No. 3.

FIFTH ENTRANT: Lawyer, Chart No.1; sailor/repairer, Chart No. 2; draftsman, Chart No. 3.

ROSS HARVEY writes: Congratulations to Jack Nicholls, who was the First Entrant. When I set this test I wondered if I could have done it myself, so I looked through all the collections of data I have for charts of lawyers. Fortunately, many politicians were lawyers before they entered politics, so I found many charts, especially in Doris Chase Doane's Horoscopes of the U.S. Presidents.

I first assumed that Mercury must be in some way prominent, as lawyers deal with information and words, and thought that aspects of Mercury to Pluto might be important. However in over forty charts I found, aspects of Mercury to Mars as well as to Pluto were in every one with only two exceptions, and of these two, one had Sun conjunct Mars, and the other Moon conjunct Mars.

Mercury—Mars aspects are almost more important than those to Pluto, and signify "love of disputation". Who would have thought it? I would almost go so far as to say that combined aspects of Mercury, Mars and Pluto are the signature of the lawyer. Richard Nixon's Chart is typical, with Mercury conjunct Mars and opposite Pluto. F.D. Roosevelt had Mercury square Pluto, trine Mars. Harry Truman had Mercury conjunct Pluto, and [an aspect of] 4/19th to Mars, with an orb of only 0°10'.

Chart No. 2 has Mercury sesquare an Angular Pluto, and 100° to Mars, with an orb of only 0°11'. This is wholly typical of a lawyer.

Thanks to Ross for his research and enlightening report.

A further development of this Exercise would be an analysis of the other two Charts. What suggests the draftsman in Chart No.1, and the sailor/repairer in Chart No. 2? Comments/research by readers on these Charts will be welcomed. Meantime, we want more Charts of specific occupations so that this educational series can be extended. Surely every reader must have at least one! Please send the data direct to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia, 2074.

Ross Harvey's brilliantly innovative Life Span Revolution has now been reprinted in a separate booklet by Ken Gillman, Editor of Considerations. Those interested should write to Ken at P.O. Box 655, Mount Kisco, New York, 10549. The article originally appeared in Astrologers' Forum Issues 125, 126 and 127, December 1991 to February 1992.

SUN—PLUTO

ELVA HOWSON (Vic.) writes:

I think it is a marvellous idea to collect actual planetary effects from contributors' personal observations. I tender my observations of six Sun—Pluto personally-known cases (four conjunctions, one sextile, one trine).

PHYSICAL—All natives have experienced several (varied) surgical procedures.

THE CONJUNCTION:

Exceedingly strong ability to manipulate or dominate others by fair means or foul. Periodic involvement in power struggles, with ego-feeling crushed should victory not be theirs, but they rise to battle again with other opponents.

Strongly persistent in pursuit of personal desires. Selfish.

Very efficient in chosen vocation.

The father is removed from the native's life, or is ineffectual. The mother in all cases is the more dominant (powerful) parent even when the father is present in the native's youth.

One native with the conjunction in Virgo was diagnosed with compulsive obsession disorder.

SEXTILE, TRINE:

As above, but somewhat softened approach.

Thank you, Elva. It is good to have a response to the request in the last Issue. I hope other readers will follow suit and contribute their personal observations of planetary interactions. When enough worthwhile material has been collected I hope to publish a collated rendering in The Best of Astrologers' Forum. Much of the present textbook interpretations relate to a bygone era, and need to be brought into line with present-day conditions.

My kind regards to all.

—Dymock, 23rd April 1995.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath, NSW, Australia, 2785.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 163 February 1995

ELECTION FORECAST

A political Election is scheduled for the State of New South Wales on Saturday, 25th March next. The chief protagonists are the incumbent Liberal Premier, John Fahey, and the Leader of the Labour Opposition, Bob Carr. Can astrology determine who will win? Various techniques are available, but the the Event Chart below already decides the issue in favour of Bob Carr. It is set for the closing time of the Polls, 6pm, AEST, on the Election day, and for Sydney, the NSW Capital and seat of the State Parliament, .

NSW STATE ELECTION 25 March 1995

CLOSING OF THE POLLS, 6 PM SYDNEY
151°10' E, 33°52' S. PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

John Fahey and his Liberal Government is represented by the East side of the Chart, more especially the Ascendant and Midheaven.

The Labour Opposition is represented by the West Side of the Chart—the 7th Cusp becoming its Ascendant.

The Sign Libra rises, and its Ruler, Venus, is squared by Pluto, The Destroyer—a bad portent, indeed. This, in itself, is probably enough to ensure defeat of the present Government, but when we look further we see that the 10th House, representing the Government's chances of victory has Cancer on the

In This Issue...

	Page
NSW Election Forecast	1
Bob Carr's Chart.....	2
Lost Rings, Horary Chart, Lunar Return	2
and Demi-Lunar Return	3
Contribute your Experience!.....	4
Moon—Neptune	4

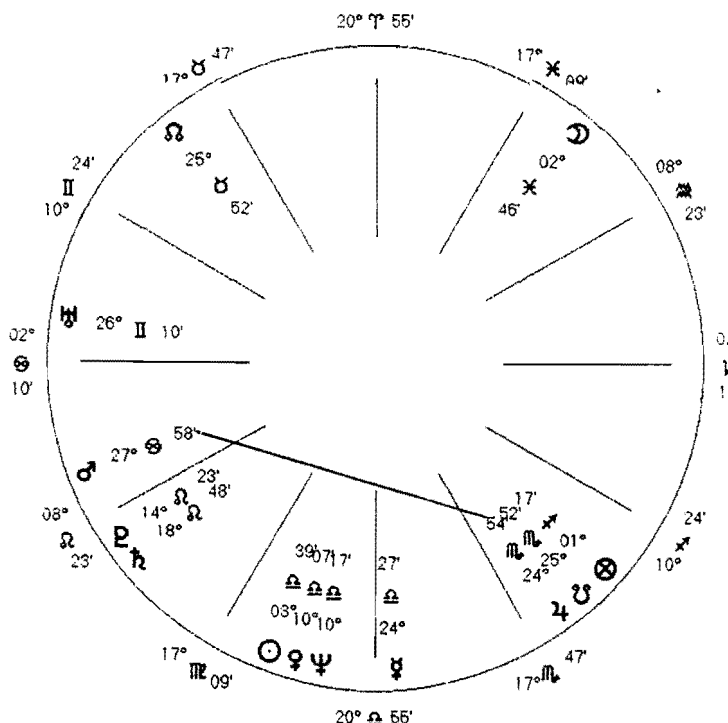

Cusp, ruled by the Moon, which is in a close applying conjunction with Neptune, and then moves on to join Uranus. This will surely wreck the Liberal Party's prospects.

The Labour Opposition, on the other hand, has its Ascendant (7th Cusp) fortified by the close conjunction of the Sun, its power emphasized by the conjoined Vertex and the trine from Pluto. Additionally, the Ruler of the Derived Ascendant, Mars, forms a beautiful trine with Jupiter—success.

The Mars-Jupiter trine repeats the same aspect in Bob Carr's Natal Horoscope (for which details I believe I was originally indebted to Gwen Stoney, indefatigable worker for correct Radix times).

BOB CARR,

LEADER OF THE NSW LABOUR OPPOSITION
28 SEPTEMBER 1947, 12:50AM AEST, MAROUBRA, NSW
151°16' E, 33°57' S. PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

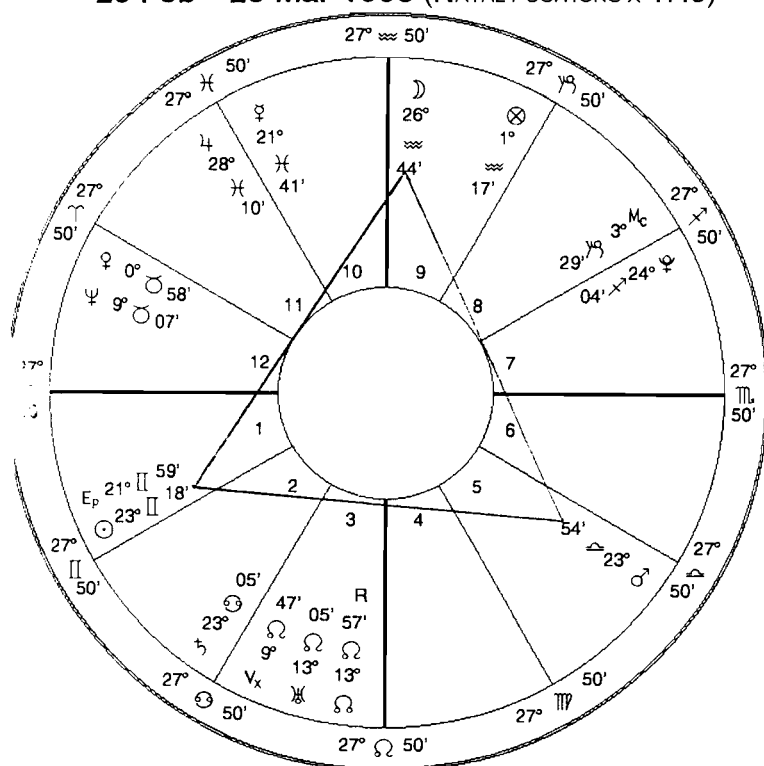

In Bob's Chart the Mars—Jupiter trine has particular application to his career, as Mars rules his 10th House.

Further cheering indications for Bob are given in the Chart for his Harmonic Month covering the period of the Election.

For information on fractional Harmonics see Astrologers' Forum 157/158, page 2, foot of second column. The Astrolabe Nova Program prints these Charts—otherwise use a calculator. They are tedious to do by hand, but very rewarding. But you must have a reasonably accurate birth time, otherwise Cusps and House positions will be wrong.

BOB CARR: Harmonic Month
28 Feb—28 Mar 1995 (NATAL POSITIONS X 47.5)

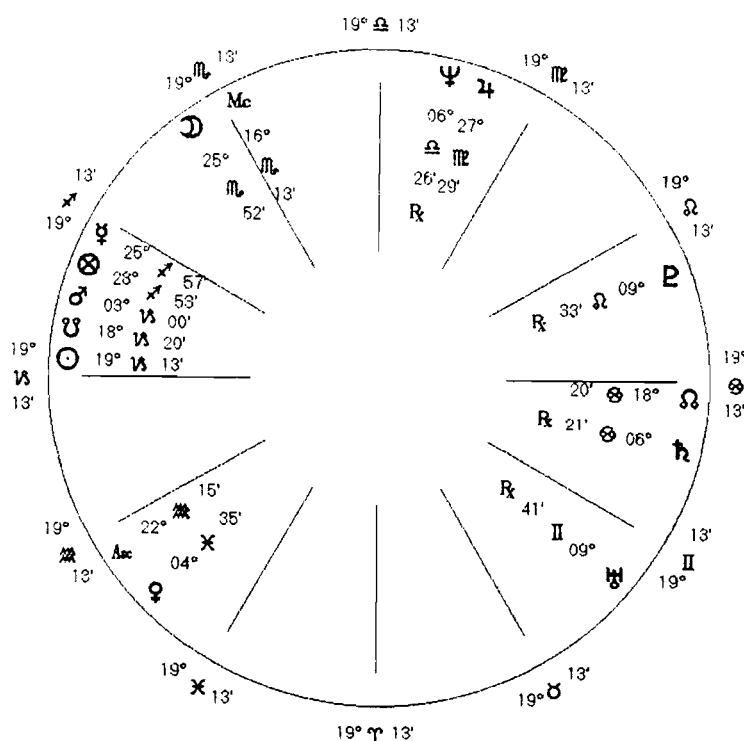

The dominating Grand Trine involving the Moon at the Midheaven, the Sun and Mars, does not need comment. It is a winner!

On the very day of the Election, 25th March, Mars is Stationary, turning Direct, at 13°10' Leo. Here it closely conjuncts Bob Carr's Natal Pluto at 14°23' Leo. As Pluto is the Planet of Power, and Mars rules the Radical Midheaven, I read this conjunction as empowering Bob's career. This is again supported by Jupiter on 1st April stationary at 15°23' Sagittarius, where it also trines Natal Pluto. The two stationary Transiting planets Mars and Jupiter together with Natal Pluto form a Grand Trine of Power for Bob Carr's benefit. As if anything further were needed, the Regressed Moon trines the Natal Sun on 1st April, a date when I expect Bob to be savouring the fruits of victory.

So far as the Premier, John Fahey, is concerned, I have only a date and place of birth, and not the time. Consequently the Horoscope below is only a Solar Chart, with the Sun placed on the Eastern Horizon. The Solar Figure precludes an analysis of Cyclic Charts, and we are restricted to Progressions/-Regressions and Transits. However, this is not of much consequence as the issue of Electoral Victory is decided anyway.

The stationary positions of Mars and Jupiter on the 25th March and 1st April do not yield John Fahey

JOHN FAHEY, N.S.W. PREMIER 10TH JANUARY 1945, AUCKLAND, N.Z.
SOLAR CHART. PLACIDEAN CUSPS.

any joy, and a Naibod-Arc Direction of Saturn trine Mercury on 10th April is no cause for cheering.

If Bob Carr doesn't win this Election I'll start my astrological studies all over again.

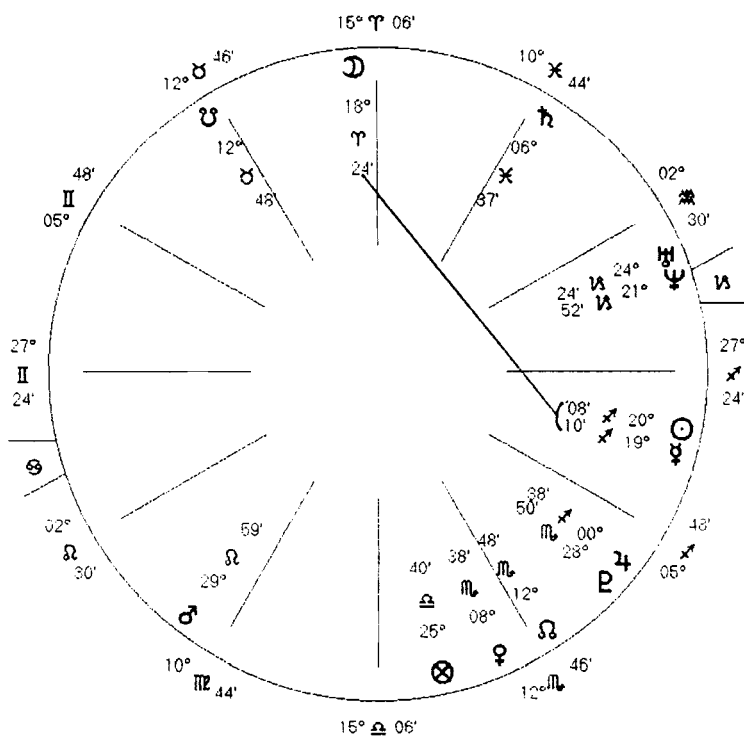

—Dymock.

Will my lost rings be recovered?

The Horary Chart on the next page was drawn up in response to a client who had lost two rings, very valuable both in monetary terms and for sentimental reasons. The woman concerned was worried that they had been stolen after she took them off during a cleaning operation and left the house for an hour or two, forgetting to replace them on her hand. Would they be recovered?, was her question.

Gemini rising, and the Moon in Aries, adequately describes the Querent—she is highly intelligent and has her Natal Moon in Aries.

HORARY CHART 12 DECEMBER 1994

My interpretation of the Chart was that the rings would be recovered. I took the 2nd House to represent the lost rings. Leo on the Cusp is ruled by the Sun, posited here in the 2nd House, conjunct Mercury. This is very appropriate for a valuable item (Sun) worn on the hand (Mercury).

They would be recovered because the Querent's Significator, the Moon is applying to a trine of both Mercury and the Sun.

Because of the position of the latter two planets in the 6th House and in Sagittarius, I suggested that the lost items were in the kitchen and in or near a heater.

The Querent and her husband scoured every inch of the kitchen, and practically dismantled the stove and a heater, but without result.

The search was finally given up, though I still believed the rings were not stolen but were somewhere in the house.

I heard no more of the matter until the Querent excitedly 'phoned me on 3rd March to say that she had found the rings that every morning! Where were they? In the pocket of her woollen jacket, which had apparently been in the kitchen at the time, and where the rings had possibly been put by her three-year-old daughter.

The woollen jacket was, of course, the heater—not easy to specify!

An interesting facet of the case is the timing of the find: The Sun and Mercury are disposed by Jupiter at 0°38' of Sagittarius. (Jupiter rules wool) At the date the rings were discovered, Pluto was stationery at 0°37' of Sagittarius—precisely on Jupiter. Pluto brings things to light.

The Ascendant of the Chart is just into the last three degrees of the Sign, which is supposed to be a "Stricture" against judgement. "Strictures" have to be interpreted with some flexibility. Here it probably meant that nothing need be done—the lost items would be discovered in the normal course of events.

An interesting corollary to the above is the Querent's Lunar Return Chart, which came into operation on the 3rd of March—the day on which the lost items were discovered.

LUNAR RETURN 3 MARCH 1995 (Placidus)

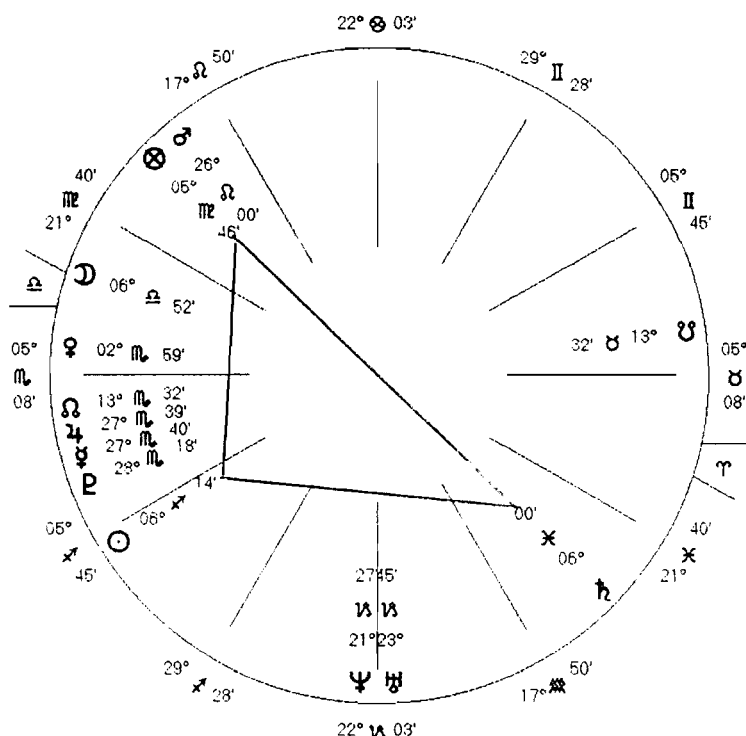

Sagittarius rises—the "lucky" Sign. Jupiter, its Ruler, is just below the horizon and in its Dignity, closely sextile to Mercury (small items) in the 4th House—the realm of lost and hidden things. Again, Venus (valuables) in the 3rd House is conjunct Uranus (discovery) and closely sextile to Pluto which "brings things to light". A third indication is the presence of the Part of Fortune (one's treasure) right on the Cusp of the 2nd House (gains and material assets)

None of the preceding or succeeding Lunar Return Charts had any comparable planetary configurations. Truly it has been written in Ecclesiastes, "There is a time for everything under the Sun"

Taking the matter a step further, could we infer the loss of a valuable item from the Lunar Chart just prior to the loss? The Lunar Return of 14th November 1994 is too remote from the event (3rd December), but the "Demi-Lunar Return", when the Moon was opposite its Natal position occurred on 29th November, Australian time. It appears on the next page.

DEMI-LUNAR RETURN 29 NOV.1994

The interesting thing about this Chart is the T-Square involving the Sun in the 2nd House (material assets) in close square to the Part of Fortune (possessions), and very close square to Saturn. An alert astrologer might well deduce from this combination a loss of some important asset. Perhaps, if this configuration had occurred in a major cyclic chart—an annual Solar or Synodic Return, for instance, it might well have portended an irrevocable loss.

—Dymock.

SHARE YOUR EXPERIENCES of PLANETARY EFFECTS

Astrologers' Forum is a publication "devoted to the improvement of astrological practice through the sharing of knowledge, experience and techniques". We need more input from readers contributing their knowledge of planetary action through their experience with their own Charts or those of friends/clients, etc. This is the way in which we can add to, improve and correct the textbook definitions. Practical experience gives precision to what is sometimes only the speculation of imaginative astrologers when expounding the supposed action and interaction of the planets and Signs. Don't tell me that after observing the linking of, say, Mercury and Venus for years you don't have your own ideas of what they mean and how they work! Your experience could be a valuable extension of present knowledge, something to go into the text books of the future.

I am asking readers to submit their knowledge and conclusions founded on their own special observation and research, so that all of us can benefit.

As a start, can you add to or enlarge on the following brief delineation of the Moon linked to Neptune?

Moon—Neptune:

Psychological: Soft-nature, gentle, sensitive, impressionable, compassionate, dreamy, inspired, forgetful, absent-minded,, unpunctual, unworldly, improvident, naive and gullible; easily imposed upon. apt to be uncertain and confused. Aesthetic tastes; interested in music, art, theatre, dancing, mysticism or the occult. Sometimes psychic impressions, with varying degrees of reliability.

(Trine/Sextile) Love lakes and peaceful waters. (Opposition, Square) Uneasy at sea. Afraid of drowning.

Physical: Prone to periods of lassitude and apathy. Over-indulgence in or addicted to alcohol, smoking or drugs. Physiologically vulnerable parts are the feet and lungs.

The above characteristics are of course to be read in conjunction with other features of the chart, and may have to be modified considerably in a particular delineation.

Though I have cited the Moon-Neptune link as an introductory example, feel free to write about any other planetary combination whose effects you have observed. Names of those who contribute will be published unless otherwise indicated by the contributor. The more contributions we have the more progress we can make towards precise and comprehensive delineation of planetary action.

"Accuracy and definition of judgement are the qualities most needed in present day astrological practice."—written by Vivian E. Robson, B.Sc., about 60 years ago, and still applicable today.

You still have until 15th March to submit your answers to Where is my Portrait (in the last Issue) and the Find the Lawyer Exercise (Issues 159/160,) If you are serious about Astrology it is certainly worthwhile making the time to attempt these questions.

Information is also requested from readers who have accurate birth data of people engaged in any of the professions. This can be the basis of future exercises to increase astrological insight.

—Dymock, 6th March 1995.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath, NSW, Australia, 2785.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 162 January 1995

THE FUTURE OF JOHN HOWARD

by Allan Johnson

Will John Howard be the next Prime Minister?

At the beginning of each year the Weekend Australian always runs a page of predictions for the year ahead. This year the star turn was John Howard as the next Prime Minister. Of course a Federal Election won't necessarily have to be held this year, but if not it would have to take place in the early part of 1996. So in that case he would certainly have to be the new leader of the Liberal Party before this year runs out. Also, in view of Alexander Downing's poor showing in the opinion polls just now it is a good time to have a look at Howard's Chart. He was born on 26th July 1939, and the time I have is approximately 4am.

This makes for quite a strong Chart, with a close T-Square pattern—Sun, Pluto, Saturn, Mars. These are all powerful planets, and the T-Square can be a dynamic configuration. It is also worth noting that all these planets are right on the Cusps of Signs, as well as the Moon being right on the Cusp of Scorpio. So here we have five planets all very closely on Cusps, enough to call it a "Cuspal" Chart. I have always found that people born with the Sun on the Cusps of two Signs are very prone to live fluctuating lives. For political figures this could mean sudden rises and falls. This has already happened in Howard's case. That situation could be very much emphasized by so many other planets also being on Cusps. I would say that a lot of Cuspal planets could make for a high degree of adaptability, being able to handle any type of eventuality. And of course this contradicts the fact that nearly all these planets are in Fixed Signs, not usually considered to be so flexible. So such a person could take a lot of people by surprise.

But a point of major interest at this time is that both Uranus and Pluto, the two planets most associated with dramatic events, hit the Cusps this year. This means that Pluto will be right on Howard's Moon for most of this year, while Uranus will be right on his Natal Mars, squaring Saturn and opposing his Sun/Pluto, thus activating the Natal T-Square very strongly. This could make this year very much a "Destiny Year" for him.

The activation of a pattern like this does not make for an easy situation, rather it puts one in the "hot seat", and how many want that? But it is precisely

In This Issue...

	Page
The Future of John Howard.....	1
Political Forecasting	2
The Japanese Earthquake and Johndro Horoscopes	2
A Case of Accidental Death	3
Where is My Portrait.....	4
Extension of time for Find the Lawyer!	4

JOHN HOWARD

26 July 1939, Kogarah, NSW 4 am

151°8' E, 33°58'S

Koch Cusps

"people born with the Sun on the Cusps of two Signs are very prone to live fluctuating lives" what any person aspiring to be Prime Minister has to contend with. There has to be a big difference between winning political office and winning a lottery. On the other hand, if we look at the position of transiting Pluto conjuncting Natal Moon, we see it also trines Sun/Pluto, and links up in a wide Grand Trine involving Natal Jupiter. This does bring a luck element into the picture, which is often needed as well as hard effort. Progressions don't play such a big part in this situation, though the Progressed Sun is moving towards the trine to Mars. So John Howard could achieve his long-term ambition to be Prime Minister, and it will be interesting to see these Transits in action.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The above was written by Allan Johnson on the 16th of January, well before the Opposition Liberal Party moved to replace Leader Alexander Downer with former Deputy Prime Minister, John Howard. The latter is assuming the mantle of office this day, 30th January 1995, and his Progressed Aspect is Mercury, his Natal Ruler, parallel the Sun (success). (31st January).

POLITICAL FORECASTING

No one has yet responded to the challenge of making a political forecast from the FOUNDATION OF AUSTRALIA Chart given in last month's Astrologers' Forum. Potential forecasters may take courage from the fact that the Stationary position of Mercury at 21°16' Aquarius was right on the 11th Placidian Cusp (20°56' Aquarius) of the Radical Chart. The 11th House represents Parliament, and Mercury here indicates the current acrimonious discussion regarding the Government's wood-chip policy, with a huge blockade today of Parliament House by over 2000 logging trucks and about 5000 people.

The big question now is "Will the Liberal Opposition win the Federal Election due to be held this year or early next?" Again, astrologers with a political bent are invited to try their hand at answering this question. The astrological reasoning will be published in this Journal along with the names of any successful authors.

THE JAPANESE EARTHQUAKE

The horrific earthquake in Japan once again raises the question whether these calamities can be foretold by Astrology. Erecting a Chart for the time and place of the event is instructive insofar as one can see the symbolic representation of the tremendous forces at work, but so far as practical help is concerned it is only an intellectual exercise.

A possible, or partial, solution to this problem is to be found in the writings of L. Edward Johndro whose book The Earth in the Heavens describes a method of equating various Longitudes on the Earth's surface with specific Zodiacal Degrees. The Zodiacal degree found to correspond to the particular geographic longitude of the place is then put at the Midheaven of any Chart concerning that particular locality, the other Cusps and planetary positions being calculated in the usual way from the latitude of the place and the date of the event. The preselected longitude (which becomes the Midheaven) changes very slightly from year to year as Johndro based his system on the precession of the Equinoxes. The Nova Computer Program readily calculates these Charts though they are not difficult to do by hand.

JAPANESE EARTHQUAKE

17 January 1995, 5:46am Awaji, Japan

5:46am, latitude 34°35' N.

JOHNDRO CHART for 135°1'E.

The epicentre of the Japanese Earthquake was Awaji Island, near the major cities of Kobe, Osaka and Kyoto. The terrestrial longitude of Awaji is 135°1' East, and a Johndro Chart for the time of the Quake at this longitude and at the latitude of Awaji does indeed reflect the event: The 4th House (the Earth) contains a conjunction of Neptune, the Sun and Uranus all opposed by the Moon. The Sun and Uranus (shock!) are very close in the 27th degree of Capricorn (Earth Sign), and so is their opposition to the Moon (orb about ½°). There are other planetary afflictions—Mars square Pluto, and Saturn ruling the 4th square Venus ruling the 8th, both aspects being harbingers of death.

The point about all this is that a vigilant mundane astrologer would be aware of critical configurations forming in the sky, and with the help of the Johndro method of equating locality longitudes to Midheaven degrees may be able to narrow down the area of the Earth that would be affected. The astrologer would search for those places where the major adverse configurations are close to the Angles, as in the Chart above. The remaining problem would be to decide on the latitude, of the place or district at risk, and in the case of a probable earthquake, as here, one would of course be guided to a large extent by the known Fault Lines and the places they affect.

The above is one suggested avenue of research that could give worthwhile results. Probably others will suggest themselves to interested astrologers. I should be pleased to hear from them. —Dymock.

A CASE OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH

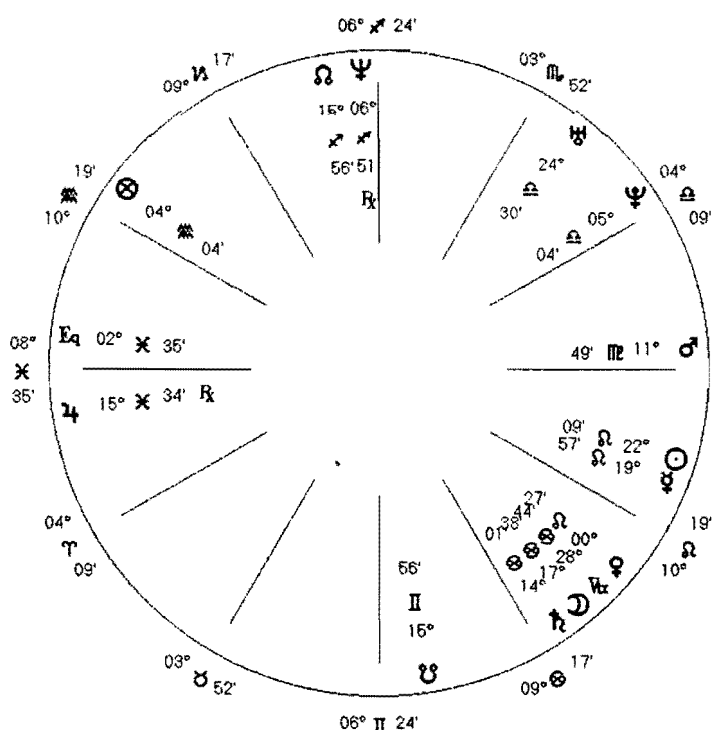

by Ricky Corcilius

Here is an example of how powerful are the indications and especially the degrees in the Solar Return Chart. Transits that are technically over and separating, and Eclipse degrees, can be still very active, as shown in a Solar Return, when backed up by other Progressed or Transiting aspects.

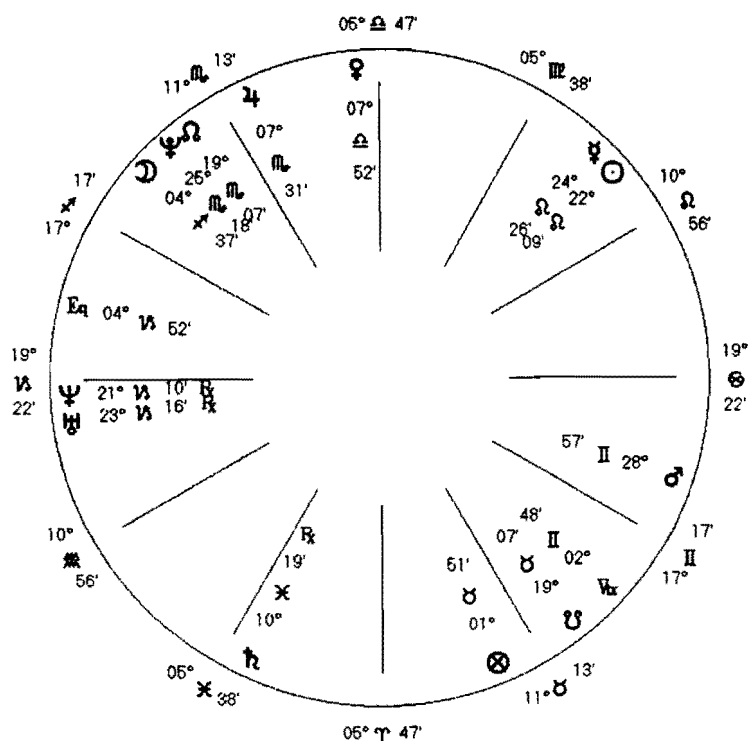

The man concerned was born on 15th August 1974, Sydney, 6:40pm, and he died overseas on 31st December 1994 while riding in a taxi which was hit by a bus.

MALE BORN 15TH AUGUST 1974, SYDNEY

151°10' E, 33°55' E, 6:40 pm AEST. Placidus.

SOLAR RETURN 15th August 1994 (Set for Birth Place)

The Solar Return for his last birthday has the SR-Sun in the 8th House (death) conjunct Mercury, both square to Pluto. Mars is in the 6th House in Gemini (cars and transport) quincunx to Pluto. The SR-Midheaven is 5° Libra conjunct Natal Pluto, and the yearly Moon is in Sagittarius, showing overseas travel, which did begin before the birthday and lasted throughout the rest of the year until his death. Transiting Jupiter conjuncted this yearly Moon at 4°37' Sagittarius on the day he was killed, which says something about some of the so-called lucky effects of Jupiter.

The Lunar Eclipse in May 1994 occurred at 3°43' Sagittarius, close to Natal Neptune, Ruler of his Birth Ascendant—he left Australia in May.

What is even more macabre, his funeral was held on the 10th January 1995, when the Sun was at 19°17' of Capricorn, exactly conjunct the SR-Ascendant. The SR-North Node in the 11th House at 19° Scorpio is in the same degree as this Ascendant. Anything in the same degree as the Moon's Node is said to be fateful and difficult. Here it is certainly so, as the Ascendant itself was jeopardized.

The young man died in Sri Lanka where he had gone to see a girlfriend, who was also very badly hurt in the accident. He would otherwise never have been in that place.

Rising in the Yearly Chart are Uranus and Neptune retrograde, quincunx to the Sun in the 8th House and quincunx Mars in the 6th, if you allow a wide orb, which is certainly warranted, as later events tragically showed.

Alexandre Volguine, who wrote a book on Solar

Returns, always said that something like death in the Solar Return Chart had to be backed up by other Progressed aspects. This young man's Progressed Sun conjuncted his Natal Mars exactly on the 4th of January 1995, four days after he died (of severe head injuries). The Progressed Sun was in the Progressed 6th House, where it would always stay. The Progressed Moon in Aries squared Natal Saturn in the Progressed 4th House two weeks before the accident. Progressed Mars at 24° Virgo opposed the Progressed Ascendant. The Progressed Moon at 14°51' Aries trined the Progressed Node the day he died.

• Other Transits in effect at the time of his death were:

• Uranus in the Natal 11th House square Natal Uranus in the 8th House—a separating aspect but still obviously powerful.

• Transiting Venus square his Natal Sun.

• Transiting Saturn about to conjunct the Natal Ascendant.

Looking at the Midpoints—

• Uranus = Mars/Neptune: "A crisis in life, an illness or an accident". The accident occurred while travelling in a taxi with his girlfriend.

• Natal Pluto = Venus/Neptune: "A tragic love, a painful renunciation". It is not known whether his girlfriend survived the accident.

The Chart for the accident has its Midheaven at 7° Libra conjunct the SR-Venus (7° Libra), and his Natal Pluto at 5° Libra.

Very sadly, I am sure there are more fingers of destiny that could be found in these Charts.■

EDITOR'S NOTE

Readers who investigate the 20th AGE HARMONIC CHART will find it equally cogent:

- The Ruler, Saturn, is opposed by The Destroyer, Pluto, across the Chart.
- The Moon conjoins Mars on the Third Cusp (Transport and Vehicles) in opposition to the Equatorial Ascendant and square to Neptune.
- Mercury, natural Significator of cars, etc., conjoins Saturn and is opposed by Pluto.
- Natal Sun is in close conjunction with the Harmonic 8th Cusp and in opposition to the Harmonic Sun. (The Chart itself is not presented for lack of space.)

An interesting question is—Could an astrologer have deduced an early death from a study of the Birth Chart?

- Pisces rises, and its two Rulers, Jupiter and Neptune are both Angular, and both afflicted by Mars! Jupiter and Neptune are in Mutual Reception, each occupying the other's Sign, which must enhance their importance, like planetary conjunctions in a horoscope.

- Neptune is further afflicted by the sextile to Pluto, right on the Death Cusp, and the Ruler of this Cusp, Venus, is squared by Uranus. The conjunction of Venus with the Vertex gives it added significance. Pluto rules the 9th House—foreign countries. The death occurred in Sri Lanka.

- Saturn afflicts the Moon by conjunction.

So the indications are there. An astrologer is naturally chary of looking for portents of an early death, but there are occasions when this is desirable. The information gained should naturally be used with discretion.

WHERE IS MY PORTRAIT?

The above Horary Chart is submitted by Marie Casey (NSW) as a useful and interesting exercise to improve skills. Can you locate from the above Chart the missing portrait? Send your answers to the Editor not later than 15th March. Any correct solutions will be published.

It has been decided also to extend the closing date for the FIND THE LAWYER Exercise to 15th March, in view of the limited number of entries so far. Full details are given in Issue 159/160 (October/November 1994). These exercises are valuable, whether or not you find the right answer. Be brave! Try it! Entries to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia 2074.

—Dymock, 18th February 1995.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath, NSW, Australia, 2785.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issue 161 December 1994

PEACE IN NORTHERN IRELAND

by Allan Johnson

A lot of people are holding their breath as to what will happen in Northern Ireland, so it is a good time to have a look at the Chart for that controversial place. Nicholas Campion's The Book of World Horoscopes does give a Chart for Northern Ireland. It is really the date for the reorganization of the United Kingdom to exclude most of Ireland, but to include Northern Ireland as a separate State within the U.K. This would not mean a new Chart for the U.K. but the time and date for this change could be taken as a Chart for Northern Ireland's new identity. The vote to this effect was formally taken in the British Parliament at 3:30 pm, December 7th, 1922, and therefore the Chart is set up for London. Campion suggests that this Chart would have real validity, and it is being tested by events.

The main features of this Chart are the very close Grand Trine (Uranus, Pluto, Jupiter) in Water Signs, plus a fairly wide T-Square in Fixed Signs (Mars, Venus, Neptune). This T-Square becomes very significant in the new State's subsequent history, for Venus is in Scorpio and afflicted by both Mars and Neptune, and rules relationships—with Neptune showing the delusions and Mars the violence. Venus is also in the House of Service, and one of the biggest grounds for contention internally was the discrimination on religious grounds for jobs in the Public Service. The Sun in Sagittarius trine Neptune shows more optimism by its founders than turned out to be justified by events. Sun/Mercury square Uranus is also disruptive and not sympathetic to sweet reason.

Gemini on the Ascendant seems to typify the division in the State from the beginning, as it always had a split personality which developed more and more with the passing of the years. What is highly significant in the Chart is the total absence of planets in Earth, as well as no Earth on the Angles. It is predominantly a Water Chart—so it is easy to see the dominance of emotions and the absence of down-to-earth common sense that has been apparent. People in other countries, such as Australia, have been rather bemused by the State's apparent inability to come to terms with religious differences. But the Water/Earth contrasts do throw light on this.

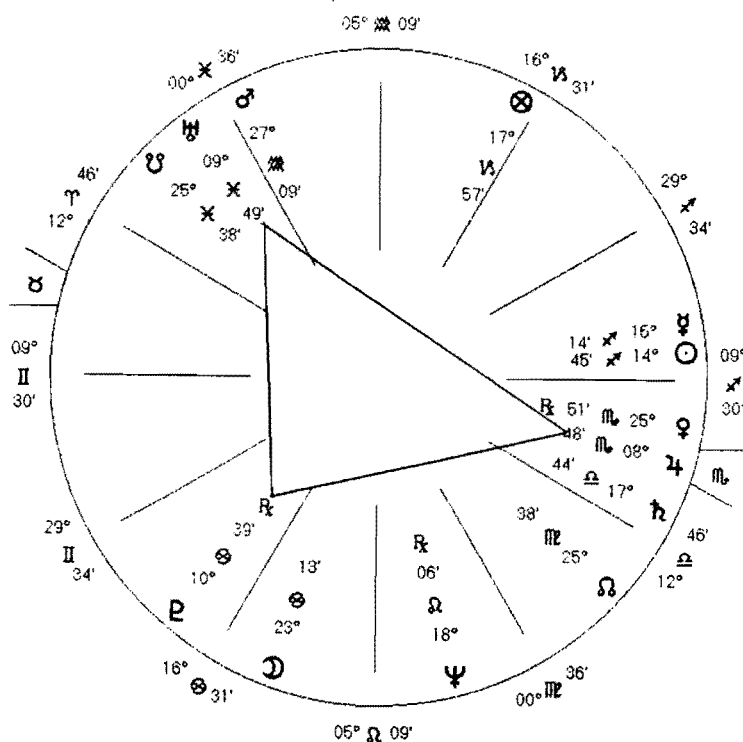

The beginning of what became known as the "Troubles" was in August 1969 with a week of furious

In This Issue...

	Page
Peace in Northern Ireland.....	1
Personal Predictions for 1995.....	2
Astrology Book Reprints.....	3
Australian Foundation Chart— 1994 reviewed	4

NORTHERN IRELAND

7th December 1922, 3 29 pm GMT
Westminster, England. 0°7' W, 51°30' N.

sectarian fighting in Belfast, with the use of Sten-guns and rifles, and the British Army had to be sent in to break it up. Five people were killed and hundreds injured. From then on "a cycle of murder which claimed 3,100 lives, 39,000 injured, 10,000 bombings covered a period of 25 years right up to the present". If it is a valid Chart the Transits for August 1969 should correlate. It is appropriate that the Progressed Sun had just moved into Aquarius (Natal Sun square Uranus). In Transits we should expect the T-square to be activated. What we get is not Pluto or Uranus but Neptune—which is stationary and right on the exact degree of Natal Venus, making the close square to Mars. Of course, Neptune is part of the Natal configuration as well. It was not the beginning of large-scale warfare, but it did pinpoint the use of violence and the fantasies that became associated with what was to follow. Of course, Neptune/Mars must link with religious conflicts. There was tremendous self-deception that problems could be solved by violence rather than compromise. They never were solved, right up until now.

This brings us to what appears to be a breakthrough at the present time. This came with the I.R.A. Cease-Fire on 31st August this year. The Transits are once again very interesting, for right on that day Jupiter was on 9° Scorpio, Saturn 9° Pisces, Mars 9° Cancer, all making the exact Grand Trine! And virtually all lying exactly on the Grand Trine of the Ulster Chart. What was remarkably spot-on was that Jupiter was also right on Natal Jupiter. This is a very good augury—but the position of Pluto has to be considered, and it was right on Natal Venus.

Pluto rules beginnings and endings, so if we look at it in a positive light it could mean the ending of the cycle of violence. But there is also the negative side. We have to look at the fact that the Cease-Fire does not necessarily solve the intractable problem. It only means it goes to the conference table. Another factor is that Neptune/Uranus was in opposition to Natal Neptune—making it a very fluid situation.

What we are getting here is an extremely tricky situation. Everybody knows that without consulting astrology. Since 31st August the Cease-Fire has held—but only just. All this proves we are dealing with a valid Chart. With Pluto and Uranus in those positions we are treading on extremely thin ice. Will the peace hold? Pluto has just been passing the square to Mars, a type of aspect that can blow up in everybody's face. The saving grace in this situation is that there has not been any great hurry to force the pace. A long drawn-out set-up could be in everybody's favour. This will take things into 1995. On January 17 Pluto moves to the Cusp of Sagittarius, which is a more neutral area. It does not come back to the exact square to Mars till late in the year. By early '95 Uranus will have left behind the opposition to Natal Moon.

