

FAASA next meeting: Saturday April 13th, 2 pm

Sunrise, Sunset

A discussion of the Twelfth and Sixth Houses

Cate Whelan

Cate Whelan has been passionate about astrology for more than 30 years, gaining her FAA

Diploma in the mid-90s and teaching and consulting professionally since then. These days she spends more time on research, especially on sociological astrology— she is fascinated by human social relationships, how people interact and form attitudes and opinions within a society, and how culture influences those attitudes.

In this talk Cate will look at the Sixth and Twelfth Houses from a number of different perspectives. Firstly from a diurnal (clockwise) perspective, and their position just after sunrise and just after sunset. Secondly, from an annual (anti-clockwise) perspective, tracing the earth's journey around the Sun—or, from our perspective, the Sun's journey through the signs and houses. She will examine traditional interpretations, and will investigate the cultural mores of the times when these interpretations were developed. With the discovery of the outer planets there have been quantum shifts in world consciousness, and Cate will look at whether the traditional versions are flexible enough to reflect life as we know it now. In her talk Cate will refer to a number of charts, including her extensive personal database, to examine how individuals find value in their Sixth and Twelfth Houses.

Saturday April 13th, 2 pm, at TS Rooms, behind New Dimensions Bookshop
310 South Tce Adelaide.