Although the peace process did start with some promising auguries I don't think any astrologer could predict with any certainty that the Irish "Troubles" are about to end. But there is some ground for confidence. Peace could be a protracted process. After what happened in South Africa it could be that peace is "catching". One last point is that the Progressed Sun has this year moved into the Libran Decanate, which is appropriate for a peaceful solution. ■

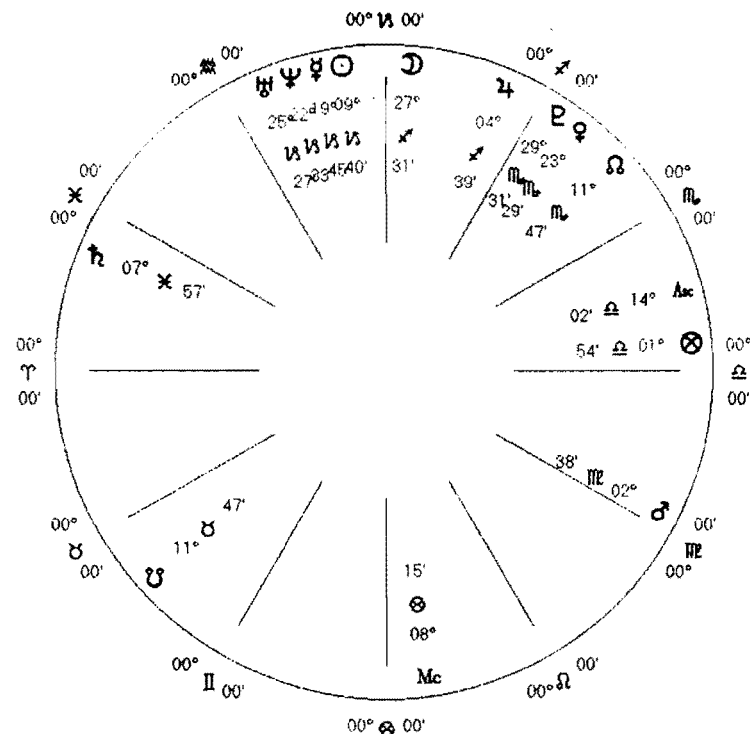

PREDICTIONS FOR 1995

by Jillian Boton

Rather than use an Ingress Chart for predictions, I use a New Year's Day Chart to predict the year ahead. For Aries predictions I place 0° Aries on the Ascendant, Capricorn in the 10th House, Sagittarius in the 9th, and Saturn in Pisces in the 12th. For Taurus, 0° Taurus is placed at the Ascendant, Capricorn in the 9th, Sagittarius in the 8th, Saturn in Pisces in the 11th, and so on.

PREDICTION CHART, JANUARY 1, 1995

Planets for 0-hours GMT

The Chart shows an emphasis of planets in favourable condition in Capricorn. The Moon still in Sagittarius and the on-going favourable influence of Jupiter transiting its own Sign is next in importance. Saturn in Pisces has trying aspects—the opposition of Mars and the square of Jupiter.

ARIES

Head and shoulders above the rest, show what you can do. Make your mark on the world. Promote yourself. Overseas travel plans firm up now. With a lot on your mind, you spend more time alone working behind the scenes. Increased contact with institutions or government bodies for some.

TAURUS

Travel, study and widen your horizons. Take a chance, find adventure, get a life! Be nice and smile as money by the bucketful is yours to be had. Social contacts may be testing, and you stick to friends who are tried and true. Some take on responsibility or a status position in a group situation.

GEMINI

Money makes your world go round. Buy, sell, wheel and deal in the market place. Marriage may tempt you as you enjoy happy liaisons now. As matters of career, status and worldly reputation become important, you take on added responsibilities and work long and hard to achieve goals.

CANCER

Encounters of the closest kind—rub noses or bond with that every important other person. Opportunities to increase your work-load are boundless. You take seriously the written word, whether publishing, or of a legal or academic nature. Contact with in-laws or those distant may be arduous.

LEO

Your days are fully booked, your agenda is flat out and you'll be working overtime. Live life to the full, grab lucky opportunities. Love-life blossoms. There's Always somebody overseeing your money-pot to ensure you don't waste it or overspend. Many take on an important financial commitment.

VIRGO

Be creative, show your artistic flair. Make things, make merry, make music. Make out! Have fun. Living conditions and home life improve. Some will be tempted to make a serious relationship commitment—business or otherwise. A bit of a wet blanket, but practical nevertheless!

LIBRA

Home is where your heart is, and changes around a family or domestic situation occur. New horizons open up for you, with learning or travel. Self-discipline develops as employment commitments or routine obligations will mean nose to the grindstone. Attend to health matters.

SCORPIO

Your gift of the gab, charm and flashy smile open all the right doors. Travel, chat, visit and keep in touch. You'll accrue wealth and prosperity. Some will have their work cut out for them where children's matters are concerned, and romantic, leisure or creative activities develop slowly.

SAGITTARIUS

Money talks, and you do whatever it takes to get your hands on it. The travel-bug bites, so prepare to follow the Sun. North or West? Flip a coin! Home affairs may be limiting, tiresome or restricted in some way especially if you have to divide your time between family and career.

CAPRICORN

The ball's in your court, take action, make your move and make life happen how you want it. Do what YOU want to do. Remember to sleep. More patience is called for in dealings with relatives or neighbours, and a serious frame of mind favours concentration, study, research or analysis.

AQUARIUS

There's a lot to sort out, plan, devise, soul-search. Find your own truth and dare to live it. Sociable at heart, this is the year you party and mix. You'll have to pull your money-belt in tight—be strict with yourself as your personal budget will require a "do-I-want-it or do-I-need-it" approach!

PISCES

Circulate, socialize and make friends—it's who you know, and what they can do for you! You go far in furthering your cause, reputation or career. Personal responsibilities abound and you may feel snowed under, but try to lighten up and see the brighter side of things, instead of the negative! ■

BOOK REPRINTS

Adelaide Publications & Reprints is providing a service for astrologers by reprinting a great range of classic astrological works. Books by Neugebauer, Manilius, Al-Biruni, Lilly, Placidus de Titus, Gadbury, Coley, Dorotheus and many others are included. Also available are more recent classics such as Carter's Astrological Aspects, Leo's The Progressed Horoscope, Raphael's Horary Astrology, Robson's A Student's Textbook of Astrology and the sought-after Encyclopedia of Astrology by De-Vore. Write for a list to Anne Elliott, Box 407, Prospect, South Australia 5082

AUSTRALIA—FOUNDATION CHART

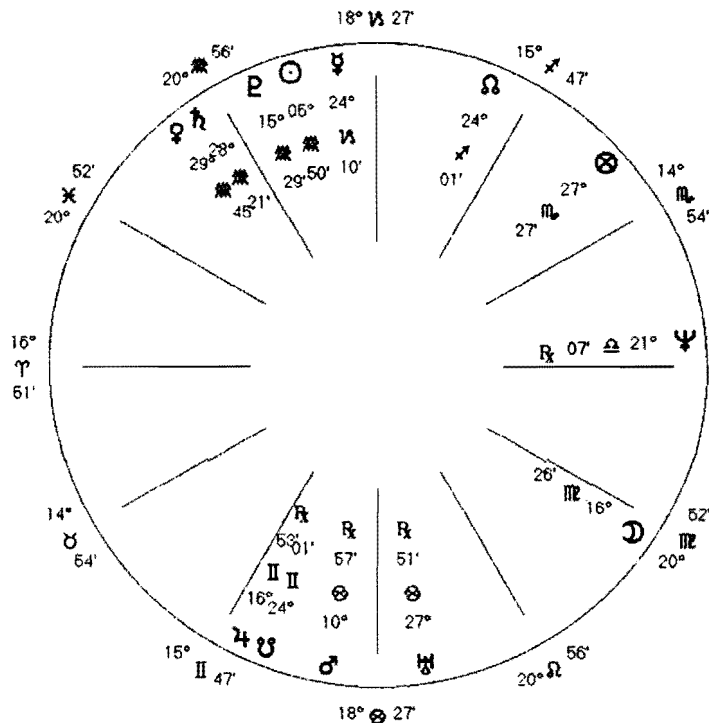

The Chart for the Foundation of the Colony in 1788 (see next page) is set for 11am L.M.T. at Sydney. Its validity may be tested by a review of the principal Australian events in 1994 and their correlation with Progressed Aspects, Directions and Transits.

The Chart already has some claim to authenticity through the devastating Cyclone Tracy that afflicted Darwin on 24th December 1974: The Ascendant by Naibod-Arc Direction was exactly conjunct Radical Neptune on 9th January 1975. Neptune is Angular in the Radix, retrograde, square Mercury and ruling the House of Misfortunes. (Neptune at 21°7' Libra was also sextile the Solar Eclipse of 13th December 1974 at 21°17' Sagittarius.) Pluto stationary at 9°15' Libra was square Radical Mars at 10°57' Cancer.

The Foundation Chart was further supported by the events of January this year. As reported in the December/January 1994 Issue of Astrologers' Forum, the bush-fires that ravaged New South Wales in January were signalled by the conjunction of Mars and Jupiter (6 September 1993) at 16°10' Libra,

AUSTRALIA—FOUNDATION

26 January 1788, Sydney 11am LMT.
151°10' E, 33°52' S. Placidian Cusps.

within 41' of the exact opposition to the Chart Ascendant at 16°51' Aries.

In the following brief analysis of political events during 1994, p.= Progressed; r.= Regressed or Converse; NA. = Naibod-Arc Direction; SA = Solar-Arc Direction; || = Parallel; c|| = Contra-Parallel; SR = Stationary, turning Retrograde; SD = Stationary, turning Direct. All aspects quoted are to Radical positions.

1994

p.Saturn conjunct Saturn, 27 January—Federal Minister Alan Griffiths forced to resign over complications involving his private business affairs.

Saturn in the 11th = Cabinet Minister.

Moon || Moon, 6 February; Mercury SR trine Mars, 11 February—Controversy over Parliamentary Roster altered by the Prime Minister to reduce his attendances at Question Time in the House.

Moon-Moon = changes in routine; Mars rules Ascendant (working method); Mercury trine Mars = variation. and controversy

Pluto SR square Saturn, 1 March—Ros Kelly forced to resign Sports Portfolio; Minister Graham Richardson resigns; Bronwyn Bishop, aspiring to leadership of the Liberal Party, suffers serious reverse through poor result in Mackellar By-Election.

Saturn = Cabinet Minister, politician; Pluto = ending.

Mercury SD conjunct Cusp 11, 5 March—Carmen Lawrence, ex-Premier of West Australia, has good election win and enters Federal politics, boosting the Government Party. Cusp 11 = assets of the Government (10th House).

r.Moon c|| Mars, 18 April; Neptune SR conj. Mercury.

25 April—Bob Hawke, ex-Prime Minister, involved in dispute with media magnate, Conrad Black, over allegations of unethical commercial activity.

Mars = dispute; Mercury = reports, media;

Neptune = scandal, misrepresentation.

Uranus SR conjunct Mercury, 1 May—John Hewson replaced as Leader of the Liberal Party by Alexander Downer.

Uranus in 4th House (the Party in Opposition).

Uranus—Mercury = change.

Mercury SR conjunct Mars, 13 June—Memoirs of ex-Prime Minister Hawke cause controversy.

Mercury rules 3rd House—writings, memoirs.

Mercury—Mars = controversy.

Saturn SR opposite Moon, square Jupiter, 24 June—

Labour Party suffers reversal in Northern Territory election.

Saturn rules 10th House, Government.

Jupiter SD square the Sun, 2 July—Alexander Downer, new Leader of the Liberal Opposition loses popularity through ill-advised pronouncements.

Jupiter adverse = loss of favour.

Mercury opposite Pluto (SA), 18 August—NSW State Member for Cabramatta murdered (September).

Pluto = death, and rules 8th (death).

Mercury in Capricorn, politician.

Neptune SD conjunct MC, 2nd October—Prime Minister makes important statement of support for the arts.

MC = Government policy, Neptune = the arts.

Ascendant c|| Jupiter, 13 November—Prime Minister Keating achieves personal triumph at Australian-Pacific Economic Conference.

Ascendant = initiative, Jupiter = success.

Sun opposite Venus (NA), 11 December—Government loses support through decision on wood-chipping industry.

Sun = Government; Venus adverse = disaffection.

The correspondences do validate the Chart, but it would be difficult to particularize in advance the precise ways in which the Progressed Aspects/Transits would evidence themselves. Anyone brave enough to attempt a 1995 Forecast from the above Foundation Chart is invited to send the results to me for publication. — Dymock, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath 2785.

Remember to send in your answers NOW to the FIND THE LAWYER Exercise set out on page 6 of the last Issue. Test and improve your astrological skills!

Send your findings to Ross Harvey,
7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra, NSW 2074.

ASTROLOGERS' FORUM

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice
through the Sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques

Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath, NSW, Australia, 2785.

Annual Subscription: Australia and NZ $20. Overseas: $A25

Issues 159/160 October/November 1994

CHART MATCHING EXERCISE RESULTS

Here are the results of the entries to the four-Chart Exercise initiated in the June/July Issue. See page 6 of that Issue for the Charts concerned.

ROSS HARVEY reports:

There were nine entrants for the competition, and of these five made two attempts. Two got one right, three got both vocations correct (with two attempts), and one got all four right at the second attempt. Male No. 1 was the cartoonist, and Male No. 4 was the statistician. [The public service clerk was Male No.2, the hotel worker was Male No.3.]

Entrant 1: Cartoonist Chart 2, statistician Chart 1.

Second attempt—cartoonist No.1, statistician No.3.

Entrant 2: Cartoonist No.3, statistician No.1.

Entrant 3: Cartoonist No.2, statistician No.1, clerk No. 3, hotel worker No.4

Entrant 4: Cartoonist No.1, and statistician No.2.

Second attempt—statistician No.4.

Entrant 5: Cartoonist No.2, statistician No.4. Second attempt—cartoonist No.1.

Entrant 6: Hotel worker No. 1, cartoonist No. 2, clerk No.3, statistician No.4. Second attempt—cartoonist No.1, clerk No.2, hotel worker No.3, statistician No.4.

Entrant 7: Cartoonist No.4, and statistician No.2.

Entrant 8: Cartoonist No.4, and statistician No.3.

Second attempt—statistician No.4.

Entrant 9: Cartoonist No.1, clerk No.2, statistician No.3, hotel worker No.4.

Congratulations to Nick Sutherland (Texas) who got all four right on his second attempt, and to Allan Grant (Victoria), Peggy Hetherington (New South Wales) and Gisela Rosmann (Victoria) who got both right on the second try, and to Jennifer Pommerin (West Australia) who got the cartoonist and the clerk on her first attempt. The others got one right on their first attempt.

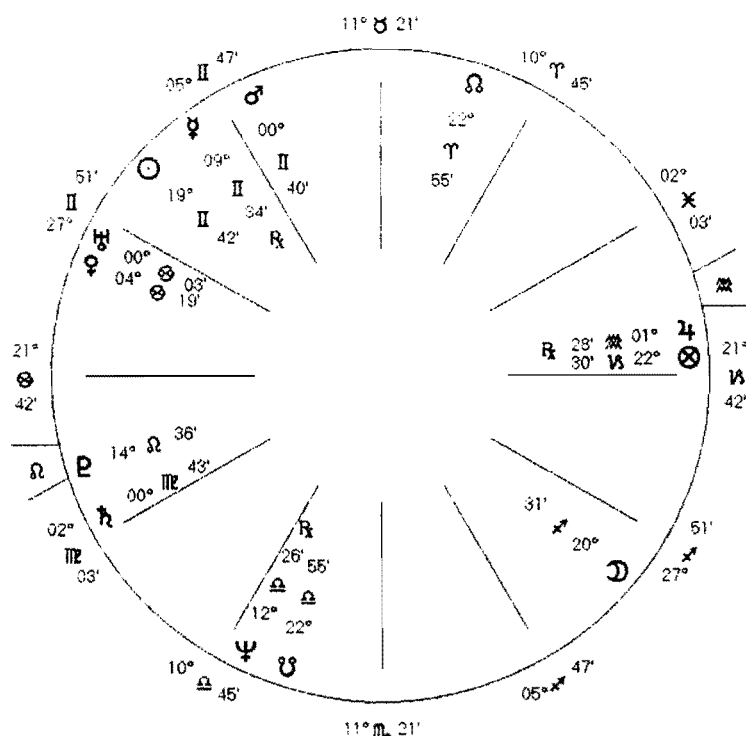

My own idea is that exact, or almost exact, minor aspects may be the most reliable way of determining vocation. For instance, the most significant thing about myself is that I am an artist, yet several well-known astrologers have looked at my Chart [above] and said they would not have been able to tell this. All the text-books say that Venus and Neptune are the artistic combination, yet I have no contact between

In This Issue...

	Page
Chart Matching Exercise—Results	1
Participants' Comments	2
Find the Lawyer!—Chart-Matching Exercise No.2.....	6
Planetary Periods	7
The 1994 Melbourne Cup.....	7
Lunar-Node Contacts.....	8
Solar Eclipse 10° Scorpio.....	8

ROSS HARVEY

11th June 1949, Crows Nest, NSW,
151°12' E, 33°50'S. 9:15am AEST them according to traditional methods. I do, in fact, have an almost exact Venus-Neptune aspect, with an orb of only 0°2', but it is 3/11ths of the 360° (98° 11'), and Neptune is also in aspect to the Ascendant, Sun and MC. I am inclined to think that all divisions of the 360° circle are aspects, declining in importance as the number of the division increases. Of course, there must be a cut-off point, which I take is the 36th Harmonic, as Charles Carter was sure that all multiples of 10° were aspects, and I agree. The latest CONSIDERATIONS contained an article about planetary importance in a chart, and the method described used all multiples of 15° as aspects. I also think that the orbs for these non-traditional aspects must be very small if they are to be noticeably effective, say $\frac{1}{4}^\circ$ for maximum effect, but if they are exact, they may be as important as traditional major aspects.

I also think that exact or almost exact aspects to the Angles are of the greatest significance, as these are the most personal ones, forming and dissolving as they do within a couple of minutes. For instance, several entrants noticed that the statistician had Mercury square Saturn, making him good at figures, yet this aspect would have been within orbs for more than a week. Not all people born in that time became statisticians. No one noticed that in his Chart the Sun, Mercury and Saturn are all sesquare the Ascendant. These aspects are probably almost exact, as I suspect for other reasons that the time should be a minute or two earlier, and that is what makes this aspect-complex personal in this case, and made him choose, or, as I think, destined him for, a career in mathematics.

The cartoonist (Male No.1) has an exact aspect (no orb at all) between Venus and Neptune, but it is $10/33$ ths of 360° ($109^\circ 5'$). This is also close enough to being a tredecile (108°). It could be that it is a tredecile, but that it is also exactly a more minor aspect makes it much more powerful than usual.

You might think I have gone overboard in putting such emphasis on such a minor aspect, but I think that in this case it is important not only because it is the closest aspect in the Chart, but also because Venus is conjunct the Ascendant, and that makes it central to the whole Chart. Neptune is also closely sextile Jupiter, which in turn is 75° from the MC ($5/24$ ths) and $9/19$ th from the Ascendant. Both these Jupiter-Angle aspects are probably almost exact, as again I suspect that the Chart should be a minute or two earlier.

I have begun to think that almost-exact aspects of Jupiter to both Angles (orb less than $\frac{1}{4}^\circ$), and usually minor aspects, may be a good indicator of eventual vocational and financial success. As with myself, the Venus-Neptune aspect is the most important aspect in the Chart, if one considers minor aspects, and that fits with the cartoonist's having wanted to be an artist since he was a small child. I would have interpreted the Ascendant-Venus-Neptune-Jupiter complex as "success through art".

Thanks to Ross for his handling of this Exercise, and his challenging ideas. Astrologers' Forum would be most interested to hear of other readers' researches into the minor aspects Ross talks about. Ross has provided us with another interesting exercise—see later in this Issue.

Comments of the participants in the current Exercise are also of interest—

JACK NICHOLLS: I nominate No.1 as the cartoonist based on Venus conjunct the Ascendant, Saturn in Scorpio associated with a stinging humour, Jupiter in Virgo as practical and analytical, and Mercury in Aquarius giving an original mind, good observation, and judgement of human nature. He appears to be the most successful in the mundane sense, supported by the 10th House.

PEGGY HETHERINGTON: Three planets in the 10th House of Chart No.1 indicate two careers (artist/cartoonist) and perhaps another creative field later in life. The joint Rulers of the 10th (Mars and Male No.) in square to each other and with Pluto also squaring the Ruler of the 6th (the Moon) are appropriate for a work field where there are continual pressures and constraints.

The Rulers of the other work/vocation House (2nd) are also strongly aspected, with Jupiter conjunct Pluto, and Neptune being the focal point of the Mercury, Neptune, Uranus T-Square.

Neptune in this Chart seems to be fiercely creative and not in the least dreamy or "wafty".

Mercury is particularly important for the cartoonist, and Mercury is strong with aspects to Uranus, Neptune, the Moon and also Saturn (by connection with the Moon).

The South Node in the 5th House puts emphasis on creative work, and in Gemini reinforces the mental agility needed.

He could be a successful artist without being particularly original (and Venus conjunct the Ascendant would help here), but to be a cartoonist originality of outlook is essential, and Mercury opposite Uranus is iconoclastic enough for this, and the strong Pluto gives the obsession necessary for two tough careers.

Re Male No. 4, the statistician, the Sun closely conjunct Mercury in Sagittarius should give considerable mental power, and Sagittarius is quite often prominent in "number" charts. Although the conjunction is in the 5th House the natural rulership of Sagittarius brings in the 9th House, appropriate for a career in statistics, which is usually pursued in a University or in a "think tank".

Two other factors that are supposed to be prominent in "numbers" charts are the 25th degree of Cancer and a prominent Venus. The Ascendant is 26° of Cancer, which I think close enough to be counted, especially as the time of birth is rounded to 10pm, which could very easily be a few minutes earlier. Venus is certainly prominent enough, opposite the Ascendant and in Capricorn (the natural 10th House), and ruling the Chart's 10th House.

Mercury (with its close conjunction with the Sun) rules the Chart's strong 2nd House, which is not only "things" or "possessions" but also the craftsman's House. The remaining 'Vocation' House, the 6th, is also strong, with Mars strong in Capricorn and trining the 2nd-House planets Pluto and Uranus, and with the 6th-House Ruler, Saturn, exactly square the Mercury-Sun conjunction.

I think this is a very intellectual Chart.

ALLAN GRANT: I selected Male No. 4 as being likely to make statistics his career. The first pointer to this decision is the composition of the 6th House; Mars in Capricorn indicates his ambition and his capacity to work methodically and in detail.

As a statistician he would for each project work with a sub-group for the time required to complete it. He would then start again on the next project with another sub-group. Such frequent short term relationships with different groups is indicated by the South Node in Sagittarius. His probable enjoyment of this type of work is shown by Mercury and the Sun in the 5th House trine the Moon in Aries, with its emphasis on activity.

That he would have to work tediously is indicated by Mercury square Saturn. His analytical ability and tirelessness are indicated by Pluto and Uranus in Virgo trine Mars. Pluto and Uranus both in the 2nd House clearly show his source of financial income.

I have now selected Male No. 1 as the artist and cartoonist. This Chart seems to be powerfully oriented towards both those activities. I think the orientation is stronger with regard to the business/income side of being a cartoonist. I find that all aspects are so interlinked as to reinforce the cartoonist career that it is difficult to put the interlinking of them into an easy flowing essay.

He would be able to use his artistic talents to support a successful financial career. His earning source is indicated by the 2nd House in Pisces, ruled by the artistic force of Neptune.

Other indicators are needed to swing the Neptunian influence from painting art towards the illustrative media form. Reinforcement towards an illustrative use of his talents is shown by the Aquarian Ascendant conjunct Venus and the Ruling Planet Uranus in Cancer in the 6th House. These tie his free-thinking powers (Uranus) to his work effort.

The T-Square of Mercury-Neptune-Uranus reinforces his ability to quickly develop the clear thought patterns that would be needed for the daily come-what-may subjects.

His ideas for cartoons would be enhanced by the Mercury sextile to Mars and Saturn.

GISELA ROSMANN: Male No. 1 would associate with other artists—Leo on the 7th House (on a Fire and Earthquake degree). With transiting Jupiter, Pluto and the North Node straddling his MC he should be a successful cartoonist. Thank you for providing an interesting challenge.

MATCHING THE CHART TO THE OCCUPATION

by Jennifer Pommerin

The common belief that a person's aptitude for a career is indicated by the Sun-Sign is unfortunately not true. It would be so easy (for astrologers) if this was so. Rather, aptitude is better defined by several astrological factors—and even then one can be misled if the astrologer does not have the knowledge of what is required in a particular occupation. For example, a position such as coordinator or manager of a community organization may well require skills in fund-raising and public speaking, whereas twenty years ago the position was far more office-oriented.

In like fashion, perhaps statistics involves a lot of networking ("who you know") for access to vital data, or a hotel worker/manager has to be familiar with data-processing (orders, accounts, maintenance, etc). So a good awareness of career requirements (or a good intuition) is needed by the astrologer in order to correctly assess the individual's suitability when a specific job is mentioned.

The main difference in the four occupations of the Chart-Matching Exercise is that in three of them (clerk, hotel worker, statistician), the necessary job skills may be acquired through study or training plus practice. Success then becomes dependent upon the person's interest in the job, his personal attributes (or aptitude) and a good working environment.

Yet a lack of native aptitude will not prevent some competency, provided there is sufficient intelligence, commonsense, and memory. (This may apply to other jobs where there is no vocation.)

Therefore an artist may work as a clerk after the appropriate training, but a hotel worker will not become an artist through study or training.

In certain occupations the individual must have the gift and the compulsion to follow their genius. So one of the Charts in the Exercise contains factors that indicate a special gift used in an artistic career.

In a career such as the arts (of any kind) one would look for these factors:

1. The gift.
2. A liking, if not love, for the work.

3. Character traits—self-driven, with a fixity of purpose.
4. Unique ability to express inspiration physically (invisible made visible)—the hand skills (where the art is painting, drawing, crafts, sculpting).
5. The success factor—luck and determination.

THE CARTOONIST OR PAINTER—Chart 1

1. The Artistic Gift

- a. Inspiration = Sun or Moon in a Fire or Air Sign—Moon in Sagittarius
- b. Acute Sensitivity to Beauty and Colour = Fire planets (Sun, Mars, Jupiter) or Air planets (Venus, Mercury) in Water Signs, or in major aspect to Water planets—Mars in Pisces, Mars conjunct the Moon, Jupiter conjunct Pluto, Mercury square Neptune.
- c. Acute Perception of Form and Design = Sun or Moon or Mercury in Earth Signs, or in Earth Houses (2nd, 6th, 10th)—Sun in Capricorn.
Mercury in Fire or Air Signs—Mercury in Aquarius.
- d. Harmony (not all artists use this Venusian quality): Venus in Water or Air Signs—Venus in Aquarius.

2. Passion and Dedication to the Work

- a. Compulsion: Sun or Moon or Mars in Aries or Scorpio, or in major aspect to a Fire planet or Pluto.—Mars in Scorpio, Mars square Pluto, Moon square Jupiter, Moon square Pluto.
Cardinal or Fixed Signs on the Ascendant or Midheaven—Aquarius Ascendant, Scorpio Midheaven

3. Character Traits.

- a. The Self-Driven Personality: Sun or Moon in Cardinal Signs—Sun in Capricorn.
Cardinal Signs on the Ascendant or Midheaven—Negative.
Pluto or Mars in the 1st or 10th House—Mars in 10th.
(If the cartoonist does work of a satirical or humorous nature, then there would be the capacity to discern the funny side of life. Planets in Capricorn often give an acute sense of the ridiculous.)—Sun in Capricorn.

4. Unique Ability to Express Inspiration

- a. Hand Skills—Ruler of the Ascendant in the 6th House—Uranus in the 6th.
Mars in the 2nd, 6th or 10th House—Mars in the 10th.

5. Success Factors

- a. The foregoing factors plus
- b. Luck (the charts will reflect life in that there is no such thing as a career where luck smooths the way all the way. So some indicators for luck will be absent.

No adverse aspects between the Sun and the Moon—No adverse aspects.

The 12th House untenanted by the Sun or Moon, or the Ruler of the 10th House (troubles, trials, etc.)
Clear (but near).

The 10th House untenanted by Neptune (troubles, trials, etc.)—Clear.

Sun or Jupiter in the 7th or 10th House (fortunate social contacts)—Jupiter in the 7th.

Mars in major aspect to Jupiter or Uranus (opportunities)—Mars trine Uranus, square Jupiter.

Air Signs on the Ascendant or Midheaven with the Ruler well-aspected (charisma or likeability)—Aquarius Ascendant, Uranus trine the Moon.

Sun, Moon, Mercury or Venus in the 1st House (charisma or likeability)—Venus in 1st House

Here, the indicators for luck are absent: The Sun or Moon or Jupiter without aspects to Saturn—an exception being the trine with Capricorn on the 10th Cusp. (Aspects to Saturn denote striving and hard work to gain success, and the presence of obstacles, limitations, denials.)—Negative—The Moon is conjunct Saturn, Jupiter is square to Saturn.

The Sun in Mutable or Fire Signs (with these Sun Signs undesirable circumstances change for the better, sooner and faster)—Negative—The Sun is in Capricorn.

The Sun or Moon in trine aspect to Jupiter or Neptune—Negative—no trines.

c. Determination (fixity of purpose).

The Sun or Mercury in Fixed Signs or in major aspect to Uranus, Pluto or Saturn—Mercury in Aquarius, opposite Uranus.

The Sun or Moon or Mars in Fixed Signs or Capricorn, or in major aspect to Saturn or Pluto (persistence)—Sun in Capricorn, Moon conjunct Saturn and square Pluto, Mars in Scorpio conjunct Saturn and square Pluto.

Sun or Mercury in the Fixed Houses (2nd, 5th, 8th, 11th)—Sun in 11th.

Where a career is more an occupation than a way of life, one would check for character traits that would readily accept the daily requirements of the job. Interest in the work may or may not be present.

THE CLERK—Chart 2

In a career such as a public service clerk one would look for these factors:

1. Clerical aptitude.
2. Character traits with affinity for set routines.
3. Contact with government and the public or their affairs.
4. The success factor—luck and determination.

1. Clerical Aptitude, or the Mathematical Mind

a. Affinity for Symbolic and Factual Data

Sun in Mutable Signs. (Mutability gives a liking for moving things around—for taking details and 'playing' with them.)—Sun in Pisces.

The Sun or Moon or Mercury in major aspect to Uranus. (This can be the mathematical genius. In any case, the mind can arrive at correct solutions to problems where there is a considerable input of data—and sometimes this is done instantaneously. The mind just 'knows'—Mercury trine Uranus.

2. Character Traits

a. The Wish for Order—Strong Pisces emphasis.

(People have various ways of dealing with uncertainty—and there are some who seek employment where (there, at least) they are dealing with known facts and accepted routine. This liking for order and logic is often present in Pisces-type people. Perhaps it is an anchor line, helping to counteract the Pisces fluidity—Sun in Pisces.

Sun, Moon or Mercury in Earth or Fixed Signs—Moon in Capricorn.

The Sun or Moon in major aspect to Saturn. (The square will particularly indicate a liking for work where measuring or accuracy is important, and where all the rules or processes are well-defined)—Sun square Saturn.

b. Patience

The Sun or Moon in Water or Fixed Signs—Sun in Pisces.

3. Employment with Government

Mercury or Mars or Pluto in Air Houses (3rd, 7th, 11th) or in the 10th House. Servant (Mercury)—Mercury in 10th.

An inner planet in major aspect to Saturn—Sun Square Saturn.

Planets in the 5th House. (This House or Leo is linked to power, and perhaps this is the connection to government. Individual assessment of a chart is needed to see if 'government' is the best interpretation. In the 'clerk' Chart, Neptune, the Ruler of his Sun Sign, is placed in the 5th House—but government work wouldn't necessarily be the only outlet for this Neptune.)

4. Success Factor

a. Luck (the charts will reflect life in that there is no such thing as a career where luck smooths the way all the way. So some indicators for luck will be absent.

No adverse aspects between the Sun and the Moon—No adverse aspects.

The 12th House untenanted by Neptune (troubles, trials, etc.)—Clear.

Mars in major aspect to Jupiter or Uranus (opportunities)—Mars square Jupiter.

Air Signs on the Ascendant or Midheaven with the Ruler well-aspected (charisma or likeability)—Gemini Ascendant, Mercury trine Uranus.

The Sun in Mutable or Fire Signs (With these Sun Signs undesirable circumstances change for the better, sooner and faster—Sun in Pisces.

Here the Indicators for luck are absent. The Sun or Jupiter in the 7th or 10th House (fortunate social contacts)—Negative.

The Sun, Moon, Mercury or Venus in the 1st House (charisma or likeability)—Negative.

The Sun or Moon or Jupiter without aspects to Saturn—an exception being the trine with Capricorn on the 10th-House Cusp. (Aspects to Saturn signify striving and hard work to gain success, and the presence of obstacles, limitations, denials.)—Negative—The Sun is square to Saturn.

The Sun or Moon in trine aspect to Jupiter or Neptune—Negative.

b. Determination (fixity of purpose).

The Sun or Mercury in Fixed Signs or in major aspect to Saturn, Uranus or Pluto—Sun square Saturn, Mercury trine Uranus.

The Sun or Moon or Mars in Fixed Signs or sign, or in major aspect to Saturn or Pluto (Persistence)—The Moon and Mars in Capricorn.

The Sun or Mercury in the Fixed Houses (2nd, 5th, 8th, 11th)—Negative.

SYDNEY DECLARED A CITY (See Page 8) 20 July 1842, LMT Noon. Placidian Cusps.

EXERCISE NO.2—FIND THE LAWYER!

Here is another test from Ross to engage the minds of serious astrologers: The three Charts on this page are all of men. One is a lawyer (a solicitor), one a former sailor who now repairs medical equipment, and one is an engineering draftsman. THE TEST IS TO FIND THE LAWYER.

Entries are not required until 15th January 1995. That is, you have about two months to work on the Charts. As before, send your attempts to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra, NSW, Australia 2074.

These Exercises are fun, and educational. I urge you to participate. Don't worry about being wrong. If you don't try them you won't learn how to be right. Those who attempted the first Exercise will, I am sure, be conscious of the benefit they derived, whether their answers were right or wrong.

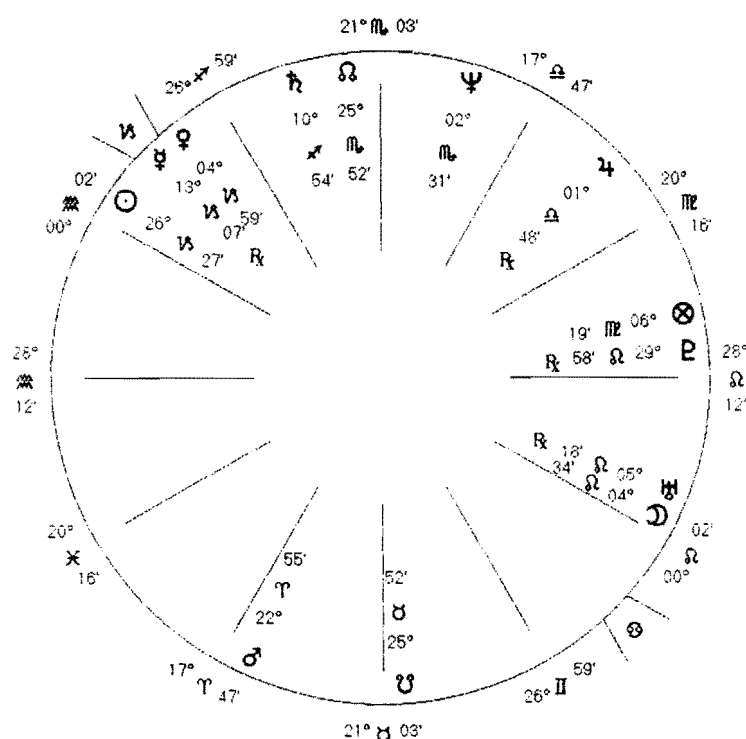

Only names of those who succeed will be published, but Ross will send an individual reply to all entrants who enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Request for data! If you know accurate Birth Charts of professional people, send the data to Ross together with information as to the nature of the profession, so that we can continue this series of Exercises.

CHART NO. 1: 8th September 1951,
33°53' S, 151°11' E, 1pm

CHART NO. 2: 17th January 1957, 43°32' S, 172°38' E, 8am (GMT 8pm on 16 January).

CHART NO.3: 14th December 1960, 41°25' S, 147°7' E, 8:23am.

PLANETARY PERIODS

by Leslie Black

There are certain fairly well-marked planetary periods governing the life, as shown in the Table below. From birth to the fourth year is dominated by the Moon; the 4th to the 10th by Mercury, the 10th to the 18th by Venus, the 18th to the 37th by the Sun, the 37th to the 52nd by Mars, the 52nd to the 64th by Jupiter, and the remainder by Saturn.

Planet	Period	Ages
Moon	4 years	0 - 4
Mercury	6 years	4 - 10
Venus	8 years	10 - 18
Sun	19 years	18 - 37
Mars	15 years	37 - 52
Jupiter	12 years	52 - 64
Saturn	30 years	64 - end

Adverse Directions of the Moon during the Lunar Period will be especially dangerous, as will those of Mars in the Martial period, those of Saturn in the Saturnine Period, and so with the others.

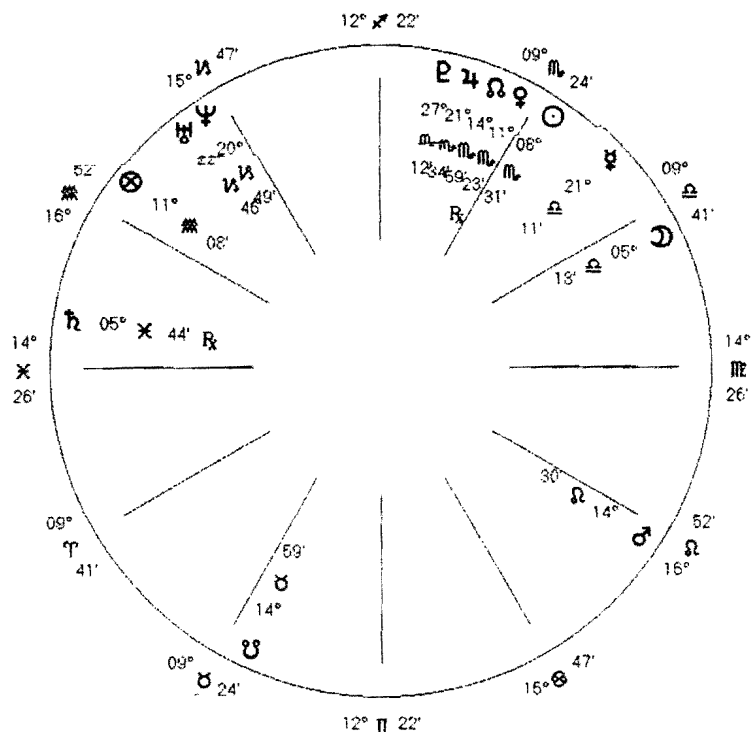

Referring to the Horoscope that appeared on page 1 of the August/September 1994 Issue of the Astrologers' Forum, if we discount for the moment Directional Arcs, and look for the specific planetary period the native would have to be in for the adverse Radical configuration to take effect, it will be seen that this unfortunate woman entered the planetary period of Mars in her 37th year of life. This ushered in the break-up of marriage, with subsequent divorce, and was followed by the life-threatening physical disorders described.

It is worth noting, too, that at 39 years, in 1991, Uranus came to the opposition of its Radical place. In November 1993 The Sun came to the conjunction of Uranus by Naibod Arc Direction (59'8" a year).

Editor's Note: In relation to the same Chart (Page 1 of last Issue) another adverse feature is the position of the malefic Fixed Stars Aldebaran (Mars) and Antares (Mars/Jupiter) in opposition right across the Horizon. (8°12' of Gemini and Sagittarius). Aldebaran at the birth date was at 9°7' of Gemini, and Antares at 9°6' of Sagittarius.

GISELA ROSMANN points out that on 10th May last the Sun was eclipsed at 19°48' of Taurus, where it conjuncted Natal Venus in the 12th House. This was exactly two calendar months before the cerebral haemorrhage. Ivy Goldstein regards the Part of Fortune in the 12th (or in Pisces) as the Part of Misfortune.

1994 MELBOURNE CUP 1 November 1994, Flemington, Victoria 144°54' E, 37°47' S. 3:23pm AEDT RUNNERS....

- | | |
|-------------------|--------------------|
| 1. Vintage Crop | 13. Gossips |
| 2. River Verdon | 14. Alcove |
| 3. Jeune | 15. Gold Sovereign |
| 4. Our Pompeii | 16. Grass Valley |
| 5. Air Seattle | 17. Oppressor |
| 6. Paris Lane | 18. Starstruck |
| 7. Hear That Bell | 19. Toll Bell |
| 8. Quick Ransom | 20. Cliveden Gail |
| 9. Oompala | 21. Coachwood |
| 10. Top Rating | 22. Major Decision |
| 11. Double Take | 23. Pindi |
| 12. Glastonbury | 24. Sweet Glory |

The Chart is calculated for the estimated finishing time of the race, rather than the official starting time. In my experience, this gives better results, showing the situation at the end, rather than at the beginning.

The 9th House is emphasized—foreign places, names and affairs—and the chief Significator is VENUS, being only two degrees from the 9th Cusp. The Cusp is the point of power in any House. The Cusp gets closer to Venus with every minute, so that if the Race is delayed slightly the influence of Venus increases.

The placings were—

- First: No. 3 JEUNE (French)
Second: No. 6 PARIS LANE
(French place; 6 = Venus number)
Third: No. 9 OOMPALA (foreign name)

The signs were there for those who could read them.

MORE ON THE CUP by MARIE CASEY

On Cup Day, Jupiter was exactly semi-sextile to Mercury and sextile to the Uranus/Neptune conjunction, so was aspected either way. This double aspect pointed to Jupiter and the Number 3. But which No.3?—No.12? (1+2=3), No.21? (2+1=3). The main clue was the foreign name JEUNE, with saddle cloth No.3, as Jupiter relates to foreign names, giving the number 3 more power.

As a result, No.3 won. Venus was close to the 9th Cusp, and the number of Venus is 6. No.6 came second (PARIS LANE).

A full list of the numbers of the planets was included in my article Games of Chance in the January Issue of Astrologers' Forum.

LUNAR-NODE CONTACTS

Jenifer Pommerin's article in the last Issue suffered from a transcription error in relation to the contacts of Mars and Jupiter with the Moon's North Node. Here is the corrected text:

The Node with the SUN: Helpmates. Common life goals. Lessons in parenting.

The Node with the MOON: True love. Strong family bond. Need to learn loving non-attachment.

The Node with MERCURY: Brotherly love. Need to learn appreciation of other's qualities.

The Node with VENUS: Love and kindness. Lessons in consideration for the other.

The Node with MARS: Love in action. The need to learn patience and self-reliance.

The Node with JUPITER: Spiritual love. The need to learn wisdom and discrimination (judgement).

The Node with SATURN: Parental love. The need to be less exacting and controlling.

The Node with URANUS: Love and understanding. Lessons in communicating love.

The Node with NEPTUNE: Universal love. Lessons in being unselfish and non-taking.

The Node with PLUTO: Undying love. The need to act according to the other's real needs and avoid pressuring.

The Node with the MIDHEAVEN: A constructive or destructive influence in the other's life.

The Node with the ASCENDANT: Deliberately strengthens, or weakens, the other's confidence. ■

SOLAR ECLIPSE 10° SCORPIO

By Marie Casey

Within a few days of the Total Solar Eclipse (10° Scorpio) on 3rd November 1994 wild winds at cyclone speeds created havoc in the Eastern States of Australia. New South Wales suffered the greatest damage with the chaotic weather patterns. The violent wind storms reached 100 -km/ph in Sydney with gusts over 140-km/ph in the Blue Mountains. Also 61 fires swept across the State, many homes were left without power, and snow fell on the mountains even though the skiing season was over.

The Eclipse fell exactly on the Ascendant of the Chart for when Sydney was Declared a City in 1842. My article on this Chart was published in the March Issue of Astrologers' Forum.

I mentioned in the article that Transiting Uranus was conjunct the North Node and I.C. this year, which could bring on a disaster, not realizing at that time that the Solar Eclipse would fall on the Ascendant in November. From the 4th to the 8th November Transiting Uranus moved from 22°50' to 22°57' Capricorn. The actual Midpoint of the North Node and the I.C. of Sydney's Chart is 22°54' Capricorn. Consequently, Uranus was exactly conjunct this point when the winds began. It was no doubt a very Uranian effect, and the fact that the Solar Eclipse was in the Sign of Scorpio brought about the extremes of weather conditions as well.

Recently I have been telling friends that this Solar Eclipse on Sydney's Ascendant would bring on some rough weather. The fact that other Eastern States were also involved would indicate that 10° Scorpio is a sensitive degree in their individual Charts—which would be an interesting study.

[The Chart for Sydney appears on Page 5]

Astrologers' Forum

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785. Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25. Issues 157/158, August/September 1994

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

A PERSONAL CALAMITY

Life deals some hard blows. A woman of 42, in the prime of her life, a professional musician with an established career, highly successful in both performing and teaching, is found one day fully conscious in her bed, but unable to move, and breathing only with difficulty. She is rushed to hospital and placed in a respirator in the Intensive Care Ward. The diagnosis is uncertain until X-rays finally reveal a haemorrhage in the brain stem, cutting off the nerve impulses that would enable her to function in the normal way. A tracheostomy is performed to allow breathing outside the respirator, and feeding is done through a tube directly into her stomach, as she has also lost the power to swallow. Her mind and thinking is unimpaired. Without the artificial aids and constant nursing care she would surely die.

The Birth Horoscope of this unfortunate woman is given in the adjacent column. We look first to see what are the Natal indications of a calamity such as this. There it is! Mars opposing the conjunction of Jupiter, Moon and Mercury. Jupiter rules blood, the Moon rules the bodily fluids, and Mercury relates to the brain and nerves. Mars produces the haemorrhage.

The configuration had already wreaked its power the previous year in another unhappy way - divorce - (Jupiter being Ruler of the 7th House).

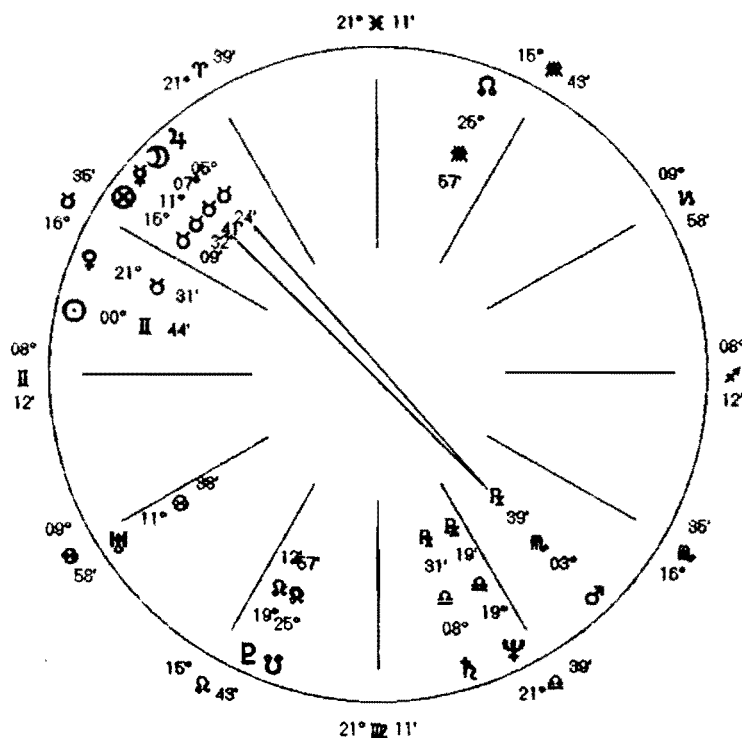

It is appropriate that the Mars/Jupiter opposition should lie along the Meridian of the Progressed Chart at the time of the occurrence, 10th July 1994. See the Biwheel. Progression here of the Midheaven is by the normal Sidereal Time increment. Progression by Solar-Arc, which is often done, and which I don't use as I find it less accurate, puts the Midheaven not at 5°44' but at 1°29' Taurus, where the opposing planets are separated from the Meridian by several degrees. Not only that, but the Progressed Ascendant instead of 15°58' Cancer where it is dominated by Uranus (shock, disruption) is 11°50' Cancer, dominated by the Sun and Venus

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
A Personal Calamity	1
The Russian Scene	3
The Moon's Nodes	5
The Blue Mountains Crossing	6
What are Directions?	8
Extension of time for Chart Exercise	8

- a totally contrary indication.

BIRTH CHART: 22nd May 1952, North Sydney
151°12'6" E, 33°50'W. 7:25 am AEST. Placidus.

A precise dating of the event (10th July) is given by a series of powerful factors: The groundwork was laid on 2nd July by Jupiter stationary at 4°46' Scorpio, where it conjuncts Mars, thus activating the Natal opposition. A stationary Transit has maximum power.

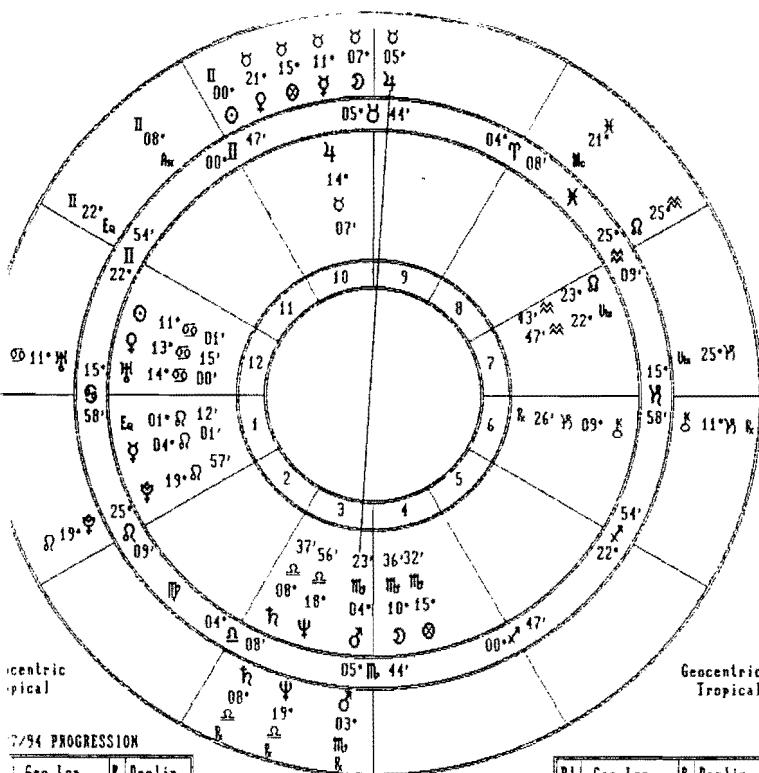

Pluto, ruling the House of Illness, trined the Sun by Naibod-Arc Direction (0°59'8" a year) on 14th July, signifying fundamental change and probable confinement in hospital (the Sun being in the 12th House).

Transiting Mars conjuncted the midpoint of Sun/Ascendant on 10th July, and of Pluto/Midheaven on 11th July, pin-pointing the date.

BIWHEEL

Inner Chart: PROGRESSION AT 10TH JULY 1994.

Outer Chart: BIRTH HOROSCOPE.

2/94 PROGRESSION

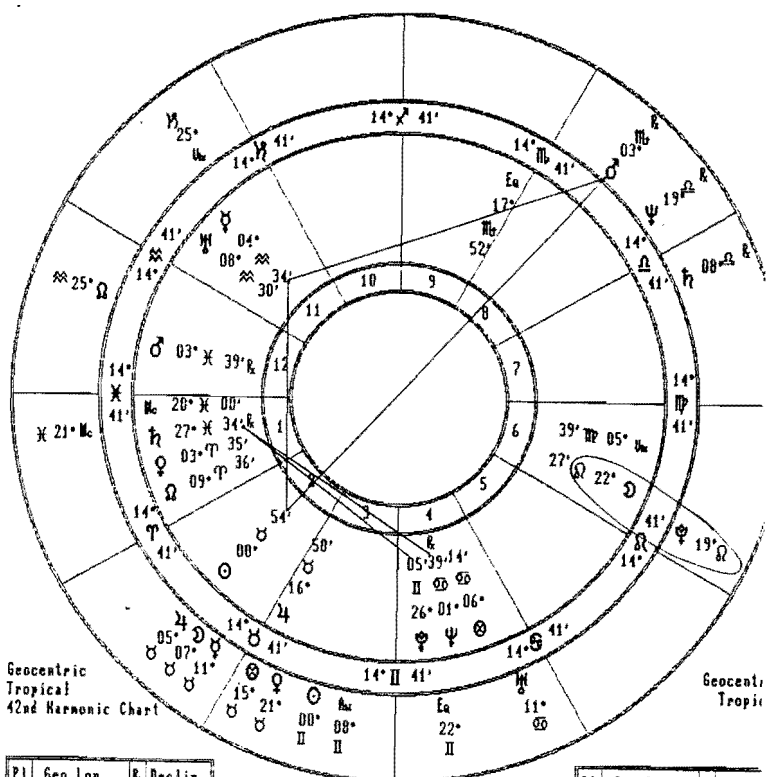

Geo Lon	R Decl.
10° 35' 42"	19° 49'
11° 01' 27"	22° 59'
04° 00' 49"	20° 36'
13° 15' 17"	23° 29'
04° 22' 50"	14° 22'
14° 07' 21"	15° 03'
08° 36' 45"	01° 09'
14° 00' 23"	23° 05'
18° 56' 00"	05° 52'
19° 57' 29"	23° 16'

Copyright 1987 Matrix Software Big Rapids MI

P1	Geo Lon	R Decl.
♂	07° 40' 38"	18° 34'
♂	00° 44' 08"	20° 19'
♂	11° 32' 14"	13° 14'
♂	21° 30' 50"	17° 18'
♂	03° 39' 30"	12° 53'
♂	05° 24' 03"	12° 21'
♂	08° 30' 49"	00° 58'
♂	11° 37' 51"	23° 18'
♂	19° 19' 30"	05° 59'
♂	19° 11' 32"	23° 37'

Geocentric Tropical

Inner Chart and Cusps: AGE HARMONIC 42.
Outer Chart: BIRTH HOROSCOPE

Geocentric Tropical
42nd Harmonic Chart

Geocentric Tropical

P1	Geo Lon	R Decl.
♂	07° 40' 38"	18° 34'
♂	00° 44' 08"	20° 19'
♂	11° 32' 14"	13° 14'
♂	21° 30' 50"	17° 18'
♂	03° 39' 30"	12° 53'
♂	05° 24' 03"	12° 21'
♂	08° 30' 49"	00° 58'
♂	11° 37' 51"	23° 18'
♂	19° 19' 30"	05° 59'
♂	19° 11' 32"	23° 37'

P1	Geo Lon	R Decl.
♂	07° 40' 38"	18° 34'
♂	00° 44' 08"	20° 19'
♂	11° 32' 14"	13° 14'
♂	21° 30' 50"	17° 18'
♂	03° 39' 30"	12° 53'
♂	05° 24' 03"	12° 21'
♂	08° 30' 49"	00° 58'
♂	11° 37' 51"	23° 18'
♂	19° 19' 30"	05° 59'
♂	19° 11' 32"	23° 37'

January 1995, is an adverse factor, dispiriting and devitalizing, but not life-threatening. However, there are additionally four critical junctures in the next two years:

- (1) The end of February and beginning of March 1995, when Pluto is stationary opposite the Sun (6' orb only), the Progressed Sun is conjunct Uranus, and the Regressed Sun is trine Pluto.
- (2) The Moon's Node Directed to the opposition of Saturn in July 1995 (Saturn rules the 8th House).
- (3) Pluto again stationary opposite the Sun, though with a larger orb this time (2½°), in March 1996.
- (4) Pluto again stationary opposite the Sun, with a small orb (21'), in August 1996.

The first time of crisis is covered by the Chart for the Harmonic Month 22nd February - 22nd March 1995 (next page). Fractional Harmonic Charts are constructed by multiplying the natal positions by a factor comprising the age of the subject plus a fraction corresponding to the month after the birthday: For the 1st month after the birthday add .0833; for the 2nd month, .1667;

Warning of the approaching calamity was given in the Chart for Age Harmonic 42 (next column), covering the period 22nd May 1994 to 22nd May 1995.

The Harmonic Sun lies on the Natal Mars/Jupiter axis, the chief adverse factor in the Birth Figure. The T-Square formed by Harmonic Mercury (Mars-Mercury-Sun/Jupiter) produced the cerebral haemorrhage. Saturn rising is square both Pluto and Neptune, and the Harmonic Moon in the House of Illness is conjunct Natal Pluto.

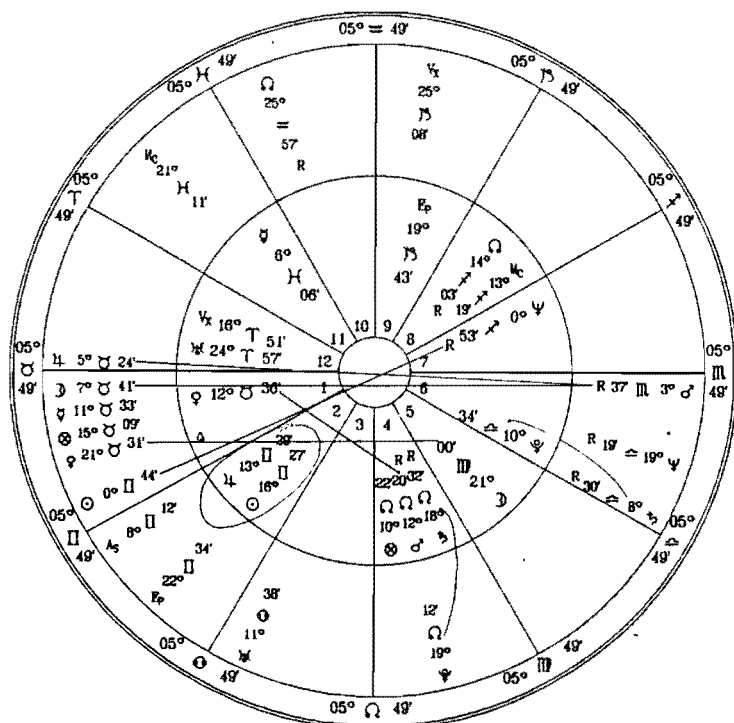

What of the future? A physician in attendance said that the patient would never be able to resume her professional career. Will she be totally disabled and dependent for the rest of her life? This is something that may perhaps be determined by astrological methods. Below are some relevant Charts and other important factors:

The Regressed Sun opposite Neptune on 13th

3rd, .25; 4th, .3333; 5th, .4167; 6th, .5; 7th, .5833; 8th, .6667; 9th, .75; 10th, .8333; 11th, .9167.

The chief adverse indications in the Chart below are the Natal Mars/Jupiter opposition across the Horizon, Harmonic Neptune closely opposing Natal Sun, Venus (Ascendant Ruler) squared by Mars, and H.Pluto in the House of Illness conjuncting Natal Saturn, reciprocated by Natal Pluto conjunct H.Saturn. However, H.Jupiter and the Sun are conjunct, while the H.Moon closely trines N.Venus. The patient's determination and fighting spirit could bring about a favourable outcome.

Inner Chart: HARMONIC MONTH, 22ND FEBRUARY-22ND MARCH 1995 (Natal positions x 42.75).
Outer Chart: BIRTH HOROSCOPE

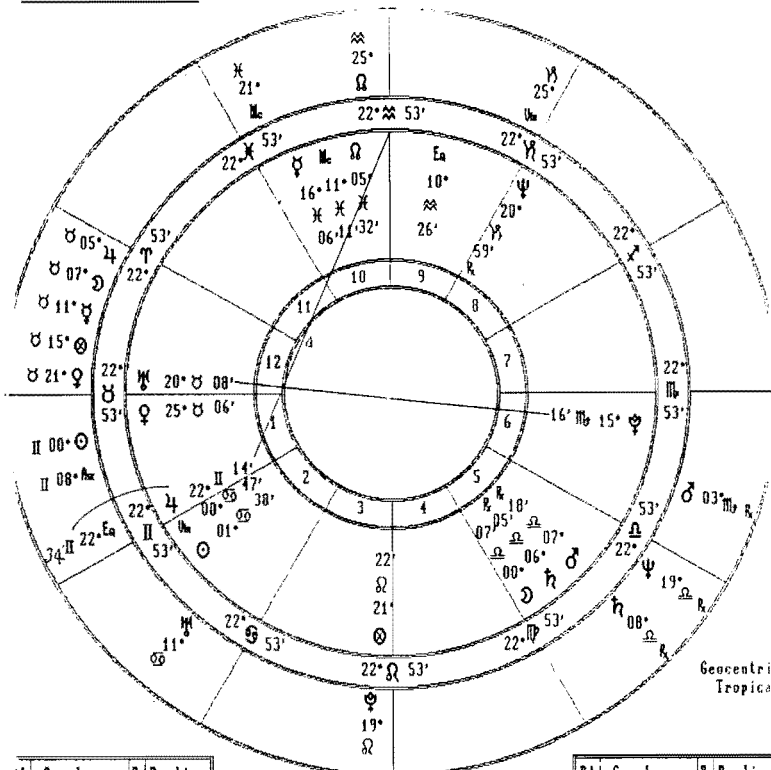

[Astrolabe Printwheels]

Following this, the patient attains her 43rd birthday on 22nd May 1995, and the second and third critical periods fall within the province of the 43rd Harmonic Chart (next column).

It is a hopeful sign that Taurus rises, and its Ruler, Venus, strongly placed in its own Sign and just under the Horizon, rules also the 6th House, which must have some positive effect on the patient's health. This is supported by Natal Venus also on the Ascendant. Pluto opposing Uranus just above the Ascendant is disturbing but related more to a change of circumstances than a deterioration in the patient's condition. A decidedly positive influence is the placement of Jupiter mundanely strong on the 2nd Cusp and closely conjunct the Natal Equatorial Ascendant and trining the degree on the Midheaven.

Inner Chart: AGE HARMONIC 43
Outer Chart: BIRTH HOROSCOPE.

P	Geo Lon	R Declin.
1	07° 40' 38"	+18° 34'
2	00° 44' 08"	+20° 19'
3	11° 32' 14"	+13° 14'
4	21° 30' 50"	+17° 18'
5	03° 39' 30"	-12° 53'
6	05° 24' 03"	+12° 21'
7	08° 30' 49"	-00° 58'
8	11° 37' 51"	+23° 18'
9	19° 19' 30"	-05° 59'
10	19° 11' 32"	+23° 37'

copyright 1989 Matrix Software Big Rapids MI

P	Geo Lon	R Declin.
1	07° 40' 38"	+18° 34'
2	00° 44' 08"	+20° 19'
3	11° 32' 14"	+13° 14'
4	21° 30' 50"	+17° 18'
5	03° 39' 30"	-12° 53'
6	05° 24' 03"	+12° 21'
7	08° 30' 49"	-00° 58'
8	11° 37' 51"	+23° 18'
9	19° 19' 30"	-05° 59'
10	19° 11' 32"	+23° 37'

B1WHEEL

This could very well mean a resumption of professional activity.

The 4th critical period, in August 1996, (Pluto stationary opposite the Sun) is revealed by the Cyclic Charts to produce an interruption to professional activities for reasons of health. Once again, the Natal Mars/Jupiter opposition is significant, lying along the Meridian of the 44th Harmonic Chart. Further analysis will wait until the earlier difficulties have been surmounted.

So the outlook for the patient is not by any means hopeless. The major hurdle at the end of February next has to be successfully negotiated, but after that the crises are less threatening. The gloomy forecast of the attending physician may prove to be wrong.

THE RUSSIAN SCENE

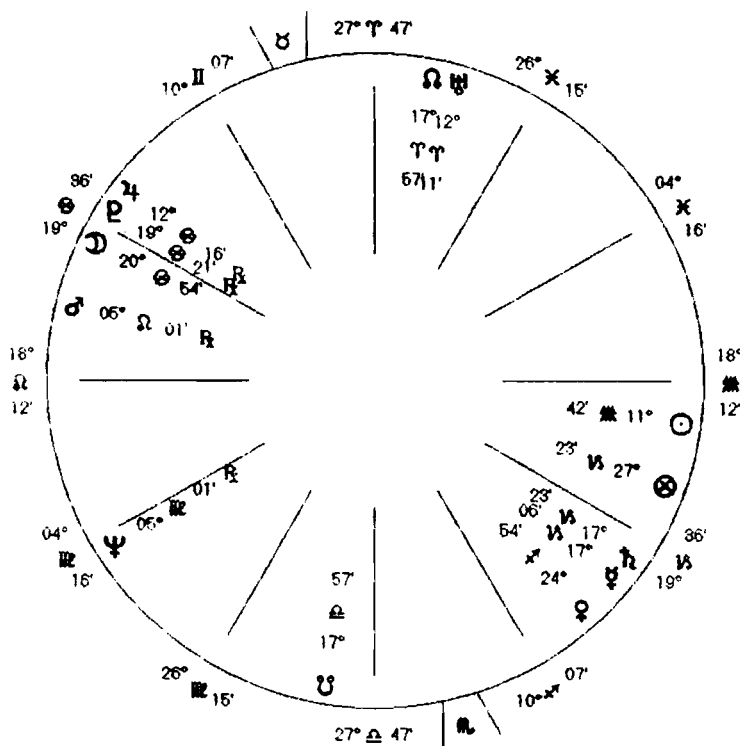

by Allan Johnson

The last article I wrote about Russia was in the December 1992 Issue, confirming the continuation of what I called "the years of living dangerously" for Boris Yeltsin. This culminated in two days of violence in Moscow in the first week of October '93, which "reduced the besieged Parliament building to a smouldering wreck, its white walls holed by tank shells and blackened by smoke pouring from shattered windows". All this happened when Uranus and Neptune were conjunct and stationary and in opposition to his Natal Pluto/Moon, and conjunct his Mercury/Saturn, stirring up the whole T-Square pattern. Which proves how accurately Transits do really work. Despite the uprisings Yeltsin won out.

BORIS YELTSIN

1st February 1931, Butka, Siberia, 4:45pm
(GMT 0:45pm). 63°47'E, 56°47'N. Placidus.

Since then the two planets have of course moved on - and he and Russia generally have been going through a much more settled period. The T-Square pattern is the most dominating configuration in his Chart (six planets plus the Node) which doesn't leave much else in his Chart. So when Uranus passes out of orb of all these planets, then the days of great drama are over. Uranus does return to 22° Capricorn next October, but I doubt if this will reactivate his Chart to any great extent. Also his Progressed Sun comes to conjunct Progressed Uranus this year, but since these two planets are in sextile at birth, any unexpected changes might be to his advantage. So his future has much more stability.

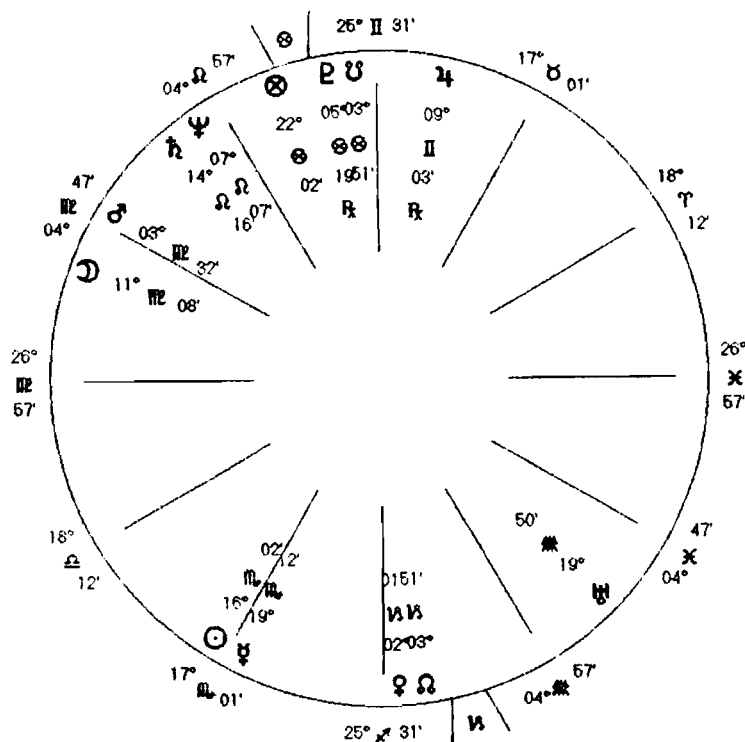

In looking at the future of Russia, I don't think we can altogether discard the Chart for the Soviet Union. Over the years it has developed a powerful identity, and experience with other countries has shown that charts which were technically no longer valid have still carried on an influence. Thus the Chart of the last Czar had a strong link up with the collapse of communism in the early '90's. Also large numbers of key personalities in the old regime still hold positions of authority today, and this is one of the problems Yeltsin has had to cope with. So the country remains in a very muddled and confused state, and no clear-cut political and economic system has emerged. In these circumstances the Soviet Chart could still throw some light on events. Like Yeltsin's, the Soviet Chart has a very powerful T-Square configuration, but in the Fixed Signs and activated by Pluto. The key period in the end of communism was the end of 1989 when Pluto was exactly conjunct the Natal Sun and square Natal Saturn. It continued to activate the same pattern through 1990/91, and made the exact square to Uranus when the Soviet Union ended in December 1991.

So all the dramatic action correlated very closely with the Transits of Pluto on the T-Square pattern. So subsequent years could still provide us with some information on Russia's future. During 1994/95 Pluto makes the square to the Moon on the Ascendant. The Moon is in a very strong position in the Soviet Chart, but it is not part of any major configuration, so I would not expect any major upheavals in the immediate future. The Moon rules the people, so we could expect

SOVIET RUSSIA

9th November 1917, Leningrad, 2:30am LMT.
(M. Baigent's Chart in Mundane Astrology)

continuing turbulence and pressures from the population as a whole, as a lot of problems continue to evade solution. This trend continues through 1996/97 with Pluto making the square to Mars as it moves into Sagittarius. But Transiting aspects taken on their own don't have that big impact we would get from the activation of a major configuration. It is the same sort of situation we are getting from Yeltsin's Chart. We are not getting the big dramas. He could easily decide to retire at the end of his term as President. So taking the two Charts together, we are looking at a calmer period in the next three or four years than in the one immediately behind us.

The interesting period is when Uranus moves into the middle degrees of Aquarius, the closing years of the twentieth century (1998 - 2000). Uranus will then activate the powerful configuration involving Saturn, Uranus, Sun, Mercury. It could mean some further re-structuring, and of course some further upheavals, and a new type of constitution could emerge. Right on the year 2000 Uranus will be having its "Return" and this could mean the end of the "hangover" which had to follow the end of communism.

THE MOON'S NODES by Jenifer Pommerin

The following findings (researched on about 30 charts) are based on

- a. The True Node of the Moon.
- b. Aspects - conjunction, square, trine, opposition, quincunx.
- c. An orb of 1°.
- d. The proposition that the Nodes represent a person-to-person relationship, and this relationship is familial, or intimate, or close friendship, and private rather than public.

Nodes also represent contacts between a person and a group or association (a body of people), but my research did not cover that area.

- e. The proposition that the Nodes represent Karma from past lives, and are karma-inducing in the present life - the definition of karma being 'action' or 'reaction'.

Nodes and Planets in the Natal Charts

A study of the Nodes was puzzle-making rather than conclusion-stating.

FIRSTLY, in the natal charts of parent/child, wife/husband or sibling/sibling where one would expect to see a Node from one chart aspecting a planet or point in the other chart, there was a paucity of major aspects.

Perhaps this means a loose or casual relationship within the family, and this could reflect modern life; or it could mean something different - that the Nodes are concerned with close relationships.

I will give one family as an example. The daughter was born with a very severe physical disability. As you can imagine, this is a make-or-break crisis for a family - especially in that this was a life-time condition. Fortunately the experience brought out the best in everyone, including the disabled daughter, "June".

Here is the interaction of the Nodes in the four Charts:

"June"		Family Member
Mars	square	Mother's Node
Ascendant	square	Father's Node
Sun	quincunx	Father's Node
Node	square	Father's Jupiter
Node	opposite	Brother's Venus

That the 'planning' to bring people together is well thought out ahead (in terms of generations) might be indicated by this:

Node	opposite	Grandmother's Jupiter
Node	trine	Grandmother's Neptune

It is interesting to note that the father and maternal grandmother (with more than one Node contact) were also the members of the family most overwhelmed by what had happened.

SECONDLY, a square or opposition to the Node did not always signify a troubled, unloving or unhappy relationship. On the contrary, there often existed a deep love and affinity. The problems or worries of a traumatic nature were more circumstantial or caused by a third party.

The conjunction did not always signify togetherness, harmony and love. It was the most challenging of the aspects - denoting polarised viewpoints and emotional, sometimes bitter, conflicts. (However, was that due to the South Node with its aspect of opposition?). In only two cases was there manifested a natural harmony of character, and agreement concerning life goals. These people had a unity that was nice to see.

The trine was difficult to assess. Mostly there seemed to be a relationship that "coasted" on assumptions concerning the other person, that may or may not have been correct. There was kindness but not always understanding, perhaps.

The quincunx denoted a big difference of opinion in one area of life, and this could cause an upset in an otherwise harmonious relationship.

In order to assess the role of the Node in the chart of another, it is advisable to include the nature of the planet/s aspected, and the House/s involved.

Briefly, here are some findings re the Lunar Node contact with planets/points - modified according to aspect.
With the SUN: Helpmates. Common life goals. Lessons in parenting.

With the MOON: True love. Strong family bond. Need to learn loving non-attachment.

With MERCURY: Brotherly love. Need to learn appreciation of other's qualities.

With VENUS: Love and kindness. Lessons in consideration for the other.

With MARS: Love in action. The need to learn wisdom and discrimination (judgement).

With SATURN: Parental love. The need to be less exacting and controlling.

With URANUS: Love and understanding. Lessons in communicating love.

With NEPTUNE: Universal love. Lessons in being unselfish and non-taking.

With PLUTO: Undying love. The need to act according to the other's real needs and avoid pressuring.

With the MIDHEAVEN: A constructive or destructive influence in the other's life.

With the ASCENDANT: Deliberately strengthens, or weakens, the other's confidence.

Nodes and Planets in Transit

This study was done on individual and 'relating' charts. Again this study brought forth some surprises.

FIRSTLY, the paucity of contacts in major events. (The event was usually marriage, death, or a parting.)

SECONDLY, a much more frequent aspecting occurred in 'trivial' daily events (natal or transiting Node or planet).

THIRDLY, the traditional meaning of the planet was more evident and more telling than it was in the previous sector about natal relationships.

FOURTHLY, the same points or planets were often involved in a chart. This is one example in an individual's chart:

Transiting Node conjunct 4th-House Cusp = marriage.

Transiting Node conjunct 4th-House Cusp = death of father. (So there appears to be a 'sensitive' area that links with the Nodes.)

My only conclusion following what is admittedly a small sampling is that the Nodes "bring together", or, on the other hand, signify the breaking of ties.

My big question is, "Why do so many families and partners lack a Node contact?" Of course correspondences between natal planets and Signs were present, but the Node is also an important factor. I may have been a little severe in restricting the orb to one degree - but even when the orb was extended, there were still a considerable number of charts without a contact.

THE BLUE MOUNTAINS CROSSING

by Marie Casey

The crossing of the Blue Mountains (N.S.W.) was a stupendous effort considering many prior attempts had to be abandoned. The first expedition to succeed was undertaken by Gregory Blaxland, William Lawson and William C. Wentworth. This expedition had conquered the mountains, and a new rich country was open to development.

It was on 28th May 1913 that the party finally reached Mount York. According to records, they left about 9 o'clock that day and, not being able to find water, they did not encamp until 5 o'clock. They discovered on the edge of the precipice (Mt. York) the land below to be forest land covered with trees and good grass.

The time was rather rounded off to an exact hour, so I did some rectification and found the Progressions to be workable for the time of 4:46 pm (10 minutes before sunset). This is the time they must have arrived at Mt. York (the high point), discovered the land below and encamped around 5 o'clock.

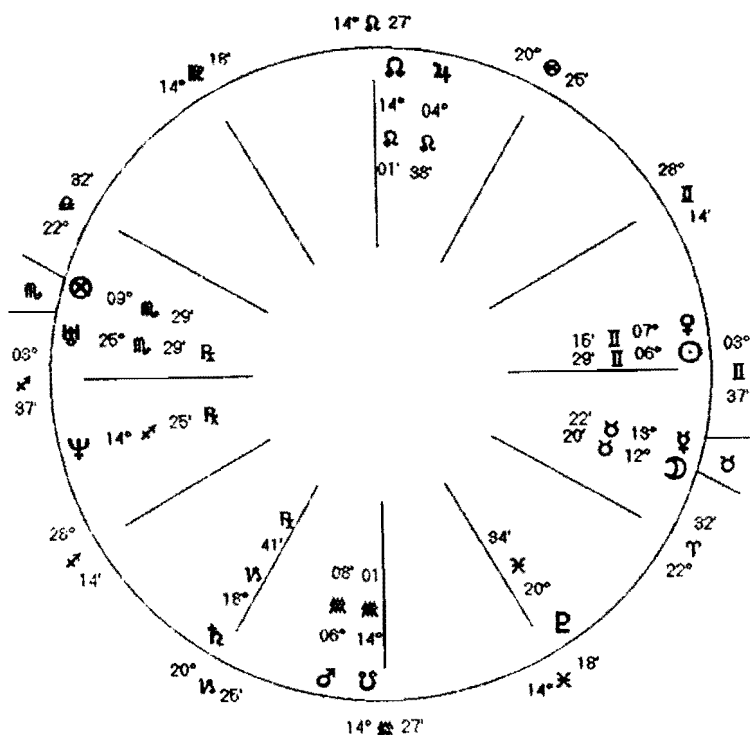

As part of the Bi-Centennial Celebrations, the re-enactment of the Blue Mountains Crossing was staged on 28th May 1944 (175 years since the Crossing in 1813). It was then in May that I moved to the Mountains and was inspired to do some research and set up a Chart.

It seemed very significant that the Midheaven had just passed Jupiter (the planet of expansion) and come to a conjunction with the North Node. A great feat was accomplished. The Chart is quite in tune with the Mountains, and I give some comments on the Houses:

THE BLUE MOUNTAINS CROSSING

28th May 1813, Mt. Victoria, N.S.W. 4:46PM LMT
150°15'E, 33°35'S. Placidian Cusps.

Neptune in the First House would refer to the enchantment and mystique of the Mountains and the inducement of many tourists coming to visit. This House represents the general conditions of the area, and Neptune suggests many ceremonial events and festivities, which is true of the Mountains. Most townships have their annual festivals. In terms of weather, Neptune would relate to the general misty conditions and the snow.

Saturn in the Second House indicates financial stagnation. It wasn't until 1988 that properties really increased in value. Money may be hard to get in terms of employment and general business. On a more positive note there would be a steady flow of incoming finance to the local Government.

Mars. The Third House represents public transport, roads and highways, and with Mars placed here indicates much expenditure and energy involved. Continual construction is in progress on the highways now, more Mountain rock having to be blasted through to widen some areas as well as make more new roads. The other side of Mars relates to accidents, so adequate safety precautions are needed on the roads.

Pluto in the Fifth House would denote deep and extended interest in the Arts and Crafts. Many people of the Mountains are involved in artistic endeavours.

Mercury and the Moon in the Sixth House shows some restlessness and discontent to do with employment, which signifies the lack of work in the Mountains and lack of industry.

The Sun and Venus in the Seventh House is very favourable for foreign trade, and this manifests in tourism - the bus-loads of people from other countries visiting the Mountains.

Jupiter in the Ninth House does tell of the expansion of the Mountains in connection with foreign people (tourism). It is also favourable for religious matters and those involving the higher mind.

Uranus in the Twelfth House may denote sudden or radical changes in Government Institutions such as hospitals, prisons, etc.

The above comments do not embrace the entirety of the House placings but give some indication of the manifestations of the planetary significance in each House.

A major issue in the Mountains is the bush fires. Going back to 1968, when they were considered to be one of the worst up to that time, the Transits were as follows: On 28th November 1968, the day the Blue Hills turned red, then black, 120 houses were burned down and three fire-fighters lost their lives. Tr.Saturn at 19°9' Aries squared Natal Saturn. In this sense Saturn relates to the loss involved. Tr.Mars (Planet of Fire) between 11°18' and 11°54' Libra, was quincunx Mercury/Moon and Tr.Sun 6° Sagittarius opposed Sun/Venus.

The recent bush fires in January 1994, considered the worst in the history of NSW., had a great effect on parts of the Mountains. They became more severe from the 6th to the 12th January. Again Saturn was in the picture: Transiting positions of the six planets in Capricorn on the 7th January were - Uranus 21°55', Neptune 20°41', Mercury 18°21', Sun 16°27', Venus 14°2', Mars 13°39'. Natal Saturn is at 18°41' in the Blue Mountains Chart. The planets surrounding Natal Saturn give a dismal picture. Tr.

Mercury made its conjunction, and Tr.Sun, Venus and Mars were coming to the conjunction. Mars being the planet relating to fires is afflicted in the Chart at 6°9' Aquarius. It makes an opposition to Natal Jupiter, North Node and MC, and squares the Moon/Mercury conjunction. Fortunately it does trine the Sun and Venus, modifying somewhat the more drastic effects it could create.

Progressions re the Bush Fires

By 1968 the Progressed Midheaven had come to a conjunction with Natal Saturn, 19° Capricorn, by using the 1° method of Progression. Again Saturn is in the picture.

Then in May 1993 the Progressed Midheaven moved to the I.C. at 14° Aquarius, exactly 180 years since the Blue Mountains Crossing in 1813. Bearing in mind that Progressions have a lasting power for a year or more, this major aspect by the MC in opposition to the Node and Natal MC had a lot to do with the recent disastrous bush fires in January 1994. The I.C. is a vital point when strongly aspected, bringing on upheavals, disasters and also earthquakes.

WHAT ARE DIRECTIONS

by Leslie Black.

Many people, including some astrologers, have only a vague idea about Directions. From my long study of astrology, and letters received on this particular matter, I have come to the conclusion that about 75% of people who send for Directions do so because they think they are going to be told what will happen to them during a certain period, and they are greatly disappointed and sometimes indignant because they do not get what they have expected.

What then are Directions? Directions are mathematical calculations showing the time when certain influences are due, and the tendencies they are likely to produce in the lives of people. But what about the people themselves? Have they no free-will? Are they blind puppets of Fate, buffeted by every wind of planetary force, incapable of taking advantage of good influences, or standing up against adverse ones?

I've heard it said by competent astrologers, "Oh, I'm under adverse Directions at the present time, so I must lie quiet and do nothing important." But you can be sure you won't escape what is in the heavens activating your Radical Chart at that particular time. It happened to me on 4th January this year when I was struck down with a stroke that inflicted upon me a fractured ankle and completely drained my body of all physical energy, with which now I'm gradually coming to terms.

So was the poet Shakespeare correct when he wrote, "This is the excellent foppery of the world, that, when we are sick in fortune, - often the surfeit of our own behaviour, - we make guilty of our disasters the Sun the Moon, and the stars; as if we were villains by necessity, fools by heavenly compulsion; knaves, thieves, and treachers, by spherical predominance; drunkards, liars, and adulterers, by an enforced obedience of planetary influence, and all that we are evil in, by a divine thrusting on."?

In all my professional work, it has always been a fixed rule never to predict definite or particular events, but merely to explain the meaning of the several Directions operating, and how they will act in the life and circumstances of the individual. I have seen cases where there are several very adverse Directions acting at the time, some of which might easily be indications of very serious events, but I have always toned them down.

It is arguable whether we are tied and bound by planetary forces, and that there is no way of escaping them, that we are merely pawns on the great chessboard of life, moved hither and thither by every blast of planetary vibration. Certainly, we have "free-will", but only in a limited way which inspires our instincts to protect ourselves for self-preservation, as is designated by Mutual Progressions which occur during life. But major Directions show how the life is responding to fate and karma in the present life, which prepares it for future reincarnations and evolution.

CHART EXERCISE

See last Issue, pages 5 & 6. No one has yet been 100% successful at the first attempt. To give more readers a chance to participate the time for closing of the exercise is now extended to 15th October. I urge you to try - it will certainly help your astrology. Don't be concerned about being wrong. It is by trial and error that we all learn. Send your assessment to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turrumurra NSW, Australia 2074. Ross will tell you your results immediately. If wrong, you can try again.

My kind regards to all. - Dymock,

6th September 1994.

Astrologers' Forum

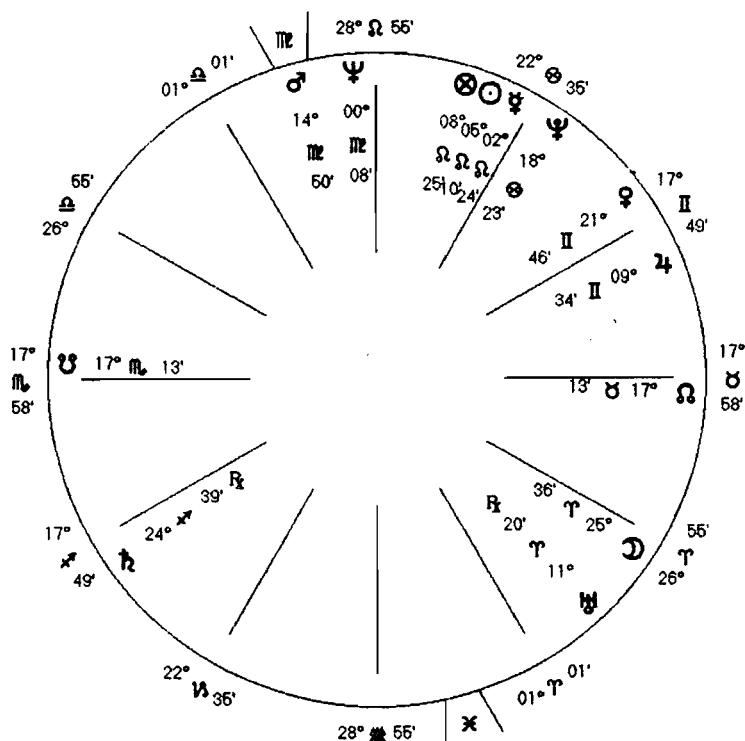

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785.
Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25.
Issues 155/156 June/July 1994

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

The Horoscope of the late Jacqueline Onassis is of interest not only because she was so much in the public eye but also because we are fairly certain of her birth time, and so we can confidently utilize astrological techniques to see how appropriately planetary dispositions depict the events of her life. This hindsight analysis becomes a lesson in astrology. Here, I propose to look at four of the most important events - her marriage to John F. Kennedy, who became President of the U.S.A., her being widowed through his assassination, her subsequent marriage to the shipping magnate, Aristotle Onassis, and her own death a little over a month ago.

JACQUELINE ONASSIS

Born 28th July 1929, 2:30pm EDT (GMT 6:30pm) at Southampton, N.Y. 72°23'W, 40°53'N.
Placidian Cusps.

Venus ruling the House of Marriage occupies the 8th House (Deaths), and is opposite Saturn. This is sufficient indication of the death of a husband, and also the sadness surrounding both her marriages - the

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
Jacqueline Onassis	1
Marriage to J.F.Kennedy	2
Assassination of Kennedy	3
Marriage to Aristotle Onassis	4
Death	5
Match the Chart to the Job	5
Madonna & Michael Jackson	7

infidelities of J.F.Kennedy and the lack of rapport with Aristotle Onassis. People with Venus opposed by Saturn in their Horoscopes have difficulty in achieving a union that is satisfying and happy. A great deal of effort is needed to avoid emotional coldness and separation. It is not surprising that the effort is often too much for most of us ordinary mortals.

This situation is particularly sad for a person born with the Sun in Leo - the Heart Sign - where the need for love and admiration is usually the mainspring of the nature. Jackie had this heart quality, and suffered from its lack of gratification, but the pride of Leo and the fortitude of her Scorpio Ascendant prevented her from making a public exhibition of it.

The Scorpio Ascendant also accounts for the privacy of her nature - the radiance of Leo subjected to the reserve, even secrecy, of Scorpio. Never were the details of her personal life open for scrutiny until the one occasion near the very end when she let it be known that she was entering hospital for treatment of Hodgekin's Lymphoma. She bore her illness with dignity, and herself made the decision to die at home among family and friends when it became clear that further treatment would be useless. Did Jackie, in fact, deliberately cut short her life span rather than endure perhaps weeks more of traumatic living without quality? She did not lack courage and resolve. This question does come to mind in view of the very short lapse of time between her leaving hospital and her death on the 20th of May this year.

Neptune at the Midheaven of her Chart forms a grand trine with the Moon in the House of Health, and Saturn in the House of Income. It cannot be said that this is a joyful combination, notwithstanding the trines - they simply link Saturn and Neptune to the Moon. It is only a little better than having the same planets in a T-Square with the Moon. Undoubtedly this configuration was the dominant factor in her final illness, the Moon being associated with glandular function as in lymphoma, and Saturn/Neptune with illness and suffering. It must also have had a very depressing effect on her spirits at times, however well Jackie concealed this from the gaze of others.

Scorpio on the Ascendant, reinforced by the trine from its Ruler, Pluto, to the rising Degree, and unmodified by any other planet near the Ascendant, pointed to a life of extremes, which is typical of most born under this powerful Sign. With Jackie it was simply more so - married to a President of the U.S.A., the horror of having him shot to death beside her and being spattered with his blood, her brother-in-law, Robert Kennedy, also assassinated, a second marriage to one of the world's richest men who died only six-and-a-half years later, continued association with famous people, and throughout being the focus of world-wide attention.

A trait of the Sign Leo that Jackie amply demonstrated was self-indulgence and love of luxury. Jupiter (the Expander) and Venus (pleasure and beautiful things) aspecting the Sun by sextile and semi-square respectively boosted this failing of Leo. Her extravagant spending (Jupiter ruling the 2nd House square Mars and semisquare the Moon) caused trouble in both her marriages. The money went largely on fashion clothes and jewellery (Venus/Sun). Leo vanity had a hand in this. It brought its own penalty in the shape of an unhappy union with Aristotle Onassis, which was widely and probably correctly assumed to have been made for the sake of the wealth that came with it. Divorce proceedings were an imminent prospect at the time of Aristotle's death in March 1975 from a complex of serious bodily ailments. So Jackie was widowed again.

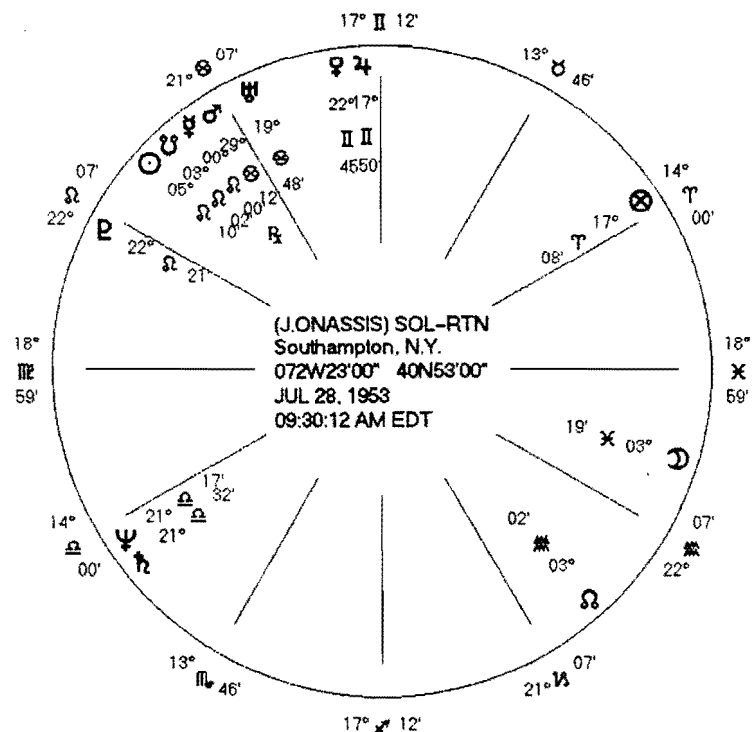

Another, more attractive trait of Leo which Jacqueline also exemplified, was hospitality. It is reported that at her home functions she had the capacity for making each individual guest feel specially welcome and valued. They blossomed and bloomed through her attention and the radiance of her personality.

What do we make of Neptune at the Midheaven of the Chart? Well, Jackie started her career (successfully) as a photographer, and was forever a keen and knowledgeable follower and patron of art, music, ballet and theatre.

Neptune was responsible for the aura of glamour that surrounded all her doings, and which were widely reported on that specially Neptunian medium - television. Neptune also played its part in the book promotions she instigated when, after Aristotle's death, she became an editor at a big publishing house. In this she was highly successful (Sun conjunct Mercury in the 9th House), not only rescuing worthwhile manuscripts from obscurity but also bringing out and promoting the sale of dozens of books each year. Aside from its mundane effects, Neptune must have coloured her inner life with its qualities of fantasy and imagination, sensitivity and intuition.

When Jacqueline married John F. Kennedy on 12th September 1953, the Solar-Return Chart proclaimed it as a love match: Jupiter, ruling the 7th House, conjoins Venus, The Unifier, at the Midheaven. The Part of Fortune closely sextiles Jupiter, adding to the prominence of this Planet of Fulfilment. Students of the Arabian Parts will also find it of interest that the Part of Marriage in this Chart is 15°13' Gemini, which is conjunct Jupiter and the Midheaven.

JACQUELINE BOUVIER MARRIES JOHN F. KENNEDY
Solar Return 28 July 1953, Southampton, N.Y.
EDT 9:30:12am, GMT 13:30:12. Placidian Cusps.

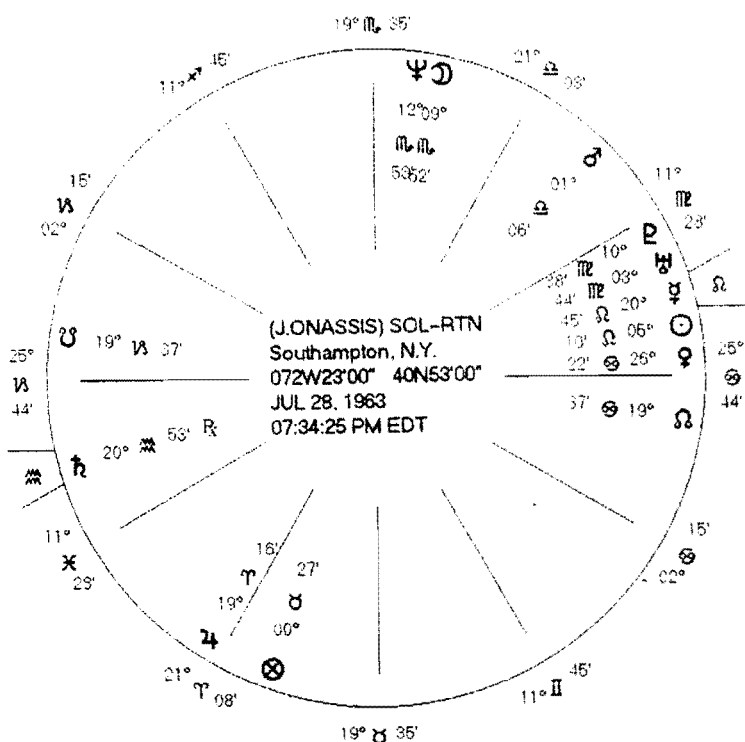

Something that was probably not noticed or was disregarded at the time is that if we turn the Chart to make the Marriage Cusp the Ascendant, an ominous note is struck by the almost exact conjunction of the malefics Saturn and Neptune in the derived 8th House - the House of Death. This portent of Saturn and Neptune becomes more dangerous through the close sextile of Pluto, The Destroyer, and the square from Uranus - planet of sudden shocks. The marriage lasted until Kennedy's death a little over ten years later - and the violent conjunction of Mars and Uranus is separated by approximately ten degrees.

The assassination of President Kennedy at Dallas, Texas, on 22nd November 1963, was an event of unprecedented shock and horror in the political field, certainly eclipsing that of the Archduke Ferdinand at Sarajevo in 1914, which started the First World War. One would expect it to be reflected in his wife's Solar Return by appropriate afflictions. Curiously, this is not the case.

PRESIDENT KENNEDY ASSASSINATED, 22 NOV.1963.
Jacqueline's Solar Return 29 Jul.1963 Placidus

A lack of appropriate configurations for the violent death of a husband

Far from depicting a marital catastrophe Venus right on the 7th Cusp suggests a state of connubial bliss. Perhaps this did exist prior to the fatality, but where are the portents for the latter? The closest we come to a pointer is the position of Pluto on the 8th Cusp 7° from the conjunction of Uranus, and 4° from the conjunction of Natal Mars. The Moon ruling the 7th House is conjunct Neptune, a mild indication of loss nowhere near commensurate with the tragedy that ensued, and the Moon's Rulership is the only acceptable connection with the 7th House (husband). Superimposing the Birth Chart does not in this case add any significant features. Neither is there any appreciable difference if the location is changed to Dallas.

There is, however, a Chart for the event that reflects its full horror. This is the Harmonic for Jacqueline at age 34, relating to the year 28th July 1963 to 28th July 1964.

JACQUELINE ONASSIS: 34th AGE HARMONIC

28 July 1963 - 28 July 1964.

Husband assassinated 22nd November 1963.

[Birth Chart positions in outer circle]

The Age Harmonic aptly depicts the events

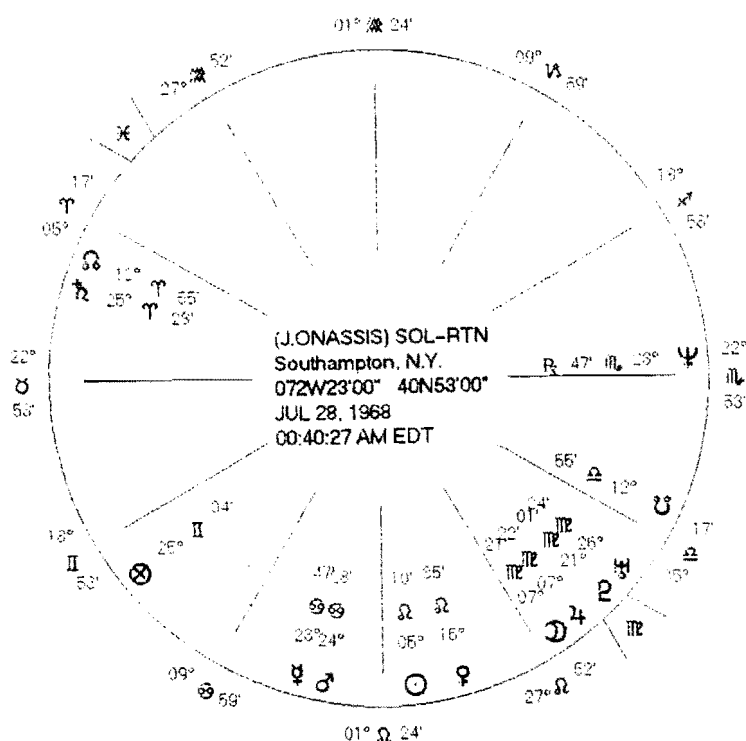

What a different story! Mars ruling the 7th House (marriage and husband) is directly opposite Uranus in the 7th, and conjunct Jupiter and Mercury (violence, gunshot), while Natal Uranus sits on the 7th Cusp. Pluto adds its malign influence by trining the Mars/Jupiter/Mercury conjunction, squaring AH-Saturn and opposing Natal Saturn. A feature of nearly all these aspects is the very small orbs involved, less than 1° in some cases. This is quite remarkable for a Harmonic Chart where, due to the high multiplication factors, orbs of 5½° or even 6° are acceptable, as introduced by Ross Harvey some years ago when he awoke us to the importance of Age Harmonics. If there are any who still have doubts about their validity and effectiveness let them take due note of this example.

Jacqueline's marriage to Aristotle Onassis on 20th October 1968 surprised, even shocked, the world. It was seen as Elegance marrying Money.

MARRIAGE TO ARISTOTLE ONASSIS

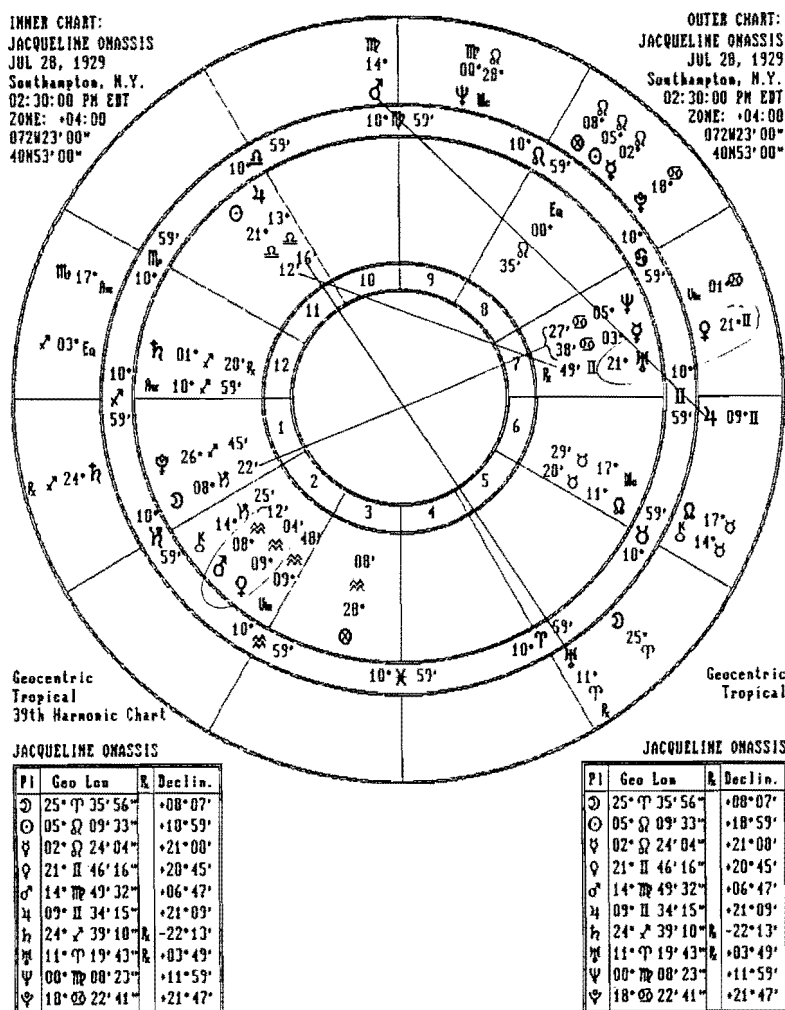

Solar Return 28 Jul 1968. Placidus.

Here, the normal Solar Return Chart does tell the story: Neptune on the 7th Cusp is a classic position for an unsatisfactory union. The two Rulers of the Marriage House, Mars and Pluto are both afflicted, Mars by Mercury (arguments) and Pluto by Uranus (crises). Mars trine to Neptune tends to exacerbate the marital situation - heat applied to water produces steam, and perhaps explosions. Saturn is in the 12th House (Sorrows, Self-undoing), and is closely conjunct Natal Moon, foreshadowing the emotional unhappiness in store for Jackie.

Jacqueline was 39 when she married Onassis, and the ill-assorted union is even more graphically portrayed in the Chart of the 39th Harmonic. Mercury, Ruler of the Marriage House is conjunct Neptune, and both are opposite the Moon, signifying misunderstandings and emotional unhappiness. Aristotle Onassis was reputed to have a considerable attraction for women, and there is plainly physical attraction here - Uranus closely trine the Sun and conjunct Natal Venus, and Venus conjunct Mars - but Uranus in the AGE HARMONIC 39, 28 July 1968 - 28 July 1969.

20 Oct 1968 Jackie marries Aristotle Onassis.
[Birth Chart positions in outer circle]

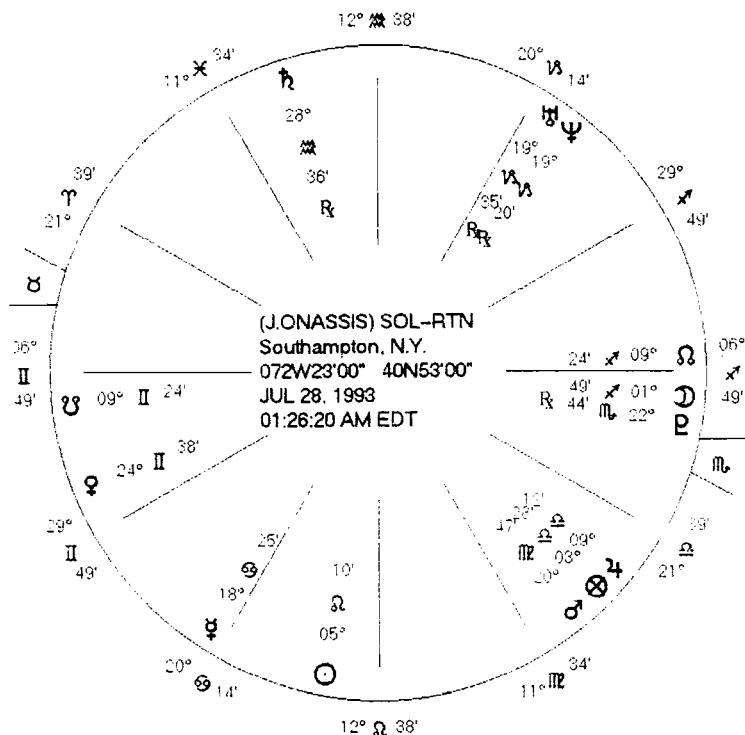

Pl	Geo Lon	Decl.
☉	25° 35' 56"	+08° 07'
☽	05° 09' 33"	+18° 59'
☿	02° 24' 04"	+21° 00'
♀	21° 46' 16"	+20° 45'
♂	14° 49' 32"	+06° 47'
♂	09° 34' 15"	+21° 09'
♂	24° 39' 10"	-22° 13'
♂	11° 19' 43"	+03° 49'
♂	00° 08' 23"	+11° 59'
♂	18° 22' 41"	+21° 47'

Pl	Geo Lon	Decl.
☉	25° 35' 56"	+08° 07'
☽	05° 09' 33"	+18° 59'
☿	02° 24' 04"	+21° 00'
♀	21° 46' 16"	+20° 45'
♂	14° 49' 32"	+06° 47'
♂	09° 34' 15"	+21° 09'
♂	24° 39' 10"	-22° 13'
♂	11° 19' 43"	+03° 49'
♂	00° 08' 23"	+11° 59'
♂	18° 22' 41"	+21° 47'

Marriage House has a disruptive effect, and Mars conjoined with Venus, though warming the feelings also produces conflict and altercations in the love life. The Ruler of the Chart, Jupiter, is opposed by Natal Uranus, indicating diversity of views, different values, and a stubborn adherence to personal opinions. An interesting factor is the Natal square of Jupiter and Mars afflicting the 7th and 10th Angles, showing that Jacqueline's habit of excessive spending was a big issue and caused dissension in the marriage.

"Last scene of all, that ends this strange, eventful history" is Jacqueline's passing on 20th May last at her home in New York. Is death apparent from this Chart? There is nothing very prominent and close in the way of afflictions. The Ascendant, significator of life and well-being is ruled by Mercury, which is opposed by Neptune and Uranus, certainly an affliction, but not one that invites a presumption of approaching death. Mental disturbance would be more in line with the nature of the planets concerned. The Moon, an important factor in a woman's health, is separating by 3° from the square of an elevated Saturn - not healthy, but also not lethal.

SOLAR RETURN 28 JULY 1993,
Death on 20th May 1994.

The Chart becomes rather more significant when compared with the Radix: Pluto, planet of death and destruction, conjoins the Natal Ascendant, though the orb is 5° - more than one would expect in the circumstances. This conjunction gains extra significance through occurring in the 6th House (illness), and in Pluto's own Sign, Scorpio, which suggests malignancy. Natal Pluto at 18°23' Cancer is conjunct SR-Mercury at 18°25' Cancer (only a 2' orb), and Mercury here rules the Ascendant - the physical body. Natal Jupiter at 9°34' Gemini is just below the Ascendant of the SR-Chart and rules the SR-8th House (death). Jupiter's influence is emphasized by its opposition to the SR-North Node (conjunct the South Node).

So, there are a number of indications when one searches for them, but they do not immediately spring to view. The 39th Harmonic on the other hand covers the same period and is much more graphically representative of the event.

The immediate impact is that of the Moon rising, forming a T-Square with Saturn and Mars, in opposition and square respectively. Natal Pluto at 18°23' Cancer adds its power to the T-Square. Saturn here rules the 4th House (end of life) where Capricorn is on the Cusp. What is specially striking about this affliction is the closeness of the orb, less than 1° for all four signifiers - truly remarkable when you consider the high

AGE HARMONIC 64, 28 JULY 1993 - 28 JULY 1994
Jacqueline Onassis dies on 20th May 1994.
[Birth Chart positions in outer circle]

JACQUELINE ONASSIS

Pl	Geo Lon	R Declin.
♂	25° 35' 56"	+08° 07'
♂	05° 09' 33"	+10° 59'
♂	02° 24' 04"	+21° 08'
♂	21° 46' 16"	+20° 45'
♂	14° 49' 32"	+06° 47'
♂	09° 34' 15"	+21° 09'
♂	24° 39' 10"	-22° 13'
♂	11° 19' 43"	+03° 49'
♂	00° 08' 23"	+11° 59'
♂	18° 22' 41"	+21° 47'

JACQUELINE ONA

Pl	Geo Lon	R Declin.
♂	25° 35' 56"	+08° 07'
♂	05° 09' 33"	+10° 59'
♂	02° 24' 04"	+21° 08'
♂	21° 46' 16"	+20° 45'
♂	14° 49' 32"	+06° 47'
♂	09° 34' 15"	+21° 09'
♂	24° 39' 10"	-22° 13'
♂	11° 19' 43"	+03° 49'
♂	00° 08' 23"	+11° 59'
♂	18° 22' 41"	+21° 47'

multiplication factor of 64 involved in the construction of this Chart. Venus just below the Ascendant is also drawn into the T-Square, and Venus rules both the 1st and the 8th House - a hint of mortality.

Another factor pointing in the same direction is the conjunction of the Sun (the life-force) with Pluto (the Destroyer) and square to Uranus. We can attribute to Uranus the relative suddenness with which the end came after Jackie left the hospital. Jupiter's sextile to Venus on the Ascendant and ruling the Deaths House implies that it was without trauma and pain.

- Dymock.

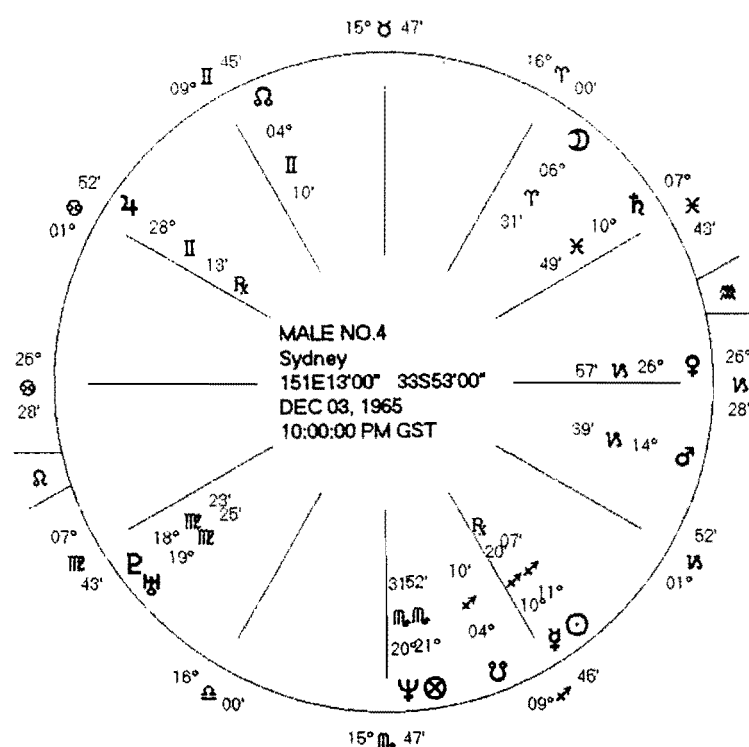

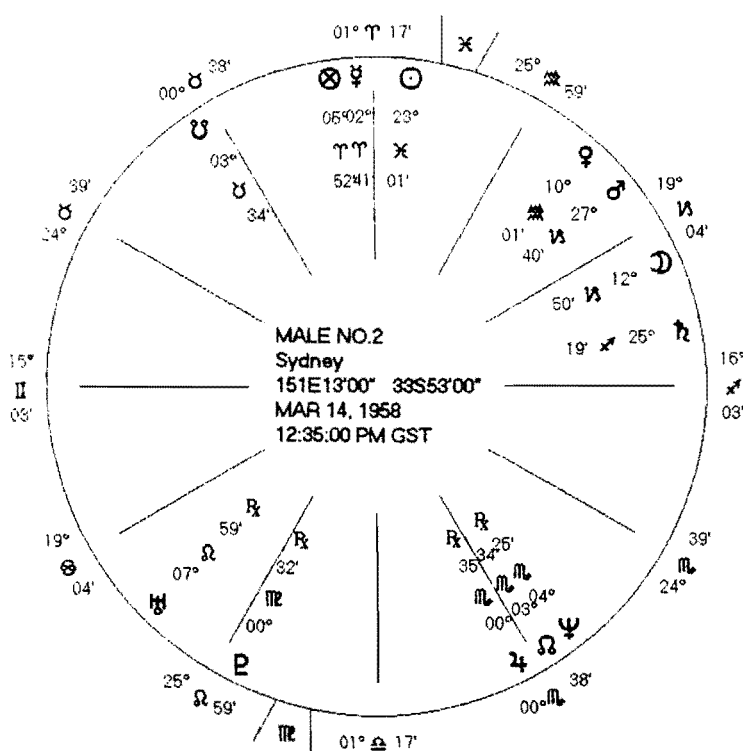

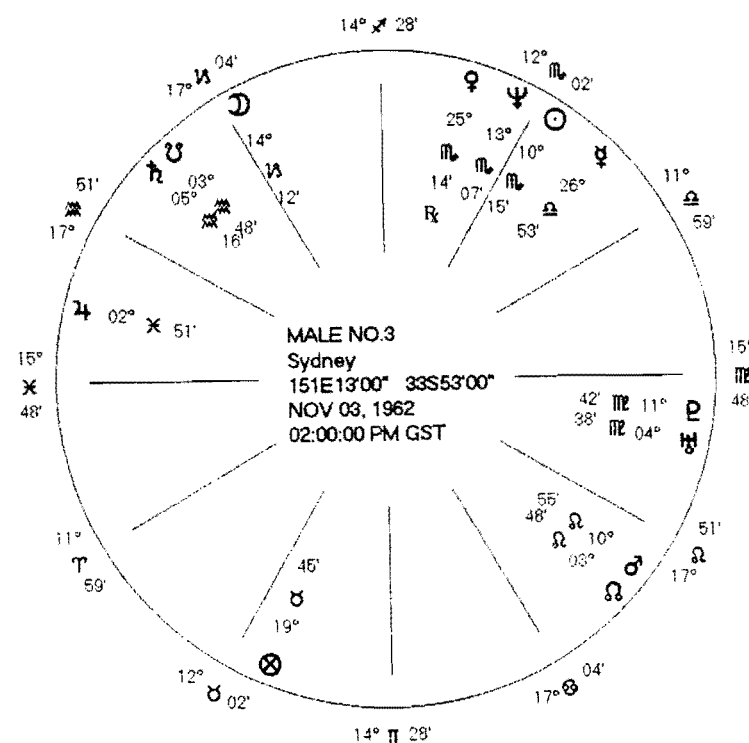

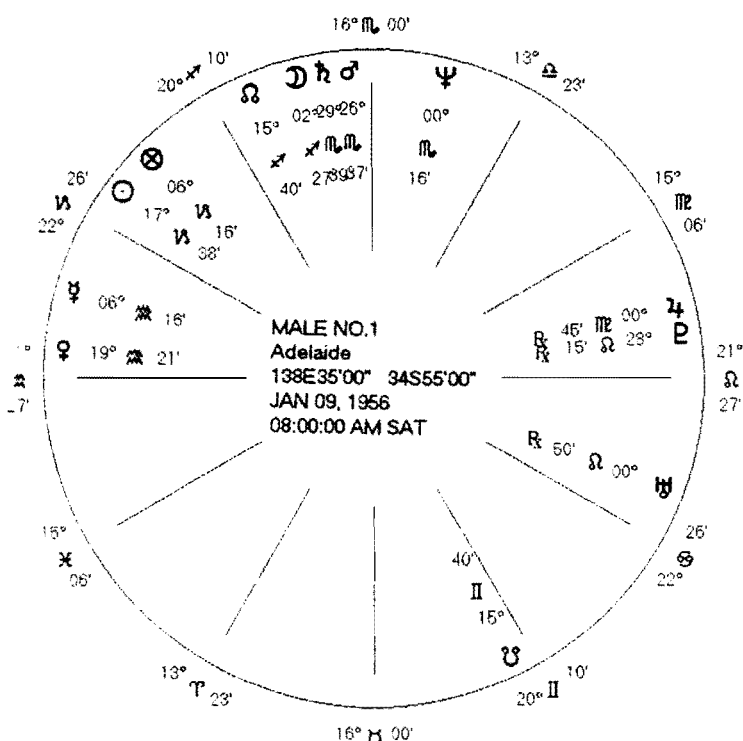

ASTROLOGICAL EXERCISE

Match the Chart to the Occupations

ROSS HARVEY has submitted the following exercise to test your astrological skills: Below are four Charts of males who are severally engaged in the occupations of successful CARTOONIST and PAINTER (art), STATISTICIAN, Public Service CLERK, and HOTEL WORKER who aspires to be a manager.

The test is which is the cartoonist and which the statistician.

published in the August Issue. Only names of those who supply correct solutions will be published.

Ross writes, "People would need to find indications for aptitude for art or mathematics, and also for vocational success. Entrants should say which is which, and how they arrived at their decisions." Give it a go! An exercise like this has much practical value. Send your answers direct to Ross Harvey, 7 Trentino Road, Turramurra NSW, Australia 2074. Entries should be in by the 15th of August so that the results can be

Re THE PLUTO/NODE INFLUENCE

There has been only one submission so far on the Pluto/Node or Pluto influence as was requested in Issue 153.

JENIFER POMMERIN (W.A.) suggests that we should seek information from readers regarding their experiences of a contact between the Node and ANY planet or sensitive point (e.g., MC or ASC). Jenifer writes, "I have found that very often when there has been a significant event, and yet no significant Transit, that indeed the Node was involved. It is routinely overlooked by most of us. If the Forum readers cared to check they might find, too, some very interesting Node activity. We could get quite a collection of useful findings concerning Node/planet/House."

Jenifer will send her own observations later. Meantime let us hear from other readers who are practising astrology. A report on your experiences and findings would be a benefit to all. - Dymock.

MADONNA & MICHAEL JACKSON (What motivates the "Superstars") By Marie Casey.

There are a few charts in circulation for Michael Jackson with different birth times. The Chart I submit in this article is taken from the Data Section of The Astrological Journal (London), 1989 September Issue. The source given - "Ananda Bagley quotes from the official biography, Moon Walker." Madonna's Chart is from The Astrological Journal 1990 September Issue. The source given - "Tashi Grady quotes Madonna's father for around 7 am".

Michael's Chart gives him a Gemini Ascendant that does explain his versatility. The body movements and intricate footwork, along with his singing ability describes the duality and artistic attributes of the Gemini Sign, whereas Madonna with Virgo Ascendant would not have those same capabilities. Virgo describes her Christian name by birth (Madonna) and the crucifix she wore on stage portraying the purity of the Sign. Also she leads the group into prayer before each act. The Ascendant shows our outer mannerisms, Although Madonna is certainly not a virginal type it's what she is sending out. Perhaps it's not such a big act after all. She is a health fanatic, spending hours at the Gym every day as well as jogging, in tune with the Virgo Sign. The Moon, Mercury and Pluto are also in Virgo, accentuating that Sign. At first I felt she may have a Leo Ascendant, but the Sun, Uranus and Venus in Leo would help to modify the shyness of a Virgo Ascendant.

Madonna's Midheaven in Gemini makes her very outgoing and communicative. This can be seen when she is interviewed on or off stage - she is never short on words. Her book, recently published, was tainted with Mars in Taurus, giving sensuality and a down-to-basics attitude, shown in her "erotica" endeavours.

Michael's Midheaven in Aquarius relates to the "Humanitarian", and he is a giver. His destiny is to share his resources, which he has done with his family and the Zoo project he built to entertain the children. It's rather ironical that he had to share more of his resources when he was sued for millions of dollars for child abuse. (Mars in 12th - forthright opponents working against him). The 10th-House Moon is indicative of being in the public eye for most of his life.

The Moon is Angular again in Madonna's Chart, and being in the 1st House would describe her changing looks from dark to blonde then to dark again. Then she changes her hair style from time to time, giving a completely different appearance. They have a lot in common with only 13 days difference in their birth dates. They are blessed with the Jupiter/Neptune conjunction relating to musical and artistic talent. Then they have Pluto in conjunction - Michael with Pluto/Sun, and Madonna with Pluto/Mercury, indicating the

MICHAEL JACKSON

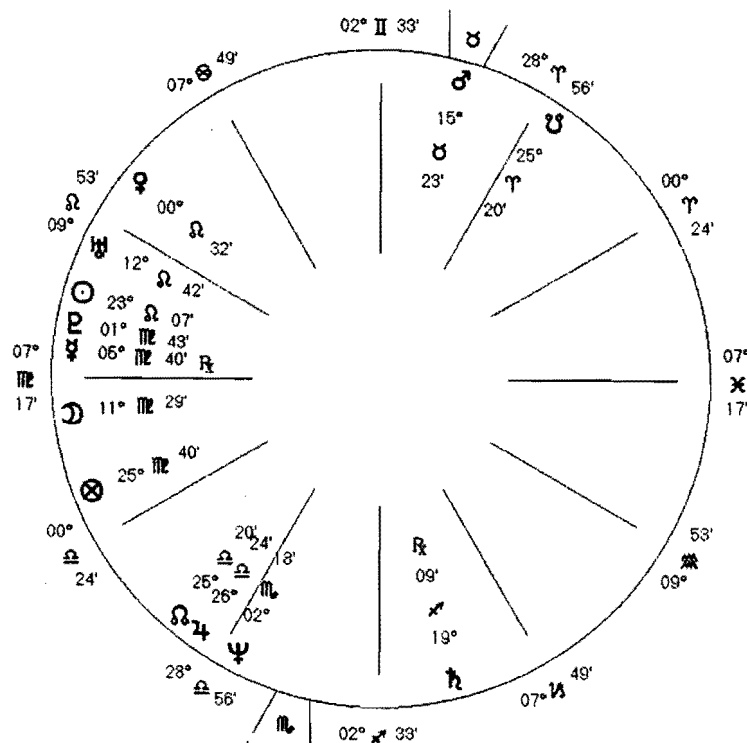

29th August 1958, 11:45pm CDT (GMT 4:45am.
30th August) at Gary, Indiana,
41°36'N, 87°27'W. Placidian Cusps.

power and driving force that motivates them and provides the massive energy when performing.

I noticed with Michael's 9th House the lack of planets not accentuating his overseas travel and performances, but the Ruler, Saturn, is trine to Uranus, Venus and Mercu-

MADONNA (Madonna Louise Ciccone)
16th August 1958, Bay City, Michigan,
43°36'N, 83°54'W. 7am EST (12 noon GMT).
Placidian Cusps.

ry. As the Moon squares Saturn it would explain the cancellation of some of his recent appointments in other countries. The Moon in Pisces makes him very gentle emotionally, and we can see this when he is interviewed, with such a soft speaking voice. Madonna's 9th House contains Mars trining her Moon, being good for travel, and this aspect gives courage, daring and bodily vigour.

They both have the golden touch, with Leo being well stressed. Michael's Jupiter on the 6th Cusp indicates the successful cosmetic surgery he has undergone.

Madonna's 5th House is void of any planets so we need to look at Saturn, the Ruler. Saturn trines the Sun and Uranus and squares the Moon. Saturn trining Uranus gives initiative, nervous energy and the ability to apply oneself in an original way. Saturn squaring her Moon would denote those times when she was unwelcome in certain countries for her outrageous performances (5th House affairs). Her magnetism to attract such large audiences would stem from the Sun at the midpoint of Venus and Uranus. By contrast, Michael has Venus conjunct Uranus, another magnetic aspect.

The "love" planet, Venus, is afflicted in their Charts. Michael has Venus conjunct Uranus and Mercury on either side, square to Mars and quincunx the Moon. The Venus/Uranus conjunction indicates sudden infatuations that may not last. Madonna's Venus squares the Node, Jupiter and Neptune. Venus square Neptune signifies a constant seeking for an ideal which may not be realised. Adding to this, Pluto, Mercury, the Ascendant and the Moon in Virgo makes her very choosy and particular in relationships. Both Michael and Madonna have Saturn square Moon. Michael's Moon squaring Saturn in the 7th would give him a feeling of inadequacy in his relationships and difficulty in finding emotional satisfaction. Madonna's Moon square Saturn in the 4th indicates problems with parents during her upbringing, and dissatisfaction in the home environment.

Although these birth times have been published we still have no surety that they are exact, but they do unfold a picture that seems to be fairly accurate.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

The PLACIDUS TABLES OF HOUSES FOR LATITUDES OF AUSTRALIA & NEW ZEALAND compiled by Rudolf Smit has just come to hand. It is an excellent publication, beautifully printed, clear and easy to handle - the pages lie flat because of the excellent ring-binding. Most important of all, the Cuspal positions are computer-calculated, which guarantees their mathematical accuracy. They are given for every four minutes of Sidereal Time, and Rudolf has incorporated a well-written explanation of the method of interpolation for "in-between" times. There is also a short treatise on House Systems generally, the Vertex and the "East Point", and a section on the different times, including Daylight Saving Times, in Australia and New Zealand. The book is available from Regulus Astrological Publications, P.O. Box 95, Tathra NSW 2550, or probably from your nearest astrological bookshop. It is priced at $25.

NEWS BY DEGREES is an attractive Canadian publication of around 50 pages in booklet form, dealing principally with the influence of the 360 individual degrees of the Zodiac. This facet of astrology has been much neglected since the earlier writings by famous astrologers dating back to 70 years ago. It is a fascinating area that will repay study. NEWS BY DEGREES comes from the National Council for Geocosmic Research, 87 St Nicholas Street Toronto, Ontario M4Y 1W8, and is available to non-members for a yearly subscription of $25 Canadian.

My kind regards to all.

- Dymock.

14th July 1994.

Astrologers' Forum

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785. Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25.
Issue 154 May 1994

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

The unbelievable savagery and slaughter in Rwanda during the last month makes even the Bosnian horror pale into relative insignificance. No doubt you have seen, as I have, photographs of large areas of ground packed (not "littered") with corpses - men, women and children shot, stabbed and hacked to death. At last the United Nations (April 30) declared that "forceful action is needed" if the massacres are to be stopped. It is appalling that civilized nations can stand by and witness the butchery in Rwanda without taking immediate and effective action to end it. In a sense we are all responsible for our inactivity and apparent lack concern. If a similar thing - even a thousandth part as dreadful - happened in Australia, England, Europe or the U.S., everything else would be put aside until peace and the rule of law was again established. Yet these people in Rwanda - people just like us, though coloured and speaking a different language - are abandoned to their fate. In the large scheme of things we will one day have to answer for our inactivity.

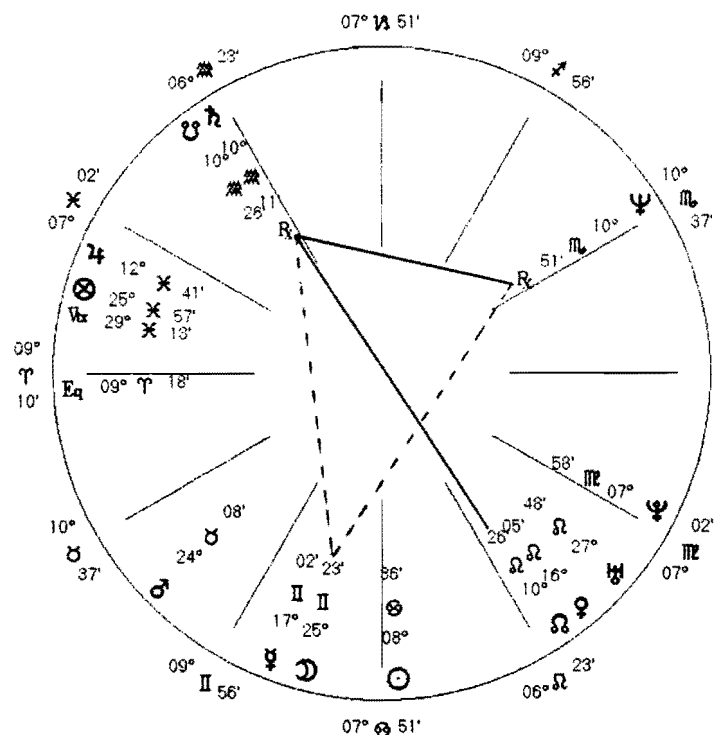

Could this situation in the small African State of Rwanda have been foreseen? The only horoscopes I have are those from Nicolas Campion's invaluable work, The Book of World Horoscopes. It is hard to know what an astrologer would do without this monumental production. Campion gives the Chart below for the granting of full legal independence to Rwanda in 1962. The potential for trauma and suffering of the populace is shown by the tight Neptune-Saturn square, Neptune being right on the 8th Placidian Cusp - death and privation - and both malefics being closely sesquiquadrate to the Moon. Saturn is retrograde, and by Secondary Progression (MC progressed by Sidereal Time increment or Naibod-Arc) has now arrived close to the MC ($7\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ Aquar.) where it still squares Neptune on the 7th Cusp and opposes the Moon's Node on the 4th. The Node is here fulfilling its function of adding force to the Saturn-Neptune square (see last Issue). Natal Saturn is also nearing the conjunction of the Progressed MC so it is evident that the

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
Genocide in Rwanda	1
The Power of Pluto	2
The Future of South Africa	4

RWANDA INDEPENDENCE 1962

1 July 1962 00 am EET, Kigali, Rwanda.
30°E4', 1°S57'. Placidian Cusps.

Nation's misery is going to continue for some years - the MC conjoins Saturn exactly at the end of January 1997 and, to add to the affliction, the Progressed Sun will then be opposing Natal Saturn.

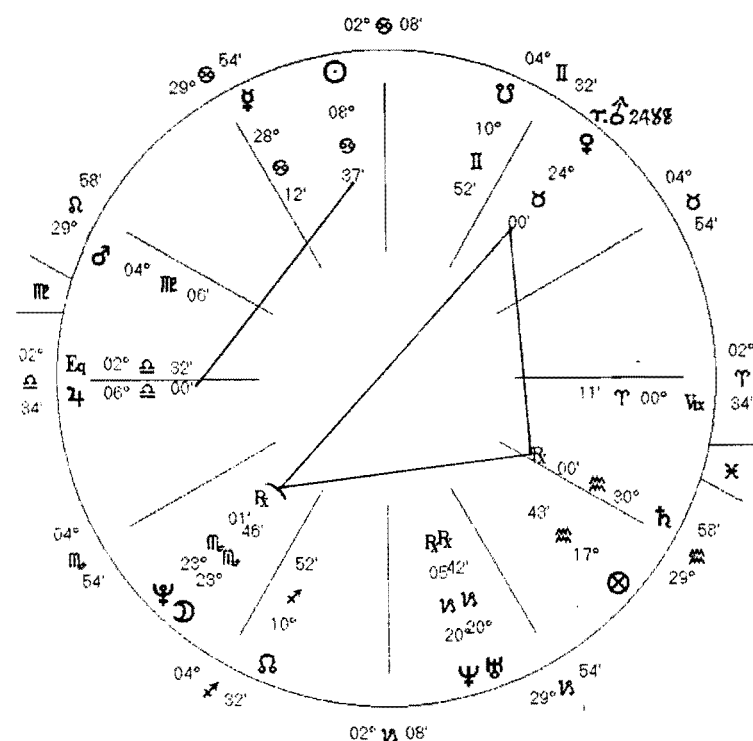

Neptune's dispositor is Pluto, in the House of Illness, opposed by Jupiter and linked to the Ascendant by quincunx aspect (orb $1^{\circ}13'$). The Keywords originally allotted to Pluto were Power and Mass, while Jupiter enlarges things, so the combination of these two bodies spells suffering on a huge scale. It is significant that Pluto, by Naibod-Arc Direction ($59'8''$ a year) came to the exact opposition of the Ascendant at the end of February, shortly before the massacres developed into what is now genocide.

Aries rises in the Rwanda Chart, and Ruler Mars squares Uranus, which is consonant with the rebellion against the Government that has initiated all the butchery.

As was to be expected, the situation is reflected in all the Annual Charts - Harmonic, Solar, Synodic, and in the Solar, Lunar and Synodic Monthly Charts. In the Annual Solar Return (below), the Moon conjoins Pluto, in opposition to Venus and Natal Mars in the SR-Death House, all four bodies being square to SR-Saturn. This graphically depicts destruction of the population, including women and children.

SOLAR RETURN, RWANDA, 30 JUNE 1993
11:35:08 AM EET, Kigali. Placidian Cusps.

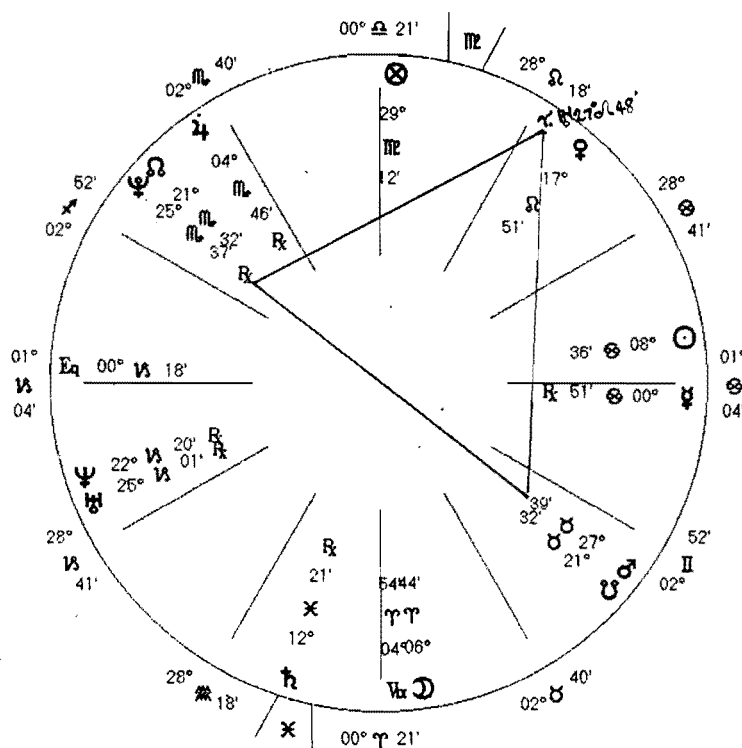

At first glance, Jupiter rising in this Chart seems anomalous, but the square to the Sun in the House of Authority must be related to the insurrection against the Government, a key factor in the whole process.

The Solar Return for the following twelve months, 1 July 1994 - 1 July 1995 (below) is about equally cursed. Pluto opposes Mars, and both are square to Natal Uranus. The rebellion continues with unabated ferocity.

This is borne out by the Progressions and Directions operating during this Solar Year. I notice Sun opposite Saturn (Naibod-Arc Direction), and Sun square Pluto (Secondary Regression) both in July next; Pluto stationary square Uranus in August, as well as the Ascendant opposite Neptune by Naibod

SOLAR RETURN, RWANDA, 30 JUNE 1994
5:27:9 PM EET, Kigali. Placidian Cusps.

Arc. Saturn is stationary opposing Pluto in November. The worst part of the year is apparently the remainder of 1994 when the above malefic combinations occur. There are fewer in 1995, and even some suggesting better conditions - Progressed Ascendant sextile Jupiter in March, with Stationary Jupiter trine Venus, and Regressed Sun parallel Venus in early May - Dymock.

"I noticed your request for comments on Pluto or Pluto/Node, so got together an article solely on Pluto. I do agree that when both of them aspect an important degree in a chart it makes the effects so much more dramatic. Pluto is just one degree past my MC now, and showed up on the 7th Cusp along with the Node in my March Solar Return, so it could point to a relationship, or someone from the past. It's a bit early yet as there is still ten months to go." - Marie Casey.

THE POWER OF PLUTO

by Marie Casey.

One of the frequent factors of transiting Pluto aspecting another natal planet is how it draws one into a group situation. Pluto unites people under a common banner. If, for example, Tr.Pluto makes a major aspect to natal Venus, apart from being involved in a love relationship, one can be drawn into a group of artistic or musical people. If Pluto aspects Mars, then it could be the army, a sports activity, or a group where members may be starting a new project.

In the Chart of a client who had Pluto coming to conjunct Mercury, I mentioned she would probably get some publicity. Subsequently an article about her was published in a daily newspaper. From this point of view she was drawn into the media.

A young person graduated from University when Pluto, 24°45' Scorpio, was within 2° of conjunction with her Natal Jupiter (26°45' Scorpio). By the time Pluto made the exact conjunction she was teaching at the University. Her Natal Jupiter is in the 3rd House, and Saturn in the 9th.

Alan Bond, born on 22 April 1938, has Natal Jupiter 26°54' Aquarius, and Tr.Pluto is squaring it right now. Thus the ongoing court cases he is involved in.

Michael Jackson, born 29 August 1958, has recently had Pluto squaring his Natal Mercury at 25°38' Leo. The accusation of child abuse has been well-publicised (Mercury - the media). A client has Natal Mercury on the same degree of Leo, and after a period of not working he was drawn into a group selling on the phones - he had acquired a job.

When Pluto made a square to Neptune in another Chart, the person had to undergo a series of X-rays (Neptune), and hospital visits for treatment of an illness. After that there was an overseas trip. Neptune relates to boundless space, and often I find Neptune in aspect when people travel by air as well as by sea.

A square aspect at birth with Pluto/Venus 26° Leo in the 2nd House was triggered by Tr.Pluto last December. The person had previously borrowed a substantial amount to go into a business partnership. Then she was unable to continue working in the business because of the lack of a salary, and is now having difficulty getting the money back that was invested - Pluto's "all or nothing" factor affecting the House of Finance.

PLUTO ON THE MC/IC

Pluto conjunct MC seems to often shift people from their normal place of residence. The I.C. (home base) becomes activated as well as the career - the separation and transformation facet of Pluto. A relative sold the family home when Pluto was on the Midheaven, and went into a completely different lifestyle, both in career and living situation. A client actually purchased the house she had been renting for years - the transformation was in her becoming the owner. In another case their property was up for sale as Pluto was nearing the MC. Then, when the aspect became exact a bank agreed to take over the existing loan, making it easier and quicker to pay off the property. Consequently they decided not to sell. Then when Pluto transited the Queen's MC (25° Scorpio) there were the separations of Prince Charles and Prince Andrew, both Princesses leaving the Royal Palace, thus creating a crisis in the family.

When Pluto came to the Ascendant in the Chart of an Indian Guru there was an assassination attempt on his life when he was asleep. After that he was moved to a different location. Bob Hawke resigned as Prime Minister on 18th December 1991 when Pluto was at 21°38' Scorpio. His Natal Ascendant is reckoned to be 24° Scorpio - maybe there needs to be a slight rectification. When he first assumed office as Prime Minister (11:6am Canberra on 11th March 1983) the transiting Ascendant was 22° Taurus, 2° away from the opposition to his Natal Ascendant.

TRANSITS TO PLUTO AT BIRTH

When birth Pluto gets activated it also has a very powerful effect. In one case I mentioned to a client on the phone he could have some people working against him, as Natal Pluto in the 12th was being aspected. He then told me the Directors were trying to oust him from the Board. It reminded me of Marilyn Monroe who had Pluto in the 12th House natively, and obviously had secret enemies (more than one), and for this reason I always felt she never committed suicide.

The quincunx aspect, not often spoken about, had a drastic effect when Tr.Pluto in a client's Chart formed a close quincunx with Natal Venus. Her husband died suddenly in his late 50's. The quincunx seems to range from a reconciliation or resolution of the matter to an ending, and does show up in many deaths.

SOLAR-RETURN PLUTO

In a Solar-Return Chart Pluto was elevated, very close to the MC, and the business partnership broke up, so the woman concerned then operated the business on her own. The career (10th House) took a different turn and the shop was transformed, giving it a completely different atmosphere. In another Solar Return Pluto was in the 4th House, close to the I.C., suggesting a transformation in the home. Then, when Tr.Pluto made a square aspect to Natal Jupiter, some months after the Return, she sold the unit and purchased a house. Jupiter figured in the legal affairs associated with buying and selling properties and the expansion of the home.

The article by Dymock Brose in the recent issue of the Astrologers' Forum was very informative re the transiting Node in line with Tr.Pluto. The Node being very karmic in itself, when strongly activated can bring someone back into the life who had been met before, or a new relationship can be formed. In a female Chart, Tr.Pluto and the Node made a conjunction with the subject's Natal Mars in her Solar Return Chart this year, and a new relationship began. Yet in another female Chart when Pluto alone conjoined Mars her long-term relationship ended.

THE FUTURE OF SOUTH AFRICA

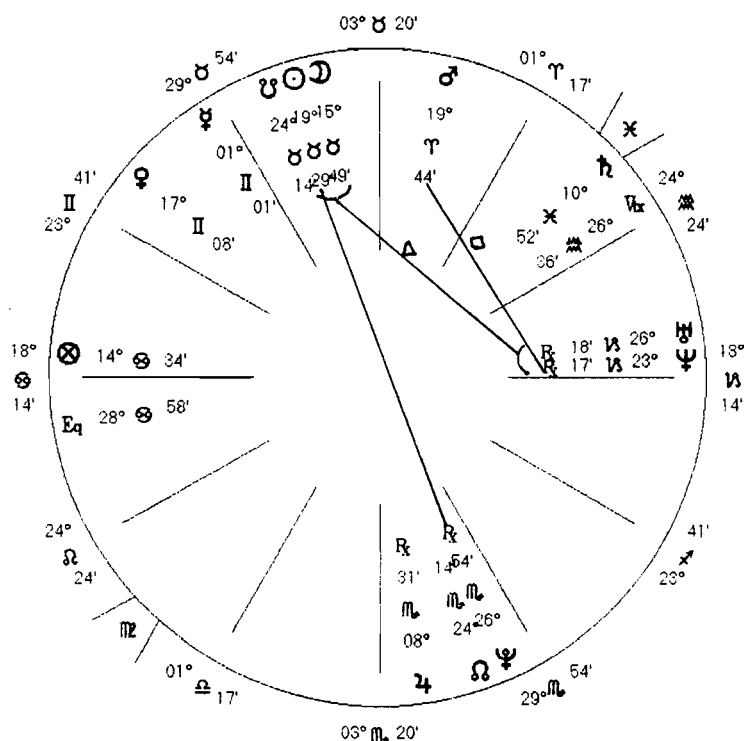

by Allan Johnson.

This is a follow-up from my last article in the March issue, giving a prediction of the general outcome of the South African Election, as it would affect the country as a whole. A lot of dire predictions had been made by a lot of commentators. But according to the news headlines the result was a "miracle" of compromise - which was exactly what I predicted, though I didn't use the word "miracle". But it shows what a lot of people were expecting. All this does tend to prove that the Charts I was using were pretty valid. But that article was referring to the immediate aftermath of the Elections. What of the long-term future?

The Chart for the inauguration of the new regime should supply us with a few answers. But of course this doesn't mean that the earlier Charts I used can now be automatically discarded. They can't. In previous articles I have shown that the charts of personalities dead for quite long periods can still correlate with current events, and this applies to countries as well. But certainly a chart for the completely new regime, and a revolutionary one too, can have a lot going for it. So this is the Chart for the inauguration of the New President, Nelson Mandela, 11am at Pretoria, 10 May 1994.

One interesting point worth noting in this Chart is the Mars square Neptune aspect. This is a repeat of what I noted in the first two Charts, Mars-Neptune: The linking of strong religious visions with overtones of violence. In this new Chart Mars is actually in the 9th House - religion. The original Apartheid programme had strong links with Calvinism, and now black liberation has become very much a religion to millions in South Africa. But this is not really an adverse Chart, with Sun and Moon in Taurus in the Midheaven, making the trine to the Uranus/Neptune conjunction in the 7th. This gives the Regime a lot of basic stability despite the mix of races - a stubbornness to endure. But at the same time we are getting Mars in square to the same conjunction. This gives the other side of the picture. Violence will continue in South Africa, but it is hard to see in this anything like the scene in Bosnia. The Sun is also in wide opposition to Pluto in Scorpio, marking a regeneration process very much in line with what has been happening in Russia and Eastern Europe.

SOUTH AFRICAN INAUGURATION
10 May 1994, Pretoria, 11am. 25°45'S, 28°10'E.
Placidian Cusps.

One highly favourable pattern in the Chart is the close Saturn-Jupiter trine. I always regard this as a particularly fortunate aspect, very much in line with the Sun trine Jupiter aspects in the other two Charts. So the luck continues. In this Chart Saturn links with the 8th and 1st Houses. This is very good news for the South African economy. It suggests that the industrial structure will not suffer too much disruption from the changeover, but of course no one is likely to underrate the immense problems that lie ahead. But there is ground for a lot of hope. Finally, the three Charts I have so far looked at don't seem to confirm a lot of the dire predictions made in some quarters.

My kind regards to all.

- Dymock,
23 May 1994.

Astrologers' Forum

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785. Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25.

Issue 153 April 1994

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

THE PLUTO-NODE CONJUNCTION

The conjunction of Pluto with the Moon's Node has appeared in everybody's horoscope during the last couple of months. Allowing a 3° orb, Pluto and the Mean Node are conjoined from mid-January to near the end of May this year. The exact conjunction occurred on 26th February. The conjunction with the "True" Node occurred on 22nd February and, with the same 3° orb, the conjunction with this Node extends from the end of January to the first ten days of July. There is no sudden cut-off, of course, and the effects will be felt with greater or less power according to the placement of the two Significators in the particular horoscope under consideration. One or both of them on an Angle or a Placidian Cusp is always important, and sometimes dominates the whole chart. This can occur in the Birth Chart, the Progressed Chart or the Cyclic Charts (Solar Return, Solar-Month, Lunar Return, Lunar Week, Synodic Return, Age-Harmonic).

I have observed that there are two major significations of the Moon's Node. In the first place it signifies associations, personal links, close contacts. For instance, the Node conjunct Venus is a love link or tie of affection; conjunct the Moon, association with women or the public, or a close link with the mother; conjunct Mars, passion, sexual union.

Secondly, the Node emphasizes the planet or point with which it makes contact, bringing into the native's life, feelings and circumstances of the nature of the body contacted. The Node conjunct the Sun emphasizes a person's capacity to "shine" and succeed; conjunct the Moon, emotional reactions, sensitivity, waywardness; conjunct Mercury, intellectual faculties, curiosity, activity and movement.

Pluto alone on one of the Angles is frequently encountered in Age-Harmonic and Solar-Return Charts. Its effect is powerful, even without the combination of the Node. When the two are together, the results are often dramatic. I have put together my findings so far, and suggest that other readers might like to add their own experi-

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
The Pluto-Node Conjunction	1
Horary Questions - a new job; a job offer; changing work; health and partnership; a lost romance	2 4

ence of either Pluto or Pluto-conjunct-the-Node, in order to enlarge our understanding of the planet or combination.

Pluto or Pluto-Node on the Ascendant:

Pluto on the Ascendant in a Cyclic or Progressed Chart portends a change in the pattern of living, as well as a change of environment - new surroundings. This is a time of self-discovery when the native may be surprised at the hitherto dormant capacities and abilities that now come to light. He/she will experience a new or enhanced feeling of power and personal effectiveness. It is a very appropriate time for a major overhaul and re-organization of the life and activities. The native will be much inclined to introspection, and should take advantage of this inward-looking to see what should now be eliminated from the life, no matter how useful the particular things or activities have been in the past. They can be let go in the confident assurance that better things will take their place. This accords with evolutionary progress.

People from the past may impinge on the life, particularly so if the Node is also with Pluto. The contact may be only brief, but it gives the opportunity, from a more mature standpoint, to revise old modes of feeling and thinking which are now seen to be inappropriate.

The personal problems that can arise when Pluto conjuncts the Ascendant may be of such a nature that the native needs to seek help from a psychological therapist.

Pluto or Pluto-Node conjunct the Midheaven:

Pluto at the Midheaven puts a powerful emphasis on career, work, vocation and status. Strength and leadership qualities come to the fore, and the urge for personal recognition and acknowledgement of one's abilities is strong. The native acquires more definite ideas concerning ambitions and purpose and what is wanted in life. New goals are formed, and are pursued with intensity. Pluto brings a new outlook on the world, and may spark off a professional crisis that induces fundamental change. Business life culminates in re-structuring and development, possibly involving technological advance. Sometimes it is a struggle to resuscitate a business that was dying. Pluto at the Midheaven marks a turning point in career, opening a new phase of concentrated effort.

If Pluto is afflicted there is a danger of a radical reversal in the native's fortunes, dictating the need to wipe off losses and start again with whatever meagre resources are available.

Pluto or Pluto-Node conjunct the Descendant

Pluto on the Descendant of the chart puts a focus on relationships with other people in general, but more particularly on those of a committed, intimate, one-to-one nature. With either a personal tie or a business partnership, a critical period is reached when previously undisclosed resentments and irritations will come to light. The inter-personal difficulties that arise will have to be resolved, and the parties reconciled to one another, if the association is to have a viable future.

People known in the past are attracted back into the native's life, if only briefly, and perhaps a clearer understanding emerges or some painful episode from the early history re-surfaces. In the latter event it can now be dealt with from a more mature standpoint and the pain from the memories can be purged from the consciousness.

One could also be involved in the difficulties of other people, and perhaps be instrumental in achieving a solution for them. The possibility with either oneself or others is that some matter or issue from the past will be resolved through clarification of the problem and a deeper insight than was had before.

There is also the probability that if the relationship is not well-founded, that is not based on mutual affection, regard, community of interests, etc., it will disintegrate under the strain of the difficulties that emerge.

If Pluto is conjoined by the Moon's Node there is the strong possibility of a meeting with someone who makes a great impression, stirs up sexual feeling and precipitates emotional turmoil. This makes one aware of ungratified desires and focusses on the need for fulfilment of the love-nature. In this case the life could be transformed suddenly through an all-consuming emotional and sexual relationship.

If Pluto is afflicted, one should beware of vindictive enemies, power struggles and the possibility of hostile court-action.

Pluto or Pluto-Node conjunct the I.C.:

With Pluto on the 4th Cusp domestic issues and family matters come to the fore. It may be a time for a "showdown" with parents or partner. Fears, worries and hurts from the early years now impinge on the consciousness and may greatly disturb one's equilibrium, even producing emotional chaos. If the disturbance is too much to handle on one's own it is time to seek help from an experienced counsellor.

At its strongest, the Plutonian energies will bring about disintegration of a household, but if so the situation was not really good, however well it appeared from the outside, and Pluto can do away with destructive circumstances that were not benefiting anybody.

A further result from this position of Pluto is the likelihood of retrenchment from a job, a professional crisis involving loss of position, or the collapse of a business. In this event one must accept that it is time for a radical change in one's worldly activities, and take the opportunity to develop in an entirely different direction.

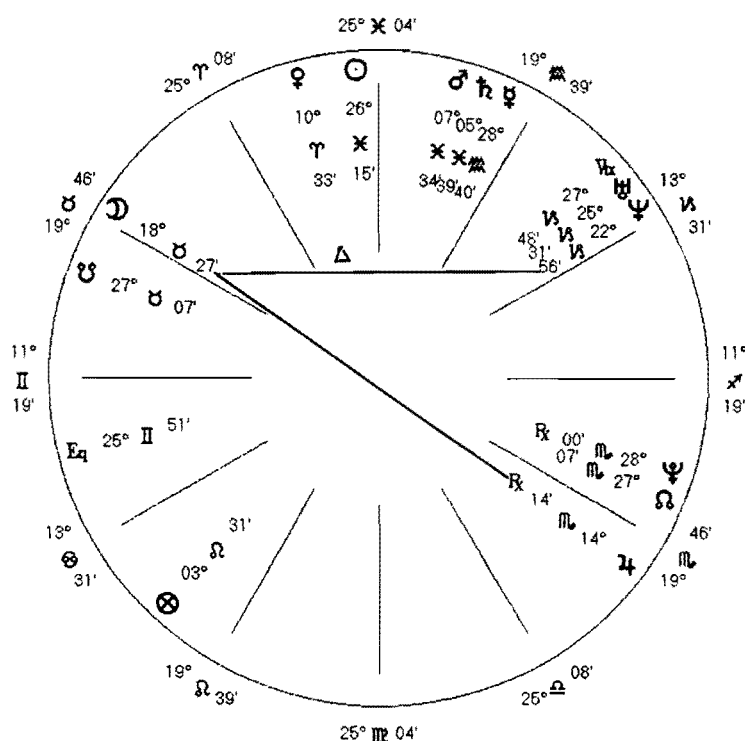

As mentioned earlier, readers are asked to write to me and add their own experience to the above. If any communications are not intended for publication please mark them accordingly.

- Dymock.

Horary Question: Should I accept the new position being offered to me? (Chart below.)

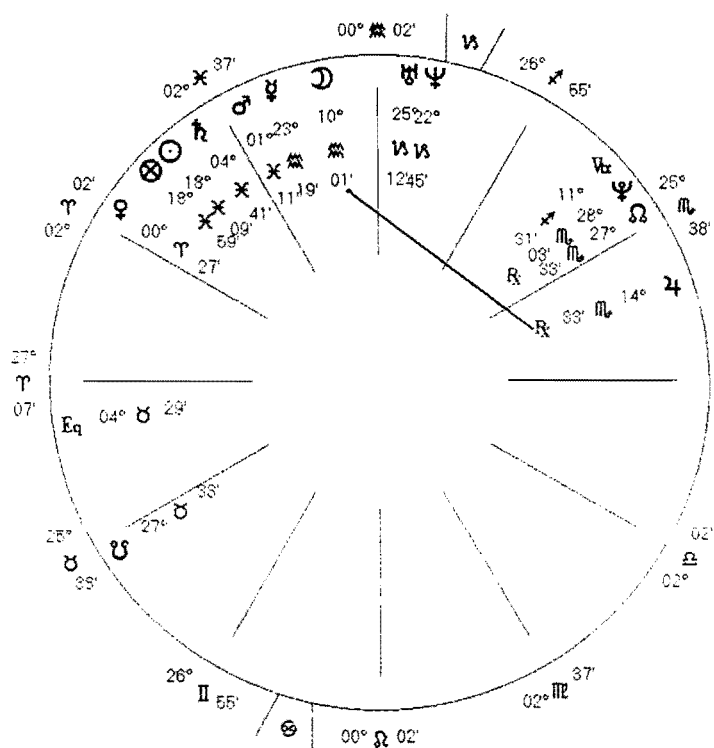

The Querent was already working for the large organization in the finance industry that now offered her a new position. She had recently separated from her husband. Two interesting factors confirm the "Radicality" of the Chart: The Moon, representing the Querent is in the Sign Taurus (finances), and is leaving the opposition of Jupiter ruling the 7th House (her husband). This depicts her recent marital separation.

The Moon then applies to the trine of Neptune in Capricorn (business) ruling the 10th House (occupation, career). This alone is sufficient to answer the question in the affirmative, but additionally the Sun and Venus exert their benefic influence in the Career House, showing that acceptance of the job would not only be a marked advance but also a source of pleasure. The Moon is coming to a sextile of the Sun ruling the House of short trips. Acceptance of the job would involve the querent in extra travelling.

Horary Question: Should I accept the job in a coffee-shop?

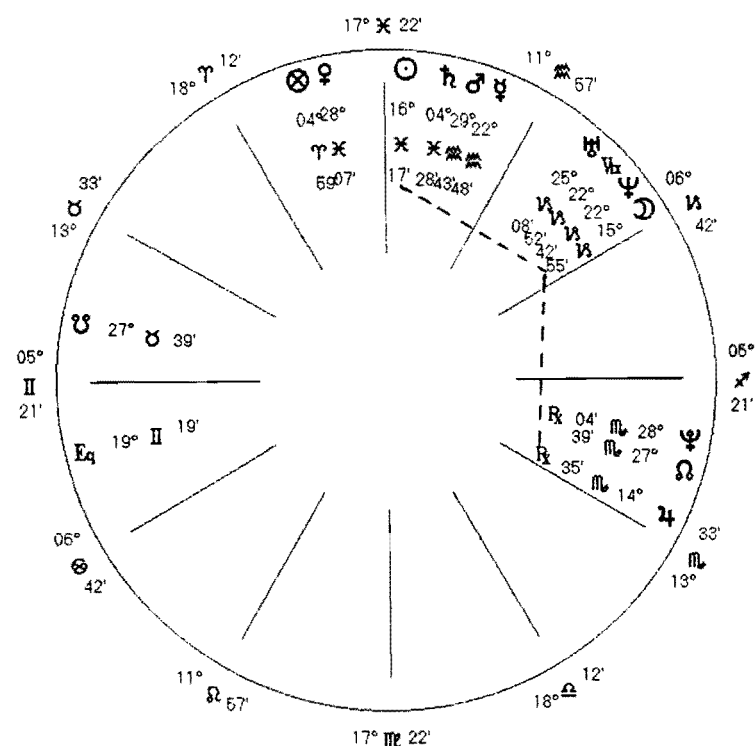

An interesting point here is that the Ascendant is (just) into the last three degrees of a Sign, invoking one of the so-called "strictures against judgement". The last three degrees rising implies that the question is already decided, and nothing the Querent does about it will be effective.

In the present case the Querent applied for the job and actually did a trial day's work, but later the position became unavailable as the incumbent employee decided not to leave. The Moon, the Querent's Significator, occupies the Sign Aquarius, which is her Natal Sun-Sign, and is in the House of Occupation and Career, which is appropriate, but the square to Jupiter suggests she is out of luck so far as this particular job is concerned.

Horary Question: Should I leave my present library job to work in art?

Gemini rises (appropriate for a librarian) and its Ruler, Mercury, is in the 9th House (libraries), so the Chart is "Radical". The fact that Mercury is associated with Mars and Saturn is an intimation that the Querent finds the job onerous and would like to change. However, it is not yet the right time: The 5th House is the House of artistic productivity. With Libra on the Cusp, its Ruler is Venus, here exalted in Pisces in the 10th, and the Moon is applying (by 12°12') to a sextile of Venus. This indicates that the Querent will obtain her opportunity later. Her present employment is signified by the 6th House, holding Jupiter. The Moon (the Querent's chief Significator) is leaving the sextile of Jupiter and applying to the sextile of the Sun, thereby transferring the "light", or influence, of Jupiter to the Sun, a healthy indication that her present employment is O.K. - and remunerative (the Moon being the ruler of the income House).

Horary Question: (1) What are my prospects regarding health? (2) Shall I be separating from my wife?

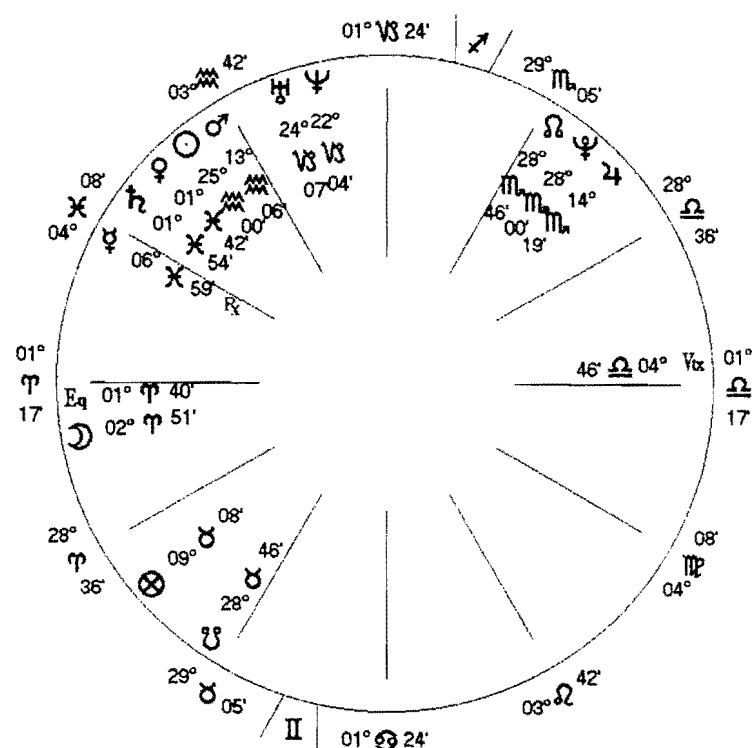

The Querent's Significators are the Moon and Mercury, Ruler of the Ascendant. Both are in Pisces, which reflects his Natal conjunction of the Sun and Neptune. His wife is born in Scorpio, and it is appropriate here that her Significator, Jupiter, Ruler of the 7th House occupies Scorpio. This is sufficient to establish that the Chart is "Radical".

Bodily health and well-being are related to the 1st House, illness and healing to the 6th. The Ruler of the 1st, Mercury, is in Pisces, its Detriment, and is conjunct the Moon and Saturn. This indicates nervous stress and emotional agitation affecting the body. However both Mercury and the Moon are leaving Saturn and applying to Jupiter, which means that improvement will occur. The improvement will be progressive over a period of three months (the Moon in a Mutable Sign and Cadent House and within 3° of the perfect trine). There is no indication that hospital treatment will be needed as the 12th House is not involved. Pluto and the Node conjoined in the 6th House in Scorpio suggests that therapy of a psychological or occult nature would result in a healing through emotional catharsis. (This subsequently occurred.)

The second question is answered by the relation of the Moon and Mercury to Jupiter, Significator of the Querent's wife. This is an applying trine, showing a separation will not come about. On the contrary, the marital situation will improve. It can be seen that the wife's health is under greater stress than that of the Querent as Mars afflicts her Significator by an applying square, and Mars rules her derived 12th House (Radical 6th).

Horary Question: Should I try to join Mr. X in Lima with a view to continuing our relationship?

The Querent had recently been involved in a brief romance with a Peruvian national who had now returned to his native country. Such were her feelings towards him that she wanted to follow him there with the idea of establishing a permanent relationship.

Less than 3° of Aries on the Ascendant invokes a "stricture against judgement". The question is premature, not properly thought out, and further developments should be awaited.

As it is, the Chart gives a negative answer: The Querent's Significators are the Moon and Mars, Ruler of the Ascendant. Mars occupies the Sign Aquarius, the Querent's Natal Moon Sign, and is in the Derived 5th House of the man - his love affairs. The man is represented by Venus, ruling the 7th House, in the Sign Pisces.

To start with, there is no connection between Mars and Venus. In fact Venus is moving further away from Mars. Venus is also moving away from the Sun, ruling the Querent's 5th House (Love Affairs), depicting the romance that is now over. The Moon rising will not contact Venus during its progress through Aries, so there is no prospect of an early resumption of the relationship.

A further interesting indication of past happenings is the Moon separating from the trine of Pluto and the Node on the 9th Cusp, indicative of a foreign national. The relationship was good, but is now over.

- Dymock,
16th April 1994.

Astrologers' Forum

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785.

Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25.

Issue 152 March 1994

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

SPOTLIGHT ON SOUTH AFRICA

by Allan Johnson.

South Africa is very much in the news just now due to the historic Election coming up on 27th April next. South Africa has always been a dangerous racial mix of black and white, and in addition there are the big splits in the black population itself. This is between the Zulus on the one hand and those represented by the African National Congress (A.N.C.) on the other. So it has to be a very volatile situation in which to hold a general election for all races. There have been predictions of massive violence and South Africa becoming a No.1 trouble spot. It has all the elements of another Bosnia - but will this be the result?

The Chart for South Africa should throw some light on the situation. But here we have a few problems - which Chart? Nicholas Campion in The Book of World Horoscopes gives a number of Charts, from the original 1852, then 1880, 1910, 1961 and 1984. On top of that we also have the question of the time of Proclamations as distinct from the customary zero-hours when constitutions come into force. The 1910 Chart has a lot of validity as it is the date when South Africa ceased to be a colony and established the Union of South Africa as a self-governing National State. Nicholas Campion favours the noon time when the Governor-General and his ministers took the oath. So I will use this Chart.

One interesting feature of this Chart is the Mars/Neptune conjunction, linking up to a wide opposition to Uranus. This could mean certain eccentricities of government, taking a very independent line, which could meet with a lot of criticism outside. This could well correlate with the adoption of the policy of Apartheid, which had the support of the Dutch Church. What is highly significant is that the position of Uranus is 24°51' Capricorn, and Uranus will be very close to that position by Transit at the time of the Election; and Neptune will be, also. This marks the full cycle of 84 years of white rulership, which will end in April this year. In the Natal Chart Pluto is quincunx Uranus.

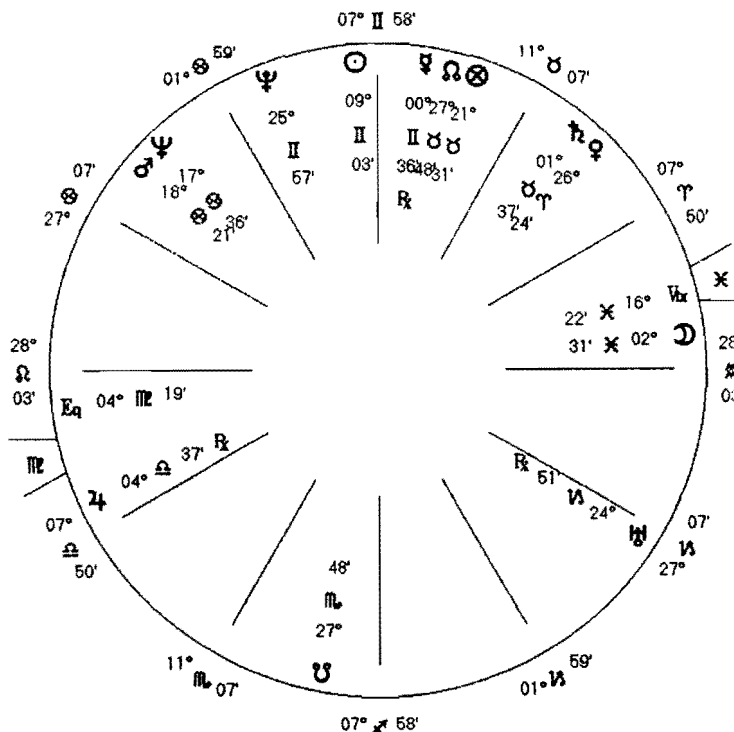

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
Spotlight on South Africa	1
Sydney Declared A City, 1842	2
Horary Question - a Group Practice	4

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA, 1910

May 31, 1910, 12pm EET, 10am UT.

Pretoria, 25°45'S, 28°10'E. Placidian Cusps.

Both Pluto and the quincunx are related to endings and new beginnings. This certainly emphasizes this Chart's validity. Another interesting point is that the Sun in Gemini is trine Jupiter. Gemini is the Sign for compromise as distinct from the Leo Ascendant. Sun trine Jupiter does help to pull off such a compromise.

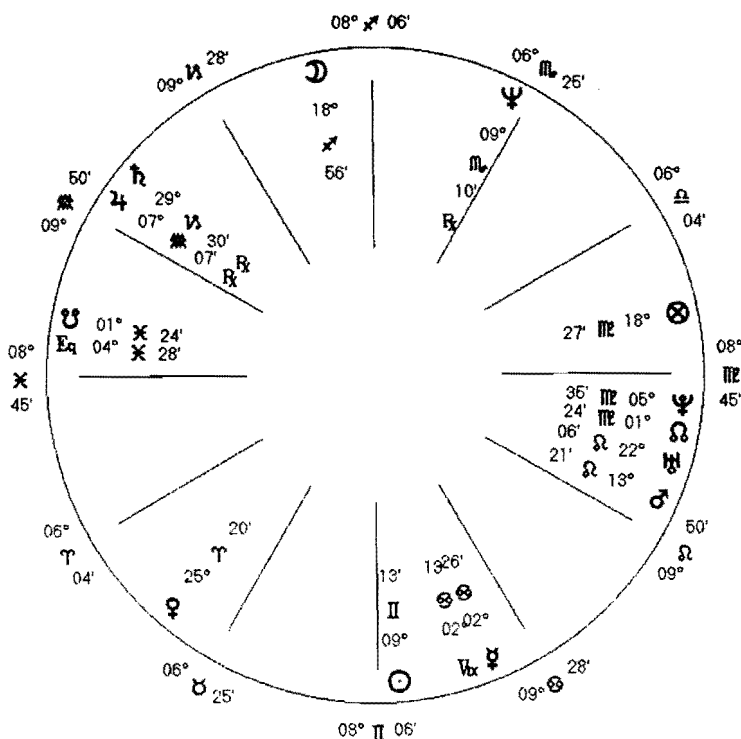

At the time of the Election Transiting Saturn will exactly square Natal Sun, which is appropriate for what is happening. And Pluto will make the quincunx to its own position. All this is very relevant. On the other hand the Progressed Sun is moving to trine Natal Saturn, having been conjunct the Natal Ascendant. Putting all this together, I don't see the coming Election period as all that disruptive. An element of good sense could prevail. The warring racial factions could see the virtue of an uneasy compromise instead of a bloody confrontation.

It is now worth looking at a second Chart, the one for the formation of the Republic and the separation from the British Commonwealth. That is for 31st May 1961. With the formation of the Republic, South Africa announced to the world its determination to adhere strongly to its policy of Apartheid. This was its reason for being totally independent. So this is very relevant for what is happening now. The selection of the 31st of May was obviously based on the anniversary of the 1910 Union. The zero-hour seems the most reliable in this case.

REPUBLIC OF SOUTH AFRICA, 1961

May 31, 1961, 00.00am EET. UT 22h, May 30.
Pretoria, 25°45'S, 28°10'E. Placidian Cusps.

The first thing to note with this Chart is that the Natal Sun is again in trine to Jupiter, which emphasizes the element of luck, which will be needed in such a tricky situation. But in addition to this the Natal Moon is in the 10th House, making a Grand Trine with Venus and Uranus. This has some parallel with the East German Chart, Which I mentioned in an earlier article as being a strong contributing factor in being let down lightly in its final hours. The same thing could apply here. Especially significant in the 1961 Chart is the T-square involving Jupiter, Neptune and Mars. Note once again the strong link between Neptune and Mars, which I have linked with the tough political policy of Apartheid, and having strong religious connotations. This is reinforced by Natal Sun square Pluto - high-lighting the obsessional nature of the whole set-up.

But the important point here in relation to the coming Election is that neither the T-square nor the Sun-Pluto square are being activated by major Transits, now or in the immediate future. Also there are no major adverse Progressions to add any complications. All this suggests that the Election and the aftermath should not result in violent upheavals. But looking ahead into the future, 1997/98 is a more dangerous period, Uranus activating the T-square and Pluto squaring its own Natal position at the same time.

SYDNEY DECLARED A CITY

by Marie Casey

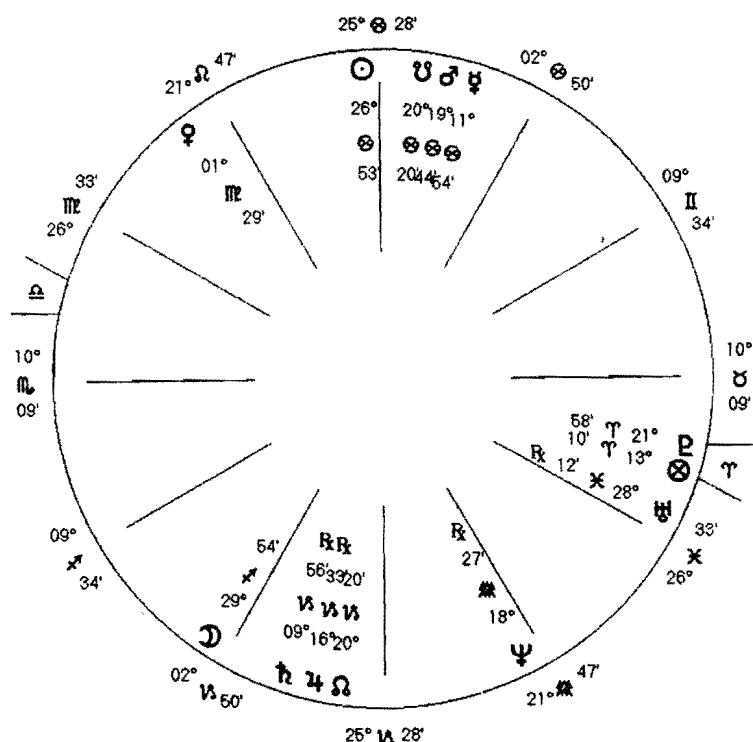

The charts of nations have always been of great interest but rarely does one see an exact chart of a town or city. It would stand to reason that the individual chart of a city should give a more precise picture of events and greater reliability of Transits. Fortunately, Sydney does have a date to go on when it was declared a City. According to records from the library, there was an Act of Parliament passed to declare Sydney a City on 20th July 1842. The Council met at 12 o'clock and adjourned at 4 o'clock. On that day the Municipal Council of Sydney was incorporated by an Act to declare the Town of Sydney to be a City. I set the Chart for noon at the beginning of the meeting, in preference to when it ended. Recently I have been making more enquiries for a detailed account of the meeting. Nevertheless the date is definite, and the planetary degrees should give some important findings.

Beginning from 1900, Transits are as follows:

1900, January 19: The first case of the Bubonic Plague was detected in Sydney, and 103 people died over the following seven months, which began a 10-year epidemic. In addition, tens of thousands of rats were destroyed as they carried the infection. T.Saturn 29°44' Sagittarius conjunct the Moon. From this alone one would give some credence to the noon position of the Natal Moon, the Moon relating to the affairs of the public. T.Mars 27° Capricorn, and T.Sun 28° Capricorn oppose the Natal Sun and MC. Also in January 1900 the 2nd Contingents left Australia for the Boer War in South Africa, another Saturnian effect.

NATAL CHART FOR SYDNEY DECLARED A CITY

20 July 1842. LMT noon Sydney. GMT 1:55am.
33°55'S, 151°10'E. Placidian Cusps.

1901, January 1, 1pm: Commonwealth of Australia. MC 24°23'Capricorn, Ascendant 22°8'Aries.
T.Sun 10°1'Capricorn conjunct Saturn opposite Mercury.
T.Moon 20°7'Taurus trine North Node sextile Mars.
T.Mercury 27°54'Sagittarius within 2° of Natal Moon.
T.Mars 11°39'Virgo sextile Mercury.
T.Neptune 27°31'Gemini opposite the Moon.
T.MC 24°Capricorn opposite MC and Sun.
T.Ascendant 22°Aries conjunct Pluto.

The above Transits certainly activated the Sydney Chart, particularly the T.MC being an inversion of the other.

1932, March 19: The Sydney Harbour Bridge opened.

T.Sun 28°11'Pisces conjunct Uranus.
T.Venus 11°19'Taurus opposite Ascendant.
T.Mars 18°Pisces trine Mars.
T.Uranus 18°7'Aries sextile Neptune.
T.Pluto 20°Cancer conjunct South Node.

Pluto being the planet of transformation takes the dominant role in the Transits. It really was a transformation for Sydney when the Bridge opened.

1961, October 31: Radio Telescope at Parkes. After four years of planning and two years of construction, the 210-foot Radio Telescope at Parkes was commissioned. It was one of the two largest telescopes in the world.

T.Mercury 22°21'Libra opposite Pluto.
T.Mars 20°7'Scorpio sextile North Node.
T.Saturn 24°8'Capricorn conjunct IC. within 1°.
T.Uranus 20°56'Leo trine the Moon.
T.Neptune 10°54'Scorpio conjunct Ascendant.
T.Pluto 9°39'Virgo trine Saturn.

The Saturn aspects relate to the scientific facet and the years of construction. Neptune on the Ascendant would relate to the vision realized.

1973, October 20: Sydney Opera House officially opened by Queen Elizabeth.

T.Sun 26°Libra square Sun and MC.
T.Mercury 20°Scorpio sextile North Node, trine Mars.
T.North Node 1°Capricorn conjunct the Moon.

Note: The Midpoint Moon/Saturn in Sydney's Chart is 4°55'Capricorn. T.Saturn on the day was 4°44'Cancer opposite the Midpoint, and T.Pluto 5°Libra squares the Midpoint - Pluto again in strong aspect to do with massive undertakings.

1977, January 18: Granville Bridge Collapse.

The train left the rails and knocked down pylons supporting the Bridge. Eighty people were crushed to death and eighty three injured.

T.Sun 27°Capricorn opposite Sun.
T.Mars 12°47'Capricorn conjunct Saturn/Jupiter Midpoint, opposite Mercury.
T.Uranus 11°26'Scorpio 1° past the Ascendant.

Mars, the accident planet, well-activated. Uranus on the Ascendant would relate to the upheaval. This prompted me to see what happened in 1938 when T.Uranus conjoined the Descendant. On February 26 three freak waves in succession swept thousands of surfers out to sea off Sydney's Bondi Beach. Two hundred people were rescued, and five people lost - the sudden shock and upheaval effects of Uranus.

1985, March 31: Anti-Nuclear Rallies. Over 300,000 people were involved in marches around Australia. The biggest rally was in Sydney, bringing the City to a standstill.
T.Sun 10°13'Aries square Saturn.
T.Mercury & Venus 16°Aries square Jupiter.
T.Mars 11°Taurus conjunct Descendant and sextile Mercury.

T.Saturn, 27°Scorpio, forms a Grand Trine with Natal Uranus and the Sun.
T.Uranus 17°57'Sagittarius sextile Neptune.

The radical action taken refers to Uranus, and the visions of the people to Neptune.

1988, January 26: Australia's Bi-Centennial Birthday.

T.North Node 24°23' Pisces trine MC.
T.Jupiter 22°35' Aries conjunct Pluto.
T.Uranus 29°4' Sagittarius conjunct the Moon.
T.Pluto 12° Scorpio trine Mercury and just past the Ascendant.

Pluto would have to be accounted for in such a massive celebration all over Australia. Its conjunction by Jupiter refers to the grand and jubilant occasion. Pluto trine to Mercury would relate to the massive media coverage. After retrograding, T.Pluto came to the Ascendant, and on 2nd September 1988 - Pluto 10°17' Scorpio - there were ceremonies for the opening of the new $15-million all-Australian telescope at Culgoora near Narrabri, rated to be one of the best in the world, and which will keep Australia in the forefront of Radio Astronomy Research - Pluto again in a massive undertaking; and it also refers to research.

1993, September 24: Sydney wins Olympic Bid.

T.Sun 0°44' Libra square Moon, trine Uranus.
T.Moon 12°8' Capricorn (at 4:27am Sydney, when the winning envelope was opened) opposite Mercury, sextile Ascendant.
T.Mercury 19°34' Libra, & T.Jupiter 19°44' Libra, trine Neptune, square Mars.
T.Venus 2°39' Virgo conjunct Venus.
T.Mars 27°46' Libra sextile Moon, quincunx Uranus.
T.Neptune 18°23' Capricorn, and Uranus 18°14' Capricorn, conjunct the Midpoint Jupiter/Node (18°27' Capricorn).

The last-named Transit is particularly significant as Neptune in the Radix is on the 5th Cusp (The Games), and the combination Jupiter, Neptune, Node is expressive of the Australian euphoria that greeted the announcement of the win.

1994, January 5-12: Bush fires - the worst in N.S.W.'s history. Sydney suburbs ablaze.

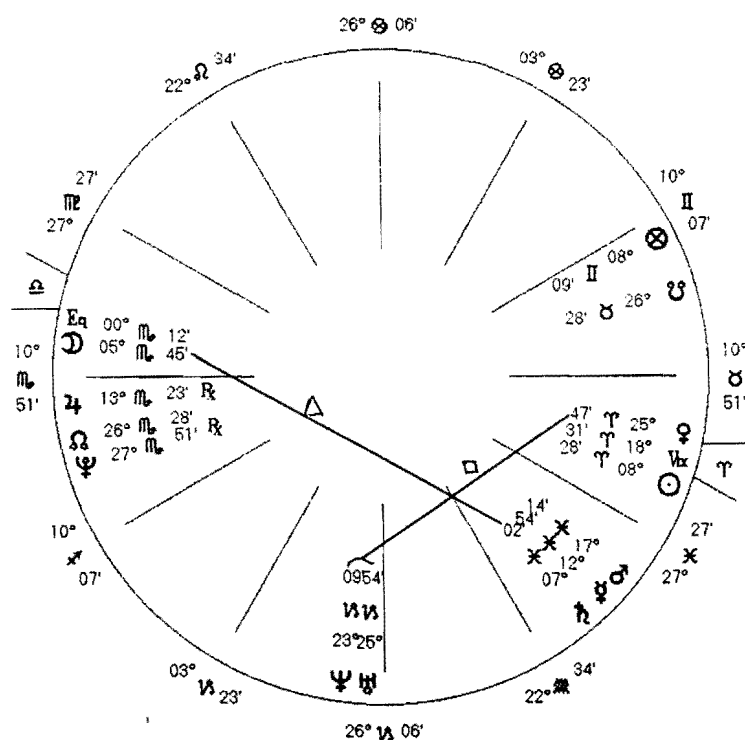

Sun, Mercury, Venus and Mars were all transiting between Saturn and Jupiter in Capricorn.

T.Jupiter 10°38' Scorpio conjunct Ascendant. Jupiter helps to spread and promote things.
T.Uranus 21° Capricorn square Pluto - the unexpected disaster (Uranus) and massive outbreaks of fire (Pluto).

With Uranus and Neptune still hovering around the I.C. this year and next year, there could well be the unexpected or another disaster, as the I.C. when triggered off with such slow-moving planets can create havoc. Neptune still has to conjunct the North Node again in August, September and October this year. As Neptune relates to the navy, sea and ships, it could have relevance to the differing opinions whether to move the Navy from Garden Island in Sydney to White Bay. There has been opposition from the National Trust, etc. Prime Minister Paul Keating said a move would not be stopped by conservationists who tried to preserve the shed and marshall yards of Darling Harbour, and he warned Independants in NSW Parliament they would not be able to prevent the move on Heritage grounds because the land was Commonwealth-owned. Then the Defence Minister opposed Paul Keating's plan. The outcome of this is dependent on the later Transits of Uranus on the I.C. and Neptune conjunct the North Node. The Fourth House not only relates to National Housing, it is linked with the "home or base" of certain Government Departments.

Horary Question: Is it advisable for me to join with four other homoeopaths in a medical practice?

The five practitioners would in effect be partners, signified by the 7th House. Venus ruling the 7th is in Detriment in Aries, and squared by Uranus and Neptune. This indicates a discordant group which would soon break up. The Querent's Significator, the Moon, rules her 10th House (profession), and being trine to Saturn, shows she is better off operating solo.

- Dymock.

My kind regards to all.

8th April 1994.

Astrologers' Forum

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785.
Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25.

Issue 151 February 1994

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

Marie Casey takes up the discussion on the times of certain Royal Births:

H.R.H. QUEEN ELIZABETH II AND ROYAL FAMILY by Marie Casey (NSW).

It was a bit disconcerting, to say the least, that the official time of the Queen's Birth has met with some disagreement as mentioned in the July/August Issue of The Astrologers' Forum. I have taken quite an interest in the Charts of the Royal Family for some time and would like to make some comments.

Edward Lyndoe, who was a well-known English astrologer and astrological adviser to The People Newspaper (London) wrote various books on Astrology. It was from one of his books I found the birth data of the Monarchs of England, and began doing some research on the Royal Family.

Below are aspects to the Angles of the official Natal Chart of H.R.H. Queen Elizabeth II, born 1:40am GMT, 21st April, 1926, with 25°37' Scorpio Midheaven and 025' Capricorn Ascendant. MC/ASC Midpoint 23°31' Sagittarius.

King George V, grandfather of the Queen, has Jupiter 25°39' Sagittarius, and Saturn 24°24' Libra, both semi-sextile the Queen's Midheaven. This puts the Queen's MC at the midpoint of those two planets.

King George VI, father of the Queen, has his Natal Moon 24°51' Scorpio, conjunct her Midheaven, and his Uranus on 22°8' Scorpio is sextile her Ascendant as well. His Sun at 21°55' Sagittarius makes a semi-sextile to the Queen's Ascendant. On the day of his Accession to the Throne (when Elizabeth was 10 years old) on 11th December 1936 at 1:52pm, the Moon was 22°55' Scorpio sextile the Queen's Ascendant and approaching her Midheaven.

The Queen's Mother, born 4th August 1900, (Chart in September/October Issue of Astrologers' Forum) has her Natal Moon 20°19' Scorpio in close sextile to the Queen's Ascendant.

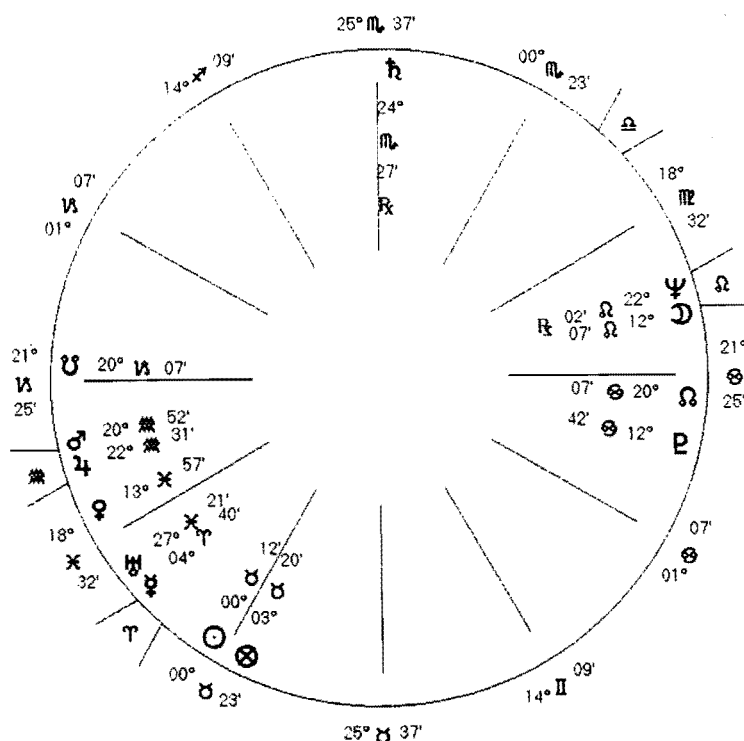

At the accession to the Throne of Edward VIII, uncle of the Queen, on 20th January 1936, 11:55pm, the MC was 25°49' Cancer, and

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
Queen Elizabeth II: Validating the Official Birth Time	1
The State of California: Validating the Chart by historical events	3

QUEEN ELIZABETH II

21st April 1926, 2:40am Summer Time (1 hour).
GMT 1:40am. 17 Bruton Street, London.
0°6'W, 51°32'N. Placidian Cusps.

Pluto 26°13' Cancer, both trine the Queen's MC.

The Natal Chart for the Duchess of Windsor (Wallis Simpson), born 19th June 1896, has Mars 21°5' Aries square to the Queen's Ascendant, and her Midheaven at 20°7' Capricorn conjuncts it. Wallis's North Node at 27°30' Aquarius squares the Queen's Midheaven. These were very strong aspects for the problems caused by Wallis Simpson in the Royal Family.

Prince Margaret, sister of the Queen, born 21st August 1930, has Natal Mercury at 24°

Capricorn sextile the Queen's Midheaven, and her Sun at 25° Leo squaring the Midheaven.

Prince Charles's Natal Sun, 22°26' Scorpio, is again closely conjunct the Queen's Midheaven, and sextiles her Ascendant, and his Mars at 20°57' Sagittarius makes a semi-sextile to her Ascendant, and is again close to the MC/ASC midpoint.

Princess Diana's Natal Moon at 25°2' Aquarius squares the Queen's Midheaven, her Natal Uranus at 23°20' Leo also closely squares it. These squares signify the problems the Queen has had with the separation of Charles and Diana.

At the marriage of Prince Charles and Diana on 29th July 1981, Pluto at 21°46' Libra squared the Queen's Ascendant. Transiting Uranus on that day was 26°4' Scorpio on the Queen's MC, within a few minutes, and Neptune at 22°25' Sagittarius was conjunct her MC/ASC Midpoint.

Prince Andrew (son of the Queen) has Natal Moon 25°33' Scorpio, almost exactly conjunct his mother's MC, and his Saturn/Mars midpoint is 21°8' Capricorn conjunct her Ascendant. When Andrew married Sarah Ferguson on 23rd July 1986, 10:50am GMT, the North Node at 25°3' Aries made a quincunx to the Queen's MC.

Prince William, son of Charles, grandson of the Queen, has Venus at 25°40' Taurus opposite her MC.

List of Degrees in Aspect with Natal Charts of the Royal Family

	H.R.H. Queen Elizabeth II
	Midheaven	Ascendant
	25°37'Sco.	21°25'Cap.
King George V	Jupiter 25°39'	Sagitt.
	Saturn 24°24'	Libra
King George VI	Moon 24°51'	Scorp.
	Uranus 22°8'	Scorp.
	Sun 21°55'	Sagitt.
The Queen Mother	Moon 20°19'	Scorp.
Duchess of Windsor	Mars 21°5'	Aries.
	MC 20°7'	Capric.
	Node 27°30'	Aquar.
Princess Margaret	Mercury 24°0'	Capric.
	Sun 25°0'	Leo
Prince Charles	Sun 22°26'	Scorp.
	Mars 20°57'	Sagitt.
Princess Diana	Moon 25°2'	Aquar.
	Uranus 23°20'	Leo
Prince Andrew	Moon 25°33'	Scorpio
Prince William	Venus 25°40'	Taurus.

Judging from all the above data, the close aspects to the Angles of the Birth Chart of Queen Elizabeth in comparison with her family gives validity to her official birth time. But the additional proof lies in the Transits and Progressions.

One very strong point is that when Elizabeth ascended the Throne (8th February 1952) her Progressed Sun at 25° Taurus made a conjunction with her 4th House Cusp. The exact position of the Progressed Sun was 25°24' Taurus on her birthday month. Her Progressed Midheaven, 21°25' Sagittarius, was semi-sextile her Ascendant.

In 1981 the Queen's Midheaven by Progression (1° per year) had come to the Ascendant. This was the year Prince Charles married. The Queen's destiny (MC) came to an important juncture with the Heir to the Throne's Marriage. The conjunction with the Ascendant made the event manifest in the physical world.

Continuing in this mode of 1° per year, 1990-1991 brings the Progressed Midheaven to 0° Aquarius, squaring the Queen's Natal Sun. This is when all the trouble started with Charles and Diana at the Palace, upsetting her honour, prestige and dignity (Sun). During the ongoing scandals from 1991-3 in the Royal Family, the Progressed Sun made the square to the midpoint of the Queen's Sun and Part of Fortune, and then in 1993 squared the Part of Fortune on 3°27' Taurus.

TRANSITS

When Princess Elizabeth married Lieutenant Philip Mountbatten on November 20th 1947 the Transiting Sun at 26° Scorpio was conjunct her Midheaven.

At the death of the Queen's father (King George VI) on 7th February 1952 Transiting Neptune at 21°39' Libra squared her Ascendant. She was only 26 years old. The Queen's Accession to the Throne was on the following day. The Moon at noon, 21° Cancer, opposed her Ascendant (conjunct the 7th Cusp).

On 1st July 1969 the Investiture of the Prince of Wales, said to be a magnificent State ritual, was an important day for the Queen also. Transiting Venus at 24° Taurus was conjunct the Queen's 4th Cusp. Transiting Neptune, 26°17' Scorpio was passing her MC but still within the 1° orb.

When the Duke of Edinburgh and the Queen visited Australia in 1986 (4th-13th March) Transiting Uranus, 22°7' - 22°16' Sagittarius, was semi-sextile the Queen's Ascendant and closely conjunct her MC/ASC midpoint. On the day they arrived Transiting Venus was 23°35' Pisces, square the MC/ASC midpoint exactly, and the next day formed a trine to her Midheaven.

Transiting Pluto during 1993 was conjunct the Queen's Midheaven. This would have a great bearing on the finality of the marital separations of both the Princes, and their leading separate lives.

Another important link is with the Chart for the Commonwealth of Australia, 1st January 1901 at 1pm, the one I have been researching for some years. The Midheaven of the Chart is 25°Capricorn, making a sextile to the Queen's Natal M C. This verifies the destiny (MC) of the Queen and her strong link with that of Australia.

There are too many aspects to the Angles of the Queen's Natal Chart to subtract 28 minutes from her official birth time. It may be interesting for some astrologers to research Local Space Charts, but to rectify through that method is a bit shaky and can lead others blindly into another direction.

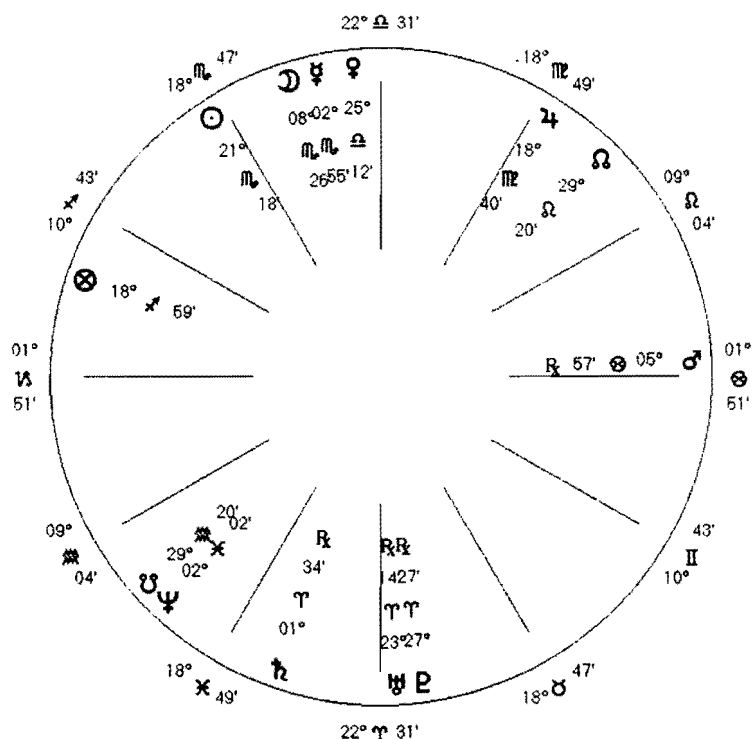

Marie Casey has responded to my request for the Chart of Los Angeles (last Issue) with the following Article:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA by Marie Casey (NSW).

An interesting Chart for the State of California appeared in The Astrological Monthly Review some years ago by G. Hall. Although no time was given I set up the Chart for 10:00am as the Sun was about two hours away from noon position on the Chart. The Angles matched so obviously the time was in fact 10:00am.

CALIFORNIA: RATIFICATION OF CONSTITUTION

13th November 1849, 10am PST, 6pm GMT.
Monterey, 122°00'W, 36°30'N. Placidian Cusps.

This was the date the Constitution to consolidate the State was approved by popular vote. The State of California became a separate entity.

Looking at the Libra Midheaven, ruled by Venus, plus Venus close by, one would think in terms of the arts, beauty, harmony and luxury. This could be correlated with Beverly Hills, Hollywood, the paradise of the Stars and all the multi-million-dollar mansions there. California is a very popular tourist venue typical of the social pleasures, vacations and entertainment relating to Venus.

Although the Libra MC seems fitting in one sense we cannot judge the Chart on this alone. Transit action must activate the Angles primarily to give some validity. Important Transits this century are listed hereunder.

TRANSITS

1906, April 18. SAN FRANCISCO EARTHQUAKE (California) - recorded as one of history's greatest quakes.

Tr.Sun 27°Aries conjunct Pluto.

Tr.Mars 22°30'Taurus quincunx MC, opposite the Sun.

Tr.Asc 18°Aries quincunx Jupiter.

Tr.Pluto 21°Gemini quincunx Sun.

One would expect Uranus to be in strong aspect as it relates to earthquakes, but on 8°29'Capricorn at the time of the quake it was 2°32' away from opposing Mars. Nevertheless, a vital point here is that Uranus by Progression came to 22°22'Aries exactly conjunct the 4th Cusp. It was Retrograde in the 1849 Natal Chart, only 1° away from the Cusp, then later went Direct. Uranus conjunct the 4th whether by Progression or Transit can create upheavals.

By Progressing the MC of the Chart to 1906 at one degree per year it comes to 19°Sagittarius, square Natal Jupiter and conjunct Fortuna. One may not think the square to Jupiter a serious enough aspect, but Jupiter is exactly square Fortuna in the 12th House, and rules that House of the Chart. (By Solar-Arc method the Progressed MC was a degree away on 20° Sagittarius.)

1917, April 6. AMERICA ENTERS WORLD WAR 1:

Tr.Saturn 23°45'Cancer square Uranus and MC.

Tr.Uranus 22°Aquarius square Sun.

These aspects speak for themselves.

1929, October 29. STOCK MARKET CRASH:

Tr.Uranus 8°23'Aries quincunx the Moon.

Tr.Neptune 3°10'Virgo opposite its Natal place within 1°. Neptune relates to collapses.

1939, September 3. SECOND WORLD WAR:

Tr.Uranus 21°57'Taurus opposite the Sun.

Tr.Mars 24°35'Capricorn square Venus.

1945, April 12. DEATH OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT:

Tr.Sun 21°43'Aries square MC.
 Tr.Jupiter 19°6'Virgo conjunct Natal Jupiter square Fortuna.
 Tr.Saturn 5°4'Cancer conjunct Mars.

The Sun primarily names the day of an event, sometimes Mercury, Venus and Mars. Also the Sun relates to the Head of State, consequently Tr.Sun squaring MC (destiny of the Nation and Government matters) brought the other Transits into action.

1950, June 25. KOREAN WAR:

Tr.Venus 27°Taurus square Node.
 Tr.Mars 5°18'Libra square Mars.
 Tr.Uranus 5°2'Cancer conjunct Mars.
 This is an example of how the aspects of Venus and Mars activated the slower-moving planet (Uranus).

1963, November 22. ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT KENNEDY:

Tr.Sun square Node, quincunx Pluto.
 Tr.Mars 19°56'Sagittarius conjunct Fortuna.
 Tr.Saturn 17°16'Aquarius quincunx Jupiter.
 This time the Sun named the day, activating the Saturn aspect.

1969, July 16. MOON LANDING TAKE-OFF:

Tr.Sun 23°17'Cancer square Uranus and MC.
 Tr.Pluto 22°53'Virgo semi-sextile MC - another point in favour of the Natal Midheaven. Pluto relates to rockets, shuttles and laser beams.

1986, January 28. SHUTTLE EXPLOSION:

Tr.Sun 8°Aquarius, and Tr.Venus 9°Aquarius, both square the Moon.
 Tr.Mars 26°52'Scorpio quincunx Pluto.
 Tr.Pluto 7°19'Scorpio conjunct the Moon.
 Pluto again in aspect, but this time more strongly so.

1989, October 17. EARTHQUAKE SAN FRANCISCO (California). 270 people were killed and about 1400 injured:

Tr.Sun 23°Libra conjunct MC opposite Uranus.
 Tr.Uranus 1°54'Capricorn conjunct the Ascendant.

The other earthquake mentioned (1906) had Progressed Uranus conjunct the Nadir, consequently it verifies the sensitivity and validity of both Angles.

1993, October 28-29. BUSH FIRES - LOS ANGELES TOP SUBURBS, INCLUDING HOLLYWOOD ABLAZE. Wild fires exploded across Southern California.

Tr.Mercury and Mars both 21°Scorpio conjunct the Sun.

Tr.Jupiter 27°8'Libra opposite Pluto.

Tr.Pluto 24°36'Scorpio quincunx Uranus/Pluto.
 An interesting set of aspects, with Pluto and Scorpio being so strong. Pluto being the higher octave of Mars (fires) does show its presence here, and it relates to mass destruction.

1994, January 17th. EARTHQUAKE, LOS ANGELES.

Freeways and buildings buckled under the force of the quake. The death toll, 42 people; the estimated damage was put by experts at more than $21 billion:

Tr.Sun and Venus square Pluto.
 Tr.Saturn square Node in the 8th House.
 Tr.NEPTUNE, MARS and URANUS square the MIDHEAVEN.

At the previous quake (1989) above, it was the Ascendant afflicted. This time it's the MC/Nadir, giving more validity to the Californian Chart with the triple planet action.

It might be well to note that Tr.Moon (see Chart for the 1994 quake) at 1°54'Aries squared the Ascendant of the Californian Chart exactly at the time when the quake began. Also, in the 1989 Earthquake (see above) Tr.Uranus 1°54'Capricorn was conjunct the Ascendant exactly at the beginning of that quake. It has often been said strong aspects to the 4th Cusp can bring on disasters, but not to forget the Ascendant relates to the general conditions of the Nation and those slow-moving planets can create havoc when in square, conjunction or opposition to it.

The Progressed MC this year by Solar-Arc is 18°41'Pisces, in opposition to Natal Jupiter in the 8th House, and square Fortuna. You will also note in the 1906 quake that Jupiter was afflicted by the square from the Progressed Midheaven.

Summing up the aspects, I feel the Chart is quite valid, and possibly worth future prognostication. For example, Tr.Pluto will be making a quincunx to itself in November and squaring the North Node in the 8th House in December this year, and again next year. The North Node is a very sensitive spot, and is trine to Pluto in the Natal Chart as well as opposing Neptune. Consequently, with Pluto's square to the Node it will trigger the opposition to Neptune in the 2nd House (Finance). According to Raphael's Mundane Astrology, Neptune in the 2nd natally denotes losses to the revenue through illicit undertakings. Also Neptune dissolves things. Possibly certain financial relations with another country (8th House matters) could be dissolved.

My kind regards to all.

- Dymock,
 16th February 1994

Astrologers' Forum

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785.
Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25.
Issues 149/150 December 1993/January 1994

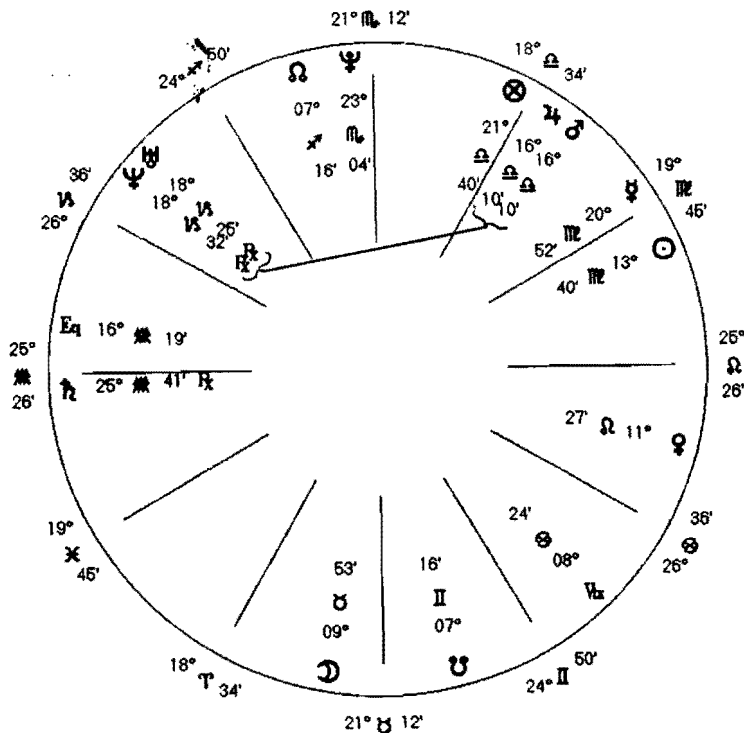

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

THE BUSH FIRES

The scarifying bush fires in the first few days of 1994 (January 4-12) that have left Australians dazed and bewildered with their suddenness and destructive power set me on an urgent quest for their astrological indications.

I did not have far to seek. Mars and Jupiter in combination are the planetary Significators of fire, and their last conjunction occurred on September 6th 1993. Here is the Chart, set for Sydney, the NSW capital.

MARS/JUPITER CONJUNCTION, 6 SEPTEMBER 1993
6:9am GMT. Sydney, 151°10'E, 33°52'S.
Placidian Cusps.

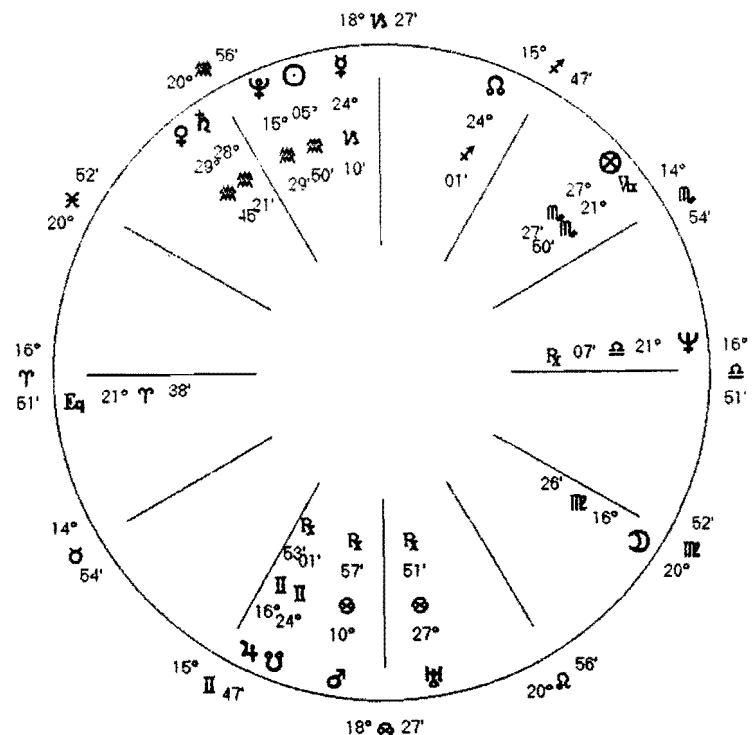

The planetary positions will of course be the same for any part of the world, only the Cusps differing. The Mars/Jupiter conjunction is the more virulent through being square Uranus and Neptune, which are also conjoined. When set for Sydney the Figure is particularly dangerous and destructive:

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
The Bush Fires	1
Games of Chance	3
The Los Angeles Earthquake	5
The Queen Mother: Birth Details	6
The Pope and the Vatican	6
A Horary Question	8

Saturn is almost exactly on the Ascendant, and square to Pluto at the Midheaven. The Saturn/Pluto square has been the correlating factor in recent months for the huge number of deaths through earthquakes, land-slides and collapse of buildings in various parts of the world. These calamities unfortunately will continue while the square remains within orbs. Its presence here, so powerful on Angles, was a dire portent for New South Wales.

FOUNDATION OF AUSTRALIA
26th January 1788, 11am LMT, Sydney
151°10'E, 33°52'S. Placidian Cusps.

The gravity of the threat becomes more apparent when we relate the Chart to the Horoscope for the Foundation of Australia (above). The Mars/Jupiter conjunction is in close opposition to the Ascendant, and the Uranus/Neptune conjunction exactly straddles the Midheaven. Pluto and the Mars/Jupiter-MC fall on the Vertex in the House of death and disaster. The trine of Radical Pluto to the Mars/Jupiter conjunction adds to the danger. The implication is clear - destructive fires on a massive scale (Mars/Jupiter/Pluto).

Another factor of ill-omen for Australia was the Eclipse of 13th November 1993, which occurred at 21°32' of Scorpio. This Eclipse also falls on the Vertex in the 8th House of the Foundation Chart, and does so even more closely than does Pluto and the MC in the Mars/Jupiter Chart.

The month in which the devastating force of the fires would be unleashed is revealed by the Lunar Return Chart derived from the Mars/Jupiter Figure. The fires started a few days earlier, but commenced their havoc on 4th January. Here is the Lunar Return covering the period from 24th December 1993 to 20th January 1994.

Mars/Jupiter Conjunction LUNAR RETURN
24th Dec.1993, Sydney, 151°10'E, 33°52'S.
Placidian Cusps.

Mars and the Sun conjoined and closely opposing the Ascendant is the trigger.

Progression of the Australia Chart to January 1994 is interesting and informative. Saturn conjuncts Saturn! (27th January). This is a Saturn Return by Progression, and coincides with the Saturn Return by Transit on 14th January, the combination producing a critical year and a cycle of unusual significance. It is certainly an indication that Australia, and New South Wales in particular (because that is where Australia was founded), should take stock of its position, re-assess its values and make plans for the future. In Sydney there is already a move afoot to do this, more especially in relation to the handling of future fire holocausts. Up-dating of equipment with new technology, investigation of causes, increased funding for training, maintenance of large-scale fire-breaks and even involvement of the defence forces are all on the agenda for discussion.

Transits (including parallels of declination) of the Mars/Jupiter Chart indicate the course of events: On January 2, when the fires were starting to become large-scale, Pluto was parallel Mars. On the next day, Mars at 10°26'-10°41' of Capricorn was semi-square both the Ascendant and Saturn. On 5th January, when alarm was becoming general, the Sun was parallel Uranus and the Moon conjunct Mars, and on Friday the 7th the Sun had reached the square of the Mars/Jupiter conjunction.

At this time I was asked by an anxious enquirer when would the danger be over. I said Thursday the 13th or Friday the 14th, because on the 13th Mars would be transiting Neptune at 18°32' Capricorn in 'the Mars/-Jupiter Figure. My reasoning was that Neptune would bring rain, and damp down the fires sufficiently to render them manageable so that they could be contained and homes put out of danger. This is in fact what happened, rain did come on the 13th and from that date we started hearing good news instead of bad. Many fires were still burning in various parts of the State, and the authorities continually warned against complacency, but short of some unforeseen catastrophe the danger to life and property was over.

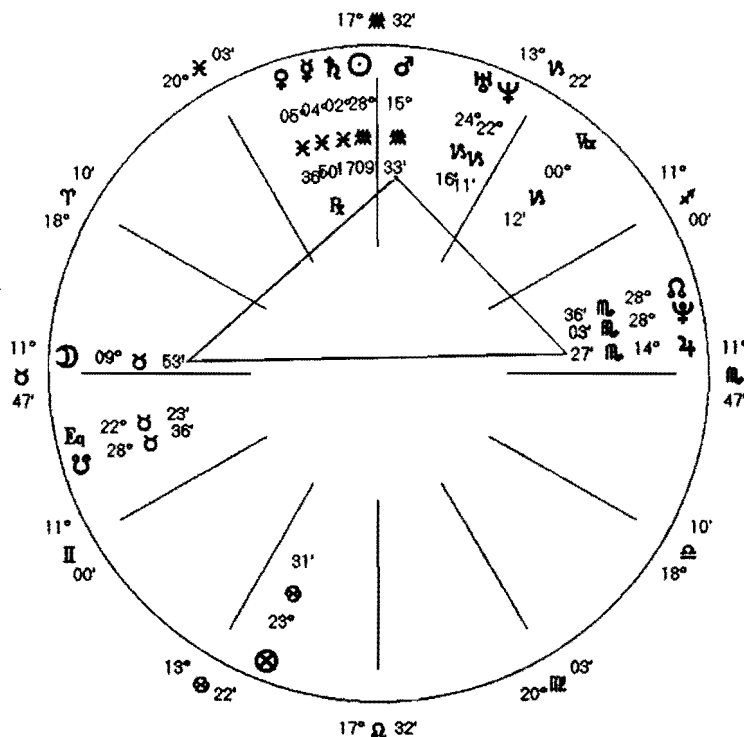

The Lunar Return of 24th December (above), derived from the conjunction of Mars and Jupiter the previous September, pointed to the fire crisis that commenced in early January. The next Lunar Return from 21st January to 17th February 1994 does not pose any special threat. However, the one after that, operating from 17th February to 16th March has Mars square Jupiter from the Angular 10th to 7th Cusps, and forming a T-Square to the Moon on the Ascendant. This does, indeed, suggest a flare-up, though not of the same magnitude, the T-Square being less powerful than the Mars/Sun conjunction opposing the Ascendant in the Lunar Return of 24th December. (See Charts below).

Mars/Jupiter Conjunction LUNAR RETURN
21st Jan.1994, Sydney, 151°10'E, 33°52'S.
Placidian Cusps.

[No real threat in this Chart]

Mars/Jupiter Conjunction LUNAR RETURN
17th Feb.1994, Sydney, 151°10'E, 33°52'S.
Placidian Cusps.

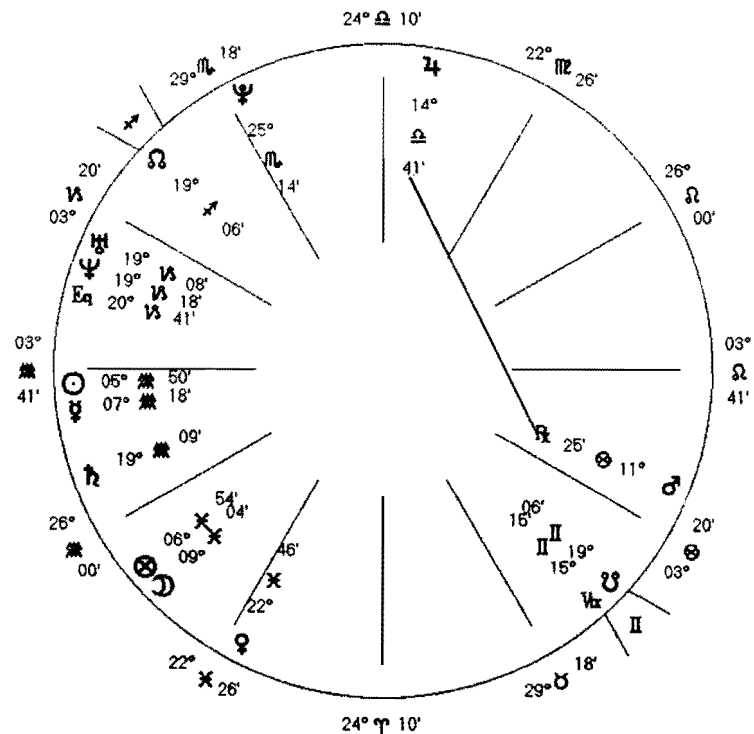

[The Mars, Jupiter Moon T-Square is a threat]

Aside from that, Mars and Jupiter square one another in the sky on 15th February 1994, from 14°24' Aquarius to 14°24' Scorpio. This falls on Pluto (15°29' Aquarius) and the 8th Placidian Cusp (14°54' Scorpio) in the Chart for the Foundation of Australia. This square is followed by a parallel of Mars and Jupiter on 26th February. I anticipate therefore that mid-February 1994 will see a resurgence of bush-fire fighting, though not like the holocaust we have just witnessed, and not necessarily limited to New South Wales.

The next conjunction of Mars and Jupiter occurs on 16th November 1995 at 19°10' of Sagittarius. Though this opposes Jupiter in the Foundation Chart (orb 2°17') and squares the Moon (orb 2°44'), the Solar Return for 1995 from the Australia Foundation Chart does not show any connection between the fire-makers, Mars and Jupiter. In contrast, the current Solar Return Chart (26/1/93 -26/1/94) (below) has Mars not only squaring Jupiter but also conjuncting Mars in the Radix (orb 0°28'), and ruling the S.R.-4th House (the land and its people).

Foundation of Australia: SOLAR RETURN
26th Jan.1993, Sydney, 151°10'E, 33°52'S.
Placidian Cusps.

- Dymock.

GAMES OF CHANCE
by Marie Casey (NSW)

In any competitive situation where an event takes place, be it a Federal Election or the Olympic Bid, charts may be set up to ascertain the outcome. But in games of chance such as racing, events where numbers are concerned, the planetary numbers need to be studied as well, particularly in horse racing, trotting and dog racing. Horse racing is a colourful event and supplies the astrologer an ongoing series of events for research purposes. Astrologers from early this century have been setting up charts for these races, so there has been some information handed down.

Firstly, a chart needs to be set up for the beginning of the race with the latitude and longitude of the race track. Then planets in aspect take preference, and next in line are any planets conjunct the Midheaven, the 8th Cusp or 9th Cusp. The Moon is important when in aspect to any planet or Angle. When in aspect to a planet, the affairs of that planet give guide lines to the name of the horse. If the Moon is on Angles or in the 2nd House or conjunct the MC a popular horse usually wins, as the Moon relates to popularity. Squares are favourable only when a planet squares the Midheaven, then the affairs of that planet lead to the name of the winner. With all aspects they need to be fairly exact - one cannot take a wide orb.

Regarding numbers: the numbers of the saddle cloth are taken, those entered in the run-down in the newspapers, not the barrier numbers. Astrologers have always used the numbers of the planets. These have been handed down for centuries, and never change:

Sun	= 1	Jupiter	= 3
Moon	= 2	Saturn	= 8
Mercury	= 5	Uranus	= 4
Venus	= 6	Neptune	= 7
Mars	= 9

There have been different numbers assigned to Pluto since its discovery in 1930. In racing events Pluto seems to vibrate to the number 9 of Mars, and when Pluto is strong in a chart the names according to Mars and Pluto often win.

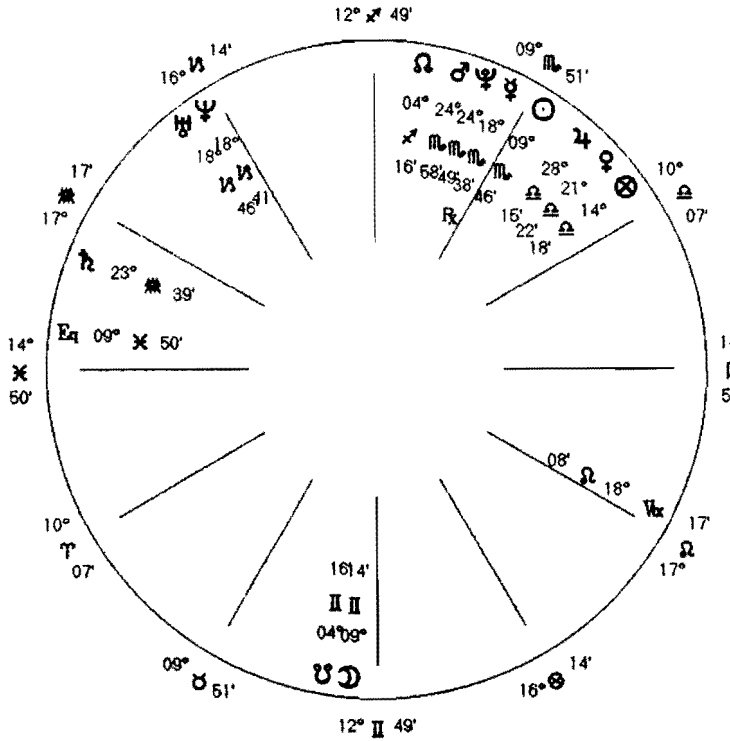

The deciding factor does have an element of luck, because if the Sun was conjunct the Midheaven, then one would have to look for a name to do with the affairs of the Sun, such as a regal name - King, Prince, Duke, etc. But the other alternative is the number. The Sun's number is 1, and if there are more than nine horses in race then No. 10 (1 + 0 = 1) could be selected.

In a race meeting last December, the Sun was conjunct the 9th House Cusp at the time of the event. No. 1 was a favourite, and No. 10 was at odds of over 100 to 1. No. 10, in fact, won and paid $163.90 to the $1, while No.1 ran second. So there are some variables when it comes to names and numbers.

The Melbourne Cup on 2nd November last year was an interesting event in that the big conjunction of Uranus and Neptune was still in force. The question was which one would take priority. Uranus ruled the 12th Cusp with Aquarius there, and Neptune ruled the Ascendant 14°49' Pisces, so Neptune was predominant.

MELBOURNE CUP HORSE RACE 1993

2nd November 1993, 3:20 pm DST. GMT 4:20am.
Flemington Race Course, 37°47' S, 144°55'E.

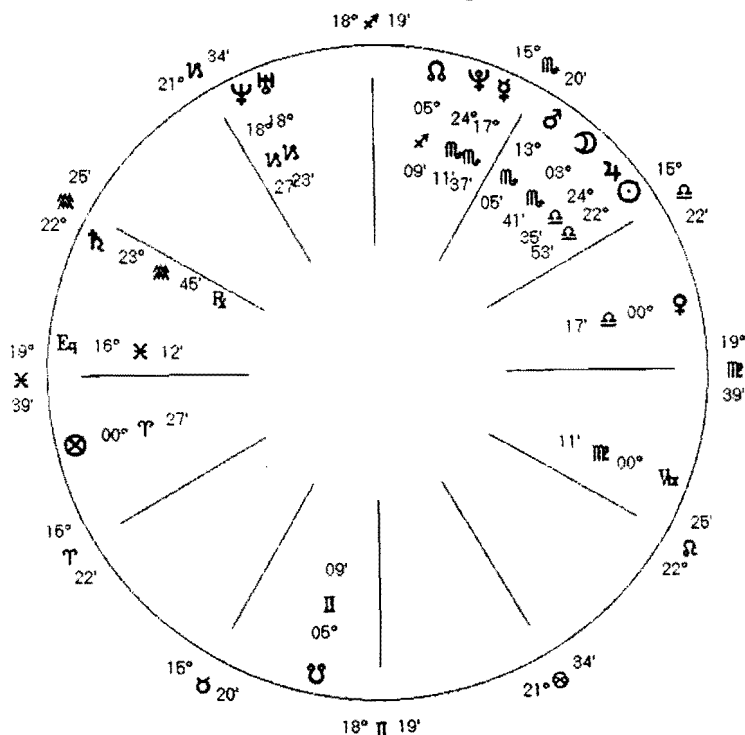

At the start of the Cup the Sun at 9°46' Scorpio was conjunct the 9th Cusp, which still had to be taken into consideration. The Nadir, 12°49' Gemini, had moved away from the Moon on 9°14' Gemini more than three degrees, so a favourite was not the ideal pick. The results were

- 1st, No. 6 Vintage Crop
- 2nd, No. 5 Te Akau Nick
- 3rd, No. 10 Mercator.

The winner was attributed to Neptune by its conjunction. Vintage is the wine from a particular harvest or crop, the annual produce of the grape harvest with reference to the wine obtained. Neptune does relate to drugs and alcohol, so here we have the cunning Neptune taking the prize. The Sun, conjunct the 9th, did get third prize with No. 10. Mercury, whose number is 5, took 2nd place as it was sextile the Uranus/Neptune conjunction. Admittedly, the Melbourne Cup is not the easiest of races to select winners as there are usually up to 24 horses in the race, giving a greater range of selections.

THE CAULFIELD CUP

16th October 1993, 3:50pm. GMT 5:50am
Caulfield Race Course 37°53'S, 145°2'E.
Placidian Cusps.

In the Caulfield Cup, Neptune took the prize again with its conjunction to Uranus, and a close sextile to the Ascendant. Mars was well-favoured, closely conjunct the 9th House cusp. Neptune also ruled the Ascendant 19°39' Pisces. The results were

1st, No. 7 Fraar

2nd, No. 9 Air Seattle

3rd, No. 6 The Phantom.

The winner, No. 7 = Neptune's number; 2nd, No. 9 = Mars conjunct the 9th Cusp; 3rd, The Phantom was a Neptunian name.

From the above examples readers will appreciate the skill involved when having to decide on the names or numbers and realising the variations that can take place. It's best to select a name or number and stick to that in an each-way bet. The easiest times are when a planet conjuncts the Midheaven and there are no other aspects to consider. Then the affairs of that planet by name take precedence, or the number assigned to that planet.

[The Horizon Chart for the Melbourne Cup that appeared last month in the December Issue was drawn for the estimated finishing time of the race - 3:23pm. - Ed.]

THE LOS ANGELES EARTHQUAKE

As I wrote about the New South Wales bush-fires, news came through of another dreadful earthquake in California on 17th January. My first thought was that here is another demonstration of the malefic power of the Saturn/Pluto Square, and this is apparent if we translate it to the latitude and longitude of Los Angeles.

Saturn and Pluto have been square to each other three times since the beginning of 1993. Below are the three Charts, set for Los Angeles (Placidian Cusps throughout).

It can be readily seen that the most powerful and effective of these three Charts, at least so far as Los Angeles is concerned, is that of 20th March 1993, the first one in the series. In this Chart Saturn and the Moon are conjunct the 4th Cusp (the land, homes, people, etc.) and both are square to Pluto just under the Ascendant and retrograde, which increases its power. Furthermore, the malefic star, Algol (Medusa's Head) at 26°4' of Taurus completes a T-Square with Pluto, Saturn and the Moon, within an orb of 1°, but is beyond this orb in the other two.

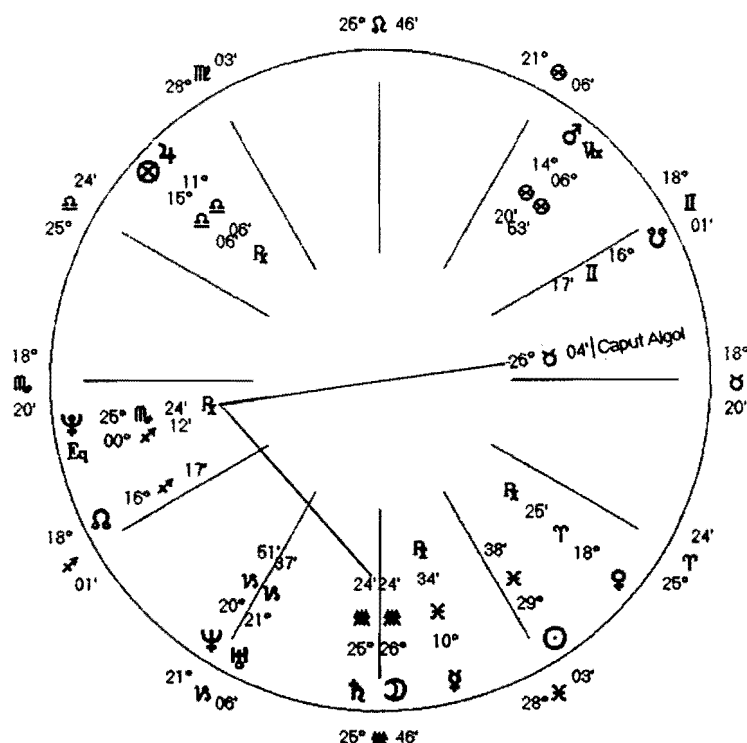

The earthquake occurred on 17th January, and on that date precisely Mars was transiting Uranus in the Figure, setting off the original quake and the subsequent train of after-shocks.

A Horoscope for the foundation of Los Angeles, should also provide some enlightening insights. Can any reader supply the Chart?

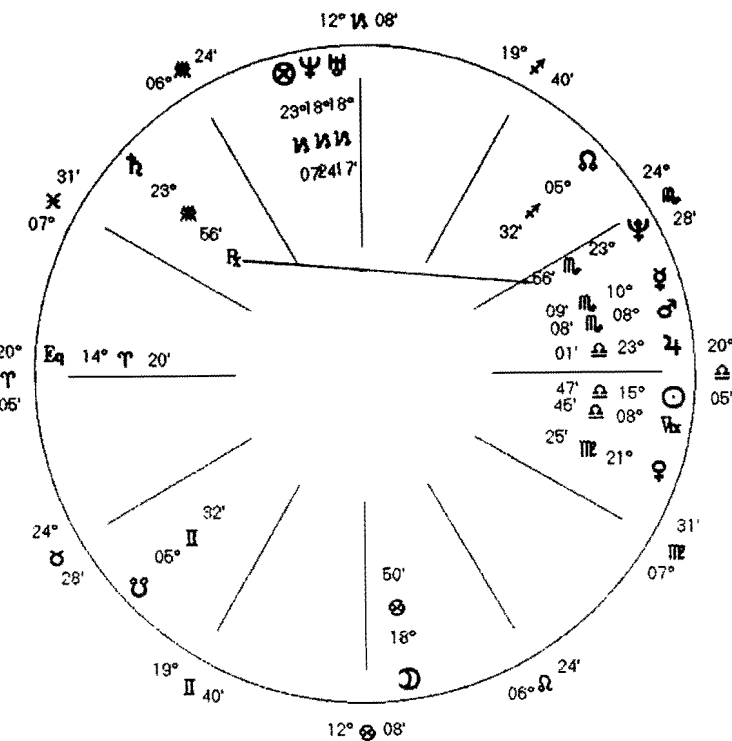

- Dymock.

SATURN SQUARE PLUTO, 20TH MARCH 1993

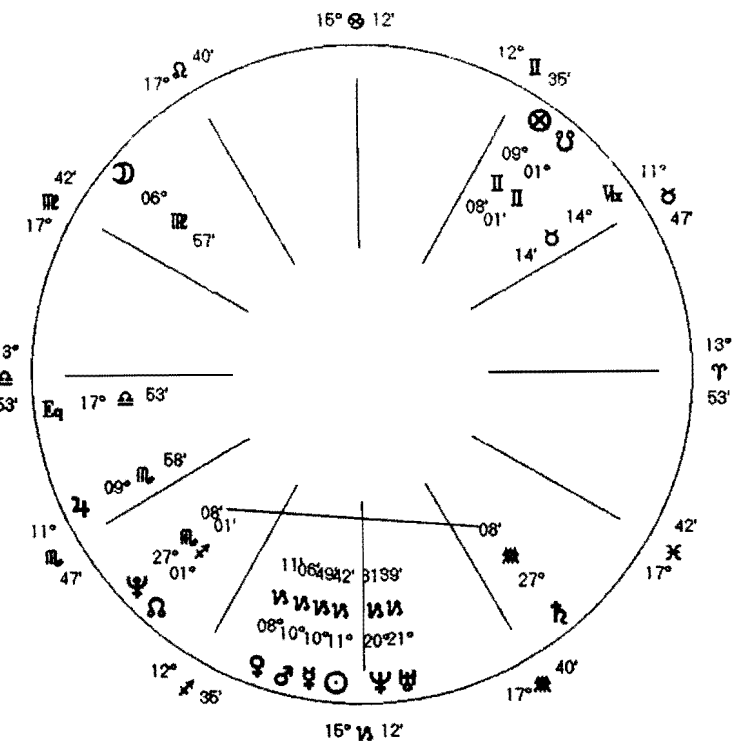

5:54 am GMT, Los Angeles, 118°15'W, 34°4' N.

SATURN SQUARE PLUTO, 9TH OCTOBER 1993
1:35 am GMT, Los Angeles, 118°15'W, 34°4' N.

SATURN SQUARE PLUTO, 2ND JANUARY 1994
8:12 am GMT, Los Angeles, 118°15'W, 34°4' N.

THE QUEEN MOTHER: BIRTH DETAILS

From NEVILLE STRACHAN (Qld.): In Issue 146/147 of Astrologers' Forum, Leslie Black gives a rectified Chart (11:21am GMT) for the Queen Mother's birth. Some time ago I was interested in finding a time for her birth, and the following notes outline my findings. I have not attempted any rectification at this stage, but readers may be interested in some other times that are quoted:

Mark Edmund Jones in his book Sabian Symbols (1969), page 350, quotes the time as 11:31am. In a footnote on page 26 of The Traditional Astrologer, Issue 2, Autumn 1993, the time is quoted as 10:35am GMT, with Ascendant 16°41' Libra. No source is given for the data.

The times are about one hour apart, which would make one wonder if daylight-saving was operative at the later time, but I have not been able to find out if this was so in August 1900. Doris Chase Doane in Time Changes in the World, 1992 Revised Edition, does not mention it.

[According to The International Atlas compiled by Thomas Shanks, daylight saving did not commence in England until 1916. - Ed.]

POPE JOHN PAUL II
18th May 1920, 12:30pm EET, 10:30am GMT.
Wadowice, Poland. 49°53'N, 19°30'E. Placidus.

THE POPE AND THE VATICAN
by Marie Casey (NSW)

The Birth Chart of Pope John Paul II is a very significant one as there was a Solar Eclipse on the day of his birth. His birth data was published in Jim Lewis' Astro-Cartography Book of Maps (Llewellyn Publications, 1989). If the time of his birth is correct there are some very strong contacts with the Chart of the Vatican.

Some time ago I progressed his Chart to check its validity, and found the Progressions to be very appropriate to the events of his life. Following are some of those aspects using the 1° per year method:

1929. P.Midheaven 4°9'-5°9' Gemini square Natal Saturn. This was the year his mother died. From research I have done on the death of parents, often it is the case that the MC will conjunct, square or quincunx natal Saturn, Saturn representing the loss and suffering, and the demise as well of a parent.

1941. P.Midheaven 16°91'-17°91' Gemini quincunx Natal Node. His father died this year, and here is an example of the death aspect, the quincunx. The Pope himself had an accident and was struck by a tram. The Natal Node is opposite Mercury/Venus midpoint, Mercury relating to transport.

1978. P.Midheaven 23°9'-24°9' Cancer, separating from the square to Natal Mars, and the Progressed New Moon (Sun/Moon 22° Cancer) squared Natal Mars. The New Moon by progression only happens once in 29 years. This was the year John Paul became Pope, consequently the strong aspect to Mars brings in the leadership role the Pope was to take on. Also for this grand occasion when he became the Pope the Sun would have to be involved in a progressed aspect as it relates to success, honour and prestige. The Progressed New Moon always relates to new beginnings in the life.

1985. P.Midheaven 0°9' Leo. As the Sydney Morning Herald stated on 27th May 1985, "Pomp and splendour caps colourful week in Rome". It was a grand pageant. 20,000 people gathered in St. Peters Square to watch the 2½-hour elevation ceremony of the consecration of 28 new Cardinals. Some were Archbishops of the largest Roman Catholic dioceses in the world. There were many dignitaries present, including Roman Catholic leaders from around the globe. The following day, Pope John Paul from this throne in front of St. Peters Basilica received the new Cardinals as they climbed the red-carpeted steps and joined him in a special mass.

One cannot deny the splendour of the "entrée" into Leo.

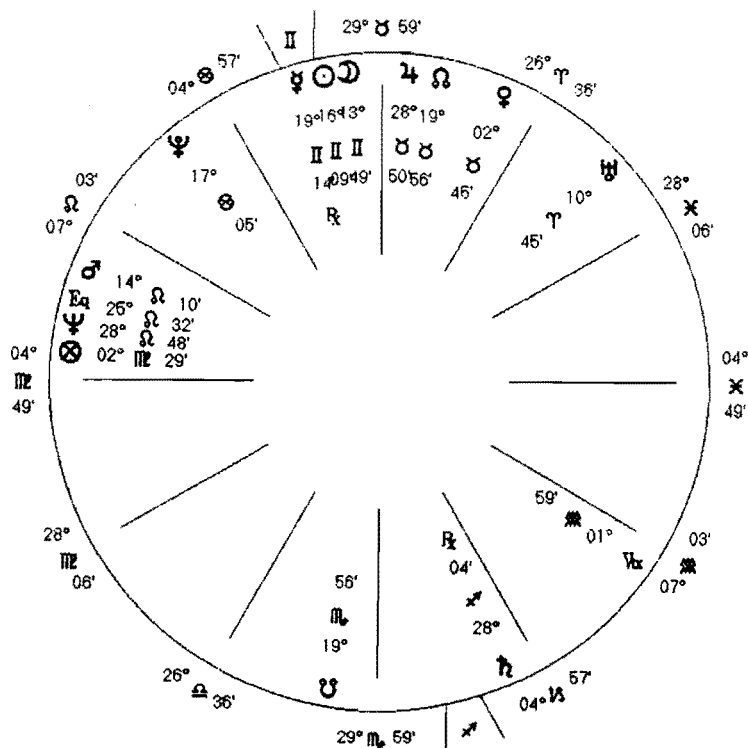

During the first half of this year, 1994, P.Midheaven will conjunct Natal Neptune in the 12th House. There would be a special occasion with a ceremony involved, as Neptune has a lot to do with celebrations.

INDEPENDENCE CHART FOR VATICAN CITY STATE

7 June 1929, Rome, Italy. 11am CET, 10am GMT.

41°54'N, 12°29'E. Placidian Cusps.

(From Book of World Horoscopes)

VATICAN LINKS

The Angles of the Chart for the Pope and the Vatican are very close and also similar in pattern as most of the planets are elevated. There are some very strong links: The Sun/Moon conjunction in Pope John Paul's Chart conjunct the Midheaven in that of the Vatican. From other research I have done, various figure-heads have their Sun or Moon close to the Midheaven of their country.

Other major aspects within 4° of orb are the following:

Pope John Paul

MC	conjunct
Sun/Moon	conjunct
Sun/Moon	conjunct
Sun/Moon	quincunx
Mercury	conjunct
Venus	square
Mars	quincunx
Mars	trine
Jupiter	trine
Jupiter	conjunct
Saturn	conjunct
Saturn	trine
Uranus	opposite
Neptune	trine
Pluto	square
Ascendant	conjunct
North Node	opposite

Vatican

MC
Jupiter
Neptune
Saturn
Node
Mars
Nth.Node
Mercury
Uranus
Mars
Asc.& P/Fort.
Venus
Asc.& P/Fort.
Uranus
Uranus
Asc.
Nth.Node

Taking a wider orb, there are many more aspects, plus the minors. Judging from the above, with six major close conjunctions between the Charts it does create a powerful interplay.

The Pope's Saturn conjuncting his Ascendant makes him able to assume the role of responsibility, and on the Vatican Ascendant would suggest his authoritative position there, but he could be considered a bit too traditional and serious-minded.

The Sun/Moon conjunction on the Pope's own Midheaven does denote importance. Mercury also close to the MC gives him the speaking qualities. Of course, he is not speaking his own tongue, which does limit his ability.

This year he has some important Transits coming very soon. Transiting Pluto will be opposite his Sun for the second time at the end of April, and the third time on 1st November. This Transit will be opposite that Solar Eclipse at his birth. Also if one takes the midpoint of the Sun/Moon at 28°22' Taurus, Pluto will oppose this at the end of November. I have found with close conjunctions that the midpoints are often more vulnerable than the actual conjunctions of the planets either side. Pluto relates to separations and, of course, transformation, so he will be separated from the Vatican by a journey, or even in hospital. He may not be well, particularly as the Sun relates to the health in a male chart.

Transiting Saturn is creating a bit of a havoc as it conjuncts his Uranus, opposes his Ascendant and Fortuna, as well as the Ascendant of the Vatican, and trines his Natal Pluto in March. Apart from the extra responsibility one gets with strong Saturn aspects it relates to the end of things.

In the Chart of the Vatican Pluto opposes Jupiter and squares Neptune on 12th December 1994. The Pope would be represented by Jupiter as well as the Sun in the Vatican Chart, as Jupiter relates to the highest dignitary in a country's Chart. (In Australia it's the Governor-General). Consequently all these aspects seem to point to a new Pope.

The Total Solar Eclipse in November on 10°54' Scorpio squares the Neptune/Jupiter midpoint in the Pope's Chart, and makes a quincunx to Uranus in the 8th House of the Vatican. Then the Lunar Eclipse on the 18th November falls right on the Pope's Midheaven.

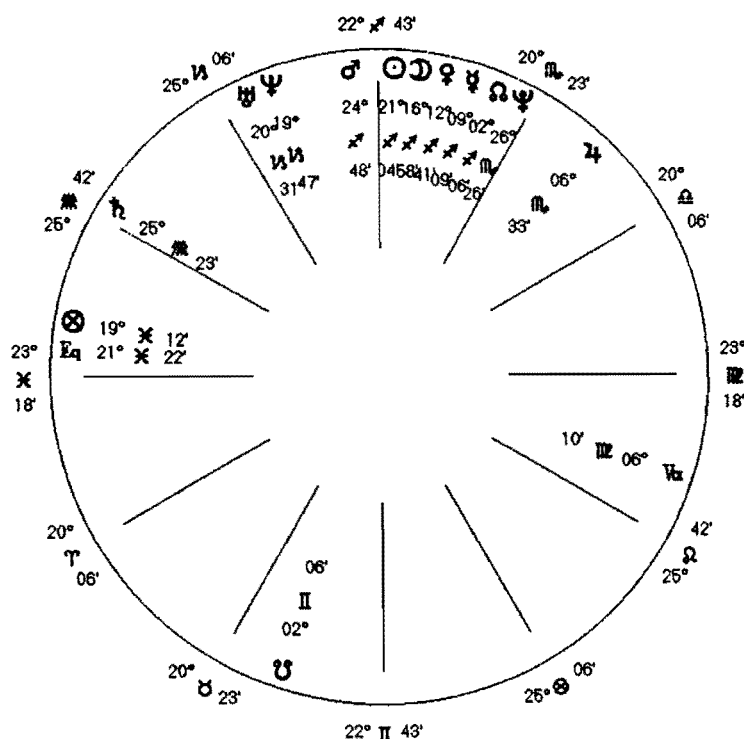

So I would venture to say that if the Pope survives the Papacy through those earlier aspects he would probably retire at the end of the year.

A Horary Question by Ricky Corcilus (NSW)

A friend was telling me a story about an influential man who owned a painting which he thought might be by a Flemish artist of the 17th Century named Jordaens. This man had the painting X-rayed, and various other experts had examined it and dated the frame. He then sent a large pile of documentation to Sotheby's in London, hoping they would be able to authenticate it. Upon hearing this story, I asked the question, Is this painting a real Jordaens? I found out that it had been painted in 1640, and was a bucolic, arcadian scene of a goatherd and shepherdess. Jordaens himself lived from 1593 until 1678. This is the Chart:

Horary: Jordaen Painting

13th December 1993, 1pm DST, Katoomba, NSW
33°42'S, 150°18'E. Placidian Cusps.

The owner is signified by the Pisces Ascendant, and the painting is described by the 5th House and its Ruler, the Moon, which is in the 9th at 16° Sagittarius combust the Sun. One need look no further. It will not be validated. I later found out that Sotheby's decided the painting was not by Jordaens but by a student of his (after the school of Jordaens) and has more value than if it had been done by the master! The only explanation seems to be the owner's Ruler, Jupiter, located in the 8th House, and/or the Part of Fortune rising in Pisces.

Kind regards to all. - Dymock, 25 Jan.'94.

Astrologers' Forum

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785.
Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25.

Issue 148 November 1993

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

Shortage of space prevented a comment in the last (double) Issue of Astrologers' Forum on the Melbourne Cup, run on 2nd November. The winner was VINTAGE CROP. As occurred in the previous year, the more revealing Horoscope was the HORIZON CHART, rather than the standard Ecliptic version. Here it is:

MELBOURNE CUP HORSE RACE HORIZON CHART

2nd November 1993, 3:23 pm AEDT
Flemington, Vic. 144E54, 37S47.

In the name VINTAGE CROP, the substantive part is CROP, and VINTAGE is a qualifying adjective. Crops are associated with the 6th House of a Chart, and here we see the congregation of the Sun, Mercury, Jupiter and Venus emphasizing this area of the Figure. Furthermore, the Moon, representing growth of crops (etc.), is in trine (the "Harvest" aspect) to both Venus and Jupiter - 124°16' and 126°45' respectively.

VINTAGE is of course a Saturnian adjective, Saturn being representative of maturity, the elderly and old. Saturn is powerfully placed

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
Melbourne Cup	1
More Controversial Points	2
Horary Chart	2
The Italian Crisis	3

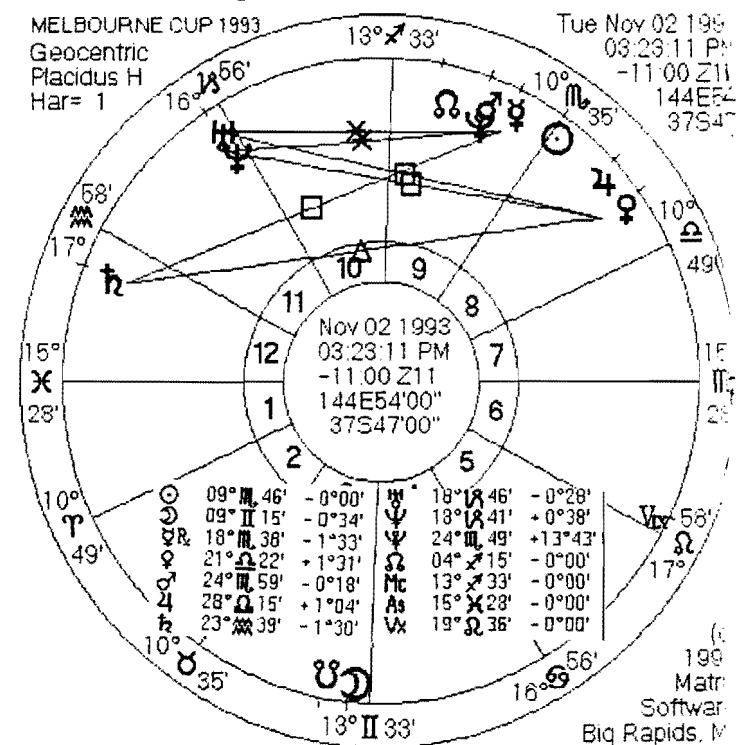

at the Cardinal East point of the Horizon, so exerting a strong influence at the time of the race. The only other Angular body is the Moon, which is playing its part too, as already mentioned.

Putting the two major factors together, it is not hard to see that VINTAGE CROP was a logical winner from the astrological point of view. It is much easier to see this in hindsight which, however, is a worthwhile exercise for the understanding it gives.

By contrast, it is hard to find suitable astrological correlations from the standard Ecliptic Chart:

MELBOURNE CUP HORSE RACE: ECLIPTIC VERSION

2nd November 1993, 3:23 pm AEDT
Flemington, Vic. 144E54, 37S47.

Readers who would like to exercise their analytical skill on this Chart are welcome to do so. The results would be considered for publication.

MORE CONTROVERSIAL POINTS

from Laurence Ely, Dir. IN FOCUS PO Box 192, Hadley, MA01035, U.S.A. Tel. 413-256-0303.

Solar and Lunar Progressions.

"In a 1982 article I discussed theoretical refinements to Secondary and Tertiary Progressions and how these refinements rendered progressions more accurate and precise so that timing from them gives consistency with timing from Transits. Secondary and Tertiary Progressions derive their names either from coming after Primary Directions in historical development or from being regarded as having lesser importance than them. Because I found that Primary Directions do not work (and therefore do not exist as an astrological force principle), I suggested that the ordinary terminology be dropped and that we rename Secondary Progressions to Solar Progressions, and Tertiary Progressions to Lunar Progressions. These new names are based on the planet that creates the cycle to which one refers when one makes the analogy between the day and the year (solar cycle) or the day and the month (lunar cycle). This direct and natural referencing is preferable to the old, ordinal terminology.

"Having predictive techniques that work is crucial if one expects to rectify correctly, because rectification is actually prediction. The important thrust of my article is that the rigorous and natural description of progressions that I set forth results in timing consistency between Solar and Lunar Progressions and Transits which one cannot get with the customary Secondary and Tertiary Progressions. The customary progressions contain two approximations which create fluctuating timing errors, sometimes reaching 12 days. This would be a 2' error in the rectified MC.

"With Solar progressions one can get accuracies of 10" = 1 day for the Sun or the inner planets. The accuracy and precision (consistency) of Solar Progressions and Solar Arc Directions based on them contributes to my ability to rectify Angles to 1" accuracy. They provide the MC to 10" and then from high harmonic charts I can get 1" or better. Switching from Secondary and Tertiary Progressions to Solar and Lunar Progressions is like going from darkness to light."

"...directional theories in Ecliptic Longitude do not work: These are the One-Degree (one exact degree = one year), Naibod (59'8" average Sun speed = one year), and Simmonite (speed of natal Sun = one year) directions.

"A very powerful idea I use is the twelfth part of the Sign, or twelfth harmonic. The idea is that the first 2.5° of any Sign (from 0.0° to 2.5° of every Sign) is the Aries sub-Sign in tonality, the second 2.5° (from 2.5° to 5.0° of every Sign) is the Taurus sub-Sign in tonality, etc. Starting each Sign with a sub-Sign the same as that Sign is confused, as seen in the Hindu dwadasama. Knowledge of the correct theory of sub-Signs greatly helps one centre in on the correct area of a Sign in rectification, and adds interpretative depth in chart readings."

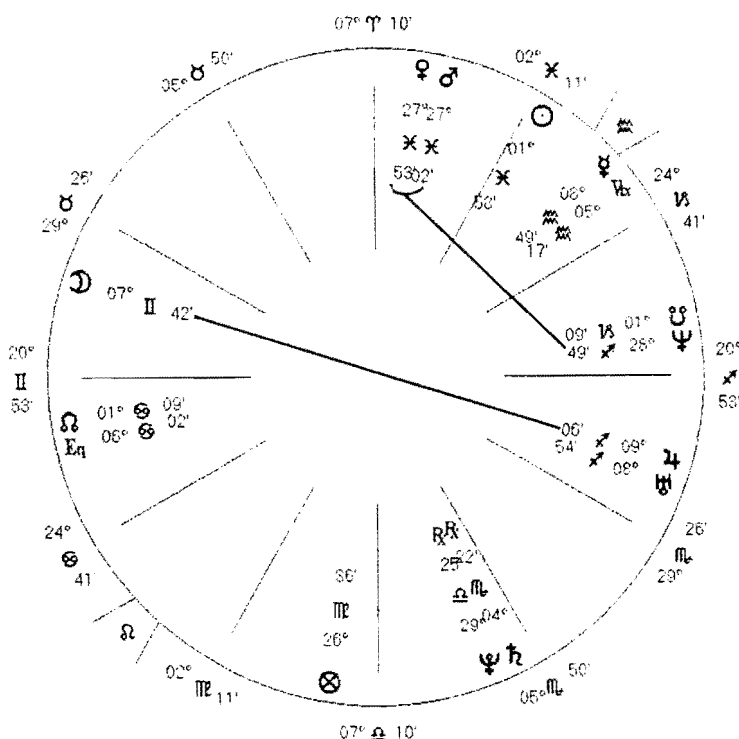

Well those are the views of Laurence Ely, which must surely produce some comment, especially the statement, "Primary Directions do not work"! I should be pleased to learn of the research and experience of other workers in this field.

- Dymock.

The Horary Charts from my recent practice that appeared in the last Issue have aroused considerable interest. Readers are invited to submit charts from their own experience. Meantime, here is another question that I answered for a client ten years ago:

HORARY CHART

QUESTION: What are the prospects regarding my partnership with X?"

ANSWER: "The Chart is clearly unfavourable as regards the partnership prospects. The planet Neptune in the House of Partnership is adverse to begin with, and the effects are compounded by the 'square' aspects from Mars and Venus. Mars rules the House of Business, and Venus the House of Outcomes and Endings, and of Sorrows and Bondage. The combination means that the partnership will suffer from endless misunderstandings, confusion and losses, not to say disappointments. Failures will arise through absence of plans or through lack of energy, and perhaps a dislike of work.

"Your partner's Significator, Jupiter, occupies his Derived 12th House, opposite your Co-Significator, the Moon, in your 12th House. This is absolutely incompatible with a successful business relationship, however well you may relate on other levels. Your partner's Significator being conjunct the planet Uranus and opposite the Moon signifies that he is subject to nervous strain and is apt to act in a most erratic fashion. His eccentricities of conduct would be a most disturbing factor in your relationship.

"If any further confirmation were needed of the inadvisability of the partnership it is supplied by the 'T-Square' between the Moon, Jupiter/Uranus and the Sun. This implies a lack of harmony, and financial losses (as the Sun is Co-Ruler of the House of Money)."

[The partnership was dissolved soon after, though not before considerable losses had been sustained.]

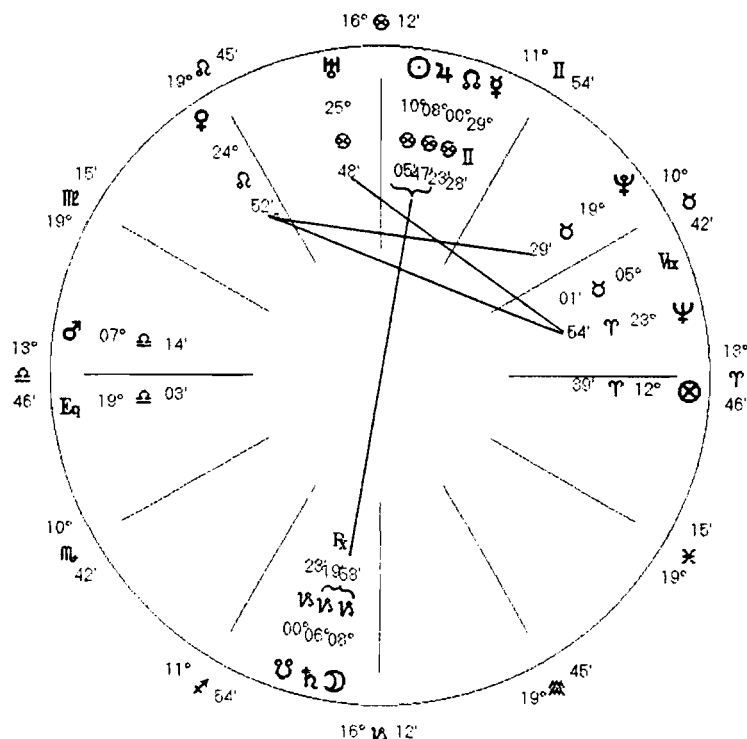

- Dymock.

THE ITALIAN CRISIS

Astrologers owe a debt of gratitude to Nicholas Campion for his monumental work, The Book of World Horoscopes. Never before have we seen such a comprehensive, carefully-researched and authoritative collection of National Charts. These thoughts sprang to mind, when I opened the book to inspect the National Chart for Italy, which has been having a tempestuous time following the disclosures of widespread corruption in political and business circles.

Campion gives three Charts for Italy, including one for the proclamation of the Republic in 1946. I expected this Chart to be the more important in relation to current events, but surprisingly, it appears to have little significance. On the other hand, the Chart for the entry of Victor Emmanuel into Rome in 1971 does reflect the current situation, and Campion writes that this Chart may, in fact, be taken as the basis for a National Horoscope.

KINGDOM OF ITALY ENTRY OF VICTOR EMMANUEL INTO ROME 2nd July 1871, 11:40:04 am GMT. 12°29'East, 41°54'North. Placidian Cusps.

The magisterial probings dubbed "Clean Hands" in Italy has resulted in charges of corruption being laid against more than 2000 politicians and businessmen so far, and several hundreds more are under investigation. The charges relate to the giving or receiving of bribes, association with the Mafia, and illegally using positions of power and influence for personal gain. Twelve of the accused have taken their own lives. Though "kick-backs" are considered almost a way of life in Italy, the general populace has been so angered by the disclosures that they overwhelmingly supported a referendum for political change that will alter the system of voting and reduce the opportunities for corruption.

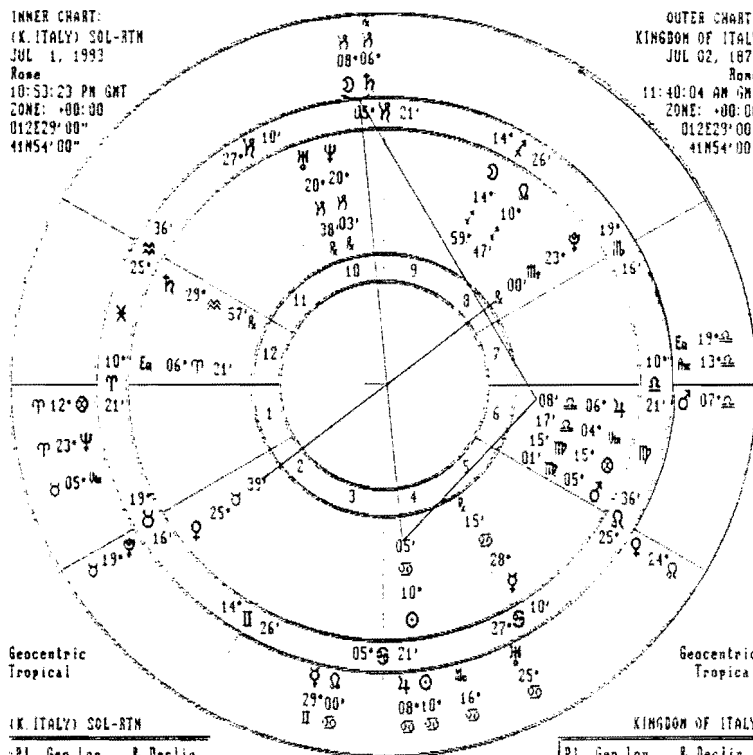

The Kingdom of Italy Chart above has Uranus in the Midheaven square to Neptune, showing the frequent changes of Government for which Italy is notorious. The opposition of Saturn and the Moon to Jupiter and the Sun indicates at least the tendency to corruption in high places. Venus ruling the Ascendant trine to Neptune and square to Pluto in the House of Other People's Money is also indicative of financial scandals.

The present situation is reflected in the Solar Return Chart of 1st July this year. Natal Saturn and the Moon at the Midheaven of the Chart opposing the Sun and in T-Square with Jupiter (ruling the 9th House - legal proceedings) shows the fall of the Government

KINGDOM OF ITALY: SOLAR RETURN 1ST JULY 1993

Rome, 10:53:23 pm GMT.

INNER CHART:
(K. ITALY) SOL-ATH
JUL 1, 1993
Rome
10:53:23 PM GMT
ZONE: +00:00
012E29'00"
41N54'00"

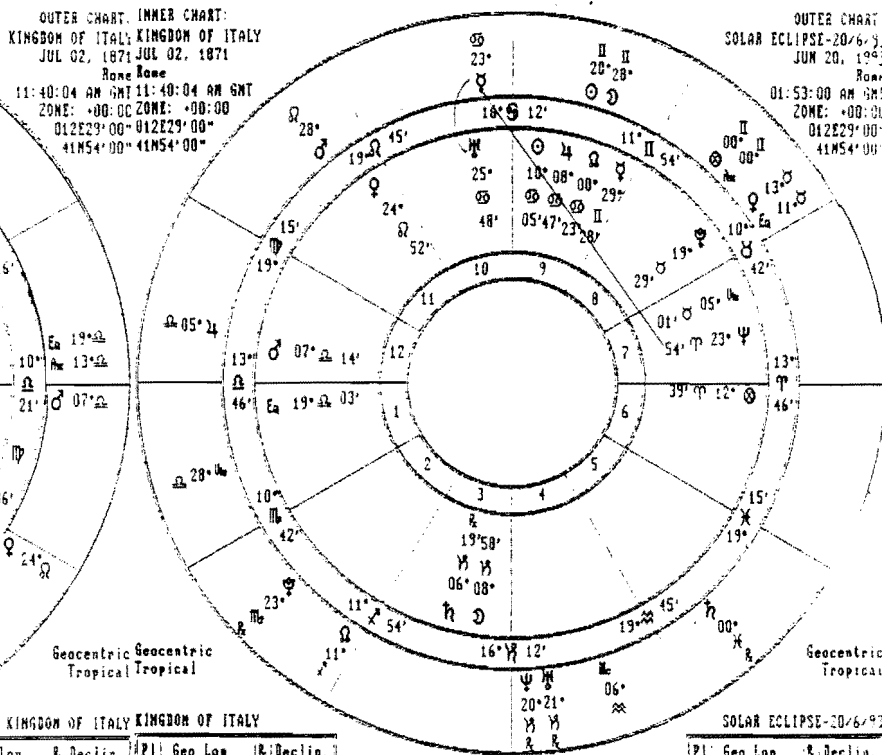

(K. ITALY) SOL-ATH

Pl	Geo Lon	R Decl.
☉	14° 58' 49"	-22° 19'
☌	10° 05' 24"	+23° 03'
☿	28° 15' 14"	+18° 10'
♀	25° 39' 07"	+16° 27'
♂	05° 01' 01"	+10° 39'
♂	06° 08' 17"	+01° 14'
♂	29° 56' 47"	-12° 49'
♂	20° 37' 54"	-22° 20'
♂	20° 37' 33"	-21° 16'
♂	23° 00' 18"	-04° 20'

Dumock Brose
CONSULTANT ASTROLOGER
86 Clarence Road
Blackheath, NSW, 2785.
Tel (047) 87 9874

OUTER CHART: INNER CHART: KINGDOM OF ITALY: KINGDOM OF ITALY
JUL 02, 1871 JUL 02, 1871
Rome Rome
11:40:04 AM GMT 11:40:04 AM GMT
ZONE: +00:00 ZONE: +00:00
012E29'00" 012E29'00"
41N54'00" 41N54'00"

KINGDOM OF ITALY

Pl	Geo Lon	R Decl.
☉	08° 57' 46"	-23° 54'
☌	10° 05' 23"	+23° 04'
☿	29° 27' 44"	+23° 38'
♀	24° 51' 47"	+14° 36'
♂	07° 13' 30"	-02° 51'
♂	08° 46' 34"	+23° 09'
♂	06° 19' 14"	-22° 33'
♂	25° 47' 44"	+21° 30'
♂	23° 53' 59"	-07° 43'
♂	19° 29' 19"	+03° 22'

OUTER CHART:
SOLAR ECLIPSE-20/6/93
JUN 20, 1993
Rome
01:53:00 AM GMT
ZONE: +00:00
012E29'00"
41N54'00"

SOLAR ECLIPSE-20/6/93

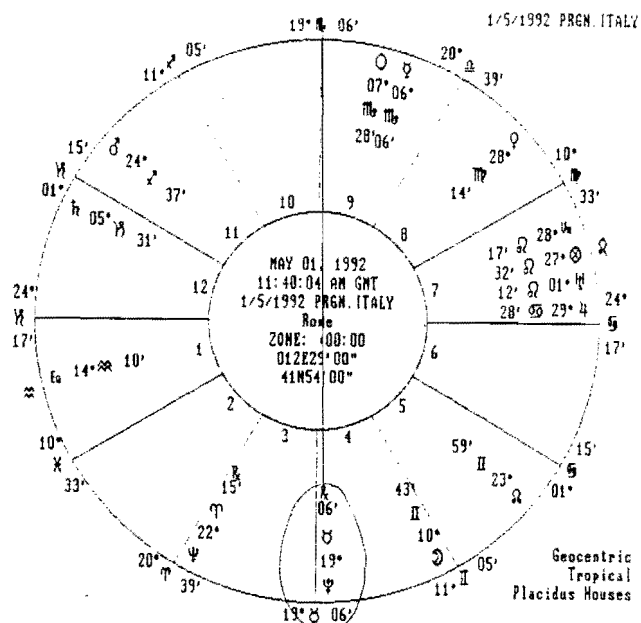

Pl	Geo Lon	R Decl.
☉	28° 45' 59"	+21° 56'
☌	28° 45' 45"	+23° 26'
☿	23° 18' 35"	+21° 52'
♀	13° 18' 07"	+13° 10'
♂	28° 08' 19"	+13° 15'
♂	05° 17' 27"	-00° 52'
♂	00° 14' 53"	-12° 40'
♂	21° 04' 55"	-22° 15'
♂	20° 38' 58"	-21° 13'
♂	23° 13' 45"	-04° 19'

and the weight of the law being brought to bear. The Moon on the Cusp of the 9th House in a Mutable Sign declares the multiplicity of legal proceedings. Pluto opposite Venus in the "Money House" indicates the judicial probing into financial affairs.

Further evidence of Italy's troubles is given by the Chart for the Solar Eclipse on 20th June. When this Chart is superimposed on that for the Kingdom of Italy, the most striking thing is the conjunction of Mercury with Radical Uranus in the Midheaven, and its very close square to Radical Neptune - a prime indication of shock and scandal.

The boil-over in Italy started in 1992, and the Progressed Chart for 1st May of that year is shown below. The Progressed Midheaven is precisely opposite Pluto, The Destroyer, which exactly describes the political turmoil and re-organization. The Midheaven here is Progressed in the standard way by Sidereal Time increment. If we Progress it by Solar-Arc, as recommended by Laurence Ely (page 8, last Issue) the Midheaven is at 13°34' Scorpio - nowhere near the opposition to Pluto. To my mind this affirms the validity of the MC progressed by Sidereal Time.

PROGRESSED CHART 1ST MAY 1992
FOR KINGDOM OF ITALY
Midheaven Progressed by Sidereal Increment.

Christmas is now upon us, and I wish all readers a happy, and safe, festive season. Have you thought of giving a subscription to Astrologers' Forum as a Christmas Present?

- Dymock, 11th December 1993.

Astrologers' Forum

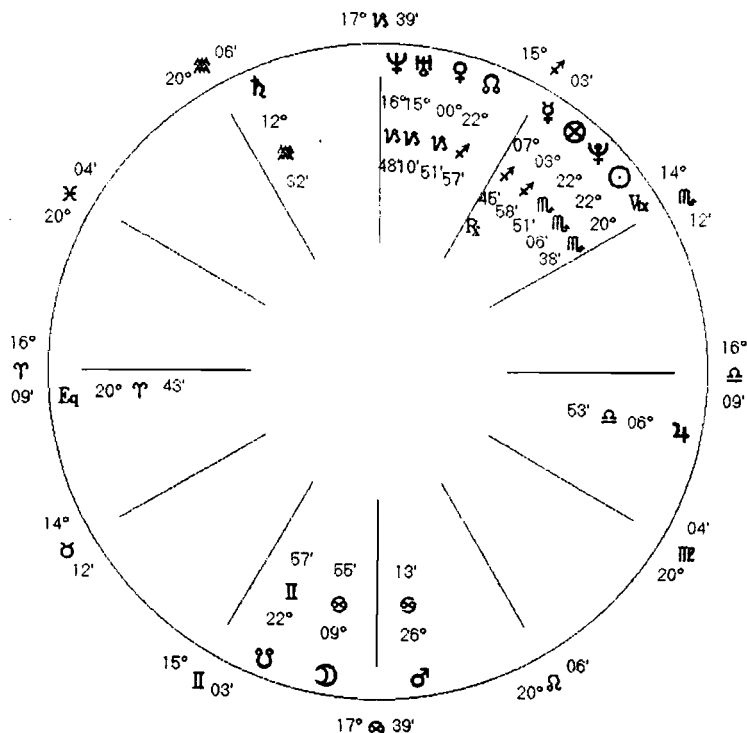

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785.
Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25.
Issues 146/147 September/October 1993

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

HORARY QUESTIONS

Robert De Luce said Horary Astrology is the most useful and practical branch of the art, and opportunities for its employment are forever presenting themselves. Here are some horary questions from recent practice:

Chart1: A woman asks, "What will be the outcome of my relationship with this man?"

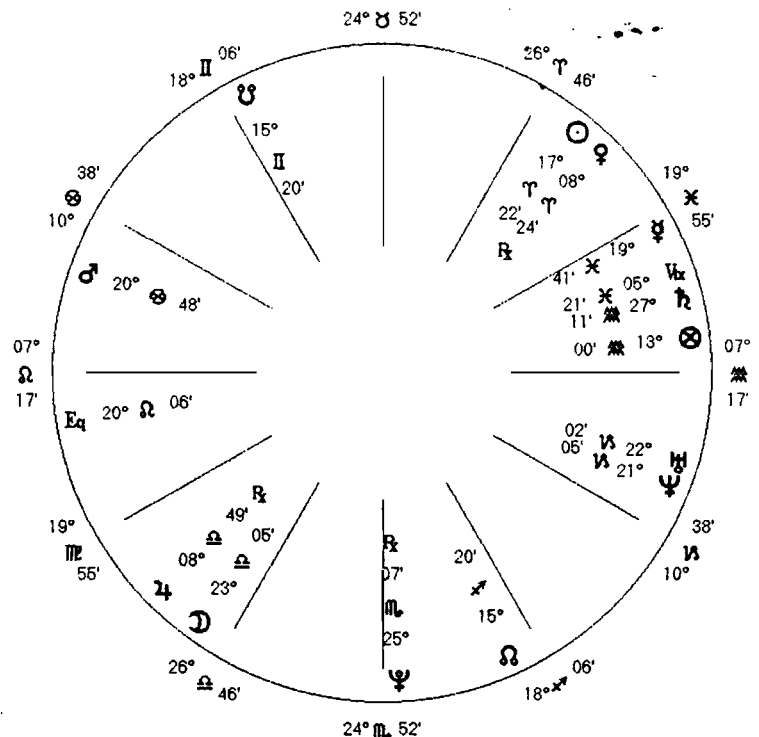

The Querent is signified by the Ruler of the Ascendant, Mars, and the Moon, both of which occupy the Sign Cancer - her Natal Ascendant. Her partner is signified by Venus, the Ruler of the 7th House. Venus is in the Exaltation (Capricorn) of Mars, and Mars is in the Term of Venus (20°-27° Cancer). This is a minor sort of Mutual Reception, and has some binding effect but not of great depth. There is a link, but it is not strong enough to overcome the opposition of the Moon to Venus, Uranus and Neptune. The Moon separating from the opposition of Venus, the man's Significator, shows a rift has already developed in the relationship, and the

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
Horary questions	1
Fatal Journey	3
A Rectification Method	4
H.R.H. The Queen Mother	5
Fire Death	6
Israel-P.L.O Peace Accord	2
Controversial Points	8

applying opposition to disruptive Uranus and Neptune (The Dissolver) portends an early end to the affair. And this is what duly happened.

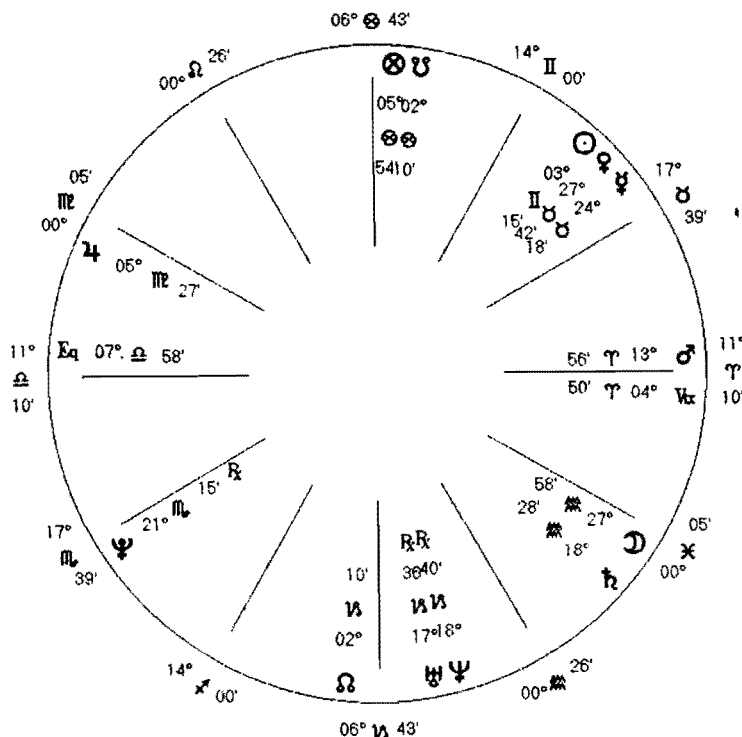

Chart 2: Is it time to die?

The unfortunate Querent was suffering from cancer and felt that her end was approaching. Her question was apparently prompted by the thought that by striving to live she was only prolonging a useless and painful struggle. The answer is clear from the Chart: The Querent is signified by the Sun, Ruling the Ascendant, and the Moon, which are opposing each other. The Sun occupies the House of Death, and is squared by Mars (ruling the terminal 4th House), Uranus and Neptune. These five celestial bodies (Sun, Moon, Mars, Uranus and Neptune) form a Cardinal Cross. Pluto, the Destroyer, is right on the Cusp of the 4th House, and is linked by trine to the Horary Ruler of the 4th, Mars. The stage was set, and the end came just $7\frac{1}{2}$ weeks after the question was asked. The Sun is a little more than $7\frac{1}{2}^\circ$ from the quincunx of Pluto, where it stands balefully at the terminus. As the Sun occupies a Cardinal Sign and a Succedent House, degrees here correspond to weeks - and the reckoning was very close.

Chart 3: What will be the outcome in my present difficult relationship?

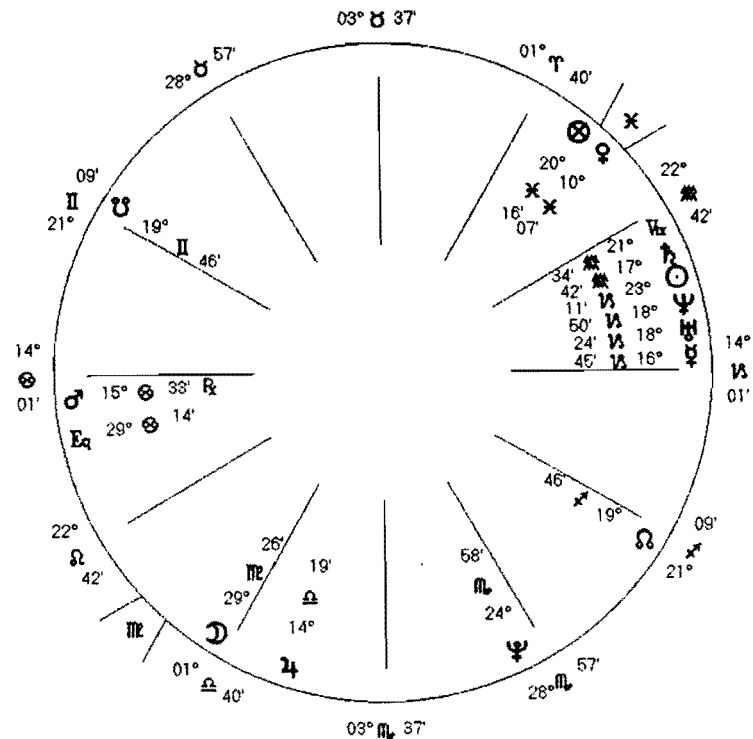

The querent, a woman, is in a difficult situation with an erratic, non-working male. The Moon being void-of-course gives an immediate hint that the relationship has no future. The Moon is also Co-Significator of the Querent, the other Significator being Venus, Ruler of the Ascendant. The Moon in the 6th House, and ruling the 10th, identifies with the Querent who was developing a business by working and manufacturing in the home. The squares to Pluto in the 2nd and Venus in the 8th show the financial difficulties she is encountering.

The partner is signified by Mars in and ruling the 7th House. The squares to Mars from Uranus and Neptune show him to be not only erratic but also having psychotic tendencies.

The only connection between the Significators of the Querent and those of the Quesited are semisquares from Mars to the Moon and Venus, which is certainly not enough to keep the partnership together. In fact, it augurs strife. This as well as the void-of-course Moon shows the relationship will break up, which it did very soon after, and hasn't been resumed.

Chart 4: Should I employ this person in my business?

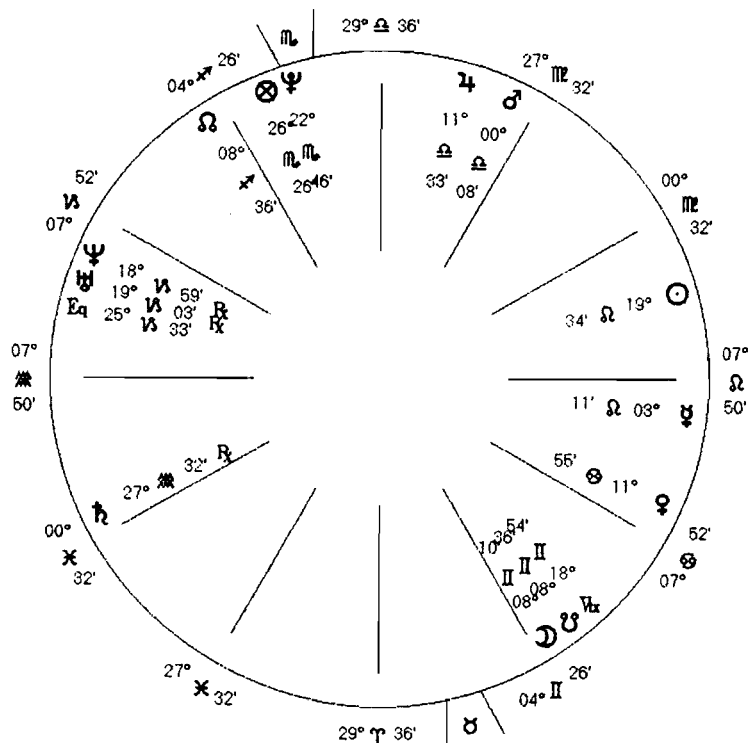

The Querent is represented by the Moon ruling the 1st House, and Mars on the Cusp of the 1st. The Quesited is represented by Mercury on the Cusp of the 7th, and Saturn, ruling the 7th. Mars and Mercury being closely opposed to one another is a sufficient indication on its own that employing the Quesited would be a huge mistake, leading to antagonism and wrangling. Additionally, however, as the Moon is void-of-course, there would be no future in the arrangement.

The employment did take place, lasted a very short time, and broke up in dissension.

Chart 5: Will Australia get the Olympic Games in the year 2000?

It is now history that Australia did gain the right to stage the Olympic Games in the year 2000, but it was still a matter of HORARY CHART: 12th August 1993, 4:26pm.

150°18'E, 33°38'S. Placidian Cusps.

excited speculation on 12th August when the question was put to me by a subscriber to Astrologers' Forum. The above Chart was calculated for the time of the question.

As the Chart relates to a matter of National interest, the particular querent (the person who enquired) is not represented in it, and the two sides of the Figure, Eastern and Western, may be taken to denote Australia (Ascendant) and the other countries in a group, (Descendant). The question was not which of the five contenders will win selection, but specifically, will Australia win?

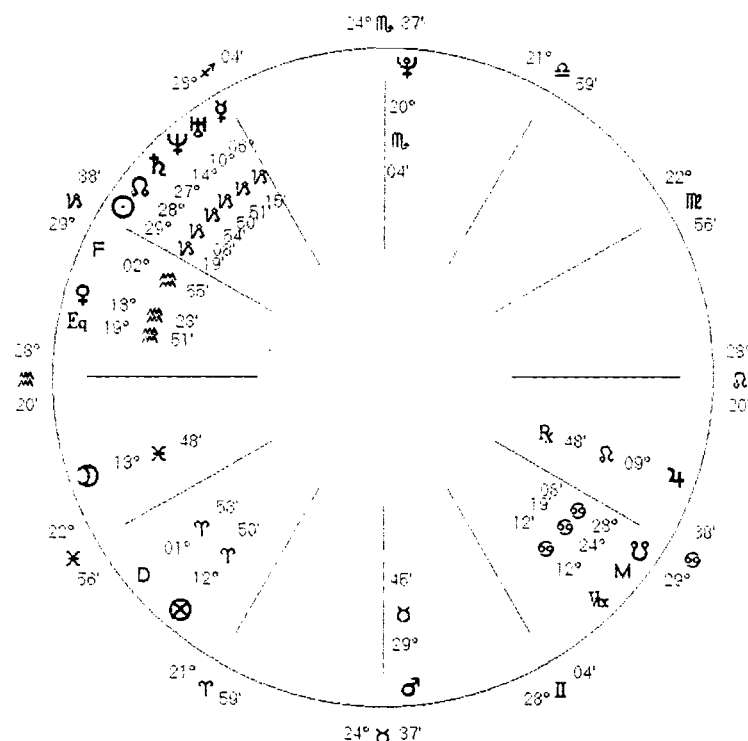

Aquarius rises, so the Significators of Australia are Saturn and the Moon. In this case, the Moon is obviously the more important Significator as it is on the Cusp of the 5th House, which of course signifies the Games. The beautiful trine to Jupiter elevated in the 9th House settles the matter out of hand - a win for Australia. Jupiter rules the 11th House, which signifies the International Olympic Committee, who made the selection, and the 9th House relates to the overseas setting (Monaco) where the decision was made and announced.

As for the rival group of cities, they are represented by the Sun, ruling the 7th House, and their chances were killed by the opposition of Saturn and the square of Pluto. Their bid, however, was strong as the Sun is powerful through occupying its own Sign.

- Dymock.

FATAL JOURNEY

20th January 1991, Guilford, NSW.
150°59'E, 33°51'S. Placidian Cusps.

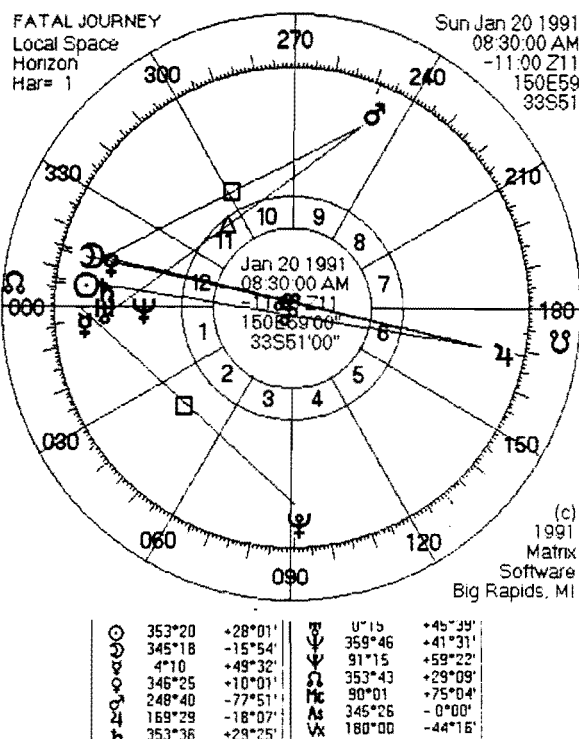

This is the Chart for the commencement in January 1991 of Simone Schmidl's ill-fated attempt to hitch-hike to Melbourne from the Sydney suburb, Guildford. She left at 8:30 in the morning, and was never seen again. Skeletal remains found recently in the Belanglo State Forest in Southern NSW have now been identified as those of Simone, the fifth murder victim found in the area.

The Chart is just about as bad as it could be for a lone woman undertaking such a risky journey. The Sun, The Life-Giver, is exactly on the 12th Cusp ("Self-Undoing") in close conjunction with malefic Saturn - which presages a denial of life. Saturn rules the 12th, and by tradition is ruler of the Ascendant also in this Chart. The trine from Mars to both the Sun and Saturn signifies personal injury, the Martian influence being augmented by its Angular position close to the 4th Cusp (end of life). Venus in the 12th in close square to Pluto indicates the danger of rape.

In the Horizon Chart below the same Radical data are used but the planets are referred to the plane of the Horizon instead of the Ecliptic. This Chart also depicts a highly dangerous situation: The Ascendant, signifying the person's health and wellbeing, is assailed by no less than four malefic planets - Saturn, Uranus and Neptune by conjunction, and Pluto by square. Mars adds its quota of menace by being square to the Moon and Venus.

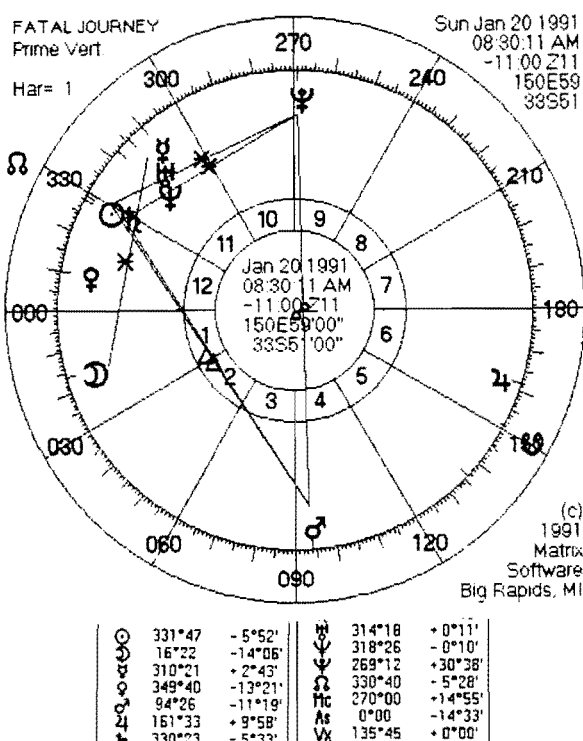

FATAL JOURNEY: HORIZON CHART

Again, the Sun and Saturn are conjunct, even closer than in the Ecliptic Chart (0°16').

As a matter of interest I include also a third Local Space Chart, with equally adverse implications. It is the Prime Vertical Horoscope, where the planets' positions are referred to the plane of the Prime Vertical.

FATAL JOURNEY: PRIME VERTICAL CHART

Again, the Sun conjoins Saturn on the 12th Cusp, but the most striking feature is the highly perilous opposition of Pluto to Mars on the 10th/4th axis, a combination associated with rape and murder.

The three Charts show that the unfortunate victim, setting out at that particular hour, had little chance of survival. - Dymock.

From NICK SUTHERLAND (USA):

Thank you for publishing your series of rectification exercises. Using some of the techniques developed by Dr. Jack Nicholls and Ross Harvey, I was one of two people to come within a half-hour of the birth time in Rectification Contest #2 published by Ken Gillman in Considerations VIII, No.3. Diane Cramer, the other winner, used a Cosmobiology technique developed by Henry Neimann and described in his book Rectification: Known and Unknown Birth Times. This technique might be of interest to some of your readers:

1. Use a 45° chart. This makes it easy to spot event-causing hard aspects in the 45° series (0, 45, 90, 135, 180, 225, 270, 315, 360) because they appear as conjunctions.
2. Calculate the 0h and 24h Moon positions at birth, and enter them on the 45° chart.
3. Calculate the 12h Jupiter position and enter it on the 45° chart. Jupiter has less motion per day than Venus.
4. Find a joyous event that could be symbolized by a Moon-Jupiter or Jupiter-Moon contact.
5. Determine the True Solar Arc (TSA) for the event.
6. Both add and subtract the TSA from the 12h Jupiter position, and enter these two positions on the 45° chart. These two positions indicate where the Natal Moon would have to be for a Jupiter/Moon contact (JUC).
7. Calculate the time.

To convert planetary positions to the 45° format, simply express them as a 360° position and subtract 45° or the appropriate multiple. For example:

12h Jup. 2°14'Vir.= 152°14' - 135 = 17°14'.
 0h Moon 15°46'Sag.= 255°46' - 225 = 30°46'.
 12h Moo 27°41'Sag.= 267°41' - 225 = 42°41'

Diane Cramer selected the birth of the first daughter as a joyous event. The TSA for this event was 27°53'.

12h Jup 17°14'+ TSA 27°53' = 45°07' - 45°
 = Jupiter direct 0°07'.
 12h Jup 17°14'- TSA 27°53' = -10°39' + 45°
 = Jup.converse 34°21'.

(Note: Add or subtract 45° as necessary to stay in the 0 - 45° range.)

The Jupiter converse position falls in the Moon's Oh - 24h range, which indicates a Moon-Jupiter contact. In other words, a Natal Moon at the Jupiter converse position plus a TSA of 27°53' will contact Natal Jupiter.

Trial Moon 34°21' - Oh-Moon 30°46' = 3°35'.
Divided by 24h motion (11°55') = 0:18:2.52.
Multiplied by 24h = 7:13 am, which is within 21 minutes of the given birth time (6:52 am).

Neimann then uses other events with their Solar-Arc and Transit positions to fine-tune the Midheaven and Ascendant.

The problem with this technique is obvious. Joyous events can be indicated by contacts other than Moon - Jupiter or Jupiter - Moon.

H.R.H. THE QUEEN MOTHER by Leslie Black

So far as known, a correct horoscope of the Queen Mother has not been put forward, as the place and time of birth were not known, even to the Queen Mother herself! But reliable information from royal biographers recently has now provided a working basis.

Lady Elizabeth Angela Marguerite Bowes-Lyon, ninth child and daughter of Claude George Bowes-Lyon, 14th Earl of Strathmore, and Nina Cavendish-Bentinck, was born on a Bank LHoliday, Saturday, 4th August 1900.

It is now known that at the time of the Queen Mother's birth her parents had a city residence at 20 St James Square, London, and a country one in Hertfordshire, at St Pauls Walden Bury, Welwyn. But it was on the father's inheritance of the Earldom of Strathmore and Glamis Castle in 1904, when young Elizabeth was aged four, that a lease was taken out on 20 St James Square. So this discounts the rumour that the Queen Mother was born in Scotland, although she has always considered herself Scottish, and the Scots have duly claimed her as their own.

There is only a slight difference between the geographical coordinates of both English residences, and London seems to be the one most favoured by the researchers.

The appended Chart is cast for 11:21am, a time rectified by the four main events of her life with their appropriate Directions. The time is supported by the Secondary measure, counting 23 days after birth for marriage, which shows Progressed Venus trine to the Radical Moon, suggesting the time of birth would be a little before noon.

Lady Elizabeth, a commoner, married the Duke of York on the 26th April 1937 at Westminster Abbey, becoming the Duchess of York, the Naibod Arc being 22°24'. The Directions formed for this event were Prog. Venus conjunct M.C, Prog.Ascendant trine Venus, and Prog. Neptune trine the Moon.

On the abdication of King Edward VIII on 10th December 1936, Lady Elizabeth became Queen Consort to her husband, who then became King George VI. The Naibod Arc for this event was 35°50', which formed the Directions of Prog. Moon opposite Mars and Prog.Jupiter sextile the North Node.

At the Coronation, which took place on 12th May 1937, the Naibod Arc of 36°14' gave the Direction of Prog. Jupiter sextile Uranus.

On the death of King George VI, 6th February 1952, the Naibod arc was 50°56', giving Directions Prog. Saturn conjunct the Moon, Prog. Neptune square the Moon, and Prog. Moon quincunx the Sun.

H.R.H. THE QUEEN MOTHER

4th August 1900. 51°32'N, 0°5'W. Porphyry Cusps. Leslie Black's rectified time 11:21am.

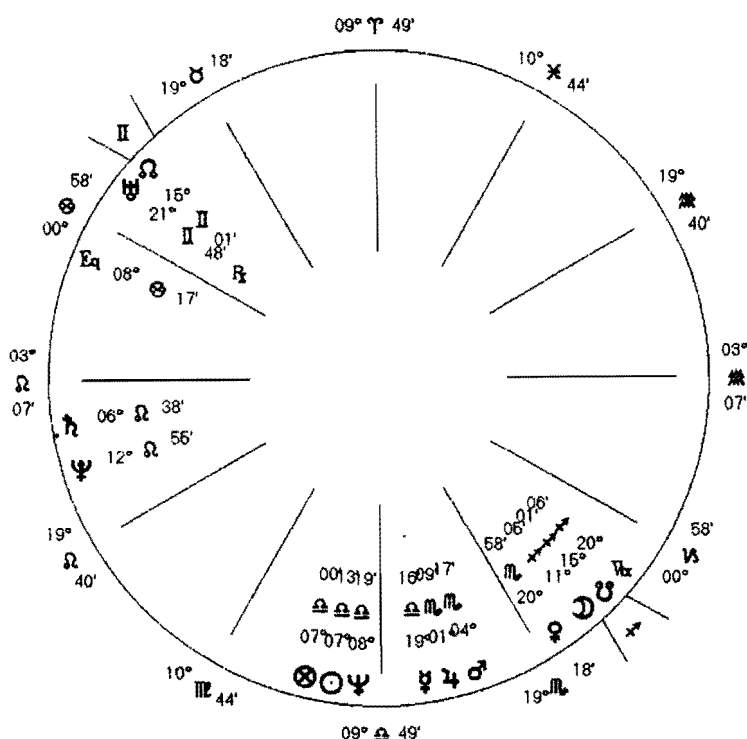

The Horoscope is truly a regal one with the Sun elevated in royal Leo in parallel with her Ruler, Venus. Mercury culminating and being the Hour Ruler is in trine to royal Jupiter, Uranus, and the North Node - "Queen-ship in the process of being decreed by the stars.

The Gemini decanate rising brings the sub-influence of both Mercury and Venus into the Ascendant, so all they represent would have a considerable influence upon the life. They give intellectual stability, a keen appreciation of beauty, a desire to serve the common good, gracious charm of manner and gentle solicitude shown to everyone irrespective of class or station. The Libran poise and dignity, which is a natural attribute, immense adaptability (six planets in Mutable) and (her greatest asset) the ability to get on easily with others, endear her to the hearts of all her subjects.

JOAN ERIKSEN (NSW) has sent me data concerning the birth and death of a man who died in a fire in 1984. The cause of death was asphyxiation. Here is the Birth Chart:

1st October 1946, London, 0°6'W, 51°31'N
Placidian Cusps.

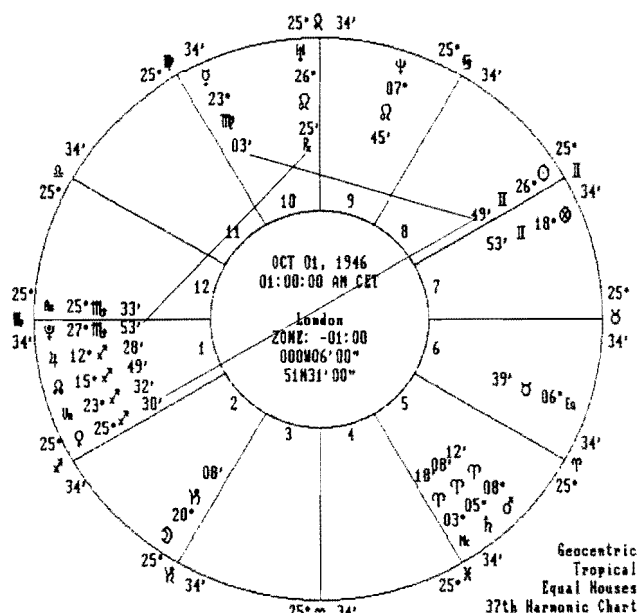

The danger from fire is fairly obvious: Mars conjunct Jupiter in Scorpio in the terminal 4th House, both square to Saturn at the Ascendant. Additionally there are some malefic Fixed Star influences: The Moon conjunct Rastaban, with the combined nature of Saturn/Mars/Jupiter, exactly the three planets posing the threat in his Birth Chart! Venus, ruling the "End-of-Life" House is conjunct Alpha Serpentis, also a Saturn/Mars combination.

The 37th Harmonic Chart, covering the date of the death, is very clear in its implications:

One is immediately struck with the position of Pluto, The Destroyer, right on the Ascendant, and square to Uranus at the Midheaven. Uranus rules the terminal 4th House. The Sun is on the Cusp of the House of Death, square Mercury ruling the same House,

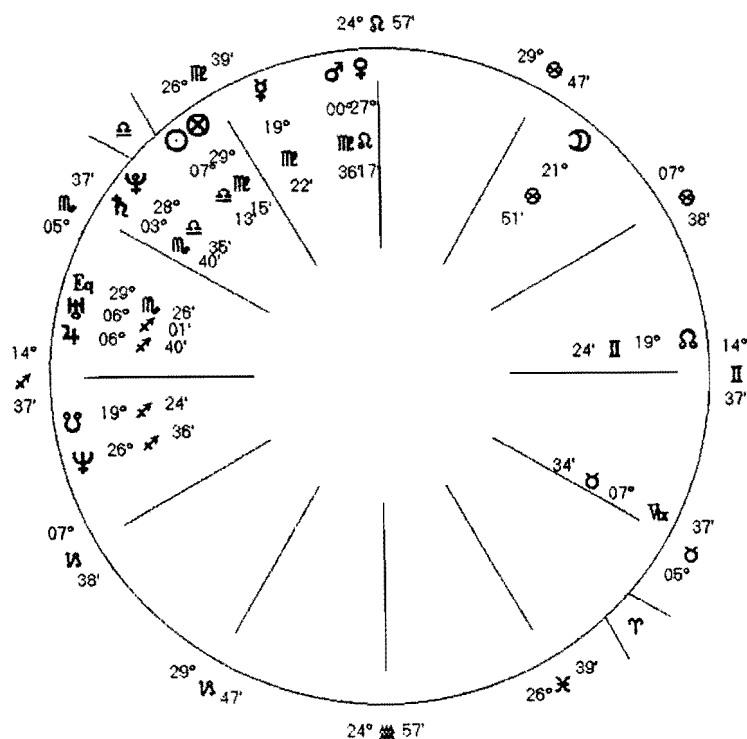

FIRE DEATH: AGE HARMONIC 37

♌♌♌ 1°50'a ♏♏♏ 1°19's
♊♊♊ 2°20'a ♊♊♊ 1°28's

opposite the Vertex (fateful occurrences), and Venus, ruling the unfortunate 12th House. Natal Uranus is also conjunct the Age-Harmonic Sun in the 8th House. Scorpio on the Ascendant draws attention to the 8th House and its possibilities of a fatality, amply borne out by the planetary configurations.

FIRE DEATH: SOLAR RETURN 1st October 1983 Place of Residence: 150°33'E, 33°42'S

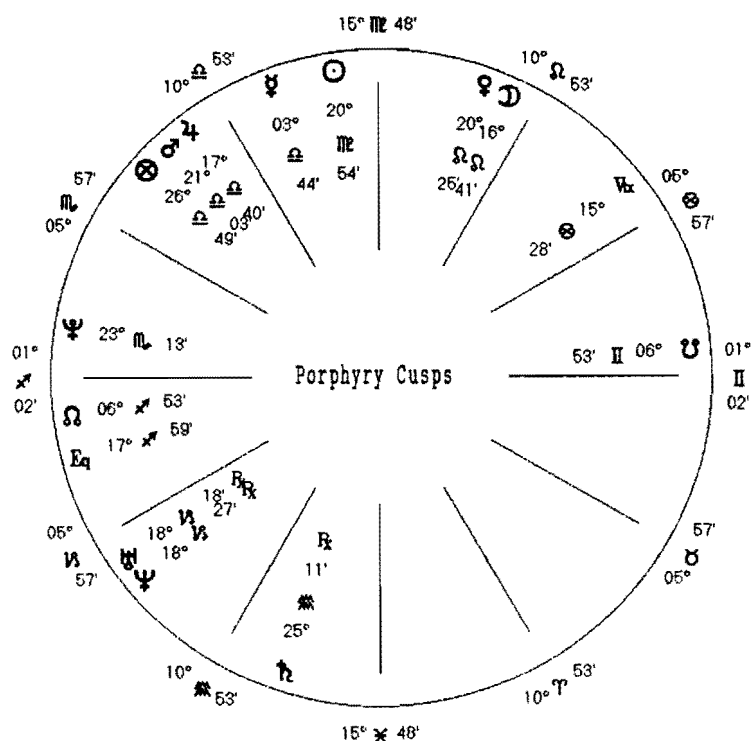

Curiously, the Solar Return Chart above gives little hint of the impending fatality. There is one significant contact with the Birth Horoscope (Saturn conjunct Mars - the two being in square at the birth). The Chart is set for the place of residence, but it is no more indicative when cast for the place of birth.

This is a caution to look beyond a single Cyclic Chart when prognosticating.

Saturn was transitting square to Natal Pluto on the 5th of May, nine days before the fire. The event was timed accurately by the Progressed Moon/Mars midpoint sextile Natal Moon on 14th May.

THE ISRAEL-PLO PEACE ACCORD by Leslie Black.

The Peace Accord signed in the White House garden at Washington on Monday, September 13, 1993, was more a set of principles than a formal Treaty. It called for a five-year phase of limited self-rule in the Occupied Territories, beginning with Gaza and Jericho on the West Bank. It was a sombre ceremony, lacking flags and anthems, as the world looked on to witness this historic moment for Israel and the Palestine Liberation Organisation to call for an end to decades of bloodshed in the Middle East. At precisely 11:45 EST, with the signatures drying on the page, Mr. Yasser Arafat, PLO Chairman, thrust his hand towards his bitter enemy, Mr. Yitzhak Rabin, the Israel Prime Minister and military mastermind of the 1967 War.

In his address Mr. Rabin said Jews around the world were watching the event in Washington with great hope mixed with apprehension. He quoted the Bible, Ecclesiastes 3, 1-6: "To everything there is a season and a time for every purpose under the Heaven...", adding a personal rider, "a time for war and a time for peace". Mr Rabin also used his address to re-affirm Israel's claim to the ancient and eternal Capital of the Jewish people, Jerusalem.

Mr. Arafat speaking in Arabic said, "My people hope that this agreement which we are signing today marks the beginning of the end of a chapter of pain and suffering which has lasted throughout this Century". But much remains to bring round the opposition to Mr. Arafat from within the Palestine movement. Jordan is worried about the effects of autonomy on its own Palestinian population. Syria, as usual, is playing a waiting game. Meanwhile, radical Islamists, largely financed by Iran, are keeping up the momentum of killing Jews since the signing of the Accord, and are hell-bent on pulling the fragile structure down.

Mundanelly, the United Arab Republic as a unit comes under the Zodiacal Sign of Libra. Jerusalem is under Virgo. So what does the Figure of the Heavens show in terms of "Peace" becoming a possibility for the moment of the signatures of the plenipotentiaries being appended to the Accord? In the first instance, although the U.T. was 4:45pm for the signing, it was 11:37am local time. So, according to Llewellyn George's Planetary hours, Venus, planet of peace, ruled the hour at Washington's latitude.

The Chart shows Virgo 15°48' on the Midheaven, with Sagittarius 1°33' ascending. The Sun is in Virgo 20°54', culminating in the M.C., well-aspected, and by virtue of its position and power, becoming the Ruler of the scheme. The Moon is in the Ninth House conjoined with Venus, both sextiling Jupiter and Mars, while Mercury in the Eleventh throws a double sextile to the North Node and Ascendant. The Sun and the North Node are the only Significators that are Angular. It is a sign that energies will be directed towards success and accomplishment. Five planets in the Cardinal Signs provide ample scope for branching out, pioneering new enterprises and seeking new paths for future development. Four planets in Fixed Signs shows much determination, fixity of purpose, and the ability to handle difficult details that arise. To be able to adapt to changing circumstances and be at the forefront of affairs is indicated by one planet and all Angles in the Mutables.

It can be judged therefore, that the Agreement will be fully implemented with much activity, daring and fixity of purpose, coupled with determination in adapting a means to an end. Four planets in the Airy Signs shows events to move largely on the intellectual plane, with sound judgement being in evidence, and practical considerations playing an important part in decision-making, as seen by three planets in the Earthy Signs. Two planets in Fiery Signs shows much zeal and enthusiasm.

The fact that the four Angles of the Figure are occupied by Common Signs is in keeping with the agreement being an Accord and not a Treaty, which would require a more fixed and stable orientation for success. But there is a five-year interim before the Accord can be judged finally as to the probable duration of peace in the Middle East.

In five years time Secondary Progressions show M.C. conjunct the Sun, and the Ascendant conjunct the True Node (6°7' Sagittarius) [Mean Node shown in the Figure - Ed.]. Taking everything into consideration, the Map is as good as if an Election of time had been prepared for it. The only impediment that exists is the inharmonious configuration of Venus's opposition to and contra-parallel with Saturn. This may not prove to be menacing, as the Sun disposes of Venus.

If peace is to have a chance at all, what better ambient could be wished for than Venus, planet of peace, ruling the very hour, conjoined with the Moon that rules the day, disposed by the Sun who rules supreme and in glory!

LAURENCE ELY, Director of In Focus, P.O. Box 192, Hadley, MA 01035 U.S.A. makes some interesting claims regarding astrological techniques. Readers might like to consider and comment on them in relation to their own experience. The information was sent to me by Nick Sutherland (USA). Here is the substance of what Laurence Ely says:

House Systems

There are four valid House systems - Alcabitius, Campanus, Koch and Meridian. The intermediate Cusps by these systems give appropriate events, feelings, and changes, and so they exist and are useful for interpretation, prediction, and rectification. The Placidian, Regiomontanus, Porphyry and Topocentric Cusps on the other hand do not give appropriate events, feelings, and changes, so Laurence thinks these systems do not exist in the sense of astrological efficacy. The so-called Equal Houses are not Houses because Houses must divide a circle other than the Ecliptic, and project back onto the Ecliptic. The fact that Equal Houses work is due to a principle other than Houses. Using many House systems is valuable in rectification, because they give many check points (Cusps) for past feelings and changes, and can be especially helpful for inspecting relatively recent events or shifts in connection with Transits, Progressions, and Directions. Many times people do not have many events in their lives that they remember clearly as to the date and time, but they are often able to recall the dates and times of relatively recent events.

Progression

MC progressed by Solar-Arc, not by Sidereal Time. "One cannot rectify or predict if one calculates the Progressed MC by the change in Sidereal Time."

Using the Equatorial Ascendant is important because it allows one to avoid the error of taking a square to the MC, when it was a conjunction with the Equatorial Ascendant that was manifesting. The Vertex is important because it rapidly separates from the other three Angles when the Ascendant is near 0° Aries.

Zodiac, Lunar Node, Latitude of birth, planetary positions

The Tropical Zodiac is what operates on Earth, and is correct for geocentric Astrology.

The Mean Lunar Node is the "true" Node - not the so-called "True Node". The geographic latitude of birth, not the geocentric latitude of birth, is correct, and the geocentric, apparent planetary positions (not topocentric or geometric).

The Tropical Zodiac is what operates on the Earth when doing geocentric astrology. The Sidereal Zodiac is what operates on the Sun when doing heliocentric astrology. One cannot employ the Sidereal Zodiac when doing geocentric astrology because one cannot use Houses in the Sidereal Zodiac. Houses are created by macrocosmic-microcosmic reflection from the Tropical Zodiac. The Tropical Zodiac's Aries point is created by the node of the Ecliptic Circle on the Celestial Equator. The Ascendant (analogous to Aries in the Tropical Zodiac) is the node of the Ecliptic on the Horizon. In the Sidereal Zodiac there is no node since its Aries point is not defined by one. I found that when I used the Sidereal Zodiac for geocentric astrology, transits to the Ascendant did not work.

The comments of readers on the above would be welcome. More to come if interest is shown.
- Dymock, 29th November 1993.

Astrologers' Forum

A Monthly Publication Devoted to the Improvement of Astrological Practice through the sharing of Knowledge, Experience and Techniques. Edited and Published by Dymock Brose, 86 Clarence Road, Blackheath NSW, Australia 2785. Annual Subscription Australia & NZ $20, Overseas $A25. Issues 144/145 July/August 1993

Dear Fellow Astrologer,

BERLIN WALL REVISITED by Allan Johnson

The collapse of the Berlin Wall on 9th November 1989 was one of the most dramatic events of this Century. Effectively it marked the end of the German Democratic Republic (G.D.R.), but its final official ending did not come till German Unification was proclaimed at midnight on 3rd of October 1990, almost twelve months later. Thus one of the most hard-line communist countries of Eastern Europe vanished into history. However, the crisis in East Germany was not altogether unexpected. Erich Honecker, the leader for 18 years, had been compelled to resign by his own cabinet. There was no organized coup. No one was waiting in the wings to seize power. In fact, there was a power vacuum. Almost no violence - in a country where violence is no stranger. It was simply that the decline which everybody had been aware of, had now quickened. It was more of a grass-roots revolution, with massive street demonstrations of up to a million people demanding reform. The Government didn't have the answers, and lacking the will even to hold itself together, simply collapsed. As the termination of a country it was pretty unique.

There is some confusion about the actual Chart for East Germany, as it emerged out of the Soviet Sector of the Four-power Administration of post-war Germany. The Book of World Horoscopes by Nicholas Campion gives 25th March 1954 as the date for East German independence, when sovereignty was actually transferred from the Soviet military authorities to the East German Government, with the time given as 10:30 pm. There is also a Chart for 7th October 1949 for the G.D.R. but this did not involve complete independence as a sovereign State, being more of a de facto set-up. So I am using the 1954 Chart.

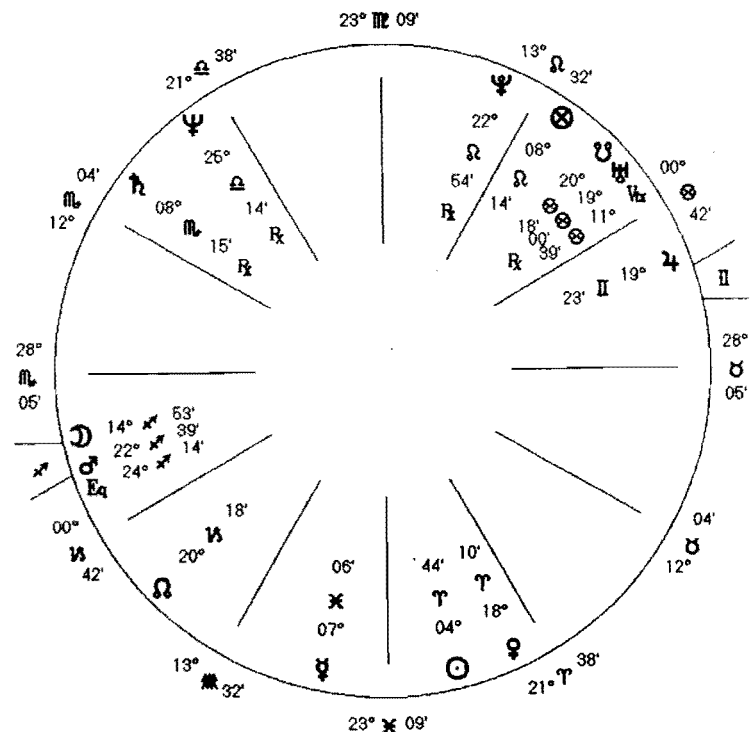

Of course there are two ways of looking at a chart of this nature. One is whether its subsequent history is reflected in the chart as a whole, and the other is whether we get a

IN THIS ISSUE

	Page
Berlin Wall Revisited	1
Murder and the Lunar Eclipse	3
The Indian Earthquake	3
Which Chart for Elizabeth II?	7

EAST GERMAN INDEPENDENCE

25th March 1954, 10:30pm GMT, Berlin.
13°22'E, 52°30'N. Placidian Cusps.

correlation of events with astrological phenomena. Of course the rise and fall of the Wall itself are key dates - but on the other hand we cannot look at events in isolation. The G.D.R. was never an isolated set-up, but part of a much wider canvas involving the Soviet Union and other Eastern European countries. So events outside could be even more important than those within. And there is one date that stands out like a lighthouse in regard to the collapse of communism world-wide. That date was 11th March 1985 - the Russia. It didn't seem so dramatic at the time, but it was his change in Russia's date when M. Gorbachev came to power in foreign policy that precipitated everything else. He pulled Russian troops out of Afghanistan and made it clear that communist governments could not expect Russian troops and tanks to prop them up in future. This was a total reversal of policy, and started the rot for world communism.

So the 1985 date should figure as a very major event for the G.D.R. For the G.D.R. Chart the Ascendant is 28°5' Scorpio - and on that date Saturn was right on 28°6' Scorpio! So we do get effective correlations. Transitting Pluto was exactly quincunx Natal Sun (a death aspect), Neptune was square the Sun (very appropriate), while Uranus was on the Moon/Jupiter axis (portent of liberation). In addition Progressed Mars exactly squared Natal Sun. Looking at the collapse of the Wall itself we get transitting Uranus square Natal Sun in the 4th, while Saturn and Neptune were making a close conjunction in the heavens, very symptomatic of what was happening - a visionary dream meeting the hard impact of reality. The other date for the start of the building of the Wall was equally revealing: Neptune right on Natal Saturn (again the same combination of Neptune/Saturn linking visions with reality), while transitting Saturn at 25° Capricorn squared Natal Neptune! So all this does very much to confirm the validity of the 1954 Chart.

Now to look at the G.D.R. Chart as a whole. What is significant here is that although it has some powerful configurations, the Sun is not involved, being virtually unaspected. A person with an unaspected Sun often lacks a real sense of direction in life, or of self-confidence, or a real independence. This means that to a great extent such people are motivated by others. And when that support is taken away they can be left without a rudder. This is exactly applicable to the G.D.R., even with the Sun in Aries, a very self-assertive Sign. It has shown a very aggressive stance at times, and achieved a high profile - yet at the same time it commenced life as a satellite, and to a great extent remained one.

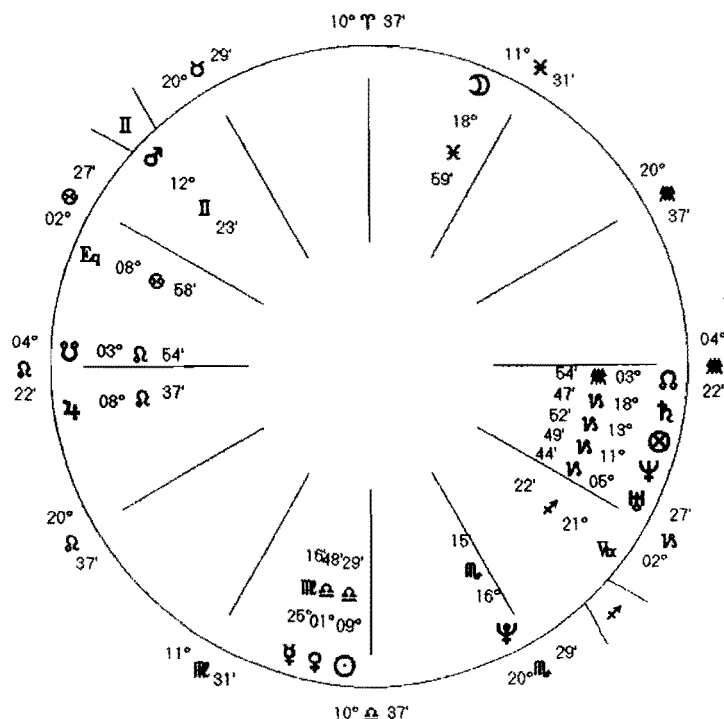

When the internal crisis finally came, and without Russian intervention, it was unable to survive. I think the reason why it expired without a lot of violence and bloodshed, which might have been expected, was the Grand Trine in Fire Signs (Moon, Mars, Venus, Pluto). I have found that people with Grand Trines can get into a lot of trouble - but come out of it on a soft landing. I have seen this happen over and over again. The other important configuration is the T-Square pattern (Neptune, Uranus, Venus). This could also not be considered a violent configuration. But Uranus is in the 8th House. Its demise was very unexpected to the world at large. The square of Uranus to Neptune is interesting. Although it links with unrealized visions of Utopia, it also has a lot to do with espionage, massive secrecy and surveillance. It was this side of its activities that finally undermined its popularity. In a population of 16 million, the secret police held dossiers on 5 million of its citizens! It was the most complete system of surveillance known to history.

The Chart for German Unification (3rd October 1990) does not have such a high profile, with a stellium of Capricorn planets in the 6th House. Its most important feature is the Sun squaring all these. I think this is reflected in the difficulties the two Germanys have had in trying to achieve integration, and the disillusionment a lot of East Germans have experienced about employment. Progressed Sun has recently been making a square to Neptune in the House of Work and Service, which figures.

GERMAN UNIFICATION

0-hours CET, 3rd October 1990, Berlin.
Placidian Cusps.

As a postscript I mention a few news items from overseas. A new journal has been started in England called The Traditional Astrologer, and in the U.S.A. Robert Hand is heading a new organization called The Association for the Retrieval of Historical Texts. These moves point to a revival of Classical or

